GETTING READY FOR CONVENTION

Secretary Jaffa is Receiving Copies of Various State Constitutions

DELAY IN THE ELECTION

Cannot Take Place Until September on Account of Legal Provisions.

Territorial Secretary Jaffa has written to all the secretaries of the forty-six states for copies of their state constitutions and in addition to receiving such copies, is also the recipient of many letters of congratulations and well wishes for this commonwealth. Two copies each of the state constitutions of the following states have been received: Ohio, Utah, Michigan, Tennessee, Minnesota, Arkansas, Illinois, Missouri, Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska.

No Election Until September. In going over the statehood bill today it was found that the preliminaries for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention must be the same as for other elections. This will require the appointing of registration boards in each county at the meetings of county commissioners on July 5. Under the law, the election cannot be held until sixty days after the appointment of these boards, thus throwing the election into September and the convening of the convention into October.

New Mexico Honored. That New Mexico was especially honored at the reception to ex-President Roosevelt in New York, which was witnessed by millions of people, is apparent from some of the official programs Governor Mills brought back with him. Governor Mills, for instance, occupied a carriage near the head of the procession and ahead of the carriages occupied by the governors of New York, New Hampshire, Minnesota and other states. Governor Mills also brought with him a very handsome souvenir medal which is unusually artistic.

Teachers' Examinations. The examinations of the Santa Fe County Teachers' Institute will take place on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Getting Capitol Ready for Constitutional Convention.

The work of breaking through the eastern wall of the capitol to connect with the new annex was begun today and is to be completed by next week. The fire proofing of the rooms occupied by Game Warden T. P. Gable and that just vacated by the mounted police who have moved to the third floor, is under way. These rooms are located over the boiler which heats the building. The offices in the annex are to be plastered and completed by September 1, and the officials occupying offices on the third floor of the capitol have been given notice to move on that date as their present offices will be needed as committee rooms by the constitutional convention. Additional desks and chairs will be ordered for the hall of representatives in which the constitutional convention will sit. As the House provided only for 24 members and the convention will have one hundred members, the latter will feel somewhat crowded.

County Treasurer Overflowing. Almost a million and a half dollars in balances are reported by Traveling Auditor Charles V. Safford in the different county treasuries on June 1. The exact sum is $1,420,640.31 and attests to the excellent financial condition of the commonwealth. The following were the balances by counties: Chaves $184,993.50; Bernalillo 106,848.42; Grant 95,584.54; Lincoln 88,393.44; Luna 84,016.16; Valencia 82,999.71; San Miguel 74,226.11; Dona Ana 70,881.81; Socorro 67,168.17; Curry 52,631.70; Otero 51,914.66; Colfax 51,485.32; Rio Arriba 48,857.96; Eddy 48,630.13; Santa Fe 40,722.08; Quay 35,228.12; Union 33,311.08; Sandoval 29,767.38; Guadalupe 29,572.00; Sierra 26,065.43; Mora 24,673.99; Torrance 23,673.12; Roosevelt 20,090.61; Taos 19,194.92; McKinley 15,157.81; San Juan 14,912.14.

Water Applications Approved. Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan today approved the following water rights applications: No. 399. J. B. Neff, et al., of Alamo, for waters of Cottonwood canon to irrigate 640 acres. No. 391. Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Company of Tusas, Rio Arriba county, waters of the Tusas and Vallecitos to the amount of twenty second feet to develop 180 horse power.

No. 390. Charles M. Grover of San Rafael, Valencia county, waters of Cerro canon to reclaim 160 acres.

No. 394. C. J. Herringa of Pasamonte, Union county, for Buffalo Arroyo to irrigate 320 acres.

No. 393. Leck Burk of Clayton, Union county, for waters of unnamed arroyo.

No. 388. Thomas Gowman of Artesia Eddy county, for waters of Eagle Draw, to irrigate 500 acres.

Apportionment Made. The commission consisting of Governor Mills, Chief Justice Pope and Secretary Jaffa this afternoon decided upon the following apportionment of delegates for the constitutional convention, and Governor Mills will issue his proclamation in a day or two.

Acquisitions for Historical Society. Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews will present to the Historical Society for its museum at Santa Fe not only the eagle's quill with which President Taft signed the statehood bill and the flag that floated over the capitol the day that the House occurred in the bill but also the pen with which President Roosevelt signed the joint statehood bill two years ago. It is likely that a formal presentation ceremony will be arranged for in the near future.

PORTER CHARLTON'S CASE HANGS FIRE.

Formal Arraignment Postponed Until Department of State Passes on Extradition Request.

New York, June 28.—Porter Charlton's case now awaits the result of exchanges between the state department at Washington and the Italian government. His counsel today is asking that the formal arraignment be postponed and promised that no effort will be made under habeas corpus, insanity or other proceedings to take the prisoner out of the hands of the New Jersey authorities pending the adjourned arraignment which was set for July 8. In the meantime it is expected that a decision will be reached whether Charlton is to be delivered to the Italian authorities on extradition proceedings.

DEATH CLAIMS ONE OF LOUISIANA'S SENATORS.

Samuel Douglas McNery Who Was a Protectionist Answers the Last Summons.

New Orleans, La., June 28.—United States Senator Samuel Douglas McNery died at his home here this morning.

Senator McNery was in his seventy-fourth year, and his health had not been good for several years.

Dear People Not Consulted by Democrats. Baton Rouge, La., June 28.—Governor Jared Y. Sanders will succeed the late Senator McNery in the United States Senate, according to party leaders here. The legislature is in session and Sander's election is being arranged.

PATERSON, N. J., SUFFERS $500,000 FIRE.

Block Adjoins District Devastated by Flames in 1902—Five Firemen Injured.

Paterson, N. J., June 28.—Fire early today swept a block of Main street from Ward to Market street, causing a loss of $500,000. Five firemen were injured by falling walls. The burned area is a block away from the big fire of 1902.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT GOES TO BOSTON.

New York, June 28.—Colonel Roosevelt left here this morning for Boston, where he will attend the Harvard commencement exercises.

PEARY CHARGED WITH EXTORTION

Suit Instituted by Rudolph H. Francke on Trial at Berlin

$10,000 DAMAGES DEMANDED

Defense Sets Up General Denial and Questions Jurisdiction.

Berlin, June 28.—The Cook-Pearly controversy came into the lime light again today when the suit instituted by Rudolph H. Francke against Peary was opened. Francke who associated with Dr. Cook in polar exploration, demands $10,000 in satisfaction of prizes of the hunt which he alleges Peary required him to surrender in consideration of bringing him back to America. The defense sets up general denial and also questions the jurisdiction of the court on the grounds that the defendant is an American citizen. Francke's lawyer asserted that Peary caused the plaintiff to turn over to him certain blue fox skin furs and narwhale tusks as the only condition on which he would take him from the Arctic, where if deserted, he believed he would die.

Presents for Roosevelt and Taft. Berlin, June 28.—An attorney argued that the transaction was illegal because the transaction was under stress. He said a pair of the narwhale tusks was later presented by Peary to Colonel Roosevelt, while some blue fox skins were given to President Taft and Mrs. Taft. Counsel for Peary denied the allegations of Francke from beginning to end, and said they had the same foundation as did Cook's claim that he been to the north pole.

ODDS TEN TO SEVEN IN FAVOR OF JEFFRIES.

Betting Opened on Big Fight in San Francisco This Morning—Much Johnson Money in Sight.

San Francisco, Calif., June 28.—Betting on the big fight opened this morning at odds of ten to seven with Jeffries as the favorite. Many wagers are being placed and much Johnson money is in sight.

No Interference With Fight.

