NATURE OF THE CHARGE AGAINST ARBUCKLE TO BE DECIDED TODAY

Judge Lazarus to Rule Whether Movie Comedian Is to Be Held for Murder Or Mere Manslaughter.

MRS. DELMONT NOT CALLED TO TESTIFY

Prosecution Suddenly Closes Its Case Without the Testimony of the Complaining Witness.

(By The Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 27.—The question whether Roscoe Arbuckle will be tried in the superior court for the murder of Miss Virginia Rappé, or whether he will be held on the lesser charge of manslaughter, will be decided today by Judge Lazarus.

The prosecution suddenly closed its case today without the testimony of the complaining witness, Mrs. Bambina Delmont, saying she was already dead. The defense requested a warrant holding for murder, but the court, although warning the district attorney that he was running the danger of a dismissal by not producing more evidence, practically removed all possibility of such action by denying defense motion to dismiss and inquiring that he rarely failed to find a defendant to answer. As to the particular charge, however, Judge Lazarus said his mind was not yet made up.

Case Continued.

He then continued the case until tomorrow at 2 p. m., giving the defense permission to introduce evidence of its own at that time if desired. Frank Dominguez, Arbuckle's chief counsel, said he would not reach a decision until he had time to avail himself of the opportunity.

Dominguez demanded an opportunity to prove Mrs. Delmont's accusations against Arbuckle to be false. But Judge Lazarus said the district attorney could not be compelled to put her on the stand, although he regretted greatly that more proof had not been given and the complaining witness named.

District Attorney Mathew A. Brady suggested that Dominguez himself could call Mrs. Delmont as a witness, but the defense attorney declined to accept the suggestion.

Assistant District Attorney Goldstein said the district attorney was not required to disclose more of its case than enough to warrant a holding for probable cause and Dominguez replied that the issue was not between Mrs. Delmont and Arbuckle, but between the people of California and Arbuckle.

Two women, Zohi Prevost and Alice Blake, testified today that Miss Virginia Rappé, when found in distress, had been talking about her dying. He hurt me," and that Arbuckle had told her to "shut up" or he would "throw her out the window."

"You're crazy. Shut up or I'll throw you out of the window," was the version of Arbuckle's remarks given by Miss Blake, while Miss Prevost testified that she had seen him "throw her out the window."

Both said that Arbuckle administered ice to Miss Rappé while she was moaning in pain. Miss Prevost saying he accompanied it with the remark "That'll bring you to." The prosecution, however, drew testimony from Miss Blake which she said indicated there had been another incident.

Another exciting incident was told of by Josephine Keen, a maid at the St. Francis hotel, who said that from the corridor she heard screams from room 1219, the room described by other witnesses as the scene of the tragedy.

LEAD OF YANKS IS REDUCED TO GAME AND HALF

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Sept. 27.—The lead of the New York Americans over the Cleveland world's champions was cut to a game and a half today when the Yankees lost, while that of the New York Nationals was shortened to three and a half games through a Pittsburgh victory. The Yankees now win three of their four remaining games to clinch pennant and the Giants lead the league with four games to finish.

Pittsburgh faces the task of winning all its five games, while New York is losing four.

The New York Nationals will play in Philadelphia Thursday and Friday and will be host to the Athletics Saturday and to Boston Sunday. Cleveland begins a four-game series in Chicago Thursday.

The New York Nationals will play at home with Boston on Friday and will go to Philadelphia for two games Saturday. The Giants end their season at Brooklyn Sunday. Pittsburgh plays all of its five games in St. Louis, beginning Thursday.

LIBERTY BONDS, VICTORY NOTES ARE IN DEMAND

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Sept. 27.—Trading in Liberty bonds and Victory notes on the stock exchange today again attained large proportions and created several new high records for the year, the chief feature being Victory 4½s. These rose to 92½, but reacted with most other issues later, when realizing sales caused moderate recessions.

Out of total bond sales, roughly estimated at $19,000,000, the Liberty and Victory issues contributed 75 per cent. Unusual activity was shown by several Liberty 4½s but the Victory 4½s alone made up about 30 per cent of the whole.

Demand for these securities again proceeded, according to reports from important financial institutions, from insurance companies and other large corporations, as well as estates and rich individuals in search of acceptable investments.

From all accounts the liquidation of these bonds by small investors has been rapid.

An important element in the increase for these securities is the relaxation of money rates. This has released large amounts of idle capital.

Low records for the various issues were established early this year. The recovery to the highest levels of this year this week ran from about $2.75 to $5.15 per $100 bonds.

LEGION OF VALOR IS HOLDING CONVENTION

(By The Associated Press.)

Boston, Sept. 27.—Heroes of land and sea, members of the Army and Navy Legion of Valor of the United States, comprising those who have been awarded the congressional medal of honor or the distinguished service cross, opened a two-day convention today.

A plan to continue the life of the organization by creation of a second class of membership, to which lineal descendants of the members will be eligible, will be considered.

Dublin, Sept. 27 (by The Associated Press).—The dail cabinet will assemble in the Mansion house Thursday to consider the reply of Premier Lloyd George to Eamon de Valera's latest communication, which was announced tonight. Mr. Lloyd George's reply will be made public Wednesday, according to a London announcement.

SET YOUR FACES AGAINST EVILS, VETERANS TOLD

Clashes Against the Principles of Free Government Must Be Combated, Says G. A. R. Chief.

(By The Associated Press.)

Indianapolis, Sept. 27.—Every insidious attack against the principles of free government must be fought off, Commander in Chief W. A. Ketcham of the Grand Army of the Republic, declared today in an address at the formal opening of the fifty-fifth annual encampment. He told his comrades they should "set their faces like flint against all the evils that are threatening—bolshevism, I. W. W., 'ism, anarchy, Ku Klux Klan—whatever their name may be—that tend to throw a blight on the fair name of the land that we saved and still love."

Commander Ketcham's address marked the opening of the business session. While the veterans were meeting, allied organizations also began formal gatherings. The sons of Veterans began their convention this afternoon. The auxiliary of this organization also opened its meeting.

Mrs. Inez Jamison Bender, president of the Woman's Relief Corps, in opening the session of that body suggested unification of the women's organizations affiliated with the G. A. R.

While the various organizations were meeting, the veterans also found time to attend brigade and regimental reunions.

As on previous days, the veterans apparently found more pleasure in the informal reunions with their war time friends than in the formal sessions.

LABOR BALKS AT ACCEPTING WORK AT REDUCED PAY

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Unanimous agreement on emergency relief measures on the part of manufacturers to be recommended to the national conference of unemployment has been rejected today by the committee in charge of this branch of the employment problem.

The committee's report is to be submitted to the conference for adoption when it reconvenes October 5. It was understood, however, that the report would suggest some rearrangement of work-time to permit of a more numerous employment of workers by the manufacturers.

The manufacturers' committee, the first to complete its emergency recommendations, includes in its personnel Charles M. Schwab of New York and Samuel Gompers. Other committees were said to be rapidly completing their recommendations. The committee on state and municipal measures and public works were understood to have about finished a report which would suggest greater activity by communities and municipalities in public works with special attention to increased road construction as a means of giving employment.

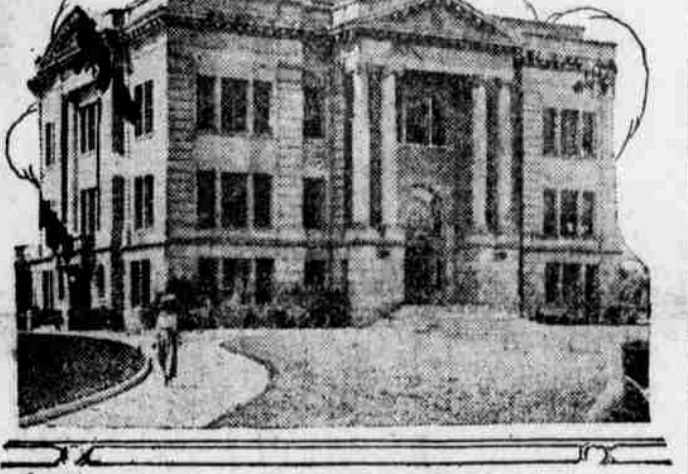

The first public hearing of the conference was held today on unemployment statistics and witnesses presented data.

