

12-1-1941

Necrology

F. Anderson

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nm_anthropologist

Recommended Citation

Anderson, F.. "Necrology." New Mexico Anthropologist 5, 4 (1941): 161-164. https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nm_anthropologist/vol5/iss4/4

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Anthropology at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in New Mexico Anthropologist by an authorized editor of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

generalizations) cannot be justified or overlooked. Granting the difficulties of summarizing a vast literature, the fact remains that such a selected summary, no matter how limited in scope, should retain proportionate representation and evaluation of all pertinent material. If this is not done, the presentation becomes detrimental in relation to the beginner or layman who rarely has the perspective necessary to weigh and evaluate. In the opinion of this reviewer, the successor to A. V. Kidder's "Introduction to Southwestern Archaeology" is not (as claimed by the publishers) J. C. McGregor's "Southwestern Archaeology."

University of New Mexico,
Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Charles H. Lange, Jr.

NECROLOGY—1941

By F. G. ANDERSON, JR.

Agostini, Giovanni De. Italian geographer and cartographer, founder of the geographical institute bearing his name. Made maps of Italy, the Balkans, and Africa. Died Nov. 22, 1941, at the age of 40.

Albertini, Augene. Professor in the College de France, and member of the Institut de France. Student of ancient civilizations. Died Feb. 26, 1941.

Borelli, Jules. French explorer, the first European to explore the Lake Rudolph region (Ethiopia). Winner of the Paris Geographical Society gold medal. Died Feb. 11, 1941, at the age of 89.

Bushnell, David I., Jr. Member of the staff of the Smithsonian Institution, formerly assistant in archaeology at the Peabody Museum of Harvard University. Archaeologist and ethnologist. Annotated pictures of Indians by early artists. Died June 4, 1941, at the age of 66.

Chapman, Charles Edward. Professor of Hispanic-American and California History at the University of California. Historian of Spanish America and the Southwest. Died Nov. 17, 1941, at the age of 61.

Clark, Emanuel M. Vice-president of Ferris Institute (Big Rapids, Mich.) and president of the Michigan Historical Association. Historian and geographer. Died Feb. 13, 1941, at the age of 62.

Evans, Sir Arthur. Professor of Archaeology at Oxford, and former keeper of the Ashmolean Museum, Oxford. Explored in Finland and Lapland, and excavated in Crete (Cnossos) from 1893. Wrote extensively upon his excavations. Died July 11, 1941, at the age of 90.

Fewkes, Vladimer J. Research associate of the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania, formerly New Jersey state archaeologist.

Explored in Europe, especially in Bohemia. Born at Nymburk, Bohemia. Died at Philadelphia, Dec. 11, 1941, at the age of 40.

Fisher, Clarence Stanley. Acting director and professor of archaeology at the American School of Oriental Research (Jerusalem), and former chief archaeologist and Egyptologist at the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. Excavated at Armageddon and Nippur, and in Egypt. Wrote on Palestinian pottery. Died July 20, 1941, at the age of 65.

Grierson, Sir George Abraham. Member of the Order of Merit. Formerly in the Indian Civil Service and superintendent of the linguistic survey of India. Linguist and ethnographer, editor of the Linguistic Survey of India. Died March 7, 1941, at the age of 90.

Guggenheim, Simon. President of the American Smelting and Refining Co. Former U. S. senator from Colorado. Founder of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation for scholarships for advanced study (1925). Died Nov. 2, 1941, at the age of 73.

Gutierrez Arancibia, Jose Maria. Nicaraguan archaeologist and geologist. Died Jan. 22, 1941, at the age of 60.

Harlan, Edgar Rubey. Curator of the Iowa state history department. Lawyer and Indian authority. Student of the Mormons and of Sac and Fox chiefs. Died July 13, 1941, at the age of 72.

Hill, Sir Arthur William. Director of the Royal Botanical Gardens, Kew, since 1922. Formerly of King's College, Cambridge. Botanist and explorer of the Andes, Africa, India, Australia, Malaya, etc. Died Nov. 3, 1941, at the age of 66.

Hill, Robert Thomas. Former principal geologist of the U. S. Geological Survey. Sometime professor of Geology at the University of Texas. Interested in the geology and social geography of the Southwest, Spanish America, and the West Indies. Died July 28, 1941, at the age of 82.

