HAPPENINGS IN CITY AND VALLEY.

Mrs. E. W. Morton was entertained at the C. L. Owen home Sunday.

Mrs. Stutts and son Earl visited at the J. C. Barnett home from Saturday until Tuesday.

Gilbert Stutts has been spending a few days visiting at the W. L. Barnett home.

Mrs. G. S. Hyso and children spent the day Sunday at the home of Mrs. Dudley Anderson.

Mrs. O. R. Denton and son Orville visited at the J. T. Hollingsworth home, Tuesday.

W. L. Wallace returned Wednesday from Texas, where he has been visiting his mother for several weeks.

The Ladies Club have received the invoice of the new teachers desks, which they have ordered, and expect them to be here in a short time.

The Massegee brothers are holding revival services at the Frost school house this week and report much interest being taken in the meetings.

George Sale, the experienced photographer of Tucumcari, drove out to San Jon Saturday and remained over until Tuesday, taking pictures of the crops in the valley and on the plains.

W. R. Pollard of Marion, Iowa, was expected in Tucumcari Thursday for a visit with his son W. E. Pollard, of Norton. C. F. Marden of this place, went to Tucumcari Thursday evening to meet him.

Quite a number of the ladies of the community met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Wernet Jr. for the purpose of organizing a Larkin club, and incidentally to eat melons we presume.

T. J. Ware and wife visited Sunday and Monday at the J. P. Masterson home, and at J. A. Atkins Tuesday night. They took the east bound passenger train Wednesday for their home at Mount Hope, Alabama.

J. E. Denton, wife and daughter left Sunday for Tulsa, Oklahoma, where Mr. Denton will seek employment in the oilfields, as telegraph operator. Mrs. Denton went on to Arkansas for a visit with her parents.

Get a premium list at this office, then begin at once to save your best products of field and garden to exhibit at the Quay County Fair, to be held at Tucumcari, September 23, 24, and 25. Every one should boost to make this the best fair yet.

The San Jon school will commence, in the new school building, next Monday, August 31st with Prof. J. A. Atkins, Principal, and Miss Willa Moyer, as teachers. After the summer vacation the teachers and pupils are anxious to again take up their school work and each scholar should strive to make the coming school term a credit to them selves and their teachers.

Contractor G. W. Murray with the assistance of C. O. Armstrong this week completed the school building and J. H. Kennedy is putting on the finishing touches in the way of paint, and the building will be ready for school to commence, on schedule time, next Monday August 31. On Wednesday Prof. J. A. Atkins, with the assistance of several of the boys, moved the school seats from the Baptist church and placed them in position in the school rooms. District No. 34, now has a school building that it is justly proud of.

Mrs. Nellie Bennett made a trip to Tucumcari Sunday, returning Monday.

C. F. Marden, wife and son, T. W. Jennings and family visited at the home of W. Pollard Sunday.

Messrs Payne, Coulter, and Dudley, brothers purchased new row binders the past week.

H. B. Molyneaux, of Amarillo, Texas, came in Friday evening to look after his property interests.

J. N. Flint of the Bard neighborhood was a caller at this office, Wednesday, while in town.

I have some good milch cows for sale at my place four and one half miles north east of San Jon.

W. A. Bartles.

There will be singing at the Methodist Church on August the 30th at 3 P. M. Every body invited.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet at the Baptist Church at 5 o'clock every Sunday evening.

G. S. Hyso assisted the editor in putting in an underground telephone line under the railroad west of town, Tuesday, which connects the Sentinel office with our home on the farm.

An extra gang of workmen has been stationed at San Jon the past week, taking out the broken and decayed ties along the line of the T. and M. R. R. and replacing them with new ones.

Mrs. Nellie Bennett and sons moved to Tucumcari Thursday where they will make their home indefinitely. We are sorry to lose Mrs. Bennett from our community but hope she will prosper in her new location.

P. F. Hemphill, who has been at work in the harvest at Minneola Kansas, returned Friday night. Mr. Hemphill came from Sayre, Oklahoma where he had been for the past week with his daughter Maud, who is sick with typhoid fever, but we are glad to state is on the road to recovery.

The Ladies Club requests that all who can, come Monday and help move the fence from the old Cemetery to the new one. The ladies will serve dinner at the school house at the noon hour, to those working on the cemetery fence, to the school children, and the patrons of the school district. This will be in the nature of a house warming for the new school building. All the ladies are requested to bring well filled baskets.

