JUDGE COOLEY HAS RESIGNED

Ill Health Compels Distinguished Jurist to Relinquish Office

W. R. WHITE IS APPOINTED

Selection for Commissioner of Third District in Lincoln County.

Word comes from Alamogordo that Judge A. W. Cooley has sent his resignation to Washington owing to continued ill health. From Santa Rosa comes word that District Attorney E. R. Wright is a candidate for the place. The resignation of Judge Cooley is much regretted but his ill health has made it impossible for him to devote himself to the strenuous duties that fall upon the judge of the Sixth Judicial District.

Governor Mills Inspects Scenic Highway.

Governor Mills enjoyed his trip up the Scenic Highway on Saturday, with Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan, very much, and stood the twenty miles horseback trip like a veteran. Governor Mills thinks the scenery disclosed by the road superb and will make every effort to have the Good Roads Commission complete the highway as planned as soon as the work on La Bajada hill is completed and the road from Santa Fe over Apache and Tecolote hills into Las Vegas has been placed in traversable condition. Although constructed six years ago, the switchbacks over the Dalton divide are still in fine shape even though neglected by the county authorities. At two or three places, slight slides have occurred but a man armed with a shovel could clear the road in a day and this should be done by the county officials. These switchbacks were constructed under the supervision of Hon. H. O. Bursum, then superintendent of the penitentiary.

Fishing Season Opens Next Sunday.

The fishing season opens on May 15 and Game Warden Gable predicts that trout fishing will be good this year. As the season in Colorado does not open until June 1, deputy game wardens will be especially active to nab all outsiders caught fishing without a license.

Notary Public Appointed.

Governor Mills today appointed James Knight of Clovis, Curry county, a notary public. Raymond R. Ryan of Albuquerque, was also appointed a notary public today by Governor Mills.

County Commissioner for Lincoln County.

Governor Mills today appointed W. R. White, of Nogal, Lincoln county, county commissioner for the third district, vice Charles Wingfield, deceased, the appointment being made upon the recommendation of the Republican central committee of Lincoln county, and because Mr. White bears an excellent reputation both as a character and business ability. He is a progressive farmer who has lived in the Nogal district for a quarter of a century and is familiar with local conditions. He has been always a staunch Republican worker but has to date held no office. He is a man of family and his appointment will prove a very strong and popular one.

Roswell Sprucing Up For Governor.

Great preparations are being made for the governor's reception, which is to be given a popular affair in the Roswell Armory on the evening of Monday May 23. It is to be a brilliant social function. Governor William J. Mills, Adjutant General A. S. Brookes and ten members of the governor's staff are to be present. Mrs. Mills will be unable to be present on account of plans for a visit to New Haven, Conn., to attend the Yale commencement exercises, the son of Governor and Mrs. Mills graduating this year, the youngest member of his class, but the majority of the members of the staff will be accompanied by their wives. The armory is to be beautifully decorated and music will be furnished by an orchestra and the New Mexico Military Institute band. The governor and party will come by special automobiles from Torrance, arriving in Roswell about 7 p. m. the evening of the reception. Upon his arrival a governor's salute will be fired by the Roswell Light Battery. Ex-Governor Miguel A. Otero will be a member of the governor's party. Other distinguished visitors are expected.

KILLING REPORTED FROM LAS CRUCES.

Shooting Occurred at the Hillside Ranch Near Dona Ana—One Man Slain.

Says the Las Cruces Citizen of Saturday:

"A shooting affair that has caused a great stir here, occurred this forenoon at the Hillside ranch in Dona Ana. It seems that a little trouble had been brewing between them for some time, was renewed last night and kept up until this morning when it ended with the slaying of Spley and the serious wounding of Lopez who had an arm almost severed by the impact of the Winchester bullet. It is not known just how the shooting took place but it seems that Spley had a gun handy and shot Lopez as the latter walked into another room where he secured a gun, stepped outside and when the former came out, shot him through the abdomen killing him almost instantly. Sheriff Lucero says that Lopez is getting along nicely under Dr. McBride's care and that he will remove him to the county jail tomorrow.

WOMEN WANT TO COME IN ON "COMMISH" GOVERNMENT.

San Antonio, Texas, May 9.—If the Woman's Club of this city has its way, San Antonio's endeavor to get a commission form of government will not be without suffragette features. A resolution unanimously adopted by that organization insists in a gentle way that the women, one-half of the city's population, should not be overlooked. Whether the Woman's Club wants a vote for women on everything or only on such matters as education and sanitation is not quite certain, the case being under advisement.

IN DEFENSE OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. B. G. Hyde Made Piti-able Spectacle on the Witness Stand

TELLS OF DEATHBED SCENE

Millionaire Swope Never Cried Out as Nurses Had Testified.

Kansas City, May 9.—From the lips of Mrs. B. G. Hyde, jurors in her husband's trial for murder, today heard the story of the Swope tragedy. Mrs. Hyde made a pitiable spectacle for a few minutes, but finally she ceased her sobbing and was able to proceed with her testimony. The salient features of her testimony were her declarations that Mr. Twyman adjusted the string which stopped the flow of blood from Moss Huntton's arm when he was bled for relief from apoplexy. She did request her husband to stop bleeding. Colonel Swope never cried out on the death bed, he wished he had never taken the medicine Dr. Hyde gave him. She said that the millionaire's symptoms were entirely different from those described by the nurses. Remedies of Jordan "Yarb" Man were used by Christman Swope until a few days before his death. She ate of the candy Dr. Hyde gave the Swope children and it did not make her ill.

JENKINS SUCCEEDS JUDGE RODEY

Time of Latter on Federal Bench of Porto Rico Had Expired

FEDERAL BUILDING AT ROSWELL

Statehood Bill Will Be Order of Business in Senate Next Week.

Special to The New Mexican.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—Voting in the Senate on amendments to the railroad bill will occur daily and the final vote will be on Thursday or Friday, or at the latest on next Monday. The statehood bill will then be taken up immediately and be placed before the Senate as unfinished business until passed.

John J. Jenkins of Wisconsin, for fourteen years chairman of the judiciary committee of the House, was today appointed United States judge for Porto Rico, vice B. S. Rodey of New Mexico, whose time has expired. It is understood that Judge Rodey will be offered a place on the supreme bench of New Mexico, but it is believed will decline, as his ambition is said to be one of the first two United States senators from New Mexico, or at least one of the first two representatives from the new state.

The sundry civil appropriation bill carries $25,000 for a federal building at Roswell, Chaves county.

The department of the interior says that there is nothing in the persistent report that Chief Engineer A. P. Davis of the reclamation service will be succeeded by Chief Engineer L. C. Hill, but credence is given the rumor.

