LEWIS AND MOORE SHOT

FATAL SHOOTING TAKES PLACE IN SELEN SALOON.

One Man Killed Instantly and Another Mortally Wounded in Encounter With Bartender.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Belen, N. M.—Richard Lewis of Gallup, is dead, and Henry Moore of Plainview, Neb., was mortally wounded as the result of an encounter with Charles Murray, bartender of the Brick saloon in this city. After the shooting Murray was arrested and taken to Los Lunas, where he will be given a preliminary hearing.

The circumstances surrounding the tragedy are not definitely known, as the slayer refused to make any statement other than that he had to kill the two men. It is understood that Murray had closed the saloon and gone to lunch, and that upon his return he found Lewis and Moore inside. Only the three men were present when the difficulty took place, consequently the facts surrounding the occurrence will not be known until they are brought out on the trial.

Lewis was shot through the heart and died instantly. Moore received two wounds, one in the abdomen and one in the left forearm. The wound in the abdomen was so serious that Moore was taken to an Albuquerque hospital, where he died.

Lewis is survived by a wife and two children, who live in Gallup.

Oats, rye, barley and spring and winter emmer will account for the most of the balance of the land farmed.

There is now considerable speculation as to whether or not a further attempt to convict Smith will be made.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin drinking phosphated hot water. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your druggist or storekeeper a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish tinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.—Adv.

Alaska Rich in Furs.

Alaska is the great fur-bearing section of the United States. It produces about $1,000,000 worth of furs annually. These include all varieties, from squirrel pelts of an average value of 3 cents each to black fox pelts at from $250 to $1,250 each. The fur output in 1913 included 2,600 bear skins valued at over $23,000 at from $9 for brown bear skins to $40 for the grizzly or polar bear. The greatest fur market of the United States is at St. Louis, but of the world is at London. The war in Europe has cut the price of Alaska furs about 50 per cent this year. Some fox pelts bring very high prices and are much sought after.—Leslie's.

Our Little City Illuminated

On last Friday night the Lovington Electric Light Company, the only inland (off the railroad) electric light plant in New Mexico, put on their first test with a line-up of 75, 40 Watt and two arc street lights in full glow. It was a pretty sight and looked quite civilized and went through without a hobble.

Our citizens as well as the proprietor, Mr. F. E. Beckwith, are proud of this achievement and he has worked hard to make this system as up-to-date and as good as you will find in our larger cities. Hence one more step in the advancement of our town has come to stay. Other investments are being talked of in our town which we will speak of later, when a little nearer materialization.

We noted some Florida brand tomatoes together with some fresh lettuce, onions, and radish on display at the Lovington Mercantile Co. this week which looked like summer time.

However, a few of our people have had lettuce, celery, green asparagus, snap beans, and a few other things for their home tables.

Candidates in Lead Up to 3 p. m. May 10.

While the complete returns have not yet been received for yesterday's primary election, the totals now published declare very definite results concerning some of the most important offices. The judges for precinct number two completed the count of the ballots this morning about 10:00 o'clock, and these are published in full in today's paper. The count of the ballots was still in progress for precinct number one and it is not expected that the totals of this box will be available until late this afternoon. So far as could be ascertained from the returns, J. S. Lea receives the nomination for State Senator with a safe majority. The votes for representatives are close and it will probably which of the four candidates will receive the nomination out of the four in the race.

In the district race, Dave leads by a big plurality but hases county, and it is considered that he will receive a plurality of 1000 votes in this and Eddy county.

Ballard is apparently leading with a safe majority in the race for county clerk.

Davidson is conceded the nomination for treasurer by a handsome majority. Bordeaux is high man for assessor and his opponents in the race do not anticipate breaking his lead, as many of plains precincts are to be heard from, all conceded to be his strong holds.

Rector is walking away with the returns in the sheriff's race, and his nomination is determined beyond the peradventure of a doubt.

Mrs. Hayes is easily the winner in the contest for county school superintendent and the completed returns will declare her nomination by a big plurality.

Mell is thought to have received the nomination for probate judge.

In the commissioners race for precinct number one J. P. Stone is leading against his opponent W. M. Atkinson with a majority which makes his nomination certain.

In the commissioners race for precinct number two Lusk is expected to receive the nomination by a decided majority.

In the commissioners race for precinct number three, it is conceded that Curry will receive the nomination.

Eccles is taking a big lead for surveyor and his nomination is certain. - Roswell Evening News.

