CONSTITUTION MAKERS

JOHN BECKER.

In the person of John Becker, of Belen, Valencia county, the constitutional convention next month will have a delegate who has the sound business sense of a successful merchant, and who may be called the builder of modern Belen.

Born in 1850 in the Kingdom of Hanover, Germany, he grew up to see Hanover conquered. But rather than serve as a soldier of the conqueror, the young man at the age of 19, crossed the seas to seek his fortune in the land of freedom, far from the clink of military sword and the noise of haughty soldiers' tread.

Two years after arriving in this land, Mr. Becker started west. He crossed the plains from Kit Carson and traveling by mule freight train into New Mexico, he began his New Mexico career at Los Lunas as a clerk in the mercantile establishment of L. H. Hunning and after two years' service there took charge of a branch store at Belen, as partner, the firm's name being L. H. Hunning and Becker. For four years he managed this store successfully until 1877. He then married Miss Anna Vietsch of Bremen, Germany, and began his married life as a merchant for himself. He enlarged his business several times and in 1902 in order to associate valuable employees with himself he incorporated his business under the name of "The John Becker Company." This establishment now is one of the largest of its kind in the southwest, doing a general mercantile business. Mr.

Becker attributes much of his success to the sympathetic interests of his wife and the loyal support of his associates and employees.

Mr. Becker is owner of the Belen Roller Mills, the largest flouring mill in New Mexico.

He is president of the John Becker Company, the Becker MacTavish Company, of Magdalena, and the Willard Mercantile Company, of Willard. He is also president of the First National Bank of Belen, and vice-president of the Bank of Magdalena, and president of the Belen Town and Improvement Company.

Mr. Becker's family consists of his wife, three sons and two daughters. The oldest son is John Becker, Jr., an active associate of the John Becker Company and vice-president of the First National bank of Belen. The second son is Louis C. Becker, who is cashier of the bank.

Upon his arrival in Belen, Mr. Becker found the place not so far advanced as to have a postoffice. He secured one for Belen and was its first postmaster and has ever since held the position, for the past 37 years.

Mr. Becker was instrumental in securing the Eastern Railway of New Mexico, a part of the Santa Fe mail line through Belen and aided in a large measure in building up the town to its present height of prosperity. Mr. Becker has ever been a wide awake progressive sort of man and was one of the first to introduce a telephone system in New Mexico.

Voting Is Heavy.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15.—The interest in today's primaries outside of Chicago centers in the nomination of candidates for the state legislature. Echoes of the session in which William Lorimer's election as United States senator took place were heard in every district where Republicans or Democrats who voted for Lorimer are seeking re-election. Voting is heavy in all precincts.

Caleb Powers Seeks Nomination.

London, Ky., Sept. 15.—Caleb Powers, former secretary of state, who spent eight years in prison, most of the time under death sentence, through his alleged connection with the Goebel assassination, is a candidate for Congress in the Republican primary of the eleventh district today against D. C. Edwards, the present incumbent. Powers has used his "martyrdom" as he calls it, in his appeal for votes. Bitter personalities have marked the campaign.

MISS HELEN TAFT

WILL HELP HER MOTHER. Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 15.—Miss Helen Taft, daughter of President Taft, will not return to Bryn Mawr College this year, according to an announcement today. Instead she will stay at home and assist her mother in her many social duties.

JOHN SHAFROTH IS NOMINATED

Colorado Democrats Are However as Far Apart as They Were at Start

REPUBLICAN SPLIT IN WYOMING

Strong Sentiment Against Organization and Old Time Leaders Seems to Prevail

Denver, Sept. 15.—Leaders in the Democratic state convention are widely separated on the question of the seven remaining places on the ticket. Several larger delegations are still fighting against Governor Shafroth and as soon as his followers announce a candidate, they start an opposing movement against him. Caucusing by county delegations made it impossible this morning for the convention to do any business until 1:30 this afternoon, in the hope that the factions will be able to get together. This morning there was a fight on Mrs. Katherine M. Cook of Brighton, superintendent of public instruction who is seeking re-nomination. She has two opponents, both women and both well known state politicians.

Wyoming Republicans in Revolt.

Rawlins, Wyo., Sept. 15.—The Republicans of Wyoming began today what promises to be one of the stormiest sessions in the history of Wyoming. The night and forenoon were spent in fruitless caucusing and at noon the delegates seemed no nearer agreement either as to candidates for important state offices or as to platform than when they arrived in Rawlins. The revolt against the state machine seems general, yet every county has a separate grievance and the opposition apparently is unable to get together. Practically none of the delegates has come instructed. The resources committee will be asked to endorse Ballinger and a hot fight seems certain. The insurgents ask for only a mild approval of the Taft administration.

No Independent Movement.

Denver, Sept. 15.—As the result of the renomination of Governor Shafroth, the threatened movement for the nomination of an independent Democratic ticket has been abandoned. The adherents of the former Governor Thomas and other leaders declaring such action now unnecessary. Threat of Prohibition Brought Them. Denver, Sept. 15.—Previous to the meeting of the convention this morning, the Shafroth leaders aroused by the opposition of Denver county to the platform, hinted at a prohibition county clerk in Denver county in opposition to the ticket which the Spear-Hughes combination expected to name on September 17th.

