OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 20

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1919

NUMBER 52

CARRIZOZO SCHOOL NOTES

SUPV. E. E. COLE.

Physical Apparatus for the Carrizozo High School.—About two weeks ago a large amount of very useful and valuable apparatus was received for use in the department of physics. The cost is about four hundred dollars and not a dollar of it was spent unwisely. Some schools have a great deal of expensive, useless, showy apparatus. That received for our high school was selected for making the experiments called for by our state university and the North Central Association of Colleges and High Schools. The text book and the manual used by us are by Millikan, of the University of Chicago, and are the best in use in the high schools of the United States. The work done in physics in the Carrizozo high school this year is sure to be acceptable to the state colleges of New Mexico and the North Central Association.

The laboratory work in physics is done on the beautiful table recently made by the manual training department. This table has not a single iron nail in its construction, being held together by glue and brass screws. Even a small iron nail in the table would become a magnet and interfere with the experiments in magnetism. The table was made according to the best model used in the United States and has the stain color of mission oak.

Of the one hundred and forty one pieces of apparatus a few will be mentioned: The aneroid barometer will tell the height of buildings, hills and mountains to within a few feet. It is to be used not only by the class in physics but also by the boy scouts. The teacher, Mr. Cole, also intends that the students shall estimate the height of mountains, and prove the accuracy of the aneroid barometer, by finding the boiling point of water at the top of the mountains. The boiling point of water falls one degree Centigrade for approximately one thousand feet of ascent above sea level. The school also has a mercurial barometer.

A wireless telegraph instrument belongs to the outfit. It sends messages only one hundred feet but it shows the working principle of wireless telegraphy better than if it cost thousands. The boys are especially interested in this piece of apparatus.

An excellent Toepler-Holtz generates static electricity. Electric chimes, Leyden jars, the electric whirl, the electric plume, and about a dozen other pieces of apparatus go with it.

The phenomena of light will be illustrated with plenty of excellent pieces such as the various lenses, prisms, multiple image apparatus, Rumford's photometer and the wonderful manometric flame apparatus.

The principles of sound will be proved by means of Galton's whistle, the organ pipe, the sonometer, tuning forks, resonant jars, the chromatic pitch pipe, Chladni's plates and other instruments.

A fine instrument for measuring the coefficient of linear expansion of the different metals will enable our students to find what part of itself a metal will expand on being heated one degree Centigrade. This can be done to a millionth part of an inch and requires careful and very accurate work on the part of the student.

The laboratory has plenty of apparatus to demonstrate the laws of the six types of machines.

In other words the Carrizozo high school has the equipment necessary to do as good work in physics as can be done in the largest high schools of New Mexico. The United States Commissioner of Education says that physics is the most useful study of the high school as it requires much mathematics, careful measurements, accurate reasoning and correct conclusions.

The science departments, of the Carrizozo schools has been neglected. Next year a chemical department should be developed. General science should be put into the freshman class; astronomy and geology should follow. These studies, so interesting to boys, would do much toward keeping the boys in school. Lastly, how we do need more working room!

Drilling in Tularosa Basin

There is considerable interest shown in the development of New Mexico oil fields in the Tularosa basin, north of El Paso, in Otero and Lincoln counties, and in the Jornada and Caballo basins, northern Dona Ana and southeastern Sierra counties. In southern Lincoln county a British Columbia company is drilling for oil at Oscura, and the well is about 1,000 feet deep. Further south, in Otero county, northwest of the town of Tularosa, a deep test well is drilling by the Southwestern Tularosa Oil company on a favorable structure in the middle of Tularosa basin. Several miles farther south in the same basin the Valmont-Tularosa Basin Oil company has been drilling with a small rig, and recently decided to drill with a large standard rig. The W. W. Cox Oil company is drilling with a large standard rig in the western portion of Tularosa basin about sixty miles north of El Paso. The Orleans Oil company is drilling in Tularosa basin, two miles west of Escondido, a station on the El Paso & Southwestern railroad, and about fifteen miles northeast of W. W. Cox well. There are five strong companies actually drilling in five different parts of Tularosa basin.

Mexican Smugglers Fight Provost Guard

El Paso, Texas.—An American provost guard and a Mexican civilian were killed during a pitched battle Saturday night between American smugglers, at the international boundary line near here tonight.

The dead: Private Fleer Embler, Hyde Park, North Carolina.

Jose Ramirez, El Paso, Texas.

The encounter occurred opposite a spot known as "The Island," which is Mexican territory, immediately contiguous to the American line, the old bed of the Rio Grande. As a group of provost guards approached a fence near the line, they were fired upon by a number of Mexicans, apparently smugglers, who were in ambush. The shooting is said to have lasted over an hour.

El Paso police and detectives joined the fray, and the Mexicans retreated. One of the latter, Ramirez, remained concealed in the grass and when the flash of his gun was seen he was riddled with bullets.

Six sacks of liquor were found behind the fence which the smugglers had used as a barricade.

250 Anarchists are Shipped to Russia

New York, Dec. 29.—Sailing under sealed orders, the army transport Buford, "the ark" which will carry back to soviet Russia Emma Goldman, Alex Berkman and more than 200 other radicals, will leave here early tomorrow. A thick veil of official secrecy was thrown about the preparations for departure and all passes to the Brooklyn piers where the ship is docked, were cancelled.

The destination of the ship is not known even to the Captain. His sailing orders will be handed to him sealed to be opened twenty-four hours away from port.

The normal crew of 125 men including officers, has been increased by enlisted men to serve as guards, and other precautions have been taken to prevent any possible trouble during the voyage.

Nearly 250 reds were at Ellis Island tonight awaiting deportation. The number had been increased during the day by the arrival of handcuffed and well guarded delegations totalling about 150, from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, the Cleveland district and Hartford, Conn.

The transfer from Ellis Island to the Buford of the agitators who have preached death and destruction, was an event unique in the annals of this nation. Seized in raids in all parts of the country, they were mobilized here for deportation. An elaborate screen of secrecy was thrown about the preparations for sending them away.

It was in the darkest hours of night when an army tug drew up at the dock of the immigration station to take aboard the undesirable for the seven mile journey down the bay to the Buford.

A revenue cutter and two other army tugs formed an escort for the reds and one tug lay alongside while they were being transferred to the Buford, to prevent attempts by those reluctant to leave to swim the half mile to the shore of Staten Island.

While all the anarchists had professed joy at the thought of returning to Russia, a few of them wept and most of them seemed downcast as they stepped on board the tug for the grim journey through the darkness of the harbor to the troopship.

The air was cold and a biting wind was blowing as they huddled on deck.

"Goodbye America," sobbed Miss Bernstein, as the tug plowed past the Statue of Liberty with her lighted torch held proudly aloft. The girl was leaving behind Samuel Lipman, her fiancé, facing a twenty-year term in the Atlantic penitentiary for violating the espionage law.

Berkman was defiant to the last and threatened secret service men as he stepped from the soil of the United States.

"We're coming back and we'll get you," he muttered, embellishing his statement with curses.

"To hell with America," came in a deep bass voice from the anarchists' tug as it passed a boat crowded with more department of justice men.

The women in the deported party will be treated as first-class passengers. The men are in three separate compartments. Ten immigration inspectors will help soldiers guard them. All will be confined to their quarters except for a brief daily exercise period on deck. Red Cross nurses went along as matrons.

Other soviet arks are likely to leave in the near future, for the department of justice has a card index of 60,000 radicals who are under scrutiny, and it is the announced intention of the authorities to deport all who are proved to advocate the overthrow of the government by violence.

