HOW TO COMBAT HIGH COST OF FOOD.

It is necessary to take some formal and decide steps to stop the increasing of living. In several places housewives are organizing clubs and other kind of association in order to boycott or to do efforts against the high prices of food. Now Mr. Champ Clark has a remedy to overcome such high cost. He speaks as follows:

Washington, Nov. 28.—"If the high cost of living bothers you, don't wait for governmental remedies, but buy some laying hens and eat more corn products and rice," says Speaker Clark.

Thus, he released himself today on the high cost of living problem, which he regards as one of the greatest facing the nation. He referred to Representative Fitzgerald's embargo bill.

"There may or may not be a chance for Fitzgerald's proposed bill," he said. "It might do some good. I don't know. I think the government can help lower food prices by legislative or order action, but I do know that the consumer can cut down his expenses.

"For instance, everyone who can, should buy some hens. Any man who has twenty square feet of ground can keep them.

"People should eat more corn products, too. Much is highly nutritious and it isn't eaten enough.

"Rice is too generally overlooked in this country. I was surprised to hear the other day that five cents worth of rice will serve for an entire day's food.

"The passage of a federal bill to regulate the selling of eggs is also expressed. Eggs speculators violate the law holding eggs for a raise in price, and that people were 'fobbed' with air butter to be regulated from one point in this country.

SAN DIEGO EXPOSITION LAST SHOW.

The last act of a show that has made a world's record by a two years run is now being prepared at the Panama California International Exposition at San Diego. Because the last day of 1916 falls on Sunday, Exposition officials have chosen New Year's Day for bringing down the curtain.

The last weeks of the Exposition are filled with events of great interest and the aim of the Directors to make the final month the best of the two years appears to be realized. A record breaking Cat Show; a Mother Goose Day, with a great pageant for the children; a mammoth Thanksgiving service, and special musical program were features of the final days of November.

The December calendar will include: a Children's Fair with thousands of exhibits, December 1, 2 and 3, Sessions of the West Coast Branch of the American Historical Association, December 2; Jack London Day, December 7; Josephine Clifford MacCrackin Day, December 14; School Children's Day, December 15; Bird House Day, December 16; Harold B. Wright Day, December 21; a great Christmas Day celebration in charge of the Shriners, December 25; San Diego Writers Day, December 23; and the great closing celebration days, December 30, 31 and January 1.

The program for the closing days has not been announced, but the Directors promise wonderful surprises.

Vienna Looks to United States for Peace Move.

Received in the last few days show what appears to be a general disposition among journalists in Austria to look to the United States to inaugurate peace proposals in the future. It is part of the general pressure that is being brought to bear by the propagandists of the Central Powers to persuade the President to take some action for the cessation of the war.

POSTAL IMPROVE- MENT NEXT CONGRESS.

Washington, Nov. 30, 1916.

—The ways are now being greased for the launching of the movement for the readjustment of postal rates in the next session of Congress. This problem was to have been taken up in the last session but had to be deferred on account of the consideration required by railway mail pay. Since this has been disposed of the committees are prepared to take up the matter of placing the various postal rates on a more equitable basis.

A zone system of rates for second class matter is being prominently urged to take the place of the present flat rate which was adopted nearly forty years ago. The present rate has for some time been regarded as a discrimination against the newspapers in favor of the great national magazines. Like the parcel post the proposed zone rates would be based on the length of the haul.

The postal committees have been besieged by petitions bearing millions of names and several hundred thousand letters from individuals urging a readjustment of postal rates with a view of making possible one cent letter postage. A survey of the situation indicates that sufficient changes will be made in the various rates to permit the granting of a 1 cent rate on local delivery letters in the next session of Congress.

Chairman Moon of the House Postal Committee, today said: "I think that the Committee will take up this second-class mail matter at the next session and press it to a conclusion at once. While I cannot speak for the Committee, this is my desire in the matter. I do not know whether it will be taken up or not."

view has been presented in the times received from the times not. As when the legislation will be in the not able to say, but I am sure the Committee will give it the best possible stage in the public interest."

Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, gular postal a, ration bill."