Shafroth Wins By Close Margin.

Denver, Sept. 15.—Governor John Shafroth was renominated by a close margin on the first ballot by the Democratic state convention in session here last night. The unofficial count showed 564 votes for Shafroth and 537 for Dr. B. L. Jefferson, his opponent, with 551 necessary to choose.

Robert W. Steele, of Denver, was nominated unanimously for justice of the state supreme court and Congressman E. E. Taylor of Glenwood Springs for congressman at large.

A platform demanding state control of natural resources was read and ordered printed, although it declares sympathy with conservation of natural resources.

The platform as read to the convention makes a strong attack on the declaring unalterable opposition to the arbitrary and bureaucratic regulations which it declares work hardship upon the miner and homesteader and retard the development of the state.

The platform warmly commends the action of the state administration in directing the attorney general to prevent so far as possible through proper litigation the encroachments of the national government upon the sovereign state.

Prohibition Problem in Utah.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 15.—The Democratic state convention was held at Provo today. The adoption of a state-wide prohibition plank is the question that overshadows all others.

Jesse Munn, Who Killed City Marshal of Telluride Is Captured

SURRENDERS TO RANCH HAND

Tired of Trying to Evade Law—Reward of $2,000 for His Apprehension.

Special to the New Mexican.

Farmington, N. M., Sept. 15.—Jesse Munn, who killed Night Marshal Georgin in Telluride, Colorado, several weeks ago was taken in charge this afternoon by A. Meyer, a ranch hand on the Price Wright ranch five miles from here. Munn voluntarily surrendered saying that he was tired and tired of trying to evade the law. A reward of $2,000 had been offered by the city of Telluride and San Miguel county, Colorado, and will go to Meyers. Munn has been hunted by officers of the law all over the southwestern slope since the murder.

COOK CONTROL-VERSY IS REVIVED

John R. Bradley and Explorer on Their Way to Etah, Greenland

WILL LOOK UP LOST RECORDS

Eskimos Still Insist That North Pole Had Been Actually Reached

Copenhagen, Sept. 15.—The Danish steamer Hans Egede arrived here today with the news that John R. Bradley, the financial backer of Dr. Frederick Cook's North Pole expedition, is on his way to Etah, to secure the much talked of records and instruments which Cook said he left at that Eskimo settlement in the northeast of Greenland. The captain of the schooner thinks that Cook is with Bradley, but has no proof. The vessel also brings information that two missionaries who are working among the Eskimos who accompanied Cook on his expedition say that these Eskimos insist that Dr. Cook reached the Pole, as he claims, prior to its discovery by Commander Peary.

BIG GAS WELLS ON MEXICAN BOUNDARY.

Gushers Opened in Vicinity of Laredo, Texas, and Pipe Line Is Now Being Constructed.

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 15.—Big gas wells have been struck near Laredo. Three brothers named Reiser are pioneers in this work. A number of pipelines have been opened up and a pipe line is being built into the town of Laredo and in a little while this cheap fuel will be available. In San Antonio several big manufacturing plants have demonstrated that the light coal found just outside of this city makes excellent producers' gas and they are manufacturing this cheap fuel effectively.

For after all, this was not going to be a bloody war however smoky the battlefield might become from blanks. The soldiers will soon be home again, probably by September 27 and although they carry distinctly a burden of tent and blankets and equipment on their backs, they have every reason to return home like the ideal victor "with full numbers."

Assemble at 2:30 p. m.

The soldiers boys assembled at the armory at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, although they began to prepare for the trip much earlier than that. Even before noon the sight of cloth leggings and khaki uniform was noticed on the streets and now and then the brightly polished leather puttees of an officer were also noticed. The boys were at the depot by 3 p. m., the residents of the city cheering them as they marched to the depot. Not since the days of the Taos affair had the boys been seen going to the railroad to be transported "to a far-away land." As on that occasion, the soldiers today marched with the enthusiasm of residents of New Mexico. They had the buoyant step and the erect head. They were boys to feel proud of.

These Went.

In Company E, under Captain Adolph P. Hill and Lieutenant D. Pacheco there were 28 enlisted men whose names are:

COL. EDMUND C. ABBOTT. Ranking Officer of the Line, Who Left With the Members of Companies E. and F., New Mexico National Guard, for the Maneuvers Which Will Be Held at Atascadero, California.

SOLDIERS START FOR THE COAST

While Band Plays They Wave Sombreros and Shout "Adios"

EACH MAN CARRIES 46 POUNDS

Real "Rigors of War" Will Be Gone Through at Atascadero.

Their khaki uniforms and polished guns resplendent in the afternoon sun; their backs as erect as possible under a load of some 46 pounds, of box constrictor like form encircling their frames; their faces tanned from healthy exposure and their eyes dancing with the delight at the prospect of a trip to the coast and camping with warriors tried and true, the members of companies E and F, New Mexico National Guard waved their sombreros majestically in farewell at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when they started for Atascadero, California.

