TAXATION BILL IS BRANDED AS AN 'INFAMOUS' PIECE OF WORK

Senator Reed Says the G. O. Plan to Relieve the Wealthy of Their Taxes Is "Boot Licking."

FURTHER REVISION FAVORED BY PENROSE

Pending Measure, He Says, Is Merely of a Temporary Character; Has Suggestions to Submit.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 4.—Further revenue revision legislation ought to be enacted as soon as possible, Chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee said today in a statement emphasizing that the pending measure was merely of a temporary and emergency character.

Discussing the sales tax, he said there was "no use to advance novel and untried suggestions of taxation at a time when promptness of action of some kind is the slogan." House leaders were even more pronounced in their declarations regarding such a tax. Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, and Representative Ransom, republican leader, declaring no such proposal could be put through the house.

No Change in Sentiment

Mr. Mendell insisted there had been no change in the house sentiment that there should be a "lifting and not a shifting of taxes."

Mr. Fordney took a similar view and it was indicated house leaders would insist upon a special program substantially in accord with that agreed upon at the White House conference last August.

Senator Penrose said there were many sources of revenue and methods of taxation that ought to be considered by congress at an early date and that he intended to address the senate on this particular subject.

"Just as soon as the pending bill becomes a law," he said, "I hope to submit to the consideration of some tribunal—either a special tax committee or the committee of the house and senate—a number of suggestions that may be useful."

Only One Thing to Do

"Meantime, we have only one thing to do: Get the country out of the depths into which it has been plunged and restore business and industry, employment and correct income-tax revenue as much as possible."

Senate consideration of the tax bill was confined today to a vigorous assault on the measure by Senator Reed, Missouri, a democratic member of the finance committee. He denounced the bill as an "infamous" piece of legislation and declared the republican plan to relieve the wealthy corporations and individuals of a large portion of their taxes was "a boot licking performance."

Several Amendments

Several amendments to the tax bill designed to stimulate construction of homes were proposed today by Senator Calder, of New York. One would provide that profits from the sale of dwellings between January 1, 1922, and January 1, 1927, shall be exempt from taxation if used in constructing other dwellings within one year after the sale. Another would provide that tax payers shall be allowed an exemption up to $2,000 on money received as interest on funds loaned for building or purchasing dwellings.

SAYS DANGER OF WARS IN FUTURE LIES IN EUROPE

New York, Oct. 4.—The danger of future wars lies in continental Europe instead of the Pacific, Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States, declared in an address here today. Hatred growing out of the great war, he said, may sow the seed for future conflict.

'NON-COM' WILL SELECT UNKNOWN SOLDIER'S BODY

Choice Will Be Made on the Morning of Oct. 24; Shipments to be Made From Havre Evening of 25th.

(By The Associated Press.)
Paris, Oct. 4 (by the Associated Press).—America's "unknown soldier," who will find honored sepulchre in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., will be selected by a non-commissioned officer from the American forces on the Rhine at Chalons Sur Marne on the morning of October 24. The body will leave Havre late on the evening of October 25, on board the United States cruiser Olympia.

HARDING TO MARCH AT HEAD OF PROCESSION

Washington, Oct. 4.—President Harding and the members of his cabinet will walk at the head of the procession that escorts the American unknown dead from the capitol to Arlington national cemetery on Armistice day. The decision to pay this tribute to the memory of all the men who lost their lives and identify overseas was reached today at the cabinet meeting.

War and navy department officials said today that the body of the unknown soldier would be brought direct to Washington on Admiral Dewey's old flagship, the Olympia, instead of being landed at New York, as announced in Paris. The Olympia, under the plans formulated, will enter Hampton Roads and proceed to the Potomac, arriving at Washington about November 8.

Another announcement today by the war department said arrangements had been completed by the American Telephone and Telegraph company to transmit President Harding's address at the ceremonies at Arlington throughout the country on long distance telephone wires.

The amplifying devices used at the last inauguration will be employed to distribute the president's words as he speaks not only to the gathering at the capitol but also to auditors in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

CLAIM RAILROAD DID NOT SUPPLY CARS AND ASKS $7,260 DAMAGES

Topeka, Kans., Oct. 4.—T. J. O'Brien, a farmer, today brought suit in the United States district court against the Union Pacific Railroad company for $7,260 damages. O'Brien claims he lost the amount on his wheat crop when the railroad company failed to supply him with grain cars.

When he ordered the cars July 24, 1920, O'Brien claimed he could have sold his 6,000 bushels of wheat for $2.46 a bushel and when the cars finally arrived and he was able to market the grain, it brought only $1.25 a bushel.