A DOLLAR FOR A BOY.

Uncle Sam wants a lot of live boys to sell maps for him on a forty per cent commission. Here's his proposition:

He will furnish any boy wishing to earn money in spare time a map of the vicinity in which he lives. These are large-scale maps which show roads, houses, streams, hills, altitudes and all physical features, and which sell for ten cents a copy. Any boy who will get twenty-five orders for his sample map can buy the twenty-five copies from Uncle Sam for $1.50, or six cents each, thus making a dollar on every $2.50 worth of maps he sells. In less than one month a thirteen-years-old Virginia school boy sold two hundred maps after school hour.

The entire country has not yet been mapped in this way, but maps are ready for most of the more thickly populated areas. Any boy wishing to become a Government map salesman may write me and I will arrange for him to receive a sample map, with full instructions for selling, or notify him if his area has not been mapped. While this offer is for boys, anyone else may become a map salesman on these terms.

says that "history tells us that with every reduction in the letter rate of postage there has immediately followed a tremendous increase in the volume of business and revenue. During the first month or so there might possibly be a slight falling off in the revenues under the proposed rate by the end of one year after its inauguration I feel certain they would total even more than under the old rate. However, in considering the proposed reduction we should keep in mind the enormous benefits that are to be derived by Deportation of Belgians Arises New Representations By the United States.

New representations are about to be made to the German Government by the United States relative to the deportation of Belgian civilians for labor in Germany. It is known our Government is seriously interested over the matter and is preparing for its step with great deliberation. Germany has replied that the deportation of the Belgians was a military necessity and was being carried on in accordance with international law governing the treatment of populations in conquered territory.

League Against High Cost of Foodstuff.

There is local association in New Orleans called "Housewives' League" which is planning to combat high prices of foodstuff by augmenting the supply of products in two curb markets, where butter, eggs, poultry and vegetables bought direct from farmers are sold in New Orleans housekeepers. In the local retail markets today butter was quoted at 50 cents a pound, eggs 40 cts and turkeys 30 to 35 cts. The curb markets quoted prices five cents under the retailers.

JAPANESE QUINCE JELLY.

HOW TO USE FRUIT OF ORnamental Shrub, Alone and with Other Fruits.

Under favorable conditions the Japanese quince, which is much planted as an ornamental shrub, bears a crop of fruit something like an ordinary quince in appearance, though smaller on an average. Some housekeepers use these quinces for jelly making, but by the majority they have been regarded as of no value. In the opinion of the home economics experts of the department, they are well worth using, alone and combined with other fruits. Japanese quince jelly is of a light-yellowish color, with a delicate, quince-like aroma, and is more acid than ordinary quince, and for this reason is particularly good to serve with roast meats.

In making the jelly, wash the quinces, cut them into small pieces, cover with water, cook for one-half hour, and strain off the juice through a jelly bag. To each pint of juice add three-fourths pound of sugar, and cook until a trial shows that it will jelly. In making this as well as other jellies, it is worth while to cover the pulp with water and make a second-extraction (to be combined with the first), as by no means all of the flavor and jelly-making qualities are removed by the first extraction.

If equal parts of apple and quince are used, a good jelly can be obtained, and also from equal parts of cranberry and quince. When grapes (Concord, for instance) are used, 1 part of grape juice to 3 parts of quince juice is a good proportion. If quince is combined tion the special aromatic flavor of the quince is easily masked by the more full flavored grape, but in all combinations the quince adds to the acid flavor, which is commonly an advantage.

If one is fond of old fashioned marmalades or 'fruit cheeses', the pulp extracted in making Japanese quince jelly can be rubbed through a sieve, mixed with sugar in the proportion of three-fourths pound to 1 pound of pulp, and cooked until it is very thick, taken great care not to burn it. This can be put in jelly glasses and is useful as a filler for layer cakes, for making sandwiches, and for other such purposes.

