While we cannot aid the cause of a voice, we can show to the world, by sending our country where men are supposed to be blind to the voice of reason, by a mistaken idea of local interests, are we not unmindful of the principles of good government and sound financial policy, and appear

The commercial value fixes the coinage value—an arbitrary coinage value fixed by the state. The state can then alter the value of the coinage commercially and that in our opinion is the cause of the unlimited coinage of silver at the extraordinary ratio of sixteen to one, would inevitably result in giving the country monometallism, thereby reducing it instead of increasing the amount of metallic money in the country. To attempt to give by law an enforced purchasing and debt paying power to silver is not only to disregard all the principles of economics, but is undemocratic and at variance with the teachings of all the leaders of our party during the past. Such a policy would de-

The creditor; deprive the wage earner of the fruit of his toil and his savings and rob the widow and orphan of the provision that the thrift and foresight of the father has made for them. In the language of Daniel Webster, "the depreciated currency is the most efficient device for fertilizing the rich man's field by the sweat of the poor man's brow."

THE EMULEN.

The republican party of this country have for years used the flag as the party emblem on the ballots, and we do so this year, with the addition of a square border surrounding the flag confusion with the Peres fusion ticket, which also adopted the flag emblem. They did this trying to deceive the republican voters of the county who will do them no good; however, Every voter will be thoroughly posted on the attempted fraud. The straight republican ticket will have a border around the flag similar to that at the head of the republican ticket at the head of the page of The Citizen.

NOT POSTED.

We are informed that in a speech at Gallup a few days since Mr. Larabee in discussing the tariff policy of the republican party, argued that the

If increased the prices which the laboring man was compelled to pay for the necessities of life, and failed to protect him against the competition of the labor coming to this country as immigrants, he would forfeit the statement that the republican government the civil war, passed a law authorizing the importation of labor into the United States by contract. It is very remarkable that an immigrant from Old Mexico, who has been a naturalized citizen of the United States for less than ten years, would make an attack upon the policy of the country which has admitted him here and refused to consider it. If the policy of the United States was admitted in this case, it would be a precedent for the admission of other immigrants.

could not now be the democratic candidate for delegate. The other statement is equally ridiculous. The first law that was ever passed upon the subject was the act of February 20, 1892, enacted under the administration of President Arthur, forbidding the participation of Congressmen in the nomination of a delegate. The democratic candidate for delegate does not seem to be sufficiently posted upon the legislation and policy of the government of the United States prior to his becoming a citizen, to intelligently discuss it before an audience, or to properly represent the interests of the people of New Mexico.

WEDDING BELLS.

Orville A. Matson and Miss Ethel Lorenz Fox.

STEWART-BELL NUPITALS.

Last night at the residence of the bride's parents on East Iron avenue on the Highlands, in the presence of the near intimate relatives and friends of the two young people, Orville A. Matson, the well-known young merchant, and Miss Ethel Lorenz Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fox, were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. W. J. Marsh, of the Congregational church.

The ceremony was most impressive, and the description given by one who was fortunate to be present as to the arrangements, decorations, costumes, etc., indicate that the wedding was a beautiful beyond description.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a toilette pronounced to be one of the finest ever seen here; her bouquet was a creation combining the four divisions of the single and married state of the bride and groom, and after the ceremony it was distributed among the guests.

Miss Lorenz Fox, sister of the bride, as the bridesmaid in pink and white, with pink roses, was a pretty picture. Dr. E. J. Alger, the groom's intimate friend, was the best man and master of ceremonies, and fulfilled his duties to perfection.

The whole affair was indicative of refined taste and quiet solemnity, as was due the important step of the young people.

The presents were numerous and elegant, the friends of the couple both here and abroad, remembering them generously.

Following the beautiful wedding march was rendered by Miss Hawthorne, and during the ceremony solo strains of music. After the ceremony Miss Hawthorne played the Mendelssohn wedding march while congratulations were sincerely bestowed upon the happy couple.

Following this the guests were served with dainty refreshments and music was rendered by a quartette.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matson, Sr., parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fox, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Keen, Misses Elizabeth Willey, Edith Stevens, Mabel Fitch, Fannie Rogers, Emma Huhns, Irene Hall, Nellie Brewer, Messrs. F. H. Kent, F. H. Strong, E. J. Alger, Samuel Pickard, L. C. Brooks, R. A. Pratt, E. L. Medley and F. W. Newman.

During the ceremony a number of telegrams from the west and east were received, one being from the bride's intimate lady friend, Miss Margaret Kent, who is in South Dakota, regretting her inability to be present, but wishing them "luck, health and happiness."

Mr. and Mrs. Matson will reside with the groom's parents for the present on South Broadway.

STEWART-BELL.

A most charming wedding was celebrated last night at the home of Engineer Franklin on South 13th street, the parties being Mr. and Mrs. Stewart-Bell, of San Antonio, Texas, (Mrs. Franklin's sister), and James Stewart, the well-known employee of the Albuquerque Foundry and Machine works. Miss Bell arrived from her Texas home yesterday morning, and all arrangements being completed, Rev. T. C. Heattie in his happiest manner soon made the two young hearts beat as one. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart-Bell will reside here in a comfortable home, newly furnished, where a bounteous wedding supper was prepared, and disposed of last night by the intimate friends of the bride and groom, who will please accept the good wishes of The Citizen.

