

5-26-1900

Albuquerque Weekly Citizen, 05-26-1900

T. Hughes

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/abq\_citizen\_news

---

Recommended Citation

Hughes, T.. "Albuquerque Weekly Citizen, 05-26-1900." (1900). https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/abq\_citizen\_news/310

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the New Mexico Historical Newspapers at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Albuquerque Citizen, 1891-1906 by an authorized administrator of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

ACTS GENTLY ON KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.
CLEANSSES THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY;
DISPELS
COLDS
HEADACHES
& FEVERS;
OVERCOMES
HABITUAL CONSTIPATION
PERMANENTLY
TO GET
ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS.
BUY THE GENUINE—MAYN'D BY
CAUTIONARY SYRUP

FOR SALE IN ALL DRUGGISTS' PRICE 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE

From Saturday's Daily.

Fred Otero returned last night from a short business trip up north.

C. W. Townsend, representing Taylor & Williams of Louisville, Ky., is in the city today.

Miss Laura Zinth, a popular young lady of Tulsa, is the guest of Miss Anna Becker in this city.

Clarence Hoff, representative of the Whitney Company, has returned from a business trip to Miami.

Henry McGowan, who went to Oklahoma a couple of weeks ago on a prospecting tour, returned to the city last night.

John H. H. Metzger, general southwest agent for the New York Life Insurance company, left this morning for the north.

Guadalupe Montoya today forfeited a bond in police court. He was arrested on Wednesday night on a misdemeanor charge.

W. H. H. Metzger, the well-known ranchman of Jalisco, is in the city today. He is 65 years old and is quietly celebrating his birthday anniversary.

Work was resumed on the extension of the sewerage academy yesterday, and the contractors, Cooper & McLean, will leave Monday morning for a few days. The work will not be resumed until after a month.

Chief surgeon H. H. Morrison, of the Santa Fe Pacific, with his wife, were passengers on route to Los Angeles last night, after a brief visit in the Kansas capital.

A jolly crowd of school children picked up today at their canyon. The pupils were from the rooms of Miss Stevens, Miss Coltraine and the high school building.

Man Jesus Romero and wife, and Manuel Springer, wife and children, will leave Monday morning for a few days. The work will not be resumed until after a month.

E. Fournelle was seriously injured yesterday while in the work of removing heavy timbers from one of the Putney buildings. As a result of the accident he will not be able to work for a few days.

To-morrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, a meeting of the taxpayers of the old town precinct will be held at the residence of Hon. Jesus Romero to nominate candidates for school directors of that district.

The pretty residence of F. P. Trotter, which is being erected on North Fourth street, is nearing completion as rapidly as possible. The brick used is from the Albuquerque brick company, and is of a very dark red color.

My Silvia, who carries on a resort in Tlaxcala, was in the city yesterday and today, purchasing necessary supplies for her resort. She has opened her summer place in good style, and city people are invited to call on it.

At the residence of Mrs. J. W. Johnson this afternoon the first monthly meeting of the Guild was held and a fair-sized crowd was in attendance. The object of these meetings are for the purpose of socializing and for the purpose of acquainting with all the church people of the city.

The New Mexican says: Geo. M. Canfield, who has for some time been employed in Santa Fe, is visiting his friends in Albuquerque, for a few days. While away he will do all in his power to promote the interests of the annual brown's tournament to be held in Santa Fe on July 2, 3 and 4.

On Thursday evening, in Las Vegas, Bell Brooks, a popular young telegraph operator of the Western Union at El Paso, and Miss Margaret Wertz, of the Meadow City, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. The happy couple will reside in El Paso. They passed through this city last night on route home.

Accompanied by two of his employees, Louis Ifford returned from his big sheep ranch last night where he has been overseeing the work during the summer season. He says his sheep were increased about ten thousand this spring. The range are not in very good condition now, but a little rain would do a world of good.

