OIL IS FOUND IN COPPER MINE
IN OTERO COUNTY, N. M.

By J. L. Davis in El Paso Times.
Quite unique in the annals of copper mining is the discovery of the petroleum in the drill hole No. 2, which was bored to the depth of 442 feet by D. G. Sutton, manager of the Sacramento Copper Company, on the company's property in the outlying foothills on the western base of the Sacramento mountains, six miles east from the town of Tularosa, Otero county, New Mexico.

A sample of oil has just been recovered at the "Times" office which is of good grade. It had just been hauled from the well by Mr. Sutton. The log of this well says Mr. Sutton, "shows the presence of oil. We cut the oil-bearing shale or sand at 420 feet and had a good deal of oil on the sample tanks, but we did not pay any particular attention to it at the time. We have not done any work on the property for three years and it recently occurred to me there might be some oil in the hole which would accumulate during this time. So I went to the mine the other day and let down a tin can into the hole and got a lot of oil, a sample of which is in this bottle. I do not know how much oil there is in the hole. The oil is within 50 feet of the surface and can be plainly seen."

Our property being in the foothills is in a most favorable shallow oil belt. Two miles south of the drill hole is Tularosa creek and a mile west at Cottonwood spring, five miles east of Tularosa, oil runs out from the side of the banks for several hundred yards. This oil seepage is always present along these banks and it is probable that the hole has cut the same oil-bearing strata."

In the opinion of Mr. Sutton, the Sacramento Copper company, by drilling deeper, at 1,200 to 1,800 feet, in the same hole will cut a fine oil-bearing sand and the same one that the Southwestern Tularosa Basin Oil company expects to cut at 1,800 to 2,000 feet on its location northwest of the town of Tularosa. About a year ago the writer, in company with Dr. F. N. Brown, Sr., and Frank N. Snyder, the manager of the Southwestern Tularosa Basin Oil company, visited the places where Mr. Sutton mentions the oil seepage. It was the day after a heavy rain and in several places we noted strong oil films and rainbows floating on the waters just below some anti-clinal hills. A few miles further up the creek we found still stronger oil seepages.

The copper deposits and the oil occur in sedimentary deposits, sand stones and black lime shales, in the Pennsylvanian formation or age rocks, and their occurrence is unique in every respect. Viewed from the standpoint of the oil geologist, the finding of oil in the drill hole at such shallow depth and the occurrence of strong oil seepage at the surface in the slopes of domes and anticlinal structure, would seem to give almost positive assurance that a good oil field exists in the Tularosa quadrangle and that in Tularosa basin a few miles west, where the deep test is being drilled, a commercial pool of oil will be struck in the near future. A Ed Debeny often remarks, "the best place to get oil is in a field where oil bubbles and seeps from the surface for it proves that the source is some where thereabouts."

Viewed from the copper prospector's standpoint, the property of the Sacramento Copper company is not only unique in the mode of the occurrence of this metal, but it is one of the most promising prospects in the southwest. The company did a considerable amount of development, but was forced to close down operations of account of the war. The management expects to resume operations again as soon as the copper market is in better condition. This property was one of the most popular copper properties put on the market and all the stock was sold around El Paso. The officers are: Attorney Ed. Moeham, district judge of that district, president; R. H. Hastings of El Paso, secretary and treasurer, and the directors are all prominent men of the county.

The property consists of 84-mining claim in a solid body, a total of 1,800 acres, covering mineralized ground in and around Coyote canyon, six miles east of Tularosa. The ore is copper and silver. The formation is composed of layers or strata of shales, sand stones, limestones and thin layers of gypsum.

All Teachers in Lincoln county should attend this convention. Several visiting educators of high standing will be present and much may be learned from them. Some one said "The teacher who thinks she cannot learn anything from a teachers' meeting is already foolish."

Members of school board and citizens of all parts of the county are most cordially invited to be present.—R. L. Cota.

Shale beds are strongly mineralized, in some places carrying high grade copper ore, due to chalcocite solutions.

