by Kelleen Maluski on March 16th, 2021 | 0 Comments

Our last PubMed Like a Pro class of the semester is Wednesday, March 24th from 12-1pm. You can find more information and register on our events calendar.

Not sure how to use PubMed? Been using PubMed for a while but want to learn about the more advanced features? Come to this online workshop to learn how to navigate PubMed and pick up some advanced tricks in the process. This workshop is appropriate for any level of PubMed user (even if you've never used it before) and will review how to utilize keyword and MeSH searching, narrowing your results, creating alerts, saving searches, and more. All registrants will be sent a Zoom link previous to the class. If you have questions or want to schedule a workshop for another time or for your class please reach out to Kelleen Maluski, Student Success and Engagement Librarian. You can see our PubMed Guide for more information.
