IN HONOR OF THE BOYS' HOMECOMING AT THE WETMORES

Suitable Program and Entertainment Arranged in Which Boys, Relatives and Friends Make Merry.

For the past week previous to the event, invitations were received by the boys who have returned from the service to an entertainment given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Ira O. Wetmore, and Wednesday evening the affair was held with a large attendance of the boys and also a goodly number of relatives, friends and admirers in general.

The Wetmores, who have in numberless cases been voted as royal entertainers, had arranged in detail everything that would have a tendency to make the boys feel at home, and have the guests in general impressed with the fact that they were in the hands of their friends. The large and commodious rooms were decorated with National colors.

Previous to the dancing which was much enjoyed by most of the guests, a short program was carried out which consisted of several vocal selections rendered by Miss Alice Scott and Mr. Chas. Baxter, after which Judge John Y. Hewitt of White Oaks, gave a short talk in which he praised the returning boys for services rendered their country, taking a good slap at the "Slacker" before concluding his remarks.

The Judge was followed by Eb Jones who at the request of all present gave a short talk in which he related some of his experiences on the high seas which was very interesting. He was followed by Ralph Barber who related some of the trying ordeals through which he went while at the front. Roy Grumbles following Ralph with his adventures in the land of war. Messrs. Baxter and Dodson both gave interesting talks connected with their experiences in the service, making the entire program of reminiscences of the late war interesting and instructive.

Dancing was indulged in for those who were lovers of this form of amusement, while tables were arranged for those who preferred cards. At 11 o'clock bountiful refreshments consisting of hot coffee, chocolate, sandwiches and cake were served. The evening's enjoyment ceased long after the clock had thrown up its hands; the jolly guests departing much pleased with what proved to be one of the most novel, interesting and enjoyable events of the season.

Guest of Mrs. Dingwall

Mrs. J. F. Kimbell of Douglas, Ariz., arrived on No. 4 Friday to be a guest of Mrs. Geo. Dingwall the coming week.

Ancho Boy Wins Honors and Bride

Among the boys who entered the service of Uncle Sam during the late war from this locality, was Idas S. Kelley of Ancho. He enlisted as a private and after serving at the regulation Training Camps crossed the ocean to take up the cause of his country and help accomplish the the glorious results we have lately realized.

His work on the field soon won for him promotions leading up to that of second lieutenant; he wears two stripes for service in France for like the historic "Slide Kelley—Slide," he was always on the job, which attracting the attention of his superior officers was the cause of his much deserved promotion. He also wears two wound stripes on his right arm, for injuries received in engagements at the front; being for a period of three weeks under constant shell fire after which he was awarded with the honor of the D. S. O.

Lieut. Kelley's honors did not by any means end with these mentioned, for on arriving home he was accompanied by a handsome and attractive bride who was formerly Miss Clella Winn of the good state of Arkansas, this being a valuable addition to many honors which kings, princes and potentates of foreign lands are not worthy of. The Outlook extends the hand of welcome to the new Kelley family, and may their future be one of happiness, undisturbed by war.

Returned Heroes Honored

The Epworth League of the M. E. Church were hosts on last Thursday evening, April 3, 1919, to the returned soldiers of Carrizozo.

Invitations were issued to our soldiers in uniform and a good number responded to the call. The affair was carried out at the W. A. Place home. The home was beautifully decorated in the National colors. The entertainment of the evening was varied and interesting. Just before refreshments were served a good program was rendered. The affair was a most enjoyable one and it goes without saying that the boys present appreciate the hearty "Welcome Home" that the Church and its friends accord them.

Funeral at White Oaks

The funeral of baby Ray Starkey, son of E. C. Starkey of White Oaks, who died last Saturday was held on Sunday with Rev. Lewelling of the Carrizozo Methodist Church officiating. The day, as it will be remembered, was stormy to the extreme, but with much difficulty and a double amount of gasoline the Rev. managed to make the trip. The remains were interred in the local cemetery at White Oaks.

School Directors Elected For Three Year Term

In accordance with notices tacked up about town, the School election was held last Monday in which a lively interest was taken. There were eight candidates in the field; three of which were ladies namely French, Spencer and Richard. Up until noon the voting was light, but as the day lengthened the interest grew more keen; finally automobiles were brought into use and votes solicited in a good old-fashioned political manner.

The ladies of the Carrizozo district who remained at their posts of duty never tiring in their efforts to place on the school board directors of their own sex was commendable. They are to be credited with the work done on behalf of their sister candidates who allowed their names to go before the people for their approval, and for the first time in the history of Carrizozo the other side, and allow us to say the principal side, of the home will be represented on the school board for the coming term of three years.

The judges of election were Messrs. Geo. Spence and F. S. Miller, whose courtesy to the ladies was admirable and gallant. At 6 o'clock the polls were closed and after the votes were counted the following result was announced: Spencer, 217; French, 215; Richard, 217; Boone, 94; Brickley, 25; Cribb, 69; Norman, 105; English, 14; J. B. French, 1. Therefore, Mesdames French, Spencer and Richard will be the valuable addition to the board, and will with Messrs. Ulrick and Spence govern the deliberations of the board for the ensuing term. May their motto be, "Equal Rights to All; Special Privileges to None."