A few Indian devotional claims are being paid by the territory these months by the government. It is said that certain administrators and agents in this county are imposing upon the people by false reports by their reports. It is said that the latter find out that these charges are true, there will be high jinks at the next meeting of our probate court.

Z. K. Ralston, a prominent young man of Winslow, who occupies a responsible position in the Santa Fe Pacific shops of that place, accompanied his mother as far as Albuquerque. The lady is returning to her old home in Georgia, after visiting with her sons in the Arizona town for the past three months. Mr. Ralston favored the Citizens with a very pleasant call to-day.

W. S. Musser, Millheim, Pa., saved the life of his little girl by giving her the Minute Cure when she was dying from croup. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. It quickly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, grippe, asthma and all throat and lung troubles. Berry Drug Co. and Cosmopolitan drug stores.

Elder P. A. Hubbard, pastor of the local A. M. E. church, received a telegram from Rev. P. A. Hubbard, at 118 p. m. to-day, stating that he had been selected to the office of financial secretary of the A. M. E. denomination. This is one of the most responsible offices in the gift of a general conference, which is now in session at Columbus, Ohio. This recognition reflects great credit upon Rev. Hubbard, who has been the efficient presiding officer of the Colorado conference during the last five years. This district has been very prosperous during his administration, and while the news of his election to the financial secretaryship will be hailed with joy throughout his district, yet the people of the west will be particularly glad to see him in every confidence in his ability to meet every demand his new office imposes, and we bespeak for him a successful career in this department of the church.

SCURFIE PARTY.
Miss Minnie Hawley pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends last evening about thirty young people gave Miss Minnie Hawley a surprise party. It was a complete surprise, but Miss Hawley was the role of the evening in a variety of ways. The jolly crowd enjoyed the evening in various amusing games, music, singing and cake-eating. Delicious strawberry sherbert and cake was served after the games and nearly midnight when the merry party broke up, and all voted having spent a delightful evening.
Those present were: Misses Ramsey, Hunsicker, Owen, Olive Hawley, Buchanan, Wilde, Evans, Cora and Lily Ghering, Owen, Dodd, Francis and Kullager, Messrs. Tierney, Dougherty, Martin, Hunning, Keiser, Francis, George and Archie Sweetland, Maloy, Bonjames, Kahna, Bronson, Howell and Ed. Bronson.

THE DEATH RECORD.
Final Settlements Made to E. A. Van Horn To-day—Death of C. A. Dule.
At 3 o'clock this morning, E. A. Van Horn, the well-known banker, who has been in the city for a number of years past, died at his home in Old Albuquerque. For a long time he has been a sufferer from heart trouble, and only in the last few days was his condition regarded as serious. The deceased had reached the advanced age of 60 years, and this, coupled with his affliction, hastened the end. He is survived by a wife. The time set for the funeral has not yet been announced, but it will probably be held on Monday.

DEATH OF C. A. DULE.
C. A. Dule, aged 28 years, who arrived here about a week ago from San Francisco, where he had been an employee in the office of the Postal Telegraph company, as an operator, passed away in death this morning at 8 o'clock at his home on West Coal avenue, after a brief illness, of consumption.

Played Out.
Dull headache, pain in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidences of the fact that the matter how it became so, it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Acker's Blood Elixir has never failed to cure such a variety of ailments, or any other blood disease. It is certainly a wonderful remedy, and we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee.

From Monday's Daily.
Postoffice Inspector Fredericks is at the postoffice investigating the robbery of the postoffice.

Herbald Nitz, junior member of the dry goods firm of H. B. H. & Co., left yesterday morning for a business trip up north.

Jefferson Haynolds, the mine owner and banker, came in from El Paso this morning, and continued on north to Las Vegas.

Dr. G. S. Easterday, after a short stay here for the purpose of transacting business, left yesterday morning for his home at Watsonville, Cal.

H. P. Hall, of the Albuquerque Cattle and Machine works, who was at Los Angeles on a visit to his wife and daughters, returned to the city last night.

