RELIGIOUS ORDERS BANISHED

Compelled to Leave Republic of Portugal Within Twenty-Four Hours

GOVERNMENT IS ANTI-CLERICAL

All Persons Detained Because of Society Membership Released.

Lisbon, Oct. 8.—Provisional President Braga and his assistants began today to draw tighter the reins of government and put into practice the principles which they have promised to be the bulwark of the new republic, which will be decidedly anti-clerical. The first step today was the publication of an official decree ordering all religious bodies in Portugal to leave the country within twenty-four hours. The government has promised to chaperon the church and state in suppressing the religious orders. Troops were stationed in the vicinity of religious establishments to prevent attacks by mobs. Minister of Justice Costa Rica also issued a decree ordering the release of all persons detained by the monarchy on the charge of belonging to secret societies. This is in fulfillment of promises of political and religious freedom. Dr. Costa visited the camp of the Republican soldiers and personally congratulated those who had distinguished themselves in the recent fighting. These included two women, who had taken places in the ranks and participated in the fighting.

Entire Monarchical Press Suspended.

Quiet continues to reign in this city and no sign is being received in favor of the old regime. The monarchy is pretty generally regarded as dead, especially since the radicals under the leadership of Dr. Jose Maria Alpoim have thrown in their lot heartily with the republicans. The disappearance of the monarchial party is reflected in the discontinuing of seven newspapers which represented the entire monarchial press. The date of the reassembling of the national assembly has not yet been fixed.

Royal Fortune Large.

Bordeaux, Oct. 8.—Advices from Lisbon say that now that the republican government has announced its intention not to seize the private property of King Manuel, the royal fortune will be very large, both personal and in houses and lands. The king, however, pays taxes upon all his property like any other Portuguese citizen.

Spain's Turn Next.

Paris, Oct. 8.—Dispatches from Madrid quote Dr. Ezquerro, one of the Republican leaders in a convention statement that a definite plan existed for a simultaneous revolutionary movement in Spain and Portugal on October 15th, the anniversary of Ferrer's death. A concerted signal was to have been given for the uprising, but Dr. Bombardo's assassination in Lisbon by clericals, precipitated the attack on the Portuguese throne and took the Spanish revolutionists completely by surprise.

Manuel thinks he is "Coming Back." Gibraltar, Oct. 8.—King Manuel of Portugal made his first known reference to the revolution today when he is reported to have said that he had every confidence that he would be able to return to Lisbon, as the desire of most of the army and the bulk of the people will be to re-establish the court.

British Flag Saves Priests.

Lisbon, Oct. 8.—Holding the British flag over the Jesuit monastery in Rua de Aguiar has saved the occupants from the Republican troops that attacked the institution last night. One priest was killed and others were arrested.

WIDE-OPEN SEATTLE HEADQUARTERS FOR CRIMINALS

Recall Petition Circulated for Mayor Who Does Not Believe in Enforcing Restrictive Laws.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 8.—The circulation of a petition to recall Mayor Gill was begun today. The wording of the petition is similar to that employed in the recall of Mayor Harper, of Los Angeles. It declares that Mayor Gill has shown himself incompetent and unfit, has abused the appointive power for personal and political reasons, is personally unfit for the office, has wholly refused to enforce and has neglected to enforce the criminal laws, and says that Seattle has become the criminal headquarters and the refuge of the criminal classes.

MERELY A DILL PICKLE FOR THEIR BREAKFAST.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 8.—One out of every three children who attend school in Kansas City begins its day's work hungry, according to the report of the truancy officers made to the superintendent of public schools. This, say the officers, does not mean that all of the children do not receive food, but that proportion do not receive the kind of nourishment which fits them for their studies.

Many of the children, it is said, receive very little, if any, food before going to school, and one of the truancy officers declared he knew of instances where all the children received for breakfast was a dill pickle.

PROOF POSITIVE OF GOOD SOIL

If You Doubt What New Mexico Can Do, Look at This Exhibit

WINDOW FULL OF FINE FRUITS

The U. S. Bank Has a Display Advertisement of Great Interest.

If any person, pilgrim, sojourner or to the manor born, has any doubts as to the marvelous fertility of the soil of New Mexico, such person can speedily have those doubts dispelled by spending a few minutes in front of the big window of the United States Bank & Trust Company and taking in the magnificent display of fruit and vegetables exhibited there under the auspices of the Santa Board of Trade.

In the western corner of the window is a superb display of apples by Frank M. Jones, of Santa Fe county—a display which is confidently asserted can not be surpassed on earth. He exhibits some thirty varieties of fall and winter apples and has yet other varieties to come. His Alexander apple, Mammoth and Midgits, from a tree that is bearing fifty-six different varieties of apples are wonders of the grower's art and as attracting much attention.

In the center of the window is a fine assortment of vegetables from the garden of the territory, grown sent in by the courtesy of Warden Cleofes Romero. The large squashes (68 and 59 pounds) call forth much comment. This exhibit demonstrated that the soil of Santa Fe county is peculiarly adapted to the raising of celery and asparagus and should not fail to develop a lively interest in small gardening for the local market.

In the west-end of the window the Indian school has a very superior exhibit. A great pumpkin weighing over 75 pounds, sugar beets weighing over 10 pounds each and other very large vegetables show the adaptability of the soil for general gardening. On either side of the great stock pumpkin are large yellow pumpkins that recall the pies that mother used to make and make the passer-by wish that his wife would take the initiative and bake a few and refer same to him for comparison with those of his childhood days. And the rest of the window is filled with a magnificent display of apples, pears, and peaches that challenge the world for excellence of flavor. This fruit is all raised in Santa Fe and Rio Arriba counties and at proper season the Board of Trade will send acknowledgments to each contributor. Meantime this is New Mexico—the land of sunshine, fruit and flowers, where health is in the air and the choicest spring spontaneous from the soil. Let every man who believes in New Mexico and Santa Fe unite with the Board of Trade and pull for the old town. Knockers to the rear—boosters to the front—united effort and all is well.

UNION PRINTERS TURN DOWN SOCIALISM.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—By a majority of more than two to one, Typographical Union No. 16 defeated the proposition to cooperate with the Socialist party in the coming campaign. The vote against forming an independent political party was even more one-sided. The referendum vote was taken on Wednesday in all chapters of the city, and the result was announced yesterday.

British Flag Saves Priests.

Lisbon, Oct. 8.—Holding the British flag over the Jesuit monastery in Rua de Aguiar has saved the occupants from the Republican troops that attacked the institution last night. One priest was killed and others were arrested.

WAS MYSTERIOUS GUEST DYNAMITER?

Man of Many Aliases Registered at Burke's Sanatorium, California

SUPPOSED TO BE RING LEADER

Was Very Nervous, Acted Suspiciously and Hid in The Brushes.