As they did so, the First Regiment band, which accompanied the troops to the coast, struck up a lively air, and the music of the car wheels turning lent a "sympathetic accompaniment." The crowd of friends of the boys in the khaki uniforms sent up a mighty shout and if the sweethearts or wives of the departing soldiers shed a tear, or uttered a sob, it was unnoticed by the majority in the throng.

For after all, this was not going to be a bloody war however smoky the battlefield might become from blanks. The soldiers will soon be home again, probably by September 27 and although they carry distinctly a burden of tent and blankets and equipment on their backs, they have every reason to return home like the ideal victor "with full numbers."

WOODROW WILSON OR KATZENBACH

New Jersey Democrats in Convention to Select Candidate for Governor

BOTH SIDES ARE CONFIDENT

Colonel George Harvey Is Pushing Princeton's President for Honor.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 15.—Woodrow Wilson, president of the Princeton University, appears to be in the lead for the nomination for governor, when the Democratic convention met this morning. Colonel George Harvey, and former United States Senator James Smith, who have been working hard for Mr. Wilson's candidacy, struck to the claim that he will be nominated on the first ballot. Friends of Frank Katzenbach, Jr., former mayor of Trenton, and party candidate for governor three years ago, insists, however, that he will be the choice of the convention. The platform which is being prepared, will deal largely with state issues.

Newspaperman Stated for Governorship.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—The Democratic state central committee met here today to fill the vacancy caused by the refusal of John Lind to accept the nomination for governor. It was believed that James Gray, former mayor of Minneapolis, and a well known newspaper man of that city will be made the nominee.

Gray Is Nominated.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—Gray's nomination was made unanimous.

Corporals Frank Hall, Harry G. Hoyle, Lewis R. Marsh; Cook M. A. Bloomer; Privates: B. J. Alarid, Jose Baca, Jose Cortina, Clarence W. Hampel, Robert J. Harvey, Frederick G. Hightower, Henry E. Kaune, W. W. Kendall, Charles Kilson, Jr., Chalmers T. McConnell and Joseph Schevelier.

Among the regimental officers who accompanied the troops were Lieutenant Colonel E. C. Abbott and Captain Henry P. Bardshear, regimental commissary. Adjutant General A. S. Brookes also went with the troops.

Governor Mills, commander in chief of the National Guard by virtue of his office, accompanied the troops as far as Albuquerque which is the rendezvous for the companies from New Mexico. In the Duke City the boys will take a special train which carries them to Atascadero, via Los Angeles.

The expense of attending these maneuvers is paid by the United States.

Bad Breath

"For months I had great trouble with my stomach and used all kinds of medicines. My tongue has been actually as green as grass, my breath having a bad odor. Two weeks ago a friend recommended Cascarets and after using them I can willingly and cheerfully say that they have entirely cured me. I therefore let you know that I shall recommend them to any one suffering from such troubles."—Chas. H. Halpern, 114 E. 7th St., New York, N. Y.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

THE FEMALE FAN.

(By W. B. Kerr in October Smart Set.)

Oh, why doesn't the pitcher pitch the ball?

And why are the basemen base?

Because they let the runner steal?

Why does he slide on his face?

How does a fielder miff a fly?

Is a shortstop ever tall?

Would the umpire call the catcher out, if he didn't catch the ball?

Do they ever let the batter pitch?

Is it fair to knock a foul?

Does a home run count more than a bunt?

What makes the people howl?

Oh, isn't a pop-up simply grand—

And a squeeze play just divine!

But why do the men have mittens on in the hot old summer time?

Taken to Bernalillo for Trial—

Mounted Policeman Apolonio Sena took Santiago Pacheco to Bernalillo from the penitentiary, for trial for the murder of Jim Sing, a Chinaman at Thornton.

Two New Instructors at University—The board of regents of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque has appointed Miss Myrtle Pride assistant instructor in Greek and Latin and Marc Bonimovitch assistant instructor in French.

Big Enrollment at Roswell—The enrollment on the first day of the session was 1,218 of whom 300 enrolled in high school and the eighth grade. This is three times the enrollment of the first day at Santa Fe.

District Court at Alamogordo—The fall term of the Otero county district court was convened at Alamogordo by Judge E. A. Wright. The docket was perhaps the largest that has ever awaited the action of the court in this county, and the court fund available is none too large for the needs. The amount of the fund is about $3,000. The criminal docket contains thirty-six cases, and the civil docket one hundred and four. The criminal docket includes only two murder cases, but it is expected that several cases which are to be presented to the grand jury will result in indictments for murder or manslaughter. There are three cases of libel, even cases of gambling, five cases of violation of the Sunday law, and one case of selling liquor unlawfully.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

CIRCULAR RUIN IN RITO DE LOS FRIJOLES CANON.
(Partly Excavated by Summer School of American Archaeology.)

