Dangerous Beasts

The teacher had been telling her class about the rhinoceros family. "Now name something," she said, "that are very dangerous to get near to, and that have horns."

"Automobiles!" promptly answered Johnny.

Wouldn't Take a Chance

"Why don't you get out an hustle? Hard work never killed anybody," remarked the philosophical gentleman, to whom Rustus applied for a little charity.

"You're mistaken dar, boss," replied Rustus; "I've lost four wives dat way."—Cop.

Mother, Willie dear, will you Rock that baby?"

Willie, "I would mother if I had a Rock."—Lite

So Careless

"Who was here with you last night?"

"Well—er—Agnes was here, father,"

"Well, tell Agnes she's left her spurs and 'Sam Brown' under the settee."

Even Up

A roadmaster for a Middle Western railroad was much incensed on finding one of his subordinates getting a shave while on duty.

"What's the idea?" he roared, "Getting your beard shaved on the company's time?"

"Idea yourself," came back the offender, "It grew on the company's time, didn't it?"

Matter of Muscle

She: What do they mean when they speak of a soldier who goes AWOL?

He: Oh, he's a guy who is too weak to juggle a pick and shovel, but strong enough to pull his freight.

BOOKS BRING AID TO SOLDIER SICK

American Library Association
Serves Ten Thousand Men in Nation's Hospitals.

EFFORTS BRING RESULTS.

Works on Vocational Training Circulated Among Men Who Must Take Up New Callings Because of Their Injuries.

Hospital library service maintained by the American Library Association during the war was credited with great value in aiding in the recovery of many sick and disabled men.

There are still in our hospitals more than 10,000 former service men. Of these nearly 8,000 are in Public Health Service hospitals, the remainder in civilian hospitals. Books, magazines and newspapers are sent to these men from the American Library Association. In the larger hospitals, containing over 200 patients, special librarians are placed. To the smaller hospitals, through the co-operation of many public libraries, library visitors are sent to visit the wards once or twice a week and learn the book needs of the patients.

A special effort is made to supply to ex-service men in hospitals the books in demand as a result of the training given by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

More Books for Blind.

The A. L. A., in co-operation with other agencies already interested in work for the blind, is printing books in the new Braille type. Because of the newness of the revised Braille adopted for teaching to the American war blind, literature printed in it is limited to fewer than 200 books. Though the total number of blinded soldiers is small, their need of books is great, and the "magic of print" can do much to restore hope and usefulness to them.

Not only for former service men who are sick or disabled is the association working. The value of books proved so great to men in camps that efforts are still being made to connect discharged soldiers and sailors with libraries wherever they may be. Hundreds of letters have reached A. L. A. headquarters from former service men telling of the lack of library facilities in particular localities to which those men have returned.

Direct Service Provided.

In many cases there is a state library commission or a nearby library to which a man can be referred for the books he needs, but if there is no such organization through which he can be served, books for almost any serious purpose may be borrowed directly from the A. L. A. War Service, 24 West Fifty-ninth street, New York city. The only expense in connection with these loans is prepayment of return postage on books borrowed.

The A. L. A. has published lists of books to help ex-service men who are trying to advance themselves in work. "Five Hundred Business Books," "One Thousand Technical Books" and reading courses on recent subjects are now in preparation.

Other Work Being Done.

Other branches of work which the A. L. A. War Service is carrying on include service to the Merchant Marine, coast guard and lighthouses, service to industrial communities which are resultant from the war, service to United States forces overseas. This work is carried on with money received from the United War Work funds, the use of which is limited by the conditions of the gift to these specific purposes.

The service of the Merchant Marine department provides free library service to seamen on American merchant ships in the form of "crows' libraries," bookcase boxes, each containing about 80 books. These libraries are exchangeable at principal ports. Books and magazines are sent also to men in coast guard stations, in lighthouses and on lightships.

GREAT IN HIS PENMANSHIP

Leonard Wood Puts Himself in Class With Horace Greeley and Napoleon.