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 8.—Evidence came to light late yesterday showing that a man answering the description almost perfectly of one of the Los Angeles Times dynamiters was a guest from Tuesday until Thursday at Burke's Sanatorium near Santa Rosa. The man's description and suddenness of his arrival and departure strongly confirm the belief that the man was the fugitive known as Brice, Brison, Peritt and Leonard, thought to be the ring leader of the trio that purchased 500 pounds of dynamite at Giant, Calif. The mysterious guest came to the sanatorium on foot, registered the name Rollins, and remained in his room most of the time. He was nervous and once when the automobile was seen approaching, Rollins left the building and hurriedly disappeared in the shrubbery. Thursday he departed suddenly and on foot after a conversation with one of the guests in which the latter had commented on the fact that Rollins looked like one of the dynamite suspects.

QUIET DAY AT CAPITOL BUILDING.

Officials Too Busy to Make History—Two Arrests for Cattle Stealing by Mounted Police.

It was quiet today at the capitol and the building seemed almost deserted, although the officials, and especially the secretaries were working at full speed. Governor Mills was expected home this afternoon from Albuquerque.

Who Pays the Taxes?

According to Traveling Auditor C. V. Safford, the percentages of the assessment for McKinley county are as follows: Railroads 36.11, grazing lands and improvements 29.91, city lots and improvements 11.33, merchandise 5.39, sheep 3.64, coal lands 3.46, coal mines and improvements 2.71, cattle 2.12, horses and mules 1.16, household goods, etc., 11.16, telegraph and telephones .77, all other classes 2.19.

Arrested by Mounted Police.

Mounted Policeman John W. Collier reported today the arrest of O. M. Dry, at Magdalena, Socorro county, for cattle stealing and of a man named Perry at Corona, Lincoln county, for a similar offense. Both were taken to Estancia.

Assistant Traveling Auditor.

If A. L. Morrison, Jr., does not accept promotion to the assistant traveling auditorship of the territory made vacant by the appointment of John Joerns to be district clerk of the Fourth district, it is believed the appointment will go to R. C. Rankin, of Las Vegas, employed in the Corporation Agency and Investment Company's office at the Meadow City.

BISHOP MATZ IS SUMMONED TO WASHINGTON.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 8.—Bishop N. C. Matz and Father Richard Brady, one of the bishop's closest advisers, have left the city. At Loretto academy, where Father Brady is chaplain, it was stated that he has gone to St. Louis. Everyone asked appears to be ignorant of the bishop's whereabouts, but at his home it was given out he would be gone about three weeks. A man well posted in the Matz-Brady controversy claims that from there he will journey to Washington, where the bishop has been summoned. It is known that the Matz-Brady controversy is nearing settlement. A decision is expected soon.

NO FLY COULD EVER FLY LIKE THIS FLIER.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 8.—A new method of fighting the pest, the housefly, has just been introduced into San Antonio by Andres Coy, the district clerk, who has recently brought back to this city six fly eating birds called Chichiquilotes. The bird is of the snipe family, is small with a long bill and is easily domesticated. He is swifter than the carrier pigeon in flight and the flies have no chance of escaping his lightning-like flashes. In Mexico the Chichiquilote is esteemed a delicacy of the table as well as useful in keeping flies out of houses.

ANOTHER D. & R. G. RESIGNS. NATION IS FORESHADOWED.

Pueblo, Oct. 8.—Rumors of the resignation of Second Vice-President and General Manager Horace W. Clarke, of the Denver & Rio Grande, were put in circulation through local railroad circles this morning as the result of a lengthy conference between J. P. Coleman, a representative of an extensive English railroad syndicate and the president of the Batangas-Iloilo system on the Philippine Islands, and Mr. Clarke, who came to Pueblo from Denver for the purpose of meeting the far eastern railroad official.

CONSTITUTION MAKERS

HON. ANICETO C. ABEYTIA. Delegate to the Convention From Socorro County and Who Enjoys the Distinction of Being the Son of a Delegate to the Convention Held Here 20 Years Ago.

Hon. Aniceto C. Abeytia, whose portrait is given above, is a delegate to the constitutional convention from Socorro, Socorro county, and his name always heads the lists of the delegates printed. Mr. Abeytia was born in the city of Santa Fe, his parents being Hon. and Mrs. Aniceto Abeytia. He was educated in St. Michael's college in the city of his birth. After completing his education he spent five years in learning the jewelry business. He then engaged in the whole sale and retail manufacture of filigree jewelry at Santa Fe with his brother, Frank Abeytia, under the firm name of Abeytia & Brother. The firm did an extensive business until 1885, when it was dissolved, the subject of this sketch going to Las Vegas. At Las Vegas Mr. Abeytia organized a jewelry firm known as Abeytia & Mares, but only a year later bought his partner's interests. Still later he incorporated the Mexican Filigree Jewelry Company.

About thirteen years ago Mr. Abeytia sold his interests in Las Vegas, came to Socorro, and engaged in the general merchandise business, under the firm name of A. C. Abeytia & Garcia. Since entering upon this line of business Mr. Abeytia was very successful, and commanded the patronage and good will of a very large number of customers and friends in Socorro and vicinity.

In politics Mr. Abeytia has always been a staunch Republican, and his party has elected him to many positions of honor and trust. In 1886 he was elected superintendent of public instruction for San Miguel county. He held this office two years and was then appointed chief deputy under Sheriff and Collector Don Lorenzo Lopez. Although it had been customary to require such deputies to give bond in the sum of not less than $20,000, and although Mr. Abeytia offered to furnish such a bond, Mr. Lopez showed his confidence in him by declining to accept any bond whatever. That such confidence was warranted is shown by the fact that Mr. Abeytia handled no less than $500,000 of public funds and accounted for every cent of that large sum. He was next elected one of the county commissioners of San Miguel county, and his fellow-officers chose him the chairman of their honorable body. The difficult duties of this position Mr. Abeytia discharged, as usual, with eminent satisfaction to all concerned. The next public position to which he was chosen was that of agent for Don Jose G. Montano, who had been elected assessor of San Miguel county. Here again he managed the public affairs entrusted to his charge with perfect satisfaction to all concerned.

In 1899 Mr. Abeytia was elected a member of the city council of Socorro, and, in 1904, was further honored by election as mayor of the city. Although he was prominently mentioned for renomination for the latter position he declined the honor in favor of Hon. H. O. Bursum. However, he consented to become a candidate for membership on Socorro's board of education and was elected. Later, on the death of Hon. Juan Jose Baca, president of the board of trustees of the New Mexico School of Mines, Mr. Abeytia was appointed by Governor Hagerman to fill the vacancy, and was at once elected by his fellow-members of the board to be their president. On the 6th day of November, 1906, the subject of this sketch was elected sheriff of Socorro county, and entered upon the discharge of the duties of that responsible position on January 1, 1907.

In January Mr. Abeytia sold his mercantile establishment and retired from business. He is still in politics, however, as he was elected a member of the city council at the last election in Socorro.

Their Agents Kidnapped in Arizona and Swiftly Hustled Across Border.

Bisbee, Ariz., Oct. 8.—Mexican officers at Cananea made wholesale arrests of merchants in that place yesterday charging them with being "higher up" in a gigantic smuggling scheme. The arrests are the result of the capture of N. D. Navarette, a Mexican residing at Naco, who was kidnapped from home on Saturday and hustled across the border. Cananea merchants, according to the Mexican officials, employed Navarette and a crew of men to smuggle merchandise from the United States to Mexico. The defendants are among the wealthiest and most prominent residents in town.

