HAPPENINGS IN CITY AND VALLEY.

Dr. and Mrs. Boggs drove to the Christy home Wednesday.

O. R. Denton was a Saturday evening passenger to Tucumcari.

J. White made a trip to Tucumcari Monday evening.

The boys are improving their time by going swimming these days.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet at the Baptist Church at 5 o'clock every Sunday evening.

The Sentinel force were the recipients of four fine watermelons, donated by C. O. Armstrong.

Mrs. J. D. Griffiths has been confined to her home on account of neuralgia of the face.

There will be singing at the Methodist Church on August the 30th at 3 P. M. Every body invited.

I have some good milch cows for sale at my place four and one half miles north east of San Jon.

W. A. Bartles.

J. M. Dudley and J. D. Richardson drove to Tucumcari Sunday to be in attendance at the Democratic County Convention as delegates.

NOTICE

I still have some good cows and heifers for sale.

Jas. P. Boggs.

R. M. Wernet and Alex Aston started to Tucumcari Monday in Mr. Wernet's auto, but got only as far as the Revuelto creek which was so swollen by the rain Sunday night they did not attempt to cross.

Miss Anga Elder made proof on a fine half section of land in the Porter neighborhood, on Wednesday and left in the evening for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Elder, at Kansas City Missouri.

J. R. and J. M. Snapp, A. Warmuth, of Porter and L. Bartosh, of Wichita Falls, Texas, came in after a load of lumber to build a house on Mr. Warmuth's claim. Mr. Warmuth expects to move to Mexico this fall and make this his home. They report crops fine in the Porter neighborhood and every one happy and contented. Mr. Warmuth boosted his subscription a year ahead.

Harry Campbell loaded his household goods Friday and he and family took the evening train Saturday for Des Moines, Iowa, where they will make their future home. They will visit enroute at Kansas City and Princeton Missouri, Ottumway, Iowa, and other points. Harry has accepted a position with the Des Moines Drug Company, as traveling salesman, which position he held before coming to New Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and family have many warm friends here who regret to see them leave, as was evidenced by the crowd who went to the depot to see them safely on board the cars. Harry boosted his subscription to the Sentinel ahead a notch before leaving, and ordered it sent to his new address. The Sentinel joins their many friends in wishing them success in their new location.

Contest No. 5227.

Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office at Tucumcari, N. M. July 27, 1914.

To Ernest E. Adams of Summerfield, Texas, Contestee:

You are hereby notified that Andrew F. Pryor, who gives Bard, New Mexico, as his post office address, did on June 29, 1914, file in this office his duly corroborated application to contest and secure the cancellation of your Homestead Entry, Serial No. 013315 made June 28, 1910, for NW1/4, Section 31, Township 9 N, Range 35 E, N. M. P. Meridian, and as grounds for his contest he alleges that said entryman has wholly abandoned the said entry for more than one year last past and next prior to this date, has never fenced said tract or cultivated any land for two years, has sold the improvements off of the said tract and said default has not been cured to this date but said abandonment still exists.

You are, therefore, further notified that the said allegations will be taken by this office as having been confessed by you and your said entry will be canceled thereunder without your further right to be heard thereon, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office, within twenty days after the FOURTH publication of this notice as shown below your answer, under oath, specifically meeting and responding to these allegations of contest, or if you fail within that time to file in this office due proof that you have served a copy of your answer on the said contestant, either in person or by registered mail. If this service is made by the delivery of a copy of your answer to the contestant in person, proof of such service must be either the said contestant's written acknowledgment of his receipt of the copy, showing the date of its receipt, or the affidavit of the person by whom the delivery was made stating when and where the copy was delivered; if made by registered mail, proof of such service must consist of the affidavit of the person by whom the copy was mailed, stating when and the postoffice to which it was mailed, and this affidavit must be accompanied by the postmaster's receipt for the letter.

You should state in your answer the name of the postoffice to which you desire future notices to be sent to you.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

GOOD SERVICE IS WHAT COUNTS

AMOUNT OF VITALITY SAPPED FROM SOIL

Breaking Done With Stirring of Stubble Plow.

