There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together. Until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Cataract to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take State's Family Pills for constipation.

The L. M. I. Club met with the president Mrs. Charles Wernet Sr. at her charming home west of town, on Thursday. Nine ladies enjoyed the musical program and the time spent in discussion. Each one present who had a part on the program responded heartily. A vote of thanks was tendered the October program committee for the profitable and pleasurable programs provided. Next meeting will be at Rockyledge, home of Mrs. Addie Wernet.

Program as follows: Answer to roll call: In your opinion what should be the object of the Club this year.

A method or methods of managing the proposed neighborhood exchange. Mrs. Owen.

Shall the Club try to increase its revenue this year? Mrs. Boggs. Christmas giving and gifts, methods, motives, and suggestions. Madams Marden, Griffiths, E. Wernet, and Helligsworth.

Close by each one standing and naming some article they hope to receive.

BRITISH SOLDIERS TELL HOW THEY WON THE DAY AT MARNE

By GEORGE DRU.
International News Service.
Paris.—Details given me by British soldiers enable me to give the following account of the participation of the British in the great battle of the Marne:

The troops had marched since dawn through a country of fields and comfortable farm houses. As the afternoon wore on they could see the foe had been driven back from positions recently held. On all sides began to appear stretches of charred waste and broken, gaunt walls, relics of happy homes—even a church on the edge of a village given to the flames, and tombstones trampled under foot.

As the march was renewed the temper of the men exhibited a distinct change. There was no more whistling, no more light banter. Each man's face was set and determined. As night drew near the rumbling of guns was audible in the distance. Then came a galloper on a foam-spattered horse bearing dispatches to the general. After delivering the dispatches he mounted a fresh horse and disappeared into the darkness.

Still the khaki-clad wave marched on, every mile bringing the sound of heavy firing nearer. Toward midnight a squad of cavalry came into touch on the right, and a little later the men were in what they soon discovered was to be the firing line.

Trenches Dug at Night.
The army came to a halt, but harder things than blankets were in store. Gallopers came flying from nowhere and were as quickly dispatched into the darkness. After a wait of no long duration the men dug trenches and threw up breastworks to be ready for the coming fray.

Daylight showed in front of an almost level stretch of open country, backed up by a belt of growing timber, where the Germans had taken up their position. Although none of the foe was visible, the woods were alive with armed men, and behind the woods lay artillery in trenches protected by breastworks. The British troops waited, backed up by heavy guns in the rear. Suddenly there was shooting in the distance, followed by a long wall as a shell passed over their heads, to explode with a deafening roar at a safe distance from the trench. The Germans had opened the duel.

Guns Begin to Answer.
The guns of the British soon began to answer with greater effect. All at once little spurts of dust were noticeable rising in front. The men in the woods were trying to get the range, but still our men had no orders to fire.

One of our men, unable to control his anxiety to use his rifle, rose from the trenches, fully exposing himself to the enemy's fire, only to fall back dead.

Finding themselves unable to draw our fire, the Germans advanced in the open, only to be met by a heavy volley. They quickly sought cover, and then the fight became vigorous. With two hours' continuous fighting, the foe returned into the heart of the woods.

Our guns practically silenced the German battery, thanks to information received from a French aeroplane. They then turned their attention to the riflemen in the woods and under protection of their fire our soldiers silenced the infantry. If it had been a parade they could not have shown more coolness and steadiness.

Enemy Quits Thicket.
After covering most of the intervening space at a march they broke into the double and soon were in the vicinity of the thicket. Finding our guns had located them, the enemy had retreated.

Our left and right flank cavalry rounded the edge of the woods while the infantry passed through the center of the timber. On reaching the far side they fell into close formation and charged the foe, and what they missed was not enough to fill a liquor glass, let alone a tumbler.

Dead Germans, struggling, wounded horses and broken guns made a thrilling but terrible picture. Great gashes torn in the earth were eloquent signs of the accuracy of British gunnery.