But you just weren't at home, you see."

AMERICAN BOY SCOUTS FORM TWO PATROLS.

Santa Fe Now Has Boy Scouts and They Will Receive Fine Military Training.

The Boy Scout Movement which has been spreading all over the world has reached Santa Fe.

Two patrols were established here today by the Rev. James Gratian Mythen who has been in correspondence with the national headquarters in New York.

The first meeting was held this morning at the Episcopal Rectory. It was decided that Graham Frost, a graduate of the New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell is to drill the boys, who number twenty so far.

Although this has been started by Mr. Mythen it is in no sense a sectarian institution. Any boy of good habits from the age of 10 to 18 is eligible.

The patrols in Santa Fe are planning an encampment at Monument Rock within the next two or three weeks. No officers will be elected until after the period of probation of six weeks.

History of Movement. The boy scout movement was started in England right after the Boer war by Sir Baden-Powell for the purpose of bringing up boys to be ready to defend their country against invaders and also to instill into them the right principles of manhood.

This movement has extended through the world and in this country it was organized by Ernest Thompson Seton with the assistance of former President Roosevelt and most prominent men in the army and navy. There are now in the United States over 100,000 boys enrolled, and in England there are 400,000 boys.

QUEENS ARE NUMEROUS IN SANTA FE.

Miss Matilde Alonso has been nominated as a candidate for Queen of the Elks' Carnival and her friends, who are legion claim they will elect her for the coveted honor and win for her the diamond ring, but as all the other candidates and their friends are working and working hard, it is impossible to tell who will be the winner.

At the present time the standing of the different contestants is as follows:
Anita Bergere 3100
Richie Seligman 3200
May Spitz 2800
Ruth Laughlin 2000
Nellie Brewer, Atty 4000
Gertie Jones 3700

VOTED FOR FORTY YEARS BUT NOT A CITIZEN.

Fort Collins, Colo., Oct. 8.—A voter for nearly forty years, but never a citizen of the United States until today, has been the experience of H. Preston, an old and wealthy resident of this county. Preston was born in England and came to this county at the age of 16. He gave notice of intention to become a citizen after he had been in this country about a year, but was told by the county clerk at Marshall, Mich., that this proceeding was unnecessary. He never made application to get his final papers. He did not know until two years ago that he was not entitled to vote. He explained the circumstances to Judge Shear today and received his final papers.

THE PROPER COURSE

Information of Priceless Value to Every Santa Fe Citizen.

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the disease and ills of the human body. If you suffer with backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement will add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of Santa Fe citizens who have been permanently cured?

Mrs. Bernarda D. de Escudero, 106 Griffin St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I hold just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today, as when I publicly recommended them in January, 1907. For about a year I was bothered by a dull ache and weakness across my loins and kidneys. I tried easily and any exertion brought on severe pains in my back. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of, I was induced to try them. The result proved beyond a doubt that Doan's Kidney Pills live up to representations. The cure and positive relief this remedy brought, has led me to praise it on more than one occasion."

Floral Parade, Montezuma Ball, Band Concert, Indian Races Are Features

STATEHOOD DAY IS A SUCCESS

Carnival Will Reign High Tonight When Every One Will Make Merry.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 8.—The floral parade of the New Mexico Automobile Association held yesterday afternoon at the fair grounds was a beautiful affair and drew forth round after round of applause from the packed grand stand and bleachers as the machines many times circled the half mile track each one a marvel of color and decorative design and the whole forming a riot of rainbow hues which was dazzling. The decorations reflected the greatest credit on the committee of ladies headed by Mrs. P. H. Lester which had the decoration in charge. Artificial flowers in endless variety and profusion bore witness to the artistic ability of the designers and decorators.

The parade under the supervision of Marshal Dave Combs formed in mid afternoon around Robinson park and the scene was a busy one as the honking and puffing and smoking motors maneuvered into position and the long file of buzz wagons finally got into formation and started for the fair grounds. The appearance of the leader was the signal for an outburst of applause which kept up intermittently as the procession wound around the race track.

Montezuma Ball.

The annual Montezuma ball, long famous as the social event par excellence of the year in New Mexico was fully up to the standard last night and the result reflected the greatest credit on Chairman A. B. McGaffey and his committee men, on the management of the Alvarado and on Herman Schweizer of the Harvey system whose fertile brain every year brings forth some new and novel decorative stunt for this affair.

The affair last night was larger than for many years and quite representative of society throughout New Mexico, the presence as usual of General Thomas and other army officers adding the military touch which is essential to the event. The floor was in ideal condition, the music as the feminine contingent expresses it, perfectly lovely and all the appointments such as have made the Alvarado famous.

Band Concert.

Playing in splendid time and with the deep volume and majestic resonance given by a large number of instruments the massed bands brought the grandstand to its feet yesterday afternoon when eighty-five picked musicians gave a splendid program at the fair grounds. The idea originated with Director F. K. Ellis of the Learner and Lindemann band and that he had the right idea was evidenced by the resounding applause which greeted each number played. Considering that they had no previous practice together the three organizations played together remarkably well. The bands which took part were the Learner and Lindemann band of 30 players, Director Ellis' the Parker Carnival Company band of 25, E. D. Stout, director and the City band of 30 members. J. C. Cook director.

The three directors in turn led the band and as a finale which brought forth volleys of cheers from the crowd Miss Catherine O'Reilly daughter of President J. H. O'Reilly of the fair, led the massed bands in the last number "America" in which the crowd joined.

Statehood Day.

Everybody is supposed to turn out in costume or at least with a mask on and there will be enough confetti available to keep the air full of it for several hours. There is one of the biggest fair crowds for years on the ground, and there is good reason to believe that they are going to enjoy tonight and have a good time until the bovine animals return to the fold. No grouches goes and if you can't swallow five pounds of confetti at a whack and smile cheerfully you need not come around. The riot will center at the plaza but it will extend all over the downtown district and you will miss the fun if you are not out. Otherwise, the chief attraction of the day aside from the baseball and the races will be the fifteen mile Marathon entered by a bunch of feet from the southwest, the cracker-jack long distance runners of this section and consequently the fastest and most tireless in the world. There is a big field entered and there is one item on the sport program that you can't equal anywhere in the United States.

Statehood Day a Hummer.

Yesterday, statehood day, proved all that was expected of it. The crowds reached the zenith and while no estimate is made of the number at the fair grounds it was much the largest of this or any other old week. The event of the afternoon was the automobile parade.

Indian Races.

Tribal rivalry will become intense this afternoon at the fair grounds when representatives of the Zunis, Casa Blanca Pueblos and Navajos, stripped to running trim, toe the starting line and get off in a bunch in the fifteen mile southwestern marathon entered this year by sixteen of the very fastest of the fleet Indians of the southwest. The stake is a big one but the honor of winning for his tribe is the chief motive which will spur each runner to do his best and to put to the test the incredible lung capacity, the tireless heart, tough muscles and sheer human grit acquired through a life on the plains and mesas where generations of hardy redmen from the primitive man down have transmitted the greatest endurance known to the human race. A race between southwestern Indians is a race entered by the best long distance runners in the world, and the pick of them will race this year. Julius Staab is in charge of the event and it is planned to start it early so that the grand stand can see the thrilling finish. Lanati and Hotesa the famous Zunis who finished first and second last year will be strong entries and Joe Johnson and Felipe Reilly of Casa Blanca who took third and fourth last year will also try to give the redmen full list of entriestoincmfwypain the disgrace of missing first.