Mothers Day

A Proclamation By The Governor
The light that shines through the mother love from the mother's eyes is reflected in the lives of all true men and women who have learned and not forgotten the command of God and nature to honor thy mother. Poor indeed is he who has forgotten.

It is well that we dedicate a day to reflect on the power of motherhood, to recall blessings bestowed in the past and to swear allegiance anew to greatest force that makes for good citizenship in the domain of weak man.

Therefore, I, William C. McDonald, Governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby designate Sunday, May 15th, as Mothers Day.

In response to a resolution of the Congress of the United States I request that the people of New Mexico display the United States Flag on the public buildings and at all other suitable places, "as a public expression of their love and reverence for the mothers of our country."

In family circle and in public meetings may young and old consider mother as she affects the well being of our people and nation. Continued on column 5.

THE NEBRASKA JOURNAL

(FROM THE NEBRASKA JOURNAL.)

The Nebraska State Journal calls attention to the fact that Uncle Sam's opening of a 4,000-acre tract in the North Platte irrigation district for settlement practically winds up the "free land distribution" of the nation. It adds:

"Free or cheap land has been the American safety valve. A population straining for self-betterment has had its own remedy—to go west and grow up with the country. With the government reduced to advertising an opening of forty-three farms, the safety valve may be considered forever closed. The expansive energy formerly exerted outward, must hereafter work itself out intensively, increasing land speculation, with rapidly rising prices of land and proportionately increasing dissatisfaction among the landless would seem inevitable. The tone of our politics and the intensity of our social problems cannot but be vitally changed under the strain of dealing internally with a social pressure which hitherto has had the wilderness to vent itself upon."

"Land hunger will soon become a reality in this rapidly growing country and the constant pressure of population, increasingly higher than the ratio of production, is bound to bring us face to face with economic problems that we have heretofore considered remote. The far-sighted statesman and publicist must devote his thought earnestly to the consideration of these questions if we are to escape the extremes which curse the older nations of the world."

In the above will be found one of the reasons that the Canadian Government is offering 160 acres of land free to the actual settler. There is no dearth of homesteads of this size, and the land is of the highest quality, being such as produces yields of from 30 to 60 bushels of wheat per acre, while oats run from fifty to over hundred bushels per acre. It is not only a matter of free grants, but in Western Canada are also to be had other lands at prices ranging from $12 to $30 per acre, the difference in price being largely a matter of location and distance from railway. If one takes into consideration the scarcity of free grant lands in the United States it is not difficult to understand why there has been most material advances in the price of farm lands.

A few years ago, land that now sells for two hundred dollars an acre in Iowa, could have been bought for seventy-five dollars an acre or less. The increased price is warranted by the increased value of the product raised on these farms. The lands that today can be had in Western Canada at the low prices quoted will in a less time than that taken for the Iowa lands to increase, have a proportionate increase. In Nebraska the lands that sold for sixteen to twenty dollars per acre seven years ago, find a market at one hundred and seventy-five dollars an acre, for the same reason given for the increase in Iowa lands. Values in these two States, as well as in others that might be mentioned, show that Western Canada lands are going at a song at their present prices. In many cases in Western Canada today, there are American settlers, who realize this, and are placing a value of sixty and seventy dollars an acre on their improved farms, but would sell only because they can purchase unimproved land at such a low price that in another few years they would have equally as good farms as they left or such as their friends have in the United States.

The worth of the crops grown in Western Canada is of higher value than those of the States named, so why should the land not be worth fully as much. Any Canadian Government Agent will be glad to give you information as to homestead lands or where you can buy—Advertisement.

AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat or chicken. From 178 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."—Mrs. J. S. Barlow, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Teutons Claim That President Seeks to End German Method of Warfare While Merely Protest- ing Against England's Violations of Neutrality.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Berlin (by wireless via Sayville, N. Y.), May 6.—Following is the text of the note of the German government in reply to the American note respecting submarine warfare, delivered on Thursday by Gottlieb von Jagow, the foreign secretary, to Ambassador Gerard.

The undersigned, on behalf of the imperial German government, has the honor to present to his excellency, the ambassador of the United States, James W. Gerard, the following reply to the note of April 26, regarding the conduct of German submarine warfare.

The German government has been over to the proper naval authorities for early investigation of the evidence concerning the Sussex as communicated by the government of the United States. Judging by the results that the investigation has hitherto yielded, the German government is alive to the possibility that ship having been torpedoed by a German submarine is actually identical with the Sussex.