Fred Levy, formerly with Lowenthal & Meyers, now with Housh & Dieter, of El Paso, spent the Sabbath among Albuquerque friends. He came in from the west Saturday night.

Mrs. Luis James, who was at Springfield, Mo., on a visit to her parents, has been in Albuquerque the past few days visiting friends. She expects to leave this evening for Winslow.

The United States grand jury, now in session at Las Vegas, has indicted John Henry Tietzebaum for a violation of the stringent postal laws. The case will undoubtedly come up for trial in a few days.

Returning to this city Mayor Marron will visit at his home in Port Henry, N. Y., and on his return from the east will attend the national democratic convention in Kansas City on July 4.

Miss Helen Cameron left for Bernalillo this morning, where she will spend the summer months with her mother. Miss Cameron likes Albuquerque very much and intends to make it her home in the near future.

W. E. Martin, territorial penitentiary clerk, and the respective republican candidate for sheriff of Bernalillo county, came in from Santa Fe last Saturday night and continued south to Bernalillo yesterday morning.

Ben Butte, of the Zeiger cafe, has received a fine picture of the St. Louis Browns of the National League of baseball players. The picture is named after Ben Butte, one of the pitchers of the Browns.

The committee in charge of the hospital and sanitarium proposition received a donation of $27.60 from the local A. M. E. church last week. Only a few hundred dollars is now needed to complete the fund, and it is hoped the amount will be subscribed this week.

A heavy rain visited the Rio Grande valley yesterday afternoon, giving the ground a thorough soaking. Conductor Donahoe, who brought in the passenger train from the south this morning, states that the rain of yesterday afternoon reached as far south as El Paso.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Rita Galloway died at her home in Bernalillo. She was 70 years old and the cause of her death was old age. She was the mother-in-law of Pele Galloway, a well-known business man on South Second street. The remains will be laid to rest to-morrow morning in the Bernalillo cemetery.

The Indian school has ball club were victorious in their game with the territory boys last Saturday, at the fair grounds, by a score of 14 to 13. Quite a number of the local sports were present, and all speak in complimentary terms of the numerous brilliant plays made by the members of both clubs.

Wallace Hensslein, accompanied by his family, drove up to Algodones yesterday and returned last evening. He reports having enjoyed the trip highly. The beds of alfalfa, orchards and vineyards are a beauty and well worth one's time to go over this route and observe the progress made by the residents.

THE NERVES OF WOMEN
Relieves the Suffering from Overwrought Nerves.
"DEAR MISS FINKHAM—I am so grateful for the benefit derived from the use of Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound that I wish you to publish this testimonial that others may know the value of your medicine. I was suffering such tortures from nervous prostration that I could not sleep at all and was too weak to walk across the floor without aid. I had a condition where my heart was affected by it, so that often I could not lie down at all without almost suffocating. I took Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel that your medicine has been of inestimable benefit to me."—Miss ADELE WILLIAMSON, 196 N. Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.
Thin, Sallow and Nervous.
"DEAR MISS FINKHAM—I was thin, sallow and nervous. I had a half-doctor with several physicians in town and one specialist, but did not get any better. I finally decided to try your medicine, and wrote to you. After I had taken three bottles of Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and three of Blood Purifier, my nerves returned, and I feel as well and strong as I ever did, and am gaining flesh."—Miss LENA GAINES, Vian, Tulsa Co., Okla.

