NUMBER 48

SHOT ACCIDENTALLY

WHILE PREPARING TO RETURN HOME FROM HUNTING TRIP OSBORN IS SHOT WITH AN "UNLOADED" GUN.

Our community was again shocked by the news of the accidental shooting of Robert Osborn, the well known blacksmith, which occurred Wednesday afternoon at the Moseley ranch about eighteen miles west of Carlsbad.

The facts as gathered from the testimony at the inquest are as follows: The deceased in company with S. D. Hill and R. D. Fuller had been on a short hunting trip and were as far as the Moseley ranch on their way home. At about 1:30 P. M., Wednesday, Mr. Hill proposed that while the others were preparing lunch, he would go to a little body of water near by and see if he could not shoot some ducks. Upon his return he found that Messrs. Fuller and Osborn had already eaten their lunch and were preparing to load the wagon. Mr. Hill hurriedly ate his lunch and after the bedding had been placed on top the back, remarked: "Here is my gun, I forgot it."

A strap had been fastened on the back of the hack seat, to fasten around the stock of the gun, the muzzle being pushed through a kind of slot of some sort so the gun would carry crosswise on the back of the hack seat. Having some little difficulty in placing the gun, Mr. Hill asked Mr. Osborn, who was standing on the opposite side of the hack from where he (Hill) was, to help push the gun in place. Mr. Fuller, who was standing at the rear of the hack, said: "Look, I want to do that for a thousand dollars." Mr. Osborn replied: "It's not loaded. Is it loaded, Daddy?" Mr. Hill answering in the negative, Mr. Osborn gave the gun a twist and it is supposed the hammer caught on a rope with which the bedding was tied, and at the same instant one barrel of the gun was discharged the load entering the neck of the unfortunate man, severing the jugular vein and causing instant death—he throwing up his hands and falling to the ground without a groan or quiver of a muscle.

Mr. Hill had removed one shell from the gun and his attention being attracted by something else he evidently forgot to remove the other shell.

When the full extent of the accident was realized, Mr. Hill and Mr. Fuller placed the body in the hack and the first man brought in to the city, Mr. Fuller remaining with the camp outfit until conveyances were sent out from Carlsbad, when he also came in. An inquest was held and the facts as above stated were brought out, the acting coroner, Judge Richards and the jury reporting as follows:

"State of New Mexico, county of Eddy, ss. We, the justice of the peace and jury who sat upon the inquest held this 9th day of October, 1913, on the body of Robert Osborn found in Precinct No. 1, of Eddy County, find that the deceased came to his death by reason of a gunshot wound, accidentally inflicted, while assisting in placing a loaded gun in a wagon."

Robert Osborn was born in Bell county, Texas, near Nolanville, in the year 1876, and resided there until his marriage to Miss Rosa Scroggins which occurred April 28th, 1897. Shortly after that they removed to Temple, Texas, coming to Carlsbad in 1900. He resided here altogether about seven years. He was a partner with Bob Causey in the blacksmith business and built the building now occupied as an office by the Public Utilities company.

Later, he disposed of his business here and in company with Mr. Causey left for various points in Oregon, returning here last fall. During his residence in Oregon, in 1911, he united with the Masonic fraternity at Albany, that state, and was a Knight Templar at the time of his death.

The funeral services were conducted by the local Masonic order and the remains laid to rest in City cemetery with appropriate services at the grave.

Profound sympathy is felt on every hand for the grief stricken wife.

EXPRESS RATES TO BE GREATLY REDUCED.

New Tariff Agreed Upon Between Corporation Commission and Representatives of the Express Companies Last Saturday.

—New Mexican.

Express rates in New Mexico will be revolutionized when the new rates decided on Saturday afternoon at the conference between the state corporation commission and the officials of the express companies go into effect. Not a rate in the state will be raised under the new tariff, while most of them will be reduced, the reduction ranging from 25 to 60 per cent.

N. K. Lockwood, traffic manager for the Wells Fargo Express company of San Francisco, and holding power of attorney for the Adams and the United States Express companies, was the spokesman for the carriers, and he submitted a schedule of rates, both intra-state and inter-state, covering every express office in the state. The new schedule is based on the recent distance rates ruling of the Interstate Commerce commission, although this could not be enforced on interstate business. However, on all interstate rates covering more than a few miles, this is a substantial reduction, while the express companies announced that they were willing to construct intra-state rates on this same basis, where the new rates would be lower than the old rates.

The new tariff will have to be printed and bring into effect, will not go into effect until after 30 days' notice has been given. This, it is believed, will mean 60 to 90 days before the new rates go into effect.

The companies, however, do plan to put into effect within 30 days a new special low tariff on milk and cream and all dairy products. This tariff will reduce the present rates from ten to 35 per cent and is done to assist in getting milk and cream to the various creameries of the state.

In some cases, especially for short distances, the new rate, figured on the arbitrary basis adopted by the Interstate Commerce Commission in making up the now famous block system of rates, is considerably higher than the rate now paid, but in such cases, if the commission will issue an order authorizing them to do it, the express companies have said they will adopt the lower rate in every case. For instance, the rate from Santa Fe to Albuquerque on merchandise is $1 a hundred pounds. Figured on the Interstate Commerce commission basis it would be $1.30, but the old rate will be used in this case. Similarly, the rate from Manueto to Gallup, is raised from 50 cents to $1, but the raise will be wiped out by an order to be issued by the corporation commission.

As an example of the rates under the new tariff it might be mentioned that the merchandise rate from Carlsbad to Santa Fe is reduced from $4.73 to $2.80; from Rodeo to Ute Park reduced from $8.25 to $3.80; from Malaga to Gallup reduced from $6.50 to $3.00; from Roswell to Santa Fe reduced from $4.25 to $2.40.

BOOKKEEPER IS GUILTY
Former Joyce-Pruit Man Says He Stole the Money After Unlocking Safe. Given Twelve to Fifteen Months in Penitentiary.

W. M. Day, at one time bookkeeper for the Joyce-Pruit office, pleaded guilty to an information filed against him for "larceny of money in a store," and Judge John T. McClure gave him twelve to fifteen months in the state penitentiary.

Day allowed himself to be locked up in the store, and knowing the combination of the safe, after all were gone unlocked the safe, taking out $500 in bills. The money was missed and a quiet search was made, suspicion resting on him.

Two weeks afterwards he started to leave, and thinking this an suspicious time to catch him with the money, the officers with the Joyce-Pruit representatives met him at the station and had him arrested.

He had the money in his shoe, and in walking up town, stopped, took the money from his shoe, and left it on the Fifth street walk.

A guilty conscience seemed to smite him, and though, they had little else evidence on him, it is charged, he turned to A. Pruitt, who was with the crowd, and said "there is your money laying back there on the walk."

This was not all the money, however. He told the Joyce-Pruit people that he did not mean to steal the money for good. He was just going to borrow it, and as he had a job over at Albuquerque, he was going to send it back to them.

He took much of the money to pay off some indebtedness around the city. One bill for more than $25 was paid to a pool firm for billiards.

Day is in bad health, having tuberculosis, and several attributed the deed to his mental condition, being in hard straits, and not able to work steadily.

He has a wife and two children.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the Cemetery Association, of Carlsbad, tomorrow afternoon, at three o'clock, at the Anderson sanatorium, for the purpose of electing a board, to look after various business matters in connection with the improvement and beautifying the City of the Dead. Let all who have given their names as members and all others interested, try to be present.

SEVEN JURORS FOR THE LYNCH TRIAL.

Regular and Special Panel of Sixty Veniemen are Exhausted and Seven Jurors are Selected

Clovis, N. M., Oct. 8.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon seven jurors had been selected for the second trial of James Lynch for the murder of Marshal Roy Woofert at Roswell a few years ago. Up to that time a special panel of 60 and the regular venire of jurymen had been exhausted and another special of 18 veniemen had been issued. The last venire of 18 was returnable at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Considerable interest is taken in the trial here and the courtroom is pretty well filled at each session of the court. The selection of the jurymen is progressing slowly and when court adjourned last evening only two had been chosen. Both sides have nearly exhausted their challenges and for that reason only 18 men were chosen for the last venire. It is expected that the jury will be empaneled late today and that the taking of testimony in the case will be started in the morning.

Clovis, N. M., Oct. 8.—At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon the jury for the trial of James Lynch has been selected and the first witness for the prosecution was put on the stand. The jury is composed of the following twelve men:

D. J. House
B. L. Hawk
Pat Ridley
Jess Newton
W. T. Sexton
H. E. Wilson
D. O. Singletary
J. E. Houchen

MURDERED

Old-Time Eddy County Boy Murdered in Arizona. Word Received Wednesday Night. Particulars Meager. Full Account Next Week.

W. F. Edwards, who until a few years ago was a resident of Eddy county, was murdered at Seligman, Arizona, Wednesday night, according to a telegram received here yesterday morning by Walter Thayer. No particulars were given but a later telegram from Edwards' wife was to the effect that the family was in destitute circumstances and required assistance at once.

Will and Jerome, his brother, are stepsons of Walter Thayer, and have a wide acquaintance in this city and vicinity where they were born and brought up. The murdered man married a sister of Jack Brogdon, who resides on Seven Rivers and leaves a number of young children. The current hopes to be able to give particulars in next week's issue.

No Love Surpasses That of Mother.

Though the world may forsake us, though the waters of Lethe may engulf us, though the red hand of crime may grip us as we wallow in the mire of complete degradation, there is one hallowed influence that ever surrounds us, ready to endure all that afflicts us—the unfailing and undying mother love. The Dallas Times-Herald says:

"I am proud of him. I am proud I am his mother." So spoke a gray-haired woman on the witness stand in Springfield, Ohio, where her son was being tried on a charge of having poisoned his wife. The man may have been guilty as Nero, but to the mother he still appeared the guiltless child who lisped his prayers at her knee in the days gone by. To her he was still the growing boy about whose future she and the father, now gone before, had talked far into the night after the tired youngster was sleeping the sleep of innocence. He was her boy and her boy could do no wrong.

Nothing surpasses the love of a mother. Compared to it all other love fades as stars sink into insignificance when the harvest moon comes stealing over the horizon. It is the purest and most unselfish love in the world. It is undying, because it is immortal.

SUCH IS THE LAW AND ORDERS FROM COMMISSIONERS TO SUPERINTENDENT BAIL- EY. THREE MONTHS SALARY WITH- HELD.

The following letter from Chairman Beeman of the county board to the county superintendent of schools explains itself so fully that comment is unnecessary:

Carlsbad, N. M., October 7, 1913.
Supt. A. E. Bailey,
Pearl, New Mexico.

Dear Sir:— This is to advise you that your bill for $390.00 for quarter ending Sept. 30, 1913, was not allowed, for the reason that it is in violation of law for any county officer to move his office from the County seat, Sec. 1, Chapter 38, Session Laws of 1913.

"That the offices of county officers, in this territory shall be established and maintained in the county seat; so it shall be illegal to hold or maintain said offices outside of the place which is required in this section."

We regret the move you have made and the necessity of having to reject your bill, but you will readily see there is no other course to pursue, unless we should ask to have you removed, which we do not wish to do.

