GOV. M'DONALD'S CONDITION

PHYSICIANS TELL EXACTLY THE NATURE OF HIS ILLNESS, WHICH IS NOT SERIOUS.

Governor McDonald said Sunday afternoon that he had determined to enter the hospital, follow out his physician's instructions and to turn over matters of state government for the time being, to the lieutenant governor.

The governor was driven to St. Vincent's sanitarium last evening and at once began the course of treatment prescribed for him:

"There have been many statements published about me some saying that it would be necessary for me to enter a hospital and undergo an operation. None of these statements had any foundation in fact. There never has been need of an operation. I have requested Dr. Massie, my physician, to make a statement for me as to my condition and I presume he will do so in good time. There has never been a time in the past when I was in need of surgical care and there is to be no operation now. Such reports were circulated and I am afraid they did more or less harm in some quarters by alarming some of my friends when there was no occasion for alarm.

"I would not at this time make any statement in regard to this matter were it not for the fact that I presume the same rumors and reports will be again started and it is my object to obviate them as far as possible. In order that the public and my office shall be safe guarded in every way, I have asked the lieutenant governor to come to Santa Fe and to remain here during my stay in the hospital. He will look after all official business because the nature of my treatment is such that I can not be disturbed. I shall not be seriously ill but it will inconvenience me to have business matters brought to the sick chamber and the physicians have forbidden it, since it would only retard my ultimate recovery.

"It is, as I understand it, necessary for me to take a course of medicine extending over about ten days. There will be no operation and not the slightest danger. At the end of that time I shall resume my duties as executive of New Mexico."

The governor again re-iterated the statement that he had given out these facts to set at rest any rumors that might arise and that might be started for the purpose of in any manner, embarrassing him or the lieutenant governor.

Dr. James A. Massie, issued the following statement today:

"Governor McDonald is suffering from amebic dysentery and has gone to St. Vincent's Sanitarium for treatment. In from eight to ten days it is expected the governor will be well."

Amebic dysentery is said to be peculiar to hot countries but also may be contracted by swallowing the germ which is sometimes found on lettuce. It is said that in less than two weeks successful treatment the patient regains his former vigor.

During his stay at the sanitarium the governor will be kept quiet and no visitors will be permitted to see him. Lieutenant Governor E. C. de Baca will act as governor.—New Mexican.

Dallas Trades Excursion Coming.

Mayor Scott Etter has received notification of the coming of the Dallas Business Men's Excursion, which will arrive in Carlsbad April 21st, en route to Roswell. They are scheduled to arrive at 11:25 A. M., and leave at 12:35 the same morning. There will be approximately 100 men in the party, they occupying six cars and carrying a diner. They also have a band with them. A request is made that no public meeting be held as they wish to meet the business men in their places of business.

"Clean-up Day."

The time for the annual clean-up day has been set for April 19th, one week from tomorrow. The chairman of the Civic Committee of Carlsbad Woman's club, Mrs. W. H. Woodwell, wishes all persons who will furnish teams or men to drive, for the collection of rubbish, on that day, to please notify her between now and next Thursday, in order that the work may be planned systematically. Mrs. Woodwell's phone number is 190. It is hoped enough teams may be secured to begin operations in the north end of town and take the full length of the streets from north to south. An inspector will be appointed to see that the work is accomplished without friction. The full details of the plan will be published in the papers next Friday. Any further information may be had of Mrs. Woodwell. Now, let's all pull together as was done last year, for a cleaner, healthier Carlsbad. In this connection it has been suggested that residents in the vicinity of vacant lots would do a fine thing to pick up the rubbish on such lots and burn off the weeds.

Shooting at San Jose.

Francisco Guerra was shot Friday night, and seriously injured by a revolver in the hands of Alestacia Guzaules. It seems both men had been drinking and without any preliminaries Guzaules drew his revolver and commenced shooting at the legs of Guerra. The injured man was brought to this city and taken to the Eddy County hospital, where physicians removed the bullet and are now endeavoring to save his foot. It was thought at first this could not be done, but at this time the indications are more favorable.

Guzaules escaped at the time, but on Monday was apprehended and is now in jail, awaiting the result of the wounded man's injuries.

PRESIDENT'S FIRST MESSAGE

DOCUMENT IS VERY BRIEF ONE. SPECIAL ATTENTION IS CALLED TO PLEDGE OF DEMOCRACY TO REDUCTION

Washington, D. C., April 8.—President Wilson stood on the speaker's rostrum in the hall of the house today and personally read his first message to congress, the first president since John Adams to exercise that privilege.

The renewal of a custom a century abandoned and now surrounded by such wide differences of opinion among members of congress itself attracted to the capitol an assemblage necessarily less in numbers, but certainly no less distinguished than the company which attended the president's inauguration.

A moving picture machine was installed to preserve a record of the historic events for the government's archives.

President Wilson slipped away from the white house quietly after the cabinet meeting, accompanied only by his secretary and one secret service man and upon arriving at the capitol was escorted to the rostrum in the house, where Speaker Clark sat at one side, and Vice President Marshall at the other. The president, speaking with his usual clearness of tone, and notable diction, read his message, while the company, actually packed into the chamber, gave the closest attention.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—President Wilson began his message as follows:

"I am very glad, indeed, to have this opportunity to address the two houses and to verify for myself that the position of president of the United States is a person not a mere department of the government hailing congress from on tariff revision. His specific views and ideas as to rates and duties, it has been generally accepted, will be contained in the tariff bill itself which he is now considering in detail. The president's decision to put the weight of the administration's influence behind the bill with its various schedules as drawn by the House Ways and Means committee caused him to omit specific reference to tariff topics until the measure was finally agreed upon in the opening days of the present session.

The message urged that special privilege and exemptions from competition be cut out of the nation's tariff system and that the revision be made "to square with the facts as they are." At the outset the president called attention to the party's pledge for tariff reduction.