The shale beds also carry high grade copper ore. Porphyritic intrusions and dykes carry disseminated sulphides and carbonates. High grade ore in the shape of pseudomorphs in which copper has replaced organic bodies, such as limbs and trunks of trees, assaying as high as 70 per cent copper and specimens of metallic copper occur. The first exploration work was done by tunneling, but subsequently three drill holes were bored which disclosed large bodies of copper ore deeper down.

"Garments now are marked 'all wool.' Stubby is being sold in ever increasing quantities, but now it is called 'all wool' instead of by the old familiar term of questionable repute."

FLOW CONTINUES THREE DAYS AFTER STRIKE

Blaze Shoots Three Feet Above Casing When Flow Is Ignited; First Drifts Showing Found in North Central Part of State; Geologist Forecasts Company's Geologist and Holds Out Promise of Oil.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 28.—The first strike in the north central part of the state—and in Santa Fe county—was made by the Toltec Oil company in the company's seventh well 5 miles south of Gallateo on former Lieutenant Governor Ben Pankey's San Cristobal ranch.

The news of the strike, which did not become generally known until late yesterday afternoon, aroused the drooping hopes of those who little more than a year ago believed New Mexico the coming greatest oil field in the United States and brought sanguine predictions that oil would be found in Santa Fe county.

Blaze Threatens to Destroy Derrick. These predictions were based on the truth that where there's gas there's oil—usually, but not always. The Amarillo, Texas, field for instance, has produced record breaking "gasers" but no oil producers.

N. R. Gascho, general manager of the Toltec Oil company, said the strike was made late Thursday afternoon. The driller ignited the gas—"to see if it would burn." It did. The flame shot three feet above the mouth of the hole and the driller, fearing the derrick would be burned, hastily ordered snuffing out the blaze.

Mr. Gascho said he had no way of estimating the strength of the flow, but it was stronger Friday when the driller sent his bit farther in to the sand. He didn't care particularly. From his viewpoint the strike was chiefly important because it fulfilled the forecast made by the company's geologist when the drilling site was selected and because of the promise of oil at greater depth held out by the flow.

The flow was struck to a 5-foot sand immediately underlying black slate in which the driller was drilling for several days.

The geologist had said that probably a gas pocket would be found at that depth, but, according to Mr. Gascho, although gas was found it was not in pockets, but a flow. This was shown by the fact that more gas was coming from the well Friday than the day of the strike. Mr. Gascho, however, regarded the geologist forecast as amply fulfilled.

Mr. Gascho said drilling would be continued. The company was looking for oil—not gas—and would continue drilling until the depth was reached at which the geologist believed oil would be found if there was any under that section. The flow, although promising, was not of such force as to prevent further drilling. This has happened in the Amarillo field, but the flow from the Amarillo well doesn't come anywhere near the velocity of the 187 million foot "gasser" struck in the Texas Panhandle.

CARRIZOZO WOMAN'S CLUB

The Women's Club met in regular session on March 11, at the home of Mrs. Iva O. Wetmore with Mrs. O. Z. Finley presiding. As the secretary was absent at the previous meeting, the minutes were omitted. The treasurer reported eighty-eight dollars in the treasury, the Indian Fiesta having proved successful both socially and financially.

A motion was made to extend a vote of thanks to Mr. Pingwah for the use of the Crystal Theatre, also to all who helped to make the play a success, including Messrs. Louis Adams, Bill Prude, H. Hamberger, Don Finley, G. T. McQuillen, Leo Davis, Ira Wetmore, and Dr. Cole, also the two newspapers for their kind help. A motion was made to extend a vote of thanks to Senators Brickley, Lutz and Grey for their help in securing the passage of the anti-gambling law, also for donating pen with which the bill was signed.

The business of the meeting being transacted, the meeting was turned over to the hostesses, Mesdames Wetmore and Farley. The social hour which followed was greatly enjoyed. Those taking part in the program were: Mesdames Haley, Saunders, Kelley, Keating and Donaldson; the Misses Adams and Charles. The next meeting of the Club will be April 1, at Lutz Hall and "Current Events" will be discussed. Every member will be expected to contribute something of an interesting event.