Early Ruling on the Prohibition Amendment Expected

Washington, Dec. 22.—The supreme court today ordered the government to show cause on January 5 why original proceedings should not be instituted by the states of Rhode Island and New Jersey retail liquor dealers to have determined the constitutionality of the constitutional amendment.

Applications for permission to contest the amendment's validity and seek injunction against its enforcement in those states were presented last week. In both instances, the amendment was alleged to conflict with the state police powers and with the federal constitution.

In ordering the government to show cause, the court, according to government attorneys, followed an unusual procedure as ordinarily in such instances, permission to bring such proceedings is given and a date fixed when they are returnable. The court, however, was generally believed to have been prompted by the fact that as the amendment becomes effective on January 16 the procedure followed would expedite matters.

The supreme court today recessed until January 5th, without handing down an opinion on the constitutionality sections of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act affecting the alcoholic content of beer.

A Vulcanizing Plant

A vulcanizing plant has recently been installed in the Taylor Garage on Main street, with S. A. Price, late of Texas, in charge. Mr. Price is recommended as a capable man in the business, who can make old tires good for several thousand miles of service. Car owners can reduce the upkeep of their machines by having their casings and inner tubes patched, when needed.

Up The Flume

The iron furnace has gone up in smoke, for the present, at least. The proposition made by the representative of the Hematite Mining & Transportation Co., which was favorably considered by the committee, appears to have been a little premature; so for the time being nothing can be done. Therefore, it is unnecessary to dilate on the proposition—there ain't going to be no furnace.

The Best Ever

The season, the weather and the crowd all united last night in making the dance in the K. P. Hall one of the most successful and entertaining the Carrizozo Dancing Club has given. Merry-makers were present from every point of the compass and everybody wore a smile that wouldn't come off. The music was splendid and every thing united to make the occasion a pleasurable one.

Even the hen lays her plans for the New Year.

N. M. to Have Two Congressmen

Census Forecast is that New Mexico will Have Two Representatives

It is quite probable that New Mexico will have two representatives in congress after March 4, 1921. This state was allowed two congressmen during the first year of statehood, but under the apportionment fixed by congress based upon the census of 1910, one representative was lost.

Congress made it necessary for this state to have a population of 423,754 in order to have two representatives in the lower house, but the 1910 census showed a population of only 327,301. But the estimates of the census bureau of 1918 gives this state a population of 437,000 in round numbers. There should be a reasonable increase for the year 1919 to be added, and unless actual tabulation by the enumerators should show the annual estimates of the bureau to be frightfully inaccurate, New Mexico will be entitled to elect two representatives in 1921.

The greatest drawback to securing a candidate in either party is a financial one. It is expensive to make the race, and if the candidate is elected his troubles have only commenced. He cannot live in Washington City, as a congressman is expected to live, on the salary. He couldn't do it before the high cost of living epidemic came, striking the national capital harder than any other place in the nation, and it will linger there longer.

Christmas Day

Christmas week was a busy one in Carrizozo. The stores, which a few weeks ago were jammed full of holiday goods, were sold out early in the afternoon of the 24th, the result of early shopping. The day was a beautiful one—warm and sunny, with the distant peaks showing white from recent snows. All the time-honored customs were in evidence (barring one)—the mistletoe, evergreens and Christmas trees; the giving and receiving of presents, etc.

Quite a large number left town to spend the day with relatives, and many returned from outside points to spend the day with home folks. The churches had their Christmas trees on the 24th and special services on the 27th. The day was quietly observed, with the spirit of "peace on earth and good will to men" prevailing.

In The Role of Santa Claus

Early Christmas morning the Gurney Hotel was besieged by a crowd of young Mexican boys and girls estimated from 100 to 150, joyously crying "Happy Krees-mus." Mrs. Gurney soon appeared, with hampers, filled with sacks of nuts, fruit, cake and other good things, which, with the assistance of several waiters, she dispensed to the happy crowd. On inquiry it was learned that she plays the role of Santa Claus every Christmas morning.

Breaks Arm

Elvin Harkey had one arm broken this week as a result of a tussle with a Ford. He was cranking the "critter" when it gave him a kick that was almost as disastrous as a contact with Si's mule, Maud. Harkey is going around, however, as though nothing of a serious nature happened, except that he wears his good right wing in a sling.

The Fourteenth Decennial Census

ENUMERATORS HARD TO GET

Felix Valdes, of Clayton, assistant supervisor of census, under supervisor Juan J. Duran, spent several days in Carrizozo this week, seeking enumerators to start out on the 2nd of January to take the fourteenth decennial census. He has had great difficulty so far in finding qualified candidates at $6.00 a day, and appeals to the people to help him secure capable enumerators, as this census is intended to be more important than ever before.

The taking of the fourteenth decennial census is one of the big problems confronting the nation, and differing from every other tabulation of its kind which has been made, the directors are seriously hampered by the shortage of help. In the past the liberal pay allowed and the absence of hard work as it is usually considered, brought flocks of volunteers, from which it was easy to select the most promising prospects. This time it is difficult to get any help at all, and it has been necessary to waive the age and sex limit and various other stipulations that used to be considered essential. So marked is the situation that President Wilson last week considered it necessary to issue a proclamation asking the co-operation of the people generally.

The census this time is to be more comprehensive than ever before, and certainly more important, since the many vast problems of public policy are to be determined by the statistics gathered.

Mr. Valdes, while here this week, stated that he expected the people would help him secure enumerators for Carrizozo, Nogal, the Mesa, Capitan, Lincoln, Ancho, and some other precincts in the county, in which no appointments has been made. The people should do their utmost to induce capable persons to take the job, as on the correctness of the statistics gathered much depends for Lincoln county and New Mexico. We must make our very best showing, as ten years will elapse before we have another chance of proving our population and resources.

Farm Crops are Worth $14,000,000,000

Washington, Dec. 21.—The total value of the country's important farm crops this year aggregates $14,092,740,000, the department of agriculture estimated today in its final report. That compares with $12,600,526,000, the aggregate value of last year's crops as finally revised. The total area planted in these principal crops is placed at 359,134,473 acres, compared with 356,497,162 last year.

Assessment Work for 1919 is Suspended

A joint resolution to suspend the requirements of annual assessment work on mining claims during the year was passed by congress and approved by the president November 13, last. The resolution provides, however, that in order to be relieved of such work, claimants must file where location notice is recorded, on or before December 31, 1919, notice of their desire to hold such claims under this resolution.

The high cost of living is sometimes charged with the high cost of loafing.

"YOUR FATHER'S DEAD."

Synopsis—Stacey Wallen, first mate of the bark Upolo, in the Java sea, is the sole survivor of the crew, all victims of yellow fever. Ting Wah, Chinese sailor, last man to die, tells Wallen he and five other Chinamen were sent aboard by "Drink-House Sam," notorious character of Singapore, to kill him. This recalls to Wallen an incident of his childhood which seems connected with the confession. While delirious, Wallen enters in the ship's log the fact of his death and abandons the vessel in a small boat. Wallen's boat drifts to the island of Arru and a Red-Tail trader there, MacKnight, cares for him. Learning that a ship is in port on the other side of the island, twenty miles away, Wallen, though unfit for the task, starts to reach it, but falls exhausted on the trail. There he is found by a man and woman who are from the ship he was trying to reach. Mott, first mate, and Helen Mackay, a passenger. They convey him to the vessel. This ship proves to be a small tramp steamer, the Monleigh, Capt. Laynton.