Ezra Stemple and wife made a business trip to Tucumcari Thursday evening. Mr. Stemple will go on to La Union, New Mexico, where he is employed as principal of the schools at that place. Mrs. Stemple will visit her parents at Estelline, Texas, for several months. Mr. Stemple and wife made this office a pleasant call before leaving and, as he wished to keep posted on the latest news of the valley, ordered the Sentinel sent to his present address.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. No case out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

LA ECER DAY PROCLAMATION QUAY COUNTY FAIR

The custom of annually setting aside a day known as Labor Day has been established by a desire on the part of the people of the United States to emphasize the dignity and importance of all labor. As good citizens we should recognize that it is to labor, both of the hand and the brain, that we owe our marvelous industrial development and our wholesome prosperity as a nation. Toil of the hand and toil of the brain are complements, one to the other, and one is as important as the other in attaining and preserving a peoples welfare. Properly directed labor and thrift are the greatest moral and material assets a community or state can have; while idleness and extravagance lead to ruin and moral degradation.

Those who know what it is to "eat bread in the sweat of thy face" make our best citizens.

NOW THEREFORE, for the purpose of honoring the forces of labor, of which all worthy Americans form a part, I, WILLIAM C. McDONALD, Governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby proclaim—MONDAY THE 7TH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1914, AS LABOR DAY and a legal holiday in the State of New Mexico. I recommend that it be universally observed by the people as a real holiday; that business be suspended so far as practicable; that the children in our schools be instructed as to the honor and value of labor, and the dangers of idleness to the end that the efforts of each may be more beneficial to all.

Done at the Executive Office this the 22nd day of August, 1914.

Witness my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico. (seal) William C. McDonald. Attested: Antonio Lucero, Secretary of State.

Duffau, Texas, Aug. 24, 1914.

My Dear Bro. White,—
Crops are fine all the way down to this point into Texas. The corn crop was not so good generally, but some late corn is very fine. The oat crop was a failure here on account of too much rain, only six bushel to the acre was the yield of some of the land, but the cotton crop is very promising. If it does not rain to much and make boll weevil numerous, the yield will be one-half bale to the acre.

Still I have not found a place or condition on the plains or here that appeals to me as does our New Mexico country. No one has as fine crops as we for the most part have. I hope we will be content and return thanks unto the Giver of all good. I hope by another year that we will do better work in preventing the land from blowing and in better cultivation before the crop is planted. If our land was properly managed and really cultivated, we would have as good a country as may be found in our United States.

The war is affecting all business in this state. Bankers and merchants are tightening up on the things needed by the people. I hope our town will never know the war is on.

I was in a railroad wreck on the way down. I was scared pretty much for a while but was not hurt otherwise. No one was hurt, though the coach I was in came near turning over.

Yours very truly,
Edward W. Morton.

QUAY COUNTY FAIR SEPTEMBER 23, 24, 25. $500.00 IN CASH PREMIUMS.

The Fair Association have information that it is expected that moving pictures will be made during the fair week for the big exposition in 1915. This will be a big advertisement for Quay County and it is hoped that a fine display will be made of our products. The premiums amount to $500.00, $200. on agriculture, $200. on live stock, and $75.00, on poultry; $12.50 on fine arts, and $12.50 on horticultural products. Besides the premium, a ribbon and a printed certificate of the award will be given to each exhibitor receiving an award. This certificate can be kept long after the cash prize is forgotten to show that the holder won an award for good products in Quay County.

All who expect to place exhibits call at this office and get a premium list of the Quay County Fair, to be held at Tucumcari Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, September, 23, 24, and 25.

CONTEST NOTICE

Serial No. 011605
Contest No. 5226

Department of the Interior U. S. Land Office at Tucumcari, New Mexico, July 27, 1914.

To William L. Ford of Tipton, New Mexico, Contestee:

You are hereby notified that Joseph H. Pryor who gives Bard, New Mexico, as his post office address, did on June 28, 1914, file in this office his duly corroborated application to contest and secure the cancellation of your Homestead Entry Serial No. 011605 made May 25 1909 for SE 1/4 Section 29, Township 9N, Range 35E, N. # U. S. FLEET AT VERA CRUZ SPEEDS TO SEA AND MEETS INVISIBLE FOE

Graphic Description of a Hurry-Up Test—Eight Big Warships Maneuvered So as to Encircle Enemy for Crushing Broad-sides—New Signal System Evolved by Admiral Fletcher Is Tested.