When you comply with the law, we will be glad to cooperate with you for the best interest of the schools of Eddy County.

Very respectfully,
C. W. BEEMAN,
Chairman.

One Hundred and Twenty Acres Sold.

The three south forties of the Hove holdings have been sold the deal closing Saturday night. The purchaser of the land, J. C. Dillener, of Northeast Missouri, is a man of family having a wife and six children, and at his special request Mr. Hove and family will continue in the residence until the first of the year.

Caesar Grandi has been placed in charge of the development work and started in to plow the tract last Monday. The entire 120 acres will be put in alfalfa, planting beginning today. This is one of the choice pieces of land in the Otis section adjoining the Otis townsite.

The owner is said to be a man of considerable means, quiet and unassuming in manner, and the very kind of citizen the valley needs for its advancement and welfare. He and his family will receive a cordial welcome by the warmhearted people of the Otis community.

The sale was made by the Farmers Irrigated Land company, which is also having the development work done.

Mr. Hove's plans for the future are not definitely determined. He still owns two 40-acre tracts in the same section and may decide to build on the land. His host of friends here hope he will still be a resident of the valley; he has done so much to up-build and exploit.

Roll of Honor for Otis School.

The following pupils were neither absent nor tardy during the month of September:

fine pitching, together with Collins' hitting and sparkling defensive work and a long four-base smash were bright features of the Athletics' game.

Tesreau was found for five runs in the first two innings. Bush allowed only five hits. Doyle made a scintillating double play unassisted in the seventh inning. The two clubs play the fourth game of the series at Shibe park, Philadelphia, tomorrow.

Over 35,000 people saw today's battle at the Polo Grounds.

At the Methodist Sunday school last Sunday morning, the special number was a beautiful solo, "My Mother's Prayer," beautifully rendered by Edwin Stephenson, the superintendent. Next Sunday morning John Moore will sing a solo. At the recent session of the quarterly conference Edwin Stephenson requested that some one else be elected superintendent of the Sunday school he having served in that capacity for two years. The Methodist people, however, know a good man when they see one and unanimously re-elected him for the third term.

Build 400 Miles Road in One Day.
A new road 253 miles in length was constructed in one day in Michigan through the concerted efforts of motorists and others along its route. It was the Huron shore trunk line highway, extending from Bay City to the strait of Mackinac, and for its construction Alpena City alone supplied 200 volunteers, sixty automobiles and fifty teams. Work was begun at sunrise and continued until sunset, the only stop being for luncheon, which was furnished by the ladies of the townships through which the road passes.

but a continuation of the series of 1911 when the Athletics won the title of that year from the Giants by four games out of six. As if to heighten the illusion, there were some feature plays that might have been reproduced, so closely did they resemble those of twenty-four months ago.

The exact number of fans who paid admission to the stands was 36,291 and the day's receipts amounted to $75,255. The attendance thus fell short by more than 2,000 of that of the first game of 1911.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—The New York Giants captured the second game of the world's series today, defeating the Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 3 to 0 in ten innings of play. It was a pitchers' battle between Matthewson and Plank until the tenth inning when Plank perceptibly weakened and this, coupled with a fearful wild throw by Collins, sent three Giants scampering across the plate.

Matthewson was in difficulties in the last half of the ninth, when he was combed for two hits, and with Doyle's error put Athletic runners on second and third with none out. Then Matthewson, with splendid pitching and an airtight defense by the infield, kept the Athletics runless. Each team has now won a game and the third contest will be played in New York tomorrow.

The "Good Will Circle" of the Otis Sunday school will meet with Mrs. B. H. Ellsworth next Sunday afternoon. The hostess will present a paper on some phase of Sunday school work.

Our Query and Reply Department

What is meant by the phrase "Gettysburg campaign" as used in accounts of the battle of Gettysburg?

The battle of Gettysburg, generally considered the greatest of the civil war, occurred July 1 to 4, 1863, but the Gettysburg campaign included important movements preceding and following the battle, extending from June 3 to Aug. 1, 1863, and including more than fifty minor battles and skirmishes.

How many foreign women are there in the United States? How many men?

According to the census of 1910, there are 5,821,138 foreign females and 7,522,445 foreign males.

Is it true that some of the states have no townships or township governments? If so, what states and why?

All the states have counties, and in all the states the counties are subdivided for the purposes of local government, but the term township is not used in all or in a majority of them. All the New England states have townships instead of townships, and quite a number of states have precincts, districts, etc. Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky use the term magisterial district instead of township; Georgia has militia districts, Maryland election districts, Delaware hundreds and Mississippi beats or supervisor's districts. In Louisiana the counties are called parishes, and each parish is subdivided into police jury wards. The term hundred, used in Delaware instead of township, is a very old Anglo-Saxon term used in connection with local government.

Has a five dollar note from the Madison and Indianapolis Railroad Company, Oct. 18, 1862, any value?

No, unless some collector should place a value on it.

Please state where the phrase "potter's field" originated; also the meaning of the words.

According to the Scriptures (Matthew XXIV, 7), the chief priests took the silver pieces which had been returned by Judas (and bought with them the potter's field to bury strangers in). Bible scholars say that the field which they bought was originally a potter's field and afterward received the name Aceldama (field of blood), from the fact that it was bought with the price of Judas' treachery. The origin of the expression "potter's field" and the subject is enveloped in doubt.

Has the Royal Arcanum any connection with the Masonic order, and if so, what?

The Royal Arcanum, a fraternal and beneficial society, was organized distinct from the Masonic order in Boston in 1877. It now has a membership of more than 250,000.

What is plumbago, or blacklead?

It is a mixture of charcoal and iron.

What is the difference between kinetic and potential energy?

Kinetic energy is the ability to do work due to the motion of the body. Potential energy is the ability to do work due to the position of the body.

What is a "steal pigeon"?

The name is applied to a person who associates with criminals for the purpose of giving information to the police. Such persons have usually been criminals themselves and are well acquainted with others in the same fashion of life, know their methods and secrets and are able to get much information from them by posing as criminals themselves. It has frequently been charged that these people buy their own freedom from arrest by giving valuable information concerning others.

What is the best way to polish ivory?

Moisten a piece of felt or velvet, dip in putty powder or pumice stone and polish.

How many brothers has ex-President William Howard Taft? Is he the oldest?

William Howard Taft was born in 1857 in Cincinnati; his brother, Horace Dutton Taft, was born in 1863; another brother, Henry Waters Taft, was born in 1869, while his half brother, Charles Phelps Taft, was born in 1843.

How many presidents of the United States have been soldiers and which ones?

Washington, Monroe and Jackson were soldiers in the Revolutionary war; Jackson, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Buchanan in the war of 1812; Lincoln in the Black Hawk war; Taylor, Pierce and Grant in the Mexican war; Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Benjamin Harrison and McKinley in the civil war; Roosevelt in the war with Spain.

What was the official popular vote cast for the presidential nominees at the last election?

Woodrow Wilson, 6,293,120 votes; Theodore Roosevelt, 4,119,582; William H. Taft, 3,485,082; Eugene V. Debs, 901,839; the Prohibition candidate, 28,755.

Where is Daniel Webster buried?

At Marshfield, Mass., where he died.

Please inform me whether the ten cent piece of 1835 is worth more than its face value.

No. The dimes of 1805, 1807, 1809, 1811 and 1813 command a small premium ranging from 20 cents to $1, but the 1835 dime is not listed in any coin catalogue as being worth more than face value. The first dimes are those of the dates 1796 (dillet head), 1797, 1798, 1800, 1802 and 1822. Any one of these is worth from $2 to $4.

WORST STORM EVER KNOWN IN NOME, ALASKA.

Town is Swept by Storm From the Sea. Two Miles of Territory Devastated. No Lives Lost.

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 6.—Nome has been almost destroyed by a storm. All the south side of Frome street is gone. The sand spit is gone. Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated. No lives were lost.

The storm that last night began beating in from Bering sea was the worst ever known here. Men and women worked all night in the icy waters to save their household effects. The electric light plant was wrecked and telephone service cut off. The loss is estimated at a million and a half dollars.

There will be much suffering and outside help will be required. Winter is at hand and it will be impossible to get in supplies needed.

FROM SOUTHERN MEXICO.

American Colony in the State of Oaxaca.

The San Juan County Index, in its last issue, prints a letter from J. W. Whitehead, one of the former residents of that county who is now a resident of Medina, in the state of Oaxaca, Mexico. The state of Oaxaca lies southeast of the city of Mexico and the capital is about 1500 miles from El Paso, Texas.

The letter is as follows:

I thought your readers might like to hear a few words from Mexico, what we are doing and what we are going to do. In the first place, this colony is going to stay right here. The president's call for Americans to leave Mexico is not regarded as necessary for us, as we have our homes established and have lived here till our fruit is commencing to bear. I would like to know where we would come in at if we abandoned our homes to come to the United States even if we got a free ride? I have about $5,000 gold invested here and the other 100 people of the colony have their all invested in homes which will yield one hundred fold in another year—to leave, where would we all be? Financially we would be dead broke and have to work at day labor. The United States nor Mexican governments would not pay us for leaving our properties when we have not been molested. We have not in three years been molested in any form and do not expect to be, even in case of intervention by the United States.

We have not missed a daily mail in the three years' sojourn here and this railroad, the Vera Cruz and Isthmus, has not missed a train on account of the war. This state is in a peaceful condition, also 23 other of 27 states in the republic are peaceful, and we have to thank President Huerta for it.

Mexico needs a lot of things to make her equal with the United States but I do not think President Wilson's policy will do in Mexico to help stop the war. We all are in sympathy with ex-Ambassador Wilson in regard to recognition, as that would help Mexico more than any other one thing.

This colony is four years old and last season we shipped eight cars of pineapples. Next year we expect to have thirty cars and in two more years 500 cars. This is only a fill-in crop. We have our orange, grapefruit and lime orchards growing, and plant the pineapples in the orchards. I have a good many orange and grapefruit trees bearing this year and only two and a half years from planting. Our pineapples netted us 25c each after all expenses were paid. We have a fruit association and next year will try to get into the United States market. We have very cheap rates from Vera Cruz to Galveston, about 3c per apple duty and all freight charges. A car of fruit from Medina to Vera Cruz is only $35 gold, as we are less than 100 miles from seaport, so have a great future. Everything is very high. Flour is $15 Mexican per 100 lbs, lard per 5 gallon can is $15 Mexican money, and other things in proportion. It is impossible to get any United States exchange without paying $3 for $1, but we hope such things will not last long.

I received two June numbers of The Index yesterday and am always about two months behind with the Arctec news. Letter mail comes in about ten days via Key West and Havana.

If you would like to know more about Mexico from one who is on the spot I will write again.

ORDINANCE NO. 110.

