STILL HOPING FOR STATEHOOD

New Mexico May Vote at Next Presidential Election

ORGANIZE TO FIGHT GRAFT

Frank W. Carpenter Accused of Friar Land Speculation.

Special to The New Mexican.
Washington, D. C., June 12.—It is expected that the final vote on the conservation bill will be taken on Wednesday. The statehood bill is to follow, amendments being pressed to the Senate bill so as to permit the territory to vote for the next President. Colonel W. S. Hopewell left for New York tonight. Carry will go tomorrow night for one day.

Representative Martin is Rampant.
Washington, D. C., June 12.—As the result of information sent to the House on Saturday by the war department, disclosing the alleged fact that Frank W. Carpenter, the executive secretary of the Philippine government, and E. C. Worcester had bought and leased friar lands in the Philippines, Representative Martin of Colorado today introduced a resolution demanding an investigation and charging malfeasance in office. Martin is a Democrat.

May Spread to New Mexico.

Washington, June 12.—The first concerted step toward suppressing graft in all its forms throughout the country will be taken here this week when the organization whose future name probably will be the "National Anti-Graft Movement," will open offices here. Harry W. Walker will be in charge. The movement is the direct result of an anti-graft speech made last week by former Governor Folk of Missouri, at a banquet tendered him by the Missouri democracy.

Among those said to be identified with the movement are Perry Belmont, Rudolph Spreckles, Augustus Thomas, the playwright; Joseph G. Willett of Alabama and Norman Haggood.

The date for holding the first national convention is expected will be fixed this week in Paris, where Messrs. Belmont and Spreckles will hold a conference.

Insurgent Movement Subsiding.
Washington, June 12.—"I believe that the insurgent movement, so called, is subsiding," said Vice-President Sherman, who went to Utica yesterday to attend the wedding of his niece.

"We do not notice the change so much in Washington where the insurgents are still insurgent despite their assertions that they are standing by the President, but from my observation on my recent western trip, I am convinced that the movement is on the wane."

"I rather expected to find in Wisconsin a predominant feeling of insurgency because most of the Republican representatives from Wisconsin in Congress have been prominent in that movement. To my surprise, I found substantially no such sentiment."

"I have twice before within a few weeks been in the middle west and I have found the sentiment to be decidedly in favor of a continuance of the protective policy. The outcome in Iowa, where the primaries were held Tuesday, and where the regular were successful in every district in the state where there was a contest, save one—successful in choosing a state committee the majority of whom were regulars—were strongly indicative of continued belief in Republican policies."

Beverly Will Be Summer Capital Again.

Beverly, Mass., June 12.—The summer White House is swept and dusted; the broad lawns are green, the elms have not yet felt the blight of the gypsy moth, and all nature smiles on Woodberry Point where President Taft and his family will again seek rest and health during the coming heated term.

The Taft family will arrive on the twenty-third. Staid Beverly people are somewhat excited also at the prospect of having Colonel Roosevelt among them for a few days next month as a guest of his son-in-law, Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. The Longworth summer cottage occupies a point of land near that on which the Taft estate is located.

Colonel Roosevelt's chief activities while in Massachusetts are expected to be expended in the vicinity of Boston, as he will be the guest of Senator Lodge at Nahant after the Harvard commencement and will speak before the National Educational Association in Boston on July 8.

DOUBLE MURDER AT LAKE COMO

Finding of Porter Charlton's Coat in Lake New Phase in Tragedy

WOMAN HAD SEVEN WOUNDS

It Is Apparent That Robbery Was Motive of International Crime.

Como, Italy, June 12.—A part of a man's coat, declared by acquaintances to have belonged to Porter Charlton, was fished from the bottom of Lake Como today. It was found near the spot where the trunk containing the body of his wife was recovered on Friday. This strengthens the theory of a double murder committed evidently for robbery. The blood-spattered bed at the villa where they lived was the first evidence of the crime discovered. The police believe that the seven wounds in the woman's head did not release such quantity of blood as was left to stain the bed.

Looks Bad for the Russian.
Como, June 12.—The police discovered that the stone tied to the trunk in which the body of Charlton's wife was found, for the purpose of sinking it, was taken from a wall near Seneca. Later it was discovered that another stone exactly similar, was recently dug out of the wall. This has not been located and the police would not be surprised should they find it, used as a drag below the surface of the lake for another trunk containing the body of Charlton. Isoplatoff, the Russian seen with the Charltons and who was only a recent acquaintance, is still held by the police for investigation. The detectives assert he told conflicting stories.

SIMS FILES BILL IN EQUITY TODAY.

U. S. District Attorney at Chicago Charges Stock Yards Company With Rebating.

Chicago, June 12.—A bill in equity against the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company, charging rebating, was filed here today by United States District Attorney Sims.

An Indirect Rebate.
Chicago, June 12.—The bill alleges that in agreeing to pay Louis Pfaezler and Sons $50,000 a year to retain it as a factor in business that the stock yards company was agreeing to pay a rebate in restraint of trade and in discrimination against other shippers.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. MAGGIE MONTOYA.

Was Native of This City and for Ten Years Stenographer in Secretary's Office.

Special to the New Mexican.
Albuquerque, N. M., June 12.—Mrs. Margaret Montoya, 27 years old wife of Roberto Montoya, agent for the Occidental Life Insurance Company, here, died this afternoon of typhoid pneumonia after short illness. Mrs. Montoya was for ten years in the secretary's office at Santa Fe, as stenographer. The remains will be sent to Santa Fe tonight for interment.

BLOODY DAY IN CHICAGO

Sunday Is Marked by Killings and Outbreak of the Mob Spirit

VENDETTA ENDS IN MURDER

Two Negroes Shoot Into Crowd Watching Baseball Game—Crowd Infuriated.

Chicago, Ill., June 12.—An unidentified man killed four men and stabbed one who will probably die and a three year old girl was wounded by a stray bullet last night, in a vendetta on the west side of the Italian district. The fight is believed to be the sequel of a feud between the Italians.

Almost a Lynching.
Chicago, Ill., June 12.—There came near being a lynching here yesterday, when six negroes drew guns and shot into a crowd of whites, as the result of a quarrel over a crap game. The negroes fled. The spectators at a ball game who witnessed the fight pursued. The timely arrival of the police, who with drawn revolvers held the infuriated whites in check, prevented a lynching which the whites were preparing to carry out.

SUNDAY MARRED BY BLOODSHED

Riot in Colorado and Ohio and Fatal Feud in Kentucky

CONVICT SHOTS UP CHURCH

Battle of Two Hours in Coal Camp of Centennial State.

Trinidad, Colo., June 12.—Anton Vogan, shot in a battle of warring Mexican factions at Bowen yesterday, died early this morning, making a second death as the result of the shooting. Vogan was a non-combatant and was struck by a stray bullet. A sheriff's posse is searching for D. Romero, the leader of one of the factions, and said to be wounded. Deputy Sheriff Brown suffered a slight bullet wound in the neck when trying to quell the riot. Two Mexicans, both wounded, are in jail. The battle lasted two hours. More than a hundred shots were exchanged.

Trinidad, Colo., June 12.—Pitched battle broke out from long smoldering discord between native and American born Mexicans at Bowen, a camp of the Victor American Fuel Company six miles from here. One man was killed, one fatally wounded, four others are known to have been wounded and it is believed that at least a score of wounded are being cared for secretly.

The dead are:
Thomas Lujan, leader of the native born Mexicans.
The wounded:
Anton Vogan, spectator, shot in abdomen.
Deputy Sheriff R. J. Brown, shot in neck.
Guillermo Grando, ear shot off.
Pantaleon Martinez, scalp wound.
Bernardo Romero, leader of the American born faction, wounded and escaped.

Bitterness between the factions arose mainly from the belief of the American born that the native Mexicans domineered about the plant. In addition to this, it is said, Lujan and Romero quarreled over domestic affairs, bringing the situation to a head.

Two Thousands in Race Riot.
Cleveland, O., June 12.—A mob of about 2,000 persons participated in a race riot last evening in which two policemen and a white man were beaten into insensibility. Bloodshed was prevented by the arrival of all the available police reserves who charged the mob and succeeded in dispersing it. Six of the ring leaders were arrested.

The trouble started when one of a gang of negroes jostled a white man on the street and after an altercation, knocked him senseless. A policeman who attempted to arrest the negro was attacked by the entire gang and beaten unconscious with his own club. Another officer who came to his assistance met a like fate.

Convict Shot Three Men.
Canton, Ohio, June 12.—Armed with two revolvers and a dagger Frank Nunamaker, a former convict, entered a church last night at Louisville, near here, where a Dominican christening was taking place and shot three men, one of whom will die.