Vera Cruz, Mexico.—"Put out to sea and intercept a hostile fleet approaching from the east," was the signal that came to the New Jersey from the flagship at eight one morning, says Junius B. Wood, in Chicago Daily News. Instantly the big battleship was alive with action. Captain Jayne, who had been chatting on the quarter deck, hurried forward to the bridge, the officer of the deck close play of dreadnaughts. Sailor-like, the squadron started and asked no questions.

It was another day of a week's maneuvering. Everything was to be carried out as if the ships were actually expecting to meet an enemy.

The secret war signal books, their covers weighted with lead so they could be thrown overboard and sunk in case of defeat, were brought from their hiding places to the bridge. One of the one pounders was loaded and a man stationed at its trigger ready for any sudden signal.

Swinging a fleet or a squadron of eight or even a division of four battleships into action is a feat which requires days of drills even by men whose lives have been a study and practise of the science of warfare.

This week was to try out a new scheme of tactics and signals evolved by Rear Admiral Fletcher.

Naval battles of the future will be between fleets. The old days when ships locked masts and hammered each other until one sank or burned or its decks were swept clean, live only in paintings. The engagements between single ships will be occasional. The real battles of the sea will be between fleets—16 to 60 hurling shell and deadly exploding fulminate. The Japanese knew how to maneuver by fleets and picked off the Russian battleships one by one and wiped out the czar's fleets.

The Third division ships, which weigh 17,000 tons each and with good marksmanship could put a shell in an opposing ship six miles away, are becoming obsolete and are doomed to retirement. The Second division ships weigh about 18,000 tons each, and might do as much damage at eight miles. They will last a little longer. Then, just arrived from the ship-ter as a third rater. In 1893, when she sailed from the yards at Philadelphia, she was the pride of the American navy. She had a siren, which was another novelty in those days. As she headed down the Delaware somebody turned the steam into the siren. Several hundred staid Quaker City horses ran away as the ear piercing shrieks rent the air and half a hundred persons were injured. She never injured that many again, in her entire career as a battleship.

In a few months the present New York will be outshone by the Nevada and Oklahoma, weighing 27,500 tons each, and now building are the Pennsylvania and No. 39 of 31,400 tons. Every ton costs close to $1,000.

Fleet tactics have kept pace with the growth of battleships. Naval authorities say that the commander who can "wind up" his enemy's fleet—get it into the center of his encircling battleships or overlap it so that his broadsides can rake the others one at a time—will always win. That is why the American navy is maneuvering, having target practise, going through drills whenever opportunity offers.

Rear-Admiral Fletcher's system which is now being tried out prior to being officially adopted by the navy—is designed to reduce to a minimum the number of signals necessary to put a fleet through the evolution. In the smoke and excitement of battle the fewer signals to watch and interpret the better.

On top of each ship's mainmast is a bearings indicator, or flapper, as the men call it—two yellow square boards on opposite ends of a long slanting arm which swings on a pivot in its center. The indicator shows what formation it is to be made. A signal flag tells how it is to be made. When the two yellow guide-boards on the flagship are in a straight line with each other to the captain on the bridge of a following ship he is in correct position.

The indicator on the flagship, as we steamed from the harbor, stood at what is called "the zero angle." It pointed straight ahead, and the other ships, their indicators duplicating it, followed in long single column.

LOLLING GIVES LONG LIFE

Dr. G. H. Wells at Homeopathic Meeting, Tells How to Escape Heart Disease.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Lolling means longevity and would save the present generation from heart disease, asserted Dr. G. Harlan Wells of the Hahnemann Medical college, Philadelphia, in a paper read before the American Institute of Homeopathy.

"It means that the heart simply has to push the blood through the arteries and veins," he said, "instead of having to lift 150 tons more than four feet from the ground daily during the time an ordinary human being is awake.

"People of the earlier periods and the savages lolled at every opportunity, stretching out flat while eating and lying on their backs while resting. They didn't have heart disease and the copying of their methods would save the present generation from that ailment."