Reno, June 28.—The last lingering fear of interference in the big fight of July 4, was swept away this morning, when Governor Dickinson arrived and personally announced to Tex Rickard that there is no possibility of interference. "I do not know how the rumors of possible interference by myself have gotten out," said the governor as he shook hands with beaming Tex. "I wish to state again that I have not considered such a thing at any time. The state of Nevada will not interfere as the laws of the state have been complied with." Jeffries disappointed a huge crowd of spectators at his training quarters early this morning by announcing cheerfully that he did not intend to do any work today. Then he charged through the crowd and went up the road in a cloud of dust. Upon his return after a seven mile dog trot he said he felt too good to work today, and went to his rooms. It was rest day this morning at Jack Johnson's camp also, but during the afternoon the champion took up the hard grind of boxing and gymnasium work.

BANK WRECKER RE-ARRESTED AT CANON CITY.

Aged President Released From Penitentiary Only to Face Another Serious Charge.

Rocky Ford, Colo., June 28.—John Goddard, former president of the state bank at Rocky Ford, Colo., was released on parole from the state penitentiary at 10 o'clock this morning. One minute later, as the aged bank wrecker stepped through the big gate, he was re-arrested by Sheriff Porter of Otero county on warrants charging him with accepting deposits after he knew the bank was insolvent. Goddard will be taken to La Junta and confined in jail pending a preliminary hearing.

E. P. HOLCOMB GOES TO DENVER.

Washington, June 28.—In order that the direction of field work among the Indians may be as close to the red men and their problem as possible, Commissioner Valentine of the bureau of Indian affairs, has established the headquarters of the field service at Denver, and has abolished the field headquarters at Albuquerque and Salt Lake City.

The office of Chief Supervisor E. P. Holcomb will be transferred from Washington to Denver and Mr. Holcomb will have charge of the work there. All investigating and inspecting phases of the service and part of administrative work will be concentrated in the Colorado capital.

STORMS IN SOUTH AND WEST

Floods Cause Loss of Life and Property in Kentucky

CLOUD BURSTS, WASH OUTS

Santa Fe Trains Are Stalled in Arizona by Heavy Rains.

Lexington, Ky., June 28.—Cloud bursts in the mountains of eastern Kentucky late yesterday did considerable damage. Many houses were washed away and it is reported that several lives lost.

Washouts in Arizona.

Albuquerque, June 28.—Trains from the south and west are from four to six hours late today due to washouts on the Santa Fe railroad last night and this morning. The rains are of great benefit to stockmen and ranchers.

MEDICAL WRITERS ARE GIVING ADVICE.

Equipment Necessary for Battling With Accidents Where Sane Fourth is Not Observed.

Santa Feans who are opposed to the heathen custom of exploding fire crackers at any time and especially on Independence Day are much interested in the attention medical magazines are giving to the approaching day which may mean a day of sorrow for so many families throughout the land. In the July number of Good Health, a magazine edited by the noted Dr. J. H. Kellogg, head of the largest sanitarium in the world, appear illustrations showing how to bring first aid to the injured on July 4.

The following is the interesting "roster" of articles recommended to have on hand if a sane and safe Fourth of July is not observed in your community: "One or more rolls of bandages, 6 to 9 yards long; these bandages to vary in with one inch for fingers, two inches for hands and feet, two and one-half to three inches for head and arms and three to four inches for legs; a hot water bottle; spine bag; ice bag; two fomentation cloths, a quantity of sterile gauze, some clean soft white cotton or linen cloths; a roll of absorbent cotton, pins, bi-chloride tablets, white enamel basins, pair of sharp scissors, soap, hand and nail brushes, a package each of bicarbonate of soda and boric acid, a spool of adhesive plaster, a bottle of some bland sweet oil, a tube of carbolized vaseline, all conveniently arranged in a special drawer or box for immediate use."

"If that does not look like preparation for a battle I do not know what it is," said a Santa Fe enthusiast in the cause of a Firecrackerless Fourth of July.

ANTONIO PEREA STABS PEDRO PEREA IN COLORADO.

Then Holds Up a Bystander and Relieves Him of $8—Vain Endeavor to Make His Escape on Stolen Horse.

Canfield, Colo., June 28.—Pedro Perea was killed by Antonio Perea near this place. The men are not related, though their names are alike. No cause is known.

The men were playing the graphophone when Antonio walked over to Pedro who was tending the machine and stabbed him in the neck with a case-knife ground to a point. The blade went clear through the neck. Then he held up a bystander and took $8 in currency.

Going to the road Antonio stopped a man on horseback, and taking the animal, made his escape. Sheriff Capp of Boulder was notified, and overtook the man near Superior, capturing him with the horse and money in his possession.

The man has been taken to the Boulder county jail.

DANCING PROFESSOR SAYS SALOME IS REAL NAUGHTY.

San Antonio, June 28.—According to "Prof." Z. A. Hall, member of the Dancing Masters' Association of the United States and Canada, Salome dancing is just turning and pirouetting and the discarding of trifling and tantalizingly inefficient articles of clothing such as the seven veils. Professor Hall says that his association has not sanctioned the Salome dance and does not intend to for the reason that it is real naughty. He came away from a performance with a great deal of chagrin. This he poured over the devoted head of a reporter whom he sought out for that purpose. The professor had been in the dancing business for 29 years and thinks he ought to know.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF VERMEJO PARK TRAGEDY.

Carlos Archuleta Was Intoxicated When He Shot Widow and Then Himself.

Says a dispatch from Trinidad, Colorado, to the Denver Times:

After accusing Juanita Gallegos, his mistress, of unfaithfulness, Carlos Archuleta, a rural mail route driver in Colfax county, New Mexico, shot her through the head in their home at 8 o'clock last Saturday night and, under the impression that he had killed her, went a mile from the house into a field and blew out his brains.

The double tragedy was closely followed by a third when the 19-year-old daughter of the woman went into the house and finding all dark, set fire to her clothing in lighting a lamp and was burned to death.

News of the triple horror reached here only today, the gruesome story coming to light when Archuleta failed to appear as usual on his mail route extending to Vermejo Park, in Colfax county.

From the woman, who will probably die, the story was told to the first man on the scene. It appears that Archuleta had some time ago persuaded the woman to leave her husband and live with him. He was intensely jealous of her, even though their little home was remote from other houses in the sparsely settled community.

Of late he had been accusing her of infidelity and she in return had threatened to leave him and return to her husband, who was anxious to have her back. The couple had been quarreling for several days prior to the tragedy and when Archuleta reached home in an intoxicated condition Saturday night the old bickering was renewed violently.

When hot words had been passing for a time the man suddenly drew a large revolver and fired point blank at the woman, the bullet striking her in the left side of the head. She fell as though dead and Archuleta hurried from the house to the field, where he ended his own life.

While the woman was still unconscious the little daughter returned to end her life in the house of death.

FORTY-FIVE CHINAMEN ARE DEPORTED.

Celestials Are Evidently Extremely Anxious to Live Under the Stars and Stripes.

San Antonio, Texas, June 28.—Another batch of smuggled Chinamen, forty-five of them this time, is being taken to San Francisco by Deputy U. S. Marshal Charles Stevens of this city. From that point they will be deported to China.

The federal authorities are now making every effort to suppress the smuggling of Chinese along the Mexican border. Secret service men have recently succeeded in uncovering the methods employed by the smugglers and it is expected that the traffic will be seriously interfered with if not wholly stopped in a very short time. It is claimed that the organization of the smugglers is a very thorough and efficient one and that nothing liable to aid them in their illicit work is overlooked by them. A few days ago it was discovered that they had provided themselves with a school in which Chinamen about to be brought to the United States could acquire English enough so as to back up the dates of their forged entrance certificates.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT IN LOCAL WOOL MARKET.

New Clip in the West is Moving Slowly and Local Buyers Make Very Little Inquiry.

Boston, June 28.—There was a slight improvement noted in the local wool market but transfers are nearly all at manufacturers' prices. Business, however, is confined to fine and fine mediums, scoured territory, half and quarterblood fleeces and little unwashed. Delaine one-quarter Ohio sells at 25 cents and fine territory at 62 to 64 cents clean. Advances from the west indicate that the new clip is moving slowly, with very little inquiry on part of local buyers.

