Carroon of Clovis; secretary, J. H. Wagner of Santa Fe; treasurer, C. L. Burt of Mountainair; member of executive committee (3-year term), Miss Isabel Eckles of Silver City; railroad secretary, R. R. Albuquerque won the 1916 convention of the New Mexico Educational Association, having six votes on the recount over Santa Fe on the 21th.

The vote stood: Albuquerque, 355; Santa Fe, 349. The following day the vote was declared null and void, and the selection of a meeting place left to the executive committee, and Santa Fe was named.

ARREST DICKENS' SON FOR MURDER

HIGH POWER RIFLE AND MAXIM SILENCER FOUND IN GARAGE AND DENIAL WEAKENS.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Longmont, Colo., Dec. 4.—Development of a clew unearthed by a policeman culminated Friday in the arrest of Renzie C. Dickens, a son of William H. Dickens, the wealthy Longmont banker and merchant assassinated last Tuesday night, on a charge of being his father's slayer. Dickens was taken into custody at the close of his father's funeral, as a result of evidence gathered by the authorities and which District Attorney Fleming announced would be the basis of formal charges of murder against Dickens.

Dickens maintains he is innocent but refuses to discuss the charges against him. The purchase of a high-powered gun in Denver by the accused man furnished a basis for the collection of evidence against Dickens which the police characterize as "incriminating." The gun was purchased a month ago from a Denver hardware company. Payment was made with part cash and a check on a Longmont bank. The purchaser later obtained a "silencer" and this information following the slaying of the Longmont banker was given by a clerk of the store to Patrolman E. L. McKinnon. McKinnon in turn informed the police department and search for the gun and silencer was made about Renzie Dickens' home.

Various parts were located in his garage, together with a box of cartridges, five shells of which were found missing. When first questioned, the son of the murdered man, according to the police, denied having ever possessed a high-powered gun. When confronted with the parts picked up by the police he admitted he had purchased the gun, the authorities say.

The stock of the gun was found with the box of cartridges behind a trunk in the rear of Renzie's home, the silencer on the top of a rafter in his garage. The barrel of the gun was found in a barn a block away.

Asked if he had fired the weapon, the police say he replied "Five times."

Renzie's debts, according to rumors, range between $5,000 and $10,000 and a motive for the shooting of the elder Dickens is claimed by the police in the hopes of inheriting his wealth at an early date.

That it was the intention of the slayer to kill the elder Dickens and his wife with one shot, is the belief of the police.

The bullet was fired, it was found, from a point where the aged banker and his wife were in a straight line.

Evidence to support the theory is further strengthened, say the police by the fact that Mrs. Dickens, who was seated across the table at which her husband was shot through the back, was grazed by the bullet.

C.: 'The Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which, in its conception and successful accomplishment, gave striking evidence of the practical genius and artistic taste of America; 'Which, in its interesting and unusual exhibits, afforded impressive illustration of the development of arts of peace; and 'Which, in its motive and object was eloquent of the new spirit which is to unite East and West and make all the world partners in the common enterprises of progress and humanity.'"

Rain!!
Yes, we have had a nice one everyone seems to be pleased of the fact. Last Sunday night it came in early after a beautiful morning, but cloudy afternoon, and ended a gentle steady rain through the night, and also again Monday night, still remaining cloudy today, and the fact of its being here put a smile on the stockmen's faces and did the farmers harm, so both are pleased.

How about the meeting for this week to talk over the pros and cons of Lovington's annual fair for next summer. If it is finally understood now what to be expected of such a fair, those interested can work to it point with some definite object in view. Stockmen as well as farmers should be interested in this part of Lovington's annual fair. They could get together and build pens sufficiently long to hold any animals brought for exhibition and render them until their return to their ranges. Many of our ranchmen have been to much larger fairs and now how such pens could be arranged.

Some of our stockmen who attended the Albuquerque State Fair are back full of the glories they have seen, and the unique arrangement of the farm products etc. Why not make our Lovington fair the order of a small State Fair, may not have the minerals but have the rest on a small scale a newly settled country so why use our material in the best most attractive way and show our new country does possess. And let it be not only for Lovington, but held at Lovington as Eastern New Mexico Plains fair, inviting the surrounding ranchmen as we have done before to, in showing the products that be raised, and the stock of all that can be grown all over part of the Plains. By getting together during the holidays, committees can be appointed for each community and as be formed before planting which will not be long off ever, for each community to come interested in putting forth its best efforts to make their displays attractive, and show the various products the plains will produce.

ER:
has been requested that the mentioned meeting take place on Tuesday, Dec. 28, at 1:30 p. m. at the Leader Office. Every one who would like to take an interest in this lively and important subject, no matter where you live, be sure to be on hand. The fair was set early as the days are short and some might have a distance to travel.