AN ORDINANCE, Amending certain portions of Ordinance No. 109, entitled "An Ordinance, providing for the Licensing and Regulating the Barter, Sale and Exchange of Intoxicating Liquors within the Town of Carlsbad, New Mexico."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF CARLSBAD:

SECTION I. That Section 2 of Ordinance No. 109 of the Town of Carlsbad, New Mexico, be, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section II. That any person who shall sell or offer for sale within the Town of Carlsbad intoxicating liquors in quantities of five gallons or more, at the same time, to the same person, shall be construed a wholesale liquor dealer and shall pay to the Town of Carlsbad a license tax of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per year, payable annually in advance.

SECTION II. That Section III, of Ordinance No. 109 of the Town of Carlsbad, New Mexico, be, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section III. That any person who shall sell or offer for sale intoxicating liquors in quantities of less than five gallons at the same time, to the same person, shall be construed a retail liquor dealer or saloon-keeper, and shall pay to the Town of Carlsbad a license tax of Sixteen Hundred Dollars ($1,600.00) per year, which said license tax shall be payable annually in advance, and no portion of which license tax shall be refunded, except when prohibition shall have been legally enacted and becomes effective, when the prorata portion of such license tax shall be refunded covering the unexpired term for which payment has been made.

SECTION III. That Section V, of Ordinance No. 109 of the Town of Carlsbad, New Mexico, be, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section V. Upon said application being presented to the Town Council the Council shall investigate the location of the place for which such license is desired, and the character of the applicant therefor, and if, upon such investigation, said Council shall be of the opinion that the location named in said application is a place not prohibited by law for the retail sale of intoxicating liquors, and that the applicant for such license is a fit person to conduct the business of a retail liquor dealer, it shall thereupon grant such applicant a retail liquor license for one year thence ensuing, which license shall be executed by the Mayor, attested by the Town Recorder, and delivered to the applicant by the Town Recorder upon the payment of the license tax above provided.

SECTION IV. That Section VI, of Ordinance No. 109 of the Town of Carlsbad, New Mexico, be, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section VI. Notice of Suit.

Notice is hereby given that suit has been commenced in the Fifth Judicial District Court within and for Eddy County, New Mexico, by Highland Southworth against Eugene F. Hardwick, Gustenia R. Hardwick, Lytle F. Gaskill, W. E. Kanaly, S. P. Gilbert, W. B. Harris and The First National Bank of Artesia, New Mexico; that the general objects of said action are to obtain judgment against Eugene F. Hardwick and Gustenia R. Hardwick on their promissory note of Twenty-five Hundred and no 100 ($2500.00) Dollars, dated on the first day of November, 1909; and to foreclose a mortgage securing said note, upon the following described land, to wit:

"The Southwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter (SW $\frac{1}{4}$ SE $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section Four (4); and the East Half (E $\frac{1}{2}$) and the East Half of the Southwest Quarter (E $\frac{1}{2}$ SW $\frac{1}{4}$) and the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (SE $\frac{1}{4}$ NW $\frac{1}{4}$), all of Section Number Nine (9); and the West Half of the West Half (W $\frac{1}{2}$ W $\frac{1}{2}$) and the Southwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter (SE $\frac{1}{4}$ SW $\frac{1}{4}$), all of Section Number Ten (10); and the Northwest Quarter (NW $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section Number Fifteen (15); all of the above described tracts of land are in Township Number Sixteen (16) South of Range Number Twenty-six (26) East, N. M. P. M. They contain in all Eight Hundred Forty (840) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government Survey thereof. Also Lot Number Seventeen (17) and Lot Number Nineteen (19) in Block Number Eight (8) of the Original Town of Artesia, New Mexico."

And to foreclose all right, title and interest of each of the said defendants herein and to the said described land.

That you, the said defendants are notified that unless you enter your appearance in said cause on or before the 18th day of November, 1913, judgment will be rendered against you in said cause by default.

That Reid & Hervey are the attorneys for the plaintiff and their post-office address is Roswell, New Mexico.

THE POULTRY SHOW A BIG THING

Will be Held in Carlsbad the First Week in December—Much Interest Shown

BIRD GROWERS RECEIVE LETTER

President W. P. Turner Says Show is to be Bigger and Better Than Any in Valley History.

—Roswell News.

Big preparations are being made for the Pecos Valley Poultry association show to be held the first week of December in Carlsbad.

W. P. Turner, of Roswell, president of the association, says that the show is going to be better than last year. "It's going to be the biggest show we ever had. We are getting a much larger co-operation from the people over the valley—especially are the Carlsbad people much enthusiastic. The secretary, C. O. Swickard, of Carlsbad, is getting ready to make a trip over the valley to get further enthusiasm and interest.

The secretary of the association has sent out the following letter to all poultry raisers. If any have not received the letter, it applies to them, now, as they read it:

Carlsbad, N. M., Sept. 30, 1913.

Dear Poultryman:

Are you interested in obtaining better prices for your poultry and eggs? Did you ever think what co-operation will do?

Think how much more money you could make if there was a central market for the sale of eggs and poultry.

If feed could be purchased in small quantities at car lot prices.

If you could obtain information regarding diseases, methods of incubation, feed rations and other subjects of interest from poultrymen who have the same conditions to contend with that you have.

The Pecos Valley Poultry association wants your co-operation. Through the strength of its membership it purposes to find a better market for the poultry products of its members, and to buy feedstuffs and poultry supplies in quantities that will greatly reduce the cost of production.

It is not a matter of your having 100 or 1,000 head of fowls to make it worth your while to become a member. The consideration is better prices for what you have to sell and less expense for what you have to buy.

Such a membership is of vital importance for the welfare of the industry in our valley, and it becomes a source of financial gain to the individual.

The plan outlined is nothing new. It has been successfully carried out by poultry associations throughout the country.

The association needs your membership; you need its co-operation. If you live in the valley, live for the interests of the valley.

It costs you only one dollar; why not be a member? Please reply in full on the inclosed card.

Yours for more profit.

PECOS VALLEY POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

C. O. Swickard, Secretary.

Here are a few questions, dates, etc., that you should mail to C. O. Swickard, secretary, at Carlsbad:

How many and what variety do you raise?

What is your yearly feed per fowl?

What is your yearly net profit per hen?

What is the average price you obtain for eggs?

Are you breeding standard bred fowls? If not what is your reason?

How much and what kind of feed will you need for the year, bought at car lot prices?

Will you not make an exhibition at our Carlsbad show, November 3, 4, 5, 1913?

Washing, D. C., Oct. 4.—After rejecting an amendment to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill to pay El Paso and Douglas claimants $72,000 for injuries inflicted during the battles of Jaurez and Agua Prieta, two years ago, the senate reconsidered today and agreed to the amendment, which was again introduced by senator Mark Smith, of Arizona.

As this amendment was not in the house urgent deficiency bill, it will have to be agreed to by joint conference on the bill, the measure having been passed in the senate today.

Senator Smith, of Arizona, and representative Smith, of Texas, who urged the appropriation in the house, are sanguine that the amendment will be accepted by the conferees and the claimants receive their money.

The claimants named in the amendment and the amounts are: Adolfo Varella, $3000; Virginia Morehead, $3000; Abundio Soto, $4000; Edwin G. Heaton, $2000; C. J. Griffiths, $16,000; A. R. Chandler, $12,000; all of El Paso; Emma Larson, $1000; Elmer E. Crow, $5000; Francis F. Williams, $5000; John W. Keat, $5000; Joseph W. Harrington, $15,000; William R. White, $2000, all of Douglas, Arizona.

ARE ARMED WITH BOWS

Eight Hundred Mayo Indians Have Battle With Bows and Arrows at Cananea.

Cananea, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 4.—Esteban Martinez, ex-sindico of Cananea, was arrested recently and is at present confined in the city jail, charged with being implicated with C. N. Durazo. Durazo is now on the American side of the international boundary line. Ex-chief of Police Dominguez J. Lopez, is also locked up on a similar charge. It is said that the ex-officials have been collecting money from Chinese gamblers and operators of opium joints and permitting them to operate in direct violation of the laws governing same.

Basilio M. Gonzales, a former alderman, also charged with a similar offense, succeeded in making his getaway across the line and escaping a like fate. Martinez is one of the men who recently issued a public letter in dodger form, attacking the American counsel here, Charles L. Montague.

Venustiano Carranza, chief of the constitutional movement, now in Hermosillo, the Sonora state capital, has signified his intention to visit Cananea at an early date. Arrangements are now being made for his entertainment.

Eight hundred Mayo Indians, armed with bow and arrows, have joined the state troops recently at Maytorana, the present constitutional headquarters. The Indians volunteered their services. They are being armed with rifles and ammunition, but as there is a very meagre supply of firearms had by the state, and effort is at present being made to obtain them from civilians. A recent decree is issued by the governor was to the effect that all having arms and ammunition in their possession were to surrender them to the proper officials. This order was interpreted by some to mean foreigners as well as Mexicans, but the governor, in a recent statement, declared that foreigners will not be molested and added that all foreigners who had arms in their possession would confer a favor to the state by selling them to it. There have been a number of foreigners exchanging rifles for quivers, bows and arrows of the Mayo Indians, desiring same for souvenirs.

This week authorities in Cananea began gathering up arms from civilians. In some instances, it is said, arms were confiscated after a search of the premises, but in most instances the people are giving them up without an effort to evade the decree.

TEDDY IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Sails at 1 O'clock for Southern Continent—Declares Report is Only One of Barnes' Numerous Lies

New York, Oct. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt and party bound for South America, where the colonel will first lecture and then explore portions of the continent hitherto untrod by white man, sailed on the steamship Van Dyck shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt held a reception in suit before the boat got under way and replied to Wm. Barnes, Jr., chairman of the republican state committee, who issued a statement last night saying that the democratic and progressives were in league to nominate Supreme Court Justice Seabury of this city for the court of appeals.

"That is one of Barnes' habitual lies," said Colonel Roosevelt. "There has been no agreement whatever with reference to Justice Seabury."

Commenting on the fact that he had omitted from his set speech delivered at a banquet in his honor last night, reference to the Panama canal zone and complimentary allusions to Brazil, Chile and Argentina republic—the countries he is now to visit—Colonel Roosevelt explained he had done so merely because he thought other things more important. The trip to South America will occupy seventeen days. The colonel will be joined there by his son Kermit.

AUTO LICENSE LAW IS UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT.

Test Case From Chaves County Decided in Favor of State License on Automobiles is not Double Taxation—Lower Court Reversed.

An important decision was handed down by the supreme court today in a test case instituted in Roswell to determine whether automobilists must pay the state license as well as the regular tax on automobiles. The contention in the case was that it was double taxation, and the district court held for the plaintiff. However, the state appealed and the opinion today reverses the lower court, and decides that the state license must be paid. The gist of the opinion is contained in this sentence: "There is no constitutional objection to the levy of a license tax for the privilege of carrying on a particular business and at the same time a tax on the property employed in the business."

The opinion is by Justice R. H. Hanna, the other members of the court concurring.

Two Prisoners Escape From Penitentiary.

H. C. Devore and Rerrel Rexford, two inmates of the state penitentiary near this city, saved a hole through the roof of the ice house, climbed to the top of the wall from there dropped down on the outside and hiked for the mountains. This happened about 5 p. m. At 7 Rexford was again in custody, having been captured about four miles above the city, thanks to the work of the bloodhounds, and a telegram from Elorietta this afternoon stated that a posse was on the trail of Devore, and not far behind him. He is said to be in the neighborhood of Canyoncito.