DRY RAIDERS FIND 5
STILLS IN COLA COUNTY

Raton, N. M., March 28.—Federal prohibition officers, Carl Gordon and John Beaven have been in this locality the past week and unearthed five stills and found a quantity of whiskey and mash. Those who were taken into custody had a hearing in U. S. Commissioner Haner's court and were bound over to the federal grand jury as follows: Dan Johnson and wife and Grant Turlow; Joe Strohm; Blas Vargas; John Lohse.

Income Tax is Here to Stay, Tells Woolmen

Albuquerque, N. M., March 28.—The income tax has come to stay, J. D. Hannan, internal revenue collector, stated to the wool growers yesterday in a report delivered during the afternoon session of their convention. "At first we considered it a war measure, but it is a fair tax and I believe we will have it with us for many years. Taking this view of it, I suggest that every wool grower take the time and trouble to thoroughly familiarize himself on how to not only protect himself but to give the government a square deal."

Mrs. Hannan deplored the fact so many stockmen do not keep an accurate account of their business of the year. "Many times you try to estimate profits and losses and by not taking advantage of several deductions which you should take if you had all of the facts before you in a book, even a simple type of record book."

Records Are Protection.

According to Mr. Hannan, the lack of actual record is one of the greatest stumbling blocks which confront the internal revenue. In spite of the fact that the law requires the keeping of one type of books, many persons carelessly neglect it.

"If one of our men comes to see you and asks to look over your accounts, don't regard it as a slur on your honesty, the man may be there to see if he can't figure out some deductions which he thinks are due you."

Consult Revenue Official.

Sheep growers were advised by the collector to turn in their complete incomes each season as, if they simply turn in their money profits, they will later be faced with paying taxes on an abnormal income. As an illustration, he suggested that a grower who has 1,000 lambs in one season, turn in the income of the value of the lambs whether they are sold or not. Then when they are sold, he gets that discount from his tax, while if he did not turn in the invoice, he would be faced with really paying tax on two years' income in one year.

"When in trouble over the filling out of your blanks, come to us," Mr. Hannan told the growers. "We are simply your agents and all we want is that you get what is coming to you and that the government gets what is due it. We have no desire to stick as much on you as we possibly can figure."

DEATH OF JAMES A. BAIRD

Monday, March 28th, at the home of his son, Eugene Baird, at Tularosa, N. M., there passed from this earth one of the old and respected pioneers of his part of the country in the person of James A. Baird.

"Uncle Jim," as he was affectionately called by a host of friends throughout New Mexico, had been ill for the past two years. His disease was cancer and his physical gradually deteriorated from the increase the disease made in its progress during his illness.

The body was sent to El Paso for interment in the cemetery and beside the remains of his wife who passed from earth about five years ago. Services were held at the St. Joseph's Catholic church, Tuesday, March 29.

James A. Baird was born in Bundick, North Carolina, July 31st, 1852, and was one of three sons and eight daughters. He attained a common school education when a small boy and at the home of his father who was a farmer. The most of his education, however, was acquired through experience. At the close of the Civil War he left his home and went to Philadelphia, where he remained for four years. Like many young men of that period he was seized with the desire to move west. In 1872 he removed to Texas, where he became a cowboy and afterward a cattleman. He was always more or less interested in the cattle business for the remainder of his life.

He also served as a sheriff in Mason county, Texas, and was twice re-elected when he decided to come to New Mexico. Mr. Baird came to New Mexico in the early eighties and settled in Lincoln county. While a resident of Lincoln county he was a peace officer and was also engaged in the stock business. Later he removed to Dona Ana county, while in Dona Ana county and a resident of Las Cruces he was for a number of years connected with the Santa Fe Ry. Co. as a stock claim agent. During his residence

TWITCHELL IS SLATED FOR JOB IN WASHINGTON

Colonel, Back From Visit to Secretary Fall, Declines to Disclose Reports.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 28.—Just back from Washington where he conferred with Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall, Colonel Ralph E. Twitchell, who was prominently mentioned for the post of first assistant secretary of the interior, declared today that he was impressed with the desire of the new powers in Washington to give the United States a business administration in the present world crisis.