Those Who Advertise

The Leader would like to read the merchants of our town as well as those of other towns as we would be glad to have advertising in the Leader, that the early they can arrange for their advertisements the better we can get them in our paper for display to the public. We want to have a special Christmas issue for the advertising of Xmas. and while we will accept any time it arrives, we would like to have it early arranged and it can be held in the advertisement or publication of the advertiser.

The Need of Silos ON The Plains

A trip was made over the country between Lovington Knowles last week. The crops grown on the plains section last season were excellent. The primary object in raising these crops is to feed the stock during the winter months and supplement the pasture, rather than to sell them as a cash crop like alfalfa in the irrigated sections. The raising of these crops requires much time involves considerable expense and in some seasons the farmer is working under a hardship because of the insufficient rainfall. Under the usual way of handling his crop in the form of dry fodder the stock farmer loses fully 50 per cent of his gross yield. The chief advantage in using a silo is to avoid this heavy waste. Fully 90 per cent is saved where there is a silo on the farm. Dry fodder is good roughage but not always palatable. The feeding value of this same fodder when placed in the silo is improved three to four times.

As one writer states, "canned" green feed for livestock in the winter is furnished through the silo, just as fresh vegetables are provided by the thrifty housewife for her family as a result of canning during the summer.

Sufficient feed is wasted annually on the average farm to pay for a silo. Silage is considered as a summer pasture in the winter months or times when grazing conditions not favorable. Not infrequently the springs are backward and the grass fails to "come on" as it should. A silo would play an important part under these conditions and instead of losing 50 per cent of the crop and possible some cattle the feed would be "canned" and saved until needed. Another reason why a silo is needed on the farm, and that is. The plains stock farmer can only count on about three good crops in five years. If a silo is filled during a good year the contents will keep indefinitely without spoiling and will be most acceptable during the season of poor crops.

More or less expense is involved in the construction of the silo and for the small stock farmer on the plains this expense must necessarily be at a minimum. The pit silo seems to be well adapted to the conditions on the plains. This kind of a silo is nothing more than a hole in the ground and can be made wherever the water table is of sufficient depth. On the plains the water table is below 24 feet which will allow plenty of depth for the pit silo. A concrete collar is necessary to extend above the surface enough to prevent animals from falling in the pit. The wall should be smooth and this is done with a couple of layers of concrete plaster. The first coat about 1-2 inch thick should fill up the pockets in the wall and the surface left rough. The second layer is put on about 1-4 of an inch thick before the first coat sets. For the plaster use a mixture of one part cement to two parts clean sharp sand. Any farmer with average skill can build a pit silo and the only part that will cost will be the concrete. The labor involved can be done during the winter months.

When the time comes to fill the silo, silage machinery will be necessary such as a cutter and a gaso engine. The machinery is the most expensive part of the silo and in many localities several farmers go in together and purchase the machinery, thus reducing the expense.

Have the farmers on the Plains ever thought of the great need that they have for the silo? Would they like more information on this subject? The county agent has bulletins to distribute containing information about the silo. There is too much concerning them to include in any one press article.

The silo is very necessary and will pay for itself on the farm with in a short time. Write the county agent for information. Prepare your silo for the next crop.

Christmas Presents Easily Made at Home

By A. NEELY HALL

THIS little model of Santa Claus' castle, built upon the summit of a mountain, makes an attractive centerpiece for the Christmas dinner table. The first thing to build is the mountain, and for this you will need a large enough piece of cardboard to make a base about sixteen inches in diameter and top nine or ten inches in diameter (Fig. 4). Cardboard from a suit box will do.

The lower portion of the castle is a square cardboard box (Fig. 5). Invert this box, and around its bottom glue a strip of cardboard having notches cut in the edge, as shown, for an embattled parapet wall. The lower tower stands upon the box base. It is made of a piece of cardboard notched along the upper edge, and bent into a cylinder with the edges lapped and glued together (Fig. 6). Make a roof out of a circular piece of cardboard with projecting tabs for turning down and gluing to the sides of the tower (Fig. 7). Make a second smaller tower and fasten it upon the lower tower (Figs 1 and 5).

To complete the castle, paint a number of long narrow windows upon the walls, and fasten a slim stick flagpole upon the upper tower.

The mountain side must be covered with snow, and the best way to obtain the snow effect is by gluing cotton to the cardboard. Put the cotton on in varying thicknesses, to give the mountain slopes a rocky appearance. And from the base form a trail up one side to the castle, by dampening and pressing down the cotton (Fig. 1).

