Black Men in White Coats Screening and Discussion

by Amy Weig Pickering on October 4th, 2021 | 0 Comments

The UNM Health Sciences Library & Informatics Center (HSLIC) and its Justice, Equity, and Inclusion (JEI) Committee is sponsoring a screening of Black Men in White Coats. This documentary creates an awareness of the shortage of Black men in the field of medicine and how the long-term impacts of historic and systemic racism in our nation have shaped this reality.

You may view the film at any time between Friday, October 22nd (9 a.m. ET) and Monday, October 25th (9 a.m. ET). We encourage all viewers to contribute feedback anonymously and asynchronously via Padlet. A live, facilitated discussion with Dr. Lindsay Smart and Deion Ellis will take place Wednesday, October 27th at 12 p.m. MT. The facilitated discussion will (1) provide space for people to convey emotional reactions to the film; and (2) encourage discussion around next steps. Responses recorded in Padlet will be used to guide future programming and efforts focused on UNM's support of Black learners at the Health Sciences Center.

How to participate:

Visit the Black men in White Coats \(IndieScreening\) page to secure your ticket code. An email confirmation will be sent that includes the viewing link and your unique code. Forgot your code? Email Jonathan Pringle at jpringle@salud.unm.edu. Please note there are only 300 viewing tickets available; they are first-come-first-served!

View the film at any time between Friday, October 22nd (9 a.m. ET) and Monday, October 25th (9 a.m. ET). Mark your calendars as a reminder!

Provide anonymous and asynchronous feedback during and after viewing the film at our Padlet space.

Attend a live facilitated discussion with Dr. Lindsay Smart and Deion Ellis on Wednesday, October 27th at 12 p.m. MT. Click here to register and have it added to your calendar. A Zoom link will be provided one week prior to the discussion to all those who have RSVPd.

This is an opportunity not to be missed. We look forward to everyone's participation.

About our Facilitators:

Dr. Lindsay Smart, Ph.D. is an Associate Professor and Clinical Psychologist in the UNM Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and Associate Vice Chancellor for Leadership and Faculty Equity and Inclusion. She is also the Training Director for the American Psychological Association (APA) Accredited Clinical Psychology Internship Training Program and provides clinical services for UNM student-athletes.

Deion Ellis is a fourth-year medical student and President of the UNM School of Medicine chapter of the Student National Medical Association. He is currently applying for residency in the UNM Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation program.
