Walter Winans, Eng. The most famous shot in Europe with hand and shoulder arms.

Two World's Records in One Day with the .22 Savage Hi-Power

At the Bisley Matches of the British National Rifle Association—the biggest rifle match in the world—the .22 Savage Hi-Power rifle and Savage ammunition in the hands of Mr. Walter Winans on July 25, 1914, made the highest possible score on the Running Deer target—six straight 5's. This is a World's record.

On the same day, with the same rifle and ammunition, Mr. Winans made the highest possible score on the Running Wild Boar target—six straight 5's. Another World's record.

This merely clinches what other shooters have proved—that the Imp's wonderful accuracy (25 consecutive shots in a 20-inch circle at 500 yards), tremendous velocity (2800 feet—more than half a mile—a second), long point blank range (3000-yard trajectory less than three inches), and trifling recoil (4.6 foot pounds) make it easier to hit moving game with than any other rifle.

And it has killed Alaskan Brown Bear, Grizzly, Buffalo, and man-eating tiger, besides the deer and black bear it was originally designed for.

Write us for particulars about "the biggest little gun in the world."

OBITUARY.

Again the death angel has been in our midst and taken from us the darling little son of Thomas L. Carden and wife. After an illness of about three weeks he peacefully passed away from this earth on the evening of Friday February 26th 1915 at the age of three years and three days.

Funeral services were conducted at their home Saturday by Rev. Masterson after which the body was laid to rest in the San Jon cemetery.

He leaves a heart broken father, mother, three brothers and two sisters to mourn his loss. No one will mourn his loss so truly as you. But remember, the Savior said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." And it only makes Heaven nearer, for a precious jewel has gone on before. No more will you hear that pleasant voice or the patter of his little feet for a place is vacant in your home which can never be filled. But the relatives have the consolation of knowing that little Westley has gone to that Heavenly home where there is no sickness or death. Oh may we all by his grace divine be prepared to meet our God in peace where parting is no more. The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Two little hands laid o'er his breast,
Two little feet laid down to rest,
Two little eyes in slumber closed,
How our hearts bleed,
There's none but God knows,
One little tongue that prattled in love
Now is singing with angels above,
Where he is watching and waiting for them
When they shall cross the dark rolling sea.

Many Wonders in Washington's Botanical Garden

WASHINGTON.—Washington has a botanical garden of plant valuables and plant curiosities. It occupies a patch of land, entirely inadequate, the plant experts say, on Pennsylvania avenue almost directly in front of the capitol.

Representative James L. Slayden of Texas has introduced a bill for the removal of the garden to Rock Creek park and the transfer of its control to the department of agriculture.

Visitors to Washington always are interested in the botanical garden. Curiosities and wonders, too, make the place of sharp interest not only to botanists, but to laymen.

The Hottentot ordeal tree will interest students of savage jurisprudence to whom Superintendent

Hess will show the little nuts growing on the tree and explain that the Hottentots made persons accused of crime eat them as a test of their innocence. As the nuts are deadly poison and the accused usually died, the trial, it will be seen, was exceedingly simple.

Bridal couples usually are shown the "mother-in-law plant," so named, it is said, because if a person breaks off a leaf and touches it to the tongue, speech is lost for nine days. One of the employees once experimented by stuffing a leaf in his mouth, whereupon the tongue so swelled that it protruded from the mouth and closed it. The man was rushed to a hospital but the plant made good its dread reputation by keeping him ill for the appointed nine days.

One of the greatest curiosities in the great greenhouse is a creeping fig, a little plant with leaves about the size of a dime and a stem no larger than one's little finger. This stem, coming up out of a bed beside a huge granite block upon which rests a large tub of earth, forced its way under the block, lifting several hundred pounds to make room for itself, and came out on the other side. It then wandered all over the block, carpeting it completely with its tiny leaves of green.

The lace or lattice leaf plant of Madagascar lives in the water and looks like a piece of beautiful "drawn work" that some careless visitor had accidentally dropped there.

"Made in America" Gets Impetus in Washington

"MADE in America" is receiving a big impetus and those who have given magic association to the words "foreign" or "imported" are in a fair way to change their point of view.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of the vice-president, and Mrs. P. R. McCumber, wife of the senator from North Dakota, with Mrs. Ollie James of Kentucky and other leaders of official Washington, have all declared that the importance which has heretofore been attached to foreign manufactured goods has been largely psychological, and that not all of their popularity has foundation in fact, and that they intend to do their utmost to relieve the masses of the American people of that silly prejudice which has grown so strongly on them.

