FRIEND OF PRESIDENTS

Leonard Wood Made Good at White House Surgeon.

Leonard Wood was ordered to Washington in 1895—the morgue of the government official—to become assistant attending surgeon. The holder of this office often shares with the navy surgeons the responsibility of medical attention to the president. In addition he acts as medical adviser to army officers and their families and is the official physician to the secretary of war.

It was not an office that appealed to Captain Wood. It could not, since he was a man essentially of out-of-doors, of action and of administration. Yet he seems to have made such a success of the work that he became the personal friend of both Cleveland and McKinley. His relations with President Cleveland were of the most intimate sort, resulting from mutual respect and liking as well as from mutual understanding on the part of both men of the other's good qualities. He saw him in the White House at all hours of the day and night; saw him with his family and his children about him; noted their fondness for their father and his devotion to them. It was a quality so marked in Lincoln, so strong in most great men of the sound, calm, fearless, administrative sort.

Leonard Wood himself has exhibited the same quality in his own family. And in these days the perfect understanding of the father and his children, the simple family life that went on in the splendid old house in Washington which combined the dignity of a state and the simplicity of a home unequalled by any other great ruler's house upon this earth—all tended to bring out this native quality of the president's medical adviser.

STRICT ON PUNCTUALITY

Leonard Wood's Rebuke Was More Dreaded Than a Ducking in Ferry Slip.

"Leonard Wood's ideas about punctuality are very strict—especially for subordinates," writes Clyde Newcome Hart, who was his personal stenographer at Governor's Island for a month. "I remember one morning I missed the Governor's Island boat at the large office, and as these boats only run every 15 minutes, I was late in reporting at the office. I was deeply chagrined when the general, in his quiet way, suggested I might make the boat if I started a little earlier. I resolved never to be late again."

"However, the next morning I arrived at the slip just as the boat was putting out, but I made a running leap, and landed on deck all right. The corporal in charge of the boat rushed over and shouted in my ear: "You'd better not try that again unless you want to land in the water."

"I didn't mind being caled down by a corporal half as much as I objected to the quiet rebuke of the general; and, as I told the corporal, landing in the cold water wouldn't be any more of a shock than the icy reception I might get if I landed at the office late two mornings in succession."

WOOD CALLS FOR THRIFT

Demands That Nation's Expenditures Shall Be Put Back on a Prowar Basis.

Leonard Wood, who cancelled his Eastern tour on account of the railroad strike, called attention in Boston to the tremendous expenditures being incurred by the government and asked that the nation get back to a pre-war basis of economy and thrift. "We have been spending money during the war with both hands like drunken sailors," he said. "The time has come to cut out all unnecessary expenditures and get down to bed-rock conditions. We want to speak of our congress again as a million-dollar congress and not as a billion-dollar congress. The burden of taxation is weighing heavily upon us. We must spread the war burden over a longer period of years. We must take the strange hold of the excess profits and other war taxes off the throat of American business and American initiative."

WOOD FIRST IN LESLIE'S.

New York, April .—Norman J. Gould and Thomas W. Miller, Eastern managers for Leonard Wood's campaign for the Republican nomination, received from Theodore Williams, associate editor of Leslie's Weekly, the result of a nation-wide poll that publication has taken. The result follows: General Wood, 2,374; Senator Johnson, 752; Governor Lowden, 204; Senator Polndexter, 172; Senator Harding, 88; Herbert Hoover, 104; General Pershing, 33; Governor Coolidge, 56; Senator Borah, 68. President Wilson, William McAdoo, Charles E. Hughes, William Taft, Ole Hanson also received some votes.

NEWSIE KING FOR WOOD.

Cincinnati, April .—Jimmy Widmeyer, "king of the newsboys," has joined the active working forces of Leonard Wood and is in close touch with the Wood presidential headquarters in the Johnston building. His news stand is opposite. Widmeyer has placed a sign on the stand calling for volunteers to join the Wood hosts in Ohio. Underneath the stand he has placed a basketful of Wood buttons, out of which all passersby are invited to help themselves.

BOOKS BRING AID TO SOLDIER SICK

American Library Association Serves Ten Thousand Men in Nation's Hospitals.

EFFORTS BRING RESULTS.

Works in Vocational Training Circles Among Men Who Must Take Up the Callings of Their Injuries

Hospital library service maintained by the American Library Association during the war was credited with great value in aiding in the recovery of many sick and disabled men.

There are still in our hospitals more than 10,000 former service men. Of these nearly 8,000 are in Public Health Service hospitals, the remainder in civilian hospitals. Books, magazines and newspapers are sent to these men from the American Library Association.
In the larger hospitals, containing over 500 patients, special librarians are placed. To the smaller hospitals, through the co-operation of many public libraries, library visitors are sent to visit the wards once or twice a week and learn the book needs of the patients.

A special effort is made to supply to ex-service men in hospitals the books in demand as a result of the training given by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

More Books for Blind.

The A. L. A. in co-operation with other organizations is working for the blind, is printing books in the new Braille type. Because of the newness of the revised Braille adopted for teaching to the American war blind, literature printed in it is limited to fewer than 200 books.
Though the total number of blinded soldiers is small, their need of books is great, and the "magic of print" can do much to restore hope and usefulness to them.

Not only for former service men who are sick or disabled is the association working. The value of books proved so great to men in camps that efforts are still being made to connect discharged soldiers and sailors with libraries wherever they may be. Hundreds of letters have reached A. L. A. headquarters from former service men telling of the lack of library facilities in particular localities to which those men have returned.

Direct Service Provided.