Heavy Federal Tax Proposed For Inheritances.

SENATOR JONES OF WASHINGTON, INTRODUCES BILL THAT WOULD TAKE FIFTY PER CENT ABOVE FIFTEEN MILLION DOLLARS.

Washington, April 8.—An inheritance tax that would run as high as 50 per cent on fortunes over $15,000,000 was proposed in a bill introduced in some isolated island of jealous power, sending messages, not speaking naturally and with his own voice, that he is a real being, trying to co-operate with other human beings in common service. After this pleasant experience, I shall feel quite normal in all our dealings with one another."

Washington, D. C., April 8.—The president was cheered as he mounted the rostrum in the house chamber and shook hands with Speaker Clark. As he began to speak intense silence settled in the great room and he used only an ordinary tone as he explained his coming in person to deliver his message. As the president read on, every eye was riveted toward the speaker's stand with his new occupant never in the life of any man present had a president occupied that historic place in such a capacity.

Washington, April 8.—President Woodrow Wilson today communicated his first message to the Sixty-third congress convened in extraordinary session. It was an unusually brief document, dealing exclusively with the needs for a thorough, moderate and well-considered revision of the tariff. The president drew attention to the necessity for an early reform in the banking and currency laws, but refrained, he said, from urging, for the present, any other legislation that might divert the energies of congress "from its clearly defined duty," toward the tariff question.

The message referred to no particular schedule, mentioned no rates, and included no statistics. It was an enunciation of the president's principles the senate today by Senator Jones, of Washington. The measure would impose the inheritance tax on all estates except where the bequest is to members of the immediate family, in which case there would be an exemption of $25,000 and a reduced rate.

The general inheritance tax proposed is as follows:

On estates of less than $5,000, 1 per cent; from $5,000 to $50,000, 2 per cent; from $50,000 to $250,000, 5 per cent; from $250,000 to $750,000, 10 per cent; from $750,000 to $1,500,000, 15 per cent; from $1,500,000 to $3,000,000, 20 per cent; from $3,000,000 to $7,000,000, 25 per cent; from $7,000,000 to $15,000,000, 40 per cent; above $15,000,000, 50 per cent.

No constitutional amendment would be necessary to impose an inheritance tax.

Carlsbad Volunteer Firemen.

The Carlsbad Volunteer Fire Department is at present riding on the high waves of popularity and prosperity. The $600.00 due them from the state insurance fund will be received soon and the boys, all being public spirited citizens, instead of dividing this amount among themselves, will finish paying some expenses which are yet unpaid on the Firemen's Park in the southwest part of the city. Carlsbad, by this very commendable action, will soon have an up-to-date amusement park, for base ball and other sports. Many improvements are being planned for the ground and the action the fire laddies meet with the cordial approbation of all.

The following new names were added to the roster of members at the meeting last Monday:

Wm. Matheson. C. M. Fosmark. Buck Ghelson. J. J. Grubaugh. C. T. Richards. W. V. Middleton. W. T. Murray. H. C. Sands. W. C. Bucy. Carl Herring. Andy Zeigler. C. H. Tompkins. Dean Smith. R. L. Causey. D. A. Yeager. C. D. Rickman. J. F. Rarey. Rex Freeman. J. G. Herzog.

The membership now comprises forty-two the list being full the first time in years. The yearly election will be held at the first meeting in May. The present officers are: Ed Hooser, chief; Sam Aiken, assistant chief; M. R. Smith, secretary and R. M. Thorne treasurer.

Letter About Flood.

The following extracts from a letter written by a relative of Mrs. Chris Walters, describes affairs in that city (Terre Haute, Indiana) so vividly that it is here presented: "I suppose you have by this time heard all about the terrible tornado which destroyed the extreme southern part of the city Easter Sunday night. I went down Monday morning in the rain to view the disaster—it was the most pitiful sight I ever beheld. Some houses had the roofs torn off, some had been lifted from their foundations, some were in splinters, piled in the cellar. Every house in that section had all the windows broken out. The wires were down and the rain was pouring, making it dangerous in that locality. About twenty-five were killed and many more injured. An electrical storm followed the tornado and seemed to complete the work of destruction. However there was more to come. Tuesday evening the levee broke—flooding the extreme northern part of town, the water being up to the roofs of the houses. The loss of property, homes, health and employment is appalling and it will take a long time for us to recover from the shock. The gas and electric lights were off all over the city and people who were depending on gas to cook with, had a hard time. The letter also states that the members of the families of Mr. and Mrs. Walters, all of whom reside there, are safe and well.

OIL FOUND ONLY TWO AND ONE HALF MILES WEST OF TOWN.

FACTS LEADING TO THE DISCOVERY.

Last summer C. D. Hill, who lives west of town had a well drilled on his place expecting to do some irrigating from it. After drilling to a depth of ninety-five feet, he found that the flow of water did not warrant the use of an engine so he decided to stop drilling and wait until spring at which time he might erect a mill over the well. He carefully closed the hole and nothing more was done until a few days ago.

For some months past his neighbor's well which is near by, has shown indications of oil by bringing up a thin film on the top of the water as appears when oil is present. This however was not thought much of as it was not noticeable in using the water. It evidently had its weight on Mr. Hill's mind for he finally decided to investigate his well.

After securing a well bucket, such as the well drillers use, it was lowered into the well and pulled up full of water which was drawn from the top of the water.

The appearance of the water was not as he expected, not being very clear he emptied the bucket and lowered it again, this time to the bottom of the well. On drawing it up the second time it still did not meet his expectations, but on testing finds it very unpalatable because of oil. A careful investigation showed distinct particles of oil in the water.

Mr. Hill also states that oil smelling stones have been found on Mr. Swickard's land which joins his land on the north and west.

The election of U. S. Senators by the people direct is now assured, Connecticut being the thirty-sixth state to ratify the amendment to the constitution.