WITNESSES DESCRIBE THE FINDING OF WOMAN'S BODY, FLOATING FACE DOWNWARD, IN CLEAR LAKE

Lakeport, Calif., Oct. 4.—Testimony describing the finding of the body of Mrs. Maud Spencer floating face downward in Clear Lake, and the demeanor at that time of her husband, John A. Spencer, former minister, was introduced by the prosecution today at the trial of Spencer, charged with the murder of his wife.

Robert Siddell and his wife, of Kemoeti Bay, neighbors of the Spencers, were the principal witnesses. Mrs. Siddell told of hearing a cry on the night of July 29 last. She aroused her husband, she said but hurried out.

"Spencer met us at the door," she testified. "He told us his wife had fallen overboard. The three of us hurried to the lake which was nearby. The men recovered the body. Attempts to resuscitate her were fruitless."

Spencer explained that his wife had fallen into the water while his back was turned. Mrs. Siddell asserted.

WOODS TO HEAD CENTRAL AGENCY FOR EMERGENCY RELIEF OF IDLE

Former Police Commissioner of New York Heads Movement for Relief of Workless Wage Earners.

WILL KEEP CHECK ON THE PROGRESS MADE

Will Be Possible to Determine Whether There Is Evidence of "Slackerism" in Any Community.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 4.—Col. Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York, will head the central agency to be established here by a national conference on unemployment to co-ordinate emergency relief of the workless wage earners throughout the country.

The conference desires Secretary Hoover said, in making the announcement today, to see the whole country organized on a community basis to effect the quick distribution of jobs to the involuntary idle through efficient operations of the emergency program adopted last week. Informal machinery, voluntary in its nature, is being set up in the form of one of the conference committees, which under the direction of Colonel Woods, can receive reports from various communities of the progress being made and transmit to the different localities successful employment methods tried out in others.

Hope was expressed in high administrative circles today that President Harding's suggestion for a review by community authorities of the unemployment situation and steps taken to alleviate it in local areas would produce a picture from which it would be possible to determine whether there is evidence of "slackerism" in any community.

Undesirable Notoriety

The municipal and other authorities were said to have shown great interest in steps being planned here to deal with unemployment and where any community has failed to provide aid to its own unemployed, it is felt it would be brought to such undesirable notoriety through publication of the facts that emergency measures in that community would promptly follow.

Reports of local organizations are coming in to the conference steadily, Mr. Hoover said, adding that telegrams had been received from mayors of Memphis, Chattanooga and Nashville, Tenn., and Youngstown, O., stating that they were organizing to meet their own employment situations along the lines suggested by the conference.

The report of the committee on municipal organization for unemployment tonight said: "The methods of accomplishing results must vary with each locality and no methods capable of universal adoption can with safety be recommended. Therefore, specific recommendations to communities are confined to the very urgent one that following the leadership of their mayors with united local efforts they accept this primary obligation to the full."

PROSECUTION IN SPENCER TRIAL TO CLOSE TODAY

Witnesses Describe the Finding of Woman's Body, Floating Face Downward, in Clear Lake.

MOVIES USED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS BRING RESULTS

Chicago Will Extend Plan By Showing Lesson Films on Geography, History and Other Studies.

(By The Associated Press.)
Chicago, Oct. 4.—That the recently announced adoption of educational films for all of Chicago's public schools will prove a distinct boon to the city's schools, is the opinion of William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, who declares that every new measure taken to increase the attractiveness of school work is mirrored in the records of his department.

"In past years truancy presented far more of a problem than it does today," said Mr. Bodine. "The low truancy rate of recent years is explained not only by the rigid enforcement of the compulsory education law and the efficient work of truancy officers, but by the fact that each year more is being done to make school appeal to boys and girls."

"Today truancy in Chicago amounts to barely one per cent of the enrollment. With only 78 truant officers, we are covering an area of 200 square miles, with approximately 450,000 pupils in public and private schools combined. The low truancy rate is due to the fact that each year more is being done to make school appeal to boys and girls."

ROBBERS WOUND GIRL AND SEIZE $5,000; ESCAPE

Masked Men Enter Washington Bank, Shoot Assistant Cashier in the Arm and Flee With Money.

(By The Associated Press.)
Spokane, Wash., Oct. 4.—Two masked men entered the Spangle State bank at Spangle, eighteen miles south of here this afternoon, shot Miss Ruth Jennings, the assistant cashier, in the arm and escaped with a sum of money. A posse of sheriff's deputies left here in an effort to overtake the robbers.