Indian Races.

"We shall have a first rate program at El Paso and attend to some matters of vital importance to the journalistic profession," said Mr. Lapoint. "We want every editor and publisher in New Mexico to be enrolled in the organization. Organization in the newspaper business as well as elsewhere, always get results. The dues are only two dollars and every newspaper man owes it to himself to join."

Mr. Lapoint is spending the tail end of fall week here.

ELKS CLUB CARNIVAL STARTS ON MONDAY.

Lasts Six Days and Six Nights; Biggest Time of Your Life; Voting Contest On.

What promises to be the event of the season will take place in Santa Fe next week beginning Monday when the Elks club announce their carnival the club has made, through its committee of management managers, the most extensive preparations to have the greatest celebration that has ever been seen in this section of the country and with the energetic committee in charge of the affair and arranging the details, there is little doubt but that their expectations will be realized.

ENDORSEMENT OF A SHIP SUBSIDY PLAN.

Trans-Mississippi Congress Will Be Asked to Consider Movement to Foster South American Trade.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 8.—Endorsement for a subsidy for five lines of steamships to ply between American and South American ports will be asked by the Pacific coast states of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress which will meet in San Antonio November 22, 25th. This proposition has already been twice defeated the federal congress by narrow margins. It will be pointed out that the Pacific ocean, which was once considered, commercially, to belong to America, is now dominated by subsidized steamship lines from Japan. Japanese ships now come to San Francisco carrying American passengers and American freight at exorbitant rates. American companies cannot compete against them because the Japanese government gives a subsidy for mail service and naval service in time of war.

ENDORSEMENT OF A SHIP SUBSIDY PLAN.

Honolulu will also send representatives to the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress asking endorsement for an additional appropriation for harbors and jetties, and a fund for defense of the islands. The island will also ask special immigration laws allowing them to import labor to work their sugar plantations which are now suffering from lack of help. They will also ask Congress to petition the U. S. Congress to apply homestead mining and other land laws of the United States to the islands.

Similar requests will be laid before the Trans-Mississippi Congress by delegates from the Philippine Islands. Alaska will also send delegates asking endorsement for a federal survey and a territorial form of government. These insular possessions doing business chiefly with the Trans-Mississippi states have written that they feel they have a peculiar claim on the congress to assist them in their efforts of development.

Texas will ask the endorsement of a movement to secure the application of this state of the reclamation act of Congress. Other western states will appear before the congress presenting their special needs, for this organization is a sort of clearing house for western ideas along commercial lines. It gathers together information concerning the needs of all states and territories affiliated with it and carries these recommendations to the federal congress. These recommendations are regarded in Washington as the unofficial and outspoken opinions of the people of the west and are consequently, correspondingly influential. More of the recommendations of the Trans-Mississippi Congress have been enacted into laws of the nation than that of any other non-legislative body in the country.

FUNERAL AT EL RITO OF MRS. MARGARET SARGENT.

Sorrowing Mourners Gather Around the Mound in the Cemetery to Pay a Last Tribute.

El Rito, N. M., Oct. 8.—The remains of Mrs. Margaret Sargent were laid in their last resting place yesterday in this place. They were literally buried under the floral tributes of her many friends. High mass was celebrated at nine o'clock in the forenoon by the Rev. Cazales of Parkview. The Gregorian mass was sung by a select choir. Rev. Father Pajot, of El Rito, assisted in the ceremonies at the grave. After the mass, the remains, followed by relatives and by other mourners, were taken to the cemetery. There the flowers were heaped high upon the mound of earth. Besides the sorrow-stricken sons and daughters, there were gathered around the grave: Hon. T. D. Burns, Hon. Venecio Jaramillo, John H. Burns, J. R. Martinez and wife, Clyde Stauber and wife, of Chama, T. D. Burns, Jr., Hon. Perfecto Esquivel, Martin Horn and wife and Michael Gonzales.

SOUTHWESTERN EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Will Be Held at El Paso, Texas—Sidney Wharton is President and Will Lapoint, Secretary.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 8.—The meeting of the southwestern editors in El Paso November 5 will be a large and representative gathering of the pen pushers of New Mexico, Arizona and west Texas," said Will P. Lapoint of Las Cruces yesterday. Mr. Lapoint who is editor of the Las Cruces Citizen is secretary of the editorial association which was formed last year and which now includes a large number of the leading journalists of the southwest. Sidney Wharton, editor of the Cimarron Citizen of Cimarron, N. M., is president.

"We shall have a first rate program at El Paso and attend to some matters of vital importance to the journalistic profession," said Mr. Lapoint. "We want every editor and publisher in New Mexico to be enrolled in the organization. Organization in the newspaper business as well as elsewhere, always get results. The dues are only two dollars and every newspaper man owes it to himself to join."

ITCHING, BLEEDING ECZEMA WAS CURED

By Cuticura After 5 Years of Suffering Beyond Description—Thought Death was Near—Calls Cure Wonderful.

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with itching and bleeding eczema, until I was cured by the Cuticura Remedies, and I am so grateful I want the world to know, for what helped me will help others. My body and face were covered with sores. One day it would seem to be better, and then break out again with the most terrible pain and itching. I have been sick several times, but never in my life did I experience such awful suffering as with this eczema. I had made up my mind that death was near at hand, and I longed for that time when I would be at rest. I had tried many different doctors and medicines without success, and my mother brought me the Cuticura Remedies, insisting that I try them. I began to feel better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap, and one application of Cuticura Ointment."

"I continued with the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and have taken four bottles of Cuticura Soap, and consider myself well. This was nine years ago and I have had no return of the trouble since. Any person having any doubt about this wonderful cure by the Cuticura Remedies can write to my address: Mrs. Alice Elson, 33 Inn Road, Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 16, 1909."

Vaudeville and plenty of it of the highest class will be seen at Moulin Rouge theater. No less than eight turns are to be seen and heard in this popular show.

A somewhat unusual attraction will be seen in the wonderful predictions of Miss Millie Verona, the famous astrologer. This lady is known from coast to coast as the most wonderful prognosticator and her exhibition is most interesting.

One of the features of the carnival will be the election and coronation of the carnival queen. The lady is to be elected by popular vote and will be the absolute ruler over all the festivities. There are no less than eight charming members of the fair sex already nominated for the proud position, all of whom have ardent supporters, making the contest one of unusual interest to all concerned.

Reception to Delegates.

The ladies' committee of the Museum of New Mexico will give a reception Tuesday evening, October 11, in honor of the delegates to the constitutional convention, their families and friends, at the Museum rooms in the Palace of the Governors from 8:30 to 11 p. m.

The affair promises to be one of unusual brilliancy because of the social prominence not only of the guests of honor but also of the hostesses of the occasion.

