THE FOURTH AT WHITE OAKS WAS MUCH ENJOYED
By Many People From the Surrounding Country.

THE BASE BALL GAME AN INTERESTING FEATURE.

Orations, Music and a Day of Rest, Enjoyment and Recreation Fire Works and Grand Ball at Night.

The Fourth was an ideal day in White Oaks. The Eagle, has heard many expressions of satisfaction and delight over the celebration of the day. While the enthusiasm at times was quite marked, it was of that order which well becomes a community. Not a single boisterous or disorderly event, or person, was noticed during the entire day.

The sun had hardly sent its good morning kiss into our beautiful valley, when the "reveller" by the band awakened tardy sleepers from their morning nap. By nine o'clock a large portion of the people gathered at the park, to witness the first event of the day, the base ball game between the "Boys' Club" and that of the "Married Men." Much interest was manifested in this game.

The boys did themselves much credit and indicated that they were candidates for the national pennant, while the men proved that they had not forgotten their skill or boyhood days.

At eleven o'clock the crowd gathered in the pavilion, to partake of the delicious dinners of the day. Several airs played by the band, including "Columbia" and others which awaken the American patriot enthusiasm, prepared the people for this serenade. The invitation was by Rev. J. F. Wood; and the Declaration of Independence was beautifully read by Miss Florence Wharton. The band responded to this with the "Red White and Blue." Mr. John A. Haley of the presidential day, then introduced Rev. L. L. Gladney, who spoke as follows:

"Fifty years ago, Mr. Prentiss, standing on the balcony of a building in the city of New Orleans, began his famous appeal in behalf of starving Ireland by saying:

"Citizen: It is no ordinary cause which has brought together this vast assemblage on the present occasion. We have met not to celebrate the achievements of those gallant men who

The Pacific in the West. From the perpetual winters of the frigid, to the endless summers of the torrid zone.

But we who turn from the men themselves and what they did in war, to that which they bequeathed to their posterity in peace. And after passing over our broad and beautiful country, the States United, we are called to notice the form of government under which our national life as existence has been perpetuated.

A Republican form of government for a new country and a "raw people" was thought to be indispensable when Washington and Jefferson and Adams with their compatriots, in the Declaration of Independence launched successfully the State-craft of America.

But our citizens and statesmen have stood shoulder to shoulder with the subjects and statesmen of the earth; while our Washington's and Jacksons and Lincoln's like the great Cromwell of earlier history were men who could "with one hand wield the power of the earth; while with the other they hurled victoriously the thunderbolts of war."

Another great privilege bequeathed to us is that of being freemen in so glorious a commonwealth. Every man a king, whilst every avenue that leads to human independence and honor is flung wide open to the ambition and possibilities of her humblest sons.

A Lincoln at 22 may split the rails with which to fence his father's farm, and at thirty-two rule successfully the greatest nation of the earth. A Grant at fifteen years age may sell the papers which chronicle the deeds of a great people, and at forty-seven while from the executive mansion administer the chief affairs of State. Such is our country. And the question which she puts to her sons as they turn their eyes towards ambitious lofty goal, is not one of Birth but of Worth. She puts no premium on the blood of inheritance but has reserved her honor for the sterling and immortal manhood of her sons.

And when by patience and perseverance in seeking knowledge and truth of the same, she unhesitatingly and joyfully crown them with the honors due to solid worth.

Let us close our remarks with profound gratitude to God that we are the privileged citizens of so glorious a country as America the land of the free and the brave.

After the hand had played another air, The Rev. H. G. Miller was introduced, who spoke as follows:

"One hundred and twenty-five years ago, this American Republican announced the fact, that the time had come for it to assume its place among the nations of the world.

The parentage, birth and youth of this young and vigorous nation had been a chain of marvelous experiences. Its cradle was a miracle in human history. It was picked out of the ocean on the point of a needle. There it had rested for centuries, a vast continent, with majestic mountains, magnificent rivers, broad lakes, and fertile valleys. To human eyes it was a new world.

Not until the race stood on the threshold of the sixteenth century; free and self-governed, did the people accomplish in achievements, until the nineteenth, with its greater marvels ranged itself beside it, and passed it, was unrolled to the vision of mankind.

The old world was in travail. It was a period of turbulent commotion. Men of thought, had appeared and read the message of the stars.