Fatal Feud in Kentucky.
Lexington, Ky., June 12.—In a feud battle in Breathitt county, two members of the Crawford family were shot to death and a member of the Johnson family was wounded, according to reports reaching here today.

GENERAL CARR RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE.

New York, June 12.—In dodging an automobile General Eugene A. Carr, United States army, retired, caught his heel in a pavement crack and fell heavily. His right hip was wrecked and he had to be taken home in a cab. General Carr is the oldest living graduate of West Point being a member of the class of 1850.

MOST DARING FLIGHT YET

Young Charles K. Hamilton Follows Special Train for Eighty-Eight Miles.

NEW YORK TO PHILADELPHIA

Bi-Plane Covers Distance From Governor's Island in 113 Minutes.

Philadelphia, June 12.—Charles K. Hamilton, the young aviator, who achieved world wide fame less than a year ago, today made the most daring flight of his career, traveling in a bi-plane from Governor's Island, New York, to a point in the outskirts of Philadelphia. Eighty-eight miles in 113 minutes was the unofficial time. A feature of the achievement was the ease with which he followed the special train.

Spark Plugs Did Not Work.
New York, June 12.—Hamilton on his return flight landed two miles from Perth Amboy, N. J. The motor was working badly, largely he thought because he omitted to clean the spark plugs. A Philadelphia garage furnished him new plugs and he immediately began preparations to renew his flight to this city.

Started on Return Trip.

Philadelphia, June 11.—Governor Stuart welcomed Hamilton who said it was the best trip ever made. "I had the machine in perfect control all the way and could have stayed up much longer. The only draw back to the journey was the dampness and chill. Most of the trip was misty and at times I could not see and seldom saw the people at the stations." Hamilton started on his return journey to New York at 11:30 a. m.

Forty-six Miles an Hour.
The speed of flight was at an average of 46 miles an hour.

PREDICTED ROOSEVELT WOULD NOT RETURN.

Professor Frederick A. Starr Explains Why His Prophecy Did Not Come True.

New York, June 12.—Professor Frederick A. Starr who has the chair of anthropology in the University of Chicago, returned from a trip around the world, not far ahead of Theodore Roosevelt, who he predicted would never live to see civilization again if he dared the interior jungles of Africa. When reminded of his prediction, Professor Starr replied that Roosevelt had chosen a less dangerous path than the one originally announced, thus avoiding the poison-laden swamps so deadly to the white man.

In Japan, Professor Starr dressed and lived as a Japanese, studying the customs and the religion of the people. "I believe," he said, "that there will be a reaction in Japan against the customs of the Occident. Those adopted customs found to be unsuited to the country, are being cast off already. American trade will never be a serious factor in the Orient because the Japanese and the Chinese are so apt to copy our methods and our products."

FATAL SHOOTING OVER HOMESTEAD AT MOSQUERO.

Burlison was shot through the throat and in the face and will probably die, and her young son had his face horribly mutilated by a discharge of shot and may not recover. Shrum who was armed with a shot gun is blamed for the shooting and has fled. Doctor McKinney was armed with a rifle.

Addresses Twelve Hundred Emigrants at Catholic Services on Ship

ALTAR DRAPED WITH FLAGS

Russians and Poles Crowd Around Him to Kiss His Hands.

On Board Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, via Wireless to Crookhaven, Ireland, June 12.—Theodore Roosevelt was the chief figure in a noteworthy scene in the steerage yesterday afternoon, when he attended the Catholic services held for 1,200 emigrants, Russian and Galician Poles. The emigrants surrounded an altar draped with the American flag and chanted the Litany. Then Roosevelt spoke briefly the priest interpreting. Roosevelt welcomed the hearers to America and gave them advice against associating with strangers on landing. He expected them to be mindful of duties of citizenship and to protect the rights of women. The emigrants crowded around him at the conclusion and tried to kiss his hands. Today he addressed the crew and stokers and tomorrow will hold a reception for the first and second class cabin passengers.

Roosevelt Aftermath in London.

London, June 12.—Replying to an interpellation by Sir Henry James Dalziel, Liberal, in the House of Commons today, Sir Edward Grey declared that British Agent Gorst in Egypt has complete confidence of the government. Sir Henry thereupon requested the foreign secretary to send a copy of the reply to Roosevelt. Sir Edward answered he could see no reason for doing anything of the kind. The exchanges came as a sequel to Roosevelt's speech criticizing the administration in Egypt.

King came here to attend the fortieth anniversary celebration of the founding of this town by Horace Greeley, which closed yesterday. When about to depart he became involved in an altercation with a railroad section hand and Sheriff Florence arrested both men. King broke away and as the sheriff covered him with a revolver, reached in his pocket and threw something at the official which proved to be a rattle snake. The officer promptly killed the snake.

Flames Crept up Slowly to Their Victims Under Wreckage

PRINTING PLANT CATASTROPHE

Thirty Five Linotype Operators and Bindery Girls Killed.

Montreal, June 12.—The bodies of probably thirty-five bindery girls and linotype men are buried beneath tons of wrecked machinery and debris in the basement of the Herald building which burned today. Many girls met death by slow torture. The flames crept slowly upon them as they lay helpless. The victims were carried down through the building by a huge tank which plunged from the roof to the cellar. Almost instantly there came an explosion of gas from the pipes. Scores of persons of the editorial and other departments had to fight for their lives. Through the smoke and wreckage the fire department could make little progress against the flames.

SOME WILDCAT IRRIGATIONISTS

Engineer Sullivan Receives Report of Those In Colorado.

There was an air of quiet around the capitol today, as Governor Mills, Judge McPhe, Clerk Sosa and others are out of the city. Acting Governor Nathan Jaffa appointed three notaries: Frank H. Strong of Bernalillo county, at Albuquerque, and James H. Jackson of Eddy county, at Artesia, and James H. Paxton at Las Cruces.

Mr. Jaffa will be acting governor probably for a fortnight or more, during Governor Mills' absence.

Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan has returned from Carlsbad and Roswell, where he went to study the road building problem. Mr. Sullivan said that it can be understood why the trade of eastern New Mexico has been going to Texas rather than cross seven miles of deep sand when one considers that it is no unusual sight to see a loaded wagon pulled by fourteen horses and mules when that sand has to be "waded" through. The territory will assist in the building of a sand clay road from Carlsbad to the plains country, several thousands of dollars having already been pledged by residents who will be benefited by such an improvement.

Mr. Sullivan, who was instrumental in getting the territory to require a bond from those seeking water rights to show evidence of their good faith, was much interested in an article sent him from Denver stating that the Irrigation Congress, whose board of governors and board of control now are meeting in Pueblo, are seeking the scalps of the wildcat irrigation promoters. Registrar Jefferson made the speech of the day denouncing wildcat irrigation companies and declared that "it is now up to the congress to exterminate them." Mr. Jefferson recommended that all such companies be denied space for exhibits at the coming session of the Irrigation Congress.

Mora County Institute.

It was stated at the office of the superintendent of public education that the Mora County Institute which opens today at Wagon Mound is the only one in the territory to hold an eight weeks session or summer school. Two weeks attendance is required of teachers and those who attend four weeks of summer school receive compensation. Professor J. S. Hofer of East Las Vegas, is in charge of the Mora County Institute.

A Big Trout Order.

Fish and Game Warden Gable today placed a large trout order, not at a hotel, but with the Colorado hatchery. He asked for 500,000 "troutlets" which he will use in stocking the trout streams of the territory. The fish order will be filled between August 1 and 10. Mr. Gable was much amused at a clipping sent him by a Buffalo New York angler announcing that a New Yorker had caught a 10-12 pound trout and was informed that he had violated the law by such a heavy catch. He replied that he began fishing for the trout late at night and did not land the monster until early the following morning and therefore his haul was a "two days catch and not in violation of the trout law."

That Indian Trouble.

Captain of the Mounted Police Forno, Supt. Crandall of the Indian School and Francis Wilson, attorney for the Pueblo Indians have returned from Cochiti where they were sent by Governor Mills to investigate the alleged Indian trouble. Governor Mills was called up on the telephone Friday evening by a settler saying that there was an Indian insurrection over land matters and that military protection was needed. It appears that the Cochiti Indians had notified several settlers that if they did not remove their fences from what the Indians claim is their land they would remove them for the settlers. Trouble was feared but Captain Forno said that quiet reigned there when he and his companions arrived on the scene. It remains to be seen how the matter will be adjusted for there is said to have been trouble brewing for some time over the boundaries of lands owned by the Indians and Spanish-speaking settlers.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

ON THE PLAINS.

(By Mary Foxwell in the Great Southwest.)

My good steed swerves like a wind-struck dart.
And seems of the tremulous night a part.
Night's herald of flame shines into my heart,
And the moon's on the edge of the prairie.