GOOD PROGRESS AT COUNCIL OF PEACE; BELGIUM RECOGNIZED

Powers Agree to Try Former Kaiser With Belgium the Chief Accuser — Beautiful Louvern to be Avenged.

President Wilson is "hammering ahead" and has made "good progress" in his negotiations at Paris, according to advices received today at the white house. It was not stated just what progress had been made, but the advices seemed to cause considerable satisfaction in official quarters.

The responsibility of the German emperor for the war and the means for bringing him to trial by one of the allied governments, probably Belgium, have been definitely determined upon by the council of four. This follows the definite decision on the terms of reparation for war damages, whereby $5,000,000,000 must be paid within the next two years and an interallied commission assess the remaining damage for a period of 30 years, beginning May 1, 1921.

How far these results are due to the intimations conveyed by the summoning to France of the United States transport George Washington by President Wilson is only conjectural. But it is at least a coincidence that the main difficulties began to dissolve from the time that this decision became known.

Women's Missionary Society

The Women's Missionary Society met last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Fetter. The major portion of the time was consumed in listening to reports from the delegates from the Melrose convention which showed the Carrizozo District to lead all others of the state in local and connectional work. In regard to the Carrizozo Methodist Church as a whole, its condition from a financial standpoint is found to be first class. All outstanding obligations have been met and a substantial surplus reported.

After the ladies had finished their business session refreshments were served. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hooper on the afternoon of April 23rd.

Barnhart Baby Dies

Last Tuesday the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Barnhart passed away, the funeral being held on Wednesday with Rev. Lewelling conducting the services. Interment was made in the local cemetery.

It certainly was hard, when the next day came, to give up your whole ration and go without that day. But I never saw a man hedge, or even speak of it. And we did not have any food plates among us either; we were not captains of industry by any means.

There were times when some of us could not eat certain of our rations. For instance, many and many a time I was as hungry as anybody could be, and I wanted to eat my bread, but it seemed as if I could not get it into my mouth. Then I would trade it with someone else for his "shadow soup" or his barley coffee.

We were dying every day in Brandenburg and after each death the senior men of that barracks would detail twelve of their number to go out for half an hour and dig the grave, while others made little crosses, on which they wrote or carved the man's name, when he was captured, and his regiment or ship. In the middle of the cross were always the letters, R. I. P.—Rest in Peace.

One time we were ordered to report to the German doctors for a serum treatment of some kind—to receive an injection, in other words. There was no choice about it this time, as we were simply herded together to the hospital barracks. Now, I know what these things were like and how brutal the German doctors were in giving an injection, so I wanted to be the very first man and not have to witness the other men getting theirs.

So I pushed up to the head of the line, with the crew of H. M. S. Nomad, who had been captured in the Jutland battle, and by the time we got to the hospital was the very first man in line. But the sentry threw me back and there were several men ahead of me.

Each of them bared his chest and the doctors slashed them across the breast with a very thin knife, so you can see that it was very painful. When it came to my turn they slashed me three times in the shape of a triangle just to one side of the breast. And that was all there was to it—no injection, nothing on the knife that I could see.

Now, I do not know what the idea was. Every man of us was dizzy for the rest of the day and could not do anything but lay around the barracks. And hardly any of us had a drop, though the ashes were deep. I do not think we had any blood in us to run, and that is the truth of it. It was just another German trick that no one could explain.

One day a war correspondent named Bennett, from a Chicago paper, came to the camp and went through all the barracks. When he came to our barracks I told him I was an American and asked for the news. Instead of answering he began to ask all sorts of questions. Finally, after I had told him I had been in the French service, I asked him if he could help me in any way. He answered that I had only myself to blame and that it served me right if I had been in one of the allied armies.

I did not like his looks much and he seemed unfriendly, but when he began smoking a cigarette it almost drove me crazy and I could not help asking for one. He refused me and said I should have stayed in my own country, where I could have had plenty of cigarettes.

After a while he threw away a cigarette stub and not only I but three or four others who were near made a dive for it. A man named Kelley got it—a crazy man who went around trying to eat wood and cloth and anything he could find.

When my three weeks were up and I had not heard from Mr. Gerard I was just about ready to go down to the lake and pick out a vacant spot and lay down in it. I really do not think I could have lasted two weeks longer. And just about that time, as I was walking back to barracks one day, a Frenchman showed me a German newspaper, and there in large type on the top of the first page it said that Mr. Gerard had left the country, or was getting ready to leave. They had to drag me the rest of the way to the barracks and throw snow on me before I came to.

I do not know what happened during the next few days.

Gunner Depew's interview with Mr. Gerard took place at the Dulmen prison camp on or about February 1, 1917. On February 2, our state department demanded the release of sixty-two Americans captured on British vessels and held as prisoners in Germany. On the same day, President Wilson severed diplomatic relations with Germany. Ambassador Gerard left Germany exactly one week later. The newspaper that Gunner Depew saw must have been issued after February 10. It was not until March 9, 1917, however, that Gunner Depew was actually released from Brandenburg. —Editor's Note.]