It was a little strange. Ships like the Monleigh weren't in the habit of indulging in expensive luxuries of that description! His brows gathered for a moment; and then, with a shrug of his shoulders, he walked forward to the captain's cabin under the bridge and knocked.

"Come in!" bawled a voice gruffly. Wallen entered to face the little man with the thin face and queer eyes—he promptly modified "queer" by "evasive" now—that he recognized as the captain.

"Hello!" exclaimed the captain in suddenly altered tones. "If it isn't Mr. Wallen! And on your plus already! Well, I'll be —! But sit down! Sit down!" He waved Wallen to a seat on the locker and pushed forward the bottle and glass that were on the table. "Sit down, Mr. Wallen, and help yourself!"

Wallen shook his head as he seated himself.

"Thanks just the same," he said; "but I'm still sticking to quinine."

"Quinine, eh?" repeated the other. "Yes, of course! Yes—right you are! Well—he poured a glass for himself—here's to you, and just as 'berry if I drink alone. And I'll add, Mr. Wallen, that it's to the roughest meeting that ever I've known in my life!"

Wallen watched the man's neat disposal of four fingers, leaned back on the locker, swept his eyes around the cabin, and suddenly looking up at the captain again, intercepted a furtive glance that the other was stealing at him over the rim of his glass.

"That ever I've known," said the captain hastily as his eyes dropped. "There'll be a lot to say to each other, Mr. Wallen."

"Yes," Wallen agreed. "I'll confess I'm puzzled on several points. Captain—Laynton, isn't it? I'm not sure I caught the name correctly when Miss Mackay introduced us."

"That's right," said the other. "Laynton. Captain Laynton—Mark Laynton."

"Well, Captain Laynton," said Wallen, "your reference to our meeting being a rum one only leaves me a little more up in the air. I can understand, of course, that you might have heard of the Upolo being missing—or reported lost; but I can't understand how you knew I was on her—or, knowing that, what interest you could have in me."

Captain Laynton laughed a little in a constrained way.

"I didn't know anything about the bark's loss until I put in here yesterday and heard there was a survivor from her on the other side of the island—but I knew about you fast enough."

He paused, shot a swift, restless glance at Wallen, then began to pace, three steps one way, three steps the other, up and down the narrow cabin.

"D—n it, man!" he said abruptly. "I've got bad news for you. Your father's dead!"

For a moment Wallen neither moved nor spoke. It was difficult to grasp the full significance of the words. His father—dead!

What did this thin-faced man, with the little black eyes that always refused to meet one's own, who was tramping nervously now up and down a little cabin on a rusty tramp steamer here in the Java sea, at the other end of the world, know of his father, who never left the four walls of that lonely gray stone house in California?

"What do you know about my father?"—he found himself speaking in a quiet voice.

Captain Laynton stopped impulsively in front of his table, pulled the drawer open, took out a sheet of paper and handed it to Wallen.

"You'll get the drift of this yourself, I guess," he ventured.

Wallen stared at the paper, at first with curious bewilderment—and then, with the sudden flash of comprehension, he was on his feet. It was a list of the ports of call scheduled for the ill-fated Upolo on her last voyage—ports of call that she had never made.

"What does this mean?" he demanded in a low voice. "How did you come by this?"

"Your father gave it to me," the captain answered. "And now, if you'll just listen for a minute, I'll give you the whole story, and you'll see for yourself. First I might as well tell you, though, that I own this ship. Well, I was in Honolulu—light, you understand—when your father came aboard one evening and offered to charter me for a three months' cruise down here. He made the price right, paid the money down in advance, and I closed with him."

"He gave me the list of ports, and said his son was on a trading bark called the Upolo, and that he wanted to get track of him as soon as possible, and offered an extra bonus for all hands if we made a quick job of it. That's all I know about the reason for the cruise. Well, to cut a long story short, we started away, and were down just south of the line when the accident happened."

"Your father was alone down in his cabin. We heard a shot, rushed below, and, thinking it strange that he didn't show up in the excitement, called to him—but got no answer. Well, we burst in his cabin door and found him dead across the bunk."

"You mean," said Wallen through tight lips, "that he committed suicide?"

"No. Wait!" Captain Laynton shook his head. "It wasn't that. God knows how it happened! The thing went off—there's all. He was cleaning one of those patent automatic pistols."

"There was a bottle of oil, a cleaning rag, and a wire swabbing brush on the floor. And—Laynton poured himself another glass from the bottle, gulped it down, and wiped his lips with the back of his hand—"Well, I'm trying to give it to you in a few words—we hurried him at sea of course."

Wallen turned his back and stared out of one of the forward portholes down onto the dirty foredeck. Was the man lying? Was he telling the truth? That his father had chartered the Monleigh and sailed with her—yes.

But that his death was accidental—the background of his father's life—the recent attempt upon his own life! His brain was working in flashes. This man Laynton repelled him.

An accident—never! There was no room for doubt—"never go to the limit"—it was not an accident—his father had been murdered on this ship. And then suddenly he swallowed hard.

It was to save him that his father had chartered the Monleigh and come East; for, according to that list of ports, his father somehow had been in touch with his movements, somehow had known the danger he was in, and, trying to avert it, had been murdered himself.

A cold, merciless passion swept upon him. Someone on this ship was the murderer. Was it this man here? What was at the bottom of it all? It was a long arm of vengeance that reached to that gray stone house in California, that reached to Singapore, to this ship, to that sweltering, plague-stricken bark where, strangely enough, he alone had lived!

And now the score was a very heavy one to pay—his father's life! Well—his eyes narrowed—he would pay it! "Did my father bring a native servant with him—a man named Gunga?" he asked dispassionately.

"No," the other replied. "He was alone."

Wallen nodded. "What else is there to tell me?"

"Not much—but what you can guess," Laynton said. "I ran down through the Makassar strait and made for the nearest port on that list—Pohi here. Your father had paid me for the three months, and if I say it myself, when I make a bargain I stick to it. If I could find you inside the three months I was going to do it."

"I don't know what your father was so anxious about, though I understand, of course, that he chartered me because out here, with you touching at those trading stations, he couldn't reach you by mail or cable; but I made sure it was something mighty important and I thought you'd know what it was."

It was almost an interrogation, put naturally, nonchalantly enough—save for a trace of eagerness in the man's tones that was not entirely disguised.

"I haven't the slightest idea," said Wallen smoothly.

"You haven't?" Laynton's eyes for once fixed steadfastly. "Well, that's queer! A man don't go to the expense of chartering a ship like this without a pretty good reason, and—"

"I dare say my father knew," suggested Wallen quietly. Then briskly: "The question now is: What are you going to do, captain?"

"Why?" said Captain Laynton. "I thought I'd made that plain enough. When I make a contract I keep it. It's up to you, Mr. Wallen. There's still say, a matter of two months before that charter expires, and the Monleigh's yours until it does—in your father's place. That's square, isn't it?"

Wallen hesitated thoughtfully.

On the face of it it was both square and honorable. He began to wonder if he had misjudged the man.

And yet, instinctively, in spite of that, there seemed something specious even in the honesty that appeared to underlie the other's motives. He had reason enough to distrust every soul on board a ship where he was morally certain his father had been murdered! Two months—if he accepted the captain's offer. If he had only something to work on!

Something! Yes, he had something. Drink-House Sam of Singapore!

Captain Laynton spoke again:

"Look here!" he said in almost hurt tones. "I can't make you any fairer proposition than that. Can I?"

"No," said Wallen instantly, his mind made up. "And I'll accept your offer, captain, and thank you heartily for it."