Among the Washingtonians who joined this movement are Miss Julia Marlowe, the actress; Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, Mrs. Thomas K. McLaughon, Mrs. George Howard, Mrs. Edward Mitchell, Mrs. Reynolds Hitt, Mrs. Robert Roosevelt, Mrs. Mark Hanna, Mrs. D. A. Blodgett, Mrs. J. B. Aleshire and Mrs. William L. Marshall.

The National Made in U. S. A. league, which has its headquarters in Washington, does not compel its members to sign a pledge, or to limit themselves to any action more definite than preference of American products, if they come within the taste, or the means of the individual purchaser.

"To my mind," stated one of the honorary patronesses. "It is exactly similar to the purchase in your home town agitation which is so common in many of our thrifty rural centers. When it covers the whole United States, it is larger in aspect, but in principle virtually the same. It is a good thing to encourage American business and to furnish employment for all."

Parcel Post Ice Boxes for Perishable Commodities

ALTHOUGH there is now no obstacle to the construction by the post office department of cold storage facilities to take care of perishable parcel post shipments, according to decision of controller of the treasury, it was declared that there are to be no radical steps taken to equip post offices with either elaborate cold storage plants or ice boxes.

Postmaster Praeger at Washington did not wait for a decision as to whether the department had authority to build cold storage plants. He just took materials from his building, used his own forces and has constructed one at the post office near the Union station, where perishable products which cannot be delivered immediately are stored until they can be delivered.

The question of cold storage first came up at Denver. At that place there is a railroad running out of the mountain city approximately 256 miles in length, over which there are only two trains a day, one of which leaves about eight o'clock in the morning. It runs over a desert country, where it is difficult to keep the perishable products, in view of the fact that in order to catch the trains it is necessary to mail the parcel post matter at the Denver post office in the evening. The perishable shipments total about one ton a day.

It is probable that where conditions require it ice boxes will now be installed, although it is declared to be the desire of the department to educate that part of the public which uses the parcel post for shipping perishable products to ship them at a time when it will not be necessary to have them lie over at any point, and it is the purpose of the department to make deliveries of such shipments as they arrive at the office of destination.

Sees Fortune in the Black Mud of Anacostia Flats

JOHN Martin hammers a typewriter in the press room of the Municipal building and draws a pay from an afternoon newspaper in the daytime; at night he dreams of a fortune in pedigreed corn and potatoes from the black mud of the Anacostia "flats," between the army war college and the government hospital for the insane.

Last summer a fishing expedition took him to the south shore of the eastern branch of the Potomac, where the government has built up acre after acre with mud dredged from the channels of the branch. Congress has been worrying for a long time over the best means of producing revenue from these flats, and when the district commissioners were asked to pass on the question of leasing these acres of river mud for five years Martin got the tip and, having some money laid by, decided to go into agriculture.

Having leased the land for five years, he consulted the agricultural department and was advised to plant corn because there was so much acid in the soil. Martin chartered a negro and two mules and some farm machinery and started ploughing his land in the fall, and the department told him where to buy his corn. An expert said: "You buy 30 bushels of very aristocratic, high-toned seed corn and raise a crop of it. Allowing 13 acres for failure, you've still got 100 acres for the good corn, which ought to average around one hundred and fifty bushels to the acre. This will make 75 bushels of shelled corn to the acre, and with such corn finding a ready market at $2 a bushel you ought to clean up about fifteen thousand dollars gross on your first crop. Your second crop, of potatoes, should get you about twenty thousand dollars gross."

WHEN SUNSHINE HITS THE TRENCHES

TURNED RAGE TO LAUGHTER

How Resourceful Man Saved City of Madrid From Fury of Revolutionary Mobs.

It was in the year 1868, after a battle in the Spanish revolution of that year, and the streets of Madrid were filled with angry crowds that were bent on destroying everything and everyone. Suddenly an unknown man appeared at the city hall.

"Give me a band of musicians," he said, "and before nightfall I shall control all Madrid."

He must have been a man of rare personality to have been able to persuade the authorities in that dark hour to give him anything.

But he got the musicians, and went out with them to wander through the city. While they played, he sang popular street songs, or some old national air. When these bored the listeners, he mounted old boxes and told funny tales.

By nightfall peace reigned in the city, and the mob broke up and went home to bed. The man's name was Felipe Ducazel, and he was only twenty-two years old when he cleverly achieved this result.

We are told a deal about heroic things in saving countries by long, terrible rides at night, or by the sacrifice of oneself by dying in somebody's stead, but few of us hear of anyone who saved a town by laughter. —Youth's Companion.

Napoleon Anecdotes.

"While I was at the military school I tried, I don't know how many times, to overcome the vertigo caused by waltzing without being able to succeed. Our dancing master had advised us when practicing to take a chair in our arms instead of a lady. I never failed to fall down with the chair, which I hugged so affectionately as to break it. The chairs in my room and those of two or three of my comrades disappeared one after another." —Unidentified clipping from a scrapbook.