But a week or so later the Spanish ambassador and four German officers and Swatts came to our barracks and the ambassador told me I would be released! It was all I could do to keep from fainting again. Then Swatts asked me in English if I had anything to say about the treatment in the camp, and I began to think maybe it was a frame-up of some kind, so all I said was, "When will I get out of here?" and he said, "Why, you will be released tomorrow."

I did not wait to hear any more, but rushed into the barracks again, singing and whistling and yelling as loud as I could. The boys told me my face was very red and I guess what little blood I had in my body had rushed to my head, because I could hardly walk for a few minutes.

Then the men began to think I was crazy, and none of them believed I would really be released, but that I was going to be sent to the mines, as so many were. But I believed it, and I just sat there on my bunk and began to dream of the food I would get and what I would eat first, and so on.

I did not sleep that night—just walked from barracks to barracks until they chased me away, and then walked up and down in my own barracks the rest of the night. When I got to the Russian barracks and told the two doctors my news, they would not believe me at all, although they knew there had been some important visitor at the camp.

But when I walked out of their door I said, "Dobry vecher," which means "Good night!" Then they must have believed me, for they called me back, and all the men gave me addresses of people to write to in case I should get away.

They were all talking at once, and one of the doctors got very excited and got down on his knees with his hands in the air. "Albert," he said, "if you have the God-given luck to get out of Germany—not for my sake, but for the sake of us who are here in this hell-hole, promise me you will tell all the people wherever you go what they are doing to us here. Tell them not to send money, for we can't eat money and not meat—just bread, bread, bread!"

And when I looked around all the men were sitting on their beds crying and tearing their hair and saying, "bread, bread, bread," over and over again. Then each tried to give me something, as if to say that even if they did not get out, perhaps their button or belt or skull cap would get back to civilization.

When I left their barracks I began to cry, because it did not seem possible that I was going away, and already I could see them starving slowly, just as I had been starving.

The next morning a sentry came to my barracks, called out my name and took me to the commander of the camp. They searched me, and then drilled me back to barracks again. Then the men all thought they were just playing a joke on me, and they said so.

The same thing happened the next day, and when one of the men said that probably I would be shamed up against a wall and shot, I began to feel shaky. I can tell you.

But the third morning, after they had searched me, the commander said, "Well, you'll have to have a bath before you leave the country," and I was so glad that I did not mind about the bath, although I remembered the last one I had, and it did not agree very well with me. After the bath, they drilled me out into the road.

There were four sentries with me, but not Swatts, nor did I see him anywhere around, for which I was sorry. But all the boys came down to the barbed wire, or to the gate, and some were crying, and others were cheering, and all of them were very much excited. But after a minute or two they got together again and the last thing I heard was the song about packing up your old kit bag, and then, "Are we downhearted?—No!" They were certainly game lads.

They did not take me straight to the station, but took me through all the streets they could find, and as usual, the women were there with the bricks and spit. But I did not mind: I was used to it, and besides, it was the last time. So I just grinned at them, and thought that I was better off than they, because they had to stay in the hole called Germany.

I was still half naked, but I did not mind the two-hour wait on the station platform. I noticed a little sign that read, "Berlin 25 miles north," and that was the first time I had much of an idea where Brandenburg was.

When we got into the compartment and I found that the windows were not smashed I could not believe it at first until I remembered that this was not a prisoner train. We had a forty-eight hour ride to Lindau, which is on the Lake of Constance, and no food or water in that time. But still I did not mind it much. At Lindau they drilled me into a little house and took away all the addresses that I had, and then marched me over to the little boat which crosses the lake.

As I started up the gangway the last thing I received in Germany reached me—a crack across the back with a rifle!

The women and children on the dock had their fists up and were yelling, "American swine!" But I just laughed at them. And when I looked around the boat and saw no German soldiers—only Swiss civilians—I rubbed my eyes and could not believe it. When they gave me bread, which was what I had decided I wanted most of all back in the camp, I thought I was in heaven sure enough, and when, forty-five minutes later, we arrived at Rorschach in Switzerland, I finally knew I was free.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Back in the States.

After I arrived at Rorschach I was taken to a large hall, where I remained over night. There were three American flags on the walls, the first I had seen in a long time. I certainly did a fine job of sleeping that night. I think I slept twice as fast to make up for lost time.

In the morning I had a regular banquet for breakfast—eggs, coffee, bread and a small glass of wine. Even now, although I never pass up a meal, that breakfast is still easy to taste, and I sometimes wish I could enjoy another meal as much. But I guess I never shall have one that goes as good.

After breakfast they took me out on the steps of the hall and photographed me, after which I went to the railway station, with a young mob at my heels. It reminded me a bit of Germany—it was so different. Instead of bricks and bayonet jabs, the mob gave me cigarettes and chocolate and sandwiches. They also handed me questions—enough to keep me busy answering to this day if I could.