"Good!" returned Laynton promptly. "Well, with that settled, what's the sailing orders? We've got steam up and can get away any minute you say the word."

"Then by all means get away at once!" he laughed easily. "And—he hesitated—"let's see! I guess you'd better shape up for Singapore. Yes, call it Singapore for a starter."

"Right!" answered Laynton. "Singapore it is! But here—wait a minute, Mr. Wallen."

He hurried to a small iron safe that was built in under his bunk, opened it, and returned with a bulky manila envelope, which he handed to Wallen.

"These are your father's papers," he explained. "I collected them together and put them away for safe-keeping."

"Thank you," said Wallen gravely. He stepped out onto the deck. "Oh, by the way, captain," he observed casually. "I notice you carry wireless."

The captain's whistle, pulled from his pocket, chirped shrilly. "You there, forward!" he bawled in a sea voice that was like the bellow of a bull. "Stand by to weigh anchor, Mr. Mott! Hey, Mr. Mott!"

And as the second officer emerged from the chartroom, just about the bridge and directly over the captain's cabin: "We'll get under way at once. Let me know when she's up and down."

He turned to Wallen. "Wireless, you said? Oh, yes! It's that blasted new American law—can't trade in American ports without it now, you know."

Helen Mackay tells about herself to the hero.

NEWS and GOSSIP OF WASHINGTON

"Big Berthas" Are Missing With Their Secrets

WASHINGTON.—There are at least two first-class mysteries of the great war. One is the fate of the U. S. collier Cyclops and the other is: What became of the German "Big Berthas" which shelled Paris from a distance of approximately 70 miles? Ten months have elapsed since the armistice and Big Bertha is as much a mystery to the allies as she was on November 11. English, American, and Belgian intelligence have not unearthed any enlightening information. It seems that several cannon, weighing hundreds of tons each and of great length, have disappeared.

One answer is that Big Bertha and all her long-nosed sisters no longer exist. If this is so, the world has been cheated of a priceless secret, to be resurrected by the Germans in the next war, League of Nations notwithstanding. The destruction of these remarkable cannon was the only way Germany could keep them out of the hands of the allies, for under the treaty of peace she is required to turn over all guns to be scrapped or studied. The destruction of the guns to preserve the invention for German use only of course would be a breach of faith, but if any nation does any worrying about that fact it probably won't be Germany.

About these uncanny weapons the allies do know that each was attended by a large crew of picked men from the navy. They know that Big Bertha virtually has a heft of a hypothetical 30-inch naval gun, but that the bore is only 9.4 instead of 30. They suspect that behind this 9.4 projectile the Germans placed a powder charge which would throw a 30-inch projectile a reasonable distance. But just how the breech was constructed to stand the terrific pressure of the explosion, and of what stuff the barrel was made, and how—they still must learn from the Germans.

Plant Census Would Show Over 300,000 Varieties

NOW that Uncle Sam is to take a census it is interesting to know something about the number of plants. The great Swedish naturalist Linnaeus, the father of modern scientific nomenclature, described about 10,000 different plants. Since his time scientific explorers have gone out to all parts of the earth to continue the census of the plant world, but to this day the census is still so far from complete that every year a hundred or more field men can each bring large collections of new species to the great herbariums of Europe and America, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington.

So vast has grown the number of plants discovered and described that Linnaeus could come back to his beloved Upsala, he would be lost in his own realm, for his modest census of 10,000 plants has grown to the bewildering total of 250,000 and will very likely pass 300,000 before the last returns are in. If, in fact, there will ever be any last returns.

The delicate fronded ferns and their allies, the highest of the flowerless plants, would be represented by about 3,000 species, mostly from tropical regions; and the tiny mosses, the humble pigmies among leaf-bearing plants, would add 10,000 species to the list.

The remarkable plants known as algae, which float as threads of green scum, or live as little green balls in water or moist places, or grow in the sea like the giant kelp, swell the census by at least 15,000.

The list would close with about 65,000 of that wonderfully diverse class of vegetable forms known as fungi.

"Americans All" Win Applause From Congressmen

"MR. CHAIRMAN," said the other day Representative Mondell of Wyoming, majority floor leader of the house, "I desire to call attention to the fact that there are now in the gallery looking down on this assembly of the representatives of the American people some new Americans, fine stalwart young gentlemen, who come to us from some 14 different countries beyond the seas. [Applause.] They come here to be of our citizenship, and they have given evidence of their good intentions by putting on the uniform, and in four months these young men have learned to read and speak English and to drill as fluently as the best soldiers under any flag. [Applause.] Representative Tilson of Connecticut added: "This detachment of recent army recruits under the direction of Col. Bernard Lentz of the general staff of the army has been making a tour of the country to demonstrate that the army has created a 'melting pot' that actually melts. The detachment is popularly known by the appropriate title and designation of 'Americans All.' Four months ago they could not write or read the English language. Anyone who witnessed the drill on the Plaza at the east front of the capitol this morning and understood its full meaning will appreciate what has been done, is being done, and will continue to be done in this great American melting pot of the United States army at Camp Upton, N. Y." [Applause.] Mr. Tilson obtained permission to insert the names of the "Americans All" in the Congressional Record as follows:

Pedro Arnez, Sylvester Balchmann, Arzelo Aurechio, Osnge Christensen, Kusti Franti, Odilian Gosselin, Walter Hucko, Argele Intili, Henry Jurk, David King, John Kolk, Norman Kerman, Eugene Kristiansen, Frank Kristopoulos, Johannes Lenderik, Fidel Martin, Attilio Marzi, Gurt Mistricky, Michael Myntowych, Francisco Pungl, Joseph Rossignol, Ichne Semos, Joe Sheshtak, George Strong, Hendrix Svennigsen, Fritz Wold and Jules Boutin.

"AMERICANS ALL—I'M PROUD OF YOU"

"Safety First Railroad Methods Save Many Lives" DURING the first six months of 1919 the number of casualties to passengers, employees and trespassers on American railroads was 21,983 less than during the corresponding period of the year before. This remarkable showing is no haphazard occurrence. Neither is it merely a reflection of a temporary decrease in railroad traffic during the months of readjustment following the armistice. On the contrary, it is the result of years of organized effort, of perseverance in the face of difficulty and indifference, and it is only the forerunner of what those behind the movement confidently expect to accomplish.

The safety-first movement, which had grown in a few years to be an important item in the program of practically every railroad in the country, has been encouraged and developed by the United States railroad administration. In the various districts, or "regions" as they are called, into which the railroad mileage of the country has been divided for purposes of administration by government authorities, "No Accident" campaigns have been conducted, usually for a week or a month, and an extraordinary reduction in accidents as compared with the corresponding period in the previous year has been noted in every case.

Most accidents result either from unsafe machinery and tools or from careless practices on the part of employees. Dangerous conditions can be permanently remedied.

HEADACHE

Often Caused by

Acid-Stomach

Yes, indeed, more often than you think. Because ACID-STOMACH, starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-repelling, sleep and gas, if not checked, will eventually affect every vital organ of the body. Severe, blinding, splitting headaches are, therefore, of frequent occurrence as a result of this upset condition.

Take EATONIC. It quickly banishes acid-stomach with its sour bust, pain and gas. It aids digestion—helps the stomach get full strength from every mouthful of food you eat. Millions of people are miserable, weak, sick and ailing because of ACID-STOMACH. Poisons, created by partly digested food charged with acid, are absorbed into the blood and distributed throughout the entire system. This often causes rheumatism, biliousness, erythema of the liver, heart trouble, dizziness and even cancer of the stomach. It robs its victims of their health, undermines the strength of the most vigorous.