At Last He Found It.

Irwin Cobb and "Boze" Bulger had a monopoly of all the new darky stories for such a long time that it is a positive pleasure to be able to relate one they have never heard. This one must be credited to a retired officer whose bachelor apartments are presided over by a Virginia cook of the old school. "Cap'n," said she, while serving breakfast, "you all suttin' is lookin' good, raight now."

"Yes, Lucy," he replied. "You see, I'm drinking the right brand of whiskey, now."

Lucy chuckled. Then she said: "Well, Ah mus' say, cap'n, yoh kep' raight on twell yoh foun' hit." —New York Letter to the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Real Warfare.

"Oh, dear, I wish this dreadful war in Europe would stop," said Mrs. Wasserby.

"I feel the same way," answered Mrs. Twobble. "My heart bleeds for the sufferers."

"Of course I'm sorry for everybody who is a victim of the war," said Mrs. Wasserby. "but what I was thinking about at the moment was the effect it's having on our children. My son, Tommy, is leader of the Belgian army in our block, and the last time they had a battle with a German army down the street he came home bruised from head to foot."

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa.—"When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache."

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Horticultural Advice

PRUNING A RASPBERRY BUSH

Canes That Have Borne Fruit Should Be Cut Away Soon as Possible—Overcrowding is Fatal.

(By W. R. GILBERT.)
The raspberry is too often left alone or prepared by rule of thumb methods only.

When this is the case it is useless to look for good crops. The canes that have borne fruit should always be got rid of as soon as they performed this duty.

Choose fine weather for this operation, and leave three or four young shoots to each stool. Manure and let them grow away until spring. Then if they appear very crowded, let the side shoots be shortened back before mid-summer down to about six or eight leaves from the ground.

By doing this the light and air will have free play, and without their beneficial agency no good results can be had.

The canes of the bushes must never be allowed to press one another. When this is the case good fruit is impossible. Overcrowding is fatal to either fruit or flowers.

The great object in pruning is to open the heart of the trees or bush, so as to admit the sunshine and air. The thickest of young suckers should also be removed.

To form a raspberry hedge, plant the canes a foot apart, and train on wires. Cut out those that have borne, and train the young canes so that they are six inches apart.

In regard to varieties, the very large kinds I consider very undesirable, except, as the dealer said, when asked, "What are the utterly useless razors you have to offer made for?" "To sell."

These mammoth varieties look well, but they lack the juice and the peculiarly acid flavor of the raspberry.

PLANT TREES WITH DYNAMITE

Excellent Results Secured at Two New Jersey Experiment Stations—Cost is Little More.

With peach trees planted at the Vineland substation of the New Jersey experiment station, the average growth of the dynamited trees the first season was 794 inches, as compared with an average growth of 655 inches for trees planted in the ordinary way. In all cases the ground was thoroughly plowed before planting.

In another test in the same orchard there was a difference ranging from 652 inches, or over fifty-four feet, of growth to 1,397 inches, or over 116 feet of growth per tree in favor of dynamiting. Similar results were obtained with peaches at New Brunswick, whereas the apple trees showed practically no difference in the amount of growth between the trees planted with dynamite and those planted in the ordinary way. In all the tests made the percentage of trees living through the first season was practically the same under both methods of planting.

The cost of planting was about five cents greater per tree for the dynamited trees. Although no conclusions are drawn from the first year's work, the opinion is expressed that the use of dynamite for planting fruit trees is worthy of a thorough trial.

Apples in Storage.
If the apples in the cellar are not keeping well, carefully sort out every one that has the slightest speck of decay or broken skin, wrap the sound ones in a paper, pack loosely in boxes and barrels and keep them in a cool place.

Second Year Pruning.
Pruning the young tree the second season after setting consists primarily in removing the superfluous branches and in shortening the new growth.

PLAN FOR CLEAN EGGS PREPARE FOWLS FOR MARKET

Sunshine is Necessary for the Health of Laying Hens.

Poultryman Should Follow Nature's Plan and Make Winter Months Comfortable to Fowls—Furnish Plenty of Nests.

(By A. C. SMITH.)
Sunshine is absolutely necessary for the health and vigor of the laying hen. Low windows should be set so that the sun will shine into every part of the house during some part of the day. Roosts should be placed on a level, and not too high, as the hens are apt to injure themselves either by crowding, falling or flying against a projection about the house. Keep the windows in the poultry house clean.

A Trap Nest With Door Closed.

Rub them repeatedly with old newspapers. Sunshine in winter is the greatest of tonics.