I got on the train to Zurich, and at every stop on the way there were more presents and more cameras and more questions. At St. Gallen they had cards ready for me to write on, and then they were going to send them to anybody I wished. The station at Zurich was packed with people, and I began to think I was a star for sure.

Francis B. Keene, the American consul general at Zurich, and his assistant, were there to meet me. We walked a few blocks to his office, and all the way the cameras were clicking and the chocolates and cigarettes piling up until I felt like Santa Claus on December 24th. After a little talk with Mr. Keene, he took me to the Stusschhof hotel, where my wounds were dressed—and believe me, they needed it.

The Swiss certainly treated me well. Every time I came out on the streets they followed me around, and they used to give me money. But the money might just as well have been leather or lead—I could not spend it. Whenever I wanted to buy anything the shopkeeper would make me a present of it.

I also visited the Hotel Baur au Lac, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCormick of Chicago, who are doing such fine work with the Red Cross and are looking after the Belgian and French refugees in Switzerland. It was a dinner, and much appreciated by one guest, at least. I need not mention his name, but he ate so much that he felt ashamed afterward.

I do not think he got in bad for it, though, for afterward Mr. and Mrs. McCormick each gave him a valuable present, which he needed badly. After the dinner Mrs. McCormick made a little patriotic speech, in which she said that the Huns would never trample on the United States flag, and some other things that made all the Americans there very proud, especially Mr. Keene and myself. So you see I was having a great time.

But I was having a little trouble, all the time, for this reason: there were quite a few Germans interned in Zurich, and they went about in uniform. Now, when I saw one of these birds and remembered what had been happening to me just a short time before my hands began to itch. Believe me, it was not "good morning" that I said to them. I enjoyed it all right; they were not in squads and had no arms, so it was hard to hand, and pie for me.

But Mr. Keene did not like it. I guess, for he called me to his office one morning and bawled me out for a while, and I promised to be good. "You're supposed to be neutral," he said. And I said, "Yes, and when I was tormented and taken prisoner, I was supposed to be neutral, too." But I said I would not look for trouble any more, and started back to the hotel.

But no sooner was I underway than a Hun private came along and began to laugh at me. My hands itched again, and I could not help but slap him a few. We went round and round for a while, and then the Hun reversed and went down instead. Mr. Keene saw us, or heard about it, so he told me I had better go to Berne.

So off I went, with my passport. But the same thing happened in Berne. I tried very hard, but I just could not keep my hands off the Germans. So I guess everybody thought it was a good thing to tell me good-bye—anyway I was shipped into France, going direct to St. Nazaire and from there to Brest.

I made a short trip to Hull, England, with a letter from a man at Brandenburg to his wife. She was not at home, but I left the letter and returned to France. I was in France altogether about three weeks, and then went to Barcelona, Spain.

Then I took passage for the States on the C. Lopez y Lopez, a Spanish merchantman. We had mostly "Spigs" on board, which is navy slang for Spaniards. Almost every one of them had a large family of children and a raft of pets. We sailed down through Valencia, Almeria, Malaga, Cadiz and Las Palmas in the Canary islands. When we left Las Palmas we had a regular menagerie aboard—parrots, canary birds, dogs, monkeys and various beasts. The steerage of that boat was so-a sight, believe me.

We had boat drill all the way across, of course, and from the way those Spigs rushed about I knew that if a submarine got us the only thing that would be saved would be monkeys. But we did not even have a false alarm all the way over.

I arrived in New York during the month of July, 1917—two years and a half from the time I decided to go abroad to the war zone to get some excitement. I got it, and no mistake. New York harbor and the old Statue of Liberty looked mighty good to me, you can bet.

So here I am, and sometimes I have to pinch myself to be sure of it. I certainly enjoy the food and warmth I get here, and except for an occasional pro-German I have no trouble with anybody. My wounds break open once in a while, and I am often bothered inside, on account of the gas I swallowed. They say I cannot get back into the service. It is tough to be knocked out before our own boys get into the scrap.

But I do not know. I am twenty-three years old, and probably have a lot to live for yet. I ought to settle down and be quiet for a while, but comfortable as I am, I think I will have to go to sea again. I think of it many times, and each time it is harder to stay ashore.

THE END.

Should Think He Was.

The temperance advocate who declared that "drunkenness is folly," and found himself reported in the papers as having said "drunkenness is jolly," must have been annoyed.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—your surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

Beware of the man who doesn't look you in the eye—and the female who does.

The fewer scruples a man has the more drams he takes.

Finances and Service

Any business, large or small, must ultimately fail if its expense of operation is in excess of its revenues.

In the case of our Company the service is involved as well as the financial factor. Telephone service is dependent upon the condition of the plant, the efficiency of the employees and the solvency of the Company.

Inadequate revenues must eventually result in poor maintenance of plant, wages too low to attract the most competent employees, and aloofness of capital when it is required for plant extensions to meet the needs of growing communities.