Leonard Wood's penmanship is his weakest point, but in that he has as prototypes, Horace Greeley, Napoleon and many other illustrious leaders, Clive Newcome Hart, who was his stenographer at Governor's Island, writes:

"During the winter of 1916-1917 General Wood was traveling here and there speaking in behalf of preparedness. It was part of Captain Johnson's duties—Captain Johnson being an aide to the general—to keep in touch with his itinerary. One day the captain came into the office, and picking up the general's memorandum pad, scowled in perplexity at the words scribbled across the page in the general's illegible handwriting. The general watched him quietly for a few moments, then said:

"What's wrong? Fire away."

"That was his usual signal that he was ready to listen to what one had to say."

"Er—excuse me, general," said Captain Johnson, hesitatingly, "but, but—I don't quite understand the memorandum. This reads 'Here for lunch' while my slate says you are not in town tomorrow—and I don't quite understand—that is, I've made no plans for lunch for tomorrow."

"Let me see it," said the general.

"He glanced quickly at the notation on the pad, and then said disgustedly:

"That doesn't say anything about 'Here for lunch.' It reads 'Leave for Ithaca.'"

WOOD LEADS IN LITERARY DIGEST

Leonard Wood Is More Than 9,000 Votes Ahead of Nearest Competitor.

In its attempt to learn the composite choice of the nation for nomination for president, the Literary Digest or the week of April 24 publishes the second installment of its presidential poll of 11,000,000 voters. The returns include 140,000 votes. Leonard Wood continues to hold a big lead.

Wood has 32,351; Hoover, 22,008; Johnson, 22,000; Harding, 10,432; Hughes, 5,922; Lowden, 6,449; Taft, 3,400. Among the Democrats, Edwards gets 7,568; McAdoo, 6,740; Wilson, 6,491; Cox, 5,649; Bryan, 3,885.

Hoover receives a Democratic vote of 9,974 which is larger than the Democratic vote cast for any avowed Democrat. McAdoo has the first place in the declared Democratic vote with 5,613 and Wilson is second with 5,342.

The vote continues to come mainly from Ohio, New York, New Jersey, California, Texas and Washington.

New York Leans Ever Woodward.

New York, April 24.—Although the people of Ohio will actually vote for the selection of only 48 delegates to the Chicago convention at the polls on April 27, the result of their balloting will materially influence 88 delegates from New York state at nomination time.

A poll of the Empire state's 88 delegates, elected on April 6, shows that they are for the strongest candidate, with a leaning toward General Wood because he is in the lead. The remarkable showing General Wood made in Illinois against Governor Lowden has boosted his stock with the 88 New Yorkers and they are now watching Ohio. If General Wood makes as good a showing against Senator Harding in Ohio as he did against Governor Lowden, this fact will practically insure the vote of the New York delegation for him.

John J. Lyons, a leading New York delegate elected to go to Chicago, said: "Two things are certain about the New York delegation: First, it is not for Senator Johnson, because all the Johnson pledged candidates for delegates were beaten by three to one or worse in the recent primary election; second, it is going to vote for the man who is nominated. At present it looks like Wood is going to be nominated, for he has split the delegation in one favorite son's state and it looks like he has a chance to split another favorite son's native state's delegation. If he does the New York delegation will regard him as the man most likely to get the nomination and will support him after a complimentary first ballot for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler. A recent poll showed Wood was the first choice of 75 per cent of the people of New York state, and if to this sentiment is added the Illinois outcome and a similar result in Ohio, it can readily be understood why Wood would stand ace high with the New York delegation."

Garland for Wood.

Hamlin Garland, the writer, has written a letter of indorsement of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, in which he says:

"General Wood knows the old world and the new. He has a wide acquaintance among the men of power and patriotism and can be trusted to form a cabinet of the highest ability. He has shown that he can hold the even hand over the labor problem. He is neither the business man nor the partisan of labor; he is a great and patriotic citizen, a civilian of vast experience, a soldier of noble spirit and notable self-restraint. Admirable as the other candidates are General Wood by his training, by his experience as well as by his temperamental qualities has first claim on the voters who realize that this is a time of swift change and that the nation needs an executive of proven ability and impartial good will."

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A CERTAIN man in New York filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was 5%. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is

- less than we spend for daily papers
- less than a local telephone call
- less than a third of this day's car fare
- less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty denominations. They have surveyed their whole task, no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men or women who love America—to you—this week asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be.

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better will the world be because you passed through?