Labor's unreadiness to accept work at reduced wages was assigned as a contributory cause of the unemployment situation by Russell P. Phelps, director of statistics of the Massachusetts labor department, while H. D. Jacobs, president of the ex-service men's employment bureau, declared the problem among former soldiers was to find positions for the great percentage of illiterate and unskilled men, too weakened from their service for hard labor.

STATE GOVERNORS ARE ASKED BY HARDING TO PROCLAIM OCTOBER 10TH AS FIRE PROTECTION DAY

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—State governors were requested by President Harding in a proclamation today to designate October 10, anniversary of the Chicago fire, as fire prevention day.

The proclamation follows: "Whereas, the United States suffers from destruction of fire an annual loss of life estimated at 15,000 human beings, most of them women and children; and whereas, in the face of the world's dire need for American products our fire losses increased during 1920 to over $500,000,000, and during the previous five-year period totaled $1,475,000,000; and whereas, in addition, forest fires during the five years ended with 1920, further reduced our diminishing timber resources by over $85,000,000, and also threatened with annihilation over 56,000,000 acres of hitherto productive woodland; and

"Whereas, most of our fire losses are due to carelessness and ignorance and may be easily prevented by increased care and education on the part of the citizens:

"Therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, do urge upon the governors to designate and set apart October 10, anniversary of the Chicago fire, as fire prevention day with the principal objects in view, to-wit: To request citizens of the United States to plan for that day and period, through pulpit, through forum and through the schools, such instructive and educational exercises as shall impress the public mind with the calamitous effects and threatened economic disaster of such unnecessary fire waste."

"To urge, as an every day duty of citizenship, individual and collective efforts in conserving our country's natural and created resources, and

"To promote systematic instruction in fire prevention in our schools, constant observance of the ordinary precautions that safeguard us from fire, and an orderliness in homes and community that we may overcome this lurking peril."

"Fire is a danger that never sleeps."

SPECIAL FARES ARE OFFERED TO ROSWELL FEDERATION MEETING

Special railroad rates to the state federation of women's club meeting in Roswell on October 25, 26 and 27, have been obtained from all parts of the state, according to an announcement made by the state president, Mrs. R. P. Donohoe of Santa Fe.

A rate of one and one half cents on the certificate plan has been authorized, conditional upon an attendance of 150 or more by rail. Under the certificate plan one way tickets are purchased at the regular one way rate, certificate issued, and return tickets are sold at one half later to original station point, provided that there are 150 or more certificates presented showing purchase of one way tickets. The Santa Fe and the Southwestern roads have granted the special fare and all other roads in the state will probably do likewise. The tickets must be sold October 24 to 27 with return limit of October 29.

CHICAGO POLICE ROBBED CARS OF WHISKEY, GRAND JURY INFORMED

Coppers Are Alleged to Have Obtained As Many As Half a Dozen "Rake Offs" On the Same Case.

2,500 BOOTLEGGERS ON FORCE, IS CLAIM

One Witness Explains the System Under Which the Blue Coats Operated in Disposing of Booze.

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A system through which Chicago policemen were alleged to have obtained as many as half a dozen rake offs on the same case of whiskey was revealed today in the government's investigation of the police department, said by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris, to contain 2,500 bootleggers in a membership of 5,000.

The request of the chief that the federal authorities help him clean house was placed before the federal grand jury with a score of witnesses, most of them policemen, testifying today.

System Is Explained

One witness, according to official explanation, the system, members of the police force, organized in bands, he said, would obtain information as to shipments of whiskey into Chicago, and then in times before turning the whiskey over to the police, they would raid the place and after collecting another fee, would "confiscate" the liquor, re-sell it and repeat the process sometimes half a dozen times before turning the whiskey over to a favored saloon keeper for sale at high prices.

Clyne Preparing Report

Charles P. Clyne, district attorney tonight still was preparing a full report to Chief Fitzmorris, in which he promises to name every member of the police force against whom he has evidence.

Referring to a statement by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the anti-saloon league, that blame for lack of enforcement of the prohibition laws in Chicago lay with the city and federal officials, Chief Fitzmorris said:

"There is an old Arabian proverb that will reply to Mr. Wheeler. It runs something like this: 'He that knows not, and knows not that he knows not, is a fool. Shun him.'"

LAND OFFICE TO TURN OVER HALF MILLION DOLLARS

Fund to Be Given State Treasurer for Benefit of Common Schools and State Institutions.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)

Santa Fe, Sept. 27.—The state land office will shortly turn over to the state treasurer's office nearly $500,000 derived from oil leases and held in escrow by the land office for the purpose of suits attacking the leases. Assistant Land Commissioner Fritz Muller stated today.

This decision followed Attorney General Harry S. Bowman's opinion that the sum could be turned over and made available for immediate use by the common schools and state institutions, the beneficiaries from the lands on which the leases were granted. He gave this opinion at the request of the land office.

Bowman said the money was for the most part already earned because the greater part came from first year's rentals and the lessees already had received all the advantages they could expect even should the supreme court hold the leases invalid in that they had possession of the lands or drilling for the period covered by the rentals.

The attorney general added, in his opinion, the money not "earned" but held up pending the supreme court's decision also should be turned over.

GOVERNOR SHOULD'N'T RISK HIS LIFE JOY RIDING IN AIRPLANE

(By The Associated Press.)

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 27.—Protest against Governor Parker taking airplane rides was made today by State Representative Dupre.

SCHOOL GIRLS WEAR 'EM ROLLED DOWN IN N. Y.; ALSO BOB HAIR

New York, Sept. 27.—Evidence that bobbed hair and rolled down stockings were reaching the epidemic stage was seen today with the opening of several more exclusive New York schools for girls. Statisticians estimate that in one fashionable Brooklyn school the number of girls with the short and the rolled downs with the rolled ups.

While not daring actually to dock their locks a Greenwich village, several young teachers were found simulating the fashion of New York's Latin quarter by puffing the hair over the ears and rolling it under all around the head.

2 PERISH WHEN NAVY SUBMARINE GOES TO BOTTOM

Sinking Occurs in San Pedro Harbor; Divers Expect to Have the Vessel Raised By Today.

(By The Associated Press.)

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 27.—Opening of an inner torpedo door while the outboard shutter was opened and failure of an interlocking device to operate caused the sinking last night of the navy submarine R-6, with loss of two lives in San Pedro harbor. It was officially announced at fleet headquarters today.

J. E. Dreffelt of San Pedro, was drowned when thrown from the conning tower of the sinking submarine and Frank O. Spaulding of Powers Lake, N. D., was trapped in the engulfed craft. Both were members of the R-6 crew.

Admiral E. W. Eberle, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, will return aboard the U. S. S. New Mexico tomorrow from San Diego and inaugurate a court inquiry into the accident.

The sinking occurred while the R-6 was moored with eight other submarines to the mother ship Camden. That the sinking was caused by the opening of the conning tower's outboard shutter through opened vents and the conning tower, also open due to the excessive warmth here last night, was the opinion expressed by Rear Admiral H. O. Stickle, commander of the Pacific fleet train. He witnessed it from the deck of his flagship the Cruiser Frederick, moored nearby.

Diving crews worked today on the R-6 and expect to have it raised by tomorrow. Its conning tower is six feet under water.

RANCHMEN BELIEVE THEY HAVE LOCATED A BURIED TREASURE

(By The Associated Press.)

Denver, Sept. 27.—William Barker and Charlie "Puma" Lee, ranchmen near Lake City, Colo., believe they have located an enormous treasure of gold and silver deposited in a shaft in Treasura Peak in the San Juan range by a band of Spaniards and Frenchmen several hundred years ago, according to an interview with them in today's Denver Post.

"At the bottom of the mine shaft we found a tablet giving a complete description of the location of the treasure," Lee is quoted as saying. "Because of the rock slides the men estimated the treasure to be 200 or more feet beneath the original location. According to the tablet the treasure is in Spanish and says that three tunnels and two walls must be pierced before the treasure is found. The description tells the distance of each tunnel and the thickness of the walls. The table, according to the interview, says there are 3,516 bars, but does not say whether they are gold or silver. The size of the bars also is given."

