Discover a Database: MedEdPORTAL

by Kelleen Maluski on February 8th, 2021 | 0 Comments

Looking for health education teaching materials? Want to find a place where you can view lesson plans along with assessment of the course and evidence based practice? MedEdPORTAL is a great place to start! MedEdPORTAL “promotes educational scholarship and collaboration by facilitating the open exchange of peer-reviewed health education teaching and assessment resources.” This open-access resource can assist you in building curriculum, learning about health education, and is a great place to think about publishing your own work. MedEdPORTAL also has sections specifically for Anti-Racism, COVID-19 Virtual Learning, and Diversity, Inclusion, and Health Equity. Be sure to check out this incredible resource from our Databases page and let us know if you have any questions by reaching out on our Ask a Librarian page.