According to Miss Jennings, she attempted to prevent the robbery and was knocked to the floor and a cloth saturated with a drug was placed over her face. When she revived after the robbers had left she gave the name and said she did not until this time that the robbery became known.

Miss Jennings' injury is not believed to be serious. The robbers obtained about $5,000, deputy sheriffs said.

CO-OPERATION IN GRAIN SELLING WILL BE FOUGHT

(By The Associated Press.)
Chicago, Oct. 4.—Middlemen in the grain trade meeting here in the Grain Dealers' National association voted today to continue their fight against the farmers' co-operative grain marketing movement. They endorsed the campaign conducted by their special legislative committee headed by L. J. Mansfield of Chicago and ordered it to continue its work for the next year.

This committee was called into being last June following organization of the United States grain growers, Inc., a national co-operative corporation of farmers. In this interval, Mr. Mansfield reported today, the committee had sent out letters to 200,000 influential farmers, had distributed 1,000,000 pieces of literature in eighteen states, had articles printed in nearly 700 magazines, farm journals and newspapers, and had organized a speakers' bureau.

The result, he declared, was that "the emergency situation has been met successfully. Our opponents are not functioning and are meeting with very little response in their campaign."

Reports that the grain trade had raised a fund of $250,000 for its counter campaign, he declared untrue, and he presented a statement showing total receipts of $40,385.53. Of this, $21,100 was received from grain exchanges, $500 from the Grain Dealers' National association, $6,675 as special contributions from Chicago board of trade members, $2,036 in outside contributions, and interest, $12.59.

Vigorous warning was given the grain men by Mr. Mansfield that the work they had tried they must carry out for their own preservation. He urged a "concerted and sustained campaign of education for the producer and the consumer."

"Failure to follow up this work so well begun," he declared, "will result in a flood of adverse legislation, in more adverse marketing schemes and finally, without doubt, in the concentration of the great bulk of the grain business in the United States in the hands of a few powerful interests."

HAITI IS QUIET

Banker Says At Senate Hearing

Failure of U. S. to Outline a Definite Policy in 1918 Is Held Responsible for Recent Revolts.

BANKERS' VIEWS OF THE FUTURE ARE OPTIMISTIC

Tide of Stability Is Flowing In; Prosperity Is Returning; Present Wage Scales Must Be Reduced.

(By The Associated Press.)
Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 4.—Golden thoughts with a silver lining giving promise of more prosperous days was the currency handed today by the bankers of the nation in the opening hour of the forty-seventh convention of the American Bankers' association. Speakers at the initial session said that with increasing force the tide of stability was flowing in and slowly but with certainty engulfing the obstacles in its path as it moved toward prosperity.

The late general, that late John S. Drum, president in his keynote address, was one of the factors met in the path of progress. Attempts to maintain wage scales based on prices and values that no longer exist cannot be permanently successful, but while they continue they cannot do otherwise than work injury to industry, to a very large part of the employed population and to the entire public," he said.

Must Reduce Wages

"It is becoming more and more evident to labor as well as to the public in general, that labor cannot find full employment at the wages it wants and must accept work at a wage proportionate to the value of the goods it produces and in keeping with the average level of values."

Following the general session in the forenoon, the delegates went into divisional sessions of the trust company section, the savings bank section and the clearing house section.

There is not enough "human touch" in the contact of bankers with their patrons, it was asserted today by J. B. Dunbar, of Pittsburgh, president of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association, in an address before the clearing house section.

Must Follow Golden Rule

"We are now at a point where we must follow the golden rule, if not for love, then from sheer force of necessity," he declared. "The rehabilitation of world business and world affairs rests four square upon the practice of the old fashioned but very beautiful doctrine, 'Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.' Selfishness is the great enemy of the age."

The appointment of a committee from three to five members to carry on the work of developing the acceptance method of financing was recommended to the conference in a report of the acceptance committee.

"Our open discount market and the means for curing for long term interest trade credits are the two vital features of our financial machinery that need further and immediate development," the report stated.

MINERS APPEAL TO HARDING TO PROTECT RIGHTS

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 4.—The United Mine Workers of America filed before President Harding today a request that the federal government aid in protecting the rights of coal miners held in jail by West Virginia authorities as a result of the recent strike disturbances in that state.

The committee appointed by the mine workers convention in Indianapolis spent an hour with the president advising him of their understanding of the West Virginia situation. They told him they believed the men under arrest were in jeopardy and that it was the duty of federal authorities to take steps for their protection.