The Museum of New Mexico as a territorial institution wishes to welcome the constitution makers to the capital and through the ladies' committee has arranged the coming reception in their honor. What more auspicious place could have been chosen than the reception room of the Palace of the Governors. There for 300 years history has been made! There under Spain, Mexico and the United States have been held the functions of state. There Zebulon Pike was received by the Spanish governor in 1806. It was there General Kearny made his headquarters and there in the room so rich in historical memories of stirring events, the delegates to the constitutional convention, they themselves history makers, will be made welcome by Santa Fe, which was the capital of the great southwest long before San Francisco, Denver, Los Angeles or El Paso were even thought of.

The following committees have charge of the reception arrangements: Decorations--Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Jaffa, Mrs. Palen, Mrs. Laughlin, Mrs.

FARMER'S WIFE HAD HEAP TO DO

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape
When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do."

"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors."

"You don't know half how I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have. Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good."

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients, having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

N. B.—Write to Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

THE IDEAL STATE.

Statehood is the theme uppermost in the minds of the people of New Mexico at the present time. We are all speculating on the kind of constitution we are to have, and on the conditions that will necessarily be brought about by our efforts at self-government and the laws we have promulgated to govern our new state.

We would all like to see New Mexico an ideal state, taking front rank in everything pertaining to the advancement, cultivation and uplift of her people.

In order to bring about these results we must have a definite idea of what it takes to make an ideal state; of the things to be achieved; of the lines along which we must work to help realize the ideal condition.

Fifty years ago man was content to work for a good living and a modest competence to support himself and family in old age. He did not strive to acquire vast sums of money, or to corner the commodities of life, his mode of living did not require it. Airships, automobiles, fast sailing steamers and trains swallowing up space at the rate of sixty miles an hour were conditions of which he had small conception.

Within the last twenty-five or thirty years man's ideal has taken the form of acquisition, and his desires have reached out and until he is only satisfied with obtaining control of great wealth and cornering the natural resources of the earth, until the old saying: "They want the earth" is being literally verified. In the last few years combinations called trusts have been formed governed by great trust magnates, "captains of industry" they are called, for the purpose of more nearly completing the monopoly of our natural resources.

These have all filled their places, in our advancement, for while these vast aggregations of money and power have necessarily robbed the weaker ones of their rightful share, they have developed our resources in a manner and at a rate that would have been utterly impossible of accomplishment by the individual.

But we are now nearing a better era in our development. We are ceasing to concentrate our energies on developing nature's resources exclusively, and are devoting some time to the betterment of the human race. To do this we look from self and selfish interests to the common good. Race preservation is deriving us to the cultivation of men and women. The conservation of children has begun to get a hearing. We have set up newer and higher ideals. During the past accumulative period of our history the highest ideal of the majority was to sit down and selfishly enjoy the prosperity accumulated.

Now our thoughts are turning to the best manner in which to expend the large amounts of money accumulated, by individuals or corporations, so as to give the greatest good to the greatest number. These efforts are not always successful, but if the human mind and activity is turned in the right direction it will in time achieve mighty things in this direction also.

Happiness is the goal of all humanity after all, and we are beginning to learn that real happiness and enjoyment comes from conferring good; in the doing of something that is not for ourselves alone but that will bring good to every one; in constructive activity, the building up of things good to see, good to have, good to remember.

At present, all the states of our Union seem to be burdened with a condition of corrupt politics, under which it is almost an impossibility for the people to attain their desires or their rights so great has become the power of the great moneyed interests. The immense accumulations of money and properties have put a few men in position to dictate the policy of every avenue of activity. Superintendents of schools, members of legislatures, county officials and national representatives must all bow to this moloch, come under the sway of this golden idol. There is no peace or justice any where.

This condition must be changed, and the time has arrived to change it. When a garment has served its purpose and we have outgrown it or it becomes threadbare, we lay it aside. So with ideals when they have been fulfilled or have served their purpose of taking us a step forward on the road of progress. Wider vision, new perspective gives us higher and nobler ideals and we should drop the old as readily as we do the outgrown garment.

Graft and craft will be entirely abolished in our ideal state. These are the evils we have found attending the centralizing of money and power. One cure for these political ills is publicity. There can be no real publicity so long as party primaries and ward politics prevail. Officials should be elected at large and directly by the people. All intermediaries should be eliminated. Senators, all state, county and city officials should receive their commissions direct from the people. Every candidate for an office should be canvassed and his views on all subjects with which he will have to deal coming under the jurisdiction of his office should be known to the voters, and he should be publicly pledged to carry out the measures advocated by those electing him.

Given these requisites the people will vote for the men who will represent the will of the majority. The constitution of the ideal state will embody in the most acceptable form the initiative, referendum and recall, as these are simply formulated rules of the principles involved in all matters pertaining to employer and employee. With these conditions a man holding office will realize that he gets his office from the PEOPLE, not from the politician or trust magnate; that he is paid by the people and is answerable to the people as a whole—that there is no power between, behind which he can hide. This would be an ideal government for the people by the people.

From the ideal state the saloon will be forever banished. Into its constitution will be written a law so plain, with penalties so great as shall make it impossible for this chiefest of trusts, this vilest of corruptors of all that is good in nation, state or home, to ever find a foothold.

In the ideal state the wealth of that state will be utilized in schools where the instructors are most carefully selected with reference only to their capabilities—where no graft or pull has any influence in the selection. The very best that can be secured will be none too good for the children of the ideal state.

There will be industries sufficient to give to every man employment at a living wage—the resources of the state will be conserved for this purpose. There will be no poorhouses, no men incapacitated for work by drink. There will be no jails, for where men are happily employed they cease to desire to do evil. It is idleness and intemperance that lead to crime. Should there be any who desire to do evil to his fellowmen, he will be sent to homes or schools where he will be taught to desire the right way of living as he will thereby obtain the greatest happiness for himself.

In the ideal state every family will have a home, even though humble; every child will be educated and trained for a useful life; every officer will endeavor to fill his office more acceptably if possible than his predecessor, not for vain-glory, but because we are moving on to better things daily, and his aim will be a perfected commonwealth, his pleasure will be to serve to the utmost of his ability those who have trusted and honored him by giving him the opportunity of service.

The ideal state is a few simple, sensible laws can bring it about. The time is ripe—the people are hungering for just the opportunity to grow into these things, and may God grant us men with the ideals, the honor and the foresight to lay the foundation stones lasting and deep for an ideal New Mexico.

GOVERNOR BROOKS CHARGED WITH PETIT GRAFTING.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 8.—Whether or not Governor B. B. Brooks charged his expenses while attending the Republican national convention in 1908 to the state of Wyoming has become a subject of controversy in the state campaign. Judge J. M. Carey, Democratic candidate for governor, asserts that he did and cites a voucher on which Governor Brooks collected from the state $124 for expenses incidental to the trip to Chicago.

Governor Brooks asserts that he went to Chicago on official business, but admits that he attended the convention. His voucher shows that he was in Chicago only while the convention was in progress, and that his hotel bill for the four days was paid by the state was $80.29.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Charles E. Michael has rented her home on Manhattan avenue for the winter and will go to Las Vegas to attend the Ward-Holt wedding and also to visit her daughter, Miss Carolyn Michael now attending the Normal University. Later she will go to St. Louis to visit friends and to consult a specialist on nerves.