BIG STRIKE ENDED.

The Pennsylvania Coal Companies Now Ready for Business.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 26.—There is great rejoicing today all through Scranton and the Lackawanna valley at the calling off of the anthracite coal miners' strike. The order had the effect of stimulating the companies which had already not posted notices agreeing to advance wages ten per cent to do so. Today the Pennsylvania companies sent out its official notice to the miners. Fifty thousand men and boys will therefore resume work Monday.

MUST COMPLY.

Hannett, Oct. 26.—According to President Mitchell, who is the collector operated by those companies who have not yet posted notices will not be resumed until they comply with the demands of the Scranton Mine Workers convention.

BIG REWARD OFFERED.

For the Arrest of Alvord, the Defaulting Bank Note Teller.

New York, Oct. 26.—A reward of $5,000 will be offered by the First National bank for the arrest of the defaulting note teller, Cornelius L. Alvord. This conclusion was announced today after a conference with the bank officials with Capt. McKenney, of the detective bureau. The reward is $3,000 in a sum not far from that of the bank. The assertion is made that the defaulting teller had been detected by the bank.

SUDDEN DEATH.

J. O. Gildon Expired at His Home at 11 O'Clock Last Night.

Another of those sudden deaths which so frequently startle the public, occurred last night about 11 o'clock, and the Citizen is called upon to chronicle the death caused by heart failure of J. O. Gildon, the first street merchant. The passing away of this genial soul whose friends were so numerous, and whose regret to be expressed by all who had this sad news. Mr. Gildon, after the close of business last night, started to go to his rooms over the

DEAF AND MUTE ASYLUM.

POSTMASTER APPOINTED. H. C. Orser has been appointed postmaster at County, Socorro county, vice Laura McKee, resigned.

TERRITORIAL FINDER. Territorial Treasurer J. H. Vaughn has received from H. O. Bursum, superintendent of the penitentiary, $142.40 credited to the convict's earnings fund.

NOTARIES PUBLIC APPOINTED. Governor Orser appointed Andrew W. West of Cuba, San Miguel county, and Morris Black, of Mora county, notaries public.

INDIAN SCHOOL APPOINTMENT. An association of the Association of Anglo goat breeders was formed. The better animals in this country will be registered and classed as thoroughbred founders of great goat families. The Anglo goat breeders of last year, a creature, hardly and well able to care for itself, where sheep would starve to death. The wool is more valuable than the ordinary. "Lazars" will produce a goodly flock of sheep, obtained, fifteen pounds of wool a year. The meat of the kid, it is declared, cannot be distinguished even by a butcher, from that of a lamb. One of the best things about the goat is its milk, which is great and cleaner. He prefers bushes and weeds to grass and underbrush which disappear before him, never to return. His usefulness in the household is great. There are four or five goat ranches in Kansas, as many in Missouri and many in New Mexico and Arizona.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND. The comptroller of the currency has declared a third dividend of 10 per cent in favor of the creditors of the First National bank of Silver City, making in all 50 per cent on claims prepaying amounting to $68,704.

INDIAN SCHOOL RECOMMENDATION. Miss Estelle Reel, superintendent of Indian schools, in her annual report to the commissioner of Indian affairs, discusses conditions at a number of schools where she has been visiting during the past year, most of them being in Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico, or the schools in this territory, she says: "Santa Fe school—A decided improvement in the school is the industrial features of this school over those of last year. The teaching of irrigation is very important in this section, as in order to raise anything in the arid section, the vicinity, the land must be irrigated."

"Albuquerque school—This school is in a generally satisfactory condition. I would like to see better facilities for the deaf and dumb children, making work at this school. The harness and shoe shops were doing satisfactory work, and the sewing department was unusually good. I found in this department of school age, 25 to 31 years, and confined his remarks mostly to education in New Mexico."

Dr. Harwood spoke of the great lack of school in New Mexico 21 years ago, when he came to this country and in the school of the people intellectually. He spoke of a young Mexican teacher, teaching a private school some twenty miles from Tiptonville, then called La Jara, where Mr. and Mrs. Harwood opened their first school in the territory. The young man hearing of an American school, came over to see how it was taught, and to see if he could not learn some books. He had not a book in school. He found an old paper and cut the letters out and pasted them on a piece of board, and thus made the alphabet. He made his letters and taught the children in the same way. Mr. Harwood said the contrast between those early days and the present is surely gratifying to all workers on educational lines. Hardly 10 per cent as low as people in New Mexico at that time could read or write.