"There seems to be a desire everywhere to get competent workers in the government's ranks first with a regard to political considerations second," he declared.

Colonel Twitchell denied reports that he had been slated at one time for the position of first assistant secretary of the interior and he would not say whether he was likely to be a member of Secretary Fall's official family in the department. It is well known that the post of first assistant secretary of the interior is one of the most trying in Washington, and might have been too much work for Colonel Twitchell, who no longer is in the thirties or forties, although he still has the enthusiasm of youth. Colonel Twitchell is 52 years of age, according to "Who's Who in America."

It is rumored, nevertheless, that Colonel Twitchell is likely to get an important Washington job before many months. It is said he is highly thought of by Secretary Fall and President Harding.

Colonel Twitchell declined to discuss rumors as to "Who's Who in New Mexico at the present time."

PURE FOOD; WHY NOT PURE WOOL?

The federal pure food laws have been in full operation and we might say, quite satisfactory effect for a number of years. These laws protect the consumer from adulterants and poor quality of food stuffs. The laws have penalties that make a dishonest manufacturer from trying to "beat the game." Before these laws the American public was imposed on mercilessly and shamelessly. If pure food laws are advisable why not pure fabric laws? The protection of the buying public from shoddy clothing fabrics? Along this line we are pleased to quote the following article that was read at the Wool Growers' Convention at Albuquerque last week, and taken from the Albuquerque Journal.

The disastrous results to the consumer of the misunderstanding of the term "all wool" and how this can be remedied to the extent that purchasers will know exactly what kind of cloth is in their clothing they are buying, through the passage of the French Capper bill by congress, was discussed in an address by Secretary Greene, of the National Sheep and Wool Bureau, which was read at the wool growers' convention by President Prager, as Mr. Greene was unable to attend the convention.

Ignorance in New Mexico and until he became ill about two years ago he was at all times more or less interested in politics, and had the deserved reputation of being one of the broadest of politicians. This faculty came naturally from a native ability and also from his keen knowledge of men.

About eighteen years ago Mr. Baird moved to Alamogordo. He served as treasurer of Otero county for seven years. He was also elected state senator in 1914. He was affiliated with the Republican party and was one of their strongest leaders in Otero county up until his illness and from the time soon after the county of Otero was organized. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. In religious affiliations he became a Catholic about two years ago.

As a young man, he was one that was respected and even liked by those of opposite political tendencies. He was a good story teller and had vivid reminiscences of rich experiences as a pioneer that were always on tap and always listened to with avidity by any group he happened into. With his personal qualities and ability he had the personal magnetism that draws and holds friends, and where ever he went were congregated he was always the center of attraction.

In July, 1876, Mr. Baird was united in marriage with Miss Mary Head. Of this marriage four children were born, three sons and one daughter. The daughter became the wife of Herbert McGrath and died in 1911. The three sons, Eugene, Wallace and Walter, all survive the parents, and are well known throughout Otero county.

The Woman's Social Club met on Thursday at the home of Mrs.
 Leslie Hanner. A large number of the number of the members were present and enjoyed the social hour sewing, crocheting and chatting. A photographer from Carrizozo, who was in town taking school pictures, took 2 pictures of the club. A delicious lunch of coffee and cakes was served. Another meeting was held on Thursday of this week, at the home of Mrs. Smith, and the husbands of the members being the guests.

The dance, given by the young men on Saturday night, was well attended and a most enjoyable time reported by all those present.