Census Bureau Clears Decks for Action.

Washington, May 9.—Like a vast warship, the census bureau here "has cleared its decks for action." In addition to the main building of the bureau, two others have been leased, giving a total floor space of 150,000 square feet which is enough to accommodate the permanent census clerks and the 3,000 temporary employees.

The enumerators' schedules have begun to arrive. But it will be several weeks before official announcement is made of the total population of any city in the country. The population of the cities will be the first tabulated after which the states and minor civil divisions will be completed.

Work will be carried on night as well as day. Three hundred punching machines semi-automatic and electrical, will be operated.

Legrand Powers, chief statistician of the census division of agriculture does not expect to publish any information regarding the farm census of 1909, until September 15.

Special Message on Sugar Frauds.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—President Taft today sent a special message to the House of Representatives to tell why he considers congressional investigation of the sugar frauds in the customs service inexpedient. It is, he said, "because a congressional investigation at this time would embarrass the executive department in the continuance and completion of the investigation of appraisers and other officers in the customs service." The danger of granting immunity to any offenders through congressional investigation, the president pointed out, is still very grave.

JOHNSON AND JEFFRIES TRAINING IN EARNEST.

Former Experts to Reduce His Weight From 230 to 210 Pounds—Latter Shows Speed and Endurance.

San Francisco, Cal., May 9.—Jack Johnson began regular training for the fight with Jeffries today at his quarters on the ocean shore. Johnson weighs about 230 pounds and he plans to take off about twenty pounds during the training operations.

Acquiring Speed and Cleverness.

Ben Lomond, Calif., May 9.—From now on Jeffries' work will be directed mainly to the acquisition of speed and cleverness. None of his work-outs have pleased his trainers so much as his Saturday bouts with Choyinski and Papke. The speed and endurance shown and the ease with which he handled his two opponents through nine fast rounds, is still the talk of the camp. According to Farmer Burns Jeffries' improvement in condition last week was remarkable and he is of the opinion that the big fellow could be in finished fighting trim in two weeks.

BAD TIMES FOR THE UNDER-TAKER, BUT NOT AT SANTA FE.

San Antonio, Texas, May 9.—The remarkable low mortality rate of 9.69 was reached by this city during the month of April, amounting to 121 deaths among a population of 125,000.

GEORGE V. IS PROCLAIMED KING

Impressive Ceremonies Took Place Today in Drizzling Rain

CROWDS CHEER MONARCH

Queen Dowager Bursts Blood Vessel in Paroxysm of Grief

London, May 9.—With time-honored ceremony of brilliant and impressive character, George V. was this morning proclaimed king of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the British Dominions beyond the seas, Defender of the Faith, and Emperor of India. Sharp at the stroke of nine, four heralds arrayed in medieval uniforms of scarlet, heavily braided with gold, mounted the balcony of the friary court at St. James' palace, where Queen Victoria presented herself to the people upon the opening of her memorial reign, and blew the fanfare through their long silver trumpets. Within the precincts of the palace were a great mass of people. Members of the royal household, ministers and their wives and high officers of state all in brilliant uniforms, were gathered around the court. From the windows of Marlborough House immediately opposite, the Duke of Cornwall, the young heir to the throne, the younger prince and Princess Mary watched the ceremony. The heralds having concluded their duties the officers of arms, the chief of whom is the Duke of Norfolk, hereditary earl marshal and chief butler of England, took their places on the balcony forming the great heraldic company. Six Alfred Scott Gatty, with the Duke of Norfolk and two officers bearing their staves of office, stepped to the front of the balcony and in a voice which could be heard across the court and in the streets adjoining, read the proclamation, while the great crowd stood uncovered in the drizzling rain.

The Duke and Sir Alfred then called for three cheers for the king, and the people responded with three deafening hurrahs. The band of the Coldstream guards then struck up "God Save the King!" As the national anthem was concluded, a battery in St. James' park belched forth the royal salute and the people in the square and street at the same moment took up the refrain "God Save the King!" This probably was the most impressive part of the ceremony, fervent singing of the crowds growing in volume as more and more singers joined in, while at minute intervals the guns half drowned the chorus. The Duke of Norfolk and officers of state continued in their positions until the people, having concluded singing the national anthem, turned towards Marlborough House and renewed their cheers for the king, a glimpse of whom was caught as he stood at the window with Queen Mary. Rumors were current this morning that the queen mother, Alexandra, had broken a blood vessel in a paroxysm of grief and her condition is serious. It was officially announced at Buckingham palace, however, that the mother of the king was well and bearing up bravely.

Medieval Ceremony in London.

London, May 9.—The popular demonstration at an end, the earl marshal and attendants drove to Charing Cross and thence to the city of London to read the proclamation to the people at designated points. The route to the city was with troops. Hundreds of thousands who had waited since early morning silently watched the stately progress of the heraldic procession. The royal announcers again blew the fanfare, once more read the proclamation and the people sang the national anthem. At the boundary of the city proper at the Temple bar, the lord mayor, sheriffs, aldermen and officers of the city of London, all in robes of office, awaited the earl marshal. The ceremony here was of long duration, and more elaborate. The city of London to this day retains its ancient privilege of barring the entrance of the king's men to the square mile in which its officers rule. But in place of the barred gates of olden times, red silken robes were placed across the streets and halted the procession. Coming to a standstill, the trumpeters sounded three loud blasts announcing the approach of officers of arms. The city marshal challenged the approach with the cry: "Halt! Who goes there?" Reply: "Officers of arms, who demand entrance to the city to proclaim his royal majesty's accession," came from the pursuivant. The lord mayor having given permission, the rouge dragon stepped across the boundary. Headed by the chief magistrate, the privy council ordered that proclamation be made.

The Lord Mayor then alighted from the carriage, read the proclamation and declared "Our high and mighty Prince George has now become our only lawful and righteous liege Lord George V." Following the words with the cry "God Save the King!," the words were caught up by the crowd and swelled to a mighty chorus that filled the Strand and Fleet street. The ceremony was repeated at Chancery Lane.

Funeral on May 20.

London, May 9.—It was officially announced that the funeral of King Edward will take place on May 20.

WILL PAINT STATE OF ILLINOIS BLACK.

Senator Lorimer Has No Intention of Resigning—State's Attorney Will Make Sure of Men Higher Up.

Chicago, May 9.—"If they must paint the state of Illinois black, by—I'll help them—blackier than any state in the union, so help me—"

Floating through the open transom of a witness room the words quoted seemed to tell of a desperate frame of mind amongst some of the men most interested in the grand jury investigation of bribery charges against Illinois legislators.