"I wish to record the profound impression made upon me by the scenes daily witnessed during my short visit to the camp in Frijoles canon. Usually the makers of history are at the time unconscious of their share in that which they are creating; and it may not have occurred to all who participate in the various activities in progress here that they are helping to inaugurate an epoch in Archaeological science of far reaching importance in its annals. The scheme of research and instruction now established in this school—with its outdoor laboratories among the things to be studied; its formal lectures; its informal walks and talks by day; and its camp-fire symposiums by night—realize at once the best ideals of scientific method.

"What we have seen here is something unique and fine. In Archaeology I know of nothing like it elsewhere. But we may find its prototype in the School of Zoology created in the early seventies by Louis Agassiz at Pennekese. Though of brief duration, owinterested in the work of the School of American Archaeology.

Mr. Springer is as eminent as a member of the New Mexico bar as he is as a scientist. His researches and works on paleontology are accepted as authoritative the world over.

His Biography.

He is a native of Iowa, having been born at Wapello, in Louisa county, June 17th, 1848. Graduated from the Iowa state university in 1867, he immediately took up the study of law, and graduated from the law school of the same institution two years later.

He practiced law in Des Moines, and Louisa counties very successfully until 1873, when, being interested in the proposed extension of the Santa Fe railway, he removed to New Mexico, taking up his residence at Cimarron, Colfax county. Mr. Springer's reputation as a lawyer is an enviable one, not alone in the territory, but in the nation as well. He has never been a seeker for political honors, though he has served two terms in the legising to the untimely death of its founder, it blazed a new trail in science; and many a man now eminent in natural history counts among his most precious memories the hours spent there under the inspiring influence of the great teacher.

"I venture to predict that in after years, when some of those now working here have become leaders in the scientific thought of their time, they will with like sensations recall this initial session of the School of American Archaeology, and will hold in equal veneration the name of the director who conceived and organized this great work, and who inspires in all who take part in it the desire to be worthy of his example."

FRANK SPRINGER.

Hon. Frank Springer, who is a regent of the New Mexico Museum and whose generosity has enabled the museum authorities to place in the Puye and Rito de los Frijoles rooms the mural paintings by Carl Lotave which are the admiration of all visitors and art connoisseurs, is deeply lative council, but has devoted his time, brilliant talents and untiring energy to the practice of law. Mr. Springer's practice was almost entirely in large cases, and before the territorial supreme court and the supreme court of the United States. His advice on constitutional law and private land claims was considered authoritative.

In 1883 he removed to Las Vegas where he has since resided. During all his residence in the territory he has been attorney for the Maxwell Land Grant Company, and in 1891 was elected its president and served for some years. He was also counsel for the Santa Fe railway for many years.

From his youth Mr. Springer has been an ardent lover of natural science, and he has managed to find time, in spite of the requirements of an exacting and laborious profession, to keep up the studies begun in early life. His taste for scientific study was formed while at student at the state university. He dates his special interest in geology and paleontology from a lecture and field excursion given to the students of the university by Louis Agassiz. In connection with Mr. Charles Wachsmuth, of Iowa, he has published several very valuable scientific works, the most notable being a work on North American Fossil Crinoids.

Mr. Springer was president of the board of regents of the Normal University at Las Vegas for some time. Mrs. Springer and daughters have been in Europe the past year.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Will Be Held in Rome, Italy, a Year From Now—American Delegates to Carry Fine Report.

New York, Sept. 15.—Official announcement of the Seventh International Congress on Tuberculosis was made today from the American headquarters by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The congress will be held in Rome in 1911 from September 24th to 30th. This gathering, which meets every three years, and was last held in Washington, D. C., in 1908, will be under the direct patronage of the King and Queen of Italy. The secretary-general is Prof. Vittorio Ascoli, and the president Prof. Guido Baccelli.

It is expected that an American committee of one hundred will be appointed as the official body representing the United States. Estimating on the present rate of increase, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis announces that the American committee will be able to give a most flattering report at the congress. They will be able to announce that the number of tuberculosis agencies in this country has tripled in the three years since the last international congress, and that more than twice as much money is being spent in the fight against consumption by private societies and institutions, and also that the appropriations for tuberculosis work by federal, state, municipal, and county authorities have quadrupled.

The congress at Rome will be in three sections, that on etiology and causes of tuberculosis; on pathology and therapeutics, both medical and surgical; and on the social defence against tuberculosis. The names of the presidents of these sections will be announced in the near future.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS TO BE PAID EXPENSE BILLS.

Each Will Receive Eighty-four Dollars per Annum for Board and Lodging on Road.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 15.—Alexander H. Stevens, superintendent of railway mails, is engaged in tabulating the expense bills of the 750 clerks of his division, which embraces California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, New Mexico, Texas and part of Colorado. The expense bills are for board and lodgings of clerks while engaged on the road and are payable quarterly, the first quarter expiring September 30th. This is the only part of the federal service in which the employees have been required to pay such expenses out of their salaries.