J. H. Burns of Chama, has returned from El Rito where he attended the funeral of his sister Mrs. Margaret Sargent on Thursday and now is on his way to the east. He was registered at the Claire yesterday.

Mrs. Prince expects to entertain the visiting ladies on Wednesday afternoon from four to seven o'clock, Mexican chocolate and other dainties will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Rapp entertained at luncheon Friday. Covers were laid for ten. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jan Van Houten, Mr. and Mrs. George Cabot Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Spies.

Reception to Delegates.

The series of social events in honor of the constitution was begun Wednesday night when Governor and Mrs. Mills gave a reception which proved a most memorable one, in honor of the delegates. It was an informal affair but one of the most enjoyable ever held in the city. It was attended by fully 350 people, and it is estimated that of this number 150 were ladies.

The big mansion was ablaze with many lights and could be seen at a great distance by those who made it their mecca. Entering the reception room to the right, the guests were presented to Governor and Mrs. Mills by Colonel Jose D. Serna, in place of Adjutant General Brooks who was quite ill.

Others in the receiving line were President Charles A. Spies of the convention, and Mrs. Spies; Territorial Secretary Nathan Jaffa and Mrs. Jaffa; Judge John R. McFie of the territorial supreme court, and Mrs. McFie; National Committeeman Solomon Luna and his niece, Miss Bergere, Mrs. Solomon Luna not being in the city.

For three hours and more, guests filed by, extending the heartiest greetings to the Governor and Mrs. Mills, and all in the receiving line.

Then the dining room was visited and the beauty of its appearance elicited many a compliment. The table decorations were bright pink carnations, asparagus ferns and smilax, while the refreshments corresponded in color. The wives of two former governors, Mrs. L. Bradford Prince and Mrs. Thornton, presided at the table, later being replaced by Mrs. R. J. Palen, wife of President R. J. Palen of the First National Bank of this city, and by Mrs. N. B. Laughlin, wife of former Associate Justice N. B. Laughlin of the supreme court of New Mexico.

Four ladies formed a reception committee. They were Mrs. Frank W. Clancy, Mrs. I. H. Rapp, Mrs. J. A. Rolis and Mrs. R. F. Asplund. Punch was served by Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Arthur Seligman. The music for the occasion was furnished by Morrison's orchestra.

The reception began at 8:30 p. m. and lasted three hours, as was attested by a long string of carriages and motors which kept passing before the awning which telescoped the entrance to the mansion.

Reception to Dr. Paton.

At the close of the lecture given by Dr. Lewis B. Paton Saturday night in the court house, an informal reception was held in the Palace of the Governors for Dr. Paton, the eminent lecturer from Palestine and director of the American School of Oriental Studies and Research in Jerusalem. Those who had seen his stereopticon views portraying the rare antiquities excavated in Palestine and who had listened to his most interesting and instructive lecture, were glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of meeting the scholar in person.

Most of those who were at the lecture attended the reception and a pleasant social hour was spent. Dr. Paton expressed himself as being much interested in the development of American Archaeology, saying that in his estimation he considered this work of more importance than the work the Archaeology Institute of America was doing in foreign lands, for the reason that other nations were helping to develop the foreign work, whereas but comparatively little attention had heretofore been given the American work.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Return Home.

The following from The Widow, a new society paper, refer to Mrs. Morris, who has visited in Santa Fe and is well known in local society circles, and who no doubt wish that she would make her summer home in Santa Fe, where forest fires would not smoke her out:

"Mrs. Robert C. Morris is back in the old town a month earlier this year—driven out of her beautiful camp in Wyoming by the smoke from nearby burning forests. After a few weeks at the camp she, with Mr. Morris, took a trip through the Yellowstone Park and then came on to New York. Mrs. Morris is the author of a charming brochure entitled 'Dragons and Cherry Blossoms,' which Dodd, Mead & Co. brought out ten years ago and are bringing out again in revised edition, and which will be listed among the Christmas books. Of the visit to Japan and in introduction, Mrs. Morris says, modestly: 'Many have been before me, and the theme of this volume can hardly be called new, for Japan has been viewed from every side and through all kinds of eyes. This, however, has not deterred me from jotting down a few observations and experiences of my own, hoping that in them my readers may feel some rays of the Oriental sunshine and beauty.'

"Mr. and Mrs. Morris are at their apartment in the Hotel Savoy for the winter. Mrs. Morris is very beautiful and with it has a charm of manner that endears her to a very wide acquaintance socially. Robert C. Morris is of the old family that is one of the social stanchions of New York and is also quite as well established as representing all that is highest in law and politics. Last fall he resigned as president of the Republican Club, when Seth Low was elected in his place."

The Widow, which is published at New York, prints a most beautiful portrait of Mrs. Morris.

SANTA FE TAKES GAME FROM LOS LUNAS.

In the Afternoon Trinidad Defeated Albuquerque—Today will Decide the Championship.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 8.—Santa Fe gained a fighting chance for first money yesterday morning when they won from the Los Lunas Indians by the close score of three to two, a wild heave by Gibson being responsible for the loss of the game by the Cheyenne team. In the afternoon Albuquerque lost out against Trinidad in a hit and run game, losing with the game the right to try for the big purse which goes to the winner of the tournament. Roswell, Cheyenne and Albuquerque are now on an even footing for second place. If Albuquerque wins this afternoon from Santa Fe, Trinidad will be the undisputed claimant for the first prize. If Santa Fe wins from Albuquerque, however, Santa Fe and Trinidad will then be on an equal footing as far as the won and lost is concerned. This afternoon properly at 1 o'clock, Roswell and the Indians will play and immediately after the first game, Albuquerque and Santa Fe will battle.

The morning game yesterday was pretty much of a pitchers' battle, with Big Hendrix for the Los Lunas team working well, and Olmstead for Santa Fe in good form. The Indians got their two runs in the first and the fifth. In the first, Whelan got a pass and went to third when Galena hit to the infield, making the bag on an error. Galena and Whelan pulled off a double steal. Whelan scoring. The final run for Los Lunas happened in the fifth. Hester hit, Hendrix sacrificed him to second, and Hester scored when Jones booted Whelan's grounder.

Santa Fe was shut out until the sixth when Welch opened up with a three base hit. Pettus got hit by a pitched ball and Jones drew four of a kind, filling the bases. D. Anderson hit a grounder to the pitcher, Welch being thrown out at the place. Gibson attempted to peg Anderson before he reached first and threw the ball to right field, Pettus and Jones scoring. C. Parsons singled, sending Anderson home. Umpire Muller called Anderson out for missing the third bag.

In the eighth Pettus beat out an infield hit and scored when Jones sent a three bagger to right field.

The Indians played a much better fielding game than Santa Fe and had it not been for Gibson's wild heave, the contest would probably have gone for a few extra innings.

Locals Lost to Trinidad.