Devore was serving a sentence of from eight to ten years from Otero county for jailbreaking, and Rexford was in for from three to four years for robbery, from Colfax county.

Some months ago, through attorneys Devore filed a writ of habeas corpus in the supreme court, his plea for liberty being based on the general ground that a term of from eight to ten years was too severe a sentence for such an offense as breaking jail, when no violence was done and he was only in for a misdemeanor.

Bound Over to the Grand Jury.

L. B. Wootters, deputy bank examiner, returned yesterday from Tucumcari where he had been called by the closing of the First State bank of that place. The bank is in charge of R. P. Donoho, appointed a special deputy bank examiner, pending the appointment of a receiver and Hugh Swift, president of the bank, is out on $25,000 bail, to appear before the grand jury which meets today, following a preliminary hearing before a justice of the peace on a charge of embezzlement. No other arrests have been made, it is said. The resources of the bank at the semi-annual statement on June 30th were $66,384.

The Difference.

Perhaps it is a fortunate circumstance that economies as practiced by individuals run in streaks. Have you ever noticed that a man, having spent 15 minutes in saving a two-cent stamp, will, in the satisfaction therefrom, immediately light a ten-cent cigar?

In women it does not take quite this form, but many a good house wife will work in semi-darkness to save a tenth of a cent's worth of light and will then spend $25 for a hat that offers no protection from wind, sun or rain and keeps her in the house more than it enables her to go out.—Silver City Independent.

Cameron Parish Submerged.

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 4.—Cameron parish, now the center of the flood in the Calcasieu river, is reported tonight to be entirely submerged except for a ridge which parallels the Gulf of Mexico. The damage will be confined to the loss of crops.

The "Good Will Circle" of the Otis Sunday school will meet with Mrs. R. H. Ellsworth next Sunday afternoon. The hostess will present a paper on some phase of Sunday school work.

State Engineer to Ignore Eddy County

James A. French, state engineer, accompanied by Bridge Engineer J. W. Johnson, left this afternoon for a ten-days road inspection trip. They will visit Albuquerque, Socorro, San Marcial, inspect a bridge site across the Rio Grande in Sierra county, travel along the borderland route and probably designate where several thousand dollars will be spent in improving this trans-continental road, visit Silver City, double back to El Paso, thence to Alamogordo and Roswell, before starting for home.—New Mexican.

As will be noted the roads of Eddy county are to be ignored, though this man French has been requested time and again to visit this section. Well, there is a day coming when the powers that be may need a few votes from this county which will be a pleasant day for the Current to tell them they will not get a vote. Roswell receives $25,000 per annum from the state treasury to $900 for Carlsbad. Every other portion of the state gets road funds but Eddy county is ignored. This is one subject that should be threshed out and if the people here will get together and let the state authorities know they mean business, Mr. French will call around and look into our road matters. Nothing unreasonable in asking for an examination of the needs of this section and a look at the Guadalupe route to the Rio Grande Valley.

The El Paso papers are alive to the benefits of a first class auto and wagon road from Carlsbad to El Paso and are doing their share in giving publicity to the enterprise. Now if a committee would wait on the state engineer and induce him to go over the line there might be a chance to get the state road commission interested. The plan should be to raise as much as possible by popular subscription and then ask the state for a like amount. Several on the line between here and Queen have offered handsome donations and all it requires is one to push the matter and there will be a first class short line from the Pecos Valley to El Paso. The saving of 100 miles in travel besides securing an all year route to the Rio Grande Valley, should be some inducement over the Mesquero route which is absolutely impossible half the year and is, to say the least a very roundabout way. Even at present an auto leaving any eastern point such as Fort Worth, Wichita Falls or Midland can save half a day by going over the Guadalupe route, for it is not only shorter but more possible in muddy times such as at present.

County Commissioners Beeman and Wright who returned last Friday from Chicago report having been successful in their mission to interview the head officials of the Santa Fe and succeeded in getting rates for the transportation of materials for the court house addition given only to aid in public improvement. While the transportation of the material is large the saving to the county will be at least $2,000 which pays well for the time spent by the commissioners. The amount saved by the Chavez county commissioners in taking the matter up with the officials was three times as much because there was three times as much material. Rates of this nature are only possible in public improvement for in the case of private individuals the inter state commerce commission insists on the publication of rates for thirty days so as to give all an equal chance. There would have been no chance of as much saving had not the commissioners gone direct to the general office of the company for division officials have charge only of their sections of the lines and much of the material must come over the line from Chicago.

Cattle and all other stock are going into the winter in better shape and on better feed than ever before in the history of Eddy county. The late rains seem to have come in good season to make good grass before any killing frost. Add to this the fact that stock, cattle, horses, goats and sheep are better prices than ever before known and alfalfa is going up by leaps and bounds and everything the farmer has to sell is high in price, it would seem that there is little cause for complaint in this section of the country.

The meeting of the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico Press and Commercial clubs meet at Artesia next Tuesday will be aided by a railway rate of one and one fifth fare or $1.62 for the round trip from Carlsbad. The Fourth Annual Festival will also be celebrated at the same time and place and it has been arranged to have a band of Apache Indians to entertain the crowds as well as ball games and speaking. The exhibits of products will be large and varied. The chances are quite a delegation from Carlsbad will attend for there is no better time to show good will for Artesia the prosperity of which can but result in much good for the whole valley. The principle that what benefits one benefits all is better than what tears down one destroys all. A record delegation from Carlsbad would do much to get the people of the two towns together and obliterate sectionalism.

W. O. Conner, superintendent of the New Mexico School for the deaf arrived in Carlsbad Sunday evening from Santa Fe to look after the deaf mutes of Eddy county having in the school two from Artesia, one from Dayton and this trip found one here. Persons knowing of any deaf mutes will not only confer a favor on the children but it will also be appreciated by the superintendent if he is notified. There is no class of children who need education more than deaf mutes and in all cases where an education is given them they make excellent citizens. Mr. Conner was being shown the town by M. S. Groves the corporation commissioner.

J. M. Wood, president of the Pecos Valley Press Association was in town Monday. He reports an effort on the part of some of the people of his town Lakewood, to incorporate the place. Some oppose the project on the issue of higher taxes and for a town of the size it would seem rather a luxury.

While you are looking over the papers to make up your mind the best ones to subscribe for don't fail to consider that you can get the best value for your money by taking the Current. Only $1.50 per annum in advance. No paper sent after the time paid for and no exception will be made to the pay in advance rule in the future. Subscribers who do not want to pay in advance are not wanted. The Current is worth the money and will not be sent to any without the money. Statements will be mailed when time expires and paper discontinued to all who do not pay in advance.

Land for Roads.

Congressman Ferguson is alive to the need of good roads in New Mexico and has introduced from the provisions of a pending bill recently introduced by him.

A bill granting to various States public lands for the construction, repair and maintenance of public roads. It is enacted by the senate and house of Representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled.

That there is hereby granted and conveyed to each of the States of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, and Wyoming two hundred and fifty thousand acres of unreserved, nonmineral, surveyed public lands, the proceeds of the sales of which shall be used solely for the purpose of constructing, repairing, and maintaining public wagon roads.

Sec. 2. That said lands shall be selected under the authority and direction of the state land board of each State that has such a board, and under the authority and direction of the governors of the States which have no land board, within the period of one year after the passage of this Act, and may be designated and selected under the supervision of the Secretary of the Interior from any lands in the State of the character described in section one hereof. The Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized and directed to issue United States patent to the said states as soon as the selection or designation thereof has been certified to his office by the governor of each state, the designation to be made by legal subdivisions of public-land surveys.

Sec. 3. That the lands herein granted shall be sold, after issuance of patent, by the proper authority of each of the said states, at public auction, after such notice as the governor of each state may prescribe, and in such units, not exceeding one section, or six hundred and forty acres, as he may prescribe, no one individual, association, or corporation to be permitted to acquire more than five per centum of the total area herein granted.

TO-DAY.

Sure, this world is full of trouble—I ain't said it ain't. Lord! I've had enough, an' double, Reason for complaint. Rain an' storm have come to fret me, Skies were often gray; Thorns an' brambles have beset me On the road—but say Ain't it fine today!

What's the use of always weepin', Makin' trouble last? What's the use of always keepin' Thinkin' of the past? Each must have his tribulation, Water with his wine. Life it ain't no celebration. Trouble? I've had mine— But today is fine.

It's today that I am livin', Not a month ago, Havin' losin', takin', givin', As time wills it so. Yesterday a cloud of sorrow Fell across the way; It may rain again tomorrow, It may rain—but say, Ain't it fine today!

Hard Trial for Irishman.

This week this paper received a letter requesting it to declare its stand in regard to world series baseball dope. This sheet is the third generation over with 100 per cent "wearing of the green" on both sides from the "auld sod," therefore in a contest between Mc's and Mack's is with the "under dog." Since the time of David history has repeated itself in proving that trained athletes are too much for giants, but nevertheless an Irishman does not like a one-sided game.—Knowles News.

From Bad to Worse.

As the trial goes on, the case against Sulzer becomes stronger, says the Albuquerque Journal. His attorneys no longer trust him, so often have they found that his statements were not borne out by the fact. After he had claimed to have given all the facts to his attorneys, it developed yesterday that Mr. Sulzer had received personally for campaign purposes, ten thousand dollars, which never was accounted for in the report sworn to by him when he filed his expense account.

Also, it was developed at the trial, but stricken out, not because the accuracy of the statement was questioned, that he had tried to have Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, refuse to pay attention to a subpoena, if one should be issued for him as a witness at the impeachment court; also, he asked Ryan to go to Washington and ask Senator Root to see William Barnes, Jr., republican state chairman, and have him use his influence with the republican members of the impeachment court to hold that the court had no jurisdiction in the case.

Then it has been shown that the Carnegie Trust company, where Sulzer claimed his wife had borrowed money, for the payment of which she was being pressed, had no record of such transaction.

These are but samples of the course the governor has pursued from the time the investigation began. His actions have been more like those of a man—than from Harry Thaw, for example, than from the governor of the greatest state of the union.

It appears hardly possible that any verdict other than that of guilty can be hoped for by the Sulzer lawyers. They have been befogged and misled by their client from the beginning. Of course, they will have some sort of defense, but in the face of the unimpeachable testimony of a number of witnesses, including Jacob Schiff and Henry Morgenthau, it is difficult to see how there can be a chance for acquittal.

Married.

At the Methodist parsonage last Saturday night, the pastor, Rev. J. Rush Goodloe, united in the bonds of matrimony, Alexander Monahans, Jr., and Miss Josephine Westaway.

The young people have only been residents of Carlsbad a short time, the bridegroom who is an employee of the Public Utilities company, coming here from New York City about three years ago, and Mrs. Monahans coming from the same place late last spring.

Both have been and are active workers in the Methodist church of Carlsbad, the bride being a fine vocalist, and her voice has been heard in solo work a number of times in the local Methodist choir.