In response to a persistent agitation which had been kept up for several years, Congress at the last session appropriated $250,000 for this purpose, to be divided among the 18,000 railway mail clerks in the service, which is at the rate of $4.63 a clerk per annum. Some years ago Congress added $100 per annum to the salary of each clerk in order to assist them in paying traveling expenses, but it is claimed that even then the salaries were too low.

It is estimated that an appropriation of $2,000,000 per annum would be required to pay the traveling expenses of the clerks in full.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

CROSSING THE POND.

One can make a trip across the Atlantic, with cabin and board thrown in, cheaper than one can make the trip from Santa Fe to New York. It is no wonder therefore, that trans-Atlantic travel is growing more popular each year and that the huge steamers carrying as high as 3,000 passengers are not adequate to cope with the throngs that are anxious to cross the briny deep. During the past year, more people went from New Mexico as well as from other commonwealths than ever before and one now sees trips around the world advertised for $560 including all expenses along the way. It is also an evidence of the greater prosperity of the United States, that more Americans cross the ocean for pleasure than all other nations taken together.

This year the "annual rush" between May 1 and September 1 was greater than ever before. In the first cabin of the liners on their eastward passage from New York there were 60,177 passengers in the four months against 52,999 last year, 49,256 in 1908 and 50,622 in 1907. There was a still larger gain in the number of second cabin passengers. There were 63,938 of these, compared with 54,517 last year, 55,981 in 1908 and 57,472 in 1907. Some of these may have been unable to secure first cabin accommodations, but mostly they are presumed to include persons of moderate means who could still afford to make a trip to Europe.

Is this an infallible sign of prosperous conditions in the country or is it one of those symptoms of extravagance that we hear so much about? How much money all these travelers spend in going abroad is beyond calculation, but it has been estimated all the way up to $200,000,000 in a season. If it is anywhere near as much as that it has a material effect upon "the balance of trade," for something has to go abroad in the form of exports, commodities or gold to meet these expenses. So much is taken out of the country, and much less is brought into it by travelers from other countries visiting the United States. Perhaps it is a loss to domestic trade and tends to deplete capital much needed at home, but there is no help for it. Travel has its uses as well as its pleasures and our people will continue to indulge in it to the profit of foreign lands.

Humble passage in the steerage is supposed to have some significant relation to prosperity, but it is different from that of the saloon and second cabin. In hard times a lot of immigrants become emigrants and go to their old homes for visiting and cheap living when work is scarce here. In 1907, from the beginning of the year to September 1, there were 253,268 steerage passengers on the eastern voyage, and the next year, after the panic, the number rose to 505,000. Last year the number was down to 175,579 and this year it has been 208,645. This latter increase may seem to conflict with the theory that the eastward steerage movement is impelled by lack of demand for labor, or it may mean that there really is less prosperity this year than last. In the latter case it involves a conflict with the theory that the first and second cabin travel is a sure index of prosperity. But even well-to-do people sometimes travel because business is dull and it does not cost much more than staying at home, and in some cases even less. There is nothing very certain in these "signs," but they invite some interesting guess work.

WHO IS CORRUPT?

There must be a lot of Democrats for sale, according to the Democratic organ at Albuquerque. Speaking of the election last Tuesday, it says: "On election day money was used with lavish hand to buy votes," and "got many votes for the Republican ticket." Where there is buying there is selling and the man who buys votes has nothing on the man who sells his vote. Both belong in the penitentiary. It would be absurd for a Republican to buy Republican votes and what he buys therefore must be Democrats.

The Democratic Rocky Mountain News in speaking of the Democratic state convention, says in its headlines, and they are very conspicuous: "Barrel opened by machine to lure voters." In other words Democracy has a machine in Colorado and uses money to buy delegates. The Democratic Denver Post is equally severe on its Democratic constituency for it says in big type on its first page: "The extra session of the legislature is thirty-five days old and has cost the people of this state about $50,000. It has cost about $6,000 in mileage, which the members of the legislature have drawn from the state treasury—and practically every one of them came here on a railroad pass. So before they took their seats they had grafted $6,000 of the people's money."

And is the New Mexico Democracy any better?

The way it looks now Congress and the President will be only too glad to add another Republican state like New Mexico to the Union. Even if it has only four electoral votes, these may come in handy in 1912.

A TYRANNY OF THE MINORITY.

Up to last evening, six counties had returned their official vote to the Territorial Secretary, namely the counties of San Juan, Taos, Valencia, McKinley, Luna and Santa Fe. These counties, two years ago, cast 9,259 votes for delegate to Congress; for delegates to the constitutional convention they cast only 7,916 votes, a loss of 1,343 votes despite an evident increase in population. Two years ago, the Republican vote in those six counties was 5,382, this year it was 4,752, a loss of 630; the Democratic vote two years ago was 3,784, this year it was 2,902, a loss of 772; the Socialist vote two years ago was 93, this year 172, a gain of 79. In other words, the Socialists alone took a greater interest in the election for delegates to the constitutional convention than they did in the election for a delegate to Congress. Yet, the election this year, was of vastly greater importance to New Mexico and its people than the election of two years ago. The regrettable falling off in the vote in these counties where there were sharp contests, merely demonstrates, that the people will not take interest in an election at which abstract principles, even though they involve statehood, the franchise and the most important subjects of civic welfare, are at stake, while they will turn out to vote for candidates at a general election. If New Mexico had the initiative and referendum, it would often occur, that the vote for any proposed law would consist of only the few who are pushing the proposition, while those opposed would be too indifferent to go to the polls. It may easily happen, as it did at the Santa Fe city extension election last year, that less than one-fifth of the qualified voters impose their mandate and will upon the other four-fifths; in other words, a tyranny by the minority over the majority.