"We have pierced one of the tunnels," the interview quotes the men saying, but found no traces of the treasure.

The men will start excavation at once, the story says and quotes them as saying they expect it to take two months to reach the spot where the treasure is supposed to be buried.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—Final decision on whether striking coal miners in Kansas should be ordered back to work was delayed until tomorrow when the convention of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned late today with little more than three-fourths of the vote complete. The incomplete vote, however, favored the order for return to work by a majority of 230 (unofficial).

SUPPORTERS AND ENEMIES OF TAFT BILL READY FOR BITTER CLASHES

More Important Provisions of the Measure Reported By Senate Finance Committee Will Be Attacked.

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Tax revision legislation was put under way today in the senate with indications of a bitter fight to come over the more important provisions of the measure reported by the finance committee.

Notice was given by Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking minority member of the committee, that "sweeping and radical amendments" would be offered by the democrats and he added that if the sponsor of the measure, amendments, serious consideration would be given such a sale tax as a part of the democratic scheme, provided such a levy should prove necessary to raise the needed revenue.

Both Sides Object

Objections to specific sections came from the republicans, as well as the democratic side and Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, republican, proposed amendments to the income surtax, provision under which existing rates would be continued up to 50 per cent on incomes exceeding $100,000, with an alternate proposal of a 30 per cent levy on incomes from $100,000 to $300,000, and a 60 per cent rate on those above $300,000.

By taking the bill up under an agreement to accept uncontested committee amendments to the original house measure, the senate made progress on proposed changes to some administrative features. None of the levy provisions was passed upon, however, objecting to the bill.

Democratic Amendments

Amendments to be offered by the democrats, Senator Simmons said, would be designed to "produce something like uniformity of taxation between the defendant classes and groups of tax payers, and will remedy some of the class discriminations which creek throughout the bill."

There was some discussion today of a tax on the undivided profits of corporations so as to avoid payment of revenue to the state and the senate would tend to prevent this. Utah, said he hoped no effort would be made to pass a law which would force corporations to contribute their profits as dividends.

Previous provisions of the bill would force corporations to pay taxes on their undivided profits as dividends. Senator Simmons said he did not believe the senate would pass a law that would prevent corporations from avoiding the payment of taxes. Senator Smoot said he did not believe the senate would pass a law that would prevent corporations from avoiding the payment of taxes.

Important provisions of the bill passed over today for future consideration included those reducing the surtax rate on top corporations increasing the income tax on corporations from ten to 15 per cent; taxing life insurance companies; granting additional exemptions to heads of families having incomes of $5,000 or over; and on account of dependents; defining foreign trade corporations; exempting from the corporation tax labor, agricultural or horticultural organizations; mutual savings banks not having a capital stock represented by shares, domestic building loan associations "substantially all the business of which is confined to making loans to members," and the section striking out the house proposal making the salaries of

RESERVE UNITS TO BE CREATED FOR U. S. ARMY

Plans Are Made Which Will Permit Quick Mobilization for More Than 4 Million Fighting Men.

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Comprehensive plans for creation of the organized reserve of the army on a basis to permit quick mobilization of more than four million fighting men have been prepared by the general staff. An outline of the preliminary steps was made public today.

The scheme, which was developed under authority of congress, contemplates virtually no expenditures in its present stages, yet in the opinion of Major General Harbord, acting chief of staff, would furnish a framework for mobilization of the nation in a matter of weeks. Twenty-seven infantry divisions, twenty-seven infantry divisions of the reserve are provided for, numbering from the 76th to the 102nd, preserving both in number and the geographical location where each originated, the sixteen national army divisions. The same territorial distribution as to armies and army corps areas is followed as in the regular army organization and the structure of the national guard. The result will be to establish the three armies of the national land defense forces on an identical basis with control decentralized from Washington for all three into the hands of the corps area commanders.

The first step perfecting the organization will be to assign from the present officers' reserve corps to the twenty-seven reserve divisions, the full war strength complement of officers, in all more than 46,000. It is expected this can be completed by July when creation of the non-commissioned enlisted personnel, involving the selection of many thousands of men and their assignments to regiments, will be undertaken.

Impetus to Training Camps. It was pointed out that the organized reserve can be employed only by specific act of congress. At present there is no thought that the divisions ever will be called out except in a national emergency and the plans were prepared only to prevent delays and huge emergency expenditures in mobilization. The active military force remains the skeletonized regular army backed by the national guard, subject to constitutional limitations as to its employment as the second line of defense and with the organized reserve as the third and ultimate line.

Officers believe it will give added impetus to the civilian training corps in schools and colleges to have a definite place for assignment for graduates in the skeleton reserve divisions.

NATURE OF CHARGE AGAINST ARBUCKLE TO BE DECIDED TODAY

one which Miss Rappe entered with Arbuckle and a woman's voice crying "No, no, oh my God." "Shut up," followed a masculine voice, according to Mrs. Keza, who said she heard "Screaming all afternoon in room 1219 and music, dancing and doors slamming," in room 1220, where the party was assembled.

"Why did you listen in the corridor?" asked Dominguez.

"When I heard the scream, I listened," she replied.

Arbuckle Wore Pajamas. Alice Blake told of finding Arbuckle and Lowell Sherman in bath robes and slippers, Arbuckle wearing also pajamas and Sherman athletic underwear. Later on, she said, Mrs. Delmont changed her street clothing for man's pajamas. She corroborated the testimony of Zeh Prevost that Mrs. Delmont had knocked and kicked at the door of Room 1219 and asked to be let in. Miss Blake, however, said she did not see the first entrance made into that room, testifying that after an interval while she was in Room 1221 she walked into 1219 and found Miss Rappe lying on a bed undisturbed.

Although Miss Prevost was unable to recollect a remark which Assistant District Attorney Milton U'Ren said he understood Mrs. Delmont made to Arbuckle about the case, Miss Blake said she remembered Mrs. Delmont had said something about Arbuckle always taking everything as a joke.

Miss Blake hesitated to describe Arbuckle's acts in regard to the case and took advantage of the court's suggestion that she could whisper it to the shorthand reporter.

Miss Prevost said the only time she saw any ice was when she observed it in a bowl in Room 1220, again when Arbuckle brought in a piece to administer to Miss Rappe, and when some one put a bag of it at the back of Miss Rappe's neck.

She testified that she saw Miss Rappe take only one drink, but that when Miss Rappe entered the room into which Arbuckle followed her she "sort of skipped along." Miss Prevost described Mrs. Delmont's condition at the party as "drunk."

SOCIALLY UNFIT ARE BEING PUT IN QUARANTINE

County Health Department Has Been Staging Quiet Campaign to Check Spread of Social Diseases.

(By The Associated Press.)

"Albuquerque is not to become a haven for those of other cities and countries who are infected with contagious social diseases." This statement was made by Dr. J. P. Docherty, county health official, in a speech at the city hall. Although but little has been said regarding the quiet campaign which was started by the health and police departments to carry out this assertion, a considerable headway has been made during the past few months. Railway tickets back to their home towns or countries for the itinerant and quarantined for the resident socially unfit is gradually cleaning the city of this undesirable element which threatens life, happiness and the future generation.

In its effort to stop the alarming spread of social disease through the city and state, the county health department has had the close cooperation of the police department, the justice department and the local physicians. Clinics have been established and examinations are daily made of the social health of all persons arrested on the so-called disorderly charges.

The new state law provides for such examinations and for quarantine in cases where infection is found. All persons arrested on immoral or disorderly charges are subject to examination at the request of the health department. Careful tests are made in the clinics and in cases where disease is found, the patient is treated in the jail during the term of sentence, in case any was imposed for the offense for which the arrest was made. If there is no prison sentence, the patient is quarantined and not allowed to leave the house or room until treatment has been completed and the health official is satisfied.

Many notorious women are now at home quarantined or are in jail being given treatment. In some cases, women have been sent back to their homes in Mexico. This is true of one male case. A large number have been sent back to their home cities and towns throughout the country. Where the patient is of a notorious character, the police are notified of the arrival and that city continues the quarantine.

"I regard this work as one of the most important branches of the health department service," Dr. Docherty stated last night. "And while disease of this nature cannot be entirely stopped in its spread, the quarantine of persons so affected and who are of the notorious class, will go a long way toward checking the appalling conditions of the majority of cases which can be traced back to this class of society."

