TO FORCE SALE OF SURPLUS

In Address to Congress the Chief Executive Makes Assertion That We "Are Dealing With Very Critical and Difficult Matters."

Washington .- Addressing congress and proposing remedies to check the high cost of living, President Wilson declared existing laws were inadequate and high prices were not justified by shortage of supplies, present or prospective, but were created in many cases "artificially and deliberately" by "vicious practices."

He spoke practically as follows:

Gentlemen of the Congress: I have sought this opportunity to ad-dress you because it is clearly my duty to call your attention to the present cost of living and to arge upon you with all the permuasive force of which I am capable be befultive measures which which use the legislative measures which would be most effective in controlling it and bring-Ing it down. The prices the people of this country are paying for everything that it is necessary for them to use in order to live are not justified by a shortage in supply, either present or prospective, and are in many cases artificially and deliberately created by victous practices which ought imme-diately to be checked by law. paying for everything that it is necessary

Bome of the methods by which these prices are produced are already illegal, some of them criminal, and those who employ them will be energetically pro-ceeded against. But others have not yet been brought under the law, and should be dealt with at once by legislation. With the increase in the prices of the

be dealt with at once by legislation. With the increase in the prices of the necessaries of life come demands for in-creases in wages-demands which are justified if there be no other means of enabling men to live. Conditions Not "Natural."

These are facts and forces with which we have become only too familiar; but we are not justified because of our famil-larity with them or because of any hasty and shallow conclusion that they are "natural" and inevitable, in sitting inactively by and letting them work their fa-tal results if there is anything that we can do to check, correct or reverse them We must, I think, frankly admit that there is no complete immediate remedy to be had from legislation and executive The free processes of supply and action. demand will not operate of themselves, and no legislative or executive action can force them into full and natural operation until there is peace

Such a law would afford a welcome op-portunity to effect other much-needed re-

It would materially add to the serviceability of the inw, for the purpose we now have in view, if it were also pre-scribed that all goods released from storscribed that all goods released from scor-inge for interstate shipment should have plainly marked upon each package the selling or market price at which they went into storage. By this means the purchaser would always be able to learn what profits stood between him and the producer or the wholesale dealer. The world must pay for the appailing of storage and put upon the market. For-tunately under the terms of the food-con-trol act the hoarding of foodstuffs can destruction wrought by the great war, and we are part of the world. We must pay our share. For five years now the in-dustry of all Europe has been slack and be checked and prevented, and they will be observed and prevented, and they will be, with the greatest energy. Foodstuffs can be drawn out of storage and sold by legal action which the department of justice will institute wherever necessary; but as soon as the situation is systemati-cally dealt with it is not likely that the courts will often have to be reserved to disordered. The normal crops have not been produced; the normal quantity of manufactured goods has not been turned Not until there are the usual crops courts will often have to be resorted to. Much of the accumulating of stocks has no doubt been due to the sort of specutions, not the present, that our economic relations with Europe were built up. We must face the fact that unless we help Europe to get back to her normal where their form or package makes it possible be plainly marked with the price at which they left the hands of the producer. Such a requirement would bear a close analogy to certain provisions of the pure food act, by which it is required that excite details in life and production a chaos will infima-there which will inevitably be communi-cated to this county. For the present, it is manifest, we must quicken, not slacken, our own production

U. S. Must Hold World Steady, We, and we almost alone, now hold the world steady. Upon our steadfastness and self-possession depend the affairs of nations everywhere. It is in this supreme crisis-this crisis for all mankind-that American must prove her mettle. In the presence of a world confused, distracted, she must show herself self-pos-sessed self-contained, capable of sober and effective action. She saved Europe by her action in arms; she must now save t by her action in peace.