State's Attorney Wayman's immunity bath accepted another refugee in the person of Michael S. Link, Democratic representative from Mitchell, who made a confession similar to those of Representatives Beckmeyer and White.

A night in the custody of a detective, with an indictment for perjury against him proved too much for Link. He went before the jury and changed his testimony, and the charge of perjury against him was quashed by the state's attorney.

It is said to be Wayman's determination to deal leniently with the "small fry," that he may make sure of the "men higher up."

Lee O'Neill Browne alleged to have handled the Lorimer money, and Robert E. Wilson, charged with having distributed the "jackpot," at St. Louis, furnished bonds. Representatives Clark of Vandavia, and Blair of Mount Vernon, were among the witnesses.

Of "three mysterious" witnesses who went before the inquisitors, two were discovered to be Allen C. Tanner, a grocer, and J. J. Baker, a newspaper publisher at Mount Vernon, Blair's home. They were required to testify about allegations that Blair was unusually "flush" with money following the session of the legislature, which elected Lorimer. No new indictments were returned.

"Senator Lorimer will have to give up his seat in the United States Senate," was the remark dropped in various quarters, as the net of evidence the prosecutor has woven became public.

Friends of the senator insisted that he would hold on to his seat in the Senate to await the outcome of the trials. Asked if he contemplated resigning his seat, Lorimer said: "I have no such intention."

CHICAGO GIRL WANTS MONEY, NOT ROMANCE.

And Now the Poor Bachelors are Humming: "Ain't It Awful Mabel"—The Old Story.

Spokane, Wash., May 9.—Bachelors at Springdale, in the southern part of Stevens county, Wash., north of Spokane, have lined up to win the heart and hand of Miss Mabel D. McNickel, formerly of Chicago, who won first choice of the homesteads in the Spokane reservation land lottery here last August. She has already received a half dozen proposals, but declined all for the simple life on her ranch. Miss McNickel has just completed a cozy bungalow on the bank of Chimacine river, three miles south of Springdale where she has set three acres to crops. The front yard is dotted with flower beds and arrangements are under way to develop the rest of the tract, which comprises 149 acres of rich agricultural land. Miss McNickel will be joined by her mother and brother in a short time. It may be mentioned that her brother is a star athlete, standing six feet two inches in his boots. Mrs. McNickel said recently in an interview that "nothing less than a millionaire will do for Mabel."

OPPOSED TO SELLING LIQUOR IN HOUSES OF SHAME.

Chicago, May 9.—Thirty brewers, including some of the largest in the country, have joined the Chicago police in their crusade against selling liquor in tenderloin resorts. These brewers have given Police Chief Stewart a written guarantee that they will assist in preventing the sale of intoxicating liquors in all resorts in the city and will not deliver beer to any resort that has been placed under the ban.

WESLEYAN COLLEGE CLOSED ON ACCOUNT OF TYPHOID.

Macon, Ga., May 9.—Wesleyan female college, was ordered closed probably for the term, because two students were ill with typhoid fever and others showed signs of it. Many of the 300 students probably will leave for their homes today.

EXPLOSION MOWS DOWN CROWD

Eight Men Are Known to Be Dead and Fifty More Injured

CATASTROPHE NEAR OTTAWA

Magazine of General Explosives Company Blows up During a Fire.

Ottawa, Ont., May 9.—Eight are known to be dead and at least fifty injured, some very seriously as the result of an explosion Sunday night, four miles from Ottawa, when the magazine of the General Explosives Company, located across the Ottawa river on the outskirts of the French city of Hull, blew up. The fire broke out in the workshop of a factory, attracting to the neighborhood a thousand men and boys who had been watching a ball game near by. Warnings were disregarded and the crowd stayed until two terrific explosions filled the air with a mass of stone which had formed the walls of the factory two feet thick. The crowd was mowed down as by the fire of artillery. One man was standing in front of his cottage a quarter of a mile away and was killed and mangled by the debris.

Sisters Killed at Supper Table.

Two deaf and dumb sisters were killed at their supper tables while their parents were uninjured, by a half ton boulder which had been hurled nearly half a mile. Plate glass windows five miles away were shattered. Practically every window pane was broken while glass was broken in every part of Ottawa. Rideau hall, the official residence of the governor general, two miles from the explosion, lost every window and two chimneys came down. Earl Grey and the entire household sought safety in the open. The heads of every statue in the Church of the Holy Redeemer was shaken off while the bodies remained standing.

INTERESTING DISCOVERY AT OLD PALACE.

Fragments of Portal Found Buried in the North Wall of the Historic Building.

J. L. Nusbaum, who is making the alterations in the Old Palace, necessary to the construction of the Rito de los Frijoles room, the next to be opened in the Museum of New Mexico, has uncovered an exceedingly interesting fragment of an old portal—a column and capital buried in the north wall of the building. This portal originally faced on the court behind the Palace, but at some later time, a wall (the present north wall of the building) was built enclosing it, and making of it the back or northern tier of rooms. Mr. Nusbaum's discovery is of the utmost importance, as it probably settles for all times the much disputed question as to what the original portal, fronting on the plaza, really looked like in the Spanish period of 1608-1821.

Some have thought the portal was composed of rounded arches, like those seen in the California Missions. These, however, date from a period at least one hundred and fifty years later than the building of the Old Palace, and would hardly seem to have been used here in Santa Fe. The discovery of an old column and capital, the remains of a former portal on the back of the building, embedded in the north wall, probably settles the type of column and capital which will be used in the reconstruction of the portal fronting on the plaza.

Stockholm, May 9.—Mr. Roosevelt left this morning for Berlin. His voice is husky, giving evidence of a slight attack of bronchitis, but he is feeling well and is in a joking mood and considered himself altogether equal to a visit to Germany.

(By Arthur Davidson Ficke)
Nothing changes in a day;
Even Love, that is fleet
When it lifts its flying feet,
Turns but gradually away.

Even Death, that comes so soon
Lingers doubtful through the hours
Ere it covers up the flowers
With vague dusk and Spectral moon.

When the lengthened years shall pass
Finally to where the world
From its shambles shall be hurled,
And life arise from the dim mass,

Then those who watch the night turn gray
Shall know why, patient, still did brood
Our hearts that hoped, yet understood
That nothing changes in a day.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars

day. He managed to get the mercury to climb to 72 degrees at 4:20 p. m.
The minimum was 40 degrees and the relative humidity for the day was only 28 per cent. At 6 p. m. the humidity was but 14 per cent. The temperature at 6 o'clock this morning was 52 degrees. A year ago today the maximum was 61 degrees and the minimum was 38 with 81 per cent of sun-winds.