OBREGON IS ASKED TO RETURN CHURCH LANDS

(By The Associated Press.)

Mexico City, Sept. 27.—A petition to President Obregon, requesting him to return church lands appropriated by former governments was presented to the president today by more than a hundred clergymen of the state of Jalisco.

The clergymen also asked the president to use his influence to secure the amendment of part of the constitution which they allege is discriminatory against Catholics.

Mr. Wilson will be 65 years old next December and has passed through an ordeal which few men survive. His normal weight in health while he was president was 180 pounds. He shows little departure from that figure. His eyesight is as good, although he has discarded his favorite nose-glasses for spectacles. His hair has turned snow white. His appetite is too robust to please his physicians. Last March when he left the White House with President-elect Harding, an attendant had to place his feet on each succeeding step from the porch. The other day he sent his attendant away and climbed alone, not without some effort, into his automobile, just to see if he could do it.

Mr. Wilson is far from a well man; he was far from a well man when he entered the White House over eight years ago. But during the last two years there have been times when his voice was inaudible and when he could not support himself alone. His condition today shows more improvement than his

IMPROVEMENT IS REPORTED IN MR. WILSON'S HEALTH

Former President Not Well, But Is Recovering From His Attack of Sickness of Two Years Ago.

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—By the Associated Press. Woodrow Wilson felt a sick man two years ago yesterday. Since then he has passed under the shadow of death and out of the White House.

Thousands of Americans recalled the anniversary of the beginning of the former president's illness and wondered what he was doing. Besides following the ways of a retired man with a lively interest in the world's affairs, Mr. Wilson lives by the eight-hour day. He aims to have eight hours for sleep, eight hours for work and eight hours for relaxation, and keeps to the schedule pretty fairly.

Seven a. m. is about his rising time. He shaves and bathes and then takes some calisthenic exercises prescribed as beneficial in restoring the use of nerves and muscles impaired during his breakdown. He has breakfast in Mrs. Wilson's boudoir and finds that two years of illness and slow convalescence has not affected his appetite. The morning papers never are neglected, and Mr. Wilson reads them thoroughly.

The morning's work. Then comes the morning's work. The mail carrier, six days a week delivers quite a packet of letters. Old friends write informal friendly notes or discourse on politics. Schools and colleges ask donations; individuals for personal financial assistance. Others discourse on the shortcomings, as they see them, of the republican party. Autograph hunters are numerous. Various men who think their ailments are the same as Mr. Wilson's want to know the names of his physicians.

Mrs. Wilson invariably goes over the morning's mail with her husband, some letters are turned over to a secretary for reply, most of them the former president answers, dictating to a stenographer.

The morning's work is done in the library. The old desk and chair and table Mr. Wilson used in his study at Princeton are there, along with thousands of volumes. Near one window a bag of golf sticks, a reminder of a better day.

Nap of An Hour.

The former president and his inseparable companion have their luncheon served in the dining room. Then comes a nap of an hour and then, unless the weather is most inclement, a motor drive. "Mr. Wilson, while president, became attached to a certain automobile. It went back, as is the custom each year, to the manufacturer from whom Mr. Wilson bought it as a "used car." He had it painted black, with orange trimmings—Princeton colors—and in this car he goes driving into the country. He rather enjoys driving over the same ground at about the same time. Many folks look for him; one quaint old lady recently held up the car and presented a sweater which she had knitted; a little girl gave him a knitted laprobe. Frequently the car stops at a farm and takes on fresh vegetables, eggs and food. The party is always home before dark.

Dinner is informal, sometimes there are guests, always old friends or associates. Mr. Wilson no longer dresses for the occasion as he did while president. No meal ever proceeds until grace is said. Mr. Wilson has always said it himself and still does.

Friends remember him ever at meals. Frequently a Potomac river fisherman sends him a rare specimen from his catch. Once, another friend sent him ducks out of season and paid the game warden a penalty.

After dinner he goes in for reading or amusement. Once a week he has a motion picture show of his own, or occasionally he goes to a vaudeville show. It rarely happens that somebody fails to discover the visitors and a demonstration of handclapping ensues.

Evenings at home are spent in the family circle. The former president and Mrs. Wilson read a book together, or perhaps Mrs. Wilson reads aloud.

Go to Bed Early.

Sometimes it is a detective story he takes to bed early, not to sleep, however, but to read and write. Like Mark Twain, he does much reading and writing in bed. Propped up by pillows, and with a little writing board across his knees, he reads and makes notes in shorthand. Nobody knows what they are about. He puts them carefully away. They are not notes for a book which many expect. Unless Mr. Wilson changes his mind he will write no reply to Robert Lansing or any one who has criticized his policies. A writer, who has been given access to Mr. Wilson's papers, of which there are almost a ton, is writing a book, but it will be his own not Mr. Wilson's.

However the evening may be spent, however tired he may be, there is one thing the former president never neglects. It is the reading of a few verses of the Bible which always rests on the reading table at his bedside.

Hair Is Snow White. Mr. Wilson will be 65 years old next December and has passed through an ordeal which few men survive. His normal weight in health while he was president was 180 pounds. He shows little departure from that figure. His eyesight is as good, although he has discarded his favorite nose-glasses for spectacles. His hair has turned snow white. SAVAGE TIRES

HISTORY OF THE RED MAN SERIES

THE ONE-WAY TRAIL

BY "INDIAN" MILLER

There is an old Indian trail that leads up and down, up and down, that they call the old Apache trail. Many Indians traveled that trail, and it was the cause of many wars; and the white bones that lay along it were pleasing to the eye of the buzzard.

Proud warriors of different tribes would meet on that trail; and neither party would step aside for the other to pass. There was no courtesy in their intercourse.

One would shout, "Get off the trail, dog of the desert!" and in a moment there would be a deadly fight. The vanquished would feed the buzzards, leaving bleached bones upon the trail. So white became the most pleasing color to the eye of the buzzard.

Then the wise men of various tribes held a powwow and made a treaty. By its terms the trail could only be traveled in one direction, so that all went in the same way on it and all meetings were thereby avoided. That is the way the wise men cheated the buzzards, which are deceived to this day by the white rocks along the trail.

The white men have now built a road on parts of the old Apache trail; and they have built it on the wisdom of the wise men of the Indians, for it is merely two trails side by side, leading in opposite directions, and each is a trail of one way. They always travel on the side next to the right hand.

There are no more wars on the trails; but the trails still hold the challenge. It is not a challenge to the foot or to the hoof—it is a challenge to the tire, and the weakest is left to the buzzard. The best alone can answer the challenge, and prominent among them is the Savage Cord. On the rocky trails of the mountains; on the smooth pavements of the cities; on the heated roads of the sandy desert; over the mud and stones of the land of forests; and over the broad highways of the plains, has this wonderful tire been tried and not found wanting. It is Built to Excel.

CITY OFFICIALS TO FIGHT PHONE RATE INCREASES

Albuquerque to Be Well Represented at Commission Hearing Starting in Santa Fe This Morning.

Albuquerque will be well represented at the telephone rate hearing which the state corporation commission will hold at Santa Fe starting at 10 o'clock this morning. City Manager James Gladding, City Attorney William Kleber, the city commissioners and G. J. Burns, telephone rate expert from Los Angeles, will represent the official city at the hearing.

Representatives from the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies will be present and a large number of citizens who are interested in the outcome of the hearing will attend and may be called upon to testify during the course of the proceedings.

Some time ago the Mountain States Telephone company, which serves Albuquerque and the greater part of New Mexico, gave notice of a series of increases which would take effect in the rate schedule on September 1. The city commissioners asked the corporation commission to hold a hearing on the question for the purpose of determining if the proposed increase was justifiable. The hearing was set for today, but in the meantime, the telephone company put the increased rates into effect on September 1 as stated in their notice.

Albuquerque commissioners have secured the services of G. J. Burns, of Los Angeles, one of the recognized telephone rate experts of the country who will assist City Attorney William Kleber and City Manager James Gladding in presenting Albuquerque's protest against the increase and in securing data regarding the telephone business and profits in New Mexico.