These conditions make it impossible to render the class of service demanded by the public. And these are the conditions threatening the Telephone Company now under its tremendously increased costs and with revenues remaining at a pre-war level.

Gradually operating costs advanced, narrowing the margin between revenue and expense, crossed the line and still continued upward until we are now operating under a deficit of alarming proportions.

This creates a problem in which the public and the Company are mutually interested.

A Proclamation

By The Governor

For many years past it has been the custom of the people of our country, seeking to beautify the soil and to make it more productive to the enjoyment and comfort of the people, to set out various kinds and species of trees, fruit as well as shade and ornamental trees. This practice has grown and become more and more general as the years progressed, until for a considerable number of years past it has been the custom for the executives of the various states by proclamation to dedicate one day, known as Arbor Day, in which the citizens are all invited to co-operate in this beautiful and useful practice of setting out trees.

In our day it should be gratifying for us to follow the example of our ancestors in setting out as many trees as we possibly can, not only for the purpose of maintaining a practice which in itself is beautiful and beneficial to mankind, but because we can attach to it an additional significance, an additional object and purpose; namely, we may take advantage of this common practice for the purpose of commemorating, of maintaining alive and ever green and fresh in our memory, the names of the heroic sons of our soil, who so willingly faced the dangers and privations and the hardships of war; nay, who with heroic devotion to their country and its institutions, sacrificed their lives in the battlefields of Europe that free governments might survive and exist upon the earth; we may set out groves of trees and give to them the names of those scenes of bloody struggle, where so many of the lives of our young heroes were sacrificed, to the end that the localities where such deeds of bravery and devotion were done may be forever perpetuated and live through the ages as Thermopylae has lived through the course of centuries.

Again, we may plant clusters of trees and give to each particular cluster or grove the name of some one of our heroes. We may pick out individual trees, set them out, and call them by the name of some one who distinguished himself in the service of his country in foreign lands; or we may give to such a tree the name of the son, of the brother, of the relative, who in the titanic struggle represented the individual family hearth.

By these means we shall not only beautify the soil and make it more productive, more attractive to look at, more conducive to our happiness, but more than that we shall make it dear for us to look at, to preserve, to tenderly care for, for the very sight of it will bring back to us recollections of men and of deeds we shall ever cherish with affectionate pride and love.

For this purpose, therefore, and to perpetuate a practice that should never be permitted to die from among us, I, O. A. Larrazolo, Governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby designate

Friday, the 11th Day of April, 1919 as

and on that day I invite the people of New Mexico, men, women and children, to turn out with unanimous good will and set out trees all over our beloved state, and I particularly suggest that in doing so, individual trees so set out, groves or clusters thereof, or even orchards, be given the name as above stated, that will be to the individual an inspiration to care for and to tend it with loving care and affection, and by these other and additional means prove our gratitude, our love and our admiration for the valiant sons of New Mexico who fought and died that free governments might live. And I ask that the teachers in all our state institutions of learning, and in the public and private schools of New Mexico, ask their pupils to turn out on that day and work faithfully, industriously and lovingly in setting out and planting trees, as hereinbefore directed.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico to be affixed. Done at the City of Santa Fe, this 31st day of March, A. D. 1919. O. A. LARRAZOLO,

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weakness, sleeplessness, nervousness, dizziness, backache, stomach troubles, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning.

After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

YOUR FLAG AND MY FLAG

To Eradicate Bolshevism

"Bolshevism is the last Analysis in the protest of the lower classes of society against what they conceive to be the oppression of those occupying a higher plane. It is the attempt of the peasantry to cast off the yoke of hunger, discouraging taxation, and enforced military service, under which they have been struggling in Europe for many years, and to give themselves the privileges they have seen enjoyed by the various strata of society above them. The French Revolution was an outbreak of Bolshevism, brought about by the excesses of the French court of the times. The French Commune of a later date was another popular protest against the conditions under which the common people were forced to live in the Second Empire.

"The ground has been prepared for years for the outbreak of Bolshevism in Russia. Autocratic rulers, crushing taxation, no attempt to alleviate the condition of the working class—all contributed to a state of general uprising among the masses. The war furnished the pretext. Conscription of men to fight for a cause they knew nothing of; horrible slaughter of soldiers, undertrained frequently unarmed, and utterly incapable of competing with the German war machine; and taxation, increased even further by the war's demands, furnished a fertile field for the insidious German propaganda cunningly designed to encourage the plain people of Russia to revolt against existing conditions. Once they had tasted power and realized that no government could exist without their support the people were quick to take control, turn out their former rulers, and set up a system of their own. Progress from that state of affairs to the present chaos in Russia has been but a natural evolution.

"In Hungary the people likewise have felt the oppression of reigning monarchies. Their situation has been similar to that when buying Phonographs don't buy simply furniture; get musical instruments as well. Of course the way a phonograph looks is important, that is the reason why the Pathe Cabinets are made by artists, not carpenters.

Use Your Ears As Well As Your Eyes

PATHE RECORDS

have the latest hits, first and best, the new songs that Broadway is humming; One-step with pep, dreamy waltzes; stirring military marches; and the old ballads you love so well.