ALLEGED MURDERER HAD A VERY TENDER HEART.

Spokane, Wash., May 9.—Charles Rondo, who was convicted under the names of Charles Rollins of the murder of M. Vincent of Wallace, Idaho, and sentenced to 40 years in the penitentiary, is a free man, being given his liberty by the state pardon board after a thorough investigation, when it was brought out he was the victim of a series of remarkable circumstances. Rondo refused to divulge his identity when arrested, saying that to do so would probably result in the death of his aged mother, neither would he give testimony in his own behalf. When arrested two weeks after the death of Vincent, in August, 1908, Rondo was recovering from a bruised eye. He was identified by Vincent's companions, although he bore no resemblance to the two men arrested and positively identified earlier as Vincent's assailants. The two suspects, however, established alibi and were released. Witnesses testified at the hearing that their identification of Rondo was made more certain because of his injured eye. Rondo persistently maintained his innocence and this and the conflicting testimony was brought to the attention of the pardon board with the result already noted.

A Little Care Will Save Many Santa Fe Readers Future Trouble.

Watch the kidney secretions. See that they have the amber hue of health. The discharges not excessive or infrequent. Contain no "brick-dust like" sediment.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.

Alberto Garcia, Galisteo Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I deem it a pleasure to corroborate the public statement I gave in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills about seven years ago. I found them to be an excellent remedy and I have never hesitated to vouch for their merit since then when an opportunity has presented itself. For two years I was in bad shape from backache and kidney trouble and when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice, I resolved to try them. I procured a box at Stripling, Burrows & Co.'s drug store and they not only drove away the backache, but regulated the passages of the kidney secretions and toned up my entire system. When my back has bothered me during the last two and a half years, I have at once taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have never failed to bring the desired relief."

MAYOR OPENS BALL SEASON

Tells the Fans History of the Great National Sport

CALLS BASEBALL SPRING TONIC

And Says a City Without a Ball Team is Unprogressive.

President Taft at St. Louis, on May 4th declared that he thought baseball to be the most manly sport ever known and that if the presence of the chief executive of the United States would further the interest in the game he would gladly attend every day. Here in Santa Fe it is not possible for the mayor, the chief executive, to attend every day for there are no games during the week. However, Mayor Seligman, who is a confirmed baseball fan of the first order, was present at the game between the St. Michael's College team and the Albuquerque Grays, and did for Santa Fe that which President Taft did for the nation, when he tossed the first ball over the pan to George Parsons who caught for the college team. It was a spectacle that Santa Fe will not soon forget and the day was a banner one in the history of baseball in the ancient city.

Long before the time set for the game the fans began to fill the grand stand and the trees around the park until the playing field was surrounded by one mass of humanity, eager to witness what afterward proved to be a dead swill ball game. The first Regiment band escorted the two teams into the park after a parade about town and was met by a salvo of cheers as it entered the gates behind the old San Miguel church. The band took their section in the stand directly behind third base and serenaded the two teams until Umpire Shea called "Play." It was then that Mayor Seligman stepped into the pitcher's box and after winding up in true big league style whizzed the little pill across the pan. He was called upon to make a speech on returning and said a few words in commendation of the spirit of the College, winding up by saying that "you fans in the stand did not come here to hear a speech and are as anxious as I am to hear 'play ball' so I retire in favor of the great American game."

The game was a fast, snappy exhibition throughout the entire route and featured by long drives and sharp fielding by both teams. The first two innings were very fast, neither side being able to score. In the third, however, the College team broke the ice by some pretty base running on Hightower's part. Shutz had died, Hidalgo to Noyer, Hightower beat out an infield hit and scored from first when Chaves threw wild trying to nail him at second.

Hightower scored again in the fifth when he led off with a single to right. Gonzales muffed Chaves's perfect peg to second and Hightower went to third. He scored on Chaves's throw to get L. Anderson at first after he had struck out. It was a very close decision at the plate but Umpire Shea decides that Grover was safe.

In the sixth Noyer, Albuquerque's first sacker, hit to left, the ball getting past W. Parsons for a home run. After Berardinella had hit to Shutz in the seventh, Weeks lined to right center for three bases and scored on Hidalgo's single through L. Anderson. This tied the score.

Hightower, who had pitched brilliant ball up to this time passed De Blasi, the first man up in the eighth inning. Gonzales then hit for a home run to center. Dan Anderson then went to pitch. Hightower going to left and W. Parsons to first. Noyer hit one of Dan's offerings for a home run over Shutz's head in center. This was Noyer's second home run.

With two down in the ninth, the crowd started to go. W. Parsons hit a pretty single over second. He stole second and scored when Savage singled to right. Shutz hit a little Texas Leaguer behind first which Gonzales dropped. Hightower punched a line drive to center which L. Berardinelli misjudged. The smash went for a home run, scoring Savage and Hightower and tying the score again.

Gonzales was the first man to face the pitcher in the tenth inning. He drove a beauty over Hightower's head in left for three sacks. He was called out, however, for having failed to touch first. Dan Padilla here became very indignant and after a lot of wrangling took his team off the field and the game went to the College by forfeit—9 to 0.

Poor coaching lost a run for both sides. In the fourth spasm Juanito Alarid, Albuquerque's nifty little short stop, doubled. Berardinelli hit a single to left and Alarid was sent home. He could have scored had he slid but he was sent in straight up.

The College lost a run in the first, when G. Parsons was sent home on Dan Anderson's single to left. He had no chance to score and was out by ten feet.

Mayor Seligman when seen after the game said:

"I have been requested by the college and the management of the ball team to say a few words at the opening of the baseball season in Santa Fe and I assure you that it is indeed a pleasure for me to make a few remarks."

"It may be superfluous for me to give you a short history of the National Game, but I will review briefly its history:

"It derives its origin from the old school-boy game of Rounders and Town-ball, the honor of its birth seems to be divided between New York and Philadelphia both claiming this distinction about a century ago, but it has only been during the past fifty years that the game as we know it and known as baseball has been developed throughout the country and as a National Game really came into existence by the union of all the clubs of New York and vicinity into a National Association in 1858. The first professional baseball club was the Cincinnati Red Stockings, organized in 1868.

"The history of college baseball dates to 1879, when the Inter-collegiate Baseball Association was formed. "A marked and curious incident is that the same rules govern both the professional and inter-collegiate associations or code of playing rules, as the rulings of the professional code have been universally adopted. "It is claimed that Henry Chadwick was the father of baseball and his death was only recently noted in the daily press. He is buried in New York and the baseball players are now erecting a beautiful and suitable monument over his grave.