No action of the conference were made public, but John Moore of Ohio, who represents President Lewis of the mine workers at the unemployment conference here and in London, declared he was satisfied some means would be found to protect the prisoners' rights.

FATTY ARBUCKLE IS ALLEGED TO HAVE VIOLATED THE BOOZE LAW

Movie Comedian Will Be Arrested When He Arrives in San Francisco Today, Says U. S. Prosecutor.

SOURCE OF PART OF LIQUOR DISCLOSED

Newspaper Claims It Came From a Grill Two Blocks From the Hotel in Which the Party Was Held.

(By The Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 4.—The source of a part of the liquor that was delivered to the suite of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle in the Hotel St. Francis, when a party was given that resulted in the death of Miss Virginia Rapp, was disclosed here today in an affidavit published in the San Francisco Belletier. At the same time it was announced by Robert H. McCormack, assistant United States attorney general, in charge of prohibition prosecutions that arrangements have been made to arrest Arbuckle for alleged violations of the prohibition law when he arrives here tomorrow.

A Whisky Runner

The affidavit was made by Jack Lawrence, who said it was a "whisky runner" for James T. Wall. The affidavit coincides with a statement made by McCormack that the liquor came from Gobeys Grill, two blocks from the hotel.

Lawrence in his affidavit made statements as follows: "On Saturday, September 3, I delivered four bottles of whisky to Wall at the St. Francis, and on Monday, the fifth, I delivered twelve more bottles to him. He came down pretty drunk."

"I remarked: 'You are having a fine time up here,' and he said: 'Fatty' is having a fine old 'hoose up here.' 'Wall replied: 'I'll say he can.'"

To Arrest Two Others

Lawrence also stated in his affidavit that most of the liquor he delivered came here from Canada, which was made in the mountains.

McCormack also announced two others will be arrested with Arbuckle.

Justice Raymond Clay held that the mother of his children was his wife under Louisiana law.

SEES DANGER OF ENGLAND TAKING HONORS AT GOLF

Three Representatives of Great Britain Survive the First Round of Match Play at Deal, N. J.

(By The Associated Press.)
Deal, N. J., Oct. 4.—The danger of the woman's golf championship of the United States being captured by an English woman increased today when three representatives of Great Britain survived the first round of match play of the national tournament in the progressive style at the Hollywood golf club.

Miss Cecil Leith, champion of Great Britain, France and Canada, won by eight and seven, eliminating Mrs. R. H. Hammer of New York. She had an easy opponent, but her trip to the turn in 41 against a head wind increased the spect for her Babe Ruth like driving power.

The greatest upset of the day was the defeat of Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, who had tied for the qualifying medal, by Miss Edith Leith, sister of the British champion, 3 and 2. Miss Collett's poor putting and one shot into a ditch were to blame.

The closest match was between Mrs. Latham Hall of England, who had tied Miss Collett in qualifying and Mrs. W. A. Gavin of New York, which went to 20 holes. Mrs. Hall won as the result of Mrs. Gavin unthinkingly tamping her footprints in a bunker with her club before she had played out.

Mrs. Gavin did this in the qualifying round and it cost her two strokes. Today it meant the match under the rules.

Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, defending champion, had no trouble in surviving.

Of the American favorites, Miss Mildred Caverly of Philadelphia had the greatest difficulty, defeating Miss Beate Fenn of Portland, Maine, at the nineteenth hole. A tee shot out of bounds by her at the eighteenth possibly cost Miss Fenn the match, as she was one up after playing the seventeenth.

PIONEER RANCHER OF QUAY CO. FOUND DEAD; FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED

Tucuman, N. M., Oct. 4.—The body of Roy Lackey, a pioneer rancher of the county, was found here today. The Lackey ranch, near Rana, N. M., forty miles from this place. He with Boss Jackson, a well known stockman; Jack Lewis, known as "Texas Jack," and Bent Conner, a hand on the Jackson ranch were gathering cattle on the Boss Jackson ranch Sunday, twenty miles from Rana, over the Texas line. Some of the party returned to the Lackey ranch Sunday afternoon. Lackey failed to show up. Fearing something had happened him, a searching party was started on a hunt for him Monday morning.

About 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, an hour later his body was found on the Mann school section, about one mile south of the tank. Indications were that he had been killed Sunday afternoon.

A coroner's inquest resulted in a verdict that Lackey came to his death from a gunshot wound fired from the hands of an unknown party.

A cut above the eye indicated that he had been struck with a revolver.

He is survived by a wife and two children, a son and daughter.

Number 10, Downing street, has been the home of the prime ministers of England for almost two hundred years.

