A Real Source of Health

Is the Stomach, but the most reliable barometer of your physical condition is the appetite. If it is poor, you can look for an overworked and overloaded condition of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, which prevent them from properly performing their daily functions. A trial of

The world loves to laugh at a lover.

Perhaps.

"Pa, who started the saying that a man's wife is his better half?" "Some man's wife, I reckon."

Had Him Guessing.

Walter Roberts, the theatrical man, is usually ready with a quick answer to any question that is put to him, but once upon a time he was clearly nonplussed. A woman had approached the ticket window and said:

"I would very much like to know if the show which is now going on is moral and proper."

Walter cast a scrutinizing glance at his questioner, but that was all.

"Why don't you answer my question, young man?" demanded the lady at the window.

"Because, madam, frankly speaking," said Walter, hesitating, "I'm not a good enough judge of human nature to know which way to answer without losing a patron."—Louisville Times.

The Watts Variation.

Alfred Watts, the young futurist poet, was lunching with his publisher at a Broadway restaurant recently, and while waiting for his bill he amused himself by matching quarters with his host. After several dollars had changed hands, the publisher looked through the window at one of those entertaining little Detroitites standing at the curb, and said, facetiously:

"I'll match you for that car, Alfred."

Mr. Watts tossed back his much-photographed golden mane, and remarked, with his characteristic drawl:

"Aw, don't be a piker! I'll match you for two dollars."

The Killjoy.

Senator Lawson of Brooklyn has introduced at Albany a bill to abolish the free lunch.

"The effect of this bill on drinking?" said Senator Lawson the other day.

"Well, it's effect on drinking will be the same as the old wife's."

"My old wife certainly looks after me good," said an old wag. "She even takes off my shoes for me."

"That's when you come home from Hogan's saloon, I suppose," said another wag.

"No," said the first one, "it's when I want to go there."

Couldn't Part.

Louis Halle was a colonel on Governor Yates' staff, and in that capacity accompanied him to Washington to be a part of an inaugural parade. All the colonels had uniforms a-plenty, but it was decided to rely upon the Washington supply of horses instead of taking the mounts along.

The governor sat on his horse awaiting the parade formation, and from time to time an orderly would gallop up with an official communication. On each occasion Colonel Halle was by his side. At last the governor observed:

"Colonel Halle, I see no necessity for your sticking to this orderly in the performance of his duties."

"There isn't any," admitted Halle, "but, you see, our horses are a life-long team."

The Kind of Food that will Keep You Well.

The true way is to find out what is best to eat and drink, and then cultivate a taste for those things instead of poisoning ourselves with improper, indigestible food, etc.

A conservative Mass. woman writes: "I have used Grape-Nuts 5 years for the young and for the aged; in sickness and in health; at first following directions carefully, later in a variety of ways as my taste and judgment suggested."

"But its most special, personal benefit has been as a substitute for meat, and served dry with cream when rheumatic troubles made it important for me to change diet."

"Served in this way with the addition of a cup of hot Postum and a little fruit it has been used at my morning meal for six months, during which time my health has much improved, nerves have grown steadier, and a gradual decrease in my excessive weight adds greatly to my comfort."

GERMAN BICYCLE SCOUT SQUAD IN POLAND

TRIAL OF STAMINA

Endurance, Not Showy Battles, Will Decide This War.

Case of One of Czar's Troopers Cited to Show Endurance of Russians—Perforated, Anxious to Return to Front.

Warsaw.—There can be no doubt now that this war is going to be decided, not by a series of brilliant, showy victories in grand battles, but by a trial of stamina and power of endurance between the allies and their Teutonic enemies.

Nowhere do the conditions of war demand of the allies so much patient endurance and indifference to great sufferings as on the eastern front, where the Russian army is laboring under most cruel disadvantages owing to scarcity of railways and almost total absence of good roads, while the Germans have in their rear the most perfect system of strategic railways in the world, built entirely for the purposes of an aggressive war against Russia.