At another stage of the great battle the Germans massed near a wood. The British lay well away from them on one side, the French under General Pau on the other. Some desultory firing took place and the Germans tried to hide their real strength under cover of the forest, but the allied commanders had been well supplied with information and were on the alert.

The Germans' right asked for an armistice for the purpose of attending to their wounded and burying their dead, but while this request was under consideration a British aeroplane discovered the Germans were setting a trap for the allies. Negotiations at

GERMAN STAFF MANIFESTS CONFIDENCE IN OUTCOME

Berlin.—Members of the general staff here in private conversation have manifested absolute confidence in the outcome of the battle in France, as their own army is steadily growing stronger and the lines of communication have been adjusted to permit a more efficient supply of provisions and ammunition, it having rather outrun the supply arrangements in the rapid advance on Paris. The French army, according to the staff, is showing signs of having shot its bolt and has fought itself to a standstill, being unable to fill its depleted ranks like the Germans.

The headquarters announcements still give no definite information regarding the position of the battle line, contenting themselves with speaking of it generally as located between the Oise and Meuse rivers, but not mentioning what part of this large region the Germans occupy.

Death Trap Falls.
An airman had seen an immense number of guns enter the woods; the foe evidently having planned to put up a sham fight and retreat so as to draw the British to the hidden guns. It was a well planned death trap, but the allies by this time were aware of the tactics. The motive behind the request for an armistice was to lull the allies into a sense of security and so enable fresh German forces to arrive from Compiègne.

A terrific cannonade at once was opened upon the wood, which took fire, and as a brisk wind was blowing, the flames soon turned the forest into an inferno. The Germans rushed out in great disorder, and the British, who were waiting, fell on them hip and thigh. The men, remembering all that has been done by them and the peasantry, fought with terrible fury, and wiped out the score.

The German commander concentrated all his energies on saving the guns, but this was just the thing the allied commanders had decided to frustrate. Much fierce fighting took place around the artillery, the British cavalry distinguishing itself by its dash and determination, sweeping down upon the German horsemen trying to escort the guns to places of safety. They were through them like an avalanche, and it will be long before those Teutons who escaped forget the headlong, irresistible rushes of our hard riders.

Cavalry's Worth Shown.

Once again it was demonstrated that the cavalry arm still is one of the most effective an army can possess when it is used at the proper moment and in the right way. Cavalry may be useless against men entrenched on kopjes, but in the open field it is as effective as in the days of the first Napoleon.

Not only did the cavalry prevent the German guns from escaping, but their lightning-like delivery of charges prevented the gunners from taking up positions from which to work havoc on our infantry. The Germans were busy at all times, and the accuracy of their firing soon made every fresh position untenable.

Our infantry went also into the fray with terrible relish and zest. The zouave-like open formation is the best on earth for rapid advance and heavy volleying on the move.

Our men got over the ground at a swinging pace, and closed up for bayonet work. The men literally were on the run, and nothing could stop them. They went through the Germans like fire through flax.

The French are loud in their praises of the British in this battle. Stand after stand was made by the Germans in hope of stemming the tide of disaster until support should arrive, but the British knew the value of time as well as the Germans, and pushed the attack home so hotly that, according to the latest verbal reports, the enemy lost, in dead and wounded, 25,000 men. A large amount of artillery, great and small, big guns and rapid firers, fell into the British hands.

RIVERS CHOKED WITH BODIES OF AUSTRIANS
London.—"The newspaper correspondents describe horrible scenes on the battlefields abandoned by the Austro-German forces last week," says the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent.

"Streams, they say, were choked full with slain men, trodden down in the headlong flight till the waters were dammed and overflowing the banks. Piles of dead are awaiting burial or burning. Hundreds of acres are sown with bodies and littered with weapons and battle debris, while wounded and riderless horses are careering madly over the abandoned country. The trophies captured comprise much German equipment. An ammunition train captured at Janow (11 miles northwest of Lemberg) was German, while the guns taken include 46 heavy caliber bearing Emperor William's initials and belonging to the German Sixth army corps.