BOUNDARIES ARE EUROPE'S WEAK SPOT JUST NOW

Chicago Educator Has Returned from Albania After Traversing the Entire Country on Mule Back.

(By The Associated Press.)
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 4.—Prof. Elmer E. Jones, head of the education department of Northwestern University, has returned from Albania after having traversed the entire country on mule-back—something that no other American ever has done. Just before he left, war threatened with Serbia, and Prof. Jones could see that the middle east boundaries would almost surely result in a clash.

Boundaries Not Defined
"That is the weak spot in Europe just now," he said on his return. "Boundaries are not definitely defined. In Albania, neither the natives nor the Serbians to their north have knowledge as to the lines separating the two countries."

The crying need of the Balkans is for a definite fixture of boundaries, as border fights are almost of daily occurrence and were leading to wholesale massacres of Albanians. Over night an Albanian village is changed to a Serbian town. At the behest of Albanians I wrote a telegram to the league of nations begging for settlement of a question that was bound to cause bloodshed.

Prof. Jones went over mountain roads on the back of a donkey and covered 200 miles in this way. He was given every courtesy by the Albanian government as it was understood that the result of his survey would depend the building of a large university in Albania by the Methodist church. Prof. Jones is now working on his report.

Women Wear Veils
"Albania is a Mohammedan country and the women wear veils," he continued. "Polygamy is practiced somewhat there, but is fast dying out. The Albanians are a progressive people and realize that polygamy is bad for the nation. The women, however, are the workers and burden bearers of the home. They are very strong physically and I frequently met a man and wife going to market, the husband riding serenely on the back of a donkey while his helpmate plodded by his side carrying an immense load of hay. Albanian women have a kick of carrying hay that is extraordinary. You see a quarter-ton or so of hay moving along a country road but you don't see the woman. She is inside somewhere and you may catch a glimpse of her feet. How it is done I couldn't discover. The hay is sold in town just as we take butter and eggs to a village in America."

Flirtations Barred
"A measure for strength is a woman's back in Albania but, even so, her husband takes no flirtations. He does not see his wife till the wedding day and meanwhile he has bought or built a house. Around it he has put up a high brick wall. On top of this wall is a bed of cement and in the cement are chips of sharp glass. No man a-woman can reach the other man's mate once she is behind that wall. The women by training never look upon men. Even the young girls who had reached the veil age, ran away from our party as we traveled from place to place. The little shepherdesses of the hills leaped from rock to rock in fright when they saw men approaching from afar."

Prof. Jones said that education had been neglected in Albania by reason of the 400 years of Turkish rule when the Turk refused to let the Albanians read or write or have any schoolhouses.

Prof. Jones said that while Albania has no railroads, its system of telephones is so complete and its police force so efficient that a person is safer in any part of Albania than in Michigan boulevard, Chicago. Life was better than in an attempt to visit the savage tribe of Midites, he explained, by reason of a clash with the constabulary a day or two before he was to start north.

LAS CRUCES PLANNING CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)
Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 4.—Civic improvements, estimated to cost $35,000 will be made in Las Cruces in November. The work includes paving Convent street to connect Main street with the National highway between Las Cruces and El Paso, and Alameda, boulevard from Convent street to Griggs street, a distance of more than a half mile.

Frank M. Hayner, president of the Las Cruces Lumber company, has arranged to underwrite the bonds at par. The bonds are for ten years and carry 8 per cent interest. They are to provide for paving, curbing and walks in the streets to be improved.

Plans are also being made by the school board to expend $71,500 on a new school building and additions to Central high and Lugo grade schools.

GROSS PUBLIC DEBT INCREASED IN SEPT.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 4.—The nation's gross public debt increased $1,778,000 in September, according to figures made public by the treasury tonight, which show the national debt on September 30 to have been $23,824,108,000. ## MRS. SOUTHARD HAD A LOT OF HARD LUCK WITH HER HUSBANDS

Meyer that she had had a lot of hard luck with her husbands; that she had lost two and her baby and that "Ed" (Meyer) was a sweet boy and she thought a lot of him. He further testified that Mrs. Meyer, in discussing the receipt for the premium on the life insurance policy applied for by Meyer, told him that if he could collect the policy she would give him half of it. On the day of Meyer's funeral, W. J. Trueblood, Mrs. Meyer's father, stated to the witness, according to his testimony, that he did not want the witness to go back to Goodins thinking his (Trueblood's) daughter had lost her money. He added that he had plenty of money with which to take care of his daughter.