First Methodist Church

Notwithstanding the inclement weather last Sunday morning, practically all of the Sunday School pupils were in their places, and rendered their Easter exercises in a commendable manner. No one seemed to mind the storm. The mantle of our Mr. R. T.
 Cribb, former Sunday School superintendent, has fallen on the shoulders of Mr. O. Z. Finley, who was in his place last Sunday and entered upon the discharge of his official duties. His is an inspiration, especially to the boys.

On account of the special services at the Baptist Church, all our services during the week were called in, including the evening services next Sunday.
 Since conferring with the pastor and some of his people, however, it has been learned that their particularly revival services will be held at a later date. It is mutually agreed that under the circumstances it is better for us to go right ahead with the regular Sunday services at present. We will gladly dismiss the Sunday evening services when the specifically evangelistic effort is made.

Financiers know that we have revivals in business. Literary people know that we have revivals in learning. Likewise religious students know that we have wide, sweeping religious awakenings. We are not now living in a time of religious fervor. But the trend of current events indicates that such a time may be expected soon.
 The pastor begins a series along this line next Sunday. The morning subject being: "The Nature of a Revival";
 Text: "Will thou not revive us again?"
 -Ps. 85:6. And the 7:30 p. m., theme:
 "The Desirability of a Revival"; Text:
 "They shall revive as the corn."
 Hos. 14:7.

Shall be glad to have you obtain the greatest possible benefit from the series.

 E. S. Randles left Wednesday to oversee the work.

Plums are scarce, due to the cotton shortage, which shows the greatest decline in land values.

J. Dalrymple.

J. W. Stockard, prominent in the politics of New Mexico, former mayor of Roswell, and at present rated as wealthy stockman of New Mexico, was arraigned before United States Commissioner A. J. W. Schmidt, charged with receiving smuggled merchandise, and possession and transportation of 110 quarts and 131 pints of unlabeled whisky, and 120 pints of Old Taylor whisky.

Practically all of Gov. M. C. McChesney's recommendations were carried out by the New Mexico Legislature, with the exception of a primary law. Several primary bills were introduced, but the Senate and House could not agree on any one, and the result was that all of them were killed.

A suit for $338,450 and costs has been filed by the Bishop Lumber Company against the Bishop-Santa Fe Water Company as a result of the big fire at Towson on Oct. 11, 1920, which destroyed property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars. The plaintiff alleges a breach of contract in that the water company failed to have water available in a certain water main at the time of the fire.

A solemn requiem mass was held at the Cathedral of St. Francis, in Santa Fe, for the late Father Anselm Weber, "apostle to the Navajos." Franciscan pioneer missionary among the southwestern Indians, the news of whose death in a hospital in Rochester, Minn., had been announced, Father Weber, for twenty-five years a missionary among the Navajos in New Mexico and Arizona, was the leading authority on the language of the tribe.

Tucson was the Mecca of members of the Yaqui tribe of Indians of the western part of Arizona who assembled there for their annual Easter festival and dance. This festival is one of the most notable events in the Yaqui calendar and ranks in importance with the ceremonies of any tribe of Indians in the United States.

MANY SLAIN IN IRISH TROUBLE

THIRTY WOUNDED IN AMBUSH. CADES AS REPRISALS ARE INCREASED.

24 KILLED IN ONE DAY

RECENT EXECUTIONS CAUSE OF NEW OUTBREAKS, IS GENERAL BELIEF.

(Western Newspaper Union News Service.)

Dublin, March 24.—Twenty-four persons were killed and nearly thirty wounded in ambushes reported. A party of janitors was ambushed by a force of about two hundred between Stokessown and Longford. Captain Peck and four soldiers were killed and Lieutenant Tennant and others seriously wounded, while all the others also received wounds. The military forces were in two lorries conveying prisoners when they were fired on from a wood and a house.

Police Sergeant Coghlin was killed and three policemen severely wounded in an ambush near Kesh, County Mayo.

A police inspector and eight men were ambushed near Dingle and the fight that ensued lasted three hours, ended disastrously for the attacking party, eight of whom were killed and twenty wounded, according to an official announcement here. Three of the police were slightly wounded; it was added.