(By M. COVERDELL)
While two crops a season on a piece of ground will bring double profit, there is, of course, a corresponding double amount of vitality sapped from the soil, and the frequent application of a good fertilizer is imperative, lest the ground soon become thin and unproductive.

In the garden one may utilize for second and even third crops the beds in which early peas, beans, radishes and lettuce were grown.

The same is true of the early sweet corn. It is advisable not to plant the same article twice in the same spot in succession, but rotate the products the same as in field rotation of crops.

A well prepared seed bed at each planting is almost essential, and a sprinkling of fine rich manure will prove very beneficial to the growing plants and in maintaining soil fertility.

Sow oats as early as possible in the spring, mow them for hay just a few days in advance of the time they would be reaped for the grain; remove them from the field as soon as they are sufficiently cured, and stack well for future feeding purposes.

Then put as many teams in the field as can be spared. Stir the ground quickly and thoroughly, immediately sowing it to millet.

Usually the millet may be mown and stacked early in September and the field hurriedly cultivated and sown to rye, which will make excellent fall pasturage at a time when it is most needed.

The wheat or rye fields may be utilized in the same manner, and being somewhat earlier, are better adapted to growing double crops than the oats stubble.

The potato patch may be made to double its profits by sowing it to millet, cane or kafir corn after it has been laid by. Sowing the ground to some other product also yields the beneficial influence of keeping down the weed pests which always bob up after you stop plowing the potato vines and which, where unmolested, furnish millions of seeds for propagating a rank and troublesome growth of weeds the next season, besides helping to drain the soil of its fertility.

Or if one will dig the potatoes from the early patch they will bring a high price at that season, and the ground may be sown again to rape for hog pasture.

Late tomatoes, cabbages and turnips also may be raised among the potato vines as successfully as though they occupied a plot by themselves.

GOOD ALFALFA POINTS DAY OF THE PARASOL

PROPER PREPARATION OF SEED BED MEANS SUCCESS.

Plant is Deep-Rooted Perennial and Exceedingly Delicate the First Month of its Life—Deep Plowing is Necessary.

Frequently the question is asked me what I consider the basis of my success with alfalfa. While there is no one thing which insures success yet the proper preparation of the seed bed is the very foundation upon which the whole matter rests.

Let us inquire what constitutes a proper seed bed, and by what means it is best obtained. The natural characteristics of the alfalfa plant are now so well known that we need only mention them. It is a deep rooted perennial, possibly the deepest rooted plant with which the farmer has to deal. It is an exceedingly delicate plant the first month of its life. Therefore the proper seed bed would be such a one as will foster the deep root growth and at the same time protect the tender plant. Let us take up the former.

If you will dig up an alfalfa plant two weeks old, one that has but four or six leaflets, you will find a root six, seven or eight inches long, as slender as a thread and as delicate as a nerve, writes Boyd Byron Bobb in the Dakota Farmer. Mere common sense will tell you that such a slender, tender rootlet is not capable of penetrating a hard, dry subsoil, much less the glazed plow-sole which so habitually exists under a five or six-inch plowing persisted in by the farmer for a number of years.

Deep Plowing the Thing. Plainly then, we must plow deeper. How deep? Twelve inches is the minimum—twenty is much better. How can we plow 20 inches deep? There are several makes of deep going plows and subsoilers on the market, all of merit, but of them all I consider the deep tilling machine far and away the best. Not only will it plow 20 inches deep or anywhere from 12 to 20, but it will do it with less traction power than any other implement, and it will do it better for it thoroughly pulverizes all of the ground turned. This is a very important process not only in preparing an alfalfa seed bed, but also for any seed bed whatsoever.