"The line of retreat of the Austro-German forces was blocked with debris of every kind—valuable military supplies, telephone and telegraph installations, light railway and other stores, bridging material—in fact, everything needed by a modern army was flung away in flight. Over one thousand wagons with commissariat supplies alone were captured.

"Newspaper dispatches assert that the German troops have been interspersed with Austrian troops in the intrenchments in order to raise the morale of the Austrians. One correspondent declares that while the Austrians took flight the Germans were ready to the last man to perish."

advance on Paris. The French army, according to the staff, is showing signs of having shot its bolt and has fought itself to a standstill, being unable to fill its depleted ranks like the Germans.

The headquarters announcements still give no definite information regarding the position of the battle line, contenting themselves with speaking of it generally as located between the Oise and Meuse rivers, but not mentioning what part of this large region the Germans occupy.

SUFFRAGISTS WHO HAVE INVADDED THE WESTERN STATES

SHREWD TRICK SAVED BANK

Cashier's Hot Sovereigns Convinced Depositors That Their Savings Were Not in Danger.

Many years ago, in consequence of a commercial panic, there was a severe run on a bank in South Wales and the small farmers jostled each other in crowds to draw out their money. Things were rapidly going from bad to worse, when the bank manager, in a fit of desperation, suddenly bethought him of an expedient. By his direction a clerk, having heated some sovereigns in a frying pan, paid them over the counter to an anxious applicant. "Why, they are quite hot!" said the latter as he took them up. "Of course," was the reply. "What else could you expect? They are only just out of the mold. We are coining them by hundreds as fast as we can." "Coining them!" thought the simple agriculturist; "then there is no fear of the money running short!" With this their confidence revived, the panic abated, and the bank was enabled to weather the storm.

ERUPTION COVERED BODY

321 Lee St., Hampton, Va.—"In July of last year the eczema made its first appearance on my fingers and before the last of August my body was completely covered. I was unable to sleep at night the itching was so severe. I had to take sleeping medicines several times a week to get any sleep at all. It broke out as a rash and some of the eruption turned to boils. My chin was covered and I had several boils on my face. My hands looked so that I had to stop school and my clothes irritated the eruption so much that it kept me scratching all the time. I could not stay in a warm room and I could not put my hands in warm water at all.

WAS MISERABLE COULDN'T STAND

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lackawanna, N. Y.—"After my first child was born I felt very miserable and could not stand on my feet. My sister-in-law wished me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my nerves became firm, appetite good, step elastic, and I lost that weak, tired feeling. That was six years ago and I have had three fine healthy children since. For female troubles I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it works like a charm. I do all my own work."

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

GETTING ALONG IN DRY BELT

Farmer Whose Expenses Are Met by Cows, Hens and Garden Has No Debts in Years of Drought.

A fair hog pasture can be made by sowing wheat and sorghum. An acre of milo will yield sufficient grain to make 400 pounds of good pork. Milo, sorghum and other dry crops make good poultry feed. The dry land climate is particularly favorable for poultry and hens that are selected from laying strains will each produce eggs worth $2 a year if rightly cared for, writes H. M. Cottrell in Denver Field and Farm.

From one-fourth to one-half an acre close to the well should be plowed deeply and worked and reworked until it is thoroughly pulverized. This should be planted with garden seeds and potatoes in rows far enough apart to be cultivated with a horse. If a large tank is used for watering the stock it can be filled with water to irrigate. Open a narrow furrow the entire length of the row, pull a straight post through the furrow to smooth the ground and then run the ditch full of water. Apply the water after sundown and the next morning cultivate thoroughly to make a mulch that will hold the water.

The settler who follows this plan will have a steady cash income from his cows and hens, and the garden will supply his table. The chickens and hogs will furnish eggs and meat to sell and use. If the season is wet or dry, he will have a good living and cash to pay for everything he needs to buy. Then for surplus funds he can grow wheat which is a dry-land crop. It often yields more than the value of the land in a single season. Then there may be a year, sometimes two or three of total failure, and sometimes for two or three seasons in succession he will have good crops. The dry-land farmer whose expenses are met by his cows, hens and garden lives well and has no debts in the dry years. Then in good years his wheat brings him several thousand dollars that he is free to use for improvements or for buying more stock or land.