RELIGIOUS DISTURBANCES IN UNHAPPY SPAIN.

Police Cut Down With Sabers a Carlist and Nationalist Mob at Bilbao.

Bilbao, Spain, June 28.—There were further disturbances today growing out of the strained relations between the government and the Vatican. A crowd of Carlists and Nationalists surrounded the palace of the governor of Biscay province shouting: "Down with the government!" The police charged the crowd with drawn sabres, wounding a number of them.

WYOMING LAND MADE BARREN BY ALKALI.

Evansville, Wyo., June 28.—Farmers from the Lyman country report that some of the finest land in that section is being destroyed by alkali coming to the surface. Farms that were beautiful in vegetation a few years ago are almost barren.

DEATH RIDES WITH JOY

Automobile Dashes Through Fence and Plunges Into Creek

ONE VICTIM WAS DROWNED

Five Others Including Young Woman Were Seriously Injured.

Chicago, June 28.—One man was pinned under his automobile and drowned and five others and a young woman were seriously injured a few miles from Hammond, Ind., early this morning, when the car plunged into a creek. Peter Ripley of Hammond was drowned. The injured include Irving and Frank Beetz, Jr., sons of a millionaire manufacturer of Hammond, Irving was driving the car and racing with an interurban car, he lost control of the machine. The car plunged from the road through a fence and turned turtle in the creek.

JOY RIDER DEMANDS ITS DAILY VICTIMS.

Bradford, Pa., June 28.—Harold Backus, a chauffeur, aged 22, was killed and two companions were injured when their automobile crashed into a telegraph pole.

Italian May Die.

Beverly, Mass., June 28.—The serious condition of Michael Thisthwill, an Italian laborer who was struck yesterday by an automobile operated by Robert Taft, a son of President Taft, has caused a hurried change in the plans of the Taft family, who were preparing to depart on the Sylph for New London today to attend the Harvard-Yale regatta Thursday.

Instead of attending the races the family will remain at Beverly unless there is an unexpected change for the better in the man's condition.

The report from Beverly hospital last night was that his name was on the dangerous list and he has only a slight chance of recovery. Dr. Mixler, of Boston, sent at the request of the President, arrived here late this afternoon. He is working with the hospital authorities doing all he can for the injured man. Robert Taft is badly broken up over the affair.

Chief of Police Ferguson has received instructions through the President's attorney to see that the injured man is given every possible attention until his arrival when he will take care of the matter himself. Robert has been in conference with the chief several times and refused to go out in the automobile again today.

Secretary King of the board of trade, received word from the President's secretary today stating that the President would arrive at Beverly early Wednesday morning.

President Much Distressed.

Washington, June 28.—President Taft was greatly distressed when he learned of his son's unfortunate accident at Beverly, Mass. He immediately sent a long message to his son, the text of which was not made public, but which is said to have contained instructions to do everything possible for the injured man. The following telegram was sent to an old college friend of the President:

"Samuel Carr, Boston, Mass.: By an unfortunate automobile accident at Beverly, my son Robert struck a street laborer, fracturing his skull. He is at Beverly hospital. Will you not call up by phone the best surgeon in Boston and have him visit the hospital at once and tender service to the resident physician and do all he can for the injured man?"

(Signed) "WILLIAM H. TAFT." The President then sent a personal telegram to the injured man expressing his profound regret over the accident and conveying to the victim his earnest hope of a speedy recovery. This telegram was not made public.

ASSASSIN OF EGYPTIAN PREMIER IS HANGED.

Ibrahim Wadani Expatriates Political Murder on the Gallows at Cairo.

Cairo, Egypt, June 28.—Ibrahim Wadani, the assassin of Boutros Pasha Ouali, Egyptian premier and minister of foreign affairs, was hanged today. Wadani shot and killed the premier on February 20.

RUBE WADDELL SIGNS WATER WAGON PLEDGE.

St. Louis, June 28.—George Edward (Rube) Waddell, suspended pitcher of the St. Louis American League team, was fined $150 in police court on a charge of disturbing the peace. The fine was stayed after Waddell signed a pledge to abstain from intoxicants for one year. Waddell pitched for Socorro last season and his marital exploits have been in the papers lately.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

"THE DEED IS THE MAN."

The Dream is the babe in the lovely nest.

And the rollicking boy at play;

The Dream is the youth with the old, old zest.

For the rare romance of a day.

Then the Deed strides forth to the distant goal.

That has dazzled since life began;

For the Dream is the child of the rampant soul.

But the Deed is the man.

The Dream is the peak that is seen afar.

And the wish for the eagle's wings;

The Dream is the song to the beck'ning star.

That the world wait fondly sings.

Then the Deed comes crowded with the strength and skill.

That doth perfect a golden plan;

For the Dream is the child of the sovereign will—

But the Deed is the man.

The Dream is the mask that would make men fair.

And the boast that would count them brave.

The Dream is the honors that heroes wear.

And the glory that high hearts crave.

Then the Deed gives battle to pride and pelf.

As only a conqueror can;

For the Dream is the child of the better self—

But the Deed is the man.

No song was so sweet and no star so bright.

As the Dream of the Nazarene;

From the Virgin's bosom to Calvary's height.

It sang and it shone, serene.

Then the Deed proclaimed Him King of His kind.

As the blood of the Martyr ran;

For the Dream was the Child of the Master mind—

But the Deed was the Man!

—James C. McNally in National Magazine.

Death at Albuquerque—

The Tribune-Citizen last evening reported the following deaths: Beatrice, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nazario

Montoya; Harry J. Ewing, a young man of Cameron, Mo.; Charles Redmond, formerly a printer on the New York Herald; W. E. Wirt, a young man aged 26 years, of Gallatin, Mo.

Three Arrests at Albuquerque—

Francisco Romero, Anastacio Zamora and Antonio Gutierrez were arrested at Martinez, a suburb of Albuquerque, upon complaint of Special Officer

Domenio Quintana. The last named had arrested the three former for boisterous conduct. Romero and Zamora set upon Quintana and beat him.

It is alleged, and Gutierrez made his escape.

San Juan Pueblo Celebration—The Rev. Father Deraches came back yesterday from San Juan Pueblo, where he had gone for the feast of St. John the Baptist. There were in all eleven priests at the celebration. At the conclusion of the morning services, which were very solemn, the Indians had their usual races which were witnessed as in former years, by an immense crowd. The priests who attended the celebration were: Revs. C. Seux, of Dean; G. Haelterman, of Santa Cruz; J. B. Cambon, of Chamita; A. Cazales, of Park View; J. Girard, of Taos; S. S. Alverne, of Ouray, Colo.; L. Delavelle, of Penasco; Jules Deraches and Carlos Bobst, of Santa Fe; J. Pajot, of El Rito, and A. Castanie, of Belen. The celebration was unmarred by any untoward event.

Bring thorough, lasting cures. You have read Santa Fe proof. Read now the Santa Fe sequel. Renewed testimony; tested by time. Manuel Delgado, 140 Canon street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "The public statement I gave in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1902 still holds good and I now readily confirm every word I then said about them. For four or five years I was subject to attacks of backache which were so severe at times that I was unable to work. I tried various remedies said to be cures for troubles such as I had, but nothing benefited me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Stripling, Burrows & Co.'s drug store. They quickly proved their worth and effected a cure which has been lasting. My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been so gratifying that I gladly recommend them."

College Trained Lawyer Will Solve Great Legal and Economic Problems

CONTROL OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

Content With Mediocrity Greatest Danger Facing Republic.

Cambridge, Mass., June 28.—The college trained lawyer will solve the great legal and economic questions of government in this and the next generation. That is the opinion of Attorney General Wickersham.