UNIVERSITY WEEKLY AND ANNUAL TO HAVE PUBLICATION OFFICE

Upon a petition from the staff of the U. N. Weekly, a students' publication office, from which the U. N. Weekly and the Mirror, the college annual, will be published in the future, was granted by the board of regents of the state university upon the recommendation of Dr. David S. Hill, at a meeting of the board held yesterday afternoon.

The building which was granted for the use of the Weekly and Mirror staffs, is one of the dormitory cottages situated to the south of the main dormitory. It contains two rooms, one of which will be used as the publication office, and the other will probably be used for the printing of small university notices.

A set of rules for the conduct of the office, including the opening and closing hours, was approved by the board.

ENROLLMENT AT 'U' PASSES ALL FORMER RECORD

Registrations at the state university are still coming in to the registrar in large numbers although it is now two weeks since registration opened. More than 250 students of college standing had been registered up to yesterday noon, which is larger than the number for any former year.

Although the enrollment list is expected to increase for at least a month more, Dr. David S. Hill and the registrar are not greatly encouraging the registration of students who have had no college work, due to the difficulty which most such students would experience in covering the work which the classes have already passed.

One of the particularly hopeful signs connected with the registration this fall is the fact that the dormitory reservations have been much heavier than in former years, and the demand for them which began early in the summer has continued to the present time. Dr. Hill has prepared a chart indicating graphically the increase in advanced dormitory reservations, which shows that while last year the first paid-in-advance reservation was received late in July, the first reservation this year was paid for in May.

The enrollment of students from outside the state has been very large this year, although students who are not residents of the state are required to pay almost triple the amount of fees.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR N. M. E. A. MEETING HERE

Educators to Confer on Program for November Session; Woman Speaker Engaged Already.

Arrangements for the annual meeting of the New Mexico Educational association which will be held in Albuquerque on November 21, 22 and 23, are being made by the officers of the association. A conference, to be attended by J. M. Bickley of Clovis, president of the state association; State Superintendent of Public Instruction John V. Conway of Santa Fe, and John Milne, secretary of the association, has been called for Saturday here to discuss the program for the meeting.

One speaker, Miss Charlie Williams of Memphis, Tenn., considered one of the foremost women educators of the south, has already been engaged to come to New Mexico for the N. M. E. A. session. She is a county school superintendent of Tennessee who was elected president of the National Educational association. She is a practical educator who will have an important message for the teachers of New Mexico. The association considers it a great good fortune to have scheduled her on its program.

The annual convention of the N. M. E. A. will be attended as usual by practically every school teacher and principal in New Mexico. The convention will offer programs of general interest to educators and department of special phases of school work. These will be held each morning of the convention in the several rooms of the high school building. Many other prominent educators will be on the convention program, it is expected.

BISHOP MEAD IS SPEAKER AT NEW HARWOOD SCHOOL

Says Mission of Institution Is to Send Out Educated Youths Who Will Help Advance Own People.

Thursday and Friday and will "Who knows but that the man who will lead Mexico into the United States into Christian fellowship is sitting here among these Spanish-speaking students today—those who," said Bishop M. E. Mead, of Denver, in his dedication address at Albuquerque college yesterday afternoon.

The Methodist church had just completed and was putting into service its new $50,000 administration and gymnasium building at the college. The bishop's address was the climax of an afternoon's program presided over by Dr. H. A. Bassett, president of the institution. Congregational singing interspersed with short addresses by Dr. Alonzo S. Bright, district superintendent; Rev. Frank W. McGuire, the new pastor of the First M. E. church; and D. A. Porterfield, secretary of the board of trustees, preceded the address of Bishop Mead.

A song by Mrs. Earle E. Nichols, wife of the bishop, added to the beauty of the program, which was an especially pleasing feature of the program.

Bishop Mead dwelt upon the impossibility of mixed civilizations in America and insisted that the means must be provided to educate and Americanize the Spanish-speaking peoples of New Mexico.

To send out an educated and cultured personality, knowing how to meet and handle the forces of life, is the mission of this school," said the bishop. "To do this and to send them back to help in leading their own people upward is our purpose," added the speaker.

"But intellectually must have a corresponding basis of morality, if our civilization is to continue," said the bishop. "Christian education provides the means," he continued.

Some two hundred friends from the city joined the student body to celebrate this important occasion.

Albuquerque college starts the year with the largest enrollment in its history.

UNIVERSITY TO TAKE LEGAL STEPS TO KEEP CATTLE OFF CAMPUS

At a meeting of the board of regents of the state university held yesterday afternoon, plans were made to stop the invasion of the campus by cattle from the neighboring ranches were planned.

During the past summer H. V. Frank, the caretaker of the campus, has expended a great deal of time in beautifying the campus by the cultivation of shrubs, but of late the nearby ranchers have been allowing their cattle to escape onto the campus, with the result that many of the shrubs have been destroyed and the grounds trampled.

Requests to the ranchers that the cattle be kept away from the university have had no effect, and it was decided yesterday afternoon to take legal steps before the beauty of the campus was destroyed.

RELIEF FOR JOBLESS IS URGED BY ASHURST

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 27.—Declaring that unemployment is the gravest danger ahead of the United States at present, Senator Ashurst of Arizona, in an address here tonight, appealed to business and civic organizations to help the government toward a solution.

"The country does not owe every man a living, but it does owe every man a chance to earn a living," he said, and urged that every business man and organization extend itself to absorb the number of idle, in a measure, at least.

"While the situation is serious, I feel we shall progress and overcome it. I believe we have no reason to be downcast. We passed through greater emergencies."

Reports of a car shortage in the United States were branded by the senator as a hoax.

PHILOSOPHERS OF ROAD VISIT HERE ROLLING STONES AFTER TRUE POLISH SEEK TO KNOW LIFE AT FIRST HAND

Jo Felshin, poet and artist, and S. Tracy Greene, philosophical writer, are among the guests of Albuquerque. You will not find their names on hotel registers, for they are following "the open road." The wind is their fellow; the sky is their tent.

Felshin is the author of a poem in the Pictorial Review of August of this year. His work has appeared in the Bookman, Forum and Contemporary Verse. He is a member of the Kappa Nu fraternity and is a graduate of Columbia university. Greene hails from Maryland state university and the pair are "seeing America first on foot." They have traveled through the continent divide. They were at Santa Fe a few days ago and just before that visited Trinidad. In their memory book, given them by

BARONESS AND SON LEAVE FOR GERMANY SOON

The Baroness Victoria Wolff von Todenwath and her son, Erwin, who were arrested here over a month ago for entering the country without proper passports, will leave on Sunday on the first trip of the journey to their fatherland. They will be accompanied as far as El Paso by Immigration Inspector Harn, who arrested them here on August 22.

The Baroness and her son have received many attentions during their detention here in the county jail. A number of influential Germans of the city became interested in their case and furnished them with clothing and other articles they needed badly. Many sympathetic persons have called upon the two in their quarters at the county jail.

A. H. S. WORKS HARD AT GRID PRACTICE; MENAUL CONFIDENT

A heavy scrimmage was held yesterday afternoon by the A. H. S. gridmen. They are working hard to get in shape for Saturday when the high school green-and-white clash with the red-and-black of Menaul. The latter is coming with a strong team which has defeated the high school in the return of Candelaria, their star quarterback of last year. This raises their total of last year's men to five, and forms a much heavier squad. An A. H. S. alumnus reports that seeing Menaul scrimmage, after they have a good ground-gaining machine, and are in fine shape for the gridiron battle.

Menaul has defeated the high school in the season's first game for the past four years, and it remains to be seen whether they can do this year.

The line is doing fine work on the offensive, but the whole squad is weak at the defense. The backfield is the great worry of the coach at present but he hopes to have it in fair shape by Saturday. The passing is poor, and much time is being devoted to kicking. William Bacon, a member of the high school team of 1917, is being trained in rounding the squad into shape.

Joe Benjamin suffered a broken nose in the scrimmage yesterday evening, but played through the practice without letting it be known.

The lineup for Saturday's game will be definitely announced Friday, at which time the season's schedule will be completed. Winslow, Arizona, will very probably be left off the schedule this year.