THE CITY COUNCIL.
Met in Special Session and Elected W. C. Leonard Temporary Chairman.
At the city hall last night a special session of the council was held for the purpose of electing a president to act during the absence of Mayor Marron and Summers Barkhart, who leave to-night for Washington, D. C., and to appoint judges and clerks for the election which will be held in this city on June 12.
W. C. Leonard was nominated to fill the vacancy in the council and was duly elected chairman. The following are the list of judges and clerks appointed for the election which will be held for the purpose of voting for or against the proposed viaduct across the tracks on Coal avenue.
First ward—Judges, D. S. Bucklin, W. H. H. Allison and A. A. Keen; clerks, Ben Myer and Fred Marshall.
Second ward—Judges, H. L. Greenleaf, I. N. Horner and A. Harsch; clerks, J. W. Wingo and G. W. Hopwood.
Third ward—Judges, George Fisher, T. W. Seelover and N. E. Stevens; clerks, C. E. Burg and P. J. Hawley.
Fourth ward—Judges, H. L. Tilton, E. S. Slaver and H. R. Yewell; clerks, J. E. Armistead and J. G. Johnson.
The matter of placing iron garbage boxes on the street corners by Albright & Knox was referred to the street committee, who are expected to report on some next Monday night.

Effects of Morphine and Approaching Death Greatly Weakens Him.
It was learned to-day that Jose P. Ruiz, the condemned man who attempted to take his own life on last Wednesday night by taking morphine, but was saved by the efforts of Dr. Haynes, is still in a weakened condition and is unable to leave his bed. His appetite is poor and he partakes of but little food.

Deputy Sheriff Newcomer has given him the privilege of ordering any eatables he desires, which would be brought to him at any time.

Jose P. Ruiz was taken to the hospital last Saturday night. He appeared indifferent to his fate and it was thought he would bear up well under the expense, but it is now quite evident that his spirits are not so high and his nerve is weakening.

His parents reside northwest of this city. They need letters every day to their unfortunate son, who greatly appreciates their attention to him, but he is averse to receiving any letters and has refused to be interviewed by the press representatives.

LANSING LIONS.
Exciting Incident on a Sonora County Cattle Ranch.
San Marcial, Tex.
Last week while a herd of cattle was being driven across the St. Augustine plains toward San Marcial, an exciting incident introduced the beginning of another day's work. While the herd was taking of breakfast, the cowboys noticed a light commotion on one particular point on the edge of the herd. Investigation disclosed the presence of two well-grown lions, with their heads raised for a good opportunity to breakfast upon a calf or two. A couple of the boys were soon in the saddle, and there was enacted a scene that has been the subject of much talk. One of the boys, who was easily hit a whole page of his paper in the telling. The lions fled across the perfectly level plain, with the two mounted cowboys in hot pursuit, each leaving his horse spotted for action. One of the boys, who was easily hit a whole page of his paper in the telling. The lions fled across the perfectly level plain, with the two mounted cowboys in hot pursuit, each leaving his horse spotted for action.

Experience is the best teacher. Use Acker's English Remedy in case of coughs, colds, or croup. Should it fail to give immediate relief money refunded. See J. H. O'Hall's & Co.

Dr. C. C. Cruikshank, a well-known physician and surgeon of San Marcial, passed through the city Sunday morning on his way to the south. He was accompanied by a telegram that his brother, A. D. Cruikshank, a lawyer, was dangerously ill and not expected to live. The sick attorney visited Albuquerque on his way to the south.

Ernest C. Zeiger, one of Bernalillo's popular cowmen, spent the Sabbath in the territorial metropolis, returning to Bernalillo this morning.

Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy. Physicians could give little relief and encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope out of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will come in its place, for the disease is in the blood—a deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or cautery. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisons, effluvia matter before the Cancer can be healed.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; it is the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Cancer is not always inherited; your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may develop. It may be on your tongue or other part of your body; a slight burn or hurt, a little pimple on the eyelid, lip or nose, a small lump on the jaw or breast, a harmless looking wart or mole, and other causes so insignificant as to attract little or no attention. If you have an obstinate sore, don't rely upon salves or ointments to cure it—begin with S. S. S. It will cleanse your blood and prevent the formation of cancerous cells.

Mrs. E. Shier, La Plaz, Mo., writes: "A small pimple came on my jaw about one week ago and I was told it was a cancer. I tried everything I could find, but nothing did me any good. I then tried S. S. S. and I feel that it has cured me. I am now as well as I ever was. This was two years ago, and I am still enjoying perfect health."