They will reside for the winter in the Pocklington place in La Huerta; the best wishes of their many friends accompanying them for a long, happy and useful married life.

A resident of west Carlsbad came near to being the principal in an automobile accident Sunday night. As he was crossing the street diagonally from the Smith block to the Peoples Mercantile company, a car, unlighted, came up behind him. A lighted car was coming from the north and the gentleman thought it was that car which he heard, and was engaged in keeping out of its way, regardless of the other. His attention was finally attracted by bystanders and he reached the sidewalk by a narrow shave as the other car swept by. It was only last week that an accident occurred caused by having "lights out" on a car. Unless more care is exercised along that line it is feared this will not be the last.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

The Ladies Aid Society of the local Presbyterian church, had planned a surprise party for Mrs. Rarey on her birthday, but were prevented from carrying it out by the lady moving on that day. On finding out the intentions of her friends, Mrs. Rarey decided to entertain them and accordingly sent out dainty invitations reading like this:

"Tho' not a birthday, I'd like to see You at my house for a cup of tea, Thursday afternoon—not later than three."

The entire society was invited and a most delightful afternoon was spent with Mrs. Rarey, who has been a member of that organization since its founding.

Ice cream and cakes were served, the following being present:

Mrs. Lucius Anderson, R. M. Thorne, Rackley, Cunningham, C. C. and John Lewis, Adams, Beers, Osborn, J. E. and Jennie Wallace, Cowan, T. E. Williams, Heard, Nutt, Roberts, Wright, Groves, Swigart, Woodwell.

Home and School Association.

The first meeting of the Home and School Association for the year was held at the High school building last Friday afternoon.

The principal business of the meeting was to elect officers for the present year which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Clarence Bell.
1st. Vice-President, Mrs. C. M. Swickard.

2nd. Vice-President, Mrs. John Hartshorn.

Treasurer, Mrs. Boston Witt.
Secretary, Mrs. J. R. Toffelmire.

Assistant Secretary, Miss Mae Murphy.

The president has the various committees under advisement, and will announce the personnel of the same at an early date. In addition to the committees on program, playground, interior decoration and library, a social committee is to be appointed for this year, and a social meeting will likely be held next month. A vigorous campaign is on for new members—the ladies feeling that a much greater interest and heartier co-operation of the patrons is essential for the success of the association.

Woman's Club Holds First Meeting.

Tuesday afternoon occurred the first meeting of the Carlsbad Woman's club for the ensuing year. A reception was held at the clubhouse in order to become better acquainted and to start the work for the winter. The Year Books were given out to the various members and a social time resulted.

Tea and wafers were served and a musical number was given: "Merry Birds of Spring," by Miss Lucille McKeeley and Mrs. J. C. Bunch and a reading by Mrs. Thorne entitled "Amanda's Christmas Presents," which was very enjoyable. Those present were: Mesdames Cunningham, Williams, Snow, Carter, Hatfield, Swickard, Bunch, Brantley, Penny, C. C. and J. W. Lewis, McCollum, Daugherty, McKeeley. Visitors were Mesdames Hartshorn and Joyce and Miss Neely, who presided at the piano.

C. M. Acrey last Monday received on the first train up from Pecos after the flood in the Delaware eighty head of bucks which were shipped from 140 miles north of Sacramento in California. These are the same class of bucks that the Acrey brothers have been using for the past six or seven years and will shear forty pounds of wool each, of the finest and best quality. Of this shipment M. Irabarne purchased twelve, J. W. Thurman ten, Frank Alzuguraz twelve, J. J. S. Smith ten, J. W. Tulk five E. Etcheverry twenty; and children from south of the Geyser Spring ranch eleven. Thus the blood of the fine French Merino will predominate among the sheep of this section.

Married.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. R. Ohnemus last Sunday evening occurred the marriage of Miss Emma Matthews and Benjamin L. Acrey. F. H. Richards, the dignified and urbane justice of this precinct officiating in his masterly way. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of invited guests in the reception room of the Ohnemus residence, Joseph Herzog, acting as best man and Miss Ogle as bridesmaid.

The bridal party stood under an arch of flowers from which was suspended a large wedding bell.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room and partook of a bounteous repast such as Mrs. Ohnemus is famous for, after which an hour was spent in a good old fashioned visit, all departing wishing this exceptional young couple many years of happiness.

The bride, who is an unusually attractive girl, made a beautiful appearance in her white messaline and lace trimmed gown. She carried a shower bouquet of pink and white flowers, and her hair was trimmed with orange blossoms.

At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony all present threw flowers at the feet of the bride, so her pathway from the room was strewn with beautiful flowers.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. O'Quinn, and daughter, Asa Acrey, Mrs. Mary Kircher and children, Matt Ohnemus and wife, Mr. Ben Wheeler and wife, Wm. H. Mullane, wife and daughter, Mrs. Ogle and daughter, George Beckett and others.

Mr. Acrey is the youngest of the three Acrey brothers well known as being the largest sheep owners in this part of New Mexico, their holdings running to many thousands of sheep, angoras, horses and cattle. Ben will erect a handsome residence at his ranch some thirty miles north west, where they will reside.

The young couple left on the Monday morning train for the state fair and other points for a short wedding trip.

With the Sick Folks.

Arthur Duncan, son of Dennis Duncan and wife, who has been so seriously and critically ill of typhoid fever, for several weeks past, is convalescing nicely, the attending physician, Dr. R. J. Boatman, dismissing the case Tuesday.

Contractor U. S. Hamilton, this week completed the large addition to the Carlsbad Automobile Garage, which consists of a machine shop and room for washing and cleaning autos the whole being 25x75 feet in dimensions, the machinery being moved from the rear of the front room last Saturday. The addition is provided with sky light besides numerous windows which makes the machinists department light as outside. Several new machines have been added so the equipment lacks nothing for the proper repairing or rebuilding of any kind of machinery.

W. F. Cochran and T. J. Sayles have opened a saloon in Roswell. Mr. Sayles was formerly in the saloon business in Dayton.

The home of J. R. Linn on Halaguero street was the scene of a brilliant gathering of young people last Wednesday night and, as usual, at this time, a pleasant time was spent. The young folk played "Bunce" and various games and music, both vocal and instrumental, was a feature of the evening entertainment. Dainty and toothsome refreshments were served, those present being: Misses Harkey, Murphy, McMahon, Wyman, Wilson, Johnson, Smith, Groves, Cooke, Heard, Mona Heard, Eakin, McKeeley; Mrs. Sidney Brown; Messrs. Joe Livingston, Orr, Wilkins, Clarke, May, Christian, Butler, Carl Smith, of Loving, Casper and Clarence Fosmark, Vawter and Eugene Roberts.

Commissioners Beeman and Wright, after attending to their business matters in Chicago found a cut rate on to New York and very sensibly took advantage of it and spent a couple of days in the metropolis going from there to Washington and ascending the Washington monument.

Paul Coad of Red Bluff was in town Tuesday. He reports the flood in the Delaware of last week Thursday as of immense proportions, all of the draws running full and filling the reservoir above the Coad dam so full that the embankment broke and washed away about 4,000 yards of fill on the wing of the dam and scoured out the reservoir carrying away all silt and saving a contemplated expense of about $2,000. The cost of repairs on the dam will be about $400. The gauge at the railway bridge showed eighteen feet of water, before it was washed away. The work of repairing the railway bridge was greater than if it had been taken out for nearly an entire material of the bridge was loosened up and twisted so badly that it was taken out and rebuilt. Trains commenced to run Monday the first train leaving Carlsbad at 9 a. m. and the regular train going down at 6:25 as usual.

The Daisy club met in regular session at the home of Miss Harkey, Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. The club game, "42", was played and a dainty luncheon in two courses was an enjoyable feature. In the cut for the souvenir Mrs. M. R. Smith received a hand painted powder jar; the guest prize was awarded to Mrs. Sidney Brown, of Plano, Texas. This was a hand painted whipped cream set. The day for the club meeting has been changed and the girls will meet each alternate Tuesday, beginning Tuesday of next week, in order not to conflict with the meetings of the Woman's club. Those present Tuesday were: Mesdames Brown and Smith; Misses McKeeley, Bessie Johnson, Aline Grantham, Wyman, Heard, Mona Heard, and Harkey. The next meeting will be held with Miss Aline Grantham at her home on Greene Heights.

Mrs. C. H. Shannon and Miss Jessie Johnson left Monday, the former as representative of the Carlsbad Woman's Club, at the State Federation at Santa Fe, the latter representing the Carlsbad Lodge of Rebekahs at Albuquerque.

R. M. Thorne is expected home tonight from the annual meeting of the State Undertaker's Association which convened at Albuquerque this week and of which he is secretary.

L. A. Swigart, the sheepman, came in from Santa Fe, Friday night, and after remaining a day and night to renew his acquaintance with his family, left for the Plains country Sunday morning. Mr. Swigart was accompanied by J. C. Webster, a lamb buyer, of Webster, Kansas.

The mail auto to Guen Tuesday was certainly loaded with passengers. Mrs. Pat Middleton and two children, Mrs. Henry Clark and two children, Hardin Clark and the driver. Mrs. Middleton will visit with friends a couple of weeks. Mrs. Clark goes to make her home there, and Hardin Clark spent a few days in that vicinity on a hunting trip.

The Thayer place on the top of the Guadalupe, is to be converted into a summer resort and arrangements are already making to that end. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark, cousins of Mrs. Thayer, will be in charge. The location is said to be one of the most beautiful in the Mountains, with fine water, and is an ideal summer camping place, and it seems as though it could hardly help being a success from every standpoint.

M. R. Smith and Ed Hoose left Wednesday morning for Albuquerque to attend the annual session of the Volunteer Fireman's Association which convenes at that place this week. Mr. Smith is a member of the Board of Control of that organization, while Mr. Hoose goes as a delegate from Carlsbad firemen.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sands came in Sunday night from Hancock, New York, and will locate here permanently. Mr. Sands owning land in the valley.

George Teague and Charley Vanamaker are in town today from Knowles and are loading their freight wagons for an early start tomorrow. Charley says if he does not feel better he will not start in the morning.

Miss Una Blackwood and Miss Dunn, of Roswell, were in the city between trains Monday. The young ladies were in charge of Reverend Lallance who accompanied them as far as El Paso, where they took the train for San Antonio, Texas, where they will enter school.

The young people who have in charge the play "Down in Dixie" for the benefit of Co. "B" are practicing assiduously and hope to be able to put the play on about the 25th instant. A fine rehearsal was held Monday night and afterwards the entire company repaired to the home of J. P. Butler and enjoyed some music, until a late hour.

THE NEW TARIFF LAW

Bill Signed by President Wilson Means Much.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Wilson's signing of the Underwood-Simmons bill at 9 o'clock tonight brings into effect one of the most far-reaching revisions of tariff rates and revenue laws enacted for many years.

A new income tax, applying directly to the incomes of citizens; the abolition of all tariff on scores of items of immense importance to American industry and American consumers and a heavy reduction of tariff rates on most of the articles in general use in this country are its chief features.