When poultrymen and farmers realize that the sooner they follow nature's plan and make the winter months as near like spring and summer months, the sooner they will realize the height of their ambition—winter eggs. Getting winter eggs is really quite easy if given a little thought and study. Using the gray matter in your skull will make you a successful poultryman.

Poultry keepers may easily reduce the percentage of dirty or soiled eggs, and losses entailed to insignificant figures.

First, an ample number of nests is, of course, necessary, but an ample number means no more, than, and probably not as many as, are usually directed by poultry writers. Laying houses are, as a rule, provided with a sufficient number, but where the keeper falls down is in failing to supply enough nesting material and floor litter.

Obviously the nesting material must be clean, or the eggs become soiled by contact, and it must be sufficient in quantity, or the eggs are often broken by dropping upon the hard floor of the nest. In houses where the dropping boards are above the nests, and the custom is to sand the boards, small stones often drop into the nest and breakage results when newly laid eggs fall upon them. The condition of nests should be noticed daily, and the nesting material replenished when necessary. Plenty of nesting material prevents breakage and insures clean eggs.

An ample and clean litter on the floor is also very essential when an A-1 clean product is sought. Particularly is this true when the hens are allowed outdoors during wet weather. The litter acts as a foot mat for the hens on their way to the nests.

Clean eggs bring better prices than dirty ones.

Raise More Sheep.
The domestic wool clip does not begin to satisfy the home demand, and more and more we draw upon the foreign markets for our needs. The remedy is to raise more sheep.

Green Feed for Hens.
Sprouted oats are a splendid green feed for hens in winter and may be quite easily supplied on any farm. They are fed when they have reached a height of about three inches.

Dry-Picking Method Allowable for Broilers Only—Attractively Dressed Poultry Sells Itself.

Either scalding or the dry-picking method can be used for fowls intended for market, but for broilers only the dry-picking method is allowable. A chick only a few weeks old is a very tender bird, but if scalded it will be found impossible to pick it without occasionally rubbing a little of the skin off. These spots will darken and give the broiler a stale look. The scalding will also increase the tendency to decay. With dry picking not only will the bird keep much longer, but the natural firmness of the flesh prevents all fear of skinning.

The more neatly a carcass is dressed, the better the chance to sell it to a good trade. Attractively dressed poultry sells itself, while inferior stuff goes begging.

Dry picked poultry will stand larger shipments than those that are scalded. The carcass should be dressed immediately after being killed. To allow the feathers to remain on for several hours will hasten decomposition.

When scalding poultry for market it is best to first dry-pick the legs, so that they will not necessarily be placed in the water and change color. Neither the heads nor the feet should touch the water. The water ought to be as near the boiling point as possible, without boiling.

Device Shown in Illustration to Prevent Animals From Standing in Gutters With Hind Feet.

are not used. This device works to perfection and sometimes cures cows of the habit.

You will need two pieces of 2 by 4. Cut them to fit your gutter as shown in Fig. 1. Angle off one end so the cow does not lie on a sharp corner, make two half-diamond cuts in these pieces and set in the cross pieces. These are made of 3 by 3 and are securely nailed. If the gutter is very wide you may have to put in three strips, as a cow used to standing in the gutter will soon find she can get her feet down between the strips. If you have two or more cows that have this trick stand them together. You can make the strips long enough for several cows and put extra 2 by 4 pieces in to support the strips. Lift the rack and place it back to the wall before turning out the cows. This device effectively cures your helpers of the habit.

DAIRY NOTES

Keep salt before the cows at all times.

Regularly in feeding is of supreme importance with the dairy cow.

Keep the floors warm. Cold floors cause much loss in milk in winter.

In salting butter one ounce of salt to a pound of butter is generally about right.

Dairy barn ventilation should be furnished by a system, not by cracks and drafts.

The successful dairyman is the man who puts thought into his work. He is a student of conditions.

Now about those cow stables. Don't forget that a hole in the side of the cow barn means a hole in the pocket.

On warm days let the cows out in the yard for a change and to get in the sun. When cold keep them in the stables.

Just can't afford to let the cows lose flesh or get a setback. Remember it costs money to get an animal in good condition.

Many times the cow that does not yield a profit at the pail is just as liberal an eater at the manger as the cow that does make you money every day.

Feed cows daily one pound of grain for every three pounds of milk produced, twenty-five to forty pounds of corn silage, and what clover or alfalfa hay they will eat.

Very frequently a cow that is only fair as to breeding and productive capacity will do better in the hands of a good dairyman than a good cow under poor management.

TO BE MADE AT HOME FOR DESK OR WRITING TABLE

SUGGESTIONS FOR USEFUL AND DAINTY ARTICLES.

Skirt Hanger Need Not Cost Much, and, Prettily Decorated, is an Ornament—Case for the Dollies or Napkins.