And what should be the condition of the 20 inches of plowed ground? It should be finely pulverized, packed only slightly, and contain as much moisture as is ordinarily required for any crop. This deep tilled soil is also in the very best possible condition to receive the heavy showers which so frequently occur in this semi-arid climate, and is especially fitted to admit the moisture into the subsoil. The subsoil should contain a fair quantity of moisture before the alfalfa is planted, or at the time of planting. Now when the fine alfalfa rootlet begins to penetrate the finely pulverized top soil it goes straight down, passes readily into the moist subsoil and goes on its way rejoicing—how deep I dare not guess but I have seen alfalfa roots 28 feet long and I didn't see the end of them then. It is seen, therefore, that deep tilling is quite essential to promote the natural growth and development of the alfalfa plant.

MAKING WAR UPON INSECTS

Often Found More Effective to Use Mechanical Means Than That of Hand or of Repellents.

In the small garden, hand methods of fighting insects are usually employed; and it is often found more effective to protect the plant by mechanical means than to kill the insects. Thus, cut worms may be prevented from destroying newly transplanted cabbages and tomatoes by wrapping a piece of heavy paper around the stem of each plant at the time of transplanting. This method is fully as effective as scattering poisoned mash about the garden a day or two before setting the plants. Likewise the striped beetles which invariably attack cucumbers, melons and squashes, can be kept away from the plants by a covering of mosquito bar or cheese cloth stretched over a light frame or bottomless box made for each hill. This is a more effective method than is the use of repellents, like turpentine or crude carbolic acid, mixed with ashes or land plaster, and is well adapted to the small garden, where only a few hills of the vine crops are grown. When plants are attacked by any of the larger insects, like tomato worms or celery caterpillars, the quickest way to dispose of the insects is to knock them off and crush them under foot. Hand picking may also be employed for destroying the eggs of squash bugs and potato beetles. For some of the smaller leaf-eating insects, it may be necessary to resort to the use of spray materials. In the small garden these can usually be applied with sufficient thoroughness by the use of a sprinkling can or an atomizer.

KEEP THE WOODCHUCK AWAY

Cotton Soaked in Bisulphid and Placed in Holes is Good Way of Getting Rid of Rodents.

(By F. L. WASHBURN, Minnesota Experiment Station.)
The woodchuck, or "ground hog" is so destructive to gardens in some counties in this section that a few remedial measures may be of interest. White muslin strips may be tied to the peavine supports about a foot above the ground, at intervals of about a foot in a row, to keep the animal away. Cotton or oskum may be wrapped around a stone soaked in carbon bisulphid, and the mass rolled into the hole as far as possible. In order that the fumes may have the fullest possible effect, close the hole as tightly as possible. A good marksmen with a rifle, stationed where he can secure a good view of the infested field, may prove effective. Blasting powder and a long fuse are sometimes used and so is the steel trap.

Culling Sheep Flock.
Culling the sheep flock has as much to do with the improvement as care and feeding.

Aid to the Soil.
Feed the soil by feeding dairy cows.

WORTHY SUMMER BEE HINTS

Beginner Should Devote His Operations to Getting "Chunk" Honey—Simplest and Best Way.

Living in a rural community and being in almost daily contact with former friends, who would like to produce honey but do not know how to go to work, the writer is in a position to advise, and will commence by saying: Do not try to produce comb honey in pound sections, because that is the province of the expert, and the highest attainment of the bee keeper's art, writes A. F. Bensey of Iowa in Farmers' Review. Rather devote your energies to getting "chunk" comb honey. There are different degrees of skill shown even in this simple art, and I purpose telling of the simplest and best way, as follows:

The bees brought through the winter and up to June activity, watch the white clover. When the bees are seen on it go to your hive, give them a few puffs of smoke, remove, say, three frames of brood from the brood box (hive), replace them with frames containing foundation or comb, put on a "wood-wire" queen excluder, put the frames of brood in a hive with enough frames filled with comb to fill it, put this over the other, cover and leave the bees for two weeks. At this time lift the cover, using a little smoke, of course, and if you find that the bees have commenced to cap some of the honey in the frames take the hive off and put still another on full of comb of foundation. Replace the first hive and go away, resting assured that you will have a big yield from that hive.

Store the frames of honey in a warm, dry place, cutting out the honey as it is needed, but remember to leave one-half an inch or more of comb on top bar to start the bees next season. This arrangement does away with having to watch the bees and insures a full crop of honey.