He will not be the man whose only acquaintance with the principles of law and government has been delivered from text books and lectures, such a man would not be equipped to cope with them. He must be the man who has found the "living law" as it has been developed in the real transactions of men. Except with possible rare exceptions, the day of the plodding student who read his Blackstone in a desultory, unmethodical, interrupted fashion from the dusty shelves of some practicing counselor, is over.

The college trained lawyer of this and the coming generations who will solve the problems of government is the man who has mastered the principles and doctrines of law as a science through the selection, classification and analysis of adjudged cases involving their application.

The attorney general speaking here today before the Harvard Law School Association on The Relation of Legal Education to Governmental Problems, predicted that the lawyer who obtains those qualifications, will be the man who can successfully cope with the great questions which will be presented for solution with the growth and expansion of this country.

"It is only by the labors, the thought and the criticism of men who have found the living law, as it has been actually developed by the real transactions of men—that our government may be governed and guided on safe and progressive lines and our jurisprudence developed along paths of natural, sound and wholesome growth," declared the attorney general. "The wise solutions of such questions as these can only be reached by men who are able to deal with facts and principles as compared with information acquired and memory."

Mr. Wickersham made an able address. In his opening words he declared he had been able to obtain scant leisure from the duties of official life and referred to himself as "an overburdened public official whose mind was necessarily crowded with the prosaic and exacting details of government."

"Contentment with mediocrity," Mr. Wickersham continued, "is in my opinion, one of the greatest dangers which confronts successful democracy everywhere. The hope of averting it rests largely with men of sound legal education."

"For, this same contentment with mediocrity breeds an impatience with any sort of superiority, a desire to belittle all excellence, a readiness to impute wrong motives to anything not easily understood, to accept calumny as truth, without inquiry, and a gradual lessening for advancement, as it is perceived that peace, which is often mistaken for happiness, is alone to be found by accepting contentedly a place in the undistinguished multitude."

Here the attorney general quoted from the report of a committee some time ago appointed by the faculty of arts and sciences of Harvard, which expressed the opinion that in awarding high rank or distinction in college, emphasis should be laid more largely than it is upon ability to deal with facts and principles as compared with information acquired or memory.

"It is precisely that ability which is the ideal of the legal profession," said Mr. Wickersham, "and the

I have been taking medicine and other drugs, but could find no relief except for a short time. achievement is characteristic of its most honored leaders and is utterly inconsistent with a contentment with mediocre things.

"That clear thought, sound learning and a consummate ability to deal with facts may be attained without a law school training is abundantly attested by many illustrious examples. Many examples may be cited to sustain the theory. But as early as Blackstone's day, thoughtful lawyers realized that only occasional and exceptional men accomplished good results by this haphazard sort of education.

"But the tendency of all collective instruction is undoubtedly to discourage free development of individual characteristics, to induce conformity with conventional standards and to furnish the mind with a certain excellent equipment admirably adapted to the ordinary exigencies of life, but not always fitted to attack and master exceptional difficulties. The genius of Langdell rescued the Harvard Law school from that tendency.

"The rapid growth of our population, the marvelously developed facilities of intercourse and communication by land and water and air have given rise to problems of increasing complexity concerning the relation of individual effort to the general public, which by reason of the obvious inability of any single state of the Union to deal with them have been pressed upon the national government for solution."

The attorney general then reviewed in brief the development of the last few years toward the control of public utilities, and compared to it the growth of the machinery of trade, now come to a control of great lines of industry by corporations or individuals.

"Never before has it been possible to lay so direct a toll upon the public through the concentration of industrial power," he said. "The full significance of the attempt to check the growth and power of great combinations through the commerce clause of the constitution was scarcely perceived at the time of the enactment of the Sherman law, nor until successive interpretation of it had been given by the supreme court.

"The history of nations indicates that a certain period of national development becomes necessary to interpose by legislation between the rapacity of individual greed and justice and fairness to the whole people.

"The right of every community to legislate respecting property affected by a public use was early recognized."

Mr. Wickersham referred to the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases now waiting decision of the supreme court.

CANADIAN NORTHWEST STOCK
TO BE LISTED IN U. S.

Mackenzie and Mann Railroad Will Give American Investors an Opportunity to get Part of $15,000,000 Five Per Cent Issue.

Chicago, Ill., June 28.—Western and Chicago investors in railroad stocks as well as those in the east are finally to be given a chance to purchase part of the recently authorized $15,000,000 issue of five per cent convertible debenture stock of the Canadian Northern railroad. Mackenzie and Mann, the railroad and financial geniuses of Canada, are to apply to the New York Stock Exchange to have the stock of the Canadian Northern listed there. The stock has just been listed on the Toronto Exchange, and this action is looked upon as being quite significant since it is the first time the road's securities have ever been listed on a stock exchange on this continent. Most of the stock of the road is held by Mackenzie and Mann who have held onto it because of their firm faith in its future value as a dividend proposition. If the securities are listed in New York they will also be listed in Chicago.

The stock that has been listed in Toronto is one-third of a total issue of $15,000,000 of five per cent income charge convertible debenture stock, most of which has been taken up by London houses. The $5,000,000 issued in Canada has been underwritten by Toronto houses.

It is to sell this issue particularly that the application will be made to American stock exchanges. The stock is redeemable at par value during three years. Beginning January, 1916, it is convertible, at the holder's option, into common stock of equal par value of the Canadian Northern. The interest is payable semi-annually and is a charge upon the assets of the railroad, except land and money subsidies from the Canadian government and the provincial governments, coming next after the operating expenses and fixed charges are met.

This railroad, built with sheer nerve and a few thousand dollars of original capital, is showing great gains in earnings. Every year of its short history it has earned surpluses over traffic earnings, and the accumulated surplus on June 30, 1909, exclusive of land surplus, amounted to $3,948,517.

The published returns of the earnings for ten months of the current fiscal year show gross earnings of $10,367,700 and expenses of $7,402,200. The net earnings, amounting to $2,965,500 exceed those for the same period last year by $585,500.

Mr. E. Weakley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley Kidney Pills, the severe backache left me, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." In a yellow package. Sold by Stripling Burrows Co.

NORTHERN PACIFIC CUT-OFF MAY BE BUILT.

Would Shorten Line to Coast Almost Four Hundred Miles—Building of Road Will Open Virgin Country.

Missoula, Mont., June 28.—Locating engineers in the employ of the Northern Pacific Railway Company have found a pass in the Bitter Root mountains, southeast of Spokane, by which the line between Missoula, Mont., and tide water on the Pacific coast can be shortened 398 miles. This involves the construction of 200 miles of road, principally in Idaho county, Idaho, a small mileage in Ravalli county, Mont. The new line will connect with the Spokane, Seattle & Portland railway near Pasco, Wash., giving a water grade to Portland.

The Northern Pacific Company has a line from Missoula south to Darby, Mont., about 60 miles. Just north to Victor, Mont., 30 miles from Missoula, the new survey swings westerly and then northward to the eastern entrance to the Lolo Pass, which was considered by the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway Company at one time as its gateway to the Pacific northwest. The company abandoned the route when it located a pass north of Lolo.

After passing through the Bitter Roots the survey hugs the high line of mountains, instead of dropping to the Clearwater valley, as former lines have run, and proceeds through a natural pass of a spur of the range to Elk City, Idaho. From that point, which is one of the richest mining camps in northern Idaho, outside of the Coeur d'Alenes, the surveyed route follows the south fork of the Clearwater river to Stites, Idaho, where connection is made with another branch of the Northern Pacific road from Lewistown, Idaho, to Pasco, Wash. The maximum grade thus attained is given as 1 5-8 per cent.

The completion of this cutoff will open vast stretches of mineral and timber country now served by rail transportation. There are also thousands of acres of grain and meadow lands. Already several large mills are eating their way into the rich belts of timber. The Northern Pacific seeks a share of the white pine plan and the completion of the new cutoff will serve to that end.