ALFALFA IS FAVORED CROP

Requires Less Work Than Grain—Improve Mechanical Conditions of Soil—Adds Nitrogen.

"Dry-Farming and Rural Homes" has recently received from W. C. Palmer of the agricultural college of North Dakota an interesting little comparison between nutritive and cost values of alfalfa and oats, as indicated in the unique illustration shown here-with, leaving no room for argument in behalf of the point sought to be established.

In his statement, or poster which he is posting up all through his state, Mr. Palmer says:

"Why grow alfalfa? "It is the best hay crop. "Less work required to produce it than grain.

"Less expensive to produce than grain. "It is a dependable crop. "It improves mechanical condition of soil.

"It adds nitrogen to the soil, provided it is fed on the farm."

THROW AWAY WATERING POT

When Water is Scarce Spade or Hoe Can Do Wonders in Hands of an Energetic Person.

When water gets scarce throw away your watering pot, or rather your sprinkling pot. At such a time it is a menace to the life of the flowers when in the hands of the novice who "scatters pearly drops" upon the flowers' stalks and gives the roots none.

Remember that when water is scarce that the spade or hoe can do wonders when in the hands of the energetic person who knows how to use these tools.

Deeply dug soil retains moisture far longer than that stirred to a shallow depth.

Keep the surface soil loose and light, giving the plants a surface or dust mulch with a sharp hoe.

Mulches of all kinds are beneficial—fallen leaves, weeds pulled from the garden, lawn clippings, refuse from the barnyard.

Potted plants should be thoroughly watered so that the heart of the roots receive its share of moisture. Bedded plants, however, can exist without watering but if you give them any give them plenty.

The lawn should never be "sprinkled," but if possible let the hose run on it for hours after sunset. Unless one has an unlimited supply of water do not water the lawn but save the water for the beds, borders and vegetable gardens.

WESTERN CANADA'S GRAIN CROP FOR 1914

THE WHEAT CROP ALONE WILL BE WORTH UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS.

The yield of wheat in Western Canada for 1914 is now safely estimated at 135 million bushels. This is not as large as in 1913 but for various reasons will net the farmer considerably more money. Had it not been for drought that struck some portions of Southern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan, shortly after seeding, there would have been a phenomenal crop and with present prices there would have been a year of unprecedented prosperity. In a large district of the country the crops are fully up to the average. The portions referred to had ample rainfall and blessed with conditions that put them into a more enviable condition than the districts first referred to. Fortunately in most places where lack of precipitation prevented harvesting a good crop this year, this is the first of a number of years that it has happened, and the farmers are in a position to withstand a partial failure. Throughout all of Manitoba, Central Saskatchewan and the largest portion of Alberta conditions are good. The raising of cattle, sheep and hogs is now playing an important part in the success of the Western Canada Farmer. From these, and the product of the dairy and the creaming, he is placing himself in an excellent financial position. It is expected that during 1915 the acreage sown to grains of all kinds will be largely in excess of all previous years. In the districts that had not the crop that others had, there is no disheartenedness, but embracing the opportunity to get their land ready in good time, and pursuing more definite methods of conserving the moisture, the farmers are now busily engaged in preparing larger areas for wheat, oats, barley and flax, and in this way very much will be added to the large acreage placed in crop in 1913. There are none that take any comfort out of the war in Europe because it will mean increased prices for everything they can raise, but they propose taking advantage of the opportunity that is afforded. Western Canada is the recognized grain field of the world, and will be so for all time. Looking into the future, thousands of Americans are now contemplating joining the band of Western Canada grain growers and they are wise in doing so, for they can secure the best of land in good localities, convenient to market, at from $15 to $20 per acre if purchased from railway or land companies, or they can still get homesteads within reasonable distance of railways by making entry for them. The American settler is always welcome, and he will find in almost any district in which he cares to locate, scores of American settlers, who are doing well, and few, if any, ever prove a failure. There are special rates given to the settlers on the railways for both himself and his effects.