Red line of sunset, fading behind,
Whispers of joy in the kiss of the wind, Ecstasies, creatures of sense and the mind,
And the moon on the edge of the
prairie.

Fancies disturbed by a picture warm,
Of black-fringed eyes, and a round,
white arm,
A vision of heaven, with an earth-born charm,
The moon's on the edge of the
prairie.

Tell me, sprites of the desert, if one of you know,
The name of this torrent, that rises
and flows,
Overleaping its channels to reach a rose,
That blooms on the edge of the
prairie.

This turbulent Something, that spurns control,
Deserting my bosom to reach its goal,
Can't your feet, good pony, keep up with my soul?
The moon's on the edge of the
prairie.

Across the range, where there is no
night,
Where faith shall be swallowed up in sight,
Shall I ever recall with a thrill of delight,
The moon on the edge of the prairie?

is found in many Catholic churches.
The devotion to this saint is remarkable and has been steadily increasing since the memorable words of the late Pope Leo XIII: "St. Anthony was the whole world."

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Santa Fe Readers.

For months Santa Fe citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Santa Fe residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Santa Fe reader.

Toribio Rodriguez, 110 Johnson street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "Two and a half years ago I gave a statement for publication in regard to my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. Today I am stronger in my praise of this remedy than ever. I suffered greatly from disordered kidneys, the pains in my back being so acute at times that I had to stop work and sit down. The trouble steadily grew worse and I rarely knew what was to be free from an ache or pain of some kind. Soon after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Stripling, Burrows & Co.'s drug store, my pains and aches disappeared and my back was as sound and well as ever. Doan's Kidney Pills have my strongest endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

PRESIDENT IS MISINFORMED

If He Believes That New Mexico Is Likely to Be Democratic State

SHUTTLECOCK WITH STATEHOOD

Congressional Leaders Seem to Be at Sea on This Question.

Washington, June 13.—That the question of legalizing railroad traffic agreements is not likely to be stirred up again in the near future is the general belief. At least it is said that no movement in this direction is likely to emanate from sources friendly to the railroads. The tone of the railroad presidents who have been in Washington in the last few days, including the president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, is that they prefer to leave the traffic agreement just where it is. Without question, the step of the administration to invoke the Sherman law against the Western Trunk Line Association took the railroads by surprise and thoroughly frightened the railroad managers. For many years no attempt has been made to apply the Sherman law to such agreements. But that it could be applied has been pretty clear since the decisions of the supreme court in the joint traffic and trans-Missouri cases. Nevertheless, as the railroad managers admit they have gone ahead for about fourteen years making rates through understandings with each other. Of course they say these arrangements are not amenable to the Sherman law, but Attorney General Wickensham is fully convinced that the government had the strongest kind of a case against the Western Trunk Line Association, and that if the case were to be put up to the courts the government would win. The view of the railroad presidents, as they disclosed here, is that it will be better not to try to get Congress in the near future to legalize the traffic agreement for the reason that if the effort is made again and fails it will emphasize the fact that traffic agreements are now under the ban of the law and at once may come a popular demand for the enforcement of the law. Congress has shown quite clearly in the debate on the railroad bill that it will not permit railroad agreements unless the law requires the interstate commerce commission to supervise them stringently. The understanding between the White House and the railroad heads whereby the increases in rates made since May 1 are to be submitted to the interstate commerce commission, raises some interesting questions as to administering the new measure. The railroad bill has been ordered to conference. It is expected it will be reshaped there so that it will be neither the House bill nor the Senate bill. The Senate bill allowed the interstate commerce commission to hold up a rate increase for ten months pending inquiry into it. The House bill restricts this time to four months. If the conferees take the House provision in this respect and limit the time to four months, it will be practically impossible for the interstate commerce commission to make anything like a thorough inquiry into the merits of the increases proposed. The railroads will lay before the commission a vast fabric of increases to be passed upon. This will involve an enormous amount of inquiry. It is scarcely possible for the commission to go to the bottom of such increases in four months, and it is doubtful if the work can be done in ten months, when it is considered the commission will have a great deal of other work on its hands.

That the new railroad law will compel Congress in the near future to consider enlargement of the interstate commerce commission is a view held here by many. Already the commission has a heavy burden. This will be largely added to by the new law. Some discussion of the need of enlargement has been current during this session, but nothing has yet come of it.

The railroad bill in the House was sent to conference, instead of the Senate amendments being adopted by four Tammany Democrats, Fitzgerald, Goldfogle, Goulden, and Harrison; and Underwood and Craig, of Alabama, leaving their party associates and voting with the regular Republicans. The insurgents voting against their party were Ames, Gardner, Good, Hayes, Miller, of Minnesota, Parsons, Pickett, Volstead.

Shuttlecock With Statehood.

The general opinion in the Senate is that there will be no vote this year on the statehood bill admitting New Mexico and Arizona. After insisting that the statehood bill already passed by the House be made the unfinished business of the Senate, Senator Beveridge, chairman of the committee on territories, feels that he has sufficient put himself and his committee on record as supporting the committee's favorable report on the bill, and he said that there would be no further opposition to the desire of the regulars to bring up first the conservation bill, providing for withdrawal of public lands by the President.

Mr. Beveridge takes the ground that as both bills are favored by the President it is practically immaterial which receives prior consideration, while the common talk around the north end of the capitol is that one man has changed his mind and that he now personally favors the immediate consideration of the conservation measure at the expense of separate statehood. Of course the President wants both bills passed at this session, but the regular long ago made up their minds that nothing of the sort should happen, and the insurgents are fairly reconciled to pigeon-hole for a year a bill that will add four Democratic Senators and perhaps three Democratic House members to the already dangerously increasing minority in both Houses.

The plan of the regulars is to let as much debate as is necessary develop on the conservation measure. That will give time for the sundry civil appropriation bill to be disposed of, and by that time measures already in conference will be signed by the President and nothing will remain to hold Congress longer in session. Adjournment will then be taken and the Congressional campaign will begin in earnest.

While the President has no part in this plan as now mapped out, it is not expected he will make much opposition.

The estimates today are more hopeful of an early adjournment than they have been for some weeks. The sundry civil appropriation bill will probably reach the Senate by Wednesday, at once displacing all other business. The provision in that bill for the tariff committee will probably take up two weeks of debate and that bill will then be sent to conference. By that time the differences between the House and Senate on the railroad bill will probably have been adjusted and appropriation bills now in conference will have been disposed of. For the first time in many days talk is again veering to July 1 as the probable date of adjournment.

The President is determined that the statehood bill admitting Arizona and New Mexico to the Union shall be passed and signed before the close of the present session of Congress. He feels a personal responsibility in the matter, since his administration is pledged for these territories, and believes it is his duty to see that the promise made in the last national Republican platform is fulfilled.

The President is fully aware of the political situation in the two territories and the chances, especially with public sentiment as it is at present, are that Arizona would be a Democratic state, and that the two parties are about equally divided in New Mexico, with prospects of coming in Democratic. He has absolutely refused to listen to any suggestion concerning the advisability of postponing action, however, on this account. He considers that he is under obligations to the people of these two territories to see that Arizona and New Mexico are taken into the sisterhood of states, and he intends to fulfill that obligation no matter what the political, or rather the partisan, consequences may be. At any rate, he is willing to take the chance of their being Democratic for he regards their right to statehood as of far greater importance.

It is feared, however, that the difficulty will be not so much in passing the statehood bill through the Senate as getting an agreement in the conference committee. The statehood measure as it passed the House in the early part of the session is radically different in many important particulars from the Beveridge bill, now pending in the Senate. It will very likely be the aim of the Democrats, all of whom advocate statehood, as well as some of the friends of the proposition on the majority side to substitute the House bill for the Senate measure if this can be done. However it is accomplished, the President desires action and will leave no stone unturned to get it.

MELODRAMATIC INCIDENTS OF CARRIZOZO HOLD-UP.

It Was a Robin Hood Sort of a Highwayman Who Robbed El Paso & Southwestern Train.

Tucumcari, N. M., June 13.—The officials have not been able as yet to effect the capture of the lone bandit who held up and robbed the Southwestern train Thursday night. It is believed he has escaped to the mountains.

Jesse James, the king of bandits, never pulled off a hold-up richer in melodramatic incident.

The reports of the hold-up show that while the robber was firm and ready to kill if necessary, he was kind at heart and generous and had a keen sense of humor. The reports say that he wore the conventional, western slouch hat and that he appeared in shirt sleeves, perhaps a red shirt. On each of his hip he carried a 45 Colt's revolver. He did not trust the revolver barrel into the fact of the brakeman or the porter, but held them at his hip in border fashion and commanded in such tones that obedience was forthcoming, he spoke as a man who shoots from the hip; who aims with foresight and decision as well as hindsight and precision.