Men of determination in obedience to new born intuitions crossed the great waters, and discovered and explored new worlds. Men of skill invented wondrous devices; and the mariner's compass and printing press became the servants of mankind. The world, thus God had touched seekers after truth, and finding the truth, it set their spirits free. The voice that taught spiritual liberty, also proclaimed political freedom. The doctrine of the great teacher of Nazareth: "The truth shall make you free," long dormant, was now awake and at work in the hearts of men. The fetters that had bound the consciences of men to pagan superstitions were being broken. The chains that bound men as subjects to human masters, no longer held them. Everywhere men felt, if they did not express it, that they were endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights. Imbued with these aspirations, men began to agitate the rights of man. All Europe was thrown into a ferment. In religion the agitation, was expressed in the right to worship God, according to the dictates of the individual conscience. This was the precursor in the political world of the right of the people to self-government. Those aspirations had been awakened by these truths were constrained to give them utterance. This the old world

COURT FINDS FOR PLAINTIFFS.

The case of S. T. Gray and J. H. Lightfoot, School Directors of Capitan, accused of fraud in holding the School election at that place, came up for trial this morning at 10 o'clock as per agreement, at the close of the prosecution last week.

The testimony of the defense was heard and the case went to trial. After a prolonged discussion which touched principally on legal points and court rulings, the case went to the court for his decision, which was as follows:

'This court finds the defendants S. T. Gray and J. H. Lightfoot guilty as charged, and assesses the penalty at $250.00 and costs of suit.'

The court added the explanation that since costs in the case were extraordinarily heavy, that for that reason he would assess the minimum penalty. Notice of appeal was filed by the defense and bond given.

As we go to press a second indictment is being taken up and the prosecution has announced that they are ready for trial. The change in this case is that the officers of the election failed to appoint clerks, or keep any records of the election. The court, however, sided with the case, or cases, are won out, and an adjournment will probably be taken until tomorrow morning.

This is a short synopsis of the court's proceedings and all space will allow the Eagle to give our readers this week. This ends practically all matters of importance of the first chapter of this interesting trial, which will be concluded in our district court at the next regular term.

Commissioners Court was in session at Lincoln this week from Monday morning to Wednesday noon. Much business was transacted. The labor of a county commissioner in this county is asonerous as it is important, but the personnel of the present court, its business ability and judgment is being applauded by the taxpayers of the county in a way that should give them cause to overlook to a great degree the difficulties of public service. The proceedings of the court for the April sitting will be given the Eagle's readers in our next issue.

EL PASO SMELTER BURNED.

The most disastrous fire ever known in El Paso occurred in that city early Wednesday morning. The big smelter of the American Smelting company was almost entirely destroyed. Fire originated in the engine room, the big belt that runs the hot blast, broke in the engine room and the hot blast was cut off. The blast is used to force the gases out of the furnaces, and when it was cut off the gas from the furnaces rushed back into the large pipes exploding the large bags, and set fire to everything within forty feet. At the same time, furnace number eight also exploded, from the force of the gas and set fire to all the long buildings, within five minutes, the building about two hundred feet long was all ablaze and the fire was beyond control.

When the explosion occurred, the furnace room was full of men and several were in the engine room. Every one was struck to the ground as if from a stroke of lightning. Thirteen men were severely injured and burned by the explosion, three of them are not expected to live.

The engine, boiler rooms, the buildings about the furnaces, a large quantity of coal, coke and timber were totally destroyed, the machinery was wrecked and the furnaces badly injured.

The loss is estimated at about $150,000, besides the loss that will result from closing of the plant. It may not be in condition to be operated until the close of the year.

The citizens of Las Vegas are negotiating for an extension of the branch line from Dawson to the Mesilla Valley, and should they succeed it must add greatly to the expansion of that already progressive and prosperous town.

America's estimated wheat yield for this year will reach 270,000,000 bushels. The yield has been averaging about 280,000,000 bushels, etc., and the export about 200,000,000 bushels. With America's prospective enormous yield there is an assured shortage in Prussia, France and Germany. This will give the United States a corner on the wheat market of the world, and will force the price around the dollar mark. See if the Republican politician does not take advantage of the situation to credit the advance in wheat to the McKinley administration, and there will be many clodhoppers with chaffy heads who will accept the argument as agricultural gospel.

The Eagle is much indebted to Rev. Henry G. Miller for services rendered the paper this week, during the Editor's absence.

New Mexico wool production has increased about 25 per cent this year; the quality is also a great deal better—-the price is the rub.

It was a red letter day, in the musical line at Plymouth Church last Sunday. J. W. Wilcox with his fine tenor voice, and Prof. J. L.

Reyes with his violin, assisted in the usually good singing by Plymouth choir. The night's service was special and resulted in a good collection for the organ fund.

The EAGLE is under obligations to Jerry Dalton, a subscriber who resides on the Bonito, for a quantity of White mt. cherries from the Peter's farm. They are not as large as we have seen in eastern orchards, but the flavor surpassed anything produced east of the Great Divide.