If you want to get back your physical and mental strength—be full of vim and vigor—enjoy life and be happy, you must get rid of your acid-stomach.

In EATONIC you will find the very help you need and it's guaranteed. No get a big box from your druggist today. If it fails to please you, return it and he will refund your money.

Disinfection Houses on Mexican Border

By the U. S. Department of Agriculture

All along the Texas-Mexican border, equipment has been completed for the disinfection houses erected by the United States department of agriculture for the purpose of making sure that no larva or moth of the pink boll worm of cotton enters the United States. What is known as the pot method of disinfecting the interior of cars and cleansing the outside was discontinued on September 30, and the only fumigation that now is accepted as meeting the requirements of the federal horticultural board is fumigation performed by the employees of the board in the disinfection houses.

Charges have been fixed in such a way as to cover the cost of the chemicals and labor required in fumigation. The fee is $5 for a railroad car and 30 cents for any other kind of vehicle. Charges for fumigation of freight not carried in vehicles will be adjusted to cover actual cost.

Clothing the Family

Consideration of Real Purpose of Clothes Will Help in Economizing

Clothing the family is a business which should be handled as systematically as any other business, declares Laura Makepeace of the Colorado Agricultural college.

What do you want your clothing to do for you and what do you want it to show? Do you not want these things:

Protection from cold, heat, moisture and rough surfaces?

Freedom in movement, breathing and standing?

Beauty, by choosing materials, colors and designs suited to you and your occupation?

Self respect, clothing which is appropriate, becoming and within your means, makes yourself and neighbors think well of you.

Have you thought of the different kinds of garments you should have? These can be divided into three groups: outer-clothing, under-clothing and accessories. You need to think, too, of the cost of cleaning, repairs, renovation and remodeling.

Allowing 15 per cent of the yearly income for clothing, a good proportion is, outer-clothing, 70 per cent; under-clothing 20 per cent; accessories 5 per cent, and care, 5 per cent. Go over the garments on hand. Decide what can be freshened or remodeled. Estimate what this will cost and what new things are needed, then make your budget and stick to it.

Go shopping with a purpose. Learn to recognize quality. Choose slowly and thoughtfully.

Stoppage of Circulation Causes "Pins and Needles"

After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and prickling is often felt in the arm, the leg, or the foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation of the blood and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise. Physicians say that the reason for this sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed (as in straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled underneath the body) sensibility gradually returns to the nerves and as each nerve-fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a prickling sensation is felt, and these successive pricklings from the successive awakenings of the fibers have not inaptly been called "pins and needles."

Useful Asbestos Is Found in Most Parts of Country

Asbestos in modern times has come to be very extensively manufactured into incombustible cloth, gloves, felt, paper and other articles of common use, and is much used as a covering to steam boilers and pipes, in the manufacture of gas stoves, and, mixed with metallic pigments, it is employed as a paint for wooden structures, roofs, partitions and the like to render them fireproof or fire-resistant. It is found in most parts of the world, chiefly in connection with serpentine. Scientifically it is described as a highly useful mineral, a fibrous variety of several members of the hornblende family, composed of separable filaments, with a silky luster, the fibers sometimes being delicate, flexible and elastic and at other times stiff and brittle.

Short Measure in Canned Goods to Have Attention of Federal Authorities

Federal food inspectors have been instructed to watch for interstate shipments of canned foods which have been slack-filled; that is, which contain too much water and too little solid food. Officials of the bureau of chemistry, United States department of agriculture, who are charged with the enforcement of the federal food and drug act, say that action under the law will be taken against violators.

The practice of slack-filling food cans, in the opinion of the officials, is demoralizing to the trade and unfair to the consumer. To put a full can in competition with a slack-filled can places the honest canner at a disadvantage. The consumer almost invariably receives more for his money when buying a full can than when buying a slack-filled can even though he pays a higher price for the full can. In some instances, however, when the canner sells his slack-filled cans to the trade at prices lower than the market price for a full can, the consumer is charged as much for the slack-filled can as for the full can. In such cases both the canner and the dealer share in unfair profits at the expense of the consumer.

Putting excess liquid in cans adds unnecessary expense in canning, storing and shipping, since the excess liquid requires more cans and increases freight and storage charges all along the line—through the hands of the canner, broker, the wholesale and the retail grocer. Since this additional and useless expense is borne invariably by the consumer, it adds its part to the high cost of living.

Rabbits Afford Good Meat to Help Check the H. C. L.

It seems a pity that more families who are struggling with the high cost of living and who are appalled at the price they are forced to pay for their meat supply, do not know what a help a few rabbits in their back yard would be. Two or three does and a buck will afford an abundance of the finest meat the market offers, and at low price, too, especially if a person has a little garden or can get green stuff to feed them, although the groins they consume are of the cheaper kinds and they are far from expensive to feed. Fried, stewed, roasted, pot-pie, any old way you take them, they are simply great eating. Rabbit meat is white like chicken breast and of excellent flavor. Rabbits are ready to butcher at any age from six weeks up, growing very rapidly.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this banner.—Adv.

RASCALS

Biliousness, Headache, Colds, Constipation, driven out with "Cascarets"

Why take nasty cathartics, sickening salts, or stomach-turning oils to drive these rascals out? Let gentle, harmless Cascarets remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your skin sallow, your breath offensive, and your stomach sour. Get a box of Cascarets at the drug store and rid your liver, stomach and bowels of the excess bile, poisons, and waste which are keeping you miserable. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never inconvenience. They cost so little and work while you sleep.—Adv.

Backache only a Symptom

"It Seems as Though my Back Would Break."

This is a common expression among women, yet they toil on day after day heedless of the significance of this distressing symptom.

Backache is often a warning of some inward trouble that requires attention, and which unless relieved will sooner or later declare itself in more serious ailments.

If it is caused by female derangement Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is what you need. It quickly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women.

For more than thirty years this good old fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring American women to health.

The Splendid Recovery of Mrs. Coventry

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had organic trouble and treated me for several weeks. At times I could not walk at all and I suffered with my back and legs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered off and on for eight years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine, and I tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my housework and my washing. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound and Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking it to their advantage. You may use my name for a testimonial."—Mrs. THERESA COVENTRY, 75 Burnett St., Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Hunt tells how it helped her Detroit, Mich.—"I was in a general run-down condition, was very nervous and tired, had backache and other troubles. I suffered for several years, was not able to work at times and tried doctor's medicine with no results. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, and after taking it a short time I was much better. I am still taking it myself and giving it to my daughter, and am glad to recommend Vegetable Compound at any time."—Mrs. M. E. Hunt, 171 Davison Ave.

President at the Helm

From the National Weekly "Labor."

The people of the country have reason to thank God that the reports concerning the President's condition have been found to be greatly exaggerated.

Owing to the stupidity of Lansing, we were on a point of war with Mexico. The jingoism seemed to be in control of Congress and the press was practically a unit for intervention. The President restored the sanity of the country by laughingly relating one of "Mr. Dooley's" jokes, and the militaristic Senator from New Mexico, Mr. Fall, left the White House a chastened man.

The absurdity of the hurry about Mexico is shown by the fact that Mr. Jenkins, the consul who caused all the trouble, was released when a friend put up a five hundred dollar bond. He had been charged with a criminal offense in a state court and the federal authorities of Mexico were without power to intervene.