The hold-up artist did not, as was first stated, stop the train before robbing the passengers—no such amateur methods for him. So systematic and orderly was the affair carried out that the conductor did not know his train had been robbed until the robber was fleeing toward the protecting hills. The robber got on the dark side of the train as it pulled out of Carrizozo. The porter was the first person he encountered. He was shining shoes for the passengers who were sleeping snuggled in their berths with no dream of a disgruntled Jesse James.

Kind to the Needy. At the robber's command, the porter took all his cap and preceded him alone inside beside the sleeping passengers. The porter awakened the passengers with the information that there was a "gemman" to see them and when they awoke the "gemman" handed a contribution to the porter's cap. When he has fleeced the passengers, the robber turned to the porter and demanded that he contribute, his wife also. The porter gradually handed over a dollar and a half.

"You may keep that chicken change, nigger," said the bandit. "You have done good work for me, anyway."

The last berth in the forward end of the car was occupied by a woman who had three little children. She was awakened by the porter and invited to contribute. She told the highwayman that she had three children and only a few dollars.

"Well, you may keep it," said the robber. "I have a wife and 11 children at home myself."

At this juncture the brakeman, Victory, came into the car from the forward end and was promptly covered and told that he had to dig down and make good the amount he had let the mother of three children keep. The brakeman dug.

Rough With Curious Man. One employee of the road, after handing over his purse containing $8, thought he had paid enough money to see the rest of the show and stuck his head out of his berth to enjoy the sight of others being fleeced, but took it quickly in when the robber called him a blankety-blank blank-blank and coolly informed him that if he looked out again his head would be blown away.

After the robber had collected all the money and valuables, he ordered the brakeman to bring the train to a stop. The brakeman signaled the engineer to stop but the conductor, who was still in ignorance of the robbery, had already ascertained that he had passengers for Robsart and had signaled the engineer to stop at Robsart, which the train was then nearing. Consequently no attention was paid the brakeman's signal. The robber, seeing that the train did not slack its speed, placed his revolver against the brakeman's body and told him that if he did not bring the train to a stop and do it double quick, he would kill him. The brakeman used the emergency brake and the train came to a stop.

Got Wrong Train. At the time of the robbery Q. Sadler, special officer of the Southwestern, was in Tucumcari and left immediately on the Golden State Limited for the scene of the hold-up. When the limited met the train that was held up, it was flagged on instructions from the General Superintendent Hawks, who related the circumstances to the special officer. Mr. Hawes was on No. 2 and the robber, after completing his job, had shot out the marker lamps attached to the private car and also sent a parting shot ricocheting through Mr. Hawks car where he and his private secretary, Leon C. Miller, were slumbering.

That the robber was no novice, but an adept at the game, and a desperate individual, is beyond doubt. It is also evident that he missed his calculations and held up No. 2 of Thursday night instead of No. 2 the night previous, as his first act upon leaving Carrizozo was to demand of Brakeman Victory, at the point of his 44 where the large diamonds were that he had been wearing, and by his later remark that he had "got the wrong train crew," it is assumed that he had figured on Trainmen J. P. McMillan and Stoddard Johnson, the latter known as "Diamond Dick," who were in charge of the train on the previous night.

Mr. Sadler on his arrival at Carrizozo, started on the trail of the robber, accompanied by Indian trailers, special detectives and bloodhounds.

RAILROADERS ARE GOING TO THE BOW-WOWS.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 13.—W. C. Nixon, vice president and general manager of the Frisco system, is sure that the railroads in this country are going to bow-wows. According to him Texas will be the only state that will have any crops this year, frosts and general inclemency of weather, in his opinion, having done great damage in the north. "There will be a little increase in tonnage from Texas," said Mr. Nixon, "but I doubt whether the freight movement in other parts of the country will even be what it was last year. The railroads are not making any money now and will make less this coming fall."

Asked what the outcome would be of the injunction against higher freight rates, recently secured by the government, Mr. Nixon said that he was merely an operating official and did not know anything about it.

MANAGEMENT OF TEXAS SCHOOL LANDS A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Austin, Texas, June 13.—With all obligations met there remained in the Texas state treasury at the end of the last fiscal year a balance slightly in excess of one and one-half million dollars. During the same period school fund securities reached the tremendous total of $16,000,000, accumulated through the sale of school and other public lands for which there has been a very active demand the last two years. This fund is devoted entirely to education.

THE CHAUTAUQUA MOVEMENT.

Like so many other good things that would have helped this town, the Chautauqua movement has been permitted to die. The little village of Mountainair with scarce 300 people, will hold its third Chautauqua this summer and with each year the enterprise is on a firmer footing. The attendance of more than one hundred teachers at the summer normal institute in Silver City, shows that the nucleus for a successful Chautauqua and summer school exists and needs but to be developed into a great movement. No more delightful spot than the Santa Fe canon, at the foot of the Dalton divide, where the Scenic Highway begins to ascend in its switchbacks, or even on top of the Dalton divide where the Dalton and the Macho rise in sparkling springs within a few hundred yards of each other, could be found for permanent Chautauqua grounds. Clouderoff would not be in it, and yet, it is certain that Clouderoff will have a successful Chautauqua long before Santa Fe awakens to the fact that it might have been just as successful as Boulder, Colorado, in establishing a great summer school. Says the El Paso Herald:

"Why not a Chautauqua and summer normal for Clouderoff? Hundreds of Texans go to the Chautauqua at Boulder, Colo., every year, and it is said that the majority of the cottagers at that well advertised resort are Texans. El Paso county has more school teachers than all the other western counties put together, yet El Paso county teachers in common with those of the other western counties, have to go hundreds of miles to a state normal right in the hottest part of summer. At a time when the teachers need rest and recreation, they are compelled to attend the normals in the lowlands of the state where the heat is oppressive and the climate unhealthful.

"It is probable that arrangements could be made to hold a summer normal at Clouderoff for the benefit of teachers of this part of the state, as well as for the teachers of New Mexico. The final examinations for El Pasoans might be taken in El Paso, if necessary to satisfy a state regulation; but by having the summer normal at Clouderoff the teachers would have the benefit of the delightful cool climate and the summer rest while carrying on their professional studies. "The proposed Chautauqua would undoubtedly attract a large number of persons from all over the southwest country. It would result in enlarging the permanent summer colony and still further insure the stability of the resort and the financial profit to the railroad, necessary to the best development of the beautiful place everywhere known as El Paso's roof garden."

WONDERS OF IRRIGATION.

The east is waking up to the wonders of irrigation and to the knowledge that here in the southwest, in the country that even geographers for centuries regarded as a desert, there has been practiced a method of farming superior to that of the most fertile sections of the continent. Says the Massillon, Ohio, News:

"It is not so many years since a few enthusiasts were striving, in season and out of season to impress on the minds of their countrymen the importance of irrigation in the arid and semi-arid country west of the Missouri. Ages ago the unknown people who inhabited the dry plains of New Mexico and Arizona had extensive systems of irrigation, and when the Spanish missionaries came to southern California they diverted the waters of some of the streams and made their gardens blossom and raised oranges and figs and grapes and olives for their use. The lesson of irrigation was learned in time and even the government has taken up the idea and has reclaimed large tracts which have been sold to settlers at cost. One of the most striking examples of the value of irrigation has been in the great Imperial valley, in the southeastern corner of California, where but a few years ago the country was literally a sun-baked desert, producing nothing useful to man. Since the country has been irrigated, it has become thickly populated, the lands have risen to $100 an acre in value, the date and cotton have been added to the cultural crops of California, and stranger than all, a young city which some four or five years ago had no existence—El Centro—has become the second in the amount of freight shipped on the Southern Pacific lines in southern California, being exceeded only by Los Angeles. "The record is surprising, but it is likely to be duplicated elsewhere in irrigated sections. It helps to show why there is such a rush for lands every time the government opens an irrigated area for settlements. In such cases the speculative element is eliminated as far as possible, and the actual settlers get the greatest possible benefit.

"The government is making a special study of subjects relating to irrigation. Farmers' bulletin 359, just out, is devoted to the irrigation of grain and may be had on application to the agricultural department."

AN OLD RAILROAD RUMOR REVIVED.

That there may be something doing in the railroad line for Santa Fe, seems to be indicated by the following rather plausible article in the Denver Times, although the plan itself is an old one that has been agitated again and again for the past few years:

"Reports which have been current in Denver for several weeks, to the effect that plans were being worked out for a new railroad system connecting Colorado with the Gulf of Mexico, via a line through New Mexico, appear to be well founded as a result of recent developments. Application was last week made in the courts at Santa Fe, N. M., for a receiver for the New Mexico Central. That step is preliminary to the organization of the new system.