The German government begs to re-assert its position on the matter until certain points are ascertained, which are of decisive importance for establishing the facts of the case. Should it turn out that the commander was wrong in assuming the vessel to be a man of war, the German government will not fail to draw the consequences resulting therefrom.

The Sussex Case.

In connection with the case of the Sussex, the government of the United States made a series of statements the gist of which is the assertion that the incident is to be considered but one instance of a deliberate and indiscriminate destruction of vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations, by German submarine commanders.

The German government must emphatically repudiate the assertion. The German government has no intention of entering into details in the present stage of affairs, more particularly as the government of the United States has not yet substantiated the assertion by reference to concrete facts.

The German government will only state that it has imposed far-reaching restraints upon the use of the submarine weapon, solely in consideration of neutrality, and in spite of the fact that these restrictions are necessarily of advantage to Germany's enemies. No such consideration has ever been shown by Great Britain and her allies.

The German government orders to conduct the submarine warfare in accordance with the general principles of visit and search and the right of capture, and while making compliance with these demands a condition for maintenance of relations with Germany, confines itself to one instance of deliberate methods adopted by Germany's enemies.

Moreover, the German people know to what considerable extent their enemies are supplied with all kinds of war material from the United States.

It will therefore be understood that the German government is not inclined to the United States to sentiments of humanity and principles of international law, and under the circumstances, must the same behavior be expected from the German people which such an appeal otherwise always is certain to find here.

If the German government, nevertheless, is resolved to go to the utmost limit of what is possible, it has been guided not alone by the friendship connecting the two great nations for over one hundred years, but also by the knowledge that the world which threatens the entire civilized world, should the cruel and sanguinary war be extended and prolonged.

The German government, conscious of Germany's strength, twice within the last few months announced before the world that it was ready to accept, on a basis safeguarding Germany's vital interests, that it would withdraw from the nations of Europe.

The German government feels all the more strongly in declaring that it is ready to accept the same behavior from the German people which such an appeal otherwise always is certain to find here.

Warning to All Ships Ordered.
The German government, guided by this idea, notifies the government of the United States that German naval forces have received the following order:

In accordance with the general principles of visit and search and the destruction of merchant vessels recognized by international law, such vessels, notwithstanding the fact that they have been declared a naval zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives unless the ship is found to be carrying contraband.

But neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for existence, will for the sake of neutral interests, restrict the use of an effective weapon, or if the enemy is permitted to continue to apply all methods of warfare violating the principles of international law.

Such a demand would be incompatible with the character of neutrality, and the German government is convinced that the government of the United States does not think of making such a demand. The fact that the government of the United States repeatedly declared that it is its intention to restore the free trade of the world from which a quarter it has been violated.

Accordingly, the German government is confident that the consequences of the new orders issued to the naval forces of the government of the United States will be considered all impediments removed, which may have been in the way of mutual cooperation toward restoration of the freedom of the seas.

The German government, however, insists that the British government shall forthwith observe the rules of international law universally recognized, and that it shall lay down in the notes presented by the government of the United States to the British government, dated November 28, 1914, and November 5, 1915.

Should steps taken by the government of the United States not attain the object it desires, to have the law of humanity followed by all belligerent nations, the German government will be forced to reserve to itself complete liberty of action.

The undersigned avails himself of this opportunity to renew to the American ambassador assurances of his highest consideration.

Guilty of Lying Washington.
Tacoma, Wash.—A verdict of guilty was returned by a Superior Court jury that for four days had been sitting in the trial of Paul H. Haffer, accused of libeling the memory of George Washington. The maximum penalty for the offense under a state statute, is one year in the county jail, a fine of $1,000, or both. Col. Albert E. Joab, caused Haffer's arrest, after the latter had sent a letter to a newspaper referring to Washington as a "blatant phony."

Rancher Kills Bear With Pistol.
Wheatland, Wyo.—D. R. MacFarlane brought to town the hide of a 500-pound black bear which he killed with a six-shooter on Lee mountain. The animal was the largest of its variety ever killed in this section. MacFarlane encountered it while searching for cattle, and although armed only with a .38-caliber revolver attacked it. The bear attempted to escape, but when wounded by MacFarlane's first shot turned and charged him. He fired three more bullets, the fourth bullet killing it.