In many cases there is a state library commission or a nearby library to which a man can be referred for the books he needs, but if there is no such organization through which he can be served, books for almost any serious purpose may be borrowed directly from the A. L. A. War Service, 24 West Thirty-ninth street, New York city.
The only expense in connection with these loans is prepayment of return postage on books borrowed.

The A. L. A. has published lists of books to help ex-service men who are studying to advance themselves in their work. "Five Hundred Business Books," "One Thousand Technical Books" and reading courses on practical subjects are now in preparation.

Other Work Being Done.

Other branches of work which the A. L. A. War Service is carrying on include service to the Merchant Marine, Coast Guard and lighthouses, service to industrial communities which are resultant from the war, service to United States forces overseas. This work is carried on with money received from the United War Work funds, the use of which is limited by the conditions of the gift to these specific purposes.

The service of the Merchant Marine department provides free library service to seamen on American merchant ships in the form of "crews' libraries," bookcase boxes, each containing about 80 books. These libraries are exchangeable at principal ports. Books and magazines are sent also to men in coast guard stations, in lighthouses and on lightships.

tee in Wood campaign.

WOOD LIKE GREELEY

Stenographers Were Perplexed but He Always Came to Their Rescue Gladly.

Leonard Wood's penmanship is his weakest point, but in that he has a prototype, Horace Greeley, Napoleon and many other illustrious leaders of men. Clive Newcome Hartt, who was his stenographer at Governor's Island, writes:

"And what a signature it is! Unless one knows in advance what it is supposed to represent, it might be taken for anything. I had to decipher it without being able to decipher it."

"But no matter how puzzling his chirography may be to others, it is always clear and legible to the general. I had occasion to learn this very soon. He would take typewritten pages I had turned in, revise them and scrawl interpolations and inserts and changes in the most terrific way, and then I would have to make a fresh copy of this changed matter. I was working over his notes one day when he boomed:

"If you can't read that, Mr. Hartt, don't be afraid to ask me—and save time."

"He was quite right about it's saving time. It would take a ouija board to read a page of his notes, and then one couldn't be sure that even one word was correct!

"If this sounds like an exaggeration, let me convince you of the validity of my statement.

"During the winter of 1916-17 General Wood was traveling here and there speaking in behalf of preparedness. It was part of Captain Johnson's duty—Captain Johnson being an aide to the general—to keep in touch with his itinerary. One day the captain came into the office, and picking up the general's memorandum pad, scowled in perplexity at the words scrawled across the page in the general's inimitable handwriting. The general watched him quietly for a few moments, then said:

"What's wrong? Fire away!"
"That was his usual signal that he was ready to listen to what one had to say.

"Er—excuse me, general," said Captain Johnson hesitatingly, "but but—I don't quite understand the memorandum. This reads, 'Here for lunch,' while my slate says you are not in town tomorrow—and I don't quite understand—that is, I've made no plans for lunch for tomorrow."

"Let me see it," said the general.
"He glanced quickly at the notation on the pad, and said disgustedly,
'That doesn't say anything about 'Here for lunch.' It reads 'Leave for Ithaca.'"

"Let's top it off with a good smoke"

—Chesterfield

NOTHING touches the spot like a good smoke—and nothing can touch Chesterfields for genuinely "satisfying" body and flavor.

In Chesterfields the finest of silky, aromatic Turkish and rich, mellow Domestic tobaccos are blended to bring out a new and finer quality of flavor.

Now you know why Chesterfields "Satisfy!" And because this blend is exclusive and cannot be copied, only Chesterfields can "satisfy!"

Each package is wrapped in moisture-proof, glassine paper that keeps all of the original flavor intact.

LABOR SQUARELY BEHIND GENERAL WOOD

Chicago Unionist Says He Offers One Need of Employer and Employee—Justice.

In an editorial entitled "General Wood and Labor's Need," the Chicago Unionist comments on the result of the primaries in Cook county, and Chicago as follows:

"Lining up the presidential possibilities side by side, and considering what each has to offer labor, we believe that General Wood's tribute to our cause will be labor's one need—justice. We want nothing more, and most emphatically nothing less."

Speaking of the strikes in Chicago, which caused him to abandon his speech-making tour in the eastern states to return here, General Wood said:

"This country is going to be run by Americans, cost what it may. No class legislation, either of wealth, labor, or power, but a real democracy and a spirit of co-operation and helpfulness, is the need."
Yes, General Wood, you have put your finger on the pulse of the situation. Labor is menaced by foes from within. You are right in protesting against class legislation. Labor wants no legislation giving it a balance of power, but labor does want legislation giving it its rights; nothing more; nothing less. Labor desires no legislation of class. Labor wants no legislation of wealth. Labor wants no legislation of power, and above all, labor wants no legislation of labor.
Labor wants justice; justice to itself; justice to capital; justice to every combination of citizenry that goes to make our great American nation. Labor will be satisfied with justice, and when justice is meted out to her, the undercurrent of unrest will be calmed; but not before.

So, General Wood, more power to you. Your dictum against class legislation, whether of wealth, or of labor, or of power, does credit to you, because it is what every true American citizen wants—justice for all, and special privileges for none.

WOOD FAR AHEAD IN PRIMARY VOTE.

William Cooper Proctor, chairman of the Leonard Wood national campaign committee, gave out the following statement relative to the Nebraska returns:

Nebraska was a natural victory for Johnson, as so many distinct elements were co-operating in his favor, while the other vote was divided in the ratio of about 60 to 40 between Wood and General Pershing. In Nebraska as always where there has been any test of popular approval of Wood's candidate, he has run first or second, yielding first place to Johnson only in Michigan and Nebraska, where he was a close second, defeating all other candidates. But the New Jersey and Ohio primaries are coming next Tuesday and Indiana on the following Tuesday, where there will be a different verdict.