The multiplication of the ambushes is believed to be largely due to reprisals for the recent executions. The Sinn Fein is said to regard their men as belligerents and the execution of those captured as a breach of the laws of war and punishable by reprisal. The execution of Whelan was followed by the killing of two policemen in his town of Clifden. The deaths of the two policemen were avenged in Clifden by house burning.

The execution of Patrick Moran has been followed by the killing of two policemen in his district of Roscommon.

For every man executed vengeance is anticipated, and as the government has in custody many men liable to the death penalty, the piling up of deaths on each side is considered here as inevitable.

Cork.—Six civilians were killed in the Barney district, County Cork, in a battle which ensued when crown forces were fired upon from a farm house.

The military were conducting a search for wanted men when they were attacked.

A farmer's house at Cloughan was surrounded by crown forces. Young men, it is reported, were taken out of the house and ordered to run for their lives. They were fired upon, four being shot dead.

Refuse Women Jurors.

San Francisco.—A jury composed of thirty of men was chosen to hear evidence in the trial of Mrs. Margaret Clark, charged with murder, after the defendant had refused to accept any woman jurors and persistent effort by her counsel had removed all women from the jury box.

Bandits Lock Up Clerks.

Detroit, Mich.—Six armed bandits entered a branch of the Commercially Reserve Bank here, locked two male clerks in a rear room, secured $12,500 in currency into two black leather bags and escaped in a touring car.

Packing House Strike Averted.

Washington.—Prospects of an epidemic strike in the packing industry have been averted through the mediation of Secretary of Labor Davis. Compromises by the employers in accepting a wage reduction and by the five big packers in consenting to a six months' extension of the Ashcroft arbitration agreement made possible the settlement after three days of conferences in which representatives of packers and employers and Secretaries Davis, Hoover and Wallace participated. The settlement is agreed to follow: Reduction of wages of 8 cents an hour for hourly workers and to 32½ per cent for piece workers. Retention of the basic eight-hour day and overtime rates as provided in the war-time Ashcroft rulings.

Space Horses Burn.

West Springfield, Mass.—Eleven race horses and breeding stallions were burned to a crisp and two brood mares were scorched so badly they were shot in a fire in the Eastern States Exposition grounds. The total loss is estimated at $40,000.

Ban on Nonregulation Clothing.

Washington.—The stampy "duck pants" with visions of outbidding his comrades on special occasions by the use of a few unappreciated touches around his attire received the news that Secretary Weeks had issued an order placing a ban on all nonregulation clothing in February, 1919, a War Department order was issued permitting the wearing of certain nonregulation articles procured during the war emergency. The new order reminded that ruling.

WAS NEW ONE ON KITCHENER

Great British Soldier Somewhat Out of His Element When It Came to Chaplains.

Here is a Lord Kitchener story, told by the anonymous author of "The Mirrors of Downing Street." Kitchener was a soldier and absorbed in his profession. Details outside of his ruling position annoyed him.

During the early days of the war, Lloyd George went to him at the war office and asked the appointment of denominational chaplains for the various sorts of the army.

Kitchener had no interest in chaplains. He regarded them as a negligible factor in the fighting machine. He opposed the appointments. Lloyd George insisted, especially with respect to Presbyterians. Kitchener finally yielded and picked up his pen.

"Very well," he said, "you shall have a Presbyterian." Then a faint smile lighted his serious face. "Let me see, Presbyterian?—how do you spell it?"

No Room for the Incompetent.

Much of the work done in this world has to be undone. Incompetency is the greatest drawback to progress. Incompetents are the most costly members of society, and always will be. That's why there is always a premium on brains and skill which combine to produce efficiency.—Exchange.

THE man who speaks of life as being made up of "just one thing after another" as though it were simply a series of unwelcome and disconnected events, is mentally near-sighted. He fails to recognize the importance and necessity of viewing life as a whole. Success is a matter of properly valuing and emphasizing the various activities of living. Work and play, earning and spending and saving, all have their place in worth while living; and all are closely related one to the other.