Hobson, Robert Lockhart. Former keeper of the Department of Oriental Antiquities and of Ethnography, British Museum. Published on the ceramics of England and China. Died June 5, 1941, at the age of 68.

Hyvernat, Mgr. Henry. Professor of Biblical Archaeology and head of the Department of Semitic and Egyptian Languages and Literatures at Catholic University since its founding in 1889. Chevalier and Officer of the Legion of Honor. Edited the Coptic version of the Bible, and wrote extensively on the early Christian church. Died at Washington, May 29, 1941, at the age of 82.

Jones, Chester Lloyd. Professor of Economics at the University of Wisconsin. Formerly at the University of Pennsylvania, and in the diplomatic service (Spain, Cuba, France, Mexico). Commercial expert, and author of books on Latin America, especially the Caribbean region. Died Jan. 13, 1941, at the age of 59.

Kohlbrugge, Jacob. Former professor of ethnology at Utrecht University. Author of books on ethnology and sociology. Interested in physical anthropology and comparative ethnology. Died Aug. 28, 1941, at the age of 76.

Lawton, William Cranston. Professor of literature at Hobart, onetime secretary of the Archaeological Institute of America. Member of the first American archaeological expedition to the near east (Assos, 1881). Deciphered inscriptions. Died April 18, 1941, at the age of 88.

Mille, Pierre. Former colonial administrator of Madagascar. Commander of the Legion of Honor. Explored in East Africa, Congo, Indo-China, India. Author of books on the French colonial empire. Died in January, 1941 (so announced), at the age of 76.

Newell, Edward Theodore. President of the New York chapter of the Archaeological Institute of America. Student of numismatics. Died Feb. 18, 1941, at the age of 55.

Parsons, Elsie Clews. President of the American Anthropological Association. Former president of the American Ethnological Society and of the American Folklore Society. Sometime lecturer at the New School for Social Research. Ethnologist and sociologist, having worked in the Pueblos, in Mexico, and elsewhere. Died Dec. 19, 1941, at the age of 66.

Peabody, William Rodman. President of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens. Lawyer and business man, interested in archaeology. Died Jan. 12, 1941, at the age of 66.

Pretty Young Man. "Last of the great Indian buffalo hunters." Widely photographed by tourists and professionals. Died at the Sarceé Reservation, near Calgary, Alberta, Dec. 24, 1941, at the age of 89.

Ripley, William Zebina. Former professor of political economy at Harvard University, previously at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and at Columbia University. Economist and anthropologist, author of The Races of Europe. Died Aug. 16, 1941, at the age of 73.

Saenz, Moises. Mexican ambassador to Peru (1937-41), formerly minister to Ecuador (1934), and Denmark (1935). Formerly under-secretary of public education. Educator, and provisional director of the Inter-American Indian Institute. Died Oct. 24, 1941, at the age of 53.

Schuetz, Ludwig Harald. A founder and secretary of the Frankfurt Association of Oriental Languages. Student of folklore and linguistics, alleged to have spoken 290 languages and dialects. Died March 23, 1941 (so announced), at the age of 67.

Teleki, Count Paul. Professor of economic geography at Budapest. Former Foreign Minister and Prime Minister of Hungary.

Geographer, particularly of Hungary and adjacent areas. Student of minority problems. News of his death (by suicide) was received in this country April 3, 1941. His age was 61.

Thompson, Reginald Campbell. Reader in Assyriology at Merton College, Oxford. Editor of Iraq, and head of the Egyptian and Assyrian Department of the British Museum. Onetime assistant professor of Semetic languages at Chicago. Excavated in Mesopotamia, and coliated the inscriptions at Behistun. Died May 25, 1941, at the age of 64.

Welsh, Herbert. A founder of the Indian Rights Association, and its former corresponding secretary and president. Artist and publicist, a lecturer and writer on the Indian question. Died June 28, 1941, at the age of 89.

Whorf, Benjamin Lee. Research fellow of the Committee on American Native Languages of the American Council of Learned Societies. Sterling Fellow at Yale University (1937). An authority on the Aztec and Maya cultures and languages, and the Hopi language. Died July 26, 1941, at the age of 44.

Wintemberg, William J. Associate archaeologist of the National Museum of Canada. Authority on the archaeology of eastern Canada. Died April 25, 1941, at the age of 64.

Worth, Lieut. Col. John G. Indian fighter, an associate of William F. Cody and others. Wrote on American basketry and collected extensively for museums. Died May 20, 1941, at the age of 70.