BENEFITS OF SWEET CLOVER

Valuable for Fertilizing Purposes and Also for Feed—May Be Sown Almost Any Time.

Sweet clover is a plant grown mostly for fertilizer purposes, but it is valuable also for feed. It is closely related to alfalfa because the same bacteria that work on the alfalfa roots have their nodules on the sweet clover roots.

Sweet clover may be sown any time from April 1 to September 15. Prepare the ground the same as for alfalfa and sow ten to fifteen pounds per acre. This plant will grow almost anywhere, and on poor land, if left for four or five years, the land will grow a good crop of corn, as the sweet clover will keep reseeding itself and the roots and tops will cover the ground two or three inches deep with a good manure in that time. After the first year it can be cut for hay, two or three cuttings made in a season.

Fight the Weeds.
Every farmer is called upon to fight the weeds.

SOME REALLY PRETTY EFFECTS ARE BEING SHOWN.

One May Select a Practical Shade and Formation, or, to Be Modest, One That Borders on the Eccentric—Each is Permissible.

(By MARY DEAN.)
Parasol days are surely here. In fact a few promenaders have even carried them for the past few weeks, possibly because they gave the required color notes to the toilettes.

Chiffon and Taffeta.

possibly because of the modish narrow-brimmed or brimless hat, which leaves the eyes exposed to the glare on a sunny day.

Many of the new parasols are certainly lovely. Those most practical are of course the plain one-tone effects, in dark or medium colorings, and of these there is ample supply in all the fashionable colorings.

Taffeta is much in evidence among parasols, as it is everywhere, changeable taffetas, plain or shirred, being used for the cover, pinked frills, ruches or cordings and puffings forming the trimming. One taffeta parasol was trimmed with three larger puffs. Another was entirely covered in narrow ruffles. In line with some of the quaint taffeta sunshades are the frilled effects in alriest materials.

A parasol may have a foundation of the finest of white or cream shadow lace with covering of filmy black lace, which reaches almost to the edge of the parasol, leaving the shaped points of the white lace to form a border. The lace covering is so transparent that the ribs of the parasol are visible. Or a shirred foundation of soft silk may be veiled in chiffon caught here and there with little clusters of silken roses.

Others have a plain shirred foundation covered with shirred chiffon and rose trimmed. One parasol, for instance, has a foundation of soft silk with a deep border of shirred chiffon shaped in deep points at the top. There are large roses of chiffon placed at the lower point of the shirred chiffon border.

EMBROIDERY A REAL ART

Practically Only Workers of the East Give to It the Required Care and Attention.

It is said that embroidery is the mother of all needlecraft. Some enthusiasts claim that it is as great an art as painting or sculpture. There is much in early history that has been handed down to us in embroideries, which have depicted upon their certain events embracing historical persons of olden times. When embroidery was more or less young, the embroiderer was his own designer. As many men were interested some of the embroiderers, including both men and women, frequently devoted their entire lives to the work which authorities have agreed in calling one of the finest of arts.

Now, however, in this rapidly twirling time, embroidery has degenerated into nothing more than a pastime, and rarely is there an embroiderer who works lovingly and with thought of posterity, except, perhaps, over a baby's layette. But for really artistic embroidery, which is made with the idea of its lasting more than one generation, there is practically nothing being made by occidental fingers. Japanese and Chinese embroiderers yet take their work seriously and labor patiently and lovingly, and there may be here and there a piece of occidental church embroidery, modern yet worthy of comparison with the wonderful art of medieval times.

The venetian stitch is a medieval stitch which works up beautifully, particularly when combined with punch-work. It is a stitch which was recently revived and finds much favor with those who can appreciate hand embroidery. It is not difficult.

Another tub shaped parasol has a deep border of chiffon and trimmings of narrow frills of chiffon. Taffeta is often used in combination with chiffon and maline.

One remarkably attractive parasol of taffeta and chiffon had the upper part of gray with a deep shirred border of soft rose chiffon which has a grayish tinge. At each rib, on the joining line of the taffeta and chiffon, there is placed a small flat rose of the rose chiffon. A chiffon frill edges the parasol.