The new skirt hangers are as pretty as they are attractive. The hangers are very simple in construction, and any girl may make them and save money by doing so.

For each pair, two medium-sized safety pins, two small ivory rings and nine inches of ribbon a little wider than the length of the safety pins are required. The ribbon is cut into two equal lengths. One end is stitched around the bar of the pin, the other to the ring. The ribbon can be decorated to suit one's fancy. Those that come made up are stamped for embroidery. But one could work an initial, decorate with stencil work, or apply a floral motif, as she pleased.

One and one-half yards of ribbon at 20 cents a yard will make six pairs of hangers—30 cents. One dozen safety pins, five cents, and one dozen rings the same price. Materials for decoration will probably be another ten cents, making the total cost 50 cents.

As fairly firm linen or crash lends itself well for the purpose, stenciling is a fitting decoration. To make a napkin case take two pieces of linen twenty-six inches long and about eight wide. Bind all edges with white linen tape. Then arrange the strips to form a cross and lay in a square of cardboard, where the strips cross. Stitch this in, to form a base. Fold into a bag, but do not sew. Cut one end in flap shape and decorate it as fancy dictates.

To make a doily case take four pieces of linen about twelve inches in diameter and two pieces of cardboard a little smaller. Stencil one piece of the linen or decorate as preferred and cover the cardboards, turning in the edges of the linen and overhanging. Make hinges of ribbon at the back and tie with white ribbons opposite. One-third of a yard of linen forty-eight inches wide or one-half twenty-four inches wide will be required.

Talcum powder boxes are more sightly if covered, and a scrap of leftover linen made into a bag and lightly decorated will make a very attractive cover. The bottom of the bag is double and fitted with a strip of cardboard to form a base. The neck of the bag is drawn up with a ribbon run in and out of eyelet holes near the top.

LIKE UNDERWEAR OF BLACK

French Women Have Taken to Ebon Lingerie, Which Has Much to Recommend It.

Black underwear seems to have an eternal attraction for the Parisienne, and there have been some among our well-dressed women on this side of the Atlantic who have succumbed to its charms and even gone the length of having black silk sheets and pillow cases to match their black silken night dresses. Every now and then this penchant for black crops in, and at present it is asserting itself. It is certainly practical, and in some instances it is pretty.

Some black lingerie seen recently in a French shop in New York was extremely fascinating. Made in the finest and thinnest of black Japanese silk or crepe de chine, each garment was lavishly inset and encrusted with dainty black valenciennes lace, through which a white skin would gleam very alluringly.

There are, of course, many women, especially fair-haired women, to whom black is perhaps more becoming than any color, and to them a few sets of ebon underwear must be irresistible; but to most women a few camisoles of black silk with entredeux of filmy black lace are a useful possession to wear under transparent black blouses or even white ones.

Outing Hat for Spring.
A fine white Milan hat with a turned up brim is so flexible that it may be adjusted at the tilt most becoming to the individual wearer. The only trimming of the hat is a narrow white velvet band around its crown. Such a hat is indispensable for sports wear.

Daintily Designed Blotting Book That Would Make Handsome and Useful Present.

Our sketch shows a blotting book of a particularly pretty and dainty design, and a useful size in which to make it is given at the sides of the illustration.

For the cover, two pieces of stiff cardboard each measuring nine inches by seven inches, are required, and these cards are covered on outer sides with claret-colored silk, the material being turned over at the edges and fastened on inside with a strong adhesive. The inner part of the cover is lined with thin silk of an old gold color, and the edges are finished off with a platted silk cord of a coloring to match, carried into little loops at the corners, turned inward.

On the silk covering the front of the book a very pretty design is worked consisting of a horseshoe composed entirely of tiny green leaves, and in the center of the shoe the initials of the owner may be embroidered in silk of an old gold color and below this the word "Blotter" is worked in silk of a color to match the latter. Ribbon strings are provided to secure the case when closed.

Sheets of blotting paper are cut to fit the interior, folded in the center and secured in place by a fine gold silk cord, which is tied in loops at the back of the book, with ends that hang downwards knotted and frayed out into tassels.

A strip of elastic about half an inch wide may, if liked, be used instead of the cord for holding the blotting paper. This book could, of course, be made on the same lines in a larger or smaller size if desired.

GLOVES IN BLACK AND WHITE

Shortage of Dye Materials Certain to Put the Colored Ones in the Background.

The shortage of dye materials will make the colored glove take a step down from favor. There will be a demand for black and for white gloves.