A Manly Game. "The game as played today is different in many respects to what it was 15 to 20 years ago, but the main features have not changed and it is remarkable that of all games of sport and although played from a professional as well as an amateur point of view the game of baseball is now recognized as a clean and manly game. The fact that of recent years all forms of cheating, rowdism and profane language have been eliminated and not tolerated has made the game what it is today—our National Game. Long may it so remain for it teaches our younger generation to be honest and manly sportsmen, gives them a good eye, good muscles and makes them men strong in body and mind for it requires brains as well as muscle to belong to any of our major league teams today.

Sport of the People.

"There can be no question but that the game is a universal favorite, is healthy sport not only for the players but also for the fans and a good ball team is indeed an asset to any city or town in our union, for in this age a city to be without a representative baseball team is advertising itself as unprogressive. It is a spring tonic, the tired business man, the doctor, judge and the women all need this tonic. We can get real pleasure at the ball grounds and one can take off his coat, chum with the lemonade boy without any sense of social decline and when you place this freedom on top of the joy which a keen fighting game puts in the soul of one who knows the points you have an ideal delight and are truly a fan. As has been said, racing may be the sport of kings, but baseball is the sport of all the people.

"I would like to tell you how many people attended the professional ball games last year and other interesting statistics, but I believe I have already taken up more time than was allotted to me and I now extend a most hearty welcome to the visiting players and their manager to our city and congratulate St. Michael's College in the progressive spirit they have shown in putting forth a representative baseball team. As we are all anxious and ever ready to hear the words: 'Play Ball,' I say, 'thank you,' and 'Play Ball!'"

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The New Mexican is under the impression that this week the legislative decks at Washington will be cleared for the statehood bill, that by June 1, it will have become a law, and that by September a constitutional convention will be in session at Santa Fe to formulate a fundamental law for the Territory. The convention should be non-partisan, just as the constitution of the United States as originally passed is today considered by all parties to be non-partisan. A partisan convention at this time might endanger the adoption of the constitution drafted for human nature is so constituted that the Democrats would likely oppose a constitution formulated by the Republicans, or the Republicans oppose one formulated by the Democrats. An amicable agreement should be reached, by which both parties would send their best men to Santa Fe to the constitutional convention so that the document may be the product of ripened judgment rather than of party strife. Says Chief Justice Kent of Arizona in the Tucson Citizen on this subject and his words are the words of wisdom:

"There has been less talk among the people in the territory of late of statehood than for a long time past. This is not because the matter is not an important and vital one to us, nor is it because the great majority of the people do not recognize its importance, nor because they are less interested in securing it; it is because of the uncertainty in the minds of the people as to the passage by Congress of the statehood bill that has made the necessity for preparation for statehood seemingly of less present importance, and has suspended for the time being discussion and expression of opinion. For so many years our people have confidently expected the speedy realization of their hopes of statehood only to be disappointed that the feeling is naturally quite general that discussion of the ways and means pertaining to statehood may as well be left until the realization of the hope long deferred shall have gladdened the sick heart. But were it not for our many disappointments in the past, the fulfillment of this hope would seem to us to be assured. Both parties have declared for it in their platforms, the President is our present champion, and according to reliable reports the leaders in both houses have agreed to the passage of the bill at the present session. While, therefore, we shall none of us feel any certainty until the bill is passed, yet the signs are sufficiently propitious for it to be the part of wisdom to begin to make our preparations for statehood.

"First of these preparations, and foremost in importance, is the constitutional convention and the results it shall bring forth. Because our constitution is the foundation upon which the structure of our state is to be built in the future, such foundation must be strong and substantial and capable of sustaining the superstructure, and broad enough to give room for such additions and alterations as may from time to time be needed to meet the increasing growth and development of the building. But not only for our own needs must our own constitution be wisely framed, but also for the sake of our good name and fame among our neighbors. Just as the individual desires to be thought well of by his neighbors and fellow men and to stand high in their esteem, so a state should be jealous of her good name and fame among her sister states and among the people composing them. The state of Arizona will be judged by others, and in the near future, in great measure by her action in two particulars. First, in the kind and character of the constitution she shall adopt, and second, by the caliber, mental and moral, of the senators, of whichever party they may be, whom she shall send to represent her in the senate of the United States. According as we do well or ill in these two important matters so will the judgment of the rest of the country be determined for or against our claims that we are an intelligent, enlightened community, qualified for statehood and fit to take high rank in the sisterhood of states. The election of senators though a matter of deep concern to us, is not a matter that demands immediate attention. Not so with the selection of those who shall represent us in our constitutional convention. By the provisions of the statehood bill as it has been reported to the senate, the day to be designated by the governor for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention must be not earlier than sixty and not later than ninety days after the approval of the bill by the President. This election of delegates to the constitutional convention must be held, therefore, within three months after the passage of the bill, and becomes a matter of present concern to us all. Partisan politics should find no place in the deliberations and actions of the body of men who shall frame our constitution, and if the right men are sent to represent us, such consideration will have no weight as against the plain duty and high privilege accorded them to frame a lasting non-partisan constitution planned on a high plane of progressive American citizenship. Logically the selection of the delegates should be made on non-partisan lines. Practically, I presume, the nominations will be made as party nominations, as no method, however desirable, is likely to be agreed upon, but the good sense of our people, conscious of the responsibility resting upon them, will nullify any attempt by either party, if any such there should be, to obtain any partisan advantage. In most of the counties of the territory the vote is close as between the two leading parties, and the people have fortunately long since learned how to vote a split ticket. In this election, more than ever before, party lines will be disregarded by the intelligent voter. As between two men, the one in the estimation of the voter best qualified for the important duty to be performed by him will be chosen, whether he be Republican or Democrat and with such a body of men, alive as they will be to the necessities of the occasion and filled with a sobering sense of the great responsibility that is theirs, it will make no difference in the result that will be reached whether the majority be Democratic or Republican. In no political subdivision of our country is there among its citizens greater pride and loyalty to its sovereignty and its institutions than in Arizona. Nowhere are there to be found men and women more patriotic, more thoroughly imbued with the doctrines and principles of American civilization and citizenship. We are all keenly alive to the opportunities, privileges and responsibilities that are shortly to be ours, and no constitution that is not safe, sane, elastic, respectable and that will be respected by others will satisfy our people. Such a constitution will be given us by the convention if every voter, realizing the responsibility that is upon him, will disregard party lines and party nominations, and will choose from the delegates to be voted for by him such men as in his opinion are the best fitted by training, by learning, by experience, by temperament and by common sense, to bring about the result he desires.