Jenkins added a touch worthy of a Gilbert and Sullivan opera when he attempted to break into jail after he had discovered that his release had relieved the tension between Mexico and the United States. The suggestion that this country could be plunged into war by a consul who was so insistent upon his "rights" that he would not accept liberty except on the terms which he believed to be technically correct, should serve as a warning to the American people. Hereafter they should receive stories of Mexican "outrages" with a liberal application of salt.

Having disposed of the Mexican situation the President took up the coal strike and within forty-eight hours he rectified the blunders of the Attorney General and the Fuel Administrator. These gentlemen, having found that they could not dig coal with a court injunction, decided to permit the people to freeze while they battered their official heads against a stone wall. The situation was fraught with ugly possibilities, and it is difficult to prophesy just what might have occurred if the sick man in the White House had not regained his strength. Verily, the God of the Fathers still watches over the republic.

Disapprove of Lodge

To the Editor of the Republican:

New that the Senate, under the leadership of the senior Senator from Massachusetts, has killed the peace treaty with its possibilities for a real League of Nations, we, the undersigned, Republican voters, desire to publicly record our profound disapproval of Mr. Lodge's course, and our determination to do all in our power to see that his misrepresentation of the old Hay State shall end at the close of his present term in the Senate.

We do this in the hope that our fellow Republicans all over the state who are in agreement with us will take similar action, if possible, to replace Mr. Lodge without delay by progressive and unselfish leaders and thus save our party from the disaster which now threatens us in the presidential campaign of next year.

Tuberculosis Kills 150,000 AMERICANS every year.

And yet, Tuberculosis is Preventable and Curable.

The National Tuberculosis Association is conducting a sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals, beginning December 1.

The proceeds of this sale will be used to combat Humanity's most deadly enemy—The White Plague—in every community in the United States.

Approximately 92 per cent of the money raised in your state will be spent there.

This Campaign to save AMERICAN lives will succeed if you do your part.

Get in touch with your state or local Tuberculosis Association.

Buy Red Cross Christmas Seals, or Health Bonds.

Don't wait for the Seals to come to you.

XMAS SEAL MONEY TO BE SPENT LOCALLY

91.7 Per Cent. of All Funds Raised in Any State Remain There to Carry Out the Local Programs.

NATIONAL FUND IS SMALL.

National Tuberculosis Association and American Red Cross Share Remaining 8.3 Per Cent.

"For the Health of This Community." Such is the slogan appearing on the flap of envelopes on which the Red Cross Christmas Seal is printed. The issue of such envelopes in order to save the trouble of affixing gummed seals to letters sent out in quantity by large corporations and business houses has been inaugurated this year as part of the machinery of distribution set in motion by the National Tuberculosis Association and its 1,000 State and local organizations in disposing of more than 650,000,000 Red Cross Christmas Seals during the ten day sale which began on December 1.

The significance of the slogan lies in the fact that whether the letter is mailed in Los Angeles or Boston, in Chicago or in Galveston it still holds true. "This community" literally means the place where the seal is bought and used. To be exact, 91.7 per cent of the funds raised is devoted to local anti-tuberculosis activities in the state. Of the remaining 8.3 per cent a portion goes to the Red Cross.

WILSON ENDORSES STAMP SALE.
President Wilson "The Very Best Success" for the 1919 Red Cross Xmas Seal Campaign.

President Wilson, in a letter to Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Managing Director of the National Tuberculosis Association, expresses keen interest in the work of the association and wishes success to the 1919 Red Cross Christmas Seal sale. More than 650,000,000 seals must be sold during the ten day drive which began on December 1, to assure a one hundred per cent application of the Association's 1920 educational and preventive campaign. The President's letter follows:

"Allow me to express again my deep interest in the work of the National Tuberculosis Association. I am very much interested to learn of the efforts of the Association to raise the sum of six and one-half million dollars that the state budgets may be financed for the coming year, and write to wish the very best success of the effort."

CHILDREN.

David Starr Jordan says: "There is nothing in all the world so important as little children; nothing so interesting if you wish to go in for philanthropy, if ever you wish to be of any use in the world, do something for little children. If ever you yearn to be truly wise, study children. We can dress the sure, bandage the wound, imprison the criminal, heal the sick and bury the dead, but there is always a chance that we can save the child. If the great army of philanthropists ever exterminate sin and pestilence, ever work out the race's salvation, it will be because a little child has led them."

RED CROSS CHRISTMAS SEALS SAVE THE LIVES OF AMERICAN CHILDREN—Buy them to-day.

RED CROSS OFFICIAL APPROVES SEAL SALE

Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman of the Central Committee, American Red Cross, Expresses Hope That Public Will Give Generous Support.

SALE IS NOW UNDER WAY.

More Than 650,000,000 Seals Must Be Disposed of to Insure the Success of the Nation-Wide Educational and Preventive Campaign of the National Tuberculosis Association in 1920.

Dr. Livingston Farrand, executive head of the American Red Cross, has given his unqualified endorsement of the 1919 Red Cross Christmas Seal sale, which is now under way and which will extend for ten days under the auspices of the National Tuberculosis Association and its 1,000 allied organizations. A fund of more than $6,500,000, which will be used in the 1920 educational and preventive campaign, will be raised through the sale of the seals.

Acquainted as he is with all questions of general health community improvement and relief because of the nature of his work and office, Dr. Farrand's endorsement is based upon an expert knowledge of what the National Tuberculosis Association has accomplished and will accomplish in the future. His letter to Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Managing Director of the National Tuberculosis Association, follows:

"I have been greatly interested in the plans that the National Tuberculosis Association is making for the sale of Christmas Seals during the coming holiday season. The success of that effort is indispensable to the carrying out of the far-reaching plans of the Association in its fight against tuberculosis in this country."

"The American people, in common with the nations of Europe, are becoming aroused to the critical importance of the problem of vitality and conservation of health as the necessary factor in re-establishing the world after the devastation and destruction caused by the war. Of all the preventable diseases, tuberculosis takes perhaps the first place in importance. For that reason I view with keenest sympathy and approval the splendid work which the National Tuberculosis Association is conducting, and I trust that the response of the American people in the Christmas Seal Campaign will be generous and universal. Sincerely yours,

(Signed) LIVINGSTON FARRAND,
Chairman, Central Committee, American Red Cross."

HEALTH BONDS POPULAR.

The demand for the Health Bonds which the National Tuberculosis Association issued this year for the first time are meeting with a ready sale. The bonds are in graduated denominations, the smallest being for $5. In the past some of the large business houses and other large contributors found it difficult to use up the number of Red Cross Seals their subscriptions called for. The bonds have been issued for the convenience of large subscribers and the proceeds of their sale will be used for the same purpose as the Christmas Seal funds—the financing of the 1920 effort to reduce the number of deaths from tuberculosis in the United States. Last year the disease claimed 150,000 lives. The health bonds can be obtained from state and local tuberculosis associations.

THE Earth's greatest year is passing into history.

Before it is time to change the date on our calendars, let us sit down and think a little—let us ponder where we are financially. Let us answer to ourselves this question, "Am I really making any financial headway?" answering the question from the standpoint of the reserve we have individually accumulated.

If you have not saved anything, don't say the high cost of living kept you from it, because your own grim determination could have found ways to overcome that obstacle had you realized you owed yourself more than merely comfort and a living.

Why not set your pegs to make 1920 a record breaker for yourself? Why not begin to insure your future? We will help you with a thoroughly practical and useful banking service, so come in and open a savings account now, before the turn of the year.

Christians Invade The Holy Land

Southern Methodists Send First Workers to Palestine for Bible and Literature Distribution.