Governor Hunt, of Arizona, seems determined to, if possible, have the capital punishment law repealed, having received three murderers until after the legislature meets in 1914.

Alfalfa hay is gradually dropping a little in price this spring in Carlsbad, a condition seldom experienced. Kaffir corn is up to $20 per ton in the head, while good alfalfa is $13 in the bale.

The Eddy County hospital is taxed to its utmost capacity at this time, and patients have been turned away for lack of room. Work is being hurried on the new building and it is expected some of the rooms will be ready for use in a short time.

For the first time since the days of John Adams, the second president, a president has read his message to Congress, and the innovation is certainly well received by both Congress and the nation. Woodrow Wilson is as full of democracy as Wm. J. Bryan, and that is going some.

Word received recently from V. S. Nelson, who is under treatment in the Santa Fe hospital at Topoka, Kansas, states that he has almost entirely recovered from his recent stroke of paralysis. Mr. Nelson will likely return to Carlsbad before long.

Preparations are making in the United Lodge of Old Fellows for the yearly meeting of the Pecos Valley Pecos Valley Association, which convenes at Roswell the 26th of this month. The fare has been reduced on the Santa Fe for the occasion and it is likely a large crowd will go from the Rehoboth lodge, also. A full program will be published in next week's issue.

P. Moody, the Kansas City stockman this week purchased three hundred head of yearlings from Col. Williams and two hundred and sixty head from Jim Roberts. Mr. Moody also bought all old bulls and two and up from Jim Roberts and all the old bulls owned by Col. Williams. The price paid for the yearlings was thirty-two dollars a round, but the stuff was very high class many of the yearlings being as big as ordinary two and all are Durham Herefords. Mr. Moody left Thursday (yesterday) for Kansas City and will return about the 25th having sold a car load of bulls to Col. Williams and Artesia parties. The yearlings he purchased will be shipped from Avalon pens May 5th.

The present school board met in joint session with the newly elected board last Friday night in the High school building. The meeting was very informal in character, being more of a social gathering. Quite a good deal of friendly discussion was indulged in regarding matters of interest to the schools. The retiring board has not elected but part of the teachers to be employed the coming school year, but this will probably be done when the new board gets together May 1st, at which time the organization will be effected. At this writing things look favorable for the erection of the proposed county high schools.

After the fire Friday of last week, the fire boys were invited to Hotel Bates and treated to an appetizing lunch, at the expense of W. C. Buey, the Ford automobile man. The good hot coffee was especially enjoyed as the night was cool, and some of the men afterward kept watch over the ruins until morning fearing danger from the flying sparks.

Mrs. Hugh Gage has been an inmate of the Eddy County hospital since Thursday of last week at which time she underwent an operation from which she is recovering as rapidly as possible.

OLD RESIDENT EXPIRES

W. C. Reiff, Old-Timer in Pecos Valley,
Dies at His Residence
Friday, April
4, 1913.

MILITARY FUNERAL HELD SUNDAY AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

William Coffin Reiff, son of Beulah Ann Tice Reiff and John Boyer Reiff, was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in the year 1845. He was one of a family of eleven children of whom only one brother, who resides in Kokomo, Indiana, survives him.

When Mr. Reiff was sixteen years old, he enlisted in the ninety-first Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry and served until the close of the war.

In the fall of 1865 he enlisted in the army of the Mighty One of Israel, was converted and united with the Baptist church, making a valiant soldier in this army as he had in the service of his country.

He graduated from Crittenden College and later took a four year course at the State Normal School at Millersburg, Pennsylvania. He was united in marriage to Sarah Ann Carl, September 15th, 1874, the ceremony taking place at Philadelphia. To this union was born three daughters: Martha, now the wife of H. C. Robb; Beulah May and Mary, now Mrs. Joseph McMillan. Two grandchildren also remain: William Preston Robb and Mary Helen McMillan, all of whom were present at the funeral Sunday.

They removed to Indiana where they resided two years, returning to Pennsylvania where he was superintendent of schools for two years, more.

In the spring of 1878 the family came to Marion County, Kansas, where Mr. Reiff again engaged in teaching until the year of 1887. At this time he was engaged in the real estate business, but his health continuing bad, he was ordered to the Pecos Valley, arriving in Carlsbad October 25, 1892.

For the first ten years his health improved steadily, and he was prominently identified with the school and social life of the community. With his family he resided a year in Hagerman, taking up a desert claim near that place. Afterwards he taught the first school in Miller station, which now is Artesia. He was forced by ill health to give up teaching but continued interested in all that pertains to schools, his daughters all being actively engaged in that profession at various times.

For the last five years Mr. Reiff had been unable to engage in any regular business, which was a grief to his active, energetic disposition. His was a true unselfish character; charitable and kind, and in conversation with him, or even in his presence, one was impressed with his innate goodness and kind heart.

The funeral, which occurred from the Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock, was largely attended, Rev. A. A. Davis, of the Presbyterian church, officiating and Rev. J. Rush Goodloe, Methodist minister, assisting. The casket, draped with a beautiful silk flag, and covered with floral tributes of friends, was borne from the house by the following brothers of the Knights of Pythias, of which order the deceased was a member for many years:

Robt. C. Hamblen, A. R. O'Quinn, Lucius Anderson, J. R. Linn, Elbert Smith and Robt. J. Toffelmire.

While the honorary pall bearers were the following old friends:

C. H. McLenathan, A. N. Pratt, W. H. Woodwell, Wm. H. Mullane, W. G. Woerner and J. W. Lewis.

The pall bearers who were all Knights of Pythias members, the deceased having for years been a member of that order were: Robt. C. Hamblen, A. R. O'Quinn, Lucius Anderson, J. R. Linn, Elbert Smith and Robt. J. Toffelmire.

Hymns which he had loved in his life were sung at the church, the choir honoring, preceding the funeral cortege and firing the military salute over the grave.