INSURANCE RISKS ON AUTOMOBILES REDUCED

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Sept. 27.—Insurance risks on automobiles were cut 50 per cent in most cases today at the annual meeting of the national automobile underwriters' conference. While last year's policies would be continued, it was explained, underwriters were being given caution in issuing policies.

Policies issued a year ago were described by several speakers as a "potential moral hazard."

An unscrupulous owner could risk the loss of his car under last year's policy, it was said, knowing he could recover more than the present sale price for it on his policy.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A prominent physician says that by far the largest number of women's ailments are not surgical ones, that they are not caused by serious displacements, or growths, or tumors, or anything of that kind, but are often brought about by much simpler conditions. We therefore urge every woman who suffers from backache, headaches, bearing down pains, side ache, irregularities, nervous dependency, or weakness to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It acts as a natural restorative and often prevents more serious troubles.

BOY! PAGE GANO-HE'S WANTED BY THE CANVASSERS

The latest official canvass of the Bernalillo county vote at the special election brings out some differences from the former official canvass made by the county commissioners and is slightly different from the "Herald" compilation worked out yesterday afternoon, early.

Though figures don't lie—and although Max Gladwin, acting chairman of the county board of canvassers, in the absence of Chairman Simms during the canvass which was started Saturday morning, pointed out at a time that the "Herald" had gone on to the adding machine, they had to come out right, a different result seems to be obtainable with each trip through the mechanical cage.

While the latest official report came hot off the adding machine last night, several hours later the "Herald" published its figures after the first official returns of the canvassing board, as a difference of as much as a thousand votes occurs in some of the reporting, the first and latest official report together with the "Herald" figures and allows the reader his choice at the direction of his heart or as will best suit his betting inclination before the election was started.

The Journal declined to publish the first list previously on the ground that they would be misleading.

Gregory has devoted much of his time thus far to "mooting" the university and students. He will spend the rest of the week in filming the city schools, the Kiwanis members at their weekly Wednesday noon meeting, and scenes about the Y. M. C. A.

HIGH SCHOOL PAPER WILL APPEAR TODAY; STAFF IS ANNOUNCED

The first issue of the Albuquerque Record, the high school bi-weekly publication, is to be distributed today at 10:30 o'clock assembly. The paper is enlarged and much improved by the addition of an extra column in width, and a full-page ad to be used on the head, showing the Sandias in the background. Among the stories in the first issue, which will be distributed gratis to each student, are athletic summaries, predictions of the school year, introductory paragraphs presenting the new faculty members, and editorials on the policies and aims of the paper.

The staff of the Record is composed of nine seniors, six juniors, four sophomores and two freshmen. The relative positions of importance on the editorial board have not been definitely assigned, but will depend solely on the respective merit of contributors. The only permanent appointments of positions on the paper are the designation of P. G. Horgan as editor-in-chief, and Raymond Holloway as business manager. It is very probably that Dana Todd will fill the berth of athletic editor.

The other members of the staff are: Charles L. Lapp, Helen Kimball, Joseph Benjamin, Charles Deering, Helen Grunstein, May Lynch, Helen Snyder, Vivian Gibson, Carl Marcus, Lorn Mozely, Vida Cooper, Laura Whitney, Bob Hughes, Sarah Ferral, Elizabeth Fee, Helen Fox and Carl Bass. The faculty advisors on the board are Miss Madeline Hardy and Mr. John D. Burton. The paper is published by the high school printing classes.

SHOCKER PITCHES THE BROWNS TO A 2 TO 0 VICTORY OVER THE YANKIES

NEW YORK GETS SETBACK IN ITS RACE FOR FLAG

Yanks Are Held to Five Hits and Are Blasted; Philadelphia and Boston Divide a Double Bill.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Sept. 27.—The New York Americans were given a setback when Shocker, former New York hurler, shut them out, St. Louis winning. It was the fifth game Shocker has won from New York this season in nine contests. He held New York to five hits. Until the ninth no Yankee batter reached second. Harper pitched well after the first, when St. Louis' home run followed Elberbe's triple and accounted for St. Louis' two runs. Score:

BASEBALL WORLD TO HONOR MATHEWSON

Three glimpses of "Big Six," as a youth, before fame came, as the world knew him while shining with the Giants a decade ago, and as he looked in soldier hat during his war service abroad.

Christy Mathewson, greatest pitcher of all, the man who helped write the most brilliant pages in baseball history, is to be honored at a testimonial game at the New York Polo grounds September 30. Stars of yesterday and today will play—the proceeds to go to Matty, now fighting the dreaded tuberculosis. Rich patrons are buying boxes at $1,000 each. Poor fans, worshipping Matty, are buying seats at their limit.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE OF AGGIES FOR 1921 IS NEARLY COMPLETED

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.) State College, N. M., Sept. 27.—The schedule of the football season of the New Mexico Aggies has nearly been completed and at present stands:

October 1—Open date.
October 8—First field artillery, Fort Bliss, Texas, at State College.

October 15—New Mexico state school of mines, at Socorro.
October 21—New Mexico military institute, Roswell, at State College.

October 29—Open date.
November 5—University of Arizona, Tucson, at State College.
November 12—Texas school of mines, El Paso, at State College.

November 19—Open date.
November 24—(Thanksgiving day), University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, at Albuquerque.

This year gives the "Aggies" one of the best-looking seasons ever, and the team should be unusually strong. The big championship games will be played at State College this year and the coach, the board of regents and the president along with the citizens of Las Cruces and the Las Cruces chamber of commerce are all backing the team.

The first team has not yet been picked, but in all there are forty-one candidates.

CADET ELEVEN IS BEING SPEEDILY PUT INTO SHAPE

Line for Institute Will Average 170 Pounds; Back Field Presents Quartet of Lightning Backs.

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.) Roswell, N. M., Sept. 27.—In spite of the loss of Jay McQuatters, last year's fullback and captain, the New Mexico military institute is lining up with what promises to be one of the strongest teams ever put out by the school. In fact, the cadets are confident that the machine which Coach Flickenger is developing will make a very powerful bid for first honors in the southwest.

Coach Flickenger faces this year a heavy schedule with a large squad including eight letter men and a number of high school stars that are fighting hard for places. Jacobson, a ten-second man, and half-back of the 1919 team, has been chosen captain to take the place of McQuatters. Jacobson is a tricky open-field runner and an aggressive line-plunger. In the backfield he will have with him Godfrey, who was chosen by some authorities as the best player for the all-southwestern, and should be much better this year, and Hinkle, a very dependable ground-gainer and a steady defensive player. On occasion, Skipwith, star of a few seasons ago and now playing in the line, can be used as full or half; in scrimmage, he has consistently torn up the heavy scrub forwards.

The institute line will average about 170 pounds. Unit, a giant, is being groomed for the pivot position. On the port side, he will have the dogged Lackey, and Jess Corn, a fighter used last fall in the backfield in critical moments. At right guard he will have Blake, all-southwestern choice of 1919, and Postham, of Clovis fame, kept out last year by low grades. The most likely candidates for the end berths are Skipwith, or Harrison, from Texas, or Stratton, one of last year's substitutes. It is possible, however, that Jacobson will experiment a bit with this line-up, as he has such men as Boone and Bell, of last year's squad, for the line, and Boyer and Barnett for the back positions.

At quarter, Wilfley, who was used toward the end of the 1920 season, may start with the first game. He is not brilliant, but he is very steady and runs the team with intelligence, and should profit by the aggressive counsel of Captain Jacobson. Hinkle could be shifted, however, if it is advisable.

The team is in good early-season form. The combination of fast backfield at heavy line looks good to institute fans. The present line-up of the team follows:

Stratton, R. E.; Eastham, R. T.; Blake, R. G.; Unil, C.; Lackey, J. G.; Corn, L. T.; Harrison, L. H.; Hinkle, Q. B.; Jacobson, R. H. B.; Skipwith, L. H. B.; Godfrey, F. B.

THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

The struggle between those who are entrenched in power and therefore against any agitation which might lead to change, and those newspapers whose criticisms might arouse the public to force improved conditions and better government, has gone on ever since the invention of the printing press. In the beginning newspaper publishing was licensed by the crown. If an objectionable utterance was indulged in by the newspaper, the license was withdrawn and the newspaper suppressed. From that date until now the struggle has gone on. The libel laws have been the instrument of intimidation and repression. Gradually public sentiment has forced a relaxation of the rigors of these laws. The people have realized that great freedom of criticism of existing conditions is the only avenue of correction. Liberty has come only through agitation against oppression and the education of the people on public questions. When publicity is strangled, the people suffer.