Send for our special book on Cancer; it contains much information that will interest you. It is free.

Write our physicians about your case, and for any advice or information wanted; they have made a life study of Cancer and all blood diseases. We make no charge whatever for this.

Address, THE SWEET SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

nothing of the sort, for this was not the first time they had indulged in such sport. The graceful pair of wild horses had a fast good start and they bounded over the prairie side by side at a fairly rapid rate of speed. The cowboys drew closer and closer upon their prey, with their horses well in hand and in perfectly coiled for instant use. When within easy throwing range the boys made the throw, and the loops were true to the mark. Both ropes landed fairly over the tops of the horses' heads, and they were without abatement of speed, and within the space of five minutes' time the cowboys pulled up and gazed calmly on the lifeless forms of the king of beasts that were fully six feet in length. No fronting or flinching. A fine Englishman with most excellent spirit, but the cowboys treated the matter as if it were almost of daily occurrence.

THE MYER INTERVIEW.
The Opinion of Ben Myer—He Thinks Albuquerque All Right.
"Albuquerque is all right enough for me," would be the answer, who, who recently returned from a two-month's visit in California, to the Chicago representative to-day. "I visited in Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pasadena and several other cities of interest, and I have concluded that New Mexico's metropolis is all right. Fine large store buildings in all the cities I visited were vacant and no prospects of them being occupied. I saw no business of any kind of any kind at any price. The fruit of California is not as good as the fruit of this year, but the quality will not reach the average for previous seasons. In the southern part of the state the grain yield will fall far short of all expectations of the owners, and in some instances the crop is a failure this year."

Continuing, Mr. Myer said: "Yes, indeed, I am glad to return to Albuquerque and to the many improvements that are being made and to learn of those that are contemplated. I have not seen any idle mechanics here and notice plenty of work for the day laborers. Those people who are raising such a fuss about the lack of work and that they cannot find employment now, is for the reason that they are not looking for the article by that name. The business men of this city are not to be blamed for the lack of work; it is the season of the year if they could only visit some of those California towns and observe the business depression."

The Next Vice-President.
This is the question now agitating the minds of our leading politicians, and while several prominent men have been mentioned, the final selection will undoubtedly be made by the many of the party interests to the best advantage. This is also true of medicine. When your stomach becomes weak and you suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulence, and all the other ailments of the stomach, the final selection will undoubtedly be made by the many of the party interests to the best advantage. This is also true of medicine. When your stomach becomes weak and you suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulence, and all the other ailments of the stomach, the final selection will undoubtedly be made by the many of the party interests to the best advantage. This is also true of medicine.

Death of J. W. Cedars.
J. W. Cedars, who came here for his health about a week ago, died Saturday afternoon at his home on South Second street. He was a single man, about 37 years of age, and was well known here by his family. His residence is at Cotton Plant, Ark., and he mentioned the name of Judge T. D. Patton at that place as his nearest friend. A telegram had been sent him giving him the date of the death and requesting him to return at the disposition of the estate. Mr. Cedars was a member of the Knights of Pythias, and members of the order here will conduct the services as he can render in the case.

A Pleasure and a Pain.
I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was very badly with the flu and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from the same ailment. W. Lynch, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy is sold by all druggists.

EMIL KLEINWORT MISSING TWO HORSES LAST SATURDAY NIGHT.
Emil Kleinwort, the Third street meat market, has found his missing horses. A party of two, desiring to attend a dance in old town, mounted two horses and rode to the city. The horses were turned loose. Yesterday Mr. Kleinwort was informed that his horses were in old town, and in the afternoon recovered them.

Ben C. Robertson, reading on the mesa, called at the Citizens office yesterday afternoon, and left the information that his father-in-law, John Lamparter, has greatly improved in health since he went to southern California. Mr. Lamparter some time ago was stricken with a severe stroke of paralysis, and his condition was a change of climate. Mr. Robertson is in southern California attending to his father-in-law.