The doctor showed that when the census was taken in 1870 the literacy was 10 per cent. That of 1880 brought it down to 14.9, and that of 1890 brought it down to 44.9, thus filling the largest gap of literacy ever filled in ten years by any other state or territory. He expressed the hope that the present census would show an increase of 25 per cent. Some others think it will come down to 20 per cent, but others less hopeful put it at 40, but Mr. Harwood feels quite certain that it will come as low as 25 per cent. In 1890 we stood better than South Carolina and Louisiana and if we can now come down to 25 per cent we shall have made a better showing than seven of the southern states.

Dr. Harwood spoke of our public school, having in round numbers, 820 teachers and about 50,000 pupils. He spoke of the territory as doing as well as any other territory in the United States, the University of New Mexico located at Albuquerque, the School of Mines at Socorro, the Agricultural college at Las Cruces, the Normal school at Silver City and one at Las Vegas, the Military school at Roswell, Indian government schools at Albuquerque and Santa Fe, and the new school building at Santa Fe.

Dr. Harwood referred to another hopeful sign of our intellectual progress found in the fact that so many of the people, especially the children and young people, can now speak English. He said that the children of the future will be bilingual, speaking both English and Spanish. He also spoke of the fact that the children of the future will be bilingual, speaking both English and Spanish. He also spoke of the fact that the children of the future will be bilingual, speaking both English and Spanish.

ANGORA GOAT "LAZARS."

The New Mexico Prize Winner Sold For $700. A few days ago The Citizen mentioned the fact that several New Mexican growers of Angora goats had taken prizes at the American goat breeders' association meeting and sale held at Kansas City, and among the prize winners was D. C. Taylor, of Lake Valley. Mr. Taylor was here last night coming from this meeting, and he continued home this morning. His prize winner, "Lazars," a silky-coated patriarchal buck was sold to H. S. Richardson, of Albuquerque, Iowa, for $700. The second prize goat was sold to the same owner as H. C. Johnson, of Lawrence, Kan., who stocked his goat ranch last spring.

During the year an association of Anglo goat breeders was formed. The better animals in this country will be registered and classed as thoroughbred founders of great goat families. The Anglo goat breeders of last year, a creature, hardly and well able to care for itself, where sheep would starve to death. The wool is more valuable than the ordinary. "Lazars" will produce a goodly flock of sheep, obtained, fifteen pounds of wool a year. The meat of the kid, it is declared, cannot be distinguished even by a butcher, from that of a lamb. His usefulness in the household is great. There are four or five goat ranches in Kansas, as many in Missouri and many in New Mexico and Arizona.

EDITOR HUGHES' NOMINATION. The nomination of Hon. Thomas Hughes, editor of The Citizen, for the territorial council, gives general satisfaction to the people of the territory. Having represented the people of Bernalillo county during previous sessions of the council and being in close touch with the needs of this and neighboring counties, he is eminently qualified to represent the cause of his constituents with great credit.

No one acquainted with his efforts on behalf of this country and the territory, and his long and successful record in the council, will question his right to re-election. Among the laws for which he worked hard to have passed was the Bernalillo law, under the operation of which the county is prohibited from going into debt. He assisted in drafting the Duncan revenue bill, which has placed territorial finances upon a sound basis, and made the credit of New Mexico as good as that of any state in the union, and it was due to his persistent efforts that the appropriation for the University of New Mexico was not reduced. There were a great many members in the council who opposed what they regarded as an extravagant large appropriation to the university, but Mr. Hughes realized the needs of that institution and fought the opposition with a courage and ability that has always been in deep sympathy with the educational needs of the territory, and has encouraged liberal appropriations to our institutions of learning on the part of the legislature.

As editor of the Albuquerque Daily Citizen, one of the most influential papers in the west, he has been a great success. He is regarded as one of the ablest editors in the territory, and his strong editorial comment and opinions have placed him in the front ranks of southwestern journalism.

Mr. Hughes is universally popular in the territory, and a friend of the poor and oppressed, and has always been ready to champion their cause through the columns of his paper, even going to extremes at times. He has a heart for the oppressed, and he has always been ready to champion their cause through the columns of his paper, even going to extremes at times.

During a political campaign the scandal mongers come to the front in force, and for a brief season take it upon themselves to blacken the reputation of their neighbors who happen to be candidates for office. The political parties are not responsible for these heinous attacks, but they are the cause of the pleasure of doing injury to their fellow men. The mothers of these creatures were burdened with real and imaginary wrongs against humanity when they first saw the light, and growing to manhood with perverted intellects these creatures creep and crawl through purities and ready appear to enjoy their despicable calling. These filth-eating worms of nature will go from house to house and from saloon to saloon and whisper scandals that they know to be false. They will be about men who have befriended the poor and oppressed, and they will try to get money from the very men they are slandering.

Happily, the people pay little attention to these harpies, and the falsehoods which they utter soon find their way to the gutter. They will be about men who have befriended the poor and oppressed, and they will try to get money from the very men they are slandering.

Every woman knows some woman Mrs. Pinkham has cured.

But nine women out of ten put off getting this reliable remedy until their health is nearly wrecked by experiments or neglect!

Then they write to Mrs. Pinkham and she cures them, but of course it takes longer to do so. Don't delay getting help if you are sick.

She has helped a million women. Why not you?