Hand-painted motifs are shown on some of the handsomest parasols. One parasol of taffeta, for instance, has a wreath of roses in each panel painted in natural colors. There is a deep frill of chiffon finishing the edge of the parasol.

FOODS FOR HOT WEATHER

Matter That is Worthy of the Most Careful Attention That Can Be Given It.

Much of the irritability of the human race is caused by overindulgence in unbalanced meals composed of badly cooked foods.

The modern, thrifty housewife plans her meals so as to secure the best diet for her family. During the hot months heat-producing foods—fats, sugar, starches, heavy puddings and pies and fried things should not be eaten, but rather those which are easily digested and cooling to the blood.

The business in which the breadwinner of the family is engaged must be considered when planning the meals. The man or woman leading a sedentary life requires foods easy of digestion and assimilation. This class of people does not require as much food as that engaged in muscular labor. The latter class needs heavier meals, but these should be less burdensome than in winter.

For both classes too much cannot be said about masticating one's food. The teeth were made for this purpose and many ills would disappear if food was not bolted into the stomach, which is too often overtaxed.

Salads rich with mayonnaise or boiled dressing should never appear at dinner, but be served for luncheon or supper. Green or fresh vegetable salads with a simple oil and vinegar dressing are the proper thing for dinner at all seasons. Potatoes can be eliminated from the menu some days and in their place substitute macaroni, rice, hominy, beans, peas and other starchy vegetables.—Woman's World.

DOMESTIC DISCORD IS THE APPLE

Domestic discord is the apple. The man in the case gets the core.

After a visit to Blenheim palace I entered an inn in the quaint village of Woodstock. As I lunched—or tried to lurch—my landlord said to me:

"The great dook of Marlborough once sat in that chair you're a settin' in, sir."

"Is that so?" said I.

"And the dook once drunk 'a beer out o' that same mug you're 'a drinkin' out o'."

"And I bet," said I, "I bet he refused to eat this fish, too. Well, take it away, my man. I don't want it, either."

Bishop Evans Tyree at a dinner in Nashville was asked if he had any idea of preaching on the new fashions—the backless evening gown, slashed skirt and so forth.

"No," said the bishop; "such an idea has not occurred to me. If, however, I should preach on the new fashions I would assuredly choose my text from Revelation."

Many persons think that for strength, they must begin the day with a breakfast of meat and other heavy foods. This is a mistake as anyone can easily discover for himself.

A W. Va. carpenter's experience may benefit others. He writes: "I used to be a very heavy breakfast eater but finally indigestion caused me such distress, I became afraid to eat anything."

"My wife suggested a trial of Grape-Nuts and as I had to eat something or starve, I concluded to take her advice. She fixed me up a dish and I remarked at the time that the quality was all right, but the quantity was too small—I wanted a saucerful."

"But she said a small amount of Grape-Nuts went a long way and that I must eat it according to directions. So I started in with Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft boiled eggs and some crisp toast for breakfast."

"I cut out meats and a lot of other stuff I had been used to eating all my life and was gratified to see that I was getting better right along. I concluded I had struck the right thing and stuck to it. I had not only been eating improper food, but too much."

"I was working at the carpenter's trade at that time and thought that unless I had a hearty breakfast with plenty of meat, I would play out before dinner. But after a few days of my 'new breakfast' I found I could do more work, felt better in every way, and now I am not bothered with indigestion."

FURNISHED BOND OF AMITY

Discomfited "Good Samaritan" the Unwilling Means of Bringing Rival Humorists Together.

Once upon a time two humorists dwelt in the same small town and both contributed to the Sunday Star. As was but natural, they became wildly jealous of each other, and when one would win a little more prominence than his fellow the other would have seven kinds of fits. "Your Pleasant Valley Items give me a pain!" quoth one. "Your prose rhymes make me ill!" retorted the other. As they were about to come to blows there appeared on the scene a Good Samaritan and to him they appealed. "Which of us is the funnier?" they asked. "Neither!" was the prompt reply. "You are both as unfunny as wart hogs, and as tiresome as a trip across the Sahara!" Thereat they both set upon the gentleman from Samaria and beat him full sore, and dwelt together in amity forever after.