The natural resources of the country are so vast that they cannot be told in mere figures. Man can only tell of what tiny portions have done. He can only say "I am more prosperous than I ever expected to be." And yet if a farmer expects to succeed on land that he has been forced to pay $50 to $100 an acre for, he ought to feel assured of attaining prosperity when he finds the richest prairie soil at his disposal absolutely free. If he has a little capital, let him invest it all in live stock and farm implements—he will find himself ten years ahead of the game. Some day such a chance will not be found anywhere on the face of the globe. But now the same opportunities await you as awaited the pioneer and not one hundredth part of the difficulties he encountered and overcome. Success in Canada is made up of two things, natural resources and human labor. Canada has the one and you have the other.

You want a cozy home, a free life, and sufficient income. You want education for your children, and some pleasure for your wife. You want independence. Your burden has been heavy, and your farm hasn't paid. You work hard and are discouraged.

You require a change. There is a goal within sight, where your children will have advantages. You can get a home in Western Canada and freedom, where your ambitions can be fulfilled. If the Prairie Provinces are full of Successful Farmers, why should you prove the exception? Haven't you got brains, experience, courage? Then prove what these are capable of when put on trial. It is encouraging to know that there is one country in the world where poverty is no barrier to wealth!

Besides the grains spoken of, all kinds of grasses do well in Western Canada. At one of the fairs held a short time ago the writer saw no less than eighty varieties of wild grass. Of the cultivated grasses, Alfalfa gives a splendid yield, and although not yet generally grown, it will soon become universal. At a recent contest of fields sown not later than June, 1912, there were prizes awarded in all districts in Saskatchewan. The quality was excellent. In Alberta it will soon become the popular feed. In Manitoba the growing of alfalfa is quite successful, and many farmers are now preparing land for it.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, on his return from a trip to Western Canada, furnishes the following contribution: "I'll dream again of fields of grain that stretch from sky to sky, and the little prairie hamlets, where the cars go roaring by, Wooden hamlets as I saw them—noble cities still to be To girdle stately Canada with gems from sea to sea; Mother of a mighty manhood, Land of glamour and of hope, From the eastward sea-swept islands to the sunny Western slope."

It is the inspiration that led Sir Conan Doyle to pen the above that has led the many Americans that are now in Western Canada to make their home there.—Advertisement.

Easily Caught. "Old Doppelby tells me that he has faith in his fellow man."

"That's true. Old Doppelby's faith in his fellow man's willingness to swallow any sort of thinly disguised bait accounts for his town house, his country house, his six automobiles and his private yacht."

One Suit Too Many. "Did you ever try that tailor I recommended to you?"

"Yes. Too expensive. Got two suits from him—one dress suit, one law suit."

The Naughty One. The telephone in a physician's office rang madly, the other day, relates Current Opinion, and the following conversation took place:

"We want the doctor, quick!" "Who's sick at your house?"

"Everybody except me. I'd been naughty, so they wouldn't give me any of the nice mushrooms papa picked in the woods."

Befitting the Occasion. "Where shall I put this picture of the prizefighters?"

"Make it an upper cut."

Content to Remain in Scotland.

An extremely self-important middle-class Londoner, visiting Scotland for the first time in his life, volunteered to a kindly but sharp old Highlander that no Englishman could ever find Scotland anything but a place to leave—and that rapidly.

"I'm nae so sure o' that," returned the old man, dryly. "I'll tak' ye to a place no' far frae Stirling, whaur thety thousand o' yer countrymen ha' been content for five hundred year, and they're nae thoct o' leavin' yet!"

"What is the place?" bellowed the Londoner.

"Bannockburn!" snapped the Scot, waving his hand in the direction of the battlefield.

Caused a Coldness.