Speaking before the bureau of pedology, Dr. Joseph P. Cobb of Chicago said that of two and a half million babies born in the United States each year half a million die before they are a year old. Of the deaths, he asserted, 60 per cent are attributable to gastro-intestinal diseases, and at least 20 per cent more have digestive disturbances as contributory factors.

"The agencies already aroused on the subject of infant feeding," said Dr. Cobb, "only touch the borders of humanity. The great mass is still dependent upon the instruction of physicians and nurses and the mothers of the preceding generation. The greatest error of infant feeding today is lack of attention and study given maternal feeding by the physician directly in charge of the baby."

Will Adopt "Mashers" Bill. Boston, Mass.—The senate passed to third reading the "masher" bill, which would punish with six months imprisonment any man who accosts a woman or girl with whom he is not acquainted.

WHITE MUSLIN AGAIN

PRETTY MATERIAL HAS COME BACK TO ITS OWN.

Newest Gowns Have All Sorts of Garnitures to Show Them Off—Majority of the Sleeves Are Cut Long.

Some of the prettiest of the new gowns are made of the material beloved of poets and novelists, white muslin. One of these has the skirt and tunic scalloped round the hem, the bodice being embroidered in front and on the tops of the sleeves. Most of the white gowns have black silk or moire belts, almost all of them fastening in front. A sailor's knot or a simple little tie is also in black. As a neck finish collars are preferred to frills. The latter, when worn, are flat, rising high on the back of the head and meeting on the chest. Sometimes the bodice is set into an embroidered yoke, which extends down the center of the sleeves to the elbows in a point.

Sleeves are in all kinds of shapes and in a variety of lengths, whether on dresses or blouses, but the "child's" sleeve is fast disappearing. It was too loose to be pretty. The majority are long. Nearly all have cuffs. Some have frills of lace falling over the hands. The sleeve that reaches midway between elbow and wrist is preferred by some. Evening sleeves grow shorter and shorter. Some are represented by a band of flowers crossing the shoulder and attached to front and back of the gown.

There are slit-up petticoats to wear with tight skirts, and there are underskirts with steel run through them for wearing with peg-top skirts. A shaped flounce is added on to these, cut very narrow and curved away from the outer part of the legs. Nightgowns are cut lower than ever, and are very elaborately trimmed with lace and embroidery. Boudoir caps are still in fashion, but it is the mode to call them negliges.

Beaded tunics are still much worn, and more popular than any other variety are the black net embroidered and fringed with white or crystal beads. Next in favor come black and silver and black and gold. One tunic with three rows of fringe carried out in beads must be very heavy in wear, but it is quite short in front, dipping to a point at the back. The line of evening bodice continues to be rather high on the shoulders, and sloped in front to a meeting point varying in length. Should this be very low a small bib, or vest, is carried across the chest, not beaded, but made of lace or gathered tulle, white, black or a color.

HAND EMBROIDERY ON COLLAR

Serves Effectively to Relieve the Monotony of the Stand-Up Garnitures of Organdy.

The woman who embroiders can make really charming up-to-date collars these days. For a decade we have had nothing prettier or more becoming than the lily-like stand-up collars of organdy that are friendly to old and young faces alike. A few women assert that they would like to vary the monotony of its severity, and that it should have some touch of elaboration upon it. For those who so think, there is nothing more effective than a touch of hand embroidery. The embroidery must be done very carefully, of course, so that it will look nearly as well upon the wrong side as upon the right, that is, if the collar is made of but one thickness of the goods. If, however, the collar is made of two thicknesses of material, the right side does not have to be so well done, as the facing of the material on the under side covers up a multitude of sins. Little touches of colored embroidery are effective, and a white organdy collar embroidered in black is stunning, to say the least. Heavy white linen and pique collars, too, look well when embroidered in white or black and the embroidery highly padded.

NECKWEAR OF EVERY KIND

Apparently Only Thing is That They Must Suit the Costume and Be Fresh and Dainty.

Neckwear, conspicuous by its absence for several seasons, has become one of the most important features of women's dress.

Instead of the necks cut low in the back have appeared high Medici collars, most of them wired to preserve the desirable high effect.

Then there are the soft, unwired styles which stand or fall, but all showing a flaring effect.

Materials differ. There are the very thin organdies, muslins, chiffon and laces, which have to be wired to hold them in place, then the heavier materials such as linen and pique, and all of them made either plain, embroidered in eyelet or French embroidery, or as fanciful as may be desired.