"The work of the convention need not be protracted. The right sort of a constitution is after all, though one of great importance, not a task of great magnitude. Such a constitution should be a declaration of principles of government rather than of plans for government; a comprehensive outline of essentials rather than a minute specification of details; a superstructure broad and elastic enough to afford a basis for changing conditions rather than a finished and completed edifice not capable of growth except by alterations. Just as incorporators of a corporation adopt a charter under which they may proceed to carry on the business for which they are incorporated, leaving to the directors to be chosen to adopt and formulate bylaws that shall provide for the specific details of the conduct of the business, so it is the province of the constitutional convention to adopt and provide for a general scheme of government which shall contain the essentials required for the good government of a state, leaving to the succeeding legislatures the duty to provide such specific measures as may be necessary to adopt to carry out the general scheme of government so framed. However wise or salutary this or that measure may seem, unless it is an essential fundamental requisite or principal of government, it has no place in a constitution. There is only one danger that confronts us and that is that our constitution makers may be led into the error of legislating rather than of constitution making. If the true functions of the constitutional convention and of the legislature, and the distinction between them, are kept in mind and observed, we need have little fear that the constitution that will be presented for adoption and approval will fall short of our high expectations."

A COLORADO VIEW.

The New Mexican is ignorant of any dispute between Colorado and New Mexico over the waters of the Rio Grande but it endorses the following views of the Denver Republican nevertheless as embodying common sense rather than the high flown theories of the reclamation service which in dealing with the Rio Grande cannot discern that it is a different stream from the rivers that flow into the Atlantic in the eastern part of the United States:

"The business men of Albuquerque have determined to hold a meeting on the eleventh of next month of representatives of interests in the upper part of the Rio Grande valley in New Mexico. This meeting will be for the purpose of protesting against the policy of the reclamation service in preventing diversions of water for irrigation in the region north of Albuquerque.

"The reclamation service interferes with diversions of water in that section just as it has with diversions in Colorado, because it wants the water for storage in the gigantic Engle reservoir to be constructed for irrigation purposes south of Engle.

"There is just as much reason to encourage irrigation in the upper part of the Rio Grande valley as in the lower part. But the policy of the reclamation service tends to check development in that part of New Mexico, and hence the people of Albuquerque have a right to protest. They have all the more reason to do so since water used in the upper part of the valley would to a large extent return to the stream and be available for use further down the river. But that which is allowed to flow past the land to be irrigated is lost forever. The latter would be the effect of the policy of the reclamation service. The service insists upon confining the water to the river bed, thus making it useless for any land lying north of the Engle reservoir.

"There is a dispute between New Mexico and Colorado in regard to the use of the unappropriated water of the Rio Grande. But after New Mexico becomes a state it may be practicable for it and Colorado to enter into an agreement for an amicable apportionment of this water. An apportionment of this kind might permit the reclamation of a large acreage in the San Luis valley and also in that part of the valley which lies between the Colorado line and the reservoir to be built at Engle. This would be a far better adjustment of the matters at issue than to prohibit the diversion of any water north of that reservoir."

There is an easy solution to the difficulties in which the reclamation service finds itself in regard to the Engle Dam. Congress should be urged to settle the claims of Mexico under any alleged treaty rights by appropriating a lump sum of money, and thus extricate the nation from the untenable position of giving away the waters belonging to the people of New Mexico to pay a national debt. The waters to be stored in the Elephant Buttes reservoir should be reserved entirely for use in New Mexico and in that case, a reservoir of one-half the capacity now planned, would suffice. This would eliminate the last excuse for any embargo on the waters of the river and its tributaries in northern New Mexico, although, as a matter of fact, those waters reach the Elephant Buttes at no other time except during seasons of tremendous floods and even then only in part.

LAST WEEK OF THE CENSUS.

In fifty-seven of the three hundred and six census districts of New Mexico, the work of taking the census has been completed. In most of the others it is to be finished this week. It is still time for every resident of the Territory to get his name on the census rolls. Every opportunity has been and is still being given for this and if communities and individuals neglect to take advantage of this opportunity they should not raise their voices in protest afterwards when it is announced that population figures are far below what had been estimated. The press of the Territory has been very liberal in urging people to be counted, in printing coupons to be filled out by those who think that they have been overlooked and in encouraging boards of trade, commercial clubs and other civic organizations to assist in taking the census. As a rule the three hundred enumerators in the field have been very zealous and efficient; some of them have traveled as much as fifty miles across a rough country to get a single name, have endangered their lives crossing swollen streams to enumerate one farm, have worked as much as fifteen hours a day in horseback in order to locate every one of the scattered settlements far from the railroads. But enumerators are not endowed with supernatural powers. They may have called at one place again and again and have found no one at home; they may have overlooked a habitation here or there, or failed to count this or that one. It is the duty of every citizen who knows of any such case to bring it to the attention of the enumerator or the supervisor at this time, so that it may be said that the census of 1910, even if it proves a disappointment in some respects, was yet, the most complete and most accurate that was ever taken.

Congress and the New York legislature are wrestling with the "Third Degree." Befuddled sentiment is crying out against subjecting criminals to any harshness in the effort to secure evidence that may lead to conviction. Law and sentiment have surrounded the evildoer with so much protection that it is beginning to be safer to be a murderer than to be a law-abiding citizen who may be shot at from ambush, whose property may be taken or destroyed or damaged with impunity, while the protecting arm of justice en-fold the man who does the shooting, the taking or the destroying. It is the same sentiment that wants to do away with the "Third Degree."

Hugh C. Weir, writing in the World Today says that 10,000 persons are murdered in this country every year—shot, strangled, poisoned, stabbed, or beaten with a sand bag—and of those guilty of these crimes only two in every hundred are punished. Assuming, but not vouching, for the accuracy of these figures, it would be hard to say how much of this condition is due to our exceeding solicitude to surround the accused with all sorts of privileges and to give him every possible chance of escape, but certainly much of it. On every side the cry is raised that we are altogether too lax in the enforcement of our criminal laws. It would seem as if no necessity had yet been shown for the erection of a new barrier to the punishment of crime by the abolition of the third degree.

MARSHAL KEPT BUSY MAKING ARRESTS SATURDAY.

Mayor's Orders to Put Drunks Behind Bars Carried Out—One Man Shipped Out of Town.

That there is no joke about the order Mayor Seligman issued recently to the police to make every effort to prevent rowdiness on the streets by locking up all who show signs of intoxication was seen Saturday night when Marshal Sena was kept busy clearing the streets of drunks. One of the arrests on the charge of intoxication was Edward Boalman, who has a crippled arm. As he did not look like a man who would do good service at road work, he was allowed to get out of town on the first train.