Rev. H. G. Miller's subjects at Plymouth church next Sunday are, in the morning: "The Poorest People in the World." At the night service, "A Nation's Fatal Mistake." Good music at both services. Sunday school at ten o'clock. Bible class conducted by F. J. Sager.

The Ladies of the Baptist cream parlor" to the store room below the Eagle office.

They will serve ice cream on and evenings. Proceeds go for Mr. Chapman an employee on the Rock Island extension, with his wife and sick child came to town from their camp, 52 miles from here last Friday in search of medical attendance. The child which was only 13 months old died a few hours after reaching here. It was buried on Saturday morning. Rev. L. L. Gladney conducting the services.

A number of our young people made an outing trip to Carizzo-o ranch and the Mal Pais on Sunday. The party consisted of Quill Haley, Harry and John

Galicher, Phil Flint and Lloyd

Hubert. The ladies of the party were, Misses Margaret Malcolm,

Florence Wharton, Lorena Sager

Edith Parker and Margie McC-ourt. They say they had a most delightful day.

On Wednesday, Justice Collier

heard the case of Charles Bruns-ford, formerly a teamster on the Rock Island extension against sub-contractor Nelson for wages claimed to be due. It was decided that Bransford had been discharged for some breach of the camp rules, and payment of wages due were denied, on the ground that he had sold water, which was charged against him. No proof of this, however, was presented by the defendants, and upon the facts presented by the plaintiff and admitted by the defendant, the Justice decided the case in Bransford's favor.

The 4th passed off very quietly here, and very pleasant among old veterans of this camp. Old Glory was raised from sun-up un- till sun-down, in front of the Post-office on a new flag pole just up for the occasion.

The rail road has a great deal of trouble getting water in the part of the country where they are now grading. They have to drive their stock 20 miles to this place for water, as they have not tanks sufficient to store enough to supply their necessary usage. The quantity of it, however, in the American Placer Company's well to supply the rail road outfits along the line of construction for 40 miles.

Manager, Hatfield, of the American Placer Co., and Arthur Johnson spent the 4th in White Oaks, and report a very pleasant time, both on the grounds and at the ball, given by P. M. Lund, proprietor of Hotel Ozanne.

E. L. Ozanne, Geo. Spence and J. Ross, with their respective families, spent the 4th in White Oaks.

H. C. Cray of the Compromise, stopped a day here on his way home from the Gallina mining district.

A. N. Price is doing assessment work on the Argonaut, the property of W. S. Peters & Co., and has started work on more ore in sight. Work has been suspended on Eureka on account of bad air in the drifts.

E. H. Talbot has encountered bad air in his Divide Claim at a depth of 30 feet, he has some ore which our local assayer pronounces nickel. If such it is, it demonstrates that this camp has not yet been pulled out of the ground. Your correspondent does not believe the find to be nickel, but a sulphide and chloride of copper, running with a pyrites of iron, which indicates that deep mining is a necessity.

Geo. Weiser and C. C. Hedges are working the Krickerbocker, and have about 4 ft. of pay ore, in oxide of iron.

McCoy and McKenzie left here a few days ago for the White mts. to work one of McCoy's claims. The ore runs well in copper and gold.

Mrs. Davies is about to depart from the camp, she will move her restaurant over on the line of the Rock Island road.

A Washington dispatch of the 8th inst. states that the President has issued a proclamation for the opening of the lands of the Kiowas, Comanche and Apache reservations in Oklahoma, which are not reserved, on August 6th. The lands are to be allotted under the homestead and townsite laws by registration and draws. Applicants must register between July 10th and 20th.

A petition is being circulated and pretty generally signed asking the directors of our school district, to prevent the Mormons from holding services in it. Most all are in favor of all denominations using it. Still there is the old idea of the Mormons defining the fundamental laws of our country. They all have wives and sisters that cannot afford it, besides it is not a religion but a heathenism that supplants republican institutions. Some of us remember the Mountain Meadow Massacre.

Nasral Cather's quickly yields to treat ment by Elnya's Cream Balm, which is agrably acclimated. It is received as the most delicious balm that ever graced the skin. A size, alone, is a month's supply, at a dime; it is the only official balm that can be prescribed to patients and used under the direction of competent physicians.

The new Elnya’s Cream Balm is the only positive cure for Tuberculosis in its early stages. It is the only remedy at all seasons that can cure the disease. In cases of rapid progress, the results are unequaled.
THE CELEBRATION.

would not tolerate. Beyond the sea was new world, a vision from heaven; an all with its gates ajar. They would brave the ocean and people that world.