Collars were once considered too frivolous for women to wear, but the styles this season are the daintiest bits one could imagine, adding a touch of chicness to an otherwise plain waist.

Outing Shoes.

The outing shoes that are being so much worn these days may be bought in most of the shops for $3. The popular colors are white and tan. Many people do not know that between the rubber sole and the lining of the shoe is a thin strip of leather, which removes the objection that so many people have to the drawing properties of the ordinary tennis and outing shoe.

live; fluffy kittens, processions of ducks and floral designs are all appropriate and amusing both to donor and recipient.

FOR DRESSY OR PLAIN WEAR

Children's Styles Are Unusually Pretty and the Materials Excessively Attractive.

Children's fashions are charming. The linens and ginghams are especially pleasing and they may be made up by anyone who is at all handy with scissors and needle.

A comfortable dress, which would do later on for seaside wear, can be developed in either navy blue linen or fine navy serge, and is made with a kilted skirt, hemstitched collar and cuffs and a guimpe of white lawn or muslin. Mauve-colored china buttons give a distinctive note of finish.

A party frock for festive occasions is in pale pink voile over a simple flounce of lace. The upper part, which resembles a pouched tunic, finishes with little frills of lace at the rounded neck and edging the elbow sleeves. Two rows of tiny pink enamel buttons adorn the front of the dress, and the sash is of pink taffeta.

For Stains.

Tomato juice is said to be successful in many cases in removing ink stains from white materials, such as handkerchiefs, muslin frills, etc. It must however, be done as soon as possible after the mishap occurred. A clean piece of blotting paper should be laid under the stain and a slice of raw, ripe tomato rubbed over the surface, fresh pieces of blotting paper being substituted until the ink spot has vanished

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSENG, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Carelessness Cause of Fires.

More than 50 per cent of all fires are caused by simple carelessness, which is unnecessary and criminal. Repairs to dilapidated buildings, the removal of all fire breeding material, care in burning weeds and rubbish, the placing of engines at a safe distance from buildings, the removal of oily waste, proper ventilation—in brief, plain common sense, will minimize the danger from this class of fires.

Can't Find This Perfect Woman.

Belgium has been trying to discover the perfect woman. According to a symposium in Brussels, she must possess the figure of an American, the elegance of a Frenchwoman, the complexion of an English girl, the hair of an Austrian, the eye of an Italian and the profile of a Spaniard. So far the creature has eluded discovery.

Women Change Subject Too Often?

In the Woman's Home Companion Margaret Busbee Shipp, writing a love story entitled "Sweet Margaret," presents a character who comments, as follows, on women's conversation:

"I never had a sister, and I have never known how to talk to women. They embarrass me; they—er—change the subject so often, I never seem quite to catch up."

Absurd Comment.

Theodore Dreiser, the realist, said of an idealist at the Players' club in New York:

"The man's comments on life are ludicrous and absurd. They remind me of the old lady's comment on the work of the militant suffragettes."

"After the suffragettes in London had slashed a Valeaque, a Bellini and a Gentle, the old lady said, with a kind of saintly expression:

"But, thank goodness, they're all old pictures that are being slashed."

PRIZE FOOD.

Palatable, Economical, Nourishing.

A Nebr. woman has outlined the prize food in a few words, and that from personal experience. She writes:

"After our long experience with Grape-Nuts, I cannot say enough in its favor. We have used this food almost continually for seven years."

"We sometimes tried other advertised breakfast foods but we invariably returned to Grape-Nuts as the most palatable, economical and nourishing of all."

"When I quit tea and coffee and began to use Postum and Grape-Nuts, I was almost a nervous wreck. I was so irritable I could not sleep nights, had no interest in life."

"After using Grape-Nuts a short time I began to improve and all these ailments have disappeared and now I am a well woman. My two children have been almost raised on Grape-Nuts, which they eat three times a day."

"They are pictures of health and have never had the least symptom of stomach trouble, even through the most severe siege of whooping cough they could retain Grape-Nuts when all else failed."

"Grape-Nuts food has saved doctor bills, and has been, therefore, a most economical food for us."

STORE SOIL MOISTURE

NEBRASKA STATION STUDIES "DRY FARMING" QUESTION.

Term Leads Many Farmers to Believe It Means Growing Crops With Small Amount of Water—Cultivation Prevents Evaporation.