It always has been realized that the public must be protected against the wanton and unnecessary abuse of individuals by the newspaper. This sentiment has been the thing appealed to by those who would protect themselves against merited criticism. They have filled the people with fear that too great relaxation of the libel laws may subject innocent citizens to newspaper abuse. However, the law always is lagged and has trailed far behind public sentiment on this vital question. The constitution of the United States gave guarantees of the freedom of the press. State constitutions have followed suit. Theoretically the press is free. It is liable, however, for the abuse of that freedom. It is at this point that the law is invoked. The man who professes to feel that freedom of speech has been abused in his case, is at liberty to bring a civil suit or a series of civil suits to punish the offender in damages.

Here is where the door is opened to intimidate newspapers. Most publishers are in modest financial circumstances. Newspapers are not gold mines. The man of means who professes himself injured, can use his money to oppress the publisher. The damages which may be collected at the end of the action are not the menace. The tremendous expense of defense to which he may be subjected can ruin him although he may win the suit.

Civil action for libel should not be permitted unless there first has been a conviction for criminal libel. The man feeling himself aggrieved should be forced to go to a grand jury. If these jurors feel that he has been libeled, they may return an indictment. When a jury has pronounced the publisher guilty, a civil action to recover damages for the injury done would be in order.

To allow a man or group of men, having the necessary money with which to harass a publisher, to begin irresponsible civil cases and so drive him to silence or out of business by the enormous expense of his defense, is against a sound public policy. Yet, in New Mexico, that can be done. The evils of the libel laws in New Mexico must be corrected. This should be a matter of immediate concern to every newspaper in the state. It should be a matter of concern to every man and woman who realizes that freedom of discussion is a matter of public necessity, if the public is not to be kept in ignorance of what is going on.

The suits of J. M. Reynolds and A. B. McMillen against The Journal as originally filed, charged The Journal and its publisher with specific libelous statements. These charges were met with an answer affirming the truth of the statements made. Such a law suit could have been tried in two days and at comparatively small expense.

Apparently a desire to "go to bat" on the truth of the charges was the thing farthest from the wishes of the plaintiffs. Both are men of great financial means. After due consideration they employed their erstwhile enemies as attorneys and have filed amended complaints. Were these complaints to be answered as they stand and issue joined, neither case could be tried in six weeks of daily sessions of court. The expense would be unbearably heavy. The inference which people are certain to draw from their methods is that they intend to "break us" if possible, in the expense of a defense.

The issue of the freedom of the press in New Mexico is at stake. If these men can accomplish their purpose, no newspaper will dare to criticize the entrenched and the powerful again. The silence which long prevailed in New Mexico will be reimposed and the people will go on suffering from the evils which have oppressed them.

THE MOTOR TRUCK.

There is no longer a monopoly of transport. Road and river have come to compete actively with railway. But the motor was the first to break the monopoly and remains everywhere as the great revolutionary force. Britain is just facing this problem. The railways, emerging from government control, find that during the years just passed motor transport has reached the point where the road vehicle gets the pick of the freight and not a little of the passenger traffic. The yearly loss to the railways through this competition is put at 6,000,000 tons.

Wherein is the advantage? Obviously in the mobility of the motor vehicle. Choosing its traffic, its rates are frequently lower. But, not only in freight rates has it the edge; it can transport goods more quickly, and what is vital to the shipper, with fewer handling charges. Thus, even where the rates are equal or even slightly lower on the railways, the advantages of road-borne freight are so compelling that the operators of motor vehicles have a waiting list and can pick the loads they prefer to haul, leaving the remainder to the railways.

Clearly, each mode of transport is essential. In long haulage and heavy bulk traffic the railway is obviously the agent of advantage; in short hauls the road vehicle is, at its best. If each develops its branch of enterprise both will prosper, and each will act as a check on the other to the advantage of the public.

That the railways will make a determined effort to meet road transport goes for the saying. They will do this, probably, by cheaper rates, by economy in operation, by reduction in terminal delays, and by improvement in handling methods at the depots. In this way they will induce much traffic to return to their lines. Meantime the road vehicles also will be developing, for it is absurd to think that they have reached their maximum of efficiency.

The overloaded motor truck always will be the object of repression on the highways, but the motor truck in itself, is indispensable to industry. Thus there is room for both forms of transport; co-ordinated, much that is un-economic in the present systems will be removed.

LESS HASTE IN MARRIAGE.

Connecticut has been a state that catered especially to couples seeking marriage. It has had the reputation of being one place whither the lovers could flee and have the knot tied almost without appreciable checking of the speed of the car. It was a place, too, where they were not even curious whether there were previous marriages undissolved. If the man had the price and the girl, he need not mention that he had another wife at home. For illustration read the Andrews-Tatnall case. This reputation brought much business to the persons and justices of the state. It was a source of easy money.

However, the legislators appear to have concluded that if less haste were manifest in getting married the knot might be tied tighter and hold longer. At least they have passed a law requiring that five days elapse between the application for a license and the issuing of the same. This, doubtless, is intended to give those contemplating matrimony time to reflect. It will have the effect, necessarily, of preventing a couple from falling in love, proposal and acceptance, and getting married all in one afternoon. It means at least some deliberation, a longer wait than is often the case. Previously the loophole permitting one man to have two wives without being guilty of bigamy had been partially closed.

These regulations should tend to make marriage in Connecticut a bit more important than inviting a girl to have an ice cream soda. It may rob some persons and justices of business and may present a discouraging outlook to some lawyers who specialize in divorce cases; otherwise it should have a good effect. Marriage is not a summer afternoon's picnic but a serious matter. If it is not entered into seriously it is likely to be more serious.

It is pretty hard to imagine that we are living in a dry era in view of some of the scenarios.

VERSE OF TODAY

THE HUNTER.

You asked me what I did
In peaked New Mexico,
Where lives the most wild beauty,
To which a man may go.

And I answer that I pursued
Content that would go in a song
Upon its silvery mountains
So vainly and so long.

That if it were bear or lion
Which I had hunted there
I should not be like Orion,
Fixed hungry in the air.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

SENATOR BURSUM'S VICTORY.

(From the Boston Transcript)
President Harding has good cause to share a sense of satisfaction over the result of New Mexico's special election for United States Senator. The majority by which New Mexico republicans have endorsed the record of their junior senator directly and indirectly the president and his cabinet, is around 7,000. This is 5,000 more than the vote by which Mr. Fall was re-elected to the senate two years ago; it is 4,000 more than the republican governor received last November; and it is within 4,000 of the vote cast at the same time for Harding and Coolidge. The fact that Mr. Fall, who resigned the senatorship to which Mr. Bursum was at first appointed and has now been elected, was opposed to that appointment and found it convenient to absent himself from the state during Senator Bursum's campaign appears to have had little weight against the state-wide popularity of his successor in the senate. Fortunately for President Harding and Senator Bursum the record of the republican house of representatives cut little figure in the New Mexico campaign. Senator Bursum in his automobile visited every county in the state, and in all his speeches he called directly for a referendum upon President Harding's administration and upon his own record in the senate. The deep interest that the New Mexico Senator has taken in legislation for the relief of our disabled veterans, and the fact that it was only out of courtesy to the president that he refrained from voting for the adjusted compensation bill which he personally favored, were not forgotten by the ex-service men in New Mexico; they rallied to the support of Bursum and were among his most effective campaigners.

Coming immediately after the result of the republican congressional primary in the sixth Massachusetts, the special election in New Mexico affords additional and heartening evidence that the men who went to the colors in the great war, have not forgotten their peace-time responsibilities. They are already going into politics and will soon be shaping the fortunes of both the two great political parties—a fact that is very disconcerting to the professional "pol." They can be certain that Senator Bursum is glad they were so active in the New Mexico campaign. Their activity enabled him to make his victory most decisive.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND GREEDY GUMP.

Once upon a time there was a Greedy Gump. A Gump is a funny little boy animal, who always wants to eat everything he sees. There are no Greedy Gump girls for girls are never so hungry as boys.