Each instrument is a finished work of art. But the distinctive feature of the Pathe Phonograph and records is the perfect tone---clear as a crystal. The sapphire ball---a round polished jewel, does not miss a single sound wave. The music flows from the records, is not scratched off. The Pathe sound box is all wood, which means no harsh metallic sound.

Records played on the Pathe practically never wear out. Played with the sapphire ball, a Pathe record is guaranteed to play at least 1000 times perfectly.

LAND VALUE FIXED

Depends Altogether on Power of Giving Wealth.

That is Why the Fertile Acres of Western Canada, With Adjacent Markets, Are So Attractive to Settlers.

Throughout every portion of the Western Empire lands that are capable of producing are in great demand. We find that in the States of proved agricultural wealth, land prices have increased within the past three or four years to a degree that ten years ago would not have been thought to be possible. Land that sought buyers at $100 an acre five years ago is changing hands at $200 an acre. The secret of this does not lie altogether in the higher prices of farm products, for the expense of production has increased proportionately. The better methods of farming have had a good deal to do with it, and the knowledge that demands for farm products will be sufficiently great for a good many years to come to insure a continuation of the high prices that prevail at present. Then, again, improved machinery, the tractor and other means of economic power will tend to lessen the cost.

Governing land values, too, are climate, soil, moisture, settlement, railroads, markets. Without markets, no matter how much the other factors enter into it, the land is merely of speculative value.

It is not more than a third of a century since ninety per cent of the land in Western Canada, now occupied and tilled, and producing enough in one year to give a profit of from twenty-five to thirty dollars per acre, was unoccupied or used as grazing land, and worth very little. These lands today are valuable, and are being sought by settlers who realize their present and future value. There is no portion of the world that is attracting the same attention. The soil may have improved in the past centuries with the fertilizing given it by nature; the climate has not changed, and the moisture may be considered the same. These are three of the essentials of good land. What they lacked a third of a century ago was markets—a fourth essential. These they have now. Thus provided, it is not to be wondered at that these millions of acres with their great wealth, which have so long been awaiting the awakening touch of mankind, are now to be found adding to the available wealth of the world. With the advent of railroads, throwing their great trunks of steel across the continent and over the surface of these boundless plains, spreading out their tentacles to remotest parts, the world at large has begun to realize that here was a country possessing all the natural advantages claimed by older communities; that land here just as good or better, acre for acre, as their own could be had for almost the asking.

With the realization of the foregoing facts came the people, who found that a railway had preceded them and markets already existed for anything that they might care to raise. These markets have greatly expanded and, are capable of still greater expansion, and assure to the agriculturist the prevailing prices of the world. An assured market means added value to every acre of land in Western Canada, and the near future will see lands that are now selling at exceptionally low prices begin to increase in value, just as they have in Eastern Canada and the United States.—Advertisement.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

MAKING SLOW PROGRESS

SETTLEMENT FRONTIER QUESTIONS STILL HOLDING CENTER OF STAGE.

SITUATION IS DELICATE

COMMITTEE OF FOUR LABORING HARD FOR SOLUTION OF BIG ISSUE.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Paris, April 4.—President Wilson and Premiers Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Orlando continued their discussion at President Wilson's residence. Other peace conference organizations also met. All the conferences tended to unravel the tangled issues still standing in the way of peace.

The meetings proceeded amid another wave of apprehension spreading through the conference over lack of any tangible results after the council of four had labored continuously for ten days.

This was accompanied by well-founded reports from those close in touch with the council of four showing that the situation, while not desperate, was at least serious because of radical differences on some fundamental issues in the settlement of Germany's western, the Franco-German and the eastern Polish frontiers.

One of the American experts who is constantly being consulted on questions before the council, gives the following glimpses of what is going on behind the scenes:

"The situation is extremely difficult, particularly as regards the western frontier of Germany.

"President Wilson, in a conciliatory spirit, has been willing to do most anything to assure French security short of the stultification of engagements made at the time of the armistice.

"The French have been assured of every military protection along the Rhine and for fifty kilometers east of that river, even to the extent of considering that any military activity in that section shall be looked upon as a hostile act.

"But this is not considered enough, and additional claims lead to the conviction that they are open to construction as meaning something more than military security and verging on territorial control.

"The President is not willing to go that far in creating more Alsace-Lorraine situations, and it is this stand against these claims which is causing the delays until some middle ground is found."

As a means of finding the "middle ground" on the Rhine controversy the Superior Council of four created a consulting body consisting of Andre Tardieu, French; Charles H. Haskins, American, and Viscount Morley, British. To intimate they were not optimistic on the progress that is being made.

Allied Troops in Danger.

London.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, director of equipment and transport of the northern Russian expeditionary forces, has just returned from Murmansk and Archangel. He declares in an interview that both fronts are in danger and that the Bolshevik peril is a real one because the entente forces are outnumbered by disciplined and well-armed and well-equipped troops in close touch with the allies' extended, but by no means strong, front.