There will be a general advance in the prices of gloves for the spring, and the wise woman will invest in a supply that will carry her through to the coming season. The shipments from Austria or Belgium will be negligible. There will probably be about the same amount from England, and obviously, the German output will be curtailed. There may be an increase of Italian gloves, and possibly French makers will be able to fill orders. In France there is only about 50 per cent of the factory output now at hand. The smaller makers are virtually closed.

As for fabric gloves, there is an uncertainty that it were well for you to consider. The best fabric gloves are made from cotton that comes from Egypt. This supply is virtually unobtainable during the war. These cottons are used for the yarns that are spun in Germany, and, of course, the German question is unsettled. The other country from which Germany has in the past obtained materials from which to spin yarns is England. That possibility is a closed point.

As for the silk-glove question, the domestic output will perhaps come to the rescue of womankind. If gloves must be worn, the homemade article will probably have to be the approved one. This should stimulate things and give a variety to waiting hands. And it may be that gloveless styles will be adopted; who knows?

PAYS TO BUY GOOD MATERIAL

Cheap Stuff Will Never Give Satisfaction and is Really More Expensive in the End.

Do not make the mistake of exercising false economy on your suits, for false such economy certainly is. Cheap suits never pay, especially for business girls. You give your suits the hardest kind of wear, and if you buy cheap, trashy materials they soon look shiny and shabby.

You should prefer having through the year two or three serviceable suits with plain, smart lines of the best, most durable goods, to five or six flimsy, tawdry frocks at $10 to $12 each, whose cheap imitation of style is lost during the first week's wear.

"But," perhaps you are asking, "how can I afford the best materials on twelve or fourteen dollars a week?" You can, if you start saving early enough, and that is why this little talk is coming to you so soon, so that you may have the opportunity to put by enough of your salary to buy you a really good suit, not a poor imitation. Don't procrastinate with your saving.

Least the Ribbon Slip.
Ribbon often slips out from beading in underwear, causing annoyance, says the New York Sun. To overcome this sew a small lace button on each end of the ribbon or tape; then the end cannot slip.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated give "California Syrup of Figs"

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

When the Laws Met.

The Laws sat about the long green table. All the fundamentals were there save one. Even the decrepit Salic Law was present, dozing between the Mosaic Laws and the Law of Primogeniture.

The chairman, the Law of the Land, called the meeting to order. "Are all present?" he asked.

It was the Blue Laws who responded. "I don't see nothin' of the Law of Nations," he squeaked.

"The Law of Nations has been abolished," the chairman sharply replied. "The business of the convention will now proceed."

Mistaken Diagnosis—Doctors Guess Wrong Again

About five years ago I wrote to you that I had been a terrible sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles, and that my physician informed me that my left kidney was in such condition that there was no hope for my recovery. I was advised to try your Swamp-Root as a last resort, and after taking four fifty-cent size bottles, I passed a gravel stone which weighed ten grains. I afterwards forwarded you this gravel stone. Have had no return of any trouble since that time and cannot say too much in favor of your wonderful preparation, Swamp-Root, which cures, after physicians fail.

Very truly yours,

"And what is that?"

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR DARKENS YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. A "Flying" Malady.

The doctors are puzzled concerning a strange malady that has broken out at more than one aeroplane works and has in one case resulted fatally. The malady in some respects resembles yellow jaundice, and it is, rightly or wrongly, attributed to contact with an aeroplane "dope," or to inhaling its odor.

Further particulars need not at the moment be indicated, but it has been suggested that the source of the trouble may be amyl acetate, which is used as a "dope" solvent. Some mystery attaches to the affair, the precise nature of the malady not having yet been determined, in spite of close examination and analysis; and, of course, until success is attained in this direction no satisfactory precautions or remedy can be devised.

KNOW NOW

And Will Never Forget the Experience. The coffee drinker who has suffered and then been completely relieved by changing from coffee to Postum knows something valuable. There's no doubt about it.

"I learned the truth about coffee in a peculiar way," says a California woman. "My husband who has, for years, been of a bilious temperament decided to leave off coffee and give Postum a trial, and as I did not want the trouble of making two beverages for meals I concluded to try Postum, too. The results have been that while my husband has been greatly benefited, I have myself received even greater benefit."

"When I began to drink Postum I was thin in flesh and very nervous. Now I actually weigh 16 pounds more than I did at that time and I am stronger physically and in my nerves, while husband is free from all his ails."

"We have learned our little lesson about coffee and we know something about Postum, too, for we have used Postum now steadily for the last three years and we shall continue to do so."

"We have no more use for coffee—the drug drink. We prefer Postum and health."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

APPETIZING PREPARATIONS FOR THE COLD DAYS.

All Are Recipes of Recognized Worth and Are Sure to Be Appreciated by the Family or the Household Guests.