The interment was made in a spot selected by Mr. Reiff some time ago, next to the grave of Rev. S. R. Wood, who was a valued friend of the deceased.

The following tribute to Mr. Reiff was prepared and read at the services at the church by C. H. McLenathan which tells better than anything we can say the life of our friend and neighbor, Wm. C. Reiff:

William Coffin Reiff was born at Philadelphia in 1845.

On his sixteenth birthday, he enlisted in the Ninety-first Pennsylvania Volunteers and served four years or until the close of the Civil war.

In the fall of 1865 he was converted and joined the Baptist church of which organization he has been an active and consistent member for nearly half a century.

He graduated from the Crittenden Business College and from the Pennsylvania State Normal School.

He was preparing himself for Missionary work in Japan when his throat became affected, forcing him to change his life plan and to engage in other avocations. His work was principally along educational lines either as superintendent or teacher.

In 1874 he was married to Miss Sara Ann Carl who survives him.

In 1878 the family moved to Kansas and owing to continued ill health, came to the Pecos Valley in October 25th, 1892 where for a few years he was engaged in the real estate business. His strength was not equal to the strain and during the greater portion of his residence here he was too ill to work.

He died on April 4th, 1913.

Industrious, economical and thrifty he was unable to accumulate wealth. Mentally active, morally upright and intellectually acute, he was unable to accomplish great results. Why? A reason so common place and familiar that it is not appreciated. Poor health. From every material standpoint, his life was a failure, from every spiritual and ethical point of view—a blessed heritage.

We cannot understand the mystery of life. We cannot comprehend the mystery of death. The relation of this life to that which follows has been the theme of poets, philosophers and prophets since the morning stars sang together at creation's dawn. No definite conclusions have been reached, not even a definite hypothesis established. We do not know why the wicked flourish like the green bay tree planted by the rivers of water while heavy burdens of sorrow are laid upon the shoulders of the virtuous and the devout. We are groping in the darkness, seeking the light. We realize that now we see as through a glass dimly, but that in the better land, illumined by the Sun of Righteousness, we shall see more clearly. What will it profit us to strike the sounding board of God's inscrutable Providence and listen to the echo of our own speculations? And yet we must ask, why?

Who are the real heroes of the world? Who are entitled to our admiration as possessing virtues worthy of our imitation? It is generally conceded that the great men who have led armies to victory, founded states and built empires, are the great heroes of the ages. Not so. Their hands have been reddened with the blood of their fellows. True heroism is not the spectacular display of courage in the line of light of public observation. It certainly requires strength and bravery to confront a sudden danger wherein one's life is imperiled either in self defense or in the protection or rescue of a fellow creature. For such acts of valor, medals and decorations are given. The British soldier who saves the life of a comrade at the peril of his own wears on his breast the Victoria Cross—the highest attainable honor. There are many heroes not decorated and many unknown.

The man who for years bears the burden of an incurable malady with patience, and good cheer is a real hero. Those of you who are physically fit, strong of arm and robust of body do not realize the heavy load carried by your less fortunate brother, who is handicapped by physical weakness and bodily suffering. The coveted prizes of this life are won by the strong. They only who have suffered can appreciate the chagrin, disappointment, the utter despair felt by the intellectually competent as these prizes are snatched from their nerveless grasp. But it is, when with palsied arm or halting step, one hears his loved ones cry for bread and is impotent to answer the call, that the fangs of anguish are driven deep into his very soul. When time with leaden step darts on from year to year and the grim conviction grows stronger and stronger that the supreme blessing of an ability to labor is never to be attained, then the real test comes. Then the victim sinks into snarling impotency or rises calm, serene and hopeful to the measure of true greatness. To bear this burden with patience, fortitude and good cheer is the index of high character.

Have any of you planned for years a certain life work and then just as you were to realize your ambition been robbed of the ability to do the work—like as the death angel snatches the blooming bride from the loving arms of the bride groom? No. Then you have not drank the wormwood and the gall.

You have not borne the supreme burden. You have not wrestled with the grim Giant Despair in the gloomy shades of Gethsemane. It is in this garden of Gethsemane that are developed the rarest of flowers and fruitage of the chastened soul.

Our departed brother suffered much and was patient. He endured the supreme disappointment of blighted hopes and was cheerful. In bodily pain, he never complained and in anguish of soul he never murmured.

With faith and with unabated courage unshaken, he looked into the very blackest of all human tragedies and said: "Not my will, but Thine."

What a blessed heritage for those who are left behind is such a life and such a character. Treasure its memories and may your endeavors be strengthened and your stricken hearts comforted.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Runkner made a flying trip to Carlsbad Monday.

Mrs. Benninger and family returned to Wyoming on account of the serious sickness of a son living there.

C. W. Beeman was in Carlsbad this week attending a meeting of the County Commissioners' Board of which he is chairman.

Mr. Helen was elected school trustee at the election Monday.

Mr. Egbert and wife who has been spending the winter here with their son Clyde, returned to their home in Illinois Wednesday. Clyde and wife went with them as far as Carlsbad.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayes gave a dance to a few of their friends at the hall Friday night.

J. N. S. Webb filled his appointment here Sunday.

Mr. Helm and son, Chester, were in Carlsbad Saturday where the latter was having glasses fitted to his eyes.

Died.

Early last Monday morning at the residence of her parents, Buena Vista, Texas, Anna Katherine, only daughter and eldest child of Vernon L. and Velma Holcomb Sullivan, aged eight years.

The little ones death was tragic in the extreme. It seems she had broken her arm and morphine was administered by a physician in order that the fracture might be reduced, and the little girl never came from under the anesthetic.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan were married near here and little Katherine first saw the light of day at the Anderson Sanitarium in this city.

The remains were brought from Buena Vista to Lakewood, Tuesday morning where services were held at the home of Mrs. Sullivan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Holcomb, at 10 A. M. of the same day. Afterwards they were brought to this city for interment in the City cemetery.