Moral: From this we should learn that while humorists delight in quarrelling among themselves, they frequently resent criticism from outsiders.—Kansas City Star.

A Fish Story.

"The Inns of dear old England are picturesque," said Richard Le Gallienne, on his return from abroad, "but the food they serve is something terrible."

"After a visit to Blenheim palace I entered an inn in the quaint village of Woodstock. As I lunched—or tried to lurch—my landlord said to me:

"The great dook of Marlborough once sat in that chair you're a settin' in, sir."

"Is that so?" said I.

"And the dook once drunk 'a beer out o' that same mug you're 'a drinkin' out o'."

"And I bet," said I, "I bet he refused to eat this fish, too. Well, take it away, my man. I don't want it, either."

An Apposite Choice.

Bishop Evans Tyree at a dinner in Nashville was asked if he had any idea of preaching on the new fashions—the backless evening gown, slashed skirt and so forth.

"No," said the bishop; "such an idea has not occurred to me. If, however, I should preach on the new fashions I would assuredly choose my text from Revelation."

WRONG BREAKFAST.

Change Gave Rugged Health.

Many persons think that for strength, they must begin the day with a breakfast of meat and other heavy foods. This is a mistake as anyone can easily discover for himself.

A W. Va. carpenter's experience may benefit others. He writes: "I used to be a very heavy breakfast eater but finally indigestion caused me such distress, I became afraid to eat anything."

"My wife suggested a trial of Grape-Nuts and as I had to eat something or starve, I concluded to take her advice. She fixed me up a dish and I remarked at the time that the quality was all right, but the quantity was too small—I wanted a saucerful."

"But she said a small amount of Grape-Nuts went a long way and that I must eat it according to directions. So I started in with Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft boiled eggs and some crisp toast for breakfast."

"I cut out meats and a lot of other stuff I had been used to eating all my life and was gratified to see that I was getting better right along. I concluded I had struck the right thing and stuck to it. I had not only been eating improper food, but too much."

"I was working at the carpenter's trade at that time and thought that unless I had a hearty breakfast with plenty of meat, I would play out before dinner. But after a few days of my 'new breakfast' I found I could do more work, felt better in every way, and now I am not bothered with indigestion."

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief in Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work."

When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption.

In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages.

"The Memory Lingers"

MADE WITH FRIED RHUBARB

Kentucky Delicacy That Has Many Admirers Among Those Who Are Fond of Good Eating.

The Kentucky variation of fried rhubarb pie is as follows: Cook the rhubarb to a thick, sweet marmalade, flavoring with orange, lemon, nutmeg or ginger, according to fancy, or a few large seeded and chopped raisins may be cooked with the rhubarb.

Many readers have asked for directions for making rhubarb jelly for dessert. Cut a pound of the fruit into inch lengths and put into a baking dish with a pint of sugar, a pint of water and a little ginger root.

CARE OF THE REFRIGERATOR

Matter That is of Much Importance in the Preservation of Family's Health.

Cleanliness does come "next to godliness" as regards your refrigerator—more, perhaps, than in any other part of the establishment.

One-Prong Fork.

A clever housewife has almost invented a kitchen tool. Taking an ordinary, long-handled, three-pronged cook's fork, she filed off the two outer prongs, leaving only one, and uses this to test whether a vegetable or piece of meat is tender.

When You Sweep.

For sweeping a room neatly there is nothing like newspaper aid. Take a page of newspaper or other convenient paper, wet in hot water and squeeze until it ceases to drip.

Boiled Salmon.

One and one-half pound piece of salmon, put in double boiler with good slice of butter; season with salt and pepper, a little parsley, mace, thyme, sage, celery and onion; cover tightly and let steam one and one-half hours without uncovering; then add one and one-half glasses of white wine, with a little lemon juice; steam 20 minutes longer and serve. Bouillon may be used instead of wine if preferred.

Connecticut Corn Bread.