Wants Alliance With Russia.

Berlin.—The Bavarian government has begun negotiations for the conclusion of an alliance with Russia, according to advices from Munich. The Bavarian Volks Zeitung explains that the government's action is due to the fact that the food supplies from the entente are insufficient and inadequately assured, whereas grain is obtainable from Russia.

Armenians Get $300,000.

White Plains, N. Y.—A fund of $300,000 is provided "for the relief and benefit of Armenians" in the will of Gulab Gulbenkian, an Armenian rug dealer of New York, which was filed here. It disposes of an estate valued at $1,000,000. Gulbenkian was murdered in his store last July.

Robbers Make Haul.

Pine Bluff, Ark.—The Bank of Bastrop, Louisiana, was robbed of $10,000 by armed bandits, according to word received by telephone. Fifty men, armed with guns, are scouring the surrounding country.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Adv.

Last week at the Crystal Theatre Henry Walthal took off "His Robe of Honor" to "Flare up Sal" who turned it over to "Laughing Bill Hyde," who in turn handed it to "The Shuttle" just as the lights went out. This unfortunate circumstance was easily overcome, however, as Manager Dingwall after a short wait dismissed the large audience with the announcement that he would return all tickets and run the reels Sunday night which he did, much to the pleasure and satisfaction of an appreciative patronage.

A Colorado Case

Mrs. Pearl E. Miller, 110 W. Abriendo St., Pueblo, Colo., says: "I suffered terribly with backache. It was on my feet many hours during the day made me so sore, I couldn't raise my arm to comb my hair. I was in bed for two weeks and was as helpless as if I had been paralyzed. Easter Week

SEE the land her Easter keeping.
Rises as her Maker rose.
Seeds, so long in darkness sleeping.
Burst at last from winter snows.
Earth, with heaven above, rejoices:
Fields and gardens hail the spring:
Shaws and woodlands ring with voices.
While the wild birds build and sing.

You, to whom your Maker granted
Powers to those sweet birds unknown.
Use the craft by God implanted.
Use the reason not your own.
Here, while heaven and earth rejoices,
Each his Easter tribute bring—
Work of fingers, chant of voices.
Like the birds who build and sing.

Easter Morning

Breakfast Made a Time of Real Joy

IT WAS my good fortune one time to be visiting in a family where Easter was celebrated in a very pretty fashion. When we came down to the breakfast table in the morning we found it looking so beautiful it seemed a pity to disturb its beauty by the prosaic act of eating. The dining room was a particularly sunny, attractive room to start with, and the beautiful table this morning was set with its usual gay blue and yellow china, but in addition the center of the table held a great mass of yellow daffodils standing in a clear crystal vase. For the benefit of the children little yellow ducks and chickens were perched along its edge and at each place we found one of the flowers for our personal adornment.

Everything we had for breakfast that morning seemed to glow with yellow; the grapefruit had a brighter tinge than usual, the rolls and toast a delicious golden brown; and when our eggs were served each one had been baked in a little yellow ramekin. The whites had been beaten until they puffed up above the cup and tinged a delicate yellow brown in the oven, and nestled in the top of each puff was the yellow yolk of the egg. At the plate of each child was an attractive yellow basket with a little nest of variegated colored tissue paper—for had not the bunnies been busy during the night leaving eggs around the house for the children to gather in the morning? They could hardly wait to eat their breakfast so eager were they to be off.

Such queer places as these little animals had left the eggs! In the corners of stuffed chairs, back of table legs, tucked away in the big piano, under sofa cushions, on the mantelpiece, in the fireplace—every spot, in fact, that could be found not too hard for the children to discover.

This is, of course the pretty custom which grew out of the old superstition that if the children of the

One Great Lesson That May Have Come From Stress of War

EASTER is the feast of new life, and the pledge of immortality. But the older we grow the more clearly do we see that the new life is simply the old life redeemed and purified and ennobled. For the resurrection is from the death of sin to the life of righteousness. It is precisely so with immortality. For life, if it survives the grave, will simply go on—indeed, the life that is to survive is going on now. If there is such a thing as immortality, it is a present possession. Men have been fond of dealing with Easter as a theological or metaphysical abstraction. But this is not true of the New Testament writers—to them it was a very practical thing, with a direct bearing on conduct. "If ye then be risen with Christ"—risen now—"seek those things which are above," writes St. Paul, and he continues: "Mortify, therefore, your members which are upon the earth: fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry." It is a question of keeping the commandments that we have had from the beginning, of holding fast to the standards by which high-minded men and women have always ordered their lives. The question at bottom is one of the quality of the life. The great resurrection is that which carries a human soul from its baser nature to the very top of its capacity for goodness. Thus considered, it is not an event, but a process, and one that lasts through life. There must be a "daily proceeding in all virtue and godliness of living." "This a lifelong toll till our lump be heaven," but the toll is worth while, if the heaven is. And that is the point. Kipling puts the case very strongly:

One instant's toll to Thee denied
Stands all eternity's offense:
Of that I did with Thee to guide,
To Thee, through Thee, be excellence.