Reverend Mr. Pratt conducted brief services at the grave, Mrs. Fessenden singing "Some Day We'll Understand" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." The services were very affecting throughout.

The parents of the child are almost prostrate with grief and a feeling of sympathy pervades the entire community.

Another Birthday Party.

A very pleasant affair was held at the Grantham residence on Green Heights, Wednesday afternoon from seven to six o'clock, Miss Erma Linn Grantham having reached the age of four years, and the party having assembled in her honor.

The children played games of various sorts and all had a most delightful time. Miss Kuykendall the teacher of the First Grade in the Grammar schools, and a favorite with all the little folks, was present, and told the children stories in her own charming style.

Refreshments were served, the birthday cake, looming up prominently as befitting so important an occasion. The hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Janie Kindel and Miss Barbara Jones, while Professor Cedar also lent a helping hand. The little girl received a number of presents from the invited guests who were: Julia and Helen Clark, Helen Crozier, Gertrude Parr, Dorothy Flowers, Alice Query, Agnes Thorne, Alice Walters, Mary Frances Joyce, Florence May, Lena

L. M. Canfield, engineer at the lower plant of the Public Utilities company, met with quite a painful accident at that place Wednesday of this week at about four o'clock in the afternoon. In going down a flight of steps leading from the main floor to the lower floor, Mr. Canfield fell striking his side with such force as to break one of his ribs. The result is a very sore side, and it will likely be some days before he can be about again.

GOV. McDONALD TO A HOSPITAL.

Lieutenant DeBaca Now Acting Governor for Couple of Weeks
"Mack" Rests at a Sanitarium.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 7.—Governor
W. C. McDonald entered a local sanitarium here last night and will remain there for ten days or two weeks undergoing treatment for an ailment which his physicians said was in no manner serious, but which required that the patient be left quiet. In the interim, E. C. DeBaca, lieutenant-governor, will be acting governor.

Before entering the hospital, Governor McDonald made a statement to the Associated Press correspondent here in which he said that because of repeated rumors that he was seriously ill, or that he would undergo an operation, he desired it to be known that his ailment was not of a serious nature but that it required that he remain perfectly quiet for ten days or two weeks.

Colonel TODHUNTER of Missouri

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1911, by the Robt. Merril

PROLOGUE.

Ladies and gentlemen, permit us to present Colonel Todhunter of Missouri and his home folks.
They're our kind of people—just the plain, homelike, everyday sort, you know, with whom you can summer and winter and to like and to feel for when they run into trouble. There's plenty of love and romance in this story, with politics of the sort that will never go out of date—or let's hope so, anyway. There's nothing of the problem story in this tale of the colonel and his friends and foes; just a plain, straight, all the way through story of the honest, old fashioned kind that's worth reading.

CHAPTER III.

"For Governor, William J. Strickland of Nineveh."
COLONEL TODHUNTER'S heart swelled with an unselfish pride when he saw the steamer, Gray Eagle, bound for from where he stood at the Nineveh landing, was bringing home the Hon. William J. Strickland of Nineveh to the annual session of the Democratic convention for governor of Missouri.
Colonel Todhunter himself had attended the public reception at this moment awaiting the most distinguished of Nineveh's citizens. "I'll be shot full of holes, sub," he said to Dick Cantrill, editor and proprietor of the Nineveh Weekly Blade. "If we don't show the people of this here state what old Bill Strickland's home folks think of him, anyway. Th' ain't nothin' more helpful to a candidate than provin' that them as knows the most about him has the least against him, sub."
"What about Squire Tucker's opposition, colonel?" asked Dick Cantrill.
"That's better'n his indecement sub," retorted Colonel Todhunter.
"Long as I've known Bill Strickland
if I knew old Eph Tucker was sup-portin' him I'd be against him on suspicion, sub, blamed if I wouldn't!"
Knowing the speaker better than he knew himself, Dick Cantrill laughed.
Colonel Todhunter and Colonel Strickland were friends from boyhood.
Friendship was something in the nature of a religion with Colonel Tod-hunter. In his simple creed he did not simply "like" his friends. He loved them with a trustful steadfastness that knew no limitations of loyalty or of potential sacrifice.
"Barrin' his wife and children, sub," Colonel Todhunter was wont to say,
"a man's friends is all that's worth while in this here world of our'n. And his old friends, them that was young with him when he was makin' as many different kinds of a fool of himself as the law allows, well, sub, th' ain't no price can be set on 'em, neither gold nor rubies nor Jasper nor frankincense and myrrh, as the good book says, sub."
Colonel Todhunter had been vastly impatient for the return of the Hon.
William J. Strickland. When the Gray Eagle rounded the bend in the river two miles below Nineveh and waked the Missouri echoes with the mellow tones of her famous harri-tone whistle, the colonel's face became splendidly illumined.
"There he comes, folks," he cried.
"There comes old Bill Strickland, the man we're a-goin' to nominate and elect governor of Missouri!" All ready, now! Hip, hip, hooray!"
A mighty cheer rose from the crowd assembled on the Nineveh wharf and smote afar the ears of Colonel Bill Strickland where he stood beside Captain Beverly Leigh on the star Eagle's upper deck. The candidate's eyes twinkled as they met those of the weatherbeaten riverman.
"That's old Thurs T. Todhunter'sday, Rev.," he spoke. "I'll bet he's got high about all the male population of Nineveh rallyin' around him at that landing. The old rascal!"
Once more the cheering from Nineveh's throats rose as the Gray Eagle neared the landing, and the Hon. William J. Strickland waved his hand toward the waiting multitude. It increased in volume as he made his way downward until he stood prominently framed in at the further end of the lowered gangplank. It was a great moment for Nineveh.
Already the Nineveh brass band was playing "Hail to the Chief" with remarkable fervor. The gorgeously uniformed Nineveh Light Infantry stood in company front at parade rest. They held the band. All Nineveh all eyes and, as the band struck up, the crowd was assembled back of them in the wharf boat and along the main street river front. The ardent cheering split the air with shouts of high acclaim as the well known figure of Colonel Bill Strickland crossed the steamer's gangplank. The next moment Colonel Thurs T. Todhunter advanced, was seen to grasp his hand.