Sift together one cupful each of corn meal and flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, a half teaspoonful of soda, a half teaspoonful of salt and three tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Corn Fritters.

Beat two eggs light with a cupful of milk, to which have been added a pinch of soda and a tablespoonful of melted butter; stir into this two cupfuls of cooked or canned corn, chopped fine; add two tablespoonfuls of flour and salt and pepper to taste, and fry on a soapstone griddle. Eat hot as you would griddle cakes.

To Make Sweet Corn Tender.

Use sugar, instead of salt, when boiling corn, as it makes it tender and sweet. Serve with butter and salt.

A beautiful actress, Fraulein Darmer, was killed by accident recently, while playing at the Theater of Varieties at Berne, Switzerland. SCALY DANDRUFF ON HEAD

Shiner, Texas.—"I had dandruff so badly my head would itch and when I scratched it would hurt. My head was full of scaly dry dandruff and it became so thick that it scaled off and showed plainly. My head was almost white with it. It crusted and itched terribly. It got so bad I could hardly rest at night. My hair began to fall out and it was lifeless."

"I tried a bottle of —, but it did me little good. I saw an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a sample. I applied the Cuticura Ointment to my scalp and frequently shampooed my head with the Cuticura Soap. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment my head was cured. Now I am free from dandruff and my hair is growing." (Signed) Miss Ida Ringhofer, Mar. 28, 1914.

AWOKE THE HUNTER INSTINCT

Alert Traveler Evidently Imagined Providence Had Thrown "Game" Within His Reach.

Gilbert Parker, the English author, tells of an English gentleman, who recently came to this country to visit some friends in California. "In common with most travelers he supposed game was plentiful everywhere in that state, so he carried with him the necessary guns and ammunition."

"As his train neared San Bernardino—just before making the mountain climb—there was a delay. Several hours passed, and still the train remained stationary; and our traveler friend grew restive, and sought the porter of the Pullman car to ascertain the cause of the delay."

"It seems that in mounting the grade a freight train had broken apart, the rear portion having descended the grade and blocked the track. The porter informed him of the accident to the freight train, and said, "There is a caboose on the track."

"Immediately the 'hunter' instinct was awakened; hastening to his berth, he procured his gun and started for the door saying: "Show it to me! Show it to me!"

Sporting Instinct Aroused.

The street-corner orator had gathered around him a group of urchins. Why they listened so attentively he didn't understand; nor probably did they know themselves. Simply nothing doing. But the orator took full advantage of his opportunity and delivered an improving lecture on the value of kindness to dumb animals. At the end he sought for some illustration to point the moral and adorn the tale. It was there at hand. Across the way walked a lady, leading two little dogs in leash. The one was black and the other white. "Now," exclaimed the tub-thumper, "after what I have said, supposing those two dear little dogs were to start fighting, what would be the first thing you would do?" No answer came at first; but one little arab turned to look at the dogs critically and thoughtfully. "Well, guv'nor," he answered, at last, "I flink I'd 'ave tuppence on the little black 'un!"

Marriage Causes False Fire Alarm.

Seven minutes of blasts from the whistle of the Passaic Metalware company, in honor of the marriage of the daughter of the superintendent, recently turned out five volunteer fire departments. The fog made the whistle audible in Rutherford, Nutley, Belleville, Garfield and Clifton and the firemen rushed to headquarters at the alarm.

It took half an hour to determine where the whistling came from. The wedding which caused the commotion united Miss Sallie Karp, 217 Brook avenue, Passaic, to Michael F. Bernan.—New York Mail.

HOW HE TURNED THE TRICK

After This, Mr. Mordecai Hammerfest Must Be Credited With Knowing a Thing or Two.

Mrs. Mordecai Hammerfest turned pale as her husband entered the dining room for breakfast.

"Mordy!" she gasped. "Do you—don't you feel well?"

"Perfectly," he replied in seeming surprise.

"But—but, you are in your—your underduds!"

"Tell me something I don't know. Pass the butter, please," said Mr. Hammerfest.

"Well, what of it. Your hair is in curl papers, isn't it?"