Poor fielding on the part of Albuquerque and the ability on the part of Trinidad batsmen to hit Big Chief Johnson of St. Joe, were in the main responsible for the defeat of the locals at the hands of the Coloradans yesterday afternoon by the score of 10 to 3. Twelve clean hits by Trinidad and a half dozen errors by Albuquerque, made by men who do not usually fall down at the critical moment, explains in brief the cause for the defeat of the home team. Trinidad just kept plugging and were satisfied with one run when they could get no more in an inning. In the initial round, Caldwell got to first when Kunz at second made a wild peg. Metz got a pass and Caldwell scored from second on a passed ball. Trinidad gathered one more in the second. Woolums went to first on Graham's error and Lockhart scored the runner with a two base hit. Another run happened in the third when Craig singled, stole second and scored on a wild pitch. Caldwell singled in the fifth, Craig followed suit and Caldwell scored on an error by Graham. Owens got on in the sixth with a single and Brierly scored him with a three bagger. In the seventh, Craig got on again by one error by Graham, went to second on a sacrifice hit by Metz and scored on Koerner's single. Craig doubled in the ninth and went to third while Metz was being thrown out at first, scoring on Koerner's single. Powell and Woolums singled. Koerner and Powell scored when DeBlasi let the ball get away from him and Woolums scored when Brierly singled. Trinidad played a hit and run game throughout, and worked some pretty inside baseball.

Things broke right for Trinidad when Albuquerque men were hitting. Tommy Lockhart, for Trinidad, didn't have everything he usually has, but he had the whole club behind him all the time and kept the hits scattered. Time and again the ball made square for Trinidad fielders, flies lighting in their gloves and grounders coming at them so straight and bounding so nicely that they couldn't get out of the way. Big Chief Johnson started to win his own game in the fifth with a three base hit. Corhan duplicated the work of the big Indian, scoring him. Kunz scored Corhan with a sacrifice fly to center. Albuquerque's only other run was in the eighth when Merritt hit for three bases, scoring on it when Woolums dropped Powell's throw from short on Salazar's grounder.

SUMMARY OF LECTURE
BY DR. L. B. PATON.

What He Said of Palestine Before Hebrew Conquest is of Great Interest to Students.

The following is a summary of the lecture delivered last Saturday evening by Dr. L. B. Paton on "Palestine Before the Hebrew Conquest."

Until recently nothing was known about Palestine in the earliest times, except that could be gathered from the scanty traditions contained in the Old Testament; but within the last twenty years two new sources of information have been opened to us. The first is found in the excavation of the mounds of the cities of Lachish, Gezer, Tannach and Megiddo in Palestine itself; the second, in the discoveries that have been made in Babylonia and Egypt.

The earliest period of Palestine history may be called South Babylonian, because during it Palestine stood under the influence of the kingdom of Southern Babylonia. This extended from about 2500 B. C. to 2500 B. C. Records discovered at Telloh and at Nippur in Babylonia show that during this period Palestine was repeatedly invaded by Babylonian kings, who established their authority there for longer or shorter intervals. The contemporary remains in Palestine show that it was inhabited by a cavew-dwelling race that used only bone and stone implements. This race burned its dead; and this, as well as other facts, indicates that it did not belong to the Semitic stock.

The second period may be called the North Babylonian, because during it Palestine stood under the rule of the City of Babylon in Northern Babylonia. It extended from 2500 B. C. to 17 B. C. About 2500 B. C. the Amorites entered both Babylonia and Canaan. In Babylonia they founded the so-called First Dynasty of Babylon, whose sixth king was the famous Hammurabi, believed to be the same Amraphel of Gen. 14, and the contemporary of Abraham. He unified Babylonia under his rule and promulgated a code of laws in over three hundred sections, a copy of which has recently been discovered by the French expedition at Susa. His authority extended as far as the shores of the Mediterranean, and it is probable that his code was enforced in Canaan, and that in this way we are to explain the numerous parallels in the later Hebrew legislation. In like manner the stories of creation, the Garden of Eden, the Flood, the Tower of Babel, and other Babylonian elements in the Old Testament, probably migrated to Canaan at this time, and were subsequently learned from the Canaanites by the Hebrews. This opinion is confirmed by the discovery in Palestine of Babylonian seals and religious emblems in the Amorite period, and by the use of Babylonian writings by the peoples of Palestine in their correspondence with their neighbors and with one another. The Amorites understood the use of copper, and in all the arts were most advanced than their non-Semitic predecessors. Their chief deity was the mother-goddess Ashtart, who was worshipped at high places containing one or more sacred standing stones, and to whom first-born infants were sacrificed by burial in large earthen jars.

The third period may be called the Egyptian, because during it Palestine stood under the rule of the Pharaohs of the eighteenth and nineteenth Egyptian dynasties. It extended from 1700 B. C. to 1200 B. C. It was the period of the greatest development of Canaanite civilization. It was contemporary with the recently discovered remains in Crete, and Palestinian art of this period shows numerous traces of Cretan influence. About 1200 B. C. Egyptian authority declined, and this gave an opportunity for the Philistines and Hebrews to make permanent settlement in the country.

NEW FLOURING MILL
BUILT AT GLENWOODY.

Ample Power With Some to Spare
Furnished by the Rio Grande—
Success From Start.

There was recently inaugurated near Santa Fe an enterprise, the Eagle flour mill, that demonstrates what can be done by a man of push and energy. W. M. Woody has been working for quite a while to put in a flouring mill at Glenwoody, three miles east of Bannock, on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, sixty miles north of Santa Fe. He has completed his mill and has started off in fine shape.

Mr. Woody gets his power from a flume 4,000 feet long, seven feet wide, with a fall of two inches in 10 feet. The water is taken out of the Rio Grande by placing a headgate a little below the level of the stream. At the mill, the power is generated by a 52 inch turbine which gives him very steady and even power. The wheel gives a great deal more power than he needs and he intends to lease this to other parties.

The mill itself is a new 30 barrel modern mill so arranged that it can be easily increased to fifty barrels. While putting up his mill, Mr. Woody was told by knuckers that it would never pay him; that no wheat was raised near the mill, etc. Mr. Woody claimed that with a good mill and good treatment, parties would come to him from long distances, and his judgment has been sustained by the large amount of business he is doing already. The mechanical supervision of the mill is in the hands of Mr. Humaker, a miller and a millwright, a good combination in a manager, when the long distance from supplies and repair shop is considered. More enterprises that employ labor and make a market for home crops are what New Mexico needs.

MR. BILLTOP'S
COLD

"Mrs. Billtops says," said Mr. B., "that when I'm sick I fall down and break up and collapse and go to pieces generally. She doesn't say this unkindly, you know, or anything like that, but she says that when I'm sick I'm a baby, and I guess it's so."

"Now for the last four days I've had a cold, a bad cold; lame and sore all over, and so weak that it's hard work for me to drag around. And yet I haven't been so dreadfully uncomfortable, in fact I find sitting around in easy chairs rather pleasant than otherwise."

"And Mrs. Billtops smiles and says she guesses I'm not so dreadfully sick; and when I tell her about all my pains and tell her how miserable I feel generally she says, 'Why that's just a cold, Ezra; you've got a hard cold, that's all,' and then she smiles some more and goes on about her work—she never lets up on that—and I sit back and make myself as near comfortable as I can, thinking that, well, perhaps that's all that is the matter with me, but wishing that whatever it is I might soon get over it."