The New Mexican does not believe that Arizona will be deprived of statehood because of its Democratic predilections and vagaries. If its constitutional convention is careful enough to adopt a constitution that squares with the Constitution of the United States, President Taft and the Republican Congress are broadminded enough to let the neighboring commonwealth in, especially since New Mexico has proved its adherence to the Republican faith and will adopt a safe and sane constitution. However, if New Mexico, too, should have gone off on a tangent, then the outlook for statehood would have been gloomy indeed. It is difficult to separate the fate of the two commonwealths. In fact, even though there should be a move to exclude Arizona, the Democratic Senators would filibuster to prevent Congress from disapproving the Arizona constitution, and in that case, under the Enabling Act, unless it would come in on March 4, unless its constitution was so evidently unconstitutional that President Taft would have to refuse to issue a proclamation for its admission.

More than one candidate for the constitutional convention had a very close call in the official returns, demonstrating to the individual voter how necessary it is for him to deposit his ballot and register his vote on election day, for more than once in the history of this commonwealth, one vote might have changed the result, and much more frequently, a dozen votes taken from one side and added to the other, might have changed the course of events. In Quay county, a Republican candidate was elected by four plurality; in Santa Fe county two Republicans slipped in by 24 majority. In San Juan county, one of the Democratic candidates had merely 47 plurality, and in Luna county, the Democrats got in by 69 plurality but failed to get a majority of the votes cast. Several more such close escapes might be mentioned, but they all point to the value of each man's vote.

Advertising pays. The following to Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews, shows that people are assiduously reading everything at present that pertains to the new state: "I have read with pleasure your article in the recent issue of Leslie's Weekly showing the great resources of New Mexico. Another obligation added to the many the people of the territory owe you for efficient service, which I trust they will recognize when the opportunity is offered, and I hope it will be soon through the adoption of a conservative constitution that will meet the prompt approval of the President."

The writer is H. H. Price, one of the high officials of the department of commerce and labor at Washington.

Theodore Tietz of Berlin, Germany, is in Colorado buying apples for the German market. Colorado apples, which are not better, if they are as good as New Mexico apples, command a premium the world over and they always have a market, that is, the good apples have. New Mexico does not put out into that market for it can and does raise superior fruit but with few exceptions is not doing it on large enough a scale and in many instances neglects to spray the orchards and care for the trees.

Dona Ana county will spend $10,000 to build El Camino Real from Las Cruces to the Texas boundary. The good roads commission which has at its disposal almost $50,000 for good roads, will give $10,000 towards the completion of the highway, making $20,000 at the disposal of the authorities not counting the labor of fifty convicts who will be detailed on the good roads work. An expenditure of that kind would place the road from Santa Fe to Taos, there to connect with the road to Raton, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver and Kansas City, in splendid condition and it would be worth it, every cent of it. Ten thousand dollars is not too much for the counties of Santa Fe and Taos to give for such a purpose. In fact, there isn't a year that either county hasn't squandered that much in temporary road work and on district road supervisors who neither by training nor disposition are fitted to construct permanent roads along modern lines.

The city of Albuquerque will have the most delegates in the constitutional convention, ten delegates, or just one-tenth maintaining their homes there. Las Vegas and East Las Vegas will have six; Santa Fe five, and several others who formerly lived here; Raton and Socorro four each; Taos, Tucumcari, Las Cruces and Silver City three each; Tierra Amarilla, Roswell and Portales two each. Of other large towns, Deming, Clovis, Carlsbad, Artesia and Alamogordo will be represented by a resident, so that the larger municipalities will have 52 out of the 100 votes of the convention. Among the smaller places, Carrizozo, Wagon Mound, Cleveland, Mora, Chilli, Kenna, Herman, Vermejo, Cimarron, Texico, Anthony, Clancy, Anton Chico, Lincoln, White Oaks, Roy, Espanola and thirty others will be represented by residents.

The Santa Fe Board of Trade occupies an important place in the economy of Santa Fe. It has accomplished many things; it has set on foot many important movements; and even in cases where results did not seem commensurate with the effort it has shaped public opinion and thus worked for the betterment of the community. A healthier, cleaner, more beautiful and more prosperous Santa Fe is worth striving for and the Santa Fe Board of Trade can be made not only an important factor, but the very nucleus around which the Greater Santa Fe is reared. But how much more effective work it could and would do if every property owner were a member and took vigorous hold!