Each man accomplished a splendid cavalier sweep of his wide-brimmed soft hat. Then they stood facing each other in a fine attitude of cordial di-lity. They were plain types of two of the four strains of pioneer blood that are blended in the Missouri representative. Colonel Todhunter came from Kentucky stock, and Colonel Strickland from Tennessee and New England. Between the other countenances of the crowd there were many states of mind and race, and many emotions of enthusiasm that had been kindled by the news of the Colonel Strickland was laughing out-

"They haven't lost any time declarin' war, and somebody's payin' good money for it too!"
Colonel Todhunter leaped out of the carriage and spoke to the cheering Strickland party. "You're a-goin' to stand at the head of that there militia he said, and the Nineveh militia a present. "Colonel Todhunter, wait another 'em, sub. I just feel waiting for the chance."

"Then you go back and tell your horn tooters what's expected of 'em sub," commanded Colonel Todhunter. "Specially that little fat fellow with the horn bigger'n he is. Tell him to blow himself inside out. This here Strickland parade ain't a goin' to be interrupted by no Steve Yancey and Eph Tucker foolishness as long as I'm in charge of the welcome ceremonies sub."

Then he turned to Colonel Bill Strickland. "That settles it, sub," he snorted. "I'll be shot full o' holes if I don't take the stump for you myself. Bill Strickland, if they're startin' the fight right in your own town, sub, the first minute you come home, sub, I'll make imperial Mizoorah (how) for William J. Strickland, too, sub; hang my picture if I don't!"

In full view of the parading crowd Colonel Bill Strickland grasped Colonel Todhunter's hand. "You old war horse," he cried. "I'd rather have you stumpin' Missouri for me than all the state committee spellbinder that ever breathed the breath of life. Bully for you, Thurs! We'll fight 'em to the last ditch!" Great was the cheering at this incident.

But the Strickland parade did not encounter the Nineveh bugle and drum corps and the Stephen K. Yancey Campaign club at this juncture.

The encounter came later. It came at that tremendous moment when Colonel Thurston T. Todhunter, majestic on the town hall stage, was just reaching the fervid peroration of a speech that was to close with the inspiring mention of the name of the Honorable William J. Strickland as Missouri Democracy's sure choice for governor.

It was a premeditated blow at the glory of the Todhunter brand of oratory, the cherished pride of Colonel Thurst T. Todhunter's ardent soul.

Entering the town hall and defiantly marching up the main corridor to the wide double doors that gave a view of the Strickland meeting, the Nineveh bugle and drum corps, headed by the Stephen K. Yancey Campaign club, awoke the resounding echoes.

Never it would seem, had earth heard such clamor of trumpet and tambour.

It crashed into and through the town hall assembly room. It rose to the roof and came thundering back into the aisles. It smote the eurs with cataclysmic bolts of sound. It stifled the eloquence of Colonel Thurst T. Todhunter as if that mighty speaker were an infant lifting voice against the voice of elemental chaos.

And Colonel Todhunter paused crestfallen.

Then the lust of righteous battle flamed from his indignant eyes. He waved his right hand with a Jovian gesture. "Drive 'em away, Samson!" he shouted. "You and Sim Birdsong I ain't done yet!"

And the gallant Samson Meek rose to the occasion. With a mighty wave of his baton he rallied his bandmen in close order behind him. Captain Sim Birdsong, no less dependable, formed the Nineveh Light Infantry in line behind the band. There was a magnificent flourish of Samson Meek's silver knobbed rod of office, a quick command from Captain Sim Birdsong, and then—

The Nineveh brass band and the Nineveh Light Infantry deployed into the corridor and charged upon the enemy.

It was an assault sonorous and irresistible. Its slogan was "Hail Columbia!" This gave the big horns an almost unearthly opportunity. The "little fat fellow with the horn bigger'n him" seemed resolved to obey Colonel Todhunter's injunction and "blow himself inside out." His fellows followed his example. The resultant cyclone of wind clamor wiped out the Nineveh bugle and drum corps as if it had never been. Triumph shone on the face of Drum Major Samson Meek, triumphantly waving his glittering baton.

But an ominous cry rose from his front. "Rush 'em, boys! Make a rough bounce!"

Even as the Strickland forces leaned forward for a countering rush into combat, however, a resolute figure sprang in between the battle lines. It was the figure of Constable Pete Fanchaw, embodying the law of Nineveh. It waved a sternly forbidding hand for a moment.

"None o' that, you boys!" he shouted. "I ain't takin' no sides, but this here's a public meetin' and it's my sworn duty to see that there ain't no disturbin' of the peace. Strim Tucker, you turn your men right around and march 'em out o' here double quick! And you, Tom Strickland, quit your edgin' up to get a lick at Stam! There ain't goin' to be no fightin' here this load o' poles!"

Every young chap in Nineveh knew Pete Fanchaw's fiber. He stood restraining between the lines. He was not to be trifled with. If necessary he could enlist either faction under the standard of the law, to punish the aggressor if battle were precipitated.

Stamford Tucker glowered at him for a moment. Then his eyes narrowed in a venomous flash at Tom Strickland.

At last, sullenly, Tucker gave the order that set the Yancey clan in motion to abandon the field.

War had been averted. And five minutes later, again getting up steam, Colonel Todhunter completed his speech. The Hon. William J. Strickland advanced to the front of the stage and began his own address. Soon the first rally of the Strickland campaign for the governorship of Missouri peacefully reached its appointed finish, and the crowd dispersed.

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS

R. Ohnemus & Son - Carlsbad, N. M.

IMPRESSIONS OF EDDY COUNTY VISITOR.