While certain portions of the new law do not take effect at once, most of its provisions and almost all the direct tariff reductions, do.

At every port collector of customs, appraisers of merchandise and hundreds of other employees of the treasury department will plunge at once into the task of collecting the nation's revenue on a new basis, and with hundreds of new classifications and new provisions of law to complicate their activities.

The federal government has been spending nearly a billion dollars a year and the new tariff law will raise less than one-third of that sum. Recent estimates by tariff experts in congress predict that the rates will raise $249,000,000 a year; and that the income tax will raise $22,000,000. The remainder of the government's great income is made up principally of internal revenue taxes and postal receipts.

The income tax probably will bring the new tariff law most forcibly to the attention of citizens. Presidents Wilson and democratic leaders in congress believe however, that the reduction of duties on clothing, foodstuffs and other necessities of life, and the complete removal of the duty from many like articles, will eventually bring a reduction in the "cost of living" without materially affecting business prosperity.

A brief summary of the new tariff law as prepared for the senate follows:

Average percentage of tariff rates as compared to the value of all imported merchandise: old law 37 per cent; new law 27 per cent.

Value of annual revenues added to the free list, $147,000,000.

Estimated revenues from all import rates: Old law, $305,000,000; new law $248,000,000.

Estimated revenue from corporation and income taxes: old law, $57,000,000; new law, $10,000,000.

Altogether, consumers in the United States probably will receive from abroad free of all tariff, more than $1,000,000,000 worth of merchandise during the next year. During 1912 the amount of "free imports" was more than $88,000,000, and when the tariff is entirely removed from wool, sugar iron ore and cheap iron, and other important items, the total is expected to increase notably. Under the old law more than 53 per cent of all goods brought to the United States from all parts of the world paid no tariff, and that proportion will be increased by the new law.

The free wool provision of the new law takes effect December 1, 1913; the free sugar provision May 1, 1916.

The new tariff law, passed four years after President Taft signed the existing Payne-Aldrich law, is the result of more than nine months of work in congress. Hearings were started January 6, by the house ways and means committee. Chairman Underwood introduced the tariff bill April 7, immediately after President Wilson had convened the new congress. It passed the house May 8, and the senate September 9.

In the opinion of its makers the democratic leaders of congress, the most important features of the new tariff are:

A reduction of nearly one half in the average tariff on foodstuffs and farm products.

The placing of raw wool on the free list, and a reduction of nearly 2-3 in the tariff on woolen clothing, especially on the cheaper grades.

A reduction of one-third (average) on cotton clothing.

Reduction of the sugar tariff and its ultimate abolishment in 1916.

A reduction of one-third (average) in the tariff on earthenware and glassware.

Abolishment of all tariff on meats, fish, dairy products, flour, potatoes, coal, iron ore, lumber and many classes of farm and office machinery.

General tariff reduction on all important articles in general use.

Throughout the long fight over the bill, the republican attack on the measure has been directed against those rates which the republicans declared were so low as to threaten destruction to American industries, through the competition of foreign manufacturers. The democratic supporters of the new law have insisted that except in those cases where public welfare demanded radical changes the tariff has been reduced only to a point where it will "stimulate competition," without turning American markets over to foreigners.

A great amount of work will fall upon the treasury department, it is expected, in working out the details of the new income tax and the methods of collecting the direct taxes from individual citizens of the United States. The tax upon corporations, now fixed at one per cent of their income, remains the same, and becomes part of the general income tax law. A staff of special deputies, collectors, and agents will be employed to organize and conduct the work of income tax collection.

MONOPOLY'S END

President Wilson Speaks Straight From the Heart in Impromptu Speech at the Signing of the Tariff Bill.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—

Surrounded by the leaders of the united democracy, President Wilson signed the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill at 9:09 o'clock tonight at the White House. Simultaneously were sent to customs collectors throughout the country by the treasury department orders putting into actual operation the first democratic revision since 1894.

The speed with which congress disposed of the last work on the tariff bill and sent the measure to the White house, demonstrated the anxiety of the house and senate to get through with the burden that has held them in continuous session since April.

Clerks of the Senate were at work throughout the morning correcting proof on the engrossed copy of the bill and making sure it contained no errors or misplaced punctuation marks. The bill, accompanied by the conference report as agreed on by the Senate last night, came into the house as soon as that body met. For more than an hour the house debated as to what action it should take, some of the parliamentary experts arguing that no further action was necessary, while others insisted the house must recede from its compromise cotton futures tax. Speaker Clark finally upheld the latter contention and the house quickly voted the cotton tax out of the tariff bill.

The last vote was reached at 1:23; at 1:25 the speaker had affixed his name to the completed bill and within ten minutes Chief Clerk Jerry South had carried it to the senate and it had been signed by Vice President Marshall. Clerks of the senate then took charge of the bill and conveyed it to the White House. The relief of both houses at the end of the long fight was apparent. Scores of members of Senate and house had left the city yesterday and there was less than a quorum present in the house when final action was taken on the bill.

It is generally understood that a determined effort will be made, as soon as the new congress convenes, for the regular session in December, to take up cotton futures tax legislation and endeavor to pass a separate bill to regulate cotton exchange trading.

Germany will be the first nation to take advantage of that section of the new tariff act which provides for the negotiation of reciprocity arrangements embodying mutual concessions in customs taxes. Already the initial steps have been taken to secure such an arrangement, in anticipation of the signing of the bill by the president tonight. The chancellor of the German embassy, acting in the absence of Ambassador Bernstorff, has been in communication with the state department and it is expected a rough outline draft of such an arrangement as is referred to in that section soon will be ready for consideration. As it emerged from conference this section no longer contains the retaliatory provisions inserted in the senate, and is now nothing more than an authorization to the executive to "negotiate trade agreements with foreign nations wherein mutual concessions are made looking toward freer trade relations and further reciprocal expansion of trade and commerce."

A happy group of legislators, members of the cabinet and friends encircled the president as he smilingly sat down, slowly affixed his signature with two gold pens. He presented to Representative Underwood the pen that had written the word "Woodrow," and the one which had completed his name, to Senator Simmons, both of whom bowed their appreciation.

In impressive silence, the president delivered in easy, natural tones an extemporaneous speech that brought prolonged applause.

He said that the journey of legislative accomplishment had only been partly completed; that a great service had been done for the rank and file of the country, but that the second step in the emancipation of business was currency reform. He earnestly called upon his colleagues to "go the rest of the journey" with fresh impulse.

"Gentlemen, I feel peculiarly pleased," the president said, "in what I have just done by way of taking part in the completion of a great piece of business. It is a pleasure which is very hard to express in words, which are adequate to express that feeling; because the feeling that I have is that we have done the rank and file of the people of this country a great service. It is hard to speak of these things without seeming to go off into campaign eloquence, but that is not my feeling. It is one of very profound—a feeling of profound gratitude that working with the splendid men who have carried this thing through with studious attention and doing justice all around, I should have had a part in serving the people of this country as we have been striving to serve them ever since I can remember.

"I have had the accomplishment of something like this at heart ever since I was a boy, and I know that men standing around me who can say the same thing—who have been waiting to see the things done which it was necessary to do in order that there might be justice in the United States.

"And so it is solemn moment that brings such a business to a conclusion, and I hope I will not be thought to be demanding too much of myself or of my colleagues when I say that this, great as it is, the accomplishment of only half the journey. We have set the business of this country free from those conditions which have made monopoly not only possible, but in a sense, easy and natural. But there is no use taking away the conditions of monopoly if we do not take away also the power to create monopoly, and that is a financial, rather than a merely commercial and economic power.

"The power to control and guide and direct the credits of the country, is the power to say who shall and who shall not build up the industries of the country, in which direction they shall be built and in which direction they shall not be built. We are now about to take the second step, which will be the final step in setting the business of this country free. That is what we shall do in the currency bill, which the house has already passed and which I have the utmost confidence the senate will pass much sooner than some pessimistic individuals believe. Because the question, now that this piece of work is done, will arise all over the country 'for what do we wait? why should we wait to crown ourselves with consummation to home? Are we so self-satisfying that we do not wish to complete our success?'

"I was quoting the other day to some of my colleagues in the senate those lines from Shakespeare's 'Henry V.' which have always appealed to me, 'If it be a sin to covet honor, then am I the most offending soul alive!' and I am happy to say that I do not covet it for myself alone. I covet it with equal ardor, for the men who are associated with me and the honor is going to come from them. I am their associate. I can only complete the work which they do. I can only counsel when they ask for my counsel. I can come in only when the last stages are reached. And I covet this honor for them quite as much as I covet it for myself and I covet it for the great party of which I am a member; because that party is not honorable unless it redeems its name and serves the people of the United States.

"So I feel tonight like a man who is lodging happily in the inn which lies half way along the journey and that in them orning, with a fresh impulse, we shall go the rest of the journey and sleep at the journey's end like men with a quiet conscience, knowing that we have served our fellow men and have thereby tried to serve God."

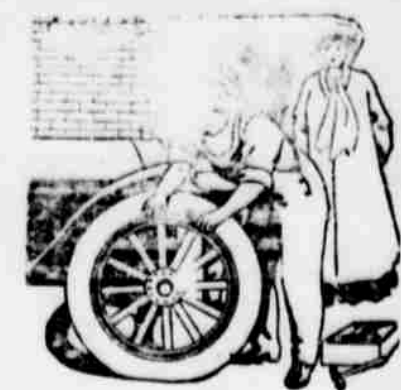

Happy and jubilant, the invited guests came to the executive offices. When the members of the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee finally arrived, Vice President Marshall was ushered into the president's office, followed by Speaker Clark, Representative Underwood and members of the cabinet and congressional committees and their friends.

The guests crowded about the president's desk over which an electric light threw a bright glow.

"I chose 9 o'clock," explained the president slowly, "on the advice of the attorney general in order that the bill might be signed after business transactions everywhere, including San Francisco, had closed for the day.

"I will not say much about the bill" he added, with a smile, "until I have signed it. I don't want it to get away from me."

Promptly at 9:09 o'clock, the president began writing and at 9:10, he had written the words "approved 9:10 p. m., 3 October, 1913, Woodrow Wilson," on the one hundred and eleventh page of the parchment containing the engrossed bill.

As the president arose and handed the two pens to the man who had steered the measure successfully through both houses of congress, there was an enthusiastic outburst of applause. The president had not intended to make a long speech, and had not even prepared a statement, but was moved on the spur of the moment to express his gratification.

The small but distinguished audience that heard the president's speech, crowded about him afterwards with congratulation. Speaker Clark, Secretary Bryan, Representative Underwood, and others, stood together sponsors with the president for the first big piece of legislation that had been accomplished in the democratic program of reform. They reiterated promises of support.

"We'll be coming here again in a short time to see the currency bill signed," Secretary Bryan said, and Secretary Marshall spoke with equal confidence.

There was an informal reception for a few minutes and then the Underwood-Simmons tariff law was carried away to the department of state and deposited in the archives along with other historic pieces of legislation.

Second Judge in Fifth District Must be Paid.

—New Mexican.