He is said to have gone to Colorado and will likely keep out of Santa Fe for some time to come. Bonifacio Sanchez, Maximiliano Tapia and Benito Romero were three others who were arrested on the charge of being intoxicated. They were each fined $5 and costs or given ten days in jail.

One of the occupations Mayor Seligman finds that goes with his office of mayor is reading applications for pardon from those in the lock up. Or the mayor's time is taken up with listening to verbal appeals from the man's relatives.

"This locking up of prisoners is not to be a farce if I can help it," said the mayor, "and I intend to see that no one gets out of jail unless he pays his fine or serves duty on the road."

It is said, however, that when a cripple without money gets locked up for drunkenness and there seems an excellent prospect of the man leaving the territory, the mayor will listen favorably to an appeal to let him take a trip.

THE FORUM.

Mr. Editor:

One of the great desires of my life has been realized—I have seen the Grand Canon of Arizona! There are lofty mountains, wonderful cataracts, mighty rivers and great lakes all over the earth; but there is only one Grand Canon of Arizona! There is nothing in or on the entire world that is worthy of comparison with it—it is peerless, unique and alone. Often when gazing at the heaving billows of the ocean, I have realized what a tiny atom man is on the surface of God's boundless universe, and as I looked with awe and wonder at this incomparable manifestation of the omnipotent God's power the same feeling took possession of my mind. A recent writer says of it:

"No one can describe it to you. It must be seen—not once but many times. Only by frequent visits may a small portion of its ineffable loveliness be appreciated. For a distance of nearly 500 miles (from the junction of the Grand and Green rivers in southern Utah to the mouth of the Rio Virgen), the Colorado river flows through a series of deep canons, culminating in the Grand Canon of Arizona.

"This latter chasm begins near the mouth of the Little Colorado and extends southwest 217 miles. The river has carved a winding channel through the up-lift more than a mile deep and from 10 to 13 miles wide. In this titanic trough are hundreds of mountains more lofty than Mt. Washington, yet none of them project their peaks above the canon's rim. Another writer says here are figures, five times the height of St. Peter's, the Pyramid of Cheops, or the Strasburg Cathedral; eight times the height of the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty, and eleven times the height of Bunker Hill Monument. The Colorado river drains a territory of 300,000 square miles, and traced back to the rise of its principal source is 2,060 miles long. The early Spanish explorers first reported it to the civilized world in 1540, two separate expeditions becoming acquainted with the river for a comparatively short distance above its mouth, and another, journeying from the Mokiueños, northwestward across the desert, obtaining the first view of the big canon, but failing in every effort to descend the canon wall, and spying the river only from afar. Again in 1776, a Spanish priest traveling southward through Utah struck off from the Virgin river to the southeast and found a practicable crossing at a point that still bears the name Vado de los Padres. In 1869, Major J. W. Powell undertook the exploration of the river with nine men and four boats, starting from Green River City, in Utah. The project met with the most urgent remonstrances from those who were best acquainted with the region, including Indians, who maintained that boats could not possibly live in any one of a score of rapids and falls known to them, to say nothing of the vast unknown stretches in which at any moment a Niagara might be disclosed. It was currently believed that for hundreds of miles the river disappeared wholly beneath the surface of the earth. But undaunted by all these reports Powell launched his flotilla on May 24 and on August 30 landed at the mouth of Virgin river, more than 1,000 miles by the river channel from the place of starting, minus two boats and four men.

We know that the demand will keep up as long as we keep up the quality so we provide room for all the good leaf we can lay hands on in the years when tobacco has the best flavor. But good leaf alone isn't enough for the

It must be ripe as well; it must be aged until all the harshness is gone. That accounts for the constant mildness and fragrance. Good workmanship makes the Henry George burn evenly without rankness or charring; the wrapper is delicate and whole; the filler is long and so is the enjoyment. list of wonders stands the Grand Canon of the Colorado; possibly it is no more wonderful than the fact that so tiny a fraction of the people who confess themselves the smartest in the world have ever seen it. Many of our people doddle abroad to see scenery incomparably its inferior. Beyond all preadventure it is the greatest chasm in the world, and the most superb. I do not know the Himalays except by photograph and the testimony of men who have explored them, and who found the Grand Canon an absolutely new experience. But I know the American continents pretty well, and have tramped their mountains including the Andes, the next highest mountains in the world, and of all the famous quebradas of the Andes there is not one that would count five per cent on the Grand Canon of the Colorado. For all their 25,000-foot peaks, their blue-white glaciers, imminent above the bald plateau, and their green bolsones (pocket valleys) of Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador; for all their tremendous active volcanoes, like Sangay and Cotopaxi; for all an earthquake activity which the shake of Charleston was mere paper-doll play; for all the steepest gradients in the world (and Peru is the only place in the world where a river falls 17,000 feet in 100 miles), in all that marvelous 3,000 mile procession of giants there is not one canon which any sane person would for an instant compare with that titanic gash that the Colorado has chiseled through a comparatively flat upland. Nor is there anything remotely approaching it in all the new world. As for the old world, the explorer who shall find a gorge there one-half as great will win undying fame. The quebrada of the Apu-Rimac is a marvel of the Andes, with its vertiginous depths and its suspension bridge of wild vines. The Grand Canon of the Arkansas, in Colorado, is a noble slit in the mountains. The Franconia and White mountain notches in New Hampshire are beautiful. The Yosemite and the Yellowstone Canons surpass the world, each in its way. But if all these were hung on the opposite wall of the Grand Canon from you the chances are fifty to one that you could not tell to either from which, nor any of them from the hundreds of other canons which rib that vast vertebrate gorge. If the Falls of Niagara were installed in the Grand Canon between your visits—next time you stood on that dizzy rim-rock you would, probably need good field-glasses and much patience before you could locate that cataract, which in its place looks pretty big. If Mount Washington were plucked up bodily by the roots and carefully set down in the Grand Canon, you probably would not notice it the next morning, unless its dull colors distinguished it in that innumerable congress of larger and painted giants. All this, which is literally true, is a mere tit of what might be said in trying to fix a standard of comparison for the Grand Canon. But I fancy there is no standard adjustable to the human mind. The Grand Canon is just the Grand Canon, and that is all you can say. I have never seen any one who was prepared for it. I have seen people rave over it; better people struck dumb with it, even strong men have cried over it; but I have never seen the man or woman who expected it. It adds seriously to the scientific wonder and the universal impressiveness of this unparalleled chasm that it is not in some stupendous mountain range, but in a vast arid floor of nearly 100,000 square miles—as it were a crack in the upper story of the continent. There is no preparation for it. Unless you had been told, you would no more dream that out yonder amid the pines the flat earth is slashed to is very bowels, than you would expect to find an iceberg in Broadway. It is a terrific trough 6,000 to 7,000 feet deep, ten to twenty miles wide, hundreds of miles long, peopled with hundreds of peaks taller than any mountain east of the Rockies, yet not one of them with its head so high as your feet, and all ablaze with such color as no eastern landscape ever knew, even in the Alpen-glow. As you sit on the brink of the divine scene shifters give you a new canon every hour. With each degree of the Sun's course the great counter-sunk mountains we have been watching fade away, and new ones, as terrific, are carved by the westerling shadows. It is like a dissection of the whole cosmogony. And the purple shadows, the dazzling lights, the thunder storms, and snowstorms, the clouds and the rainbows that shift and drift in that mighty subterranean arena below your feet. And amid those enchanted towers and castles which the vastness of the scale leads you to call rocks, but which are in fact as big above the river-bed as the Rockies from Denver, and bigger than Mount Washington from Fabian's or the Glen. The Grand Canon country is not only the hugest, but the most varied and instructive example on earth of one of the chief factors of earth-building—erosion. It is the mesa country—the land of tables. Nowhere else on the footstool is there such an example of deep-gnawing water or of water high-carving.