If Woodrow Wilson can have himself elected governor of New Jersey, Governor Harmon of Ohio, and Mayor Gaynor of New York, will have a serious rival for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1912. Woodrow Wilson has figured it out that if Taft is renominated that Harmon will have the Democratic call, both coming from New York; but if there is a new deal all around, that Woodrow Wilson will be given the chance to be defeated by the Republican nominee.

Governor Mills is to be commended for his efforts to push to completion the Scenic Highway from Santa Fe to the Pecos and from there to Las Vegas. His administration will always be remembered as a "good roads" era and the magnificent highway that is cutting through the heart of the Rocky mountains and the Pecos forest will be a permanent monument to New Mexico enterprise of which any commonwealth could be proud. It will have its material returns as well as a sentimental value that will far outweigh its cost.

It is one of the strange anomalies of the Rio Grande situation that although 500 to 5000 feet of water flowed through White Rock canon all summer, crops suffered from drought both in the upper valley as well as in the Mesilla valley, in the upper valley because the government inhibits further storing of the water and in the lower valley because the waters of the upper valley never reach it when the river is normal.

A recent government publication says that the hookworm has made its appearance in New Mexico. However, thus far, the entire Rocky mountain region has furnished only sixteen reported cases. But, look out, or the hookworm will catch you, in fact, seems to have already caught some of the habitual loafers in the plaza and at the street corners.

The Young Egypt Party met at Geneva, Switzerland, yesterday more than three thousand miles from Roosevelt whom it called names; a safe distance from the British Lion whom it defied, and across the Mediterranean and the Alps from Egypt which it wants to free from foreign dominion. The young Egyptians are evidently more discreet and impotent than the Three Tailors of Tooley Street.

The fifth German dirigible, the Zepplin VI., has been blown up. At this rate, the directors of the Passengers Airship Company ought to try a change of name for their balloons. "The New Mexican" would suggest the name of "Bryan" who can't be beat as a wind-bag.

Here is a solution for President Taft's present difficulty in view of the Washington election returns: Appoint Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger to the supreme court bench and offer the cabinet vacancy to the son-in-law of the Mighty Nimrod of Oyster Bay.

Raton business men contributed $1,500 a month to support a baseball team. They do not contribute one-half as much to the support of either of the Raton daily papers. The curvatures of the reasoning processes of some business men is wonderfully constructed.

DESTROYING JACK RABBITS IN NEW MEXICO.

Pest That is Doing Much Damage in Many Sections of Territory to Growing Crops.

Agricultural College, Sept. 13.—The jack rabbit is quite a pest to small grain growers and orchardists in many sections of New Mexico. The question has often been asked of the station how to get rid of the rabbits and prevent their destruction of various crops. The Horticultural department believes that it has found a means which if persistently followed will help materially to keep the rabbits in check and prevent the loss occasioned by them.

During the months of September and October of the fall of 1909 the department planted a plot of about two acres of the College Campus to Bermuda grass. Wheat was sown with the grass to help cover the ground during the winter months. After irrigating the plot the sod and wheat began to grow, and continued to do well until the jack rabbits finding their feed getting short on the adjoining mesa-land began to migrate to the newly planted lawn and feed upon the growing wheat and grass. As the rabbits did most of their feeding at night there was no chance to shoot them while they were doing the damage.

The rabbits were so numerous that they soon ate the wheat off to the ground, and not being satisfied with that they began to dig up the grass and eat the roots. It soon became evident that unless this destruction was stopped all the grass in the plot would be consumed. To prevent this it was decided to poison the rabbits.

Strychnine was the poison selected and it was first used on cabbage leaves and pieces of sweet potato which were scattered over the plot.

The results from these first trials were not at all satisfactory. From several applications of the poisoned cabbage leaves and potato, no dead rabbits were found. For some reason the rabbits did not seem to care either for the cabbage or sweet potato both of which were fresh when put out.

When it was seen that the above remedies did not produce the results desired a new one was tried with very good effect. The principal ingredients in this new remedy, are, sugar, dried alfalfa leaves, and strychnine. It was prepared as follows:

one ounce of sulphate of strychnine and two pounds of sugar were dissolved in two and one-half gallons of warm water. To the water while it was still hot, enough bright alfalfa leaves were stirred in, to about absorb the water. The mixture should be kept hot for thirty minutes and stirred frequently so as to insure thorough impregnation of the leaves by the poison. Let the mixture set for three or four hours after which it will be ready to put out in the field. It will not be necessary to dry the leaves before putting out the poison. A small wooden paddle or large spoon may be used to dish out the mixture, which should be placed about over the field in small piles, where the rabbits are accustomed to run and feed. Where the rabbits come into the field from the outside, the poison should be distributed along the edge of the field. The best time to do this is late in the evening, because the rabbits do most of their feeding at night; the poison will also be in a fresher condition when they come across it.