"The Costilla Estates Development Company, composed of Denver, Colorado Springs and eastern capitalists, is engaged in building the San Luis Southern railroad from Blanco, on the Denver & Rio Grande, south into New Mexico. It is now considered certain that this line is to be pushed on to Santa Fe, N. M., and that the right to purchase upon completion has been given to the Denver & Rio Grande.

"The New Mexico Central starts at Santa Fe and runs southeast to Torrance a distance of 116 miles. The receivership applied for last week is for the purpose of cleaning up its tangled finances and reorganizing the company, after which it is to be extended on to Roswell, N. M., the northern terminus of the Santa Fe's Pecos valley line.

"This railroad construction would make an efficient new north and south route and penetrate a good territory. It is not positively known that there is an understanding between the Colorado people and the builders of the New Mexico Central, but the evidence points to the interests working in harmony.

"The San Luis Southern now has completed and in operation sixteen miles of road and is just finishing up the next section of eight miles. The New Mexico Central has 116 miles in operation and has the surveys and rights of way for the proposed extensions."

SANTA FE MUST BETTER ITSELF.

The fate of Guthrie which on Saturday through a popular vote lost the capital of Oklahoma should bestir Santa Fe to develop along other lines than it has in the past. Albuquerque has outgrown Santa Fe remarkably since 1899. This city has stood still in many respects while the Duke City has gone forward along every line. Santa Fe has abandoned advantages that it had, has surrendered trade territory, while other towns have eagerly grasped these. Take away the capital and Santa Fe sinks to the status of a village. Albuquerque draws more people each year with its territorial fair; Santa Fe has dropped its horticultural fair altogether. In other matters too, Santa Fe has rested, everything in the line of advancement has been either too much trouble or cost too much. The local businessmen fail to attend the meetings of the Board of Trade or Commercial Club and but for a few public spirited men and a band of noble hardworking women, the old town would die of dry rot, of the manana siesta spirit. When there was an opportunity to take in the suburbs last year and to maintain second place in the territory for the next ten years, the voters were too lazy to go to the polls and permitted the advantage that would have cost them nothing to go by default. Let the fate of Guthrie awaken the public spirit and the public pride of Santa Fe.

THE ESTANCIA VALLEY.

A Boosters edition of the Estancia News just to hand is valuable not only for delineating what has been accomplished in a few short years in populating the beautiful valley but also in forecasting incidentally the future of Torrance county. It was only something like six or seven years ago that the writer made the trip overland in company with W. S. Hopewell and W. A. Bayer over the survey of the Santa Fe Central Railway, and from Moriarty to Progreso which marked the two extremes of the Estancia valley there was not a single cultivated field, there were only three dwelling houses; only one clump of trees and as to this valley ever being home-stended, people laughed at the idea. Today, several prosperous towns, a thousand farms and a population of more than five thousand demonstrated that a few years can bring a marvelous transformation in the rapidly growing southwest. The News is to be congratulated for bringing out so creditable an edition, well edited and graphically illustrated. In years to come this edition will be valuable from a historical standpoint as marking the end of an epoch and the beginning of a new period in the valley. Nor must it be forgotten that Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews projected and built the railroad that made the Estancia valley what it is today.

GROWTH IN POSTAL BUSINESS.

The salaries of postmasters at first, second and third class offices are rated according to the income from payments for postage, but no allowance is made for income from money order business. The fact that the annual readjustment has resulted in an increase of $559,900 in salaries is an indication of the steady growth of the postal business as well as of population. There are today 421 first class postoffices in the United States, of which New Mexico has one, Albuquerque. There are 1,831 second class offices of which New Mexico has seven: Roswell leading, followed by Santa Fe, East Las Vegas, Raton, Clovis, Las Cruces and Silver City. There are 5,365 third class offices in the country, making the total of offices in the presidential class 7,620. During the past quarter 29 second class offices were advanced to the first class while 3 first class offices were reduced to second class. Of third class offices 173 were advanced to second class, while 29 second class offices were reduced to third class and 23 third class offices to fourth class. In New Mexico, the postoffice at Vaughan, Guadalupe county, will be advanced from the fourth to the presidential class on July 1, and of late, there has been hardly a quarter, that the business of some office in New Mexico has not shown such an increase as to warrant its advancement from third to second or from fourth to third class, although Albuquerque is likely to remain the only first class office for some years.

The latter June days try the mettle of the scientific farmer, especially of him who failed to begin last fall to preserve the soil moisture by proper cultivation and who has neglected to follow the methods prescribed by Campbell and others. The effects of drought are most noticeable now and crops may look withered and burned. But the rains will set in early in July if this is a normal year, and wonderful growth is generally made during July, August and September, that is if the right crops were selected by the dry farmer, where again study and thoughtfulness will win the day over the haphazard farmer who thinks that any crop will do anywhere. Says the Estancia News hopefully:

"A few of our people have begun to feel a touch of the blues. This is the wrong time for such a thing. This is the time to keep busy in the fields, keep the ground stirred, for when the July rains come there will be little time for stirring. How easily we forget how rapidly the crops grow in this climate after the July rains come, and how quickly they mature. Last season, many an acre which even in mid-July looked as if it could make nothing matured a good crop. Put away your hammer and take up the hoe."

Socorro is looking after the augmentation of its water supply. Every town in the territory, including Santa Fe, should do likewise. Says the Socorro Chieftain:

"Mayor Bursum has taken another important step towards improving the city's water supply. He has had the water from the smelter spring turned into the city main. This will add very materially to the quantity of water available for the city's use and will also save a considerable quantity of water that has been running to waste for the last fifteen years and more. It has long been a matter of wonder that the city did not reappropriate the water from this spring and the only explanation has been that there was a conflict of rights, or at least of claims, in the case. Mayor Bursum has done exactly the right thing in appropriating the water for the benefit of the city. It is now up to other parties to establish their claims that are legitimate. Mr. Bursum has still other improvements in the city's water service in mind and says he will put them into effect just as soon as possible. It is to be hoped that the day of his doing so is not far distant, for the supply of water that is utilized is not now equal to the great demands made upon it for purposes of irrigation."

The Carlsbad Argus speaks as follows in acknowledgment of the work and efforts of Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews:

"M. S. Groves received from Delegate Andrews a bundle of two hundred packages of garden seed adapted to this climate. Mr. Groves turned the seeds over to Secretary Hove, of the Water Users for distribution and they may be secured from him on application. Delegate Andrews is famed for securing things for his constituency, the biggest thing that he has done lately being the securing of the mail contract to the plains, which was impossible of carrying out at the proposed rates but which was made possible through his intervention in the postoffice department, when the greater compensation was secured."

THE BEST S. S. S. SPRING TONIC

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic and blood purifier in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, sickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, etc., break out and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is the only medicine on which you can rely to supply the system with the needed tonic effect and at the same time purify and enrich your blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the hot summer. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring season if you use S. S. S. for your tonic.

BULLETIN OF THE NATIONAL MONETARY COMMISSION.

Renewal of the Reichsbank Charter in Germany Subject of Discussion of Monograph.

Washington June 13.—The latest developments and discussions in regard to banking in Germany are embodied in a monograph just made public by the National Monetary Commission under the title "Renewal of Reichsbank charter." Senator Aldrich and the other members of the commission had the good fortune to be in Germany at the moment when a special commission was sitting to consider the revision of the charter of the Imperial bank, which is made at regular periods of ten years. They have had translated for the use of Congress not only the text of the discussions in this commission, made up of the ablest bankers and economists, but also much of the discussion which took place in the financial press before the enactment of the law of June 1, 1909, and the reasons given by the legislative committee for the provisions of this law.

The subject was much discussed whether the strain imposed upon German banking facilities in the crisis of 1907 would have been mitigated if the Imperial bank had possessed a larger capital. This view was dismissed by the committee, which reported the new law with the demonstration that the capital and surplus of the bank were larger than those of the Bank of France, the Bank of Austria-Hungary, or the Bank of Russia, and were second only to the capital resources of the Bank of England.

In deciding the question as to whether a further increase of the resources of the Imperial Bank was desirable, it was declared by the committee that it should be borne in mind that in the case of a central bank of issue its own funds are of less importance than they are in the case of other banking institutions; they serve principally as a guaranty fund for the creditors of the bank, while the working capital is created through the notes issued and the funds deposited in the bank. The experience of all the banks of issue proves this; the special commission pointed out, and it further held that as a guaranty fund for the creditors of the Reichsbank its present capital is fully sufficient. The bank does not require an increase of its resources for the task directly laid upon it as a bank of issue and for the sake of the bulk of its business resulting from this capacity.