Ornate as this language of Lummis is, and beautiful as his descriptions are, there is nothing like exaggeration, in it—it is simply impossible to exaggerate this wonder of wonders. I say the merest truth when I tell you that when I stood on the hither rim of the Grand Canon, and strained my eyes across the huge chasm; the great pine trees on the other rim looked no larger than tiny shrubs such as grow in our gardens; and although I knew that away down a mile beneath my feet there were men and women riding along the trail, and although I used good glasses to aid my eyes, I could no more see them than if they were a thousand miles away. Well I must stop for I could easily take up an entire copy of the New Mexican in futile efforts to give some idea of the sublimity of the scene, and then would utterly fail.

Truly your friend,
A. L. MORRISON.

INNOVATION IN TARGET PRACTICE MAKES TROUBLE.

Only Crack Shots Will in Future Compete in Tournaments of Uncle Sam's.

San Antonio, Texas, May 9.—So far three men have been accidentally shot as the result of the new target practice regulation recently enforced by the war department. The accidents are said to be due to the new disappearing targets which have been installed at Leon Springs, military reservation, the field practice ground of Fort Sam Houston's garrison. Formerly the targets moved considerably slower and warning was given the men when they would appear. This made it possible for them to fire with a great deal of deliberation. The present system has changed all this. Not alone are the targets of various sizes and shapes, but they are also liable to show up at any distance within 500 feet. Moreover the target is visible only a few seconds and during that time the soldier has to adjust his sight, take aim and fire. The haste resulting from this has led to serious accidents, which, happily so far, have not resulted in deaths.

It is understood that the change is due to the wish of the war department to further increase the efficiency of the expert riflemen, marksmen and sharpshooters. One of its results will be that very few men will qualify as such. It is also thought that the new arrangement will have a tendency to reduce the interest of the enlisted men in the rifle competitions for the reason that it will make it impossible for any but crack shots to become experts and thus get the additional pay held out as an inducement.

GRAND TRUNK'S TRAFFIC TOTALS FOR 1909 HIGH.

Largest Financial Organization of Canada Handled Quarter of Freight, Third of Passengers.

Chicago, Ill., May 9.—Tonnage totals for 1909 of the Grand Trunk railway system officially announced (in dispatches) from headquarters in Montreal place this pioneer railway of Canada among the ten greatest systems of the continent, the freight totaling 19,233,485 tons, passengers carried, 13,916,147. These figures show that on its Canadian lines alone the Grand Trunk handled 1,431,754 tons of freight and 1,167,000 passengers more than the railway ranking next as a common carrier.

According to Canadian government figures these totals show that the Grand Trunk handled a quarter of all the freight hauled in Canada and practically one-third of all passengers.

The Grand Trunk railway system now in Canada's largest organization from a financial standpoint, and one of the greatest in the British empire—the total capitalization of the Grand Trunk and its subsidiary lines being $425,069,355. Including the Grand Trunk Pacific railway the total capital at December 31st, 1909, was the enormous sum of $534,180,795 for the entire Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific system of railways.

The present total mileage of the Grand Trunk, including its subsidiary lines, is 5,400 miles, with a double track mileage of 1,035, which makes it not only the longest double track railway in Canada, but one of the longest continuous double track railways under one management in the world.

Including the mileage of the Grand Trunk Pacific main line now under construction and contemplated 3,640 miles, of which 3,044 miles are under contract, also 5,618 miles of branch lines—the total length of the entire system of railways will eventually amount to 14,650.

In addition to the rail mileage the Grand Trunk operates steamer lines on the Great Lakes, between Midland, Depot Harbor, Fort William, Milwaukee and Chicago. It also owns and operates large car ferry steamers on Lake Ontario, between Cobourg and Charlotte (60 miles) and on Lake Michigan between Milwaukee and Grand Haven (distance 80 miles), the total mileage of lake lines being 1,239 miles. Adding the lake line mileage to the rail mileage above, gives a grand total of 15,889 miles of rail and water lines.

Traffic is developing rapidly at Prince Rupert, the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the new mining districts in British Columbia being found very rich. Payrolls of new mines already are $75,000 and $100,000 a month. Prince Rupert grows rapidly and substantially. The Grand Trunk Pacific steamship "Prince Albert" will shortly arrive at Prince Rupert to fill the mail contract between Prince Rupert, Portland Canal and Queen Charlotte Islands, and cater especially to the needs of the Prince Rupert wholesale houses. It is felt that the trade of these rapidly developing districts will be naturally conserved to Prince Rupert, following the Grand Trunk policy to build up Prince Rupert in building up the Northern Empire, which is properly tributary thereto.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION ON "MOTHER'S DAY."

Mr. Seligman Calls Attention to Governor's Proclamation and Asks Day Be Observed.

To the People of Santa Fe: In many parts of the country the beautiful custom prevails of publicly observing a Sunday in May of each year as "Mother's Day," a day on which we may all unite in paying honor and loving tribute to our mothers.

The governor of this territory has issued a proclamation calling upon the people to observe Sunday, May the fifteen as "Mother's Day" in New Mexico. It is personally as well as officially an honor and privilege to especially direct the attention of the people of Santa Fe to the governor's proclamation which has been published and circulated and ask that the day be generally observed in this city.

No element in national or domestic life is more important than the mothers of our country for home virtues and teachings are the safeguards of our daily life and government.

To show interest in the day and its purposes, the wearing of a white carnation or the national colors is recommended.

ARTHUR SELIGMAN, Mayor.