Providing the final arrangements do not differ from the surveyed route now being mapped out by a corps of engineers, the cutoff will be completed and in operation within the next two years.

Much land is being located along the new survey and scores of old-time prospectors have started into the hills to re-locate rich finds of years gone by.

Reports are current that the North Coast Railway Company, of which Robert E. Strahorn of Spokane, is president, will seize one of the two passes south of the Lolo in its connection with an eastern road to make a transcontinental line.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE LEADING TOPICS OF DISCUSSION.

Statehood is the leading topic of discussion not only in New Mexico but throughout the United States judging from the reams of clippings on the subject that the New Mexican is receiving from practically all the newspapers of the country. One of the best of these is the following from the Washington Post:

"New Mexico and Arizona should develop into creditable states. The sparsity of population which is sometimes sneeringly charged against them has been quite as noticeable in many other territories on admission. If the census next preceding statehood is considered, neither of the southwestern commonwealths has reason to feel herself presumptuous in seeking equality among the older ones. New Mexico had 195,210 inhabitants in 1909, and Arizona had 122,931. Michigan certainly cannot curl the lip in disdain over such a showing, for her census preceding admission gave her only 31,623 people. Nor are many other states superior in this regard. Ohio had 42,000 inhabitants in 1800, her census year next preceding admission. Illinois had 12,282 in 1810, and was admitted in 1818. Colorado had 39,864 in 1870, but she came into the Union before the next enumeration, which, by the way, gave her fewer inhabitants than either New Mexico or Arizona has today. Indeed, in the matter of population either of the new states ranks well up with her sisters at the time of national birth.

"The entry of the two territories will mark the passing of federal control from the last part of the block of land included in the continental United States, Alaska of course being excepted. Only non-contiguous possessions will remain then under territorial government, although the District of Columbia must always be without home rule and the tendency to increase forest reserves reacts against the development of the local control idea.

"It is not a little remarkable, indeed, that the arrival of the day when the last territories of the mainland pass from the rule of federal authority should have brought with it a reversion toward centralization of government and an extension of the influence of Washington instead of its restriction to a fixed minimum. The power of the federal official is growing at its most rapid rate just when the local jurisdiction of that official, as former generations seem to have expected, should have been practically extinguished.

"The evident purpose of Congress to admit New Mexico and Arizona into the Union of states is a fitting climax to a session rarely surpassed in enacting constructive legislation, both in volume and importance. The provisions of the measure are acceptable in the main to both sides in Congress, and embody the safeguards which President Taft last fall told the statehooders at Albuquerque would be ingrafted as a guaranty that the wildcat features of the Oklahoma constitution could gain no foothold in new territory. This precautionary clause provides that statehood shall not be conferred until the work of the constitutional convention has met the approval of the people of the state, the President, and the Congress.

"The Populist element demurred to the President's statement at the time, but, having since then witnessed the elimination by judicial process of the most objectionable parts of the Oklahoma instrument, and seeing the error of their way of thinking, all but the most radical among the statehooders are now ready to hearken to the voice of reason. There is, therefore, small reason to doubt that they will submit to Washington state constitutions which will pass the double censorship promptly, and by thus doing hasten the day which would have dawned the sooner but for delays not always justly charged to Washington.

"New Mexico and Arizona possess the natural resources and the climate which should, under state sovereignty, turn the tide of immigration more strongly to the southwest."

The Democrats of Eddy, Chaves and Curry counties, the Democratic bullwarks, insist upon a partisan constitutional convention. Well and good! The Republicans are girding their loins and enter the fray with confidence in the righteousness of their cause and certainty of overwhelming victory. Seventy-five at least of the one hundred members of the constitutional convention will be stalwart Republicans.

LEST WE FORGET.

Governor Mills is emphatic in giving President Taft and Hon. Frank H. Hitchcock the main credit for the passage of the statehood bill. Both insisted on the keeping of the Republican faith as laid down in the national platform of the Republican party, and it is a well known political incident that it was Hon. H. O. Bursum who fought for that plank at Chicago, until it was nailed down, and who with Hon. Solomon Luna stood by Postmaster General Hitchcock in his insistent work for statehood. No wonder the Farmington Enterprise says:

"The passage of the statehood bill is but the tardy recognition of a right long inherent in the people of the territory, and which we have unjustly been deprived of, but be that as it may, it has taken a great deal of effort extending over a period of a great many years to have that right recognized. There are among our citizens a few who deserve special mention as having never failed to give both their time and means in efforts to secure our rights.

"We believe that Solomon Luna, who has been the New Mexico member of the National Republican committee for the past sixteen years and who has made from two to six trips to Washington every year at his own expense, has done more to secure statehood during this generation than any other man now living.

"Next to him we would place H. O. Bursum, who has ever been an effective worker and to whom is due the credit for placing the statehood plank in the last Republican platform.

"Others who have been true to the cause regardless of political affiliations or local conditions are N. B. Laughlin, Harvey B. Ferguson, Miguel A. Otero, T. B. Catron, W. S. Hopewell, W. H. H. Llewellyn and of course too many more to mention, including Delegate Andrews, who has not been so long in the fight, but who has been the tenacious and efficient leader of our forces for the past six years."

NEW COUNTY PROJECTS.

The first state legislature, with the census figures for each precinct available, will be asked to form quite a number of new counties. The latest candidate for division is San Juan county. All the upper San Juan valley and about twelve miles of the upper La Plata it is proposed to leave in the old county with Aztec as the county seat which would also have the greater part of the mileage of the Denver and Rio Grande. The remaining portion is to be named Orchard county with Farmington as the county seat. San Juan county is large enough for division, but does not yet have the population and the wealth to make county division advisable. Of the other new county schemes, it is certain that Lordsburg will come forward with Pyramid county; Knowles with Mills county; Talban with Jaffa county; Naraviso with Belknap county; Artesia with Artesia county; Roy with Coronado county; Wagon Mound, Springer and a number of growing towns also nursing county seat ambitions that will be revealed at what is deemed the proper time. All this is a sign of the great growth of the territory. It will not be long before the 26 counties will be 50, and as the average size of an eastern county is 500 square miles, there is room in New Mexico for 250 counties of that area.

The Knowles News has issued an illustrated "Plains Special," which gives a good idea of the development of eastern Eddy county, a development which would have been deemed impossible a few years ago, for the Plains country is the heart of the so-called "Staked Plains," which had been deemed as much of a waste as the Mojave or Colorado deserts in Arizona and California. Settlement after settlement has sprung up in that Plains country the past two years and homestead after homestead has been filed upon until population and wealth justify the creation of a new county out of that portion of the New Mexico domain.

"Contentment with mediocrity is in my opinion, one of the greatest dangers which confronts successful democracy everywhere" is one of the telling phrases in an address delivered by Attorney General George W. Wickersham at Cambridge, Massachusetts, today. Let New Mexico remember this in electing delegates to its constitutional convention. Do not send mediocrity there, but the best equipped one hundred men that the territory can gather, the one hundred men it would pick out for a hall of fame, if it were asked to select such from among its living great men.

GREAT MEASURES PUT THROUGH

Unprecedented is the amount and importance of legislation obtained by President Taft and his success assures a Republican Congress as the result of the elections this fall and his own re-election for the second term. Here are some of the more important measures in response to party promises that have become law:

"Striking revision of the railroad laws, including the creation of a commerce court.

"Admitting Arizona and New Mexico as separate states.

"Authorizing the establishment of postal savings banks.

"Giving to the President unlimited authority to withdraw public lands for conservation purposes.

"Providing for publicity of campaign contributions.

"Authorizing the issue of $20,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness to complete reclamation projects.

"Creating a bureau of mines.

"Extending the activities of the tariff board and appropriating $250,000 for its use.

"Looking to the suppression of the 'white slave' traffic.