For this trial of endurance and stamina the Russian army is eminently suited, both collectively and individually. There is no other soldier in the world who can stand so much physical pain and privation as the Russian.

In this connection one may recall a characteristic scene described in the Russkoye Slovo of Moscow, by its correspondent at the front.

The scene took place at a field hospital. In front of a large tent a crowd of wounded soldiers, straight from the trenches, were waiting medical aid. A kindly Russian priest was handing round mugs of tea, which he poured from a large samovar. The soldiers drank their tea with frank expressions of enjoyment on their faces—all except one. He first silently brushed aside the proffered hand of the priest, and when the latter pressed upon him a mug of tea mumbled dully:

"Can't. The tooth aches. Please, can I see the doctor?"

The priest could not refrain from reproaching the big fellow for troubling the doctor with a toothache.

"Why," he said, "fancy a strong, healthy fellow like you coming here with a toothache, just after the battle, when the doctors are so busy with really important cases. Couldn't you wait?"

"It aches something awful," mumbled the soldier.

"Then, why didn't you come earlier, before the battle?"

"It didn't ache then. It started aching only when the bullet got in my mouth. It stuck there."

The soldier touched his cheek with his finger.

Only then did the priest realize how unjust he was in reproaching the soldier with malingering. He hurried for a surgeon, who hastily examined the soldier's mouth. The bullet could not be seen from the inside, but he could feel it through the cheek.

"Now, hold tight, little brother," he said, arming himself with pincers, "and don't you move."

"Ready to obey, your honor," replied the soldier, quite briskly, forgetting the pain.

A most painful operation ensued. The surgeon made one pull, then another, and yet another, and all proved unsuccessful, and only the fourth pull brought out the bullet. With his mouth bleeding profusely, he asked the surgeon to let him have his bullet as a souvenir. Smiling and happy, he sat down to tea.

"Ah, it is good to drink hot tea now. I got quite cold. My back is wet and cold—all sticky."

"What is the matter with it?" inquired the priest.

"Oh, it must be a bullet—grazed my back," answered the soldier, quite indifferently.

The priest again called the surgeon. The soldier was quite upset to trouble "his honor" when he was so busy.

"A through wound," anxiously remarked the surgeon, after a quick examination.

"Well, there you are," quite cheerfully retorted the soldier; "she went in and out. So why waste your time over her? No harm done. If your honor would only bandage it, I shall be all right."

The surgeon had to bring down the whole weight of his authority to prevent him from scooting back to the trenches with a fresh "through" wound in his chest.

This sturdy, simple-hearted soldier, so indifferent to pain and privation, is but a type of Russia's peasant warriors. Against an army of such warriors all the impetuous German onslaughts will break like sea waves against a granite rock.

HAS TRADE SCHOOL FOR MEN

Great Britain Fits Grown-Ups for Jobs Which Require Skilled Labor.

London.—One of the most interesting employment experiments in England is a trade training school for men, enabling them to shift from a trade temporarily stagnant owing to the war, into one where skilled labor is urgently needed. The experiment is being carried out by the Prince of Wales Relief fund, and if successful may be indefinitely extended.

Furniture trade was one of those adversely affected by the war, and a large number of skilled furniture workers have since become skilled leather workers, on military equipment.

The school was opened December 7, last. In the first five weeks of its existence it enrolled 139 men, 64 of whom already have "graduated" and obtained employment as leather stitchers.

More than half of the men placed have been more than forty years old, and the report of the first five weeks' work in the school says men more than forty, "and indeed over fifty," are as quick and adaptable as the younger men.

Country Boy Returns Home After Few Weeks' Absence Driving a Racing Car.

Hutchinson, Kan.—Henry Koehn, a country boy from Galva, McPherson county, was sent to Hutchinson a few weeks ago by his father to get an education in a business college. His father gave him $250 and good advice.

"Now, Henry, be careful," his father advised. "This will be enough money. You can't have extras." Henry came back home, driving a 1915 model racing roadster. He wore a tailor-made suit and a diamond ring. Also he had in his pocket a bank book showing that he had $2,500 or more on deposit in a bank.