Women Among Spectators
Mrs. Paul Vincent Southard, the defendant, sat stony-eyed through the entire session. Only upon adjournment did her manner relax. She chatted for some minutes with her counsel and smiled broadly several times.

A large number of women were among the spectators today, in fact for a time a majority in the courtroom were women.

Alonso Dooley of Keyesville, Mo., arrived in Twin Falls today. He is subpoenaed as a witness for the state. Mr. Dooley is the father of Robert C. and Edward Dooley, deceased, respectively husband and brother-in-law of the defendant.

For the sake of your babies see our baby today

FOR years this has been our hope—to develop a small hot-water radiator-boiler that would warm a modest home as perfectly as our larger heating plants have warmed mansions, cathedrals, and even the White House itself.

ARCOLA is the practical fulfillment of that hope. ARCOLA is the baby of the American Radiator Company.

—It is unlike any heating plant you have ever seen. It is boiler, radiator and water-heater combined—as handsome as a fine phonograph and costing hardly any more.

ARCOLA creates and radiates warmth in the room where it is placed, and connected with American Radiators, it will heat every other room and provide hot water for bathing and washing as well.

The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (formerly called Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a very great deal.

FIRST MUSICAL OF FALL SEASON WELL RECEIVED

Large Audience at Presbyterian Church Hears Opening Concert of Fortnightly Music Club.

Members of the Fortnightly music club, appearing in the first musical of the fall season, set a high standard by the strong program of excellent numbers presented at the Presbyterian church last evening. The audience was exceptionally large for an attraction of the nature and manifested the city's growing interest in musical offerings of the Fortnightly club.

Mrs. John W. Wilson, welcoming those present in behalf of the club, outlined the opportunities for usefulness of musical organizations to the city. She urged the establishment of community singing, stating that it could profitably be substituted for depressing talks.

H. G. Buijes, presented the opening number, a pipe organ selection which displayed his ability to handle the sonorous as well as the softer tones.

Mrs. John D. Clark, always a favorite at concerts given by Albuquerque talent, presented "Ave Maria" by Schubert-Wilhelm and "An Moer" by the same author. Her round clear tones were extremely well received, particularly the sustained legato notes of "Ave Maria." Mrs. D. W. Paw played her accompaniments on the pipe organ.

Miss Grace Sortz received a warm welcome and hearty applause from her numbers, "Winter Noes" by Max Payden and "Will o' the Wisp" by Spradon. The tribune ability of Miss Sortz contributed much to the success of these numbers. Mrs. L. B. Thompson was at the piano.

The reading by Miss Lois Stearns, "The Happy Prince" of Oscar Wilde, though long, held throughout the closest attention of the audience. Her strong, well-pitched voice coupled with a clear enunciation made possible a forceful presentation of the sober theme.

Mrs. Paw added a musical number, the piano number of Mrs. Thompson was "Tarantello" by Van Norden. Her smooth and faultless technique brought forth many favoring comments.

Mrs. Clark again appeared for three short numbers, the last being "Trauerlied," which she presented bravely and with perfect fidelity to the traditions of proper rendition.

The closing number was Gounod's "Ave Maria," sung by Miss Sortz with Mrs. Paw at the organ and a violin accompaniment by Mrs. Clark. Miss Sortz sang the familiar selection extremely well, displaying a well modulated voice with plenty of volume.

COL. J. H. MCCLINTOCK WRITES OF DUKE CITY IN AN EL PASO PAPER

Col. J. H. McClintock, state historian of Arizona, who was a visitor here recently on his return from the Santa Fe fiesta, is the author of an article about Albuquerque in the El Paso Times. Colonel McClintock was the guest of H. F. Robinson, an old-time friend, during his brief visit here.

Albuquerque, says the historian, is facing an era of great prosperity, and is a bustling, milling, modern American city. He describes the various municipal features and the educational institutions with which the environs of the city are "almost congested," he says.

He speaks of the growth of the residence section above the city but remarks that unlike Santa Fe, only in a few cases is the architecture distinctive.

Any high school or institution within the 150-mile radius will be able to hear the speeches and concerts by the installation of a small receiving station. Hospitals, clubs, and possibly some ranches are expected to make use of the free service.

By means of the regular wireless telegraph station the university here will be able to talk with the universities of Oklahoma, Colorado, Texas, Kansas, and Arizona, the college at Las Cruces, and the military institute at Roswell. All of these institutions have wireless stations which can communicate with the state university and it is expected that intercollegiate news will be transmitted by wireless, an innovation in the field of college journalism.