"But the worst thing about it all is that I've still got some appetite. You wouldn't think that anybody feeling the way I've been feeling the last four days could eat a thing, but I have eaten fairly well, and Mrs. B. smiles over that a little too and says that anybody that can eat can't be so very sick, but she doesn't say it to make me feel from it—she says that to encourage me and make me get well quicker."

"And as a matter of fact I am beginning to mend some. Coming home last night I found myself whistling as I came along the street, which is something I never do unless I feel well. I had just spontaneously, without knowing it, started whistling. And that was a pleasant surprise to me, but I stopped it right away, knowing that I was not as well as I might be; I had got to nurse my illness a little yet; but I hadn't gone more'n ten rods further before I found myself humming a tune; apparently my body was feeling so much better that it was bound to express itself somehow. I did try to choke it off, and when I got into the house and Mrs. Billtops had taken a look at me:

"'Eh,' she says, cheerfully, 'I think you are feeling better tonight,' and I said:

"'Yes, I think I am feeling a little better, and before the evening was over I found myself laughing at something; and this morning I am really feeling quite considerable better, and I think that by a couple of days more I shall be back to normal.'"

"Which is my usual condition. I am very rarely ailing at all; almost invariably I enjoy excellent good health and keen good spirits, and I am always a little inclined to wonder that people should let themselves be cast down as they are just because they are a little off. What's the use of telling the whole world you can't stand a little bit of pain and suffering?"

"So it strikes me when I'm feeling, as I am invariably do, fit as a fiddle and looking at everything with the brightest possible view. But do you know, I find it makes all the difference in the world about this whether it's the other fellow that's sick or you."

"Yes, sir. When I'm well I wonder why the ailing man doesn't look cheerful, anyway; but when I'm sick I feel right away the need of sympathy."

How History is Made.

Hannibal and his staff were pacing merrily over the Alps on their faithful war elephants.

Suddenly a man with a tin badge and chin whiskers rushed into the roadway and help up his hand.

"You stop right where you be!" he cried.

"Why should I stop?" thundered the great Carthaginian as his mahout hooked the elephant's ear.

"You're exceedin' th' speed limit," replied the man with the star. "An' I'm a duly appointed constable, by heck!"

Hannibal was so overcome by this amusing holdup that he tossed a bag of gazoolins to the officer and laughed hysterically rode away.

Later on, however, his indignation upper cut his sense of humor and he proceeded to slam the life out of the Roman consuls and their picked veterans, forcing the fighting to the very gates of shuddering Rome.

High Livers.

"Ever suffer from sick sickness when you go up in your balloon?"

"No, but I've been confoundedly ill from dirigibility."

Beck—Do you believe that marriage is a means of grace?

Peck—Sure! Anything is a means of grace that leads to repentance.

His Class.

"I say, my man, is that dog of yours a mongrel?"

"No, sah; ain't no class to 'im; jes' common dog, sah."

The Present Style.

"Pop, you are the people they call 'the underworld'."

"The people you see on the road fixing their automobiles, my child."

Study Profits for Women.

Dr. Marlon Parris presided at the congress of women interested in agriculture which was recently held at Bryn Mawr college. Women with practical experience spoke on their experiments in general farming, fruit growing, landscape gardening, bee keeping, poultry raising, dairy farming, truck gardening and horticulture. The general opinion seemed to be that women could ordinarily carry on successfully an of these branches with a profit of from ten to twenty per cent.

HOME TOWN HELPS

"WEEK END" IN ENGLAND

From Saturday Until Monday the Englishman Spends Most of the Time in His Garden.

"I think we have comparatively little to learn from England about vigorous sports and pastimes. The greatest lesson about outdoor living that she can teach us is the necessity of having a garden. For what we need most is relaxation, and there is no way in which we can refresh ourselves for the world's work like living in a garden as the English do. We seem to think that whether a man has a garden or not is a mere incident, or simply a matter of taste. But to an Englishman a garden is as necessary as a dining room. And from the standpoint of national health it is perhaps quite as necessary to a family as sanitary plumbing. I do not say this because I am a horticulturist, says a Brooklyn Eagle writer, but because we can't be a pink-cheeked nation until America is one great garden as England is, and until we adopt that splendid English idea—the 'week end.'"

From Saturday noon until Monday morning one-half of England is entertaining the other half out of doors. Nothing but routine business is transacted on Saturday and Monday mornings. Indeed, week-end parties often last from Friday night until Tuesday morning, and they enjoy cheaper railroad rates than for shorter periods. I believe that our railroads can, well, stimulate country living wonderfully by lowering week-end rates. The English railroads advertise blue-bell excursions, so that London children may go out and pick these spring flowers. The newspapers always remind people of "Chestnut Sunday," when every one goes out to Bushy park to see a mile of horse chestnut trees in bloom. Already our railroads are beginning to advertise nature's free shows, such as the autumn colors on the Hudson river, etc. The time will come when nearly all important business will be done by appointment and every one who can afford it will allow himself two or three days a week in the country from April till October.

ROOF-TOP PERGOLAS ARE OLD

How These Popular Breathing Spots in the Big Cities First Came Into Use.

In Persia or Babylonia ages ago some rich or royal man—long since forgotten—built the first parapet, breast high, about the edge of the broad flat roof that covered his palace. The tradition is that he did it to please his wife, who was superstitious and born and bred for fear air than wandered through the barred windows of her house in the ancient lowland city. So the husband built this parapet along the roof's edge in order that she might spend the evenings there in safety. She grew to love the place so much that later he caused to be constructed what today would be called a pergola, a kind of arbor roofed with thick-leaved vines whose shade tempered the ardor of the sun during the day.

Most new things are but old ones rediscovered. In New York today there is hardly a great apartment house that has been built in the last two years that has not provided a place upon the roof for its tenants to sit in the summer. In the more expensive of these great dwellings these roof-top pergolas are a striking architectural feature, large, square towers at the corners where there is a commanding view of the city or glimpses of green trees in the parks or the shining waters of the rivers. In the older apartment houses, owing to the almost universal demand this summer, a shift to please the tenants is made by putting up a broad strip of canvas; on the roofs where it is practicable even tents are pitched. Where there is nothing at all people flock to the roof during the evening just the same, bringing their chairs, and sit there in the darkness, fanned by the breezes aloft until bedtime.

Men Who Injure a Town.

The men who do a town more harm than good may be classed as follows: Those who oppose improvement; those who never advertise their business; those who distrust public-spirited men; those who show no hospitality to any one; those who hate to see others make money; those who oppose every movement that doesn't originate with themselves; those who put on long faces when a stranger speaks of locating in their town; those who oppose every public enterprise, which does not appear of personal benefit to themselves.

Bride's Conveyance.

There was to be a wedding in the church opposite the Jones house, and little Harriet Jones stood at the parlor window looking eagerly out. Yesterday there had been a funeral, and this she had watched with equal interest. As the sound of distant wheels smote her ear she strained her eyes to see what was coming, and caught a glimpse of a far-off carriage.

"Oh, mamma, mamma," she cried, all excitement, "come quick. Here's the hearse with the bride in it!"