Celery Fritters.—Beat one egg until very light; add one-half cupful of sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls of butter, one saltspoonful of salt and enough flour to make almost a drop batter. Beat it thoroughly and let it stand an hour or more to swell the flour. Beat again before using. Cut the celery into inch pieces and cook in boiling water (salted) until tender. Drain and stir it into a fritter batter. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat.

Honey Gingerbread.—Four cupfuls of flour, two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two heaping teaspoonfuls of powdered ginger, half a cupful of Sultana raisins, half a cupful of preserved cherries, a quarter of a cupful of chopped citron peel, half a cupful of butter, three-quarters of a cupful of honey, two eggs, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a cupful of milk. Sift the flour, salt, baking powder and ginger into a basin, add the raisins, the peel and cherries cut in halves. Melt the butter, honey and milk together in a saucepan, then cool and add to the flour with the eggs well beaten. Mix, turn into a buttered and floured cake tin and bake.

Chicken Pot Pie.—Cut and joint a large chicken, cover with water and let it boil gently until tender; season with salt and pepper and thicken the gravy with two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed smooth in a piece of butter the size of an egg. Have ready nice light bread dough, cut with a biscuit cutter, an inch thick; drop this into the boiling gravy, having previously removed the chicken to a hot platter; cover and let them boil for half to three-quarters of an hour. Ascertain they are done, lay them on platter with the chicken, pour over the gravy and serve.

Clams on Toast.—Chop a dozen clams and boil them five minutes in their liquor; drain and add to them two tablespoonfuls of fine crumbs, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste and a gill of milk which one-half tablespoonful of cornstarch has been dissolved. Stir constantly over the fire until the mixture boils, then add a gill of cream; stir for a moment longer and pour upon the toast.

Candied Potato.—Peel and slice thin two or three medium sized potatoes or one large one. Put in a stewpan with enough water to cover. Cook until potatoes can be pierced with a straw, then pour in one cupful of sugar and cook until a thick sirup is formed and the potatoes have a clear look. Do not stir while cooking.

Tongue Fingers.—Fine to use up cold tongue after it has been served hot braised for dinner and then cold sliced, etc. Grate nearly a cupful (over a half) of the remains of a cold tongue very fine and mix it with the yolk of an egg, a large spoonful of cream and finely chopped parsley, dash of salt and pepper. Heat thoroughly and pour on some prepared narrow strips of buttered toast. Then sprinkle thickly with fine bread crumbs stirred in a little melted butter, with a shake of paprika, and brown quickly in a hot oven.

Apple Grunt. This is an old Dutch recipe: Six good-sized apples peeled and sliced, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of sugar, a little salt and cinnamon. Make a dough of one scant pint of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful cream tartar, one-half teaspoonful salt. Rub one-half teaspoonful of shortening into flour and mix with buttermilk or sour milk to make it right to roll. Put one-half of the apples in a deep agate pan or kettle, season with one-half cupful molasses, one-half cupful sugar, salt and cinnamon. Divide the dough into two parts and roll one-half to size to cover apples. Put in another layer of apples with remainder of molasses, sugar, salt and cinnamon. Cover with other half of dough, with slits cut in top. Put in one cupful of hot water, cover closely and cook on top of stove from thirty to forty-five minutes, taking care not to scorch.

Brown Potato Soup. Peel and dice about five medium-sized potatoes and cut up a little celery; cook in salted water until tender. Put into a hot iron skillet a teaspoonful each of butter and nice lard, and when melted rub into it two tablespoonfuls of flour; keep rubbing and stirring this about in the hot pan until well browned and quite granular. Now be sure the soup is bubbling rapidly when the browned flour is to be sifted in slowly while stirring rapidly; allow to boil for a few minutes and serve.

Fish Chops. One can salmon, one-quarter cupful fine bread crumbs, one-half teaspoonful salt, one cupful thick white sauce, one egg well beaten. Pick the fish with a silver fork and mix with sauce and salt. Beat well and form into chops. Dip into egg, then into crumbs and fry.

Golden Buck. Prepare a nice Welsh rarebit, spread on slices of toast and place a poached egg on each slice. Garnish with water cress.

GREAT HELP TO A SICK WOMAN

This Lady Says, "I Cannot Find Words To Express How Thankful I Am To Cardui."

Jonesville, Va.—"I certainly appreciate what Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me," writes Mrs. Owen F. Wells, of this town. "Before I began to take Cardui, I could hardly go about. I had several womanly troubles, which caused me much suffering, and were very troublesome. But now I feel like a different person."

I had often read of Cardui, but had little faith in it. My husband urged me to try it, and now I cannot find words to express how thankful I am. Cardui is a wonderful medicine and I feel that it was a greater help than anything I could have taken.