The initial endowment of $500 for the wireless station was made by Mrs. Korber, and to this the Albuquerque Electric company has added the necessary geyser material. Dr. Hill, who has taken an active interest in the station, has given a gift of necessary batteries from the Arno Hunting company, the cement for the foundations from the Gibson-Paw company, and the foundation from the Albuquerque Foundry and Machine Works.

The tower for the station will be seventy-two feet high, approximately the height of the pole on the administration building. The tower steel will be that contained in the windmill which was formerly located on the campus.

Boulder, Colo., Oct. 4.—A city tax on automobiles to create a fund for road improvement has been suggested to the city council by City Manager Scott Mitchell and is now under consideration by the council. The municipal tax of ten mills does not provide sufficient revenue for road maintenance, Mitchell declares.

HEALTH IS A WOMAN'S GREATEST ASSET

Contrast the cheerful happy woman with head erect, the glow of health on her cheeks, the elastic step and bubbling enthusiasm as she goes about her daily tasks, with the woman who suffers from backache, headache, dragging-down pains, nervousness and despondency. Such conditions are undoubtedly caused by woman's ailments which will yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for many years has been restoring weak, ailing women to health and strength. Every woman who suffers in this way owes it to herself to at least give it a trial.

PRIZE GRAPES GROWN IN SOUTH HIGHLANDS ARE CREDIT TO CITY

It can be done, even in the sand that abounds in the highlands. W. H. Modlin, who lives at 1120 South High street, exhibited yesterday six varieties of European grapes grown on his place that should make the California growers look to their laurels. Mr. Modlin has been growing grapes for years and has learned what varieties are best adapted to this country.

"Grapes do well here," said Mr. Modlin. "They should be grown in sandy soil free from alkali and should be carefully pruned. The grapes which can be raised here equal the California product in size and perfection, but they surpass them in flavor, I believe. If we could just get water on these sand hills every foot could be set out in grapes that would amount to something as a new industry for the community."

Mr. Modlin's tray of exhibition bunches included the Red Emperor, Tokay, White Mountain, Muscat, Black Zinfandel and Lady Fingers. He also has several European varieties, as well as for the table.

The keeping of pigeons in England was introduced by the Romans, who used them for carrying, as well as for the table.

DREAM OF NEW YORK FANS OF A WORLD SERIES BETWEEN GIANTS AND YANKS BECOMES A REALITY

After 19 Years of Waiting, the Metropolis Will Have a Contest of Its Own; Rival Pennant Winners Meet in the First Game of the Series Today on the Polo Grounds.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Oct. 4.—The dream of the metropolis baseball fans has become a reality. For years local followers of the national game have hoped for a world series battle between the New York National and New York American league teams. Now, after nineteen years of waiting, the Giants and the Yankees, winners of their respective league titles, are to grapple for the supreme prize of professional baseball, the championship of the universe.

On the historic Polo grounds tomorrow afternoon, the rival league 1921 pennant winners meet in the first of a series of five out of nine games which is expected to add record-breaking features to the long history of the world series. Led by John McGraw, and Miller Huggins, the Giants and Yankees will scatter out on the diamond shortly after noon with a combination of stars seldom, if ever, equaled in the annals of the game.

Uniform of the Yanks. In the gray traveling uniform of the Yankees will be Babe Ruth, the clouting king of the baseball world, with a record of 19 home runs this season; Carl Mayes, famous underhanded hitting artist, catcher Wally Schang, veteran of three past world series, against whose speedy throwing arm runner after runner has tried to steal bases only to be thrown out standing up; Roger Peckinpaugh, one of the best shortstops on the major circuit today; and Bob Meusel, heavy hitting outfielder.

Giants' offerings. Opposed to this galaxy of stars the Giants will offer Frank Frisch, one of the fastest infielders that ever played a skinned diamond position; George Kelly, leading home run hitter of the National league; Emil Meusel, brother of Yankee Bob Meusel, also noted for his extra base hits; Dave Bancroft, one of the most finished shortstops of modern baseball and Pitchers Toney, Nehf and Barnes, all twisters extraordinary.

While close followers of baseball hold the opinion that neither the Giants nor Yankees of today are the great playing machines that made earlier world series history, such as the Athletics of 1910-11-13 under Connie Mack and the Chicago Cubs of 1906-7-8 when Frank Chance led one of the fastest and smoothest working infield combinations in the history of the game, the two local teams possess both the color and personality for a sensational and thrilling series. It will be, however, more individual than team or combination feature play and this in some respects, is expected to heighten the glamor of the clash.