The attorney general has rendered to the state auditor an opinion regarding the payment of the salary of Judge G. A. Richardson, the additional judge in the fifth judicial district, provided for at the last session of the legislature. It appears that no specific appropriation was made for the additional judge, although an appropriation of $36,000 was made for the payment of the salaries of the eight judges. The opinion rendered by Mr. Clancy is very lengthy. However in brief it may be said that he refers to the fact that the constitution fixes the salary of the district judges as well as other officers. He then says: "In order that the state government shall go on, it is essential that these salaries be paid, and it is inconceivable that the legislature by inadvertence or intention, can be allowed to paralyze the state government and suspend its operations through a failure to make appropriations. I am of the opinion that this legislative provision as to salaries must be considered as the superior controlling authority which will justify you in drawing warrants for the salaries of all such constitutional officers as long as there is any money available in the state treasury."

In conclusion, he says: "Therefore, I conclude that you should pay the salary of Judge Richardson, not only at the present time but for the future as long as he remains in office and as long as there is any money available in the state treasury for the payment of salaries of district judges, and that this is true of all other district judges, whether the legislature has made any specific appropriation for such salaries or not."

It will be seen from the reading of the above that he has also ruled on the omission in the appropriation bill of 1913 for the salary of the district judges for the second fiscal year. In some manner in enrolling the bill, the specific appropriation for the district judges was omitted, and although the second fiscal year does not start until December 1st next, there has been considerable speculation as to the outcome as regards paying the judges.

Profits of Auto Making.

Just ten years ago the manufacture of a popular priced automobile was begun in Detroit. At the recent birthday party of the corporation a cash dividend of $10,000,000 was declared on the capital stock of $2,000,000. The people who were fortunate enough to begin with this company have enjoyed profits that make the gains of railroads and public service promoters look like genteel poverty. It is not likely that this dividend represented the surplus of the company by any means for it is now doubling the size of the factory for the purpose of putting out next year 350,000 cars. In case the demand slackens it will be possible for this concern to stimulate consumption by still further reducing the price. A net profit of only $10 a car would yield profits of $3,500,000 a year or more than 150 per cent. Some money has been lost in the automobile business, but a whole flock of new millionaires have been created by the development of the industry.

Mexican Election May be Postponed.

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 6.—Federico Gamboa, the nominee of the Catholic party for the presidency; Manuel Calero, the Liberal candidate, and the followers of Gen. Felix Diaz are pushing the work of organization for the elections on October 26. The bill for the postponement of the elections, however, is due to come before the chamber of deputies this week. The question of the constitutionality of the measure is said to have created a division of the committee to which it was referred recently upon its introduction in the chamber. In political circles the defeat of the measure is regarded as likely.

Fort Worth Semi-Weekly Record.

In this day of progress the man who would succeed must be informed about the world's doings. The local paper gives him local information which is needful, but it cannot cover the whole field. Hence the man who would keep step with the march of the times will take a general newspaper also.

The Fort Worth Semi-Weekly Record has taken front rank among the great publications of the South and West. It is especially prepared for the reader who has not the time or the opportunity to read a daily paper.

First of all, it is a newspaper. The Record believes that the people of the country and the village are as much interested in current events as the people of the city.

In the next place, it carries features suitable for all members of the family—women and children as well as men.

Last, but by no means least, the Record's editorial policy comprehends the economic welfare of the farmer and stock raiser. The Record is an acknowledged leader in the discussion of public questions in their relation to agricultural production.

PROLOGUE.

Lovers of Romance, attention! Here's a story you will like. It tells of mystery under the dreamy moon of the Pacific islands and of love in the shady lanes of New England—and what more can a story reader want? The mystery, of course, is introduced early in the tale, and the love follows close after. Together they go hand in hand through the pages of the story, never parting company until the final chapter. There the mystery departs, but the love remains.

You know, of course, about the author, Lloyd Osbourne. He learned how to write in a worthy school, for he is a stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson. And no greater story teller than the latter ever lived.

CHAPTER I.

Who is John Mort?

THE moonlight streamed through the palms of the Pacific island of Lotofofa, outlining on the beach a vivid tracery of fronds and stems. Across the lagoon, softened and mellowed by the stretch of glassy water, came the sound of a mouth organ and the rhythmic beat of a wooden drum as the crew of the North Star raised the chorus of "Good-by, My Friend." At intervals there was a deeper note as some mighty comber downed his night against the coral and burst with fury on the seaward reefs.

In all those lonely seas there is no lonelier island than Lotofofa. On some Pacific charts it is called the "Four crowns of Quilros," with a question mark after it. On others, when it is noticed at all, it figures curiously as "Melampus reef, p. d." "Winoosk shoals, p. d." or merely "Island, s. d." p. d. signifying "position doubtful" and e. d. existence doubtful. In the fifties six handful of missionaries were carried away bodily by Peruvian savers. In later years it attracted the attention of Bully Hayes, who had had the intention, never to be carried out, of making it into a sort of pirate stronghold, and to this day there stands his battery of six small, rusty iron cannon, commanding the anchorage.

Here, leaning against one of these venerable guns, were two men in close and earnest conversation. One of them was about forty-five, tall and thin, with high cheek bones and a narrow, ugly, withered face, whose usual expression was one of sardonic melancholy. But it was not a commonplace face nor a weak one. The pale blue eyes were masterful, the nose pronounced and the general air distinguished. Whatever else he had been, the past John Mort, as he called himself, was ineradicably a cavalry officer, with an underlying military hardness that on occasions could flame up like a volcano.

His companion was Matthew Broughton, a man of thirty-one, sobered, hardened and somewhat worn by eleven years on the outposts of civilization. He was an American, alone in the world. He had had two years at Annapolis, from which he had been discharged for laziness. Later he had drifted to the Pacific. He had thrown himself wholeheartedly into the life of danger, daring and romance of the south sea islands, and all he had to show for it were a few scars, a smattering of half a dozen outlandish dialects and the memory of some desperate chances taken and lost. At thirty-one he had achieved nothing more tangible than $100 a month and the command of John Mort's schooner, and even these he was now abandoning, to begin again with nothing.

"But, my friend, is there anything you complain of?" Mort was asking, his slight foreign accent more marked than usual as the result of his concern.

"Oh, no, sir!"

"Money? Shall I double your salary—trouble it? That is simple."

the tropic night, the faint, mellow throb of the wooden drum tinting a barbaric chant far across the water—all were conducive to an access of friendship, of affection and trust, that might sweep away the last barriers of reserve. He struck a match on the corsair's cannon, lit a cigarette, and, with an appearance of some indecision, took a few whiffs before he spoke.

"It is enough for you to know that I am a ghost," he said oddly. "Mort means dead, and the fancy pleased me to take it for my name. Before I died I was a person of some importance; of sufficient importance, in fact—were my existence here ever to be known—for the news of it to shake the world. Broughton, I ask no promises, no oaths. I simply tell you that my life, my happiness, all that is dearest and most precious to me, hang on your discretion. Vaster issues are at stake than you can dream of, and today there are hundreds on my track. A chance remark of yours, an unguarded word, the most innocent of confidences—and these bloodhounds might seize a clue that would destroy me. Broughton, I rely on you to guard my secret."

"And you appreciate, even in this half told way, its supreme, its vital importance?"

"I do, sir."

"Then let us go back."

In silence they walked up the path to the broad veranda of the house—the house that had taken three years to build, whose massive walls were timbered with whole trees—a low, red tiled, Spanish structure, in appearance half fort and half monastery, with a cloistered court where a fountain played. It had taken the North Star a dozen voyages to furnish it with a splendor almost incredible, considering the remoteness of the island and how recently its only inhabitants had been crabs and seaweeds. Noble pictures, Venetian carvings and old brocades, Flemish tapestry, exquisite furniture still showing the faded gold of medieval Italy—nothing, so it seemed to Matt, could vie in taste and luxury, in grandeur delicately modernized, softened and restrained—with this coral palace that sheltered Mort in exile.

But of all the beautiful objects within its walls, none could compare with its mistress, that radiant, girlish Mirovna, who shared John Mort's fortunes and engrossed his entire heart. As fair as he was dark, with crisp golden hair more red than yellow, with captivating blue eyes and a mouth all wantonness and dainty impudence, she could hardly have been more than twenty when Matt first remembered her in Guadalcanar. Who she was or what she had been—actress, dancer or exalted lady, Pole, Russian, Albanian or Magyar—all was a mystery she shared with her somber husband. Matt knew nothing save that she was one of the most adorable of women. Her caressing and pretty friendship meant much to him, and he repaid it with the profound regard of a man that had no other woman in his life.

But all that was over now, to melt forever in the swirl of receding years. He was probably seeing that familiar room for the last time and those dear faces of his friends. Matt's heart was very full and he faltered under Mirovna's questioning gaze.

"I cannot persuade him," said Mort, with affected lightness, stooping to kiss his wife's hand, "the captain abandons us."

There was no reproach in Mirovna's face, rather concern and regret. "We have been fortunate to keep him so long," she said, enveloping Matt in a look of tender scrutiny. "And oh, for six years, always so good, so loyal, so true-hearted gentleman—surely never was another like our captain."

"I have one favor to ask before I go," said Matt, somewhat huskily; "just one favor. Once," he went on.

He Played as Matt Had Never Heard Him Play Before.

addressing Mort by his Kanaka title. "Will you not get your violin—that wonderful violin—and you, Masiofa Mirovna, take your seat at the piano so that my last picture of you both may be as I have always loved you best, with your music following me out into the night?"

John Mort glowed at the request, the poetic fancy of it touching him to the quick. He drew the violin from its case, his face transfigured, his eyes scintillating and impassioned, as he gave a few swift strokes of the bow to test the tuning.

"Music is the only language—the divine language," he exclaimed, "and how far surpassing the stupid commonplace of words! Captain, you are a thousand times right, and all our affection for you, all our sorrow, all our unuttered hopes and prayers for you, will find their voice in what I play."

When once the violin had touched his chin John Mort became a different man. He was strangely ennobled; the glamor of his genius lent dignity and beauty to his gaunt frame; his thin, baggy, deeply lined face took on a new expression, so rapt, so inspired, that he might have been in communion with another world. That night he played as Matt had never heard him play before, with an intensity, a fire, an unendurable pathos that wrung the soul.

He had taken as a motive one of those simple, plaintive German folk songs, passing from improvisation to improvisation till it seemed the cry of all suffering, doomed humanity. Mirovna, herself a brilliant musician, was quick and apt in following and to Matt's untrained ear marvelously responsive and marvelously perfect.

An hour later he was aboard the North Star, and the rustling land breeze was bearing him out of the lagoon on the long slant north. Six years of his life were sinking with the palms behind him.

Extract from the San Francisco Chronicle of January 24, 1904:

"RESCUE AT SEA."

"Among the passengers yesterday on board the Incoming Oceanic Steamship company's Mariposa were Captain Broughton and nine south sea Islanders, of the schooner North Star, capsized in north latitude 34, west longitude 132, during a heavy squall. Captain Broughton was below at the time, and hardly managed to scramble out of his cabin before the ship went over. The disaster is ascribed to the carelessness of the Kanaka crew, who were all asleep at the moment the squall struck the vessel, which was lying becalmed with her sails up.