"Creating a commission to consider economies in the administration of the federal government.

"Authorizing the entry of surface of coal lands.

"Providing a tariff system for the Philippines.

"Legislation that ultimately is expected to give prohibition to the Hawaiian islands."

THE APPORTIONMENT.

The Tribune Citizen in a lengthy editorial expresses confidence that the commission consisting of the governor, the chief justice and the secretary of the commonwealth to apportion the delegates for the constitutional convention among the twenty-six counties will do the work fairly and without a gerrymander, thereby insinuating the possibility of such a thing. Of course, even if there were a possibility, the commission is of such high character, that its members would perhaps, rather lean back, and give the Democratic counties more than what was justly coming to them so as to avoid the appearance even of partisanship. But a gerrymander is not only needless but out of the question. The law prescribes a rigid basis for the apportionment. The vote cast in 1908 for delegate to Congress is the basis and that will give one delegate for each 555.8 votes cast. Any one, including the Tribune Citizen, can figure out how many delegates each county will have by dividing the vote in such county by 555.8.

Owing to the illness of Senator Dillingham of the sub-committee of the Senate committee on judiciary, the nominations by President Taft of Hon. John R. McFie, Hon. E. C. Abbott and Hon. E. R. Wright to be associate justices of the New Mexico Supreme Court, were not confirmed. In the case of Judge McFie, he will hold over, as his was a reappointment and it will be again sent to the Senate next December. In the cases of Messrs. Abbott and Wright, it is believed that President Taft will immediately make recess appointments naming both again, or at least, one of them, as it is very necessary that as much of the business of the Supreme Court which has accumulated, as well as of the district courts be disposed of before statehood becomes an actuality.

A count for a directory to be issued at Roswell places the population of that city at 6,288. That seems to establish further the fact, judging by this spring's election returns and the school census, that Roswell now has considerable lead as the second city of the commonwealth, although both Santa Fe and Las Vegas might be ahead of it, if they had taken in their suburbs when they had the opportunity to do so. As it is, Santa Fe falls to third place, and no wonder the Philadelphia Inquirer, published in a somewhat sleepy community itself, says:

"Santa Fe, New Mexico, is said to be the oldest town in the United States. It is also about the dearest or it would have been heard from long ago."

Lincoln county expects to save $1,000 a year through the recent opinion of Attorney General Frank W. Caney that justice of the peace fees can not be drawn from the county treasury. It means that costs in cases in justice courts except felonies, will have to be paid by the parties to the suits. If Lincoln county expects to save a thousand dollars a year, the other twenty-five counties ought to save something like $25,000 under the new ruling.

A cablegram from Berlin says that more than 70,000 Americans have this year bought tickets for Oberammergau just to see the Passion Play. Santa Fe could in time attract that many Americans too by rehabilitating its Pastores Play, elaborating it and staging it in a stadium in the Santa Fe canon. There is a latent possibility that could serve as a feature of an annual Chautauqua that would draw thousands of people each year.

The San Juan County Index published at Aztec, speaks of Albuquerque as "our future capital." It is well for a man on shipboard to know which way the wind is blowing and reef his sail accordingly. He may not know where he is going but he'll be sure that he is on the way.

How Minnie Shadowed H. Sylvester Jones

By Mary E. Holland

(Copyright, 1909, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

A quiet, unobtrusive looking automobile drew up before a third-floor detective agency on a certain side street of downtown New York. A heavily veiled woman descended, spoke a few whispered words to the chauffeur, and made her way to the grimed door, on whose glass panels appeared the legend: "Sharp & Son, Private Detectives."

"Do you handle divorce cases?" she inquired, bluntly.

The brisk, nervous man before her swept his eyes over her quietly gowned figure.

"That depends upon the character of the case," he rejoined, cautiously.

The veiled woman took a quick step toward him. "I wish evidence that will procure me separation from my husband. Can you furnish it?"

The brisk man pondered. "Have you reason to believe that your husband is—er, unfaithful?"

"On the contrary, I have every reason to believe that he is not."

The brisk man pondered again. "You are setting us a difficult problem, my dear woman. Such cases, you must know, involve heavy expenditure. I may say a very heavy expenditure."

He paused as he darted another shrewd glance toward the veiled client before him.

"Will you name an estimate of that expense?" she asked, quietly.

"Certainly; we could not conduct such a case under $5,000."

The woman drew a roomy purse

"I WANT YOU TO GET ACQUAINTED TO H. SYLVESTER JONES"

from her cloak and counted out ten yellow-backed bills.

"Here is $1,000. If you will bring me evidence that will secure a divorce, I will increase it to $10,000."

The brisk man smoothed the bills caressingly. "And who is your husband, madam?"

The veiled woman hesitated and then pronounced a name that brought a low, involuntary whistle from the other's lips. It was that of one of the best known men of Wall street.

The detective gazed after the departing figure of his client, with puckered brows. But he did not realize until a week's "shadowing" of H. Sylvester Jones had proved ineffectual, just how difficult was the problem she had left him. To all intents and purposes, H. Sylvester Jones was a model husband in the eyes of the law.

On the eighth day a bright idea came to the head of "Sharp & Son." For a moment he sat with a broad grin on his face. Then he pushed a bell and a young woman in a plain dress and with a careworn face, entered from an inner room.

The man spoke a dozen curt sentences, straight to the point.

"I want you to get acquainted, Minnie, with H. Sylvester Jones."

Minnie opened her tired eyes very wide.

"I fancy that your best method of approaching him is at the theater," continued her employer, briskly.

"I happen to know that he is a continuous, not to say an enthusiastic patron of the drama."

"You mean the show girls?"

"Not he. That is where I need your services. At the psychological moment, we will secure you a seat. That seat will be directly next to our distinguished gentleman. You will occupy it for the better part of three hours. Do you catch the point? If you will manage your cards right, when you leave the theater, you will be acquainted with him, very well acquainted. After that point you will make your own plans. What Mrs. H. Sylvester Jones wants is an affidavit of infidelity."

The detective paused.

Minnie stiffened her shoulders and a quick flush sprang into her pale cheeks. A keen observer might have seen that under certain conditions she might be beautiful. Gradually the tired eyes dropped and the bent shoulders relaxed. Minnie had conquered herself. She was thinking of sick mother and little sister.

"And what do I get?" she asked. The detective held up the ten yellow-backed bills. "These are yours for the affidavit. You know where to go for the clothes. I will telephone you if we make arrangements for tonight. If not, we'll try for to-morrow night. We are bound to succeed some time—and then it is up to you."

As it happened, on the third evening H. Sylvester Jones stepped out of his automobile and entered the Fifth avenue theater. Five minutes later a stylishly dressed young woman followed him down the aisle and slipped into the next seat. It was Minnie—but a very different Minnie in evening dress and rouge, an altogether charming and fascinating Minnie. Two minutes before the orchestra began, she dropped her handkerchief. H. Sylvester Jones extended it to her politely. She smiled and he looked at her again. She was a girl to notice.

Before the close of the first act, he had made a hesitating remark, and she had answered it, and he had made another, and before the close of the second act, they were chatting gaily. When the final curtain descended, they left the theater together.

An agent of "Sharp & Son," loitering in the corner, noticed the circumstance and reported it to his chief. The latter smiled broadly and the next morning eagerly awaited Minnie's arrival. When noon came and she did not appear, he looked worried. When evening came without her, he sent for his agent and the two conferred together. The next day he received a note. It was a remarkable note, and under it was the scrawling signature of Minnie:

"I do not want your $1,000, and I hereby resign my position."

The detective swore and called for his agent again. The latter looked glum and started on a search for the missing girl. He found her the next week at a fashionable suite of apartments, with two servants, a pearl necklace and an array of diamond rings that dazzled him.

"The chief wants your affidavit," he began, curtly.

"He can't have it, and I don't want him to bother me any more."