A few days after his arrival in Hutchinson with his $250, he fell in with a friend of his father, a grain man. Henry was tempted. He invested his $250 in wheat. Usually it pans out the other way. In Henry's case it didn't. Some say he cleaned up as much as $7,000. Henry is not going to school.

"HICCUGHS OF THE SEA"

Scientists Explain Frequent Reports of Cannonading Heard in the North Sea.

Paris.—The frequent reports, which subsequently were not confirmed, that heavy cannonading had been heard in the North sea, have led to an investigation by scientists. It was thus disclosed that the reports of detonations were authentic, although no firing took place.

Scientists who were on the lookout for a repetition of this phenomenon were rewarded by hearing loud detonations off the coast on a day when it was known that no naval action whatever was in progress. This phenomenon was noted along the French coast, off the Department of Pas-de-Calais. Abbe Moreux of the observatory at Bourges came to the conclusion that these loud reports were simply what the Belgians call "mistpuffers," or explosions of fog. They are called "hiccoughs of the sea" in Holland, and sometimes are referred to as marine bombs. The same phenomenon has been observed on the banks of the great lakes and on the great plains of the Delta of the Ganges.

After the theory that these detonations were produced by artillery had been discarded, it was thought possible that they were the result of electrical discharges. Finally Abbe Moreux noticed that the appearance of this phenomenon was generally simultaneous with reports of explosions of firedamp in mines.

The electrical action of the sun upon the surface of the earth, the abbe says, provokes movements favorable to the expansion of imprisoned gases wherever there are fissures in the crust.

These gases, liberated from their prisons, explode and cause at the same time explosions of firedamp and earthquakes. The abbe pointed out that earthquakes are always preceded by noises resembling distant detonations of artillery. Vibrating shocks originating in the interior of the crust of the earth may produce sonorous waves which are quite perceptible if the atmosphere is in repose.

Abbe Moreux says that meteorological conditions do not, as has been supposed, cause the phenomenon, although they may favor its production.

Bryn Mawr receives no specific bequest, but the terms of the will indicate that Miss Thomas and Miss Garrett, who had been close friends for years, had an understanding that the college was to receive substantial benefits. The picture shows Miss Thomas and Baron Russell Briggs of Radcliffe college at recent college exercises.

TOO MUCH FOR JUDGE GARY

Youthful Lawyer Made Technical Error in Billiard Contest With Legal Veteran.

Judge Martin, as a young lawyer and on first arrival in Chicago, thought himself fortunate in gaining an introduction to Judge Gary—the Gary who tried the anarchists. The judge took a shine to the young chap and proposed a game of billiards, wherein Martin made a technical error that he remembered for long. Gary played an old man's game, and Martin then as now, was particularly handy with a cue.

Picture a contest of thirty-four points with four balls on a 4 1/2 by 9 table. The judge (barely bending), with a childish bridge and a nerveless stroke, missed his first shot. Martin, in shirtsleeves, crouched over the table like a jockey piloting a winner, and applied himself to rolling up a run. He had counted fifteen or twenty when he turned and saw the judge disappearing through the door and moving with ruffled dignity.

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. ERRORS IN FEEDING PROTEIN

Plenty of Right Kind of Feed is Required to Run Milk Machine to Its Fullest Limit.

It is a great mistake to give the cow indifferent care until her milk flow has greatly diminished, then try, by feeding her heavy, to get her back to her full flow.

The dairyman who withholds protein foods until the cows have cleaned up all roughage will soon learn the folly of his ways when he adds the figures of his milk checks.

A worse mistake than high protein feeding is made by many farmers. That mistake is not feeding enough of anything.

The man who goes into the dairy business thinking that selecting good cows and compounding balanced rations is all he needs to understand is sure to wake up a sadder and wiser man.

It requires plenty of feed to run the cow machine to its full limits. This limit varies more than most people seem to think.

SELECT HIGH VITALITY SEED

Possess Power of Germinating Rapidly and Producing Healthy and Vigorous Plants.