The Chinese quince which thrives as an ornamental in the southern United States and is known as "quinsedonia," bears a much larger fruit than the Japanese quince. This is also characterized by an acid flavor and a pleasant, pungent aroma. It has some local use for jelly making, and the tests made with it at the department have given good results. Equal parts of Chinese quince and apple have proved satisfactory both for jelly and for marmalade or "fruit cheese." The keeping qualities of these products were excellent.

Nothing is quite so trying as suspense, is there?

What would the haters do without elections?

California would have made up its mercurial mind more quickly if either of the contestants had been a native son.

Mr. Hughes may derive some comfort from having thought for a number of hours that he was the "next president."

Tammany need expect no favors of the white house, having failed to "deliver the goods."

German soldiers now wear helmets without spikes, but this is not necessarily a sign of increasing pacifism.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the cook by providing a suitable Thanksgiving bird.

America's stand has been for peace, complicated with on extensive manufacture of arms and ammunition.

Michigan did not vote for Wilson, but it did vote for prohibition, so Henry Ford may regard it as a drawn battle.

Critics have decided that there is really an American language. There is, but it is to be spoken, not written.

Electing a president is comparatively easy, but counting the ballots is an awful job.

No matter who plays, in most of the football games the ticket scalpers are winners.

Prohibition elects no president, but it goes marching on victoriously from state to state.

One of the joys of a close election is the labor it affords experts in "analyzing the returns."

Is it the result of California's remarkable climate that adds the count so slow?

Why set a tag day for defeated candidates? It would be enormously popular with the candidates.

By giving d'Annunzio so many chances to be a hero Italy may be trying to prove that it really loves his poetry.

One can have little sympathy with the poor sports who gave up and forfeited their bets before all the returns were in.

William J. Bryan may claim to have come back in Nebraska if he counts the prohibition victory as a personal vindication.

Strictly modern elections begin to resemble continued stories, which leave the readers in suspenses until the next installment.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

VII.—Hon. Ellhu Root On Woman's Sphere

The question of Woman Suffrage is an issue before the American people. Twelve states have adopted it, four more states vote upon it this fall and it is strongly urged that it become a platform demand of the national political parties. It is therefore the privilege and the duty of every voter to study carefully this subject. Hon. Ellhu Root, in discussing this question before the Constitutional Convention of New York, recently said in part:

"I am opposed to the granting of suffrage to women, because I believe that it would be a loss to women, to all women and to every woman; and because I believe it would be an injury to the State, and to every man and woman. It would be useless to argue this if the right of suffrage were a natural right. If it were a natural right, then women should have it though the heavens fall. But if there be any one thing settled in the long discussion of this subject, it is that suffrage is not a natural right, but is simply a means of government, and the sole question to be discussed is whether government by the suffrage of men and women will be better government than by the suffrage of men alone.

Into my judgment, sir, there enters no element of the inferiority of woman. It is not that woman is inferior to man, but it is that woman is different from man; that in the distribution of powers, of capacities, of qualities, our Maker has created man adapted to the performance of certain functions in the economy of nature and society, and woman adapted to the performance of other functions.

Woman rules today by the sweet and noble influences of her character. Put woman into the arena of conflict and she abandons these great weapons which control the world, and she takes into her hands, feeble and nerveless, for strife, weapons with which she is unfamiliar and which she is unable to wield. Woman in strife becomes harsh, harsh, unlovable, repulsive; as far removed from that gentle creature to whom we all owe allegiance and to whom we confess submission, as the heaven is removed from the earth.

The whole science of government is the science of protecting life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In the divine distribution of powers the duty and the right of protection rests with the male. It is so throughout nature. It is so with men, and I, for one, will never consent to part with the divine right of protecting my wife, my daughter, the women whom I love, and the women whom I respect, exercising the birthright of man, and place that high duty in the weak and nerveless hands of those designed by God to be protected rather than to engage in the stern warfare of government. In my judgment, this whole movement arises from a false conception of the duty and of the right of both men and women.

The time will never come when the line of demarcation between the functions of the two sexes will be broken down. I believe it to be false philosophy; I believe that it is an attempt to turn backward upon the line of social development, and that if the step ever be taken, we are centuries back on the march towards a higher, a nobler and a purer civilization, which would be found not in the confusion, but in the higher differentiation of the

HOW LABOR VOTED.