The other point to which the greatest attention was given by the legislative committee was whether the system of limiting the volume of notes in circulation, by imposing a tax of 5 per cent on the amount of notes above a fixed limit, when the notes were not fully covered by gold, was upon the whole, a wise one. The committee found that the system had been shown to have worked perfectly well by the experience of the many years that have elapsed since the establishment of the Reichsbank. Although a certain indirect connection between the limit of untaxed note circulation and the action of the Reichsbank in regard to the discount rate must be admitted in so far as the exceeding of the contingent and the raising of the discount rate presuppose increased demands upon the Reichsbank a direct influence on the discount rate through the fixing of the note contingent cannot be expected. In fact, the management of the Reichsbank has never allowed the tax imposed on the excess circulation to have any decisive influence on its discount policies. As, therefore, the discount policies of the Reichsbank would not be favorably affected by the elimination of the contingent, no reason was found for abandoning this system. On the other hand, it was declared by the committee, it seems altogether desirable to maintain the contingent system, as the exceeding of the contingent has more and more developed into a danger signal heeded by business men.

The former amount of the tax-free note contingent was not, however, regarded as sufficient. The figures for 1906 proved the inadequacy of the contingent, showing that it was exceeded 17 times, with a maximum excess of 572,644,757 marks ($126,000,000), and this conclusion was strengthened by the events of the year 1907. That year showed no less than 25 instances, of which the excess reported on December 31 reached before. At the same time it happened for the first time in 1907, by reason of the large demands of business, that the Reichsbank had a note circulation which, even in its yearly average, exceeded the contingent by more than 58,000,000 marks. Although these two years could not be accepted as a general demonstration, because they were periods of exceptional financial strain, it had become evident that the old contingent of the Reichsbank was insufficient for the increased demands of business due to the increase of population and the accelerated economic development in Germany.

In establishing an increase the fact has to be reckoned with that the demands on the Reichsbank are regularly made to an especially large extent at the quarter days. The condition, resulting from custom, that at the beginning of a quarter large liabilities have to be met—for instance, in regard to mortgages, rent, interest, and salaries—causes at those times an extraordinarily heavy demand for instruments of payment, which it is the Reichsbank's unavoidable obligation to meet. In accordance with this view the new law increased the limit of authorized issues, covered by a reserve of one-third, to 550,000,000 marks and in addition provided that this issue might be permitted to rise to 750,000,000 marks ($178,200,000), at the close of March, June, September and December in each year.

Another important point in which the new law departs from the old charter of the bank is in making the notes of the bank legal tender. There was a strong disinclination to this policy when the bank was established, which is explained by the earnest desire then prevailing to do away with the existing paper regime and to place the metallic currency on a firm foundation. This aim has been realized to such an extent that at the present time Germany's metallic circulation, and particularly that of gold coin, is abundant for all demands of trade. On the other hand, bank notes also are regularly taken in payment, and for payments of large amounts they are used almost exclusively. In view of the fact that the legal status of this mode of payment was somewhat uncertain, however, such institutions as had to make numerous payments; banks especially, generally felt obliged for precautionary reasons to provide themselves with a considerable stock of gold in order to be prepared for any demand for gold that they might have to meet.

In proposing this measure the new law followed the examples of England and France. In England the notes of the Bank of England have been legal tender since January 1, 1834. In France the notes of the Bank of France were invested with this quality by the acts of August 12, 1870 and August 5, 1875.

The conferring of the legal tender quality upon the Reichsbank notes does not in any way affect the maintenance of the gold standard, as is proved by the example of the Bank of England. In order to emphasize this more strongly, the words "legally current German money" in the paragraph relating to redemption of notes, have been replaced by "German gold coin." This expresses beyond a doubt that even a single note of the denomination of 20 marks must be redeemed in gold, although the amount of 20 marks comes still within the limit up to which imperial silver coin is decreed a legal tender by the currency act of July 9, 1873.

Thus the new law, while expanding the legal limit of the untaxed circulation, provides for direct redemption of notes in gold at the bank and gives uniformity, as far as possible, to the paper circulation. Another important provision of the law authorizes the bank and also the private banks of issue to purchase checks. Since the act of March 11, 1909, in relation to checks made it possible for a holder of a check to obtain legal protection for his claim, just the same as the holder of a bill, the committee declared that the fundamental objections to the purchase of checks were removed.

By permitting their purchase by the Reichsbank, the holder of a check payable in another city could get cash for it at any moment by having it discounted, whereas under the old method the amount was paid only after the check had been collected—that is, after a lapse of several days—and no liability was accepted by the bank for the presentation of the check for payment within the legal time limit. The discounted check in accordance with its intrinsic purpose, would be presented for collection by the bank as quickly as possible, and its equivalent put at the disposal of the party presenting it by means of the giro (his account current being credited with the amount), the necessity of a cash remittance being thus avoided. It is expected that the purchase of checks by the Reichsbank will stimulate the use of checks and, in general, promote monetary intercourse without the employment of cash.

RHODE ISLAND WILL NOT SEND DELEGATES.

Miniature State Will Not Shine at National Irrigation Congress at Pueblo.

Pueblo, Colo., June 13.—His official letterhead bearing the full name of the state, the quaint old designation by which the colony was known far back in the days when first established Governor Abran J. Pothier of Rhode Island writes a note of encouragement to the headquarters here concerning the work of the National Irrigation Congress.

This letter head bears the line across the top of the page: "State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." It is a pretty big name for the smallest state of the union, but it has always been recognized in all official documents as the full name of the state.

Governor Pothier says he doubts whether any delegates from Rhode Island can be induced to come more than half way across the continent this year to be present at the eighteenth sessions of the Irrigation Congress, Pueblo, September 26-30, but says he will investigate and see what can be done. He says, however, that there may be several public-spirited citizens of the state who will be willing to pay their own expenses and come anyway.

Also Governor Pothier says: "In reply to your urgent letter requesting the appointment of delegates from Rhode Island to the Eighteenth National Irrigation Congress in September next, I beg to assure you that Rhode Island is in hearty sympathy and accord with the work your congress is promoting."

There is an executive committee-man and honorary vice president from nearly every state and territory of the union in the National Irrigation Congress organization, but Rhode Island is not represented on the list. However, there have been sessions when representatives of that state have attended the congress, and it is hoped by the officers of the congress and the board of control here that Governor Pothier may find some citizens, as he suggests, who will come out from New England this year and see the work of the greatest development agency of the country, as the congress has been so aptly termed.

FLAG DAY WILL BE OBSERVED

Teachers at Institute Have Prepared Elaborate Program

SONGS AND RECITATIONS

As Well as Addresses Are Features-Institute Notes.

Tomorrow will be Flag day and will be observed in compliance with the proclamation of Governor Mills who set June 14 as the day for special honor to the stars and stripes.

The teachers attending the Santa Fe county teachers' institute in the city have arranged an interesting program for the day which they will observe with all the formality that school pupils would use if the day fell during the school year.

The celebration will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and will be held in the high school auditorium.

At the institute's meeting today Mrs. George Dixon read Governor Mills' proclamation and then Superintendent J. C. Conway suggested that a program of exercises be carried out tomorrow.

Sidelights.

The following notes have been communicated by a member of the institute on its work:

On Friday of last week, chancing to have ten minutes to spare, we asked for a talk from Miss McCoy of Kansas. She at once compared educational conditions in her home state with the same in New Mexico, favorably to the Sunshine Territory; remarking that in our institute here we are drilling our young teachers as to effective methods, more thoroughly than in the states. It is encouraging to us to find advanced educators appreciating our efforts.

Miss McCoy especially spoke of the splendid manner in which Mrs. Dixon conducts the normal and how very impressive she makes each lesson.

Prof. Putney recently remarked also that of all the institutes he has recently visited, the Santa Fe county institute is the most interesting, and he will have occasion to refer many times during the summer as he visits hundreds of institutes, to the excellence of the Santa Fe county normal. Prof. Putney is agent for the southwest for Silver Bardette & Co., book publishing firm.

Prof. J. A. Wood talked to the institute Saturday about his visit to the Southwestern College of Winfield, Kansas. He was connected with the college seven years and started with an enrollment of 43 pupils. The last year of Prof. Wood's connection with the Southwestern College he acted as president and had charge of the advertising department and the college enrolled 613 students, doubling the enrollment. Prof. Wood was the only representative at the college commencement up to 1894. He met a large number of the alumni who are holding high and responsible positions in different parts of the country.

Prof. Wood gave two public speeches and held a reception for the alumni and students of Southwestern College. Mrs. Wood accompanied the professor and later was joined by their daughter, Miss Laura Wood from Ottawa College in eastern Kansas. We are glad to have at the head of Santa Fe high school such an able professor as our Prof. J. A. Wood.

Miss Louisa Alard who taught the school at Cow Springs last year is a member of the institution, and is also an applicant for a third grade certificate.

Frank Ortiz is in constant attendance at the institute. He has taught in Santa Fe county for a number of years and given satisfaction. He expects to teach during the coming term.