The detective bounded from his chair and Minnie tossed her head. "Mr. Jones has asked me to become his wife and I have accepted his offer!"

The statement was true. The scheme of "Sharp & Son" had indeed proven a boomerang. The millionaire had fallen in love with the girl who had been sent to trap him, and had tendered her not only his wealth, but his name. The fortunes of the detective agency, however, were only under a temporary cloud. H. Sylvester Jones bluntly told his wife that either he or she could go to South Dakota and return single. Mrs. Jones took the western trip and a few weeks ago the decree of divorce was granted.

H. Sylvester Jones married Minnie, and everybody is satisfied, with the exception of "Sharp & Sons." They haven't got their remaining $9,000 yet, and there doesn't seem to be any reasonable prospect of their ever being called to receipt the bill.

Too Much Idealism in China.

Reviewing "China," by Mortimer Menpes and Sir Henry Arthur Blake, a writer says: "The root fallacy of the Chinese political idea, which alone is responsible for the low place to which the country has sunk in the scale of nations, is the disrepute of the soldier. The gradations of the social fabric are: (1) The literati, for mind is superior to matter; (2) the agriculturist, for he produces from the soil; (3) the artisan, for he is a creator from the raw material; (4) the merchant, for he is a distributor; (5) the soldier, for he is but a destroyer. So China is a sad example of what excessive idealism may do for the nation. Her armies have been, for the most part, mere hordes of undisciplined men, sometimes commanded by robbers relieved for that purpose on account of their supposed courage. Yet a 10 per cent. levy on the population of China would furnish an army of forty millions."

Furious Fun in English Society.

Now for the game the most popular at country houses this autumn. You may call it a variation on the old game of consequences. Each guest has a strip of paper and pencil. Each writes:

"Why is —" (choosing the name of some well known person, or a friend or acquaintance known to the general company), and then turns down his strip of paper and passes it on to the next guest.

Now each writes: "Like a—" (choosing what simile he will). Again the strips are passed on. The third time each guest writes the answer: "Because he or she —." Thus: "Why is Winston Churchill like a piano organ? Because he flies from pillar to post."—The Gentlewoman.

Stage Villain's Lively Time.

In Alexandre Bisson's new play, which will be performed at Paris for the first time next week, an additional scene has been created in order to introduce two police dogs. They chase the villain up and down, across and under the stage, and finally capture the bad man. The dogs enter so heartily into what they seem to consider a great lark that the unfortunate villain has expressed the hope that the play will be short-lived.

Fog.

Admiral Seymour, discussing fog at one of the Hudson-Fulton banquets, said, with a laugh:

"Off the Newfoundland Banks, you know, the fog is often so thick that the captain has to get out and lead the ship."

Gathering Chestnuts

By Lawrence Clay

(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

The first frost of the season had come, and Miss Dolly Meserve was on her way down to the back lot with a basket on her arm. A big chestnut tree had stood there for no one could remember how long, and this fall it simply hung loaded with burrs. The frost probably had opened hundreds of them.

The back lot was half a mile back of Farmer Meserve's house, and the girl with the basket was his daughter, who had just completed a term at a seminary and was home for good. It was a biting morning, and she had donned her mother's hood and shawl and borrowed a pair of yarn mittens from brother Will.

Yes; the frost and the morning breeze had done their work. A bushel of chestnuts peppered the earth and more were falling, and the basket Miss Dolly had brought held only two quarts. She was a girl who doted on chestnuts and hadn't had any for three years, so it was easy to tell what she would do on finding the ground covered with them. She sat down and began to shuck and eat. She turned her back to the wind, snuggled the old gray shawl closer, and began to eat and eat and eat. She hunted for the very biggest and fattest, and didn't mind the squirrel chattering and scolding on the limbs above.

She knew he was there to get his share, and she had a half-formed idea that when she got through eating she would throw clubs and give him a scare. Had she been familiar with squirrel lore she would have understood him during the first five minutes to be saying:

"Well, upon my soul this is cheeky of you! Haven't you been to breakfast? Have you got to lay in a store or starve through the winter? Go to, girl, and give us squirrels a show!"

MISS DOLLY MESERVE WAS ON HER WAY DOWN TO THE BACK LOT.

Pretty soon she noticed that his chattering had changed, but she didn't look up nor try to interpret it. What he was saying was:

"A young man! A young man! A young man is coming this way!"

Of course, Miss Dolly would have scrambled up to look for the young man and make out whether he was tall or short, light or dark, handsome or homely. Not getting the alarm, she continued to devour fat chestnuts.

"He's got a gun! He's got a gun! He's got a gun on his shoulder," exclaimed the squirrel, as he hid behind a limb and peeped out with one eye.

They ought to have been plain to the girl as Greek, but she never even missed a bite. It couldn't be charged that she was thinking of a man, young or old, and so in an absent-minded state.

"And he's going to pepper me—me—me!" shouted the squirrel as he disappeared into a hollow limb.

This time Miss Dolly faintly comprehended and looked up. Flash—bang—scream! She scrambled up and down again with a moan, and was too overcome to hear the squirrel shrieking out:

"He's shot a girl! He's shot a girl! He's missed me and shot a girl!"

"What is it? What have I done? What's happened?" cried the voice of a man bending over her, and Miss Dolly shrank away and looked up to see a young man with a gun in his hand at her side. Her hand was clasped to her chin and blood was oozing from under her fingers.

"I—I have wounded you!" gasped the young man, as he turned pale.

"Yes, you have! You have tried to kill me!"

"Oh, no, no, no! I shot at a squirrel in the tree. I give you my word I shot at a squirrel!"

"But I was sitting on the ground here!"

"Yes, but one of the shots must have struck a knot and been deflected. I am sorry—so sorry! I can't tell you how sorry I am. May I see the wound? Perhaps the shot only glanced off."

"And perhaps I shall carry a horrible scar there all my life!" she replied with a stamp of her foot. "You are a nice man to be given charge of a gun. How many other folks have you killed or wounded this morning?"

"Go for him, Dolly—go for him!" chattered the squirrel. "He tried to kill us, and don't you let him talk about any deflected shot!"

"So sorry, you know—so sorry!" the young man kept stammering. "I wouldn't have shot you for five dollars—honest, I wouldn't. Is it a bad wound? Is it painful? Do you think it is mortal?"

"I fear it is!" replied Miss Dolly, as a spirit of mischief bubbled up. "Yes, it may be fatal, and I don't know what advice you can urge before a coroner's jury. You will be declared my murderer!"

"He will—he will—whoop! he will!" chattered the squirrel.

"So sorry—so sorry!" said the confused and upset young man. "I—can't call an ambulance here, you know, and—and I don't see any doctors' signs around. Can I help you home and then—then—"

"I think I have the strength to walk home, but you may run to the village and tell Dr. Smith that you have shot me and tell him to come. Tell him it's probably a mortal wound. Tell him that it's Miss Dolly Meserve you tried to kill. Better throw away that gun or you'll be shooting the doctor!"

"Yes—yes—surely I will. Yes; I'll get Dr. Smith. So sorry, you know. Do you think you can reach home without help? Yes, certainly—" And he was gone.

It was true that some of the bird shot with which the gun had been loaded had struck something and been deflected. Two of them were buried in the quilted hood, and two or three others were found in the folds of the heavy shawl. Only one had struck Miss Dolly as she raised her face, and that was in the center of the chin. It had not penetrated deeply. As a matter of fact, she dug it out with her finger nail on the way home. The doctor arrived in his gig with his horse on a gallop. At first he was inclined to be angry, but when the story was told, and when a little plan was unfolded, he laughed and offered his services.

Two hours later, when Will Bailey, son of Lawyer Bailey of the city, called at the farmhouse to repeat that he was so sorry, and to say that he was visiting the Scotts and doing a little shooting, he found a young lady on the sofa with her head, chin and neck done up and a strong smell of drugs in the room. He was told by Miss Dolly that the doctor had said that she would probably pull through if given the best of care, and he went away a happy young man. He sent to the city for flowers and fruits and books. He presented brother Sam with the shotgun, and he told the father that he would be only too happy to pay all expenses.