In regard to the efficiency of the poisoned alfalfa leaves, the results obtained on the planted plots already mentioned, were very satisfactory. On the evening of December 9th about a gallon of the poisoned alfalfa was scattered around the edge of the plot in little piles about twenty feet apart. The next morning ten dead rabbits were found on the plot near the piles of poison. The next evening one-half gallon more of the poison was put out. The following morning another batch of ten dead rabbits were found. No more poison was put out at this time, but from the two applications made, thirty-three dead rabbits were found in less than a week. This shows that one application of the poison will be effective several days after it is put out.

As a result of the above experiment the depredations by the rabbits on the grass plot were greatly lessened, and there is hardly any doubt that if the poison is properly prepared and distributed, the rabbit plague can be kept in check.

The best season of the year to put out the poison is during the winter months or in early spring while the natural herbage, on which the rabbits feed is scarce.

In preparing and using the above poison it will be well to keep in mind a few points. Use sulphate of strychnine as it is the most soluble, and will readily dissolve in warm water. It is very essential to add the sugar to the mixture to sweeten it. The strychnine is very bitter and the rabbits might not eat the poisoned alfalfa unless the sugar is used. Only the bright green leaves should be used as they most resemble the fresh and growing alfalfa. The best time of day to put out the poison is in the late afternoon so it will be in as fresh condition as possible when found by the rabbits. Care should be taken to keep the poison out of the reach of stock. Putting the poison out every

SECOND NATIONAL APPLE
SHOW AT SPOKANE.

Quality, Color, Condition and Pack
Will Be Considered in Competition.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 15.—Apples of quality and color and condition, ranging from three and a half to four and a half tiers or from 88 to 128 to the box, packed in alternate or diagonal style, score the highest in competitions as well as in the markets.

Professor H. E. Van Deman, chief judge at the second National Apple Show, who will serve in a similar capacity at the third annual exposition in Spokane, November 14 to 19, offers the foregoing suggestion to growers, packers and handlers in telling how the carload and other exhibits at the 1909 show were scored and judged.

"Quality, color, condition and pack

ONE WEAK SPOT.

Everyone has a weak spot. Too often it's a bad back. Twinges follow every sudden twist. Dull aching keeps up, day and night. Tells you the kidneys need help. For backache is really kidney-ache. A kidney cure is what you need. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Cure backache and urinary ills. Santa Fe people recommend the remedy.

Thomas M. Baca, Cerrillos St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "My faith in Doan's Kidney Pills is just as strong today as when I publicly recommended them in 1902. I was caused much suffering by backache for three years and my loins were so painful at times that it was all I could do to get around. Doan's Kidney Pills entirely relieved me and I had no return attack of the trouble for six months. At that time my work brought on a recurrence of backache. I at once took Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief. A medicine that lives up to the claims made for it like Doan's Kidney Pills do, deserve the strongest endorsement."

are the leading characteristics and are given 20 points each," he said among other things, "while size and uniformity have only 10 points each. The quality is surely a matter of first consideration, for the eating of an apple is the crucial and final test. Any variety that is not really good does not deserve a high rating, even on a commercial basis, for, if the consumer condemns the fruit, it deserves condemnation by all, from the grower down. And so we considered it in scoring apples at the second National Apple Show."

"Color, which enters very largely into the attractiveness of the apple when exposed for sale, had its proper rating in the score. Conditions included blemishes of all kinds, such as insect and fungus marks, bruises and loss of stems, the stage of maturity not being so essential as that the fruit be perfect."

"The pack, by which is meant the manner in which the apples are placed in the packages rather than the packages themselves, had its share of value, and the several details of the pack each had its allotment of points. The proper styles and conformity to the accepted standards of box packing were most carefully noted."

"It is generally agreed among good packers that the apple should be flush with the ends of the box, and before the top is pressed on that they should rise gradually to the center of the box, where they should be one and a half inches higher than the side pieces and when the top is pressed and nailed down the bulge should be a quarter of an inch on either side. This holds the fruit firmly in place and allows little chance for bruising."

"The alignment of the rows and tiers should be perfect, which depends largely upon the careful grading as to size of the specimens and the evenness of packing, and so does compactness. The attractiveness and style of pack also have much to do with the market value of the fruit, for a neat looking package and a style or manner of packing the apples in the box so to be full, is what is needed."

"All the far western apples are packed in regular tiers and the exact number of specimens in each box is definitely known and is usually marked, as should be done. The square pack was first used, but experience has proven that the diagonal or alternate style, with its varieties, to be far better."

"Instead of the apples being one or two tiers, as in the square style of packing, so that they are bruised from top to bottom by the pressure in fastening down the lid, one apple fits in between the others and very little damage is done by the pressure. In our judging we scored down one point on every square-packed box, because of the inferior style. The Colorado 'jumble-pack' is not used in the northwest. It is bad and does not bring the price that good apples deserve."

"As to size, we decided that all apples packing over three and a half tiers to the box should be severely scored as being too large, and those smaller than four and a half tiers as being too small. The best sizes for market range between these two, and count from 88 to 128 to the box. All above or below sell at inferior prices, and are to be avoided by the grower and dealers as far as possible."