Saturday's Work.

Saturday June 11 all the members were in their seats as usual, but had it not been for Mrs. Dixon's thoughtfulness to remind the students of Saturday's school session as well as the regular school days, some of them would have been absent.

Prof. Wood announced this morning to our conductor, the books which had been adopted for the reading circle for the coming year which will start in September. The books are District School, Primer of Sanitation, and Educational Standards.

Mrs. J. D. Canthen and her charming little daughter, Louise, visited the institute this morning. Mrs. Canthen will remain in the city until Monday or Tuesday.

One of the gentlemen of the institute particularly noticed that one of the teachers has taken a speed mania in drawing illustrations in physiology, as she drew an illustration of the digestive organs in about as much time as one could say the alphabet.

Cupid seems to have visited the institute, but we hope he will keep in the background until the session of the institute closes. We do not wish any of our young ladies carried away too soon. We cannot spare them.

CLIMATIC SUMMARY FOR MONTH OF MAY

Temperature for Entire Territory Was Far Above the Normal—Considerable Cloudiness.

For the territory as a whole the temperature during the month of May was considerably above the normal, although a narrow strip along the eastern border had less than normal temperature. The southwest counties greatly exceeded the normal, reaching a maximum excess of 5.7 degrees at Rio Grande dam, and averaging more than 2 degrees a day above the normal temperature in all of the country west of the Rio Grande. Moderate temperatures prevailed generally over the territory until the 24th, when a rapid rise occurred to the 28th, 29th or 30th, reaching the highest of the month, as a rule, on the latter date. A few stations, however, recorded the highest of the month on the 28th, 29th or 31st. In the southern districts a brief period of high temperatures occurred from the 9th to the 11th.

Cool periods occurred on the 2d, 6th, 7th, 17th and 23d. The 6th was probably the coolest day of the month. Damaging frosts occurred quite generally over the northern districts on the 6th, 7th and at a few of the higher stations on the 17th and 23d.

A wide difference is noticeable, in the average temperature of the month, between the southern stations and those in the higher altitudes of the north, the former exceeding 70 degrees, and the latter falling below 48 degrees, the former having maximum temperatures of 98 to 102 degrees, and the latter maximum temperatures of 78 to 82 degrees.

The precipitation of the month was greatly deficient. The showers that came were local in character and were light. A large number of stations received no precipitation, and many more but a trace. The deficiency was not confined to any particular part of the territory, even the northeast counties, which received the greatest average fall, were far below the normal. The mountain districts were more favored than the valleys and plains; but even in the mountains the precipitation was very light. From the Rio Grande valley eastward light and widely scattered showers occurred from the 3d to the 5th, from the 11th to the 14th, 21st to 23d, 30th-31st, while western counties shared in the scattered showers on the 17th-18th.

The heaviest fall occurred along the Colorado border in district No. 7, exceeding 2.00 inches over a considerable area in northern Colfax and northern Union counties. A little snow occurred in the northern mountain districts on the 21st-22d.

There was considerable cloudiness the average number of clear days, for the territory as a whole, was 15, partly cloudy 11, and cloudy 5. May is a windy month as a rule, but the month just closed was less windy than usual. The lack of wind and the gathering clouds each afternoon during the last half of the month, with frequent threatening conditions, much resembled the summer shower months but the showers were mostly lacking.

Temperature.

The mean temperature for the territory determined from the records of 69 stations having a mean altitude of about 5,000 feet, was 61.3 degrees or 1.5 degree above the normal, and 3.8 degrees above the mean of May, 1909. The highest local monthly mean was 72.3 degrees at Carlsbad, and the highest temperature recorded was 105 degrees at Alma on the 29th. The lowest local monthly mean was 47.2 degrees at Elizabethtown, and the lowest recorded was 18 degrees at the same station on the 17th. The greatest local range in temperature for the month was 74 degrees at Alma, Aragon and Bloomfield, and the least 44 degrees at Cloudcroft, while the greatest daily range in temperature was 58 degrees at Bloomfield on the 30th. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher occurred at Bloomfield, Carlsbad, Deming, Lordsburg, Newman, Rincon, Socorro and Alma. The average temperature for the districts was as follows: No. 7 (Canadian and north-east) 59.6 degrees; No. 8 (Pecos and Rio Grande) 61.8 degrees; No. 9, (Western) 63.0 degrees.

Precipitation.

The average precipitation for the territory determined from the records of 130 stations, was 0.40 inch, or 0.50 inch below the normal and 0.22 inch less than the precipitation of May, 1909. The greatest monthly amount was 3.50 inches at Valley, northeast Union county; no precipitation occurred at 12 stations and but a trace at 18 stations. The greatest amount in any 24 consecutive hours was 2.00 inches at Valley on the 21st-22d. The average snowfall for the territory (confined to the higher northern stations) was 0.2 inch. The average number of days with precipitation was two. The average precipitation for the districts was as follows: No. 7, 0.76 inch; No. 8, 0.28 inch, and No. 9, 0.12 inch.

AEROPLANE WILL NOT CUT FIGURE IN WAR.

Not a Means of Aggression or Even of Defense in a Real Contest.

Fort Sam Houston, Texas, June 11.—With the war department still investigating the aeroplane and with one of the investigators busy at Fort Sam Houston, army officers qualified and inclined to criticize that contrivance in the light of a military means have to be somewhat careful. But while not anxious to rush into print they have humble opinions of their own. In the language that passes over the tables at the Officers' Club the aeroplane in warfare will have as much chance as the proverbial snowball has in the melting region.

Said one of the officers who guides the destinies of an artillery organization:

"Modesty forbids me to say that I share the views of the commander of the department of the east. Still his view and mine coincide to a remarkable degree. Contrary to the opinions of aviators and the part of the general public that swears by their theories, the aeroplane will never be serviceable as a means of aggression or defense. Sooner or later, no doubt, the armies of the world will use it in their intelligence departments, and that will be all we shall hear of it for a long time.

"Aviator Curtiss after the completion of his Albany to New York flight made a number of sweeping statements which he would not make did he know as much about explosives as he does about flying machines. He proposed to wipe all New York off the face of Manhattan Island with dynamite and picric acid to be carried over it by aeroplanes. Theoretically this would be possible only could an aeroplane or a number of them carry more explosives than they do now or if explosives really had the wonderful power they are credited with in the mind of the person not familiar with them. The fact of the matter is that the average person hearing the word dynamite sees concentrated in a one-inch by eight-inch stick power enough to rip Pikes Peak from its base. The very mention of the word picric acid gives the laymen the shivers though there is not the slightest cause for goose flesh in the combination of picric acid and the aeroplane. The great truth in the case of picric acid is that as an explosive it is of no value whatever for the reason that a special firing device and not concussion will explode it. How the aviator hopes to effectively land a bomb from the height at which he will have to sail to avoid our shrapnel is beyond me."

Meanwhile Lieut. B. D. Foulous, who is operating at Fort Sam Houston the government Wright machine puts in most of his time repairing his flyer.

FIFTY THOUSAND ATTEND STADIUM DEDICATION.

Tacoma Public School Authorities Expend $135,000—Has Seating Capacity for 26,000 people.

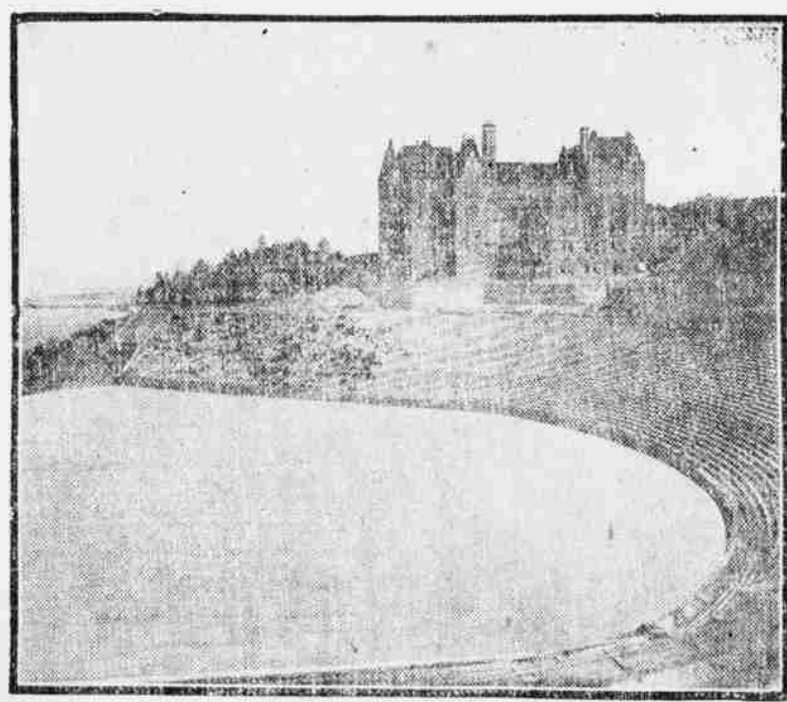

Tacoma, Wash., June 13.—With a feeling of awe similar to that experienced by the Indians when the first white man's cabin was erected here 53 years ago, 50,000 civilized whites are today participating in the dedication of the Tacoma High School Stadium, a $135,000 amphitheatre, the only structure of its kind in the world owned by a public school system. A great two-day celebration marks the formal opening, 10,000 children assisting in the dedication exercises with folk drills and a monster play festival.