Water rather than plant food is the limiting factor in crop production throughout the middle West. This has been especially noticeable during the past few years and the farther west of the Missouri one goes the more it is true that lack of soil moisture is responsible for short crops more than any other one thing, not excepting such important matters as seed selection and cultivation. West of the 99th meridian in Nebraska as well as in the Dakotas there is a scarcity of moisture almost every year, hence methods of moisture conservation are of prime importance to the farmers of that territory at all times.

Realizing this, the Nebraska experiment station established a substation at North Platte many years ago where for a number of years experiments have been conducted with a view of learning as much as possible about the movement of water in the soil, how to conserve it for the use of crops, and how to store it in the soil from one year to another. In other words, this station has been studying what has come to be referred to as "dry farming."

The term "dry farming" is a misnomer to some extent. It has led many farmers to suppose that it represents growing crops without moisture, or rather with a small amount, which it does not. Crops grown in the semi-arid regions need just as much water as those grown in the humid sections; in fact, they need more because of the drying winds that prevail which increase transpiration, that is the exhalation of moisture by the plants. Summer following, that is cultivation of the soil at intervals of one to two weeks during the summer season, is the principle made use of in the drier sections of our territory to conserve moisture. Some farmers have assumed, it seems, that frequent cultivation of the soil during the summer season increases in some mysterious way the amount of water in that soil, but this is a mistake. There is only one way of increasing the water content of a soil and that is by rain. What surface cultivation can do, and does do, is to prevent the water in the soil from escaping into the atmosphere. It is impossible to conserve all the moisture of a season by surface cultivation but a certain percentage of it can be stored in the soil through this method.

The substation at North Platte found that during a series of years they were able to store from 10 to 33 per cent of a season's rainfall by cultivating frequently enough to keep the surface three or four inches of soil loose, and by preventing weed growth. In other words, from a 15-inch season's rainfall they were able to store and retain in the soil for the use of crops the succeeding year about five inches, but sometimes not more than 1.5 inches, or ten per cent of the total rainfall. The variation in the amount of water stored in different years was found to depend upon a number of conditions. In order to retain as much of that water as possible the surface must be broken up with a disk or harrow or other suitable pulverizing implement immediately after the rain.

Since the mulch has to be from three to four inches deep it can readily be seen that the moisture in only about two inches of this soil can be conserved, because that stored in the top mulch is lost in a very few days. Then, too, a very dry soil does not absorb moisture so readily as a wet soil.

According to the Nebraska investigations, such crops as spring wheat, oats, barley and corn draw their moisture supply from a soil depth of only four inches, whereas winter wheat, which has a longer period of growth, and therefore attains greater root development, draws moisture from the soil to a depth of six and seven inches. Legumes, by reason of their being deep-rooted plants, draw moisture from still greater depths; and alfalfa, the deepest-rooted agricultural plant we have, frequently draws moisture from a depth of 20 to 30 feet below the surface. This is one of the main reasons why alfalfa is such a valuable crop in semi-arid sections. Once alfalfa is thoroughly established it is practically certain to produce something even under very adverse conditions in semi-arid sections.

Mulch For Potatoes.

Irish potatoes grown under a mulch produced about forty-five cent more than the same acreage given ordinary culture at the Nebraska experiment station. The mulch was four to five inches of straw of any kind or hay or leaves. Of course, no cultivation whatever was given. The mulching of these potatoes cost less than would the cultivation, yet the mulching heavily increased the yield.

Drought Resistant Crop.

Rape resists drought fairly well, but as a rule it is best to sow seed early enough to get the plants well started before dry weather sets in, as during a long dry period the plants are often attacked by a kind of plant louse which causes them to wilt and become valueless as a forage.

Outspoken.

Mrs. Smith's four sons made the life of her old colored servant a burden. One day Uncle Andy was busy in the garden hoeing corn, and for half an hour Tom, the most mischievous of the quartet, had amused himself throwing clouds of dirt at him. At last Andy threw down his hoe and stamped indignantly down to the house.

"Miss Ella," he said, to the little culprit's mother, "Ah jes' has to tell you dat dat boy Tawm am de meanes' chile yu got—an' Ah tells you fo' yo' face and tells you behine yo' back!"