Comes From Northwest Missouri and Has Been Shown. Letter Sent to His Home Paper.

Mr. M. H. Bird, of Mayesville, Missouri, who came in a few weeks ago wrote his home paper, the De Kalb County (Mo.) Herald as follows:

Carlsbad, New Mexico. Having been here for over ten days and during this period had the privilege of driving nearly 500 miles in various directions I have seen enough to give a partial description of this valley. Driving from Roswell eighty miles north, I traversed a beautiful irrigated valley for three-fourths of the distance. The water is furnished by private ditch enterprise, Artesian wells, and by pumping plants. Apples are the leading fruit and alfalfa the leading crop of this valley. South of this valley we cross some undulating hills, among which are located two immense Government dams for conserving the water supply for the valley below. These dams hold enough water to supply three hundred thousand acres and the regular flow of the Pecos river into them would irrigate fifty thousand acres. These dams look to be indestructible with dirt, rock and concrete walls. The upper, or main dam, is used to keep the lower dam full. There is about twenty thousand acres of land under the ditch, so the supply is amply sufficient. This system is owned by the government and controlled by the Government together with the water users association which is composed of the owners of the irrigated land, each member being allowed a vote for each acre of land owned. The Government has four managing officers with numerous ditch riders and laborers at work all the time improving the system. Every owner of land seems to be satisfied with the system and say they can get water in twelve to twenty-four hours after asking for it. Ditches are run to every forty acres and the owner has to ditch over his land. The worst feature is too many try to farm one hundred and sixty acres to section tracts. However these are being subdivided fast into smaller tracts. This week an excursion brought about thirty buyers into the valley and hundreds of acres were sold at $125 to $200 per acre. This was already in alfalfa and producing last season from $50 to $100 per acre income.

There are lands adjoining these that can be bought from $5 to $15 per acre because the government will not accept them for irrigation because of the elevation or analysis of soil or because of title to land. They can only get water on perfect soil and title lands. The government furnishes a chart of all approved land so no one can be misled. Carlsbad being five hundred feet lower than Roswell is better adapted for peach culture and here are acres of the finest peach orchards I have ever seen. The trees are now in full bloom and the bark shows they are in a healthy condition. One of the finest orchards I have seen is the Tracy orchard of sixty acres lying just east of Carlsbad. There must be more than six hundred trees to the acre and all loaded with bloom. The quality of peaches and apples as well as various other fruits are said to be surpassed by none.

I will mention some of the things grown here besides fruit. Cantaloupes have been known to yield last year nearly three carloads to the acre. Sweet potatoes are fine, other products are found to be profitable such as asparagus, coffee, corn, and many other minor products. Many find poultry and bees very profitable and the honey from the alfalfa as well as other flowers is excellent as I have eaten some of it and can say I never tasted better.

The alfalfa will soon be ready for the first cutting. The second will be let stand longer for seed. This seed crop has run from three hundred to seven hundred pounds per acre. They have not been using much fertilizer here but tests have proven that the yield can be increased greatly by using it. This they get from caves in the mountains and hills. There are five or six within twenty miles of the valley. I might mention that one of these Bat caves has been furnishing Guano for the California fruit growers for years at twenty to thirty dollars per ton. Parties who have seen both, say in this cave there are chambers of granite and beautiful stalactites more beautiful than the famous Mammoth cave of Kentucky.

Tehy have explored it for miles, yet the manager tells me there are many chambers they have never traversed to the end. Within the past two weeks, the discovery of oil north of here has caused many oil experts to come here. They have leased thousands of acres west of Carlsbad, and I heard it reported, that the drilling machinery was enroute from Oklahoma to make the final test. The largest oil and prospecting companies are making the test and are asking no bonus from any one so they must think that the oil is here.

A man was here last week investigating the potash deposits in the hills and while reticent about his investigation he has filed some leases for the purpose of development. There are numerous outcroppings of minerals and coal in the mountains sixty to seventy-five miles west of the valley but the shipping facilities will not justify their operating in these mines. This will be improved in time. There is an abundance of power to be utilized from swift streams to furnish electric current for electric railroad. Carlsbad is lighted by water power which I am told could produce five or six hundred horse power.

I think this a very healthy climate, and am convinced of this by the remarkable experiences related to me by the many I have talked with, and which appear sound and well, many of these were not able to walk when they came, or were pronounced incurable before they came. I will say for all pulmonary trouble this seems to be a good climate as well as for rheumatism, nervous trouble, and various other diseases of blood, stomach or nerves. While the climate seems to affect the cure there are opportunities for making this one of the greatest health resorts. A short distance northwest of Carlsbad there is located a mammoth spring, which pours forth a stream as large as a man's body. This water under analysis shows properties nearly equal to the famous Carlsbad springs of Germany, and for which this place was named. This spring has never been advertised nor developed. No bathing place or sanatorium built but indications are that within the next year this development will begin in earnest, which will place this town on the map, as the waters from this spring have no bad taste like so many of the mineral waters. I have tasted just seem to affect the system just as effectively. Near this spring is one of the largest artificial flumes in the world carrying all the waters across and above the bed of the Pecos river. This is a wonderful piece of masonry, and affords an attraction to the springs as well. Southeast of Carlsbad there is a salt lake which could be made valuable as that of Utah for bathing purposes.

This is a valley with mystery in and around it, that will not be completely solved for years containing resources that will not be developed to its best for years. There are opportunities here for men with money and when they come and develop these dormant possibilities there will be greater opportunities along commercial lines.

There are now two dry goods and two hardware stores here either of which carry as large a stock as you will find in DeKalb County. There are more automobiles in this town than in DeKalb County, besides nearly every ranchman has one, so the people are up to date, and another feature there are more high class $2000 or better cars here.

I may see more in the near future and if this interests the readers, may write again. I expect to remain in Carlsbad for some time yet. I shall tell of the opportunities for cattle and sheep on the range at some future time.