"Why—y-yes."

"And you have on a wrapper, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Very well, then."

And he went on eating his breakfast in silence except when he asked her to pass the butter. Then he went upstairs and finished dressing, and the next morning and on succeeding mornings she reported for breakfast in regular clothes.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Ingenious Smuggling Device.

A museum of criminology has been founded in Paris by M. Charles Perchard, formerly chief of the police anarchist brigade. Among its curious contents are a hollow wax baby which was used to smuggle brandy into Paris. A woman carried a baby into the city every day, but as it never grew any bigger the authorities examined it and discovered the fraud.

HAD SEVERE HEADACHES SEVEN YEARS

I had been subject to severe headaches for about seven years. My head would ache so badly at times that I could scarcely stand it. Doctors seemed to be unable to give me relief, though I tried several of them, and took many kinds of headache medicines and tablets. About a month or six weeks ago I tried Hunt's Lightning Oil, which gave me almost instant relief, and I am glad to say that I have been entirely free from those dreadful headaches since. From my own experience I can say that Hunt's Lightning Oil is without an equal as a reliever of pain, and I only wish that I had used it several years ago.—MRS. W. T. DIXON, Sherman, Texas.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION HELD AT TUCUMCARI, NEW MEXICO, MONDAY AUGUST 10, 1914.

Persuant to call the Democratic Convention convened at the Court House in Tucumcari at 10 o'clock A. M., Monday August 10th, 1914 and was called to order by Mr. J. W. Corn, Chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, and the official call for the convention was read by the Secretary.

On motion it was ordered that a credential committee composed of three members be appointed by the Chairman to pass on the credentials of the delegates and the Chairman appointed B. L. Francis, W. I. Benner, and S. W. Newbanks, the Committee retiring for their work.

On motion it was ordered that on account of the funeral services of the wife of the President of the United States and out of respect for him the convention adjourned until one o'clock P. M., and during this recess and in order to expedite the business of the convention the respective candidates were invited to address the convention.

The convention re-convened at one o'clock P. M. and the report of the committee on credentials was read in which they reported that the various precincts of the county were entitled to the representation as stated in the call for the convention and the delegates as named by the respective precincts were approved and seated in the convention, and on motion duly seconded the report was approved and the committee discharged.

The next order of business being the selection of a temporary chairman and secretary, Col. A. S. Reeves of Endee, and J. A. Atkins of San Jon, were placed in nomination for temporary chairman. Mr. Atkins being elected on the second ballot by a vote of 56 to 43. Mr. Hugo Lowenstein of Nara Visa was then elected as temporary secretary by acclamation, whereupon the temporary chairman and secretary took charge of the convention.

On motion it was ordered that the following committee be appointed by the chairman to wit: Permanent organization three members, order of business five members, resolutions five members, the chairman appointing in their order as follows: Ira Stemple of Allen, W. H. Green, McAllister, and Mariano Montoya, Logan; H. F. King, Nara Nisa, Florencio Martinez, Logan, H. L. House, House, Dr. W. H. Lancaster, Forest, and J. A. Abeyta, Tucumcari; F. S. motion was ordered adopted and the committee discharged. Report of the committee on resolutions as follows, to wit: We your committee on resolutions beg leave to report as follows: We heartily endorse the conservative and dignified administration of President Woodrow Wilson and we do most sincerely sympathize with him in his late bereavement, and especially do we commend him for his persistent efforts in carrying out the platform adopted at Baltimore in 1912.

We further and cheerfully endorse the administration of Governor William C. McDonald and particularly his stand upon exorbitant salaries as evidenced in his several vetoes and his position in favor of uniform taxation. We further endorse the faithful and able services of the Honorable Harvey B. Ferguson as our representative in Congress and do hereby recommend that the delegates chosen by this Convention to the state Convention to convene at Albuquerque on August 17th, 1914 be instructed to vote for his renomination.

Respectfully submitted, signed, F. S. Simmons, J. M. Dudley, Lucrecio Gomez, W. T. Massengill, and V. L. Morfort.