There must be trees, and excellent ones may be made by cutting long, slender wooden cones, similar to that tern (Fig. 5). To make this pattern, take a piece of paper 7 by 9 inches in size, fold it along its center as indicated by dotted lines in Fig. 2, bring fold it over to corner B (Fig. 4), then fold it again, bringing corner A to corner C (Fig. 4). From the fold corner measure off a distance of three inches along the short folded edge, and four inches along the long folded edge. Then draw an arc of an ellipse through the points marked off (Fig. 4), cut along the arc, unfold, and you will have the pattern shown in Fig. 5. Place the pattern upon the cardboard, mark out around it, and cut out the piece.

Color the football with brown crayon or water-color, and shade the surface to make it look round.

stationery store and paste it to the center of the football. Then tie a bow in each end of a piece of baby ribbon long enough to form a loop for hanging up the calendar by, and sew these bows to the ends of the football.

Father or mother will be pleased with a blotter pad like that shown in Fig. 6. It is made of four pieces of blotter four inches wide and eight inches long, and a piece of cardboard of equal size, held together at the ends with ribbon passed through holes punched near the corners and tied in bows.

The Japanese pin-cushion in Fig. 7 consists of a little Japanese doll with a cushion tucked under each arm, seated upon a piece of heavy cardboard. Use a piece of cardboard four inches square for the base, and cover it with bright colored silk. Sew the doll up on this base. Make the pin-cushion out of silk stuffed with cotton. Fig. 8 shows a unique hatpin holder for mother's or sister's dresser, made of three thread spools glued end to end, with a piece of narrow ribbon tied to the end spools to hang the holder by.

The necktie rack in Fig. 9 is made of a ribbon spool slipped over a stick 16 inches long, with a piece of ribbon tied to each end of the stick. The spools of the hatpin holder, and the spool and stick of the necktie rack, may be stained or gilded.

Self-Effacement of Love. Love never reaches its highest until it learns not only to give without receiving, but to give without recollection. Divine love showers its blessings day by day upon the human family knowing that not a thought goes out to him except from some rare soul, as the author of all goodness and beauty. God gives of himself without stint or measure and is content that his children, his wayward, selfish and forgetful children, should enjoy it all without a thought of its real value and with only a perfunctory acknowledgment of what is felt to be good and a more or less sullen submission to the chastening which is regarded as a doubtful necessary evil.

Yet he goes on giving; giving the cross that will one day bear him who now carries it; giving the sorrows that are full of surprises of celestial joys; sending the tears that are only cleansing the sight and washing the face until it shall radiate with the smile of divine love and a joy to which the merriment of earth shall be as the cracking of thorns under the pot. So with us, if in our love we would imitate the love of God it must be to labor unseen, unknown, for others; to make it our pleasure to spend our love as God spends his sunshine, on the evil and on the good; to be content to love unseen and unknown.

TS lots of fun making Christmas gifts, and the girl who will give up the time to the work will be surprised to find how inexpensively she can provide something useful and pretty for everyone whom she wishes to remember. Likely some of the materials can be found at home, and a considerable saving in the cost of the rest can be made by getting your friends to buy with you.

The football calendar in Fig. 1 is a novel gift that brother will appreciate for his room. The football is made of cardboard. To make it symmetrical the edges must be curved alike, and the surest way of getting them so is by means of a paper pat-

SPON'S DISEASES COMPOUND

All He Needed. A lady told me, as a true story of a soldier's wit, that a soldier in a hospital on recovering consciousness said: "Nurse, what is this on my head?" "Vinegar cloths," she replied. "You have had fever." After a pause: "And what is this on my chest?" "A mustard plaster. You have had pneumonia." "And what is this at my feet?" "Salt bags. You have had frost-bite." A soldier from the next bed looked up and said: "Hang a pepperbox to his nose, nurse, then he will be a cruet."—The Strand.

Accommodating Citizens.

A couple of Kansas City motorists who had penetrated the Ozarks found themselves sundry miles from the nearest town with a balky motor on hand and a dismal outlook before them. By and by there came driving along a rectangular native, who offered to drag them and their car to town for $6.

"Blankity blank!" they replied at considerable length. "All right," yawned the native. "Any way to give satisfaction, I'm a notary public. Drag you in for the price I named or swear you in for a dollar apiece."

What the Doctor Knows

KIDNEYS MUST BE RIGHT TO INSURE HEALTH

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys. The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot really be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. Therefore, it is particularly necessary to pay more attention to the health of these important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

The mild and healing influence of the preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

When your kidneys require attention, get Swamp-Root at once from any pharmacy. It is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

It is only after a man becomes rich and famous that you recall the fact that you and he were schoolmates.

In trying to dodge the issue a candidate may waste a lot of time.