ECZEMA ON CHILD'S FACE

Marpleton, W. Va.—"When my little boy was one year old he broke out in little fine pimples all over his face. At times they would dry up and get scaly and peel off, then they would break out fresh again. He would scratch them until his face would be raw. The eczema looked angry and ran blood and corruption. His face was red and disfigured. He seemed restless and I had to be up with him the greater part of the nights."

"I applied various remedies without result. He continued to break out with the eczema until I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them and the first application eased him. In ten days he was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Lizzie Mollohan, Jan. 2, 1914.

IN NO POSITION TO PREACH

Stranger Lost the Confidence of Truthful Fisherman When He made His Inquiry.

Representative Frank Clark, Representative Howard of Georgia, and Superintendent George W. Hess of the botanic gardens, were having a friendly argument at Washington.

"Howard," said Clark, banteringly, "I just want to illustrate to you in a story how little you know about this. There is in my district in Florida an attractive village named Callahan.

"One day a stranger walking along a road in the country near a creek saw a youth fishing.

"Young man," said the ministerial-looking individual, "can you tell me the way to Callahan?"

"Yes," replied the boy, "take the first road to your right."

"Instead of proceeding on his journey, the stranger gazed intently at the boy a few moments and said: 'My young friends, don't you know you are wasting your time in a way that is dreadful to contemplate? You are fishing, just fishing, when you ought to be a-studyin' of books to prepare yourself for life's struggle. My boy, you're sure on the road to perdition.'

"Road to perdition," replied the indignant youth. 'What in blazes do you know about roads? You don't even know the road to Callahan.'"

SPUR FARM LANDS

Many farmers are making a hard or doubtful living on high-priced lands in localities cursed with insect pests, or floods, or drought, or weed plagues, or other enemies to successful farming. The end of each year finds time and energy practically wasted—no progress made. Spur Farm Lands offer relief from these conditions.

The tenant on the high-priced lands further east can make a payment and be master of his own acres here. Any good farmer can pay for them from the products thereof. The Spur Farm Lands offer productive, virgin lands—easily cultivated—at low prices and on easy terms. Splendid crops are raised without irrigation. No bull weevil ever known here. Altitude 2,000 to 2,600 feet.

Considering the reliable production of these lands, prices are lowest in Texas; new country, settling fast; splendid climate, no malaria, chills or fever; good churches and schools. We offer the homeseeker a wide range for selection and are selling direct—no commission to anyone. The purchaser receives full value in his lands in dealing direct with the owner as opposed to paying a middleman several dollars per acre.

Stock Farms and Small Ranch Tracts. We also offer fine grazing tracts, perfectly adapted to this purpose—one section to fifty—at prices from $5.00 per acre up. Free illustrated booklet, giving all particulars, on application to Chas. A. Jones, Manager for S. M. Swenson & Sons, Spur, Dickens County, Texas.—Adv.

NO EXPERT WITNESS NEEDED

Quite Evident Mr. Miggs Was Right When He Testified as to the Handwriting.

"Libel, indeed!"

Old Miggs repeated the words to himself dully and uncomprehendingly, as he tramped along to the court, where he was to appear as witness in a local libel suit.

Nervously he entered the witness box.

The fierce looking lawyer eyed him calculatingly.

"Do you swear," he asked, "that this is not your handwriting?"

"I don't think so," stammered Miggs.

"Now, be careful," intimated the lawyer. "Are you prepared to swear that this handwriting does not resemble yours?"

"Yes," answered Miggs trembling.

"You take your oath that this does not in any way resemble your handwriting?" solemnly queried the learned man.

"Yes, sir," stammered the witness, now thoroughly frightened.

"Well, then, prove it!" denounced the lawyer, triumphantly, as he thrust his head toward the witness.

This action woke the last spark of drooping courage in poor Miggs, and, thrusting forth his head, he yelled:

"Cos I can't write!"

Law's Uncertainties.

"When you poke a toad," said old Farmer Hornbeck, philosophically, "you can't tell which way he will jump, nor how far; an' it is jest about the same way with a jury."

"That so?" returned young Jay Green, in a noncommittal way.

"Yep. For instance, in the case of Plunk Jarvis, who has jest been tried over at Kickyhasset courthouse for pullin' out his brother-in-law's whiskers with the roots in a fight, the jury discharged Plunk an' fined his brother-in-law 10 cents, the regular price of a shave."—Puck.