"The crew, none of whom drowned, contrived to perch themselves on the ship's bottom, and after four days of intense suffering were picked up by the W. H. Hall of this city, in lumber for Suva, Fiji. The Hall, in her turn, transferred them to the mail steamer, which was fortunately intercepted a week later.

"Captain Broughton cannot speak too highly of the extreme kindness of Captain Hayward, Purser Smith, and the officers and passengers of the Mariposa toward himself and his crew. A concert was given in aid of the shipwrecked mariners, and the sum of $318.75 realized on their behalf.

"The North Star was of seventy-four tons register, built at Bath, Me., in 1884, and carried no insurance. It was learned from Captain Broughton that she had been employed in the copra trade for many years, and was on her way to this port for drydocking and repairs. Western bound ship masters are warned to look out for the derelict, which was still afloat when last sighted."

The loss of the North Star, together with the coin in the ship's safe, cost Matt between $18,000 and $20,000. The vessel had not been insured, owing to the troublesome and prying questions that would have been asked, which, if truthfully answered, would have invalidated the policy. Had it not been for the ruby ring on his finger and his portion of the small sum raised by the passengers of the Mariposa he would have landed in San Francisco utterly penniless. As it was his crew and he became dependent on a seaman's charitable institution. While others had failed and telephoned and promised vague assistance, leaving the poor east always shivering on the wharf in a circle of newspaper men and photographers, it was the Rev. John Thompson, crisply English and bustling practical, who descended on them, checked off their names in a notebook and led them away like so many sheep.

After a night under this kindly but somewhat austere roof Matt sneaked away in the morning to try to pawn his ring. He hated to part with it, yet what else was he to do? He had not even an overcoat, and here it was January and piercingly cold. He had nothing—not a toothbrush, not a spare shirt.

His chief preoccupation, however, was more to avoid being cheated in the disposal of the ring, for, though he had little knowledge of jewels, the stone seemed to him of unusual fire and purity and evidently was very valuable.

He determined to pick out the biggest and most fashionable jewelry store and, explaining his position, ask the favor of their expert advice. They might be obliging enough to tell him what the gem was worth and thus help him materially. Matt knew San Francisco well and accordingly chose Sneed & Hargreaves for his objective. His entrance, which he attempted to make as inconspicuous as possible, caused an undercurrent of commotion in this splendid establishment. As he paused at a case of napkin rings, nervously himself for a further advance into the glittering stronghold, he was bumped into by a passing gentleman, and as he was receiving the apologies of the passing gentleman a hand from behind felt for a possible revolver or bomb in his rear pocket. It was all so quickly and coolly done that Matt had hardly time to realize he was under suspicion.

A large, imposing mirror gave him the clue, for there, at full length, he saw what a deeply tanned wild haired, ragged desperado he appeared and saw also with the toll of his eye a scurry of pale employees to guard the exits and block his escape.

Flushing to the eyes, more with shame than anger, and still closely followed by the store detectives, he made his way to the nearest clerk.

LUCERO SENTENCED.

Gets Year to Eighteen Months in Prison. Appealed to Supreme Court. Motion for New Trial is Denied by Judge Abbott.

Jose P. Lucero, member of the first legislature from Rio Arriba county, who was convicted of bribery in connection with the election of a United States senator last year, was sentenced last Thursday afternoon by Judge Abbott to not less than one year nor more than eighteen months in the state penitentiary.

E. L. Davies, attorney for Lucero, made a motion for a new trial, which motion was denied. An appeal to the supreme court was granted and bond was fixed in the sum of $2,500.

Attorney Davies suggested that as this was the first case to come up under the constitutional provision concerning bribery of members of the legislature, a penitentiary sentence was not demanded. He thought that a fine would be sufficient.

Judge Abbott did not look at the matter in the same light as the attorney for the defendant and thought that the time had come in New Mexico when bribery must stop and the guilty be brought to justice, and he proceeded to back up his opinion by administering a dose of justice to Mr. Lucero which will doubtless have the effect of permanently curing him of all desire in the future to earn an honest dollar by selling his vote.

Killing at Toyah.

The report reached Toyah this week that Lee and Joe Kingston had killed one Mexican and seriously wounded another. The story goes that the boys were requested to attend a "baile" of the Mexicans and assist in maintaining peace that the "baile" might be pulled off in decent order. It seems there is two factions of the Mexican population in Toyah Creek and the one cannot pull off any amusements without the interference of the opposing faction and the best of the lawabiding faction asked that these boys be present in order to preserve the peace and dignity of the occasion. Shortly after the big "baile" began the opposing faction started "something" and one of the Kingston boys in trying to stop the disturbance was struck over the head with a six shooter and practically put out of commission for the time. The fighting faction then secured the saddle horses of the Kingston boys and left for their home. These boys secured horses and followed the Mexicans to a tent where they were camping and called to them to come out, they refused and began to hustle around in such a manner as to make the boys believe they were again going to fight and then is the time the big thing came off which resulted in the killing of one Mexican outright and seriously wounding another.

While the Enterprise was unable to substantiate this report, the people of Toyah believe it is in a manner true and lay no blame to the Kingston boys who are quiet, peaceable citizens and of one of the best families in the county. The difficulty arose and ended Jeff Davis county and it is said the boys phoned to the sheriff of that county telling him what had occurred and to come after them.—Toyah Enterprise.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

First Importations Under New Law Made by Dealers Yesterday.

$9,000 SAVED ON SHIPMENTS

Revised Schedules Cut Off Chief Receipts, and Reduce Others—Cobb Officially Notified.

—El Paso Times.

Collector of Customs Zach L. Cobb was notified officially yesterday morning of the enactment of the tariff bill in a message received from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. The bill went into effect yesterday morning.

Besides placing cattle and lumber and many other articles on the free list, the law reduces the duty on nearly all commodities that compose a great part of the importations through the local port.

Collector Cobb in the instructions from the Treasury Department was ordered to collect the duties as usual on importations for a week or two, but these taxes will be refunded to the importers later on.

Importations of cattle and lumber from Mexico are expected to increase greatly as a result of free entry. These two items have been the chief ones on the importation records here for years. El Paso has held the record in the customs department for larger total importation of cattle than any other of the United States ports.

With the opening up of the Madera properties this port is rapidly approaching first rank as a lumber port.

Cattlemen have been holding back thousands of head of Mexican cattle for weeks awaiting the enactment of the new tariff bill in order to import the stock duty free. This means a saving of thousands of dollars for the importers. The Cameron Cattle company has 5,000 head of Mexican cattle ready to import and on these cattle there will be a saving of about $25,000.

The first cattle importations under the new law were made yesterday by the Bank of Sonora and J. F. Williams, who entered 1,500 head, and by Pedro Abregado, who brought in 265 head. They were required to pay the duty yesterday on this stock out it will be refunded to them in a week or two. The bank of Sonora saved about $7,500 by holding the cattle until the enactment of the law, and Abregado saved about $1,500.

The duty on cattle under the old act was fourteen and one-half cents ad valorem on stock valued at over $14 a head, making an average duty of about $5 a head. Calves under one year of age were entered at $2 per head and on cattle not valued over $14 a head the duty was $3.75.

The El Paso Milling Company, Ltd., and the Madera Company, Ltd., which do the greatest amount of lumber importing through the El Paso port, will benefit greatly with lumber on the free list. At times they have imported millions of feet of lumber daily and have paid duties ranging from $1.25 upward a thousand feet.

The markets, too, will be benefited by the tariff act, as there is a considerable reduction on vegetables, meats, fruits and other food stuffs. The duty on live chickens, which were entered under a tax of three cents per pound, has been reduced to one cent per pound. Eggs, which formerly were taxed at five cents per dozen, have been placed on the free list. All vegetable import duties have been reduced from twenty-five to fifteen cents.

A decided reduction on lemons, limes, oranges and fruit to almost half the former rate has been made. Taxes on olives in gallon quantities have been reduced from twenty-five to fifteen cents, and apples, peaches, quinces and pears, which formerly were taxed twenty-five cents a bushel, can now be entered at ten cents a bushel.

The duty on horses and mules, which formerly was $30 a head, has been changed to ten per cent of their value.

The new tariff law requires the importers to declare their commodities at the regular ports of entry as before, whether the goods are dutiable or not. The custom official can seize anything whether it is on the free list or not, if it is not regularly declared. Even the returning of American-made goods to the United States after being exported to other countries must be done through the customs channels.

Many Cattle are Now Being Shipped.

There was a number of interstate shipments of cattle through El Paso Saturday afternoon. At the Union stockyards four cars of mixed cattle, principally steers, are being shipped by T. J. Donahue from Nogales, Ariz., to his ranch, at Bonesteel, S. D.

A car of beef cattle is at the Union yards, having been shipped here by Ed Timberlake, of Hachita, N. M.

J. C. Peyton received four cars of fat cattle from Hachita, N. M.

One car of sheep is at the Union yards, being shipped by A. H. Anderson from Lake View, N. M., to his ranch at Sanderson, Texas.

Pedro Abregado brought a herd of 265 mixed cattle across from Juarez Saturday. The cattle are for the El Paso smelter.

A herd of 202 cattle from Chihuahua was brought across the border from Juarez Saturday by the Cameron Cattle company.—El Paso Herald.

E. C. Lamb of Dayton traded his big seven passenger Pope auto to Ohnemus & Weaver Tuesday for six head of cows and ten head of horses. The auto was valued at $1,500.

Whiteside & Brownlee of Artesia sold to E. M. Childers of San Angelo, Texas, 1,000 stock sheep. The deal was closed Tuesday through C. W. Lewis, the commission man. The bunch consisted of 500 each, lambs and old ewes and the price paid was $2.25 per head.

Express Rates in New Mexico are Reduced.

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 6.—Reductions in the express rates both interstate and intrastate ranging from 25 to 60 per cent, have been agreed upon between the state corporation commission and the Wells Fargo, Adams, Globe and United States Express companies all operating in New Mexico, and the new tariff will go into effect in from sixty to ninety days.

A Tidal Wave.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Every available government wireless was sputtering out messages towards Alaska today calling for report on the destructive storm at Nome. One brief reply came from the Nome life saving station saying the water front had been devastated in a tidal wave.

The Red Cross appeared to extend its aid as soon as the needs could be learned. The revenue cutter Bear, now at Nome, has a capacity for bringing about 150 people to sea. Officers here thought steamships which weathered the gale in the sea out of Nome would bring others.

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 7.—The storm is abating. Three unidentified bodies have been washed ashore. Five hun-

Cheerfulness is a gospel that every woman should possess; it is worth more than creed or dogma. Ask the man who fights the hard battles of life what it means to go home to the cheerful wife. Cheerfulness is a jewel either in prosperity or adversity. A low-spirited, fault-finding wife can kill the last bit of hope and enthusiasm remaining in a troubled heart, while the cheerful, hopeful one leads it to press on to begin over again with a "heart for any fate". The prime requisite to success and happiness is cheerfulness.—Socorro Chieftain.