Respectfully,

M. H. BIRD.

To Which Class of Motor Car Buyers do You Belong?

NOW THERE ARE JUST TWO CLASSES OF MOTOR CAR BUYERS WHO MAY QUESTION THE FOREGOING STATEMENT AND ASK TO HAVE IT EXPLAINED. FIRST, THOSE WHO HAVE DEFINITELY MADE UP THEIR MINDS TO HAVE THE VERY BEST THERE IS IN A MOTOR CAR, BUT WHO DOUBT THAT ANY COMPANY CAN TURN OUT THE VERY BEST TO SELL AT THE MEDIUM PRICES AT WHICH CHALMERS CARS SELL. SECOND, THOSE WHO ARE INCLINED TO BUY CARS ON "SPECIFICATIONS" AND PRICE ALONE—WHO FEEL THAT A LOW-PRICED CAR IS "GOOD ENOUGH."

FOR THE BENEFIT OF BOTH CLASSES OF BUYERS WE GIVE BELOW SOME VALUABLE MOTOR CAR FACTS. THESE FACTS SHOW WHY YOU ARE REALLY MONEY IN POCKET BY PAYING THE CHALMERS PRICE RATHER THAN THE LOWER PRICES. THESE SAME FACTS ALSO SHOW WHY IT IS UNNECESSARY TO PAY MORE THAN THE CHALMERS PRICE TO GET THE MAXIMUM IN SATISFACTION AND SERVICE.

The Crankshaft in a Chalmers car costs us $6 more than a crankshaft that "would do." Multiply $6 by 8000 and you get an idea of how much we could save by using a crankshaft that is just "good enough." Chalmers crankshafts are identical in material and workmanship with shafts used on the highest priced cars built in America.

We think a crankshaft too important to skimp. It's the thing which the Giant called Gasoline, who lives in your motor, grips hold of when he makes your car go. He lays on the shaft a tremendous force. That he has never broken a single crankshaft in a Chalmers car, is a fact of which we are proud.

We could save $15 in the cost of each body if we used what is known as a straight-sided instead of a flush-sided design. An equal amount we could skimp from the finishing process. But if we did a Chalmers would not be so beautiful, so satisfying to the eye, as it is now. It would resemble some of the "good enough" cars.

Because we use on the Chalmers drive shaft a double universal joint of finest material, instead of a single one as we might use, it costs us $5.50 more. Our radiator costs $5 more than we need pay to get a radiator that will keep the motor cool at all times. But the one we DO use looks much better and it wears much longer than the one we MIGHT use. The radiator is not designed merely to last through the guarantee period, but for years.

Our rims cost $4.50 more than another sort which would be "satisfactory." The mohair in a Chalmers top is the very highest grade procurable. For $10 less per top we could buy material which when new could not be told from ours except by an expert.

If we used a "split" leather instead of No. 1 grade real leather for upholstery we could save $10 per car. The Turkish type springs in our cushions make each car cost $3.50 more than if we used the ordinary spiral upholstery springs which are commonly used—under the leather where you can't see them.

The same principle applies all through the car. Everywhere we have used better material than would be required to "get by" for the present. But if we used any other kind we could not continue permanently—and we are in the business to stay.

POINTS OF A DAIRY COW.

The dairyman who sets out to select cows for his dairy should have in mind these five points:

First: A cow with a large body and an especially large middle piece on this indicates a capacity for eating and digesting lots of food.

Second: A thickly fleshed back bone. This indicates that the food is not made into flesh.

Third: A large udder as it is here that the milk is made.

Fourth: Milk veins that are large. It is through the milk veins that the blood returns to the heart from the udder. If they are large it indicates that there is a large amount of blood passing through the udder.

Fifth: Large clear eyes which are an indication of good nerves. Good nerves are essential because they drive the organs of digestion and milk making.

Add to the dairy of cows selected on this basis, the scales and the Babcock test and success is assured.

The Shropshire ewe shown is one of three that won the prize for the best three American bred ewes at the Chicago International of 1912 and for which the $4000 cup was given. The ewes are owned by Henry L. Wardwell, Pinehurst farm, New York. His flock won every first prize, all seconds except two and four champion prizes at the New York state fair last fall. Mr. Wardwell's exhibits won more money and prizes at the last two international shows than any other flock of Shropshires shown.

FOOT ROT IN SHEEP.

Winter the Best Season to Eradicate This Troublesome Disease.

Foot rot in sheep is more common and more virulent on level land than among the hills, says W. N. Cowden in the National Stockman. Indeed, it of ten dies out on sandy hill land.

As is well known the disease is caused by an insect, very minute, that commences in the cleft of the foot and burrows along between the ball of the foot and the bony hoof, produces an irritation and lameness, loss of flesh and if, in dry time, not treated the blow dy will end its miserable existence. The life history of this parasite is not known. Where it undergoes its other transformations, as do all other invertebrate animals, is not known.

Frosty weather is the best time and the right time to eradicate the disease. Begin by paring off all hoof and diseased tissue, but avoid drawing blood. All depends on the thorough paring. Then apply any insecticide heretofore mentioned: Blue vitriol, turpentine, carbolic acid, peroxide of hydrogen, red precipitate and most of the sheep dips in their undiluted form.

The most common application is blue vitriol finely pulverized and mixed with lard and applied with a little pad. If the case is a very bad one it would add a little carbolic acid to the vitriol.

If many affected sheep in the flock treat every sheep in the flock, always infecting the knife after paring an

ONE important difference between DEVOE-LEAD-AND-ZINC PAINT and ordinary hand-mixed or ready mixed paints is a difference you will first notice in your pocketbook.

Where a given job will require, say 15 gallons of ordinary paint, the work can often be well done with 10 gallons of DEVOE; that's about the proportion usually.

The best of it is, fewer gallons make a better job of it; lasts longer, costs less first and last.

Whatever painting you pay for have it DEVOE; be sure.