Of course, the patient began to get better. At about the third call of the would-be murderer she had dispensed with most of the bandages. At about the fifth there was only a piece of plaster covering the wound. After three weeks he called one afternoon to find the plaster gone, and after a look he cried out:

"Why, Miss Dolly, you've got the prettiest dimpled chin in all America! Really, now, but—"

No—it was a month later that he proposed. And he took her down to the old chestnut tree where the squirrel chattered:

"I thought so! I thought so! First you shoot a girl and then you tell her how much you love her and ask her to be your wife! Go to, both of you!"

Pacific's First Concrete Pier.

The first concrete pier on the Pacific coast, and a big one it is, has been completed recently. Extending in a straight line 1,000 feet out into the Pacific ocean, this latest example in wharf construction is at Santa Monica, where the longest wharf in the world—the Southern Pacific railroad's pier at Port Los Angeles—is already located.

So far—and the piles of the landward end of the new pier have been in position for several months—the sea has not made the slightest impression on the concrete posts. Tere-dos, those sea worms which make the life of the wharf builder a continuous nightmare, are powerless to penetrate the new piles; barnacles cling to them in small numbers, but can do no damage, while the strongest waves of the sea break aimlessly against the smooth concrete and without deleterious results to the wharf which they support.—Cassier's Magazine.

Plucked.

"My first case," said an eminent lawyer recently, "involved a young woman whose common sense was about as good as were my chances of success. After a protracted struggle we got a jury which I, in my youthful blindness of hope, considered especially favorable to my cause. I drew my client aside and whispered in a triumphant tone:

"Madam, the jury has been picked."

"She turned her baby-blue eyes full upon me.

"Oh, I'm so glad," she gushed, 'because I'm a little superstitious and I always did have the fullest confidence in bald-headed men.'"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Will Develop Victoria Falls.

A company has been formed to develop the great Victoria falls, on the Zambesi river, in Africa, as a source of electric energy. These falls rank among the greatest cataracts in existence. The total of the water is more than 400 feet. At Niagara the total amount of energy running to waste has been reckoned at 7,000,000 horsepower, but the corresponding energy of the Victoria falls is said to be no less than 35,000,000 horsepower. When utilized, it is thought that this energy can be employed for working a large part of the South African railway and that it can be transmitted by cable to the gold mines of the Rand, 300 miles and more away.

Trains Late—The Santa Fe trains from the south yesterday and today were hours late on account of washouts in Arizona.

Ladies Turn Out tonight in a body and defend yourself. We show that feature film, "Down With Women." The Elks theatre.

A Special Rate of $13.40, El Paso and Return, via New Mexico Central R. R., (the daylight train) July 2, 3 and 4th, with return limit July 6th.

Gray's Win, Hands Down—Word has been received here that the Salmon Grays won from Monte Vista by a score of 3 to 0. James Lopez pitched for the Grays and a brilliant game was witnessed by a large audience.

An Entire Change of Pictures at the Elks tonight. Same as before and continuing the same; all subjects good. "Down With Women," "The Shyness of Shorty," "The Trust Buster" and "The Unmailed Letter." Show starts promptly at 8 o'clock.

Social Evening—You are cordially invited to attend a social given by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's M. E. church Thursday evening, June 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lutz, 400 Don Gaspar avenue. Good music and refreshments. A silver offering will be taken.

No Fishing in Big Reservoir—Manager Frank Owen of the Santa Fe Water and Light Company today gives legal notice that fishing will henceforth be prohibited in the large reservoir of the company in the Santa Fe canon. The reservoir has been stocked with bass. The law against any trespasser will be enforced strictly.

Smith Bound Over for Train Robbery—M. R. Smith, the man arrested at Carrizozo on June 16, on suspicion of being the lone train robber who held up El Paso and Southwestern train No. 2 near that place on the night of June 9, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Parker at Alamogordo and bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

If your house needs cleaning phone us and we will do the rest. S. F. Water & Light Co.

Toy Pistol Causes Explosion at Silver City—Frank Eppstein, a 12-year-old boy of Silver City, is in the hospital and will likely lose his hearing and be maimed for life as the result of a peculiar accident which happened in the Agee drug store. The boy fired a toy pistol into the bungle of an alcohol barrel which had just been emptied by order of Internal Revenue Inspector McConnell. The barrel exploded, wrecking the floor and ceiling of the rear room of the drug store and seriously injuring a clerk. The inspector had the barrel emptied because he found the revenue stamp had been removed, this discovery following the discovery that cigar box lids with the stamp thereon had been removed from the drug store by unknown parties.

Casas Bound Over—When arraigned before United States Commissioner H. R. Whiting at Albuquerque yesterday afternoon on a charge of tampering with United States mails, Elfigo Casas waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the United States grand jury in the sum of $500. The necessary bond was furnished by relatives and the boy was released from custody. Young Casas, who is 19 years old, was a mail carrier between Jemez and Canon, small towns north of Albuquerque, and it is alleged that he opened various mail packages and extracted valuables from them.

Waltonites Return—W. R. McGibbon, W. O. Conner, and Messrs. Lyons and Murphy, have returned from a three days' fishing trip to Rio Medio where they removed quite a number of palatable fish from the aqueous depths. The party left Santa Fe at 6 p. m. Friday and drove to the river, arriving there at 5:30 Saturday morning. They took a quantity of canned goods with them so as to have "entrees" to their menu which began and ended with fish. "We had a delightful trip and found Rio Medio to be way ahead of the Pecos for catching fish," said Mr. McGibbon today.

Do away with "Blue Monday" and have your washing done by electricity. S. F. Water & Light Co.

Heat Unbearable in the East—"The weather in the east is positively unbearable and I am exceedingly glad to be back in Santa Fe," said Dr. J. M. Diaz upon his arrival here from New York last night. "The people of Santa Fe cannot fully realize they have the ideal summer resort until they sample some of the weather and general humidity that the millions of people in the east are struggling with just now. After enjoying temperature of 50 to 70 and perhaps a little higher in this country it is all the more difficult for a Santa Fean to stand the tropical heat of a sojourn in the east, where people struggle indoors with a temperature of 100 and 102, and even higher, drenched with perspiration and afflicted with great lassitude which unites them for a strenuous day's work demanded by the severe competition of congested cities."

SHEEP GOING TO FOREST RESERVES MUST BE DIPPED.

Buffalo, Wyo., June 28.—Secretary W. O. Steele of the Big Horn County Woolgrowers' Association has been notified by government inspectors that all sheep going into the forest reserves in the county must be dipped. The order is a surprise to the flockmasters, who had expected to have the benefit of the government ranges without dipping their flocks.

FOUR HOURS IN CITY GETS TWO YEARS AT HARD LABOR.

San Antonio, Texas, June 28.—Not quite four days in Texas and less than four hours in this city, T. O. Thornhill, a Mississippian and twenty years of age was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Thornhill passed a forged check for $38, which he claimed to be signed by Moise H. Levy of Shreveport, La. The man who cashed it suspected Thornhill immediately after he had left and on getting into telegraphic communication with the man at Shreveport discovered that no such check had been issued. Thornhill was arrested and tried immediately. He was given the minimum sentence because of his age.

MADRIZ GOVERNMENT ALMOST COMPLETELY TRIUMPHANT.

Report of Insurgent Victories False—Estrada Holds Only the Small Town of Bluefields.

San Juan, Nicaragua, June 28.—Great Cora Island and the whole Atlantic coast with the exception of the town of Bluefields is in the hands of the government. Acopya has not been captured by the revolutionists as was reported yesterday. It is also untrue that Estrada's men have captured the Port of San Bualdo.