I had scarcely no pain or suffering at childbirth, and I feel I owe it all to Cardui. I know that no woman would make a mistake in using Cardui at that most critical time. It will save them so much suffering.

It is my sincere desire that this statement may be seen and read by all sufferers who suffer as I did. I am telling all my friends and acquaintances of the great cure I have received.

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, give Cardui a trial. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, to tell of the great benefit that Cardui has been to them. Why shouldn't it help you, too? Try Cardui.—Adv.

Advantage of Silencer. This crash of the bullet makes the value of the Maxim silencer very little, so far as military efficiency is concerned, in the way that the fiction writer imagines the silencer to be useful, but not to prevent the enemy from discovering the position of the men firing as many fancy.

Its value lies in the fact that it eliminates fully half of the recoil of the rifle from the action of the gases in its chambers, and it gives the officers much better control over the fire, because of the lessened noise of the rifles. It cuts down the roar of the Springfield to about the noise of the .25-20 and thus the roar of the rifles at the firing line is much reduced, and the commands of the officers can be heard.—Outing.

Consternation at the Front. "Oh, yes, sir," she replied briskly. "I recommend them all."

"I dunno—sah—I dunno. All I kin say am dat de ole woman give me a dime one day to go down to de stoh and buy her some snuff. I got into a crap game down dar and lost de dime. When I got back home de ole woman says to me:

"'Wha's de snuff, ole man?" "Sunthin' happened to dat dime!" I says: "'You crapped it away, you ole sinner!"

"'No, Linda. A groun'-hawg took arter me and run me for seven miles and ober 'leben fences, and we went so fast dat de dime melted in my pocket."

"I said dat, sah, and when I cum to I had been kicked and pounded and struck and dragged around till it was fo' weeks befo' I could git outer bed. Mebbe it was dat groun'-hawg, and mebbe not. I'ze got a speakin' idea, but I dunno—I dunno!"—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

ONE ON SECRETARY DANIELS

Head of the Navy Evidently Not an Expert as to the Order of Alcoholic Liquors.

A story is going the rounds in Washington about Secretary of the Navy Daniels which may or may not reflect credit on that official, according to the point of view. According to this story the secretary was one morning conferring with an officer and in the middle of his conference interrupted the proceedings to say: "This is the second morning that I have smelled whisky on your breath, sir!"

To which the officer is said to have replied: "I beg your pardon, Mr. Secretary, it was whisky yesterday, but it is gin this morning."

No name has been allowed to leak out in connection with this story, and it may be that there is more fiction than fact in it.—Boston Transcript.

IS EPILEPSY CONQUERED?

New Jersey Physician Said to Have Many Cures to His Credit.

Red Bank, N. J. (Special).—Advices from every direction fully confirm previous reports that the remarkable treatment for epilepsy being administered by the consulting physician of the Kline Laboratories, of this city, is achieving wonderful results. Old and stubborn cases have been greatly benefited and many patients claim to have been entirely cured.

Persons suffering from epilepsy should write at once to Kline Laboratories, Branch 48, Red Bank, N. J., for a supply of the remedy, which is being distributed gratuitously.—Adv.

At Last It's Reached.

Father Vaughan tells a good story of a certain minister who was preaching on "Perfection." "Did you ever know anyone to be perfect?" he asked. "Did you ever read of any man or woman who was quite perfect?"

As he paused and looked around among his audience, a pale-faced woman rose up and said: "Yes, from all accounts, my husband's first wife was perfect."

The Only One. "There goes Rev. Dr. Fourthly, one of our most prominent ministers. He stands on a pinnacle alone."

"Because of his great sanctity?" "No. He's the only minister in town who hasn't preached an antitango sermon."

The day has passed when we can pretend to know things. People want to be shown.

A Draft—You Catch Cold—Then Follows Coughs, Cold Stiff Neck Neuralgia

Especially in the piercing pain of neuralgia or the dull throb of headache is Sloan's Liniment wonderfully relieving. Laid lightly on the part where the pain is felt, it gives at once a feeling of comfort and ease that is most welcome to the overwrought sufferer.

Hear What Others Say: "There are no Liniments that equal Sloan's. My husband has neuralgia very often, he rubs Sloan's on his face and that is the last of it."—Mrs. V. J. Brown, Route 1, Box 121, Halle, Tenn.

"I have used Sloan's Liniment for family use for years and would not be without it. We have raised a family of ten children and have used it for croup and all lung trouble; also, as an antiseptic for wounds, of which children have a great many, it can't be best. My wife sprained her ankle last summer and it was in bad shape. Sloan's Liniment applied enabled her to be as good as ever in a week. I have used it several times for sprains and rheumatism."—John Newcomb, R. R. No. 2, Keokuk, Iowa.