Now, this Greedy Gump, who was a boy, lived near the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggly, the bunnymaster. And many and many a day Mrs. Gump would toddle over to where Mr. Longears dwelt with Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzie, his muskrat lady housekeeper, and Mrs. Gump would say: "Oh, Uncle Wiggly! Greedy has been at it again! I just baked a big pan of cookies. I set them on the window sill to cool and he ate them all up!"

"Dear me!" said Uncle Wiggly. "I wonder if you could help me do anything to cure Greedy Gump?" asked the mother of the boy animal.

"Well," spoke the bunnymaster slowly, "I'd like to help you, for being greedy is most sad! Let me think a bit, and perhaps, by tomorrow or next day, I may have a plan for making Greedy better." "I hope so," said Mrs. Gump. Uncle Wiggly went walking in the woods, trying to think of some way for curing Greedy Gump.

"If I could give him a scare such as the Woods Wolf or Fuzzy Fox sometimes gives me, he might be a good way," thought the bunnymaster.

Just then he saw some little hopped boys playing on a green mossy place in the forest. The little hoppers were tossing round, now and then, some of the delectable "What have you there?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Puff balls," was the answer. "Are they good to eat?" asked Mr. Longears.

"They are if you want to get your mouth full of dry, dusty powder," answered one of the hopped boys. "See, Uncle Wiggly!"

The hopped boy opened a puff ball and it floated a lot of dry, powdery dust that made Uncle Wiggly cough and sneeze.

"Oh, ho!" cried the bunnymaster. "I think I know a way to cure Greedy Gump! Please, give me half a dozen puff balls."

So the hopped boys did, and the bunnymaster took the puffballs home with him. If you have ever been in the woods in autumn you must have seen these puff balls. They are really a sort of plant, and the balls are filled with tiny seeds, so small that they are like dust. Some of the big puff balls will stop of a cut finger from bleeding. But you must not use it yourself—let a doctor do it.

But Uncle Wiggly did not want the brown puff balls to stop any cut fingers from bleeding, nor did he want to burn the dust to smoke bees, as bee-keepers do when they take honey from the hives. Nor did the bunnymaster want to eat the puff balls, though before they get dry and dusty some puff balls are good to eat.

"I will teach Greedy Gump a lesson with these puff balls," said Uncle Wiggly as he hopped home with them. When he reached his bungalow there was Mrs. Gump waiting for him.

"Greedy has done it again!" she sighed. "He ate a whole chocolate cake! What shall I do?"

"Just wait a minute," begged Uncle Wiggly. Going into the kitchen he took a little of Nurse Jane's raspberry looked at what he had eaten—brown dry puff balls with just a little jam on the outside.

"Never again!" said Greedy Gump. Are you? This I'll ask you, mother, when I want something to eat."

"Greedy is cured!" said Uncle Wiggly, when he heard what had happened. And Greedy's name, after that, was changed to "Askie" for he always waited until it was time to eat and then he asked for something.

And now, if the teaspoon doesn't try to sprinkle sugar on the back of the stove to make it feel ticklish, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Little Walie.

Me and Mary Watkins was setting on her front steps, her being even more bewty looking than usual, and some big tuft looking kid started to go past on the other side of the street holding some little kid by the top of the hair and the little kid was yelling, Hay, leave me go, hay cut that out, hay.

O' izent that perfectly dreffil. Penny you dont you go rite over and make that big brute stop herting that little boy? said Mary Watkins, youre not afraid of that big brute, are you?

No, certenly not, holey smoke, I sed, only G' wizz, maybe the little kid likes to have his hair pulled. Maybe he's jest yelling like that for fun, I sed.

Sutch a idee, we axually bleeve youre afraid of that big brute, sed Mary Watkins, and I sed, Who me? I should say not. If you show you whos afraid, I sed.

And I got up and went across the street and sed to the big tuft looking kid, Hay wats you pulling like that for fun, I sed.

Wats? Wats it your bizniss? do you want your pulled? sed the big tuft kid, and I sed, Wats the matter, I only wanted to ask you a question, thats all.

And I went over to Mary Watkins steps agen, saying, Dont waste any more sympathy on that little kid, I was just going to make the big kid stop and the little kid sed, Who told you to butt the kid that funny looking gerl across the street?

WY I never herd anything so fresh in all my life, sed Mary Watkins, and I sed, Thats wat I thawt so I sed to the big kid, Go ahead and pull his hair all you want, pull it all your mite, pull it out if you want, I sed.

You did jest rite, sed Mary Watkins, and the big tuft kid kept on pulling and the little kid kept on yelling, Hay cut that out, de your heer, hay.

Ah ha! Something more good to eat!

Jam. He dipped the puff balls into the jam until they were covered, looking just round balls of cake or candy, most delicious to eat.

"Take these jam-covered puff balls home with you," said the bunnymaster. "Put them where Greedy will see them, and watch what happens."

Mrs. Gump did that. She set the puff balls on the window sill as if they were there to cool. Soon in came the little boy animal, hungry as he always was.

"Ah, hat Something more good to eat!" he greedily cried. With that he stuffed his mouth full of the puff balls. At first the jam on the outside tasted just fine. But a moment later Greedy Gump began to cough and sneeze, a his mouth and nose filled with the fine brown powder.

"Oh! Wow! Ouch! Oh, I'm choking! Water! Water!" he cried. His mother brought him a some water, and when he felt better he

THE MARKETS

(By The Associated Press)

New York, Sept. 27.—Extremely conflicting conditions prevailed in financial markets today. Stocks were dull and frequently reactionary, while bonds were active, some of the Liberty and Victory issues mounting to new records for the year. These contrary movements were rendered more obscure by a stiffening of money rates, further cross currents in foreign exchange and mixed industrial conditions, including the less promising labor outlook.

Traders attacked the list from the outset on the increased demoralization shown by German marks, and by its implications regarding future reparations payments. The pessimistic views of railway officials respecting the attitude of the government toward the extension of short commitments.

Heaviness of foreign oils, especially Mexican petroleum, and pressure against standard oil with Pennsylvania as the main objective, helped to unsettle the general list. Steels, equipments and various specialties which owe their rise or fall to pools also were lower in the absence of support.

The few exceptions to the general trend included shippings, General Asphalt preferred, American Ice, miscellaneous issues of secondary importance. Sales, 435,000 shares.

Call money opened at 5 per cent but an unusually heavy inquiry forced the rate to 5 1/2 per cent at mid-day. Holding the figure for the remainder of the session, Time loans running into next year were made at 5 1/2 per cent.

The fall of marks to a level where they were depressed at a value of 8-10 of 1 cent affected central European remittances, Austrian, Polish and Czechoslovakian exchanges established minimum quotations. Sterling was firm, French, Belgian and Italian bills eased, but Dutch and Swedish rates rose substantially. Far Eastern exchanges again were noteworthy for another decline in the Japanese rate and the further advance of bills on Shanghai by 1 1/2 cents. All bonds were carried forward in the first half of the session by the extensive demand for Liberty and Victory issues, but the movement was checked later, when realizing sales caused general reactions from best prices.

Rails and industrials became irregular and most foreign issues developed similar tendencies. Sales, par value, aggregated $18,500,000.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.
Chicago, Sept. 27.—Wheat had a downward slant most of today, with no aggressive support. The market closed unsettled, 1/2 to 1 1/2 net lower with December 1 1/2, $1.23 1/2 and May 1 1/2, $1.27 1/2. Corn lost 1/4 to 1/2 and oats showed an equal decline. In provisions the outcome varied from the decline to 1 1/2 advance.

Liquidation by holders was in evidence at the opening of wheat, and the majority of commission houses leaned to the selling side. A further drop in the value of German marks counted as a special depressing influence, and so did the domestic unemployment situation, and the possibility of railway strike troubles. Subsequently, however, prices hardened as a result of word that lower ocean freight rates and the foreign exchange had brought about some export buying estimated at 500,000 bushels. On the other hand, confidence faded somewhat in the last half hour, an export concern becoming an active seller, and being followed by a number of speculators.

Corn and oats were weak in sympathy with wheat. September and December corn touched the lowest prices yet this season.