(By W. W. ROBBINS, Colorado Agricultural College.)

Seeds with "high vitality" possess the power of germinating quickly and of producing healthy, vigorous plants.

- 1. Age—Vitality of seeds decrease with age. 2. Maturity—Although seeds will germinate when not fully mature, the plants produced are weaker than those from fully matured seeds.

SILO IS QUITE ECONOMICAL

Preserves Palatability and Succulence of Green Corn Plant for Winter Cattle Feeding.

The Indiana experiment station gives the following practical reasons why farmers who keep live stock should build a silo. Here they are:

The silo increases the live stock capacity of the farm.

Silage is a good summer feed when pastures are short.

Because of the small amount of ground space required by the silo it is an economical means of storing forage.

The silo located near the feed manger is an assurance of having feed near at hand in stormy as well as fair weather.

The silo assists in reducing the cost of grains in fattening cattle and sheep.

Silage greatly increases the milk flow during the winter season and decreases the cost of production.

There are no stalks to bother in the manure when corn is put into silo.

All should understand that silage is not a complete or balanced ration. It is a succulent food and should be supplemented with some balancing dry feed.

GOOD GROUNDS FOR POULTRY

Low, Heavy Soils Make Industry Precarious—Much of Success Depends on Warm, Dry, Sandy Loam.

There are people who will tell you that any kind of ground will make good poultry ground. It will not.

Low, heavy soils make poultry raising precarious. The loss by disease of many kinds in certain flocks can be traced directly to the low ground upon which they feed and run.

The success of many a poultryman is not always so much due to his feed and care as the warm, dry sandy loam the fowls live on.

In buying ground upon which to raise poultry look well to the ground you buy. If it is not ideal poultry ground in soil, drainage and location, you can scarcely make it that except at a cost that eats up the profits fast.

Remedy for Feather-Eating. Where feather-eating is practiced try giving the fowls some sulphur, one teaspoonful in the soft feed of every three fowls, two times a week.

RESULT IS MUCH THE SAME

Slight Difference Between the Methods of the Ancient and the Modern Turtles.

A wicked turtle had for years been troublesome to the inhabitants of the marsh in which he dwelt. He bit the legs off frogs, ate fish with relish, and occasionally grabbed hold of a snake and held on until it thundered.

Finally the animals held a court and tried the turtle on the charge of murder. The turtle was there, with his harveized shell in perfect repair and covered with moss an inch thick.

The judgment of the court was that the turtle should be hanged by the neck until he was dead. When this decision was announced there was great cheering, and the court officers prepared to put the sentence into execution at once.

Moral—In these days turtles bribe grand juries or employ good attorneys.

AFTER SUFFERING TWO LONG YEARS

Mrs. Agelin Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one was born I was sick with pains in my sides which the doctors said were caused by inflammation. I suffered a great deal every month and grew very thin. I was under the doctor's care for two long years without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it we got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the third bottle of the Compound I was able to do my housework and today I am strong and healthy again. I will answer letters if anyone wishes to know about my case."

The farmers of the Prairie Dell community turned out Tuesday and Wednesday, of last week, and plowed and planted 16 to 20 acres to milo maize, on the old Walker place, now owned by Charley Alsdorf. Eight plows were run and two teams were kept busy planting the ground as fast as plowed.

The crop will be cultivated, harvested, and sold to pay their minister, and the remainder will be used on their new church.

This is a move in the right direction and shows that a spirit of co-operation exists among the citizens of this community, for which they are to be commended.

May their labors be rewarded by a "Bountiful Harvest."

us: you have earned our affectionate admiration and friendship. Even now we are not separated in the object we seek, but only in the method by which we seek it.

"It is for these reasons my feeling about your retirement from the secretaryship of state goes so much deeper than regret. I sincerely deplore it. Our objects are the same and we ought to pursue them together. I yield to your desire only because I must and wish to bid you God speed in the pasting. We shall continue to work for the same cause even when we do not work in the same way.

With affectionate regard, sincerely yours,