Situated upon a verdant hillside, beneath the towering turrets of one of America's finest high school buildings and 150 feet above the placid waters of Commencement Bay; commanding a superb view of the Olympic and Cascade mountain ranges and located ed in 29 divisions, each division being marked by a monster pennant bearing the name of the school represented.

In the construction of the Stadium 180,000 cubic yards of earth were removed, 4,500 cubic yards of cement poured and 148 tons of structural steel utilized in building the seats. In the construction of the 2,000-foot retaining wall 55 tons of steel were used. Dressing rooms 36 by 50 feet are constructed under the tiers at both ends of the horse shoe. These dressing rooms are each fitted with 12 showers and other conveniences for athletic teams.

The drainage facilities are admirable, 10,000 lineal feet of tiling having been used for this purpose. The big field drains perfectly in one hour. A running track 16 feet wide and 1-5th mile long was constructed under expert supervision the year round. Two wide main entrances with 20-foot stairways lead from the high school level to the Stadium promenades, which connect with the high school gymnasium. In one portion of the grounds is located the tallest flagpole in the state of Washington. It is 190 feet

In the heart of Tacoma, the Stadium is an acquisition of which the Tacoma people feel justly proud. It was built entirely by public subscription and public funds and will be devoted entirely to athletics, conventions, play festivals and all out-door public gatherings. Next month the U. S. troops will hold an annual tournament in the big amphitheatre.

While the Stadium of Syracuse University excels the Tacoma structure in size, the latter is conceded vastly superior by reason of the natural beauties and panoramic advantages it affords. One may sit in any portion of the vast horse shoe and gaze for miles on every side over the flowing water of Puget Sound and to the long ranges of snow-capped mountains in the dim distance.

With 6.42 miles of concrete-steel seats 31 tiers high, the Tacoma Stadium affords seating capacity for 26,000 people. It is constructed in the form of a mammoth horse shoe, 400 feet long, 250 feet wide at its narrowest part and 390 feet at the widest. The field covers 2 6-10 acres of ground. The seating portion of the Stadium is divided by rows of concrete-steel steps into divisions. The 12,000 Tacoma school children in attendance are seated high and carries a 40-foot flag. The pole was donated by the Tacoma Elks.

People from every part of this state are attending the dedication, which includes addresses by three personages of official prominence and the children's play festival. This fiesta includes a massed grand march in costume; flag drill by 4,000 children; free hand drill by 3,000 children; Spanish costume dance by 350 girls; minut in court costume by 250 girls; folk dances by massed children assisted by the various foreign organizations of Tacoma. Two scenic Indian ceremonial dances; wrestling bouts; Japanese Jai-litsu and a big field and track meet are also included in the program of events.

The Tacoma high school building has heretofore ranked among the finest in the United States and with the acquisition of the Stadium it is conceded to be the most remarkable public school plant in the world.

Carload shipments are not likely to begin until around the 20th of July. The campaign will last about three weeks. A small acreage of late cantaloupe will be planted this month. ## DISPLAY OF SPANISH ARTS AND MANUFACTURES.

Preparations for Mexican Centennial Are on Magnificent Scale it is Reported.

Mexico City, June 13.—An exhibition hall for the display of Spanish arts and manufactures is to be erected in the Spanish colony in this city for the Mexican centennial during the month of September. The building will be located at the corner of Avenida Juarez, one of the principal thoroughfares of the city, and Calle de Balderas. This spot at present attracts considerable attention from being the place of ascension of the capitol building, "Ciudad de Mexico", which will also be a feature of centennial entertainment.

Plans for the building have already been made, and it is thought possible to complete it within two months and a half. As work will be begun early this month the building will be completed by the end of August. The structure will cost $35,000 and will be an ornament to the square, which has been vacant since the demolition of the old Orphan's Home, some years ago.

The first intention of the Spanish colony was to confine its exhibitions to samples of Spanish art; but present plans contemplate the exhibition of all classes of industrial work as well as the work of sculptors and painters.

Theaters to Be Improved.—Preparations for the Mexican centennial of independence continue, and it is the intention of the authorities to have the city in perfect order by September 1 when the festivities begin.

Contracts have recently been let for the improvement of a number of theaters, which are to be thoroughly refurnished and redecorated. More than $1,000,000 are to be expended in this manner, and when the plans are carried out the theaters of Mexico will be among the most beautiful in the world.

The contract for furnishing the department of communications has also been let. This calls for all furnishings and decorations to be on the Louis XV plan, and when they are completed the beauty of the building will be greatly enhanced. The building is now nearing completion; it will be finished during July.

The work on the municipal palace is nearly completed and this will be one of the handsomest in the city. The governor's private offices are being completely remodeled and refurnished and will be extremely artistic in design.

Work on the Benito Juarez memorial, in the Alameda is being rushed. It is the expectation to have this finished early in August. Part of the centennial program will be the dedication of this monument to the great liberator of Mexico.

The memorial is of marble imported from Italy for the purpose and will be most imposing, located as it is in the heart of the city on its principal thoroughfare leading from the national palace to Chapultepec.

STILL HOPING FOR STATEHOOD.

this year will follow closely those of last year.

Million Dollars Paid in on Corporation Tax.

Washington, June 13.—More than a million dollars has been paid into the treasury this year on account of the corporation tax. Twenty-seven million dollars have been levied against the corporations of the country. The tax is payable on or before June 30.

May Reach Agreement Tonight.

Washington, June 13.—The Senate and House conferees on the railroad rate bill spent several hours with the President today and at the conclusion the President expressed the hope that complete agreement on the bill will be reached by tonight.

With an agreement on the railroad bill in sight, members of Congress are beginning to figure on adjournment. Few members of either branch expect the session to last longer than Thursday, June 30, and not a few have put their guesses as early as Saturday, June 25.

No decision has been reached as to whether the session will be adjourned to the next session, but the impression seems to be that nothing will be done at this session. Even if the bill reported from the Senate committee on territories should pass, it differs so from the House bill that there would be slight chance for agreement in conference.

The railroad bill therefore appears to be the key to the adjournment situation, just as it has been for nearly four months.

Briefs in Ballinger Pinchot Case.

Washington, June 13.—Briefs were filed by the attorneys in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation today. The committee will assemble on Saturday to prepare for deliberations.

GERMAN LUTHERANS PROTEST AGAINST PAPAL ENCYCLICAL.

Berlin, June 13.—Several thousand Protestants took part in demonstrations in Berlin and mass meetings were held at Essen, Magdurg and other cities in denunciation of the papal encyclical, recently issued, condemnatory of religious reformers and making special reference to Martin Luther. Resolutions were adopted calling for the strongest action on the part of the government. These have been forwarded to the imperial chancellor. The manifestants also decorated the Luther memorial with wreaths.

EVERY ALLEY IN CARLSBAD HAS BEEN CLEANED.

It Does Not Take a Good Deal of Money to Keep Any City in Trim.

Carlsbad, N. M., June 13.—The new city administration has got down to business in earnest. The past week every alley has been thoroughly cleaned. The irrigation ditches are being overhauled and in a few days a respectable street force will be put to work to put the streets in proper condition. The streets have become littered up with rocks of all sizes the past two years, as a great deal of gravel has been hauled through the town for concreting purposes and careless drivers have allowed a great deal of stuff to fall off their wagons. The mayor, C. H. McLenathen, insists that it does not require any great deal of money to keep the town clean, provided proper attention is given to the matter. The roads leading into town are also being repaired and the farmers will hereafter have less difficulty in bringing heavy loads to Carlsbad. Considerable building is being done through the town. Indications are that the town will have a substantial growth this season.

The board of county commissioners have been in session the entire week as a board of equalization. The board will meet again in July to make such adjustments of taxes as may be necessary.

About a dozen new automobiles have been brought in the past month, making a total of machines in town about fifty.

The oat and wheat crop is being harvested. The yield is excellent, the grain being very plump and bright.

The peach crop is coming on well and shipments are likely to begin in about three weeks.

An alfalfa growers' association has been organized with W. W. Stocum as president and W. W. Galton as secretary.