The political semonizers "have run out" declares the Buffalo Express (Rep.), as it finds the doubtful States "uncommonly certain", party strongholds become doubtful, and the labor vote, the "hyphen" vote, and the border vote being cast in the most mistifying and unexpected fashion. President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, made strong appeals on behalf of president Wilson, and the Adamson eight-hour Law was expected to win union-labor votes for the President, who secured its passage. The labor vote appears to have been divide, very much like the traders vote of the professional men's vote, according to the political convictions or associations of those who cast them ann not in any class interest.

This year's election, demonstrated beyond dispute the non-deliverability of the union-labor vote. It was undoubtedly in view of the fact that President Wilson had been passed during his administration, more kills affecting organized labor than ever before in the nation's history.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

VII.—Hon. Elihu Root On Woman's Sphere

The question of Woman Suffrage is an issue before the American people. Twelve states have adopted it, four more states vote upon it this fall and it is strongly urged that it become a platform demand of the national political parties. It is therefore the privilege and the duty of every voter to study carefully this subject. Hon.
Elihu Root, in discussing this question before the Constitutional Convention of New York, recently said in part:
"I am opposed to the granting of suffrage to women, because I believe that it would be a loss to women, to all women and to every woman; and because I believe it would be an injury to the State, and to every man and every woman in the State. It would be useless to argue this if the right of suffrage were a natural right. If it were a natural right, then women should have it though the heavens fall. But if there be any one thing settled in the long discussion of this subject, it is that suffrage is not a natural right, but is simply a means of government, and the sole question to be discussed is whether government by the suffrage of men and women will be better government than by the suffrage of men alone.
Into my judgment, sir, there enters no element of the inferiority of woman. It is not that woman is inferior to man, but it is that woman is different from man; that in the distribution of powers, of capacities, of qualities, our Maker has created man adapted to the performance of certain functions in the economy of nature and society, and woman adapted to the performance of other functions.
Woman rules today by the sweet and noble influences of her character.
Put woman into the arena of conflict and she abandons these great weapons which control the world, and she takes into her hands, feeble and nerveless or strife, weapons with which she is unfamiliar and which she is unable to wield. Woman in strife becomes hard, harsh, unlovable, repulsive; as far removed from that gentle creature to whom we all owe allegiance and to whom we confess submission, as the heaven is removed from the earth.
The whole science of government is the science of protecting life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In the divine distribution of powers, the duty and the right of protection rests with the male. It is so throughout nature. It is so with men, and I, for one, will never consent to part with the divine right of protecting my wife, my daughter, the women whom I love, and the women whom I respect, exercising the birthright of men, and place that high duty in the weak and nerveless hands of those by God to be protected rather than to engage in the stern warfare of government. In my judgment, this whole movement arises from a false conception of the duty and of the right of both men and women.
The time will never come when the line of demarcation between the functions of the two sexes will be broken down. I believe it to be false philadelphia. I believe that it is an attempt to turn backward upon the line of development, and that if the step ever be taken, we go centuries back on the march towards a higher, a nobler and a purer civilization, which must be found not in the confusion, but in the higher differentiation of the sexes."

Oh, You Skinny!

Why stay thin as a rail? You don't have to! And you don't have to go through life with a chest that the tailor gives you; with arms of childish strength; with legs you can hardly stand on; and what about that stomach that flinches every time you try a square meal? Are you a pill-feeder?

DO YOU EXPECT HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN TABLOID FORM—
THROUGH PILLS, POSITIONS AND OTHER EXPECTED FIFFLE? YOU CAN'T DO IT; IT CAN'T BE DONE.

The only way to be well is to build up your body—all of it —through nature's methods—not by pampering the stomach. It is not fate that is making you a failure; it's that poor, enaciated body of yours; your half-sickness shows plain in your face and the world loves healthy people. So be healthy—strong—vital. That's living. Don't think too long; send 4 cents in stamps to cover mailing of my book, "INTELLIGENCE IN PHYSICAL CULTURE," written by the strongest physical culture instructor in the world.