In police court this morning Lena Morris, a notorious female character, who has given the police a deal of trouble recently, was given a sentence of thirty days in the county jail. The charge preferred was a disturbance of the peace. She was arrested last night at her room on North First street where she was entertaining three of her male friends. The three boys were placed under arrest and fined $5 at the morning's session of the police court.

The Blanchard Meat and Supply company, holding forth for the past ten years in the Greenleaf building, has moved to the new building on the corner of South Second and Third streets. The old building is being vacated by the company.

Edward Upham Blies, the old job printer, whose queer movements have alarmed his immediate relatives and his friends, did not sleep at the city building last night, as was intended by his friends, but went to his home on the Highlands. Some arrangements for his care have been made, and it is hoped he will be able to make his way home.

Co. Dueter Dascow, who brought in the passenger train from the south this morning, returned from the Rio Grande in a racing strait, and the mother of Gov. Miguel A. Otero, Major P. H. Otero, of Santa Fe, and Mrs. J. O. Otero, of Denver, were also on the train.

BACA BRIDGE.
Celebration at Town of Pea Blanca Over Its Completion.
A LARGE CROWD PRESENT.
Last Saturday was a red letter day in the history of the town of Pea Blanca, the county. The occasion was the dedication of the structure, the bridge across the Rio Grande near that place. Extensive arrangements had been made for the celebration by Hon. Marcelino Baca and the people of the village for the dedication of the structure. Flags and bunting adorned the principal houses of the town. The Santa Fe band arrived at an early hour, and when the train arrived at Thornton, the Albuquerque delegation were met with music and taken to the scene of festivities. It is six miles from Thornton to Pea Blanca, and on the road the Cochiti Indians had arranged a starting surprise for the visitors. From behind a mountain several hundred of these Indians mounted on fleet ponies dashed out upon the plain, dressed in war paint and in gaudy colors. They circled around the carriage and proceeded to the sham attack with war whoops and the firing of guns. The scene was exciting and worth going a long distance to witness. In fact, it is rare even in New Mexico, to see so many Indians in war dress as were present on this occasion.

At Pea Blanca the procession formed with the Santa Fe band at the head, and marched to the public school building, where Mrs. Mary Hubbell had arranged an open air exhibition by the little children. The little girls were dressed in white, and the boys in blue. A United States flag. They gave a pleasing entertainment, and gave evidence that Miss Hubbell is doing good work in the public school service in this town.

The people of Pea Blanca owe Hon. Marcelino Baca a debt of gratitude for the excellent school building they possess. He erected the school house at his own expense and presented it to the town. It is one of the best school houses in the county.

After an excellent dinner at the hospitable home of Mr. Baca the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building of the bridge.

After the dedication of the bridge, there was a short exhibition from the school children, and an address from Thomas Montoya, the bright thirteen year old son of Don J. M. Montoya. Then the Santa Fe band played a march, and the procession moved to the bridge. Here a large number of the people of the town and the inhabitants of the Cochiti and San Domingo tribes of Indians were assembled. The bridge was dedicated in an appropriate form. Don Nestor Becerra and Don Hughes made short speeches describing how the bridge came to be built, and explaining the hard work performed by Hon. Marcelino Baca in securing the enactment of a law providing for the building

These lamps are on exhibition at night at several business places in the city.

mony, and the service was short. The pall-bearers were Otis B. Spencer, M. Patterson, Charles McPhee, J.

1997年12月

once in a while to secure a meal and few hard-earned dimes from his fall-

hundred pounds of beef to consume at Bland and Thornton this morning.

The high school pupils gathered at the depot last night to say goodbye to Prof. Stroup, who left for his home in Kansas.

J. H. O'Reilly, representing the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, left this morning on a business trip to the southern counties.

---