Oil Prospects Near Casa, N. M.
Casa, N. M.—Recent developments show that the question of the existence of oil in the Rio Puerco valley in the vicinity of Casa, N. M., is again being considered by oil men. An oil expert, representing a backer of no mean financial capacity, is at present at Casa endeavoring to lease as much land as possible for the organization he represents, and states that if he succeeds in obtaining enough acreage drilling will commence and the field will be thoroughly explored.

no reason to believe for the Germans and British to destroy and non-combatants. The sinking of the Lusitania was a severe blow to the United States.

In self defense against the illegal conduct of the German government, the United States is justified in taking a similar course for national defense. Germany had to resort to the use of the submarine as a weapon of war.

Anger on British Blockade.
As matters stand, the German government cannot but regret the regret that the government of the United States extends with such fervor to the unhappy victims of submarine warfare.

The German government, in agreement with the German people, falls to understand the discrimination of all the more as it has repeatedly and explicitly declared itself ready to use the submarine weapon in strict conformity with the rules of international law, as recognized before the outbreak of the war. If Great Britain likewise was ready to adapt the conduct of warfare to these rules.

Several attempts made by the government of the United States to exert pressure on the British government to act accordingly failed because of flat refusal on the part of the British government.

Moreover, Great Britain again and again has violated international law, by imposing all kinds of restrictions on the neutral rights.

The latest measure adopted by Great Britain declaring German bunker coal contraband and establishing conditions under which English bunker coal shall be supplied to neutrals is nothing but an unheard-of attempt by way of coercion to force neutral tonnage into the service of British trade war.

Declares the U. S. is Not Fair.

The German people know that the government of the United States has the power to confine the war to armed forces of the belligerent countries in the interest of humanity and maintenance of international law.

The government of the United States would have been justified in claiming this end had it been determined to insist against Great Britain on the inalienable rights to freedom of the seas.

But as matters stand, the German people are under the impression that the United States is not fair in demanding that Germany struggling for existence shall restrain the use of the submarine weapon, and while making compliance with these demands a condition for maintenance of relations with Germany, confines itself to one instance of deliberate methods adopted by Germany's enemies.

Moreover, the German people know to what considerable extent their enemies are supplied with all kinds of war material from the United States.

It will therefore be understood that the German government is not inclined to the United States to sentiments of humanity and principles of international law, and under the circumstances, must the same behavior be expected from the German people which such an appeal otherwise always is certain to find here.

ASTONISHED BLASE NEW YORK

Band Playing on Roof of High Building Caused Crowd to Gather in Trinity Square.

People out at noon on the other day—that is, those who happened to be near Trinity churchyard—were entertained not too lavishly by a five-piece brass band. It was not stationed on one of the corners for the purpose of gathering a crowd to be talked at on "How to Reduce Your Taxes" or "Why Bookkeepers and Stenographers Should Organize a Union." This band was higher up. It was, in fact, on the roof of one of the tall buildings in Trinity square, says the New York Evening Post.

It was the sound of a cornet floating down that first attracted attention and set people below craning their necks out of joint. Finally they made out the group of men aloft on the roof, each with a brass instrument and a leader standing in front going through the customary gestures. The music came down in gusts and stray strains, so much of it was lost that it wasn't always possible to make out what the air was. Naturally such a crowd assembled in front of Trinity that the temporary bridge which spans Broadway at this point began to threaten collapse, and a rude policeman said "Move on" and insisted on being obeyed. What the band was doing up there remained a mystery. But there it was.

Monotonous Introductions.

There is a remarkable monotony about the openings of speeches in the house of commons. On Wednesday 45 speeches (not counting brief efforts in the way of interjections) were delivered, and in 30 cases the speeches began with the first person singular. Only 15 members could think of anything more original. One was Mr. Warnick Brookes, but even his maiden speech began: "In rising to say a few words, I should like," etc. An analysis shows that "I beg" was used four times. So was "I should like." "I am sure" and "I wish" were each the opening of three members. "I would like," "I think" and "I desire" had two each. "I hope," "I do not rise," "I should not," "I want to ask," "I was hoping," "I do not wish," "I have not," "I associate myself," "I agree," "I am quite sure," and "I acknowledge" were each used once.—Manchester Guardian.

"I suppose you have your private cemetery filled with persons who have differed with you in the past?" "Oh, no. American humorists have given you the wrong impression of journalism in the West. While I keep a six-shooter on my desk, I merely use it as a paperweight."

Yes, Verily.