Men do not as a rule view life in this way, but the war, one may hope, has taught them to do so.

household were truthful kind and obedient a white hare would come into the home at night and hide colored eggs in odd corners of the house. The egg as we all know is the symbol of the resurrection. Easter day is governed by the moon, and the hare is the ancient symbol or figure of the moon.

There are a number of amusing customs connected with Easter, as with all the other holidays, some of which are familiar to us and others not. We are all of course quite accustomed to the idea of new clothes on Easter, but the people who scorn this fashion and wear theirs a few weeks before or after that day little know of the risk they run of having bad luck the rest of the year. The day used to be known as "Joy Sunday," and there was an old superstition that unless one wore something new on that day bad luck would follow throughout the year. Another belief was that if the wind blew from the east on Easter morning, and if you drew some fresh water and bathed your face and hands it would then be impossible for the east wind to harm you throughout the year.

Ends Days of Mourning.

With Saturday night Lent comes to an end, the period of mourning, of veiled altars, earnestness and pictures is over and the ceremonies of Easter itself take on an entirely different character, that of rejoicing, gladness and splendor. It is the anniversary of Christ's Resurrection, the symbol of Life everlasting.

HAS IMMENSE "LILY FARM"

In Spring Valley, New York, the My King of America, A. S. Burns, Jr., has the largest "lily farm" in the whole world. Mr. Burns annually plants a half million bulbs and the cuts run about 50,000 a day. During the year he cuts over 2,000,000 of the waxy white flowers.

Lilies must be grown in sandy soil, planted deeply and in a place where there is excellent drainage. Altogether, there are more than 50,000,000 lilies grown in the United States every year. The bulbs are imported from Japan.

Easter Offerings.

Costly Easter offerings are flowerpots of cut glass, silver rimmed, filled with half a dozen tall lilies. The same idea can be carried out economically by choosing a single potted jonquil, hyacinth, tulip or other spring flower and send it in a dainty china or reed jardiniere.

CATCH PROVED WORTH WHILE WHAT HE TURNED TO SEE

Remarkable Fish Not of Much Value as Food, but It Was Not a Total Loss.

"Talk about fishin'," says the old colonel, "I have hooked all kinds, but never until last Tuesday did I hook one of the 'old settlers'—one of the critters that helped to stake out the lake. Maybe he weren't game! He ran under the boat, turned flip-flops and went through all of the stunts of the fish tribe. Well, after about two and one-half hours I landed him. He was about four feet eight inches long and weighed 28 pounds and three ounces. Took him right over to the point to show him to the boys, and we decided we'd hold a little banquet the next night and eat the old cuss up. Well, when we sat down to table and I started to carve up that fish, do you know what? Anywhere I cut I struck right into a fish hook. He'd been hooked by everybody, and had swallowed the hook. That fish was just plumb full of tackle. I whittled and haggled away for a time, but finally gave it up for a bad job."

"What did you do with him?"
"Sold him for old iron."—M. L. Granger, in Judge.

Papa's Requests.

"You'd like to?"
"Yes, I'd really like to settle the piano and the girl's mother on you, old boy!"—London Answers.

Probably the Accessories Indicated Had Not Been Introduced in Evidence in the Case.

Lou Guernsey was defending one party to an auto collision and was cross-examining a lady witness who was undeniably pretty.

"Have you any idea what caused this accident?" thundered Lou.
"I think so," said the fair witness sweetly.

"Then tell the court how it happened," thundered Lou, eager for facts.
"Must I tell the truth?"
"You have sworn to do so."

"Well, sir, I was standing on the corner, and that gentleman turned to look at something and ran into the other machine."

"Ah," divined the astute Guernsey. "He turned to look at you. That makes you an accessory before the fact, madam."

"I—I think it was the—the accessories—he was looking at," murmured the witness.—Los Angeles Times.

The Brighter Side.

"The floorwalker reported me for inattention and I've been banished to the hardware department."

"Don't let that bother you, son. Although the hardware department may lack distinction, it's much easier to sell a suburbanite a hoe than it is to sell a lady of fashion a pair of gloves."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Naturally.

"Jim was keyed up to the highest pitch the other night."
"What was the matter?"
"He was locked out."

No. 2 Goes Into Ditch Sand on Track, Cause

Last Sunday night train No. 2 left El Paso on her regular trip, but the heavy winds of the day had blown the sand on the tracks so deeply that after the train passed through the material yards and was about to reach Tobin which is 10 miles out, the engine manned by engineer Warner, skidded from the track, taking with it the tender and the mail car. The wreck resulted fortunately, however, not a soul was injured.

A wrecking crew was sent out from El Paso immediately, but it was several hours before the track could be cleared up, which caused No. 2 to arrive in Carrizozo about 5 hours late. No blame was attached to any of the crew and it was only another of these unfortunate happenings that could in no wise be prevented.

There will be an Easter Dance at White Oaks Saturday, April 19th., 1919. Music the latest and best by Prof. and Mrs. May. —Everybody Come.