will suffice, We need not hesitate to handle a national question in a na-tional way. We should go beyond the measures I have suggested. We should In saving Europe she will save herself In saving Europe she will save hereen, as she did upon the battlefields of the war. The calmness and capacity with which she deals with and masters the problems of peace will be the final test and proof of her place among the peoples formulate a law requiring a federal license of all corporations engaged in interstate commerce and embodying in the license, or in the conditions under which it is to be issued, specific regu-lations designed to secure competitive and proof of her place among the peoples of the world. And, if only in our own interest, we must help the people overseas. Europe is our biggest customer. We must keep her going or thousands of our shops and scores of our mines must close. There is no such thing as letting her go to ruin without ourselves sharing in the disaster. In such circumstances, face to face with such tests, passion must be discard-ed. Passion and a disregard for the rights of others have no place in the portunity to effect other much-needed re-forms in the business of interstate ship-ment and in the methods of corporations which are engaged in it, but for the mo-ment I confine my recommendations to the object immediately in hand, which is to lower the cost of living. We are dealing, gentlemen of the con-gress, I need hardly say, with very critical and very difficult matters. We should go forward with confidence along the road we see, but we should also seek to com-prehend the whole of the scene amidst which we act. There is no ground for rights of others have no place in the counsels of a free people. We need light, not heat, in these soletron times of self-examination and saving action.

Everyone who is in real touch with the silent masses of our great people knows that the old strong fiber and steady selfcontrol are still there, firm against vio-lence or any distempered action that would throw their affairs into confusion. I am serenely confident that they will prehend the whole of the scene amidst which we act. There is no ground for some of the fearful forecasts I hear ut-tered about me, but the condition of the world is unquestionably very grave and we shoeld face it comprehendingly. The elfuation of our own country is excep-tionately fortunate. We of all peoples can afford to keep our heads and to de-termine upon moderate and sensible courses of action which will insure us against the passions and distempers which are working such deep unhappiness for some of the distressed nations on the other side of the sea. readily find themselves, no matter what the circumstances, and that they will ad-dress themselves to the tasks of peace with the same devotion and the stalwart preference for what is right that they displayed to the admiration of the whole world in the midst of war.

Sinister Influences at Work.

And I enter another confident hope. I have spoken today chiefly of measures of imperative regulation and legal com-pulsion, of promecutions and the sharp correction of selfish processes; and these

o doubt are necessary. But there are other forces that we may Full there are such those resident in the department of justice. We have just fully awakened to what has been going on and to the influences, many of them very selfish and sinister, that have been producing high prices and imposing an intolerable burden on the mass of our people.

To have brought it all into the open will accomplish the greater part of the result we seek.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain-the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. fore that time. It is will have on supplies and prices. It is impossible yet to predict how far or how long foreign purchasers will be able to find the money or the credit to pay for or sustain such purchases on such a scale; how soon or to what extent foreign manufacturers can resume their DAY former production, foreign farmers get their accustomed crops from their own their accustomed crops from their ewn fields; foreign mines resume their former output, foreign merchants set up again their old machinery of trade with the ends of the earth. All these things must remain uncertain until peace is estab-lished and the nations of the world have concerted the methods by which normal life and industry are to be restored life and industry are to be restored.

There is reason to believe that the prices of leather, of coal, of lumber and of tex-tiles have been materially affected by forms of concert and ro-operation among the producers and marketers of these and other universally necessary commod which it will be possible to redress. No watchful or energetic effort will be spared to accomplish this necessary re-sult 1 trust that there will not be many cases in which prosecution will be neces sary. Public action will no doubt caus many who have perhaps unwittingly adopted illegal methods to abandon them promptly and of their own motion.

Labor Must Consider.

I believe, too, that the, more ex-treme leaders of organized labor will presently yield to a sober second thought, and like the great mass of their associates, think and act like true Americans. They will see that strikes undertaken at this critical time are certain to make matters worse, not better-worse for them and for everybody else. The worst thing, the most fatal thing-that can be done now is to stop or interrupt production, or to interfere with the distribution of goods by the railways and the shipping of the country.

There are many things that ought to be corrected in the relations be-tween capital and labor. In respect of wages and conditions of labor and other things even more far-reaching, and I, for one, am ready to go into conference about these matter with any group of my fellow countrymen who know what fley are talking about and are willing to remedy existing conditions by frank counsel rather than by violent contest. General Interest First.

No remedy is possible while men are n a temper, and there can be no settlement which does not have as its motive and standard the general interest.

Must All Work Together.