(Special Correspondence)
Nashville, Tenn.—The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has the distinction of being the first Christian denomination to send workers to Palestine since the free regime inaugurated under the occupancy of General Allenby.

The Centenary European Commission of the Church, headed by Bishop James Atkins and Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, have already dispatched five colonporters to the Holy Land. These will be followed by five more in the next few weeks. These workers will establish no stations, but will follow the early Methodist custom of itinerating over the country distributing Bibles, tracts and Christian literature.

This literature will be printed in the native dialects, and will be secured through an arrangement with the Nile Press in Egypt.

Under the rule of the Turk such a movement would have been prohibited, but under Allenby there is perfect freedom of religions. The action of the Southern Methodists is the beginning of a vast scheme of missionary activity which will be carried on in the Holy Land.

TYPICAL FARM CENTER IN LITHUANIA

In Lithuania, the new republic of the Baltic, the farm houses are grouped together as shown above, the families going out each morning in all directions to work their respective farms and returning in the evening to enjoy a community and social life which is unknown to the farming people of America.

IN NEED OF CLOTHES AS WINTER BREAKS

People of Poland Will Suffer Unless Help Is Forthcoming.

U.S. MINISTER SENDS APPEAL

In the Widespread Areas of Devastation in the Country People Are in Rags and Barefoot—Fuel Shortage Is Also Acute.

New York.—Hugh Gibson, United States minister to Poland, is urging the Lutherans of America to do their utmost to provide clothing for the Polish people before winter. His appeal has been received by the European relief committee of the national Lutheran council through Dr. J. A. Morehead, chairman of the Lutheran commission to Europe. The appeal follows:

"I hear that your council is opening a campaign in America to gather clothing for Poland. I hope this is being made a very earnest campaign, as the need is far beyond anything that people in America are likely to understand.

"The lack of clothing in this part of the country is bad enough, as you have seen, and although really cold weather has not begun the suffering is already apparent. But I do not know whether you have been out in the wide-spread areas of devastation, where the people are in rags and barefoot, and where the situation will soon be desperate.

"If people at home had any conception of the misery of these people, they would not rest until shipments of warm clothing were actually distributed. I hope you will impress upon the Lutheran council the urgency of the situation, and the fact that the Polish people are not now in a position to help themselves. We have got to see them through this winter."

Appeal in Another Letter.

Similarly E. Rickard of the American relief administration of European children's fund is emphasizing the need in Poland which the Lutherans are endeavoring to meet in their campaign for clothing and money. In a letter received by Dr. Lauritz Larsen, chairman of the European relief committee of the national Lutheran council. The letter follows:

"The appeal of the Lutheran council's European relief committee for funds for the purchase of clothing to be distributed in Poland and other countries of central Europe ought to receive a wide hearing. There is a desperate need for clothing—a greater need than can possibly be supplied.

"For five years practically no new clothing has got into the hands of these people; practically none has been manufactured, and old stocks are exhausted. The rags and remnants which remain are simply not sufficient protection during the winter.

"Conditions are especially bad in Poland, where the cold months are very severe, where the fuel shortage is acute, and where 2,000,000 or more refugees must pass the winter in flimsy, makeshift dwellings.

"The American relief administration European children's fund is co-operating with various organizations to the limit of its resources in order to provide in some measure clothing for children who must leave their homes to go to the relief kitchens. More than 1,200,000 children in Poland will be given a meal a day at these kitchens for the next seven months.

"However, our work is limited to meeting the requirements of the children of eight and under. I earnestly hope that the Lutheran committee will be able to help largely in meeting the needs of others in want.

Old Clothing Not Sufficient.

"If old clothing can be obtained quickly of course it can be used to great advantage, but we have decided as far as the children are concerned that this immediate need cannot be met by old clothing nor can we wait for a clothing drive to bring results. We have consequently purchased new cloth and shoes and we suggest that any of your surplus funds could be used in this way.

"It is our conviction—voiced more than once by Mr. Hoover—that relief work in Europe must know neither creed, race nor country. Only the very great need of those who are hungry and cold must be considered.

"If we can in any way co-operate with your committee to hasten clothing relief not only in Poland but in all parts of central Europe you may count upon us to go the limit."

Have Three Sundays

Turks Observe Friday, Jews Saturday, Christians Sunday.

American Relief Workers in Bosnia, However, on Duty Seven Days a Week.

Sarajevo, Bosnia.—Sunday is observed three times a week here.

Because there are 35,000 Turks in the city Friday is the first Sunday. Then all the Turkish stores close and one goes twice a day to some of the hundred mosques whose slender minarets gleam white against the green background of the hills.

Because 200 years ago a group of Spanish Jews settled in Bosnia, Saturday is Sunday for many Sarajevo. Then all the Jewish stores are closed and the Jews of the city crowd the big yellow synagogue of the main street.

Because all the rest of the 54,000 inhabitants of Sarajevo and hundreds of peasants from the hills around are Serbs and Bosnians, following the Roman Catholic and the Greek orthodox beliefs, the Sunday Sabbath is the biggest holy day of all in Sarajevo. All the stores except the Turkish are closed.

WOMEN BARRED FROM TESTS

Not Permitted to Compete for 60 Per Cent of the Government Positions.

Washington.—The official report of the woman's bureau of the United States department of labor, just made public, reveals that women were barred from 60 per cent of the government positions for which examinations were held in the first six months of 1919. This statement covers examinations for 200 different types of positions.

According to the report, women were not allowed to compete for 10 per cent of the clerical positions.

The complete report, according to Miss Mary Anderson of Chicago, director of the woman's bureau, covers investigations which have been in progress for a month.

The second and larger section of the report will consist of an analysis of the salary scale of women in the government service, the requirements of the positions they fill, and the specific inequalities in the pay they receive.

BACK TO U. S. TO SAVE TAXES

Son of Inventor Singer Says He Can No Longer Live in England.

London, England.—Adams N. Singer, son of the American inventor of sewing machines, has complained to the royal commission on income tax that his income derived from property in the United States is so depreciated by double taxes, once in America and once in Great Britain, that he cannot continue to reside in this country. The United States, he said, takes 34 to 39 per cent and the British inland revenue takes about one-half of what is left after the American tax is deducted.

The KITCHEN CABINET

"When one is in a pool of trouble, there is no possible good in splashing other people."—Huxley.

THRIFT IN LITTLE THINGS.

It is in the little things and small wastes that multiplied by hundreds, make the great wastes in many homes.

Example speaks louder than words, so if the house mother wishes to train maids or children to be thrifty, she must first be thrifty herself. It takes but a moment's thought to turn off the light when leaving a room, even for a short time, and the turning off of the gas from the range before removing a dish, should become second habit.

How many women leave the soap floating in the dishwater while washing the dishes instead of using the little economical soap shaker which holds even the tiny bits? The same habit is noticed when doing any cleaning about the home, soap floating in the scrubbing pail, instead of resting in a dish where it can be easily reached when needed.

China and all crockery is so costly now that we must of necessity take care of the house and supply. When washing dishes they are often nicked or broken by striking the handles of the pan; turn the pan so that the handles are in front or a little at the side, out of range when handling the dishes.

Use triplicate dishes on one burner to save gas; the heat of the burner will cook three things in nearly the time used for one.

"A stitch in time" and "a penny earned" are proverbs so well known that it is trite to mention them, yet we need to constantly remind ourselves that a nickel is the interest on a dollar for a year, and it is not parsimony to save, but something of which to be proud in these days of costly living.