"I wish I had money enough to get married," he remarked.

She looked down and blushed. "And what—would—you—do?" she asked, looking very hard at a little design on the carpet.

"I would spend it traveling," he replied. And the thermometer fell 10 degrees.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Invents a New Chicken.

George White has produced by selective breeding, the shortest-legged chicken in existence after ten years of effort, during which he crossed and re-crossed breeds. The result is a big white fowl that continually seems to be sitting, the impression being due solely to the shortness of its legs. When it walks it waddles like a duck.

The advantage, says White, is that the newly "invented" type of chicken is not a roamer and not a scratcher. It cannot go very far and has not enough of a reach to scratch. The result is that it lives a quiet, peaceful existence, never roosts on a neighbor's fence, and is a busy layer.—Eaton (O.) Dispatch to the New York World.

One Way to Lengthen Life

Late in life, when the organs begin to weaken, the hard-working kidneys often tire out first.

Falling eyesight, stiff, aching joints, rheumatic pains, lame back and disturbing urination are often due only to weak kidneys.

Prevention is the best cure and at middle age any sign of kidney weakness should have prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made life more comfortable for thousands of old folks. It is the best recommended special kidney remedy.

An Oklahoma Case

W. S. Blodson, chief of police, Durant, Okla., says: "Kidney disease in a severe form clung to me for years. My back ached constantly and I had to get up nights to pass the kidney secretions. They were discolored and I filled with sediment. After trying different remedies without relief, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and six boxes completely cured me."

TIPTON NOTES

Rain! Rain! Rain!!! The most rain fell here from Wednesday until Sunday that has fell here in the same length of time for years, so gentle, so calm, and so beautiful, that the ground is thoroughly soaked.

Most every one is done gathering feed.

Mrs. Ira Stemple is visiting her sister in Tucumcari this week.

Walter Sharp was down from the plains and got some horses and mules in the valley last week.

Prof. C. S. Burnett will leave the last of this week for Montoya, where he looks after another school.

Superintendent E. Pack visited the school here last week. This is the first time the free school was ever visited by a superintendent of schools. Mr. Geo. Sak was along and took a picture of the school. Come again.

G. L. Coffman was a business caller in San Jon, Tuesday.

R. M. Taylor drove some cattle to San Jon to ship but for some cause did not ship them.

We understand John W. Austin and family will move to Texas and Dan Riley will move to the Austin claim.

Electin day will be the next big day for all. Every voter should go out and vote for what he thinks is best for his country.

HOW TO SUPPORT PRESIDENT WILSON AND GOVERNOR McDONALD

IF YOU ARE FOR WOODROW WILSON AND GOV. McDONALD AND THEIR POLICIES YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR HARVEY B. FERGUSON FOR CONGRESSMAN, AND J. H. WELCH AND HENRY SWAN FOR THE STATE LEGISLATURE, WHO WILL AID AND SUPPORT THEM IN THE EXECUTION OF THOSE POLICIES. YOU CANNOT UPHOLD THEM BY VOTING FOR REPUBLICANS WHO WILL OPPOSE THEM IN THE NEXT CONGRESS AND STATE LEGISLATURE, AS THEY HAVE IN THE PRESENT CONGRESS, AND THE LAST STATE LEGISLATURE.

If you believe that President Wilson and Governor McDonald are SAFE MEN; if you believe that they are working for the BEST INTERESTS of the country and state; if you believe that the things which they have done are based upon RIGHT PRINCIPALS; if you believe that they should be allowed to CONTINUE THE WORK which they have begun, you should VOTE FOR THE MEN WHO WILL UPHOLD THEM. Republicans in the next Congress and State Legislature, for political purposes will oppose them and their policies. Democrats will sustain them.

A vote for Democratic candidates for Congress and the State Legislature is a vote for Wilson and McDonald. A vote for Republican candidates is a vote against them. There is no middle ground. VOTE FOR YOUR OWN INTERESTS. VOTE FOR WILSON AND McDONALD MEN!!