Threats and undue insistence upon the interest of a single class, make set-1 belleve, as tlement impossible. 1 believe, as I have hitherto had occasion to say to the congress, that the industry and life of our people and of the world will suffer irreparable damage if employers and workmen are to go on in a perpet-ual contest, as antagonists. They must, on one plan or another, be effec-tively associated. Have we not steadiness and self-possession and business ense enough to work out that result? In the meantime-now and in the days of readjustment and recuperation that are ahead of us-let us Tesort more and more to frank and intimate counsel and make ourselves a great and triumphal mation, making our-selves a united force in the life of the world. It will not then have looked to Controversy existing at Phoenix over whether Charles H, Harris or Walter S. Ingalls is adjutant general of the state of Arizona has led the War Department to send official mail from the bureau of militia affairs direct to the governor, who will be at liberty to turn such correspondence over to whatever agent he desires for the transaction of official business, it was learned. Harris was appointed to the office some years ago and has refused to relinquish it. Ingails was appointed adjutant general about six weeks ago. Litigation to determine which shall have the office is pending. In the first six months of the current year the Arizona Commercial Mining Company produced approximately 3,500,000 pounds of copper. This by no means represents what the company could have done had metal conditions since last January been favorable, for in unison with the rest of the copper producers Arizona Commercial has been operating at about 60 per cent of capacity.

A SUMMER COLD

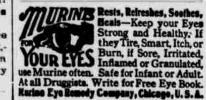

A cold in the summer time, as everybody knows, is the hardest kind of a cold to get rid of. The best and quickest way is to go to bed and stay there if you can, with a bottle of "Boschee's Syrup" handy to insure a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning.

But if you can't stay in bed you must keep out of draughts, avoid sudden changes, cat sparingly of simple food and take occasional doses of Boschee's Syrup, which you can buy at any store where medicine is sold, a safe and efficient remedy, made in America for more than fifty years. Keep it handy .- Adv.

the sum of six cents damages." The editorial in which The Tribune as an anarchist was printed in 1916. Daign. The case has been fought through several courts on one.point or another ever since, finally arriving through a change of venue asked by The Tribune in Mt. Clemens,

The charge which Judge Tucker made to the jury dealt mainly with the laws of libel and contained among others, the following points:

'The Tribune claims that they carefully inquired as to what Mr. Ford's attitude was going to be as to the care of his men who joined the national guard and that they based the editorial characterizing him as an anarchist on that information. They admit the publication and insist that it was true and therefore justified; and that even if not true it was fair comment upon a matter of public interest, either of which defenses are sufficient if proven true. The burden, however, is upon the defense when they attempt to make either of the defenses mentioned. They must establish either the truth of the charge they made, or that it was fair comment within the meaning of that term.

"A newspaper has the same right as an individual to its opinions and convictions-no more and no less."

The court further informed the jury that if they found that the charge was antrue they must find for the plaintiff. He declared that there was nothing ambiguous about the editorial. It called Mr. Ford an anarchist and the only way the defendant could escape being found guilty of libel was to prove that charge. He said further that the jury must accept the popular conception of the meaning of the term "anarchist."

Counsel for The Chicago Tribune nade no effort to appeal the case and ecepted the verdict as it stood.

Gen. Henry T. Allen Says Red Triangle Men Went "Over the Top."

Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, commander of the Ninetleth division, composed almost wholly of Texas and Oklahoma troops, has written J. W. Nixon, division secretary of the Army Y. M. C. A. as follows:

"Dear Mr. Nixon :

"By reason of the excellent work shown by the Y. M. C. A. assigned to the Ninetieth division throughout the period September 12-19, I ask that in behalf of this division you express to all members concerned my sincerest thanks for the highly important services rendered by them. Through these trying days, from your headquarters at Griscourt, where a canteen, warehouse and dormitory were established, your valuable activities were at all times in evidence up to the assaulting battallons and back from those advanced elements with the wounded through the various medical stations to the field hospitals.

"Nine secretaries were with the infantry battalion, and two secretaries (F. A. Daves and B. F. Ford) actually went over the top with the assaulting battations and carried on their work in the midst of the severest losses. I specially desire to commend the zeal and fortitude of these two gentlemen, and to thank the Y. M. C. A. for having sent such excellent representatives to us.

"Very truly yours, (Signed) "HENRY T. ALLEN, "Major General."