If making ginger bread, add a cupful of cold coffee instead of the boiling water; save the coffee and improve the cake. Cold coffee may be used in spice cake, in place of milk; thickened with gelatin and served with cream it makes a dainty dessert.

A small bit of butter, too small to seem of use may be saved and when six small bits are added, one will have enough butter to season a dish of vegetables. "Let nothing be wasted," is a fine motto to have framed in our kitchens.

Announced by all the trumpets of the sky,
Arrives the snow, and driving o'er the fields,
Seems nowhere to alight; the whited air
Hides hills and woods, and the heaven,
And veils the farm house at the garden's end.
—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE.

When a dish is both good and economical it is bound to be popular.

Liver Pie.—Cut calves' liver into strips using one pound, parboil five minutes in boiling water to cover, drain and roll in flour. Fry two slices of bacon until crisp, remove and cook the liver in the fat until brown.

Carefully arrange the liver in a casserole, add two cupfuls of boiling water and stir until well blended. Cut the bacon into small strips and lay over the liver. Put five medium-sized potatoes and one small onion through the meat chopper and mix with three tablespoonfuls of salt. Spread this over the liver, pouring the water and fat over it. Cover and bake in a hot oven until the liver and potato are well cooked.

Bran Gems.—Mix together one cupful of flour, two cupfuls of bran, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then add two tablespoonfuls of shortening, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, or molasses, one teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of milk and a half cupful of chopped raisins. Place in greased gem pans and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty minutes.

Vegetable Chowder.—Take two cupfuls of corn, six medium sized potatoes, one onion, one green pepper and two tomatoes, put through the meat chopper. Brown one fourth of a cupful of sausage, add a tablespoonful of flour, then the vegetables, and a teaspoonful of salt, cayenne to taste. Add boiling water to barely cover and simmer gently for one hour. Add one cupful of milk and simmer until it is absorbed.

Lemon Apple Pie.—Take two cupfuls of chopped apple, one cupful of sugar, the juice and rind of a lemon, one egg well beaten, half a cupful each of water and rolled cracker crumbs. Bake in a two crust pie in a moderate oven.

Marshmallow Sauce.—This sauce may be used on any baked pudding like cottage pudding, but is nice with steamed cake. Mix one cupful of dark brown sugar with three tablespoonfuls of flour, add one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water, and cook until smooth; add two tablespoonfuls of butter, or less, and twelve marshmallows cut in quarters. Serve hot.

Formerly Was Oyster King.

Jacob Ockers, known as the "Oyster King," who died recently at his Long Island (N. Y.) home, was the first exporter of oysters to Europe, and his name came to be known in all markets where the blue point oyster was found in foreign countries. His foreign shipments the first year amounted to only 1,000 barrels. Later his export business became the largest of its kind in the United States, and amounted to 30,000 barrels annually.

LISTEN TO AMBITION'S VOICE

Desirable Companion May Fail to Call Again if She Is Not Accorded Recognition.

Most young people seem to think that ambition is a quality that is born in one and which cannot be materially changed, but the greatest ambition may be materially injured in many different ways. The habit of procrastination, of postponing, the habit of picking out the easier tasks and putting off the difficult ones, for example, will very seriously impair the ambition. Whatever affects the ideals affects the ambition.

Ambition often begins very early to knock for recognition. If we do not heed its voice, if it gets no encouragement after appealing to us for years, it gradually ceases to trouble us, because, like any other unused quality or function, it deteriorates or disappears when unused.

Be careful how you discourage or refuse to heed that inner voice which commands you to go forward, for if you do it will become less and less insistent until finally it will cease to prod you and when ambition is dead deterioration has set in.—From "Ambition and Success," by Orison Swett Marden.

An Eastern Flight.

A British airman recently flew in one day from Mosul, on the upper Tigris, over the Syrian desert, to Cairo on the Nile, making three stops on the journey of 1,100 miles, reports Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Turtles lay from 150 to 200 eggs at a time.

HIS SCHEME DIDN'T WORK

This Colonel Evidently Was Wise as to the Foxy Ways of His Junior Officers.

In the regular army it is one of the customs of the service, when at a regular army post, for the junior officers to call upon the senior officers. To comply with this custom without making the calls, the junior officer frequently waits until he knows the senior officer is away and then calls at his home and leaves a card. One night when I was stationed at a post in Texas, I saw the colonel down town and on my way home stopped at the colonel's quarters and put my card under the door. I was just leaving the porch when I noticed a car at the gate, and on closer inspection I noted that the colonel was in the car and was awaiting me at the gate. He laughingly said: "Kind of late to make a call, isn't it, Lieut.?" This became one of the colonel's best stories, and to say that I was more than once embarrassed would be putting it mild. —Exchange.

Taxing the Millionaires.

Under the new scale of income tax imposed by the recent United States revenue bill every citizen in receipt of $150,000 or more a year must pay at least half of it to the state.

Mr. Henry Ford, for example, is said to have an income of $25,000,000 a year, of which the revenue authorities will claim between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000—a sum sufficient to keep 1,000 families in modest comfort forever.

But even Mr. Ford gets off lighter than Mr. John D. Rockefeller, who is reputed to have an income of $100,000,000 a year. Mr. Rockefeller's contribution to the treasury, it is said, will not fall short of $80,000,000 for the current year—a sum which represents 2,000 times his weight in gold.

India Needs American Goods.

The fact that the Bombay Electric Tramway company, Bombay, India, recently placed an order for 130 trucks in America on account of the advantageous prices quoted, indicates that there is further opportunity for the marketing in India of this and kindred lines.

It's a shame the way some young widows break into the game again and don't give the mails a chance.

Sometimes a fellow is entire celery and can't hear opportunity knock.

BELGIUM IS WORKING

Country Is Quickly Recovering From War's Effects.

Steel Mills, Sugar Refineries and Linen Looms Operating Nearly at Normal.

Brussels.—All Belgium is returning to work and the country is recovering from the war.

In Brussels factories which were damaged during the German occupation are being fitted with machinery and some of them already are turning out their accustomed products to within a few per cent of the prewar capacity.

Production of sugar exceeds the prewar tonnage. Glass factories are reopening. In the iron and steel mills many plants have resumed operations, particularly in the Liege district, where some of the mills were completely demolished and others so badly damaged that entire blast furnaces had to be rebuilt. Within a year it is believed the most important of these plants will be operating to capacity.

The cotton trade of Ghent also has resumed and steamers loaded with American cotton are arriving almost daily. During the German occupation all copper fittings were removed from the machines in the spinning factories and some of these have not yet been replaced.

The linen industry also has taken on new life, and additional workers are being employed every week. The export trade in linen is growing just as rapidly as the factories can turn out the finished product.

It is in the country districts, however, where one sees the Belgian at his best. In the vast garden country which stretches from Brussels to the sea scarcely a square foot of ground is left uncultivated, so anxious are the people to produce their own food, and they are working from early morn until late at night to attain that end.

Operation Stops Growing.

Lakewood, O.—People of this town some time ago started raising chickens to help bear the high cost of living. The roosters crowded so loudly, however, that neighbors complained because their sleep was disturbed. Dr. Robinson, one of the chicken raisers, solved the difficulty. He discovered that by a simple surgical operation the rooster's crow could be reduced to a mere squeak. Vocal organs of all roosters now are being submitted to the knife and chicken raising has been resumed.

Pitless Prunes.

Watsonville, Cal.—The stoneless-prune or Burbank production, promises to become a popular fruit. The fruit is practically the same as the ordinary breakfast prune with exception that the stone in the center is replaced by a soft kernel or seed that can be cooked with the fruit and eaten.