From all parts of the old world they came, ragged spirits of all. They were sons of God to whom freedom was a priceless boon. All along the coast from New England banks to Florida, the gates were open wide. They found the new land, roomy vast, furnished and wide for them. From old England, the high-born cavaliers and sturdy puritans and pilgrims; and planted in Virgin ia's and New England's soil, the noblest virtue of Saxon blood, love of home and kindred. From France came the high-spirited gentle Huguenots, who loved freedom and their Church life; and blessed the new land of the Carolinas with the spirit and principles of the Coligny's.

The fearless, incomparable Dutchman came with the wind, will, that held the bloody Spaniard so long beneath his heel, and who today in South Africa exhibits the same indomitable unconquerable spirit against British aggression. The spirit that dies, but remains free in death.

From Germany, the land of music and song, came bringing the spirit that touched the clouds, and listened to the voices of heaven and nature and reproduced them; that the world might be blessed with heaven's inspiring melodies.

An old legend tells us that when our forefathers landed on the shores of the new world; they saw an "open wigwam; a heap of Indian corn and an open grave." I take this to be prophetic of what their new world was to be. I do not mean prophetic of what this nation is among the nations of the world today. The open wigwam, sym bolizes that this land was to be a welcome asylum and a home for the oppressed of every other land. The heap of corn tells us, that this land is to be the great food producing country for the world. And the open grave, says to us, that here, all the oppressed who accept asylum within the wig wam bury their national and racial past; and rise from the grave as American free men.

I take it also, to have been prophetic, that this new world was to have a republic in which men of many lands, under equal laws and liberties could live and gov ern themselves. A republic where political institutions would reach their greatest height; where each man's voice, if intelligent, should be respected and held sacred as his life. Where no else on the earth could we find a land where each man could have a home of his own, where he could enter the great business of the world, to rise and become an American Freeman!

At half past two o'clock in the afternoon almost the whole population of White Oaks was on the broad ground, including preachers, elders, deacons, lawyers, bankers, miners, merchants, wives, and mothers, and young men, women, and children, and men and boys playing and singing. There was a very nice game of ball, between the select nine from the railroad camp and the White Oaks nine. It was a very good game of ball, but there were a number of inter esting and skilful plays made on both sides. We are all familiar with the personnel of our home town. In the game the old timers enjoyed their old time reputation, for gentlemanly conduct and good playing. We want, however, to have it stated that seldom has a village majority been visited by an aggregation of young men on an occasion such as this; whose hearing as gentlemen throughout the world, and whose conduct in the town before and after the game, so won the respect and esteem of a community as did the young men who composed the White Oaks club. The "White Oaks" nine won.

The following is the score by innings:

White Oaks... 2 2 0 1 5 1 1 0 0 0
Brown... 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1 0 0

An interesting game, good and even, with both teams playing splendid baseball.

In response to your request for something appropriate for the occasion, I beg to suggest the following:

"Liberty is not safe without a written constitution and a constitution to be of value must be strong enough to control every public servant and broad enough to include within its protection every person who acknowledges allegiance to the flag."

THE PROCLAMATION WILL HOLD.

Washington, July 2, - The report from Denison Tex., of the formation of a company to make a rush on lands in Oklahoma on the theory that they are now public lands and subject to homestead settlement and that no restrictions can be placed on their settlement is a reiteration of a claim that the Interior Department already has found groundless. Congress last March passed a law governing the subject which supersedes all prior laws, and which provides that the President, in his proclamation, shall prescribe the manner in which these lands may be settled on, occupied and entered, and prohibiting any violation of such provisions.

The Interior Department holds unqualifiedly that no one can settle on the lands in violation of the proclamation, and that any one attempting to do so will be precluded from obtaining any of the lands and probably will subject himself to prosecution.

AMERICAN CREEK BEATEN.

Henley, July 5. — To the discredit of the American Indians at Henley, the Leander Rowing club defeated the crew of the University of Pennsylvania by a narrow margin for the grand challenge cup. Time, 7:54 5/5 minutes. The followers of the British crewevinced the greatest confidence, and it was an enjoyable affair, concluding with a gen erous supper. Most of the dancers were toilers, and long before the small hours of the morning they were restoring the energy of the Spirited Fourth.

BRYAN'S SENTIMENTS OF THE DAY.

New York, July 5. - Tammany Hall held its regular Independence Day celebration to see the reading of the Declaration of Independence, and after its reading and speeches were made by Gov. Jennings of Florida and other leaders of the Democratic party. The following letter, which is a regret from W. J. Bryan, dated Washington, June 29, was read:

"I congratulate Tammany upon the fidelity it has shown in cele brating each return annually of the day of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. I trust that at this time, when the Re public is engaged in an universal application of the self evident truths set forth in that declaration, special emphasis will be given to the assertion that government's deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.