Interest Is Keen. Regardless of the question of individual brilliancy against mechanical playing perfection, the fact remains that the history of Greater New York's participation in world series has the interest in the outcome been so keen. Twice before have the Giants and the Yankees met on the home diamond in the post-season series of 1910 and 1914. In each case the National league club was the victor, winning the first extra tie game to two, with an extra tie contest for good measure, and the second four games to one. In 1910 102,000 spectators saw the play, while four years later close to 40,000 fans watched the struggle.

Heavy Advance Sale. Tonight the baseball and financial statistician is predicting record breaking attendance and gate receipts and there is much in the way of advance data to bear out these predictions. Reserve seats and boxes are reported to be sold out. Thousands of spectators, willing to pay a premium for a reserved seat, must take chances in the long lines of standers already forming before the gates leading to the unserved sections of the stands. It is freely predicted that, should the series go seven or eight games, as is generally expected, the total attendance and gate receipts will surpass figures made in past series.

Crowds Pour Into City. Thousands of baseball followers from many sections of the country poured into the city for the sole purpose of witnessing the play. Hotels reported their accommodations taxed to the limit and the of-

THE PROPER CARE OF SPARE TIRES

The one or more spare tires that every car should always carry are quite as important as the tires on the wheels and should be given the care to which they are entitled. A recent bulletin issued from the service department of the Spretels "Savage" Tire Company gives the following information regarding the use and care of "spare" or "extra" tires:

"It is a mistake to fasten a spare tire to the back of the machine and leave it there for an indefinite period, with the intention of using it only in the case of an emergency. During a prolonged period of idleness a tire will harden on the surface and so deteriorate that when it is put into service the tread will wear off rapidly. The best plan is to change about with one of the tires on the wheels. All tires should be made to work with equal diligence and also have their tread periods. It might be said that rubber gets tired from overwork or indolence and incapable from too much ease in the same manner as people do.

"Tires used as spares should be covered with tire covers. The tire cover protects the casing from the destructive effects of light and the elements. It should be seen that the water is not caught and retained in the bottom of the tire cover. A small hole may advantageously be put in the cover to obviate this possibility."

OFFICERS ISSUE CALL TO STATE W. C. T. U. MEET

Thirty - Eighth Annual Convention of New Mexico Organization Opens in Santa Fe October 14.

The official convention call for the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the state Woman's Christian Temperance union, which will be held in Santa Fe on October 14, 15 and 16, has been issued by Mrs. Anna Wilda Sprumquist of this city, state president. Unions are instructed to notify Miss Stella Sloan, president of the Santa Fe union, of the number of delegates expected.

The call says: "Because New Mexico has doubled in membership since last convention; because several new unions have joined the state 'family'; because the new program of constructive activity as outlined by mother national are becoming potent factors in unifying community interests, and chiefly because the local and state organizations are privileged to have a part in establishing and operating a training school and home for dependent and ambitious girls—the call to convention is a call to services of jubilation and devout thanksgiving—the call to new consecration in serving 'God and home and humanity'—a call to the motherhood of this state to assemble and consider the magnitude of the task we have assumed in educating and mothering the needy girlhood of New Mexico.

"The call to convention is a call to patriots who reverence 'Old Glory' and the noble ideals it symbolizes; to assemble for the purpose of considering methods to combat the insidious activities in this state that are undermining the foundations of government in violation of the constitution of the

SAVAGE TIRES

HISTORY OF THE RED MAN SERIES

THE CONTEST

BY "INDIAN" MILLER

In the olden days the different tribes of the Southwest were proud of the prowess of their braves. There was one tribe in those days which excelled all others. Their medicine man was a great prophet and a wise man. He said in the council, "We are few, but the great tribes shall fear us."

"How can it be so?" asked the old men. "Leave it to me," he answered.

He knew all the boys of his tribe. He had played with them and made them pretty things from the time they were babies; he had felt their muscles and watched them play from day to day. He had chastised them when they needed punishment; and he had encouraged them when they needed sympathy.

With splendid judgment he picked three of the boys who were about fifteen. They were named Swift Eagle, Mountain Lion and Turkey Feather.

To Swift Eagle he said, "Every morning you must run around Thunder Mountain before your prayers." To Mountain Lion he said, "Every morning you must carry a stone to the top of Thunder Mountain before your prayers." And to Turkey Feather he said, "Every morning you must shoot an arrow into the target on Thunder Mountain before your prayers."

Each did as he told them each morning. To Swift Eagle he would say, "Now run faster," or "Now run twice around Thunder Mountain." For Mountain Lion he would select a heavier stone. To Turkey Feather he would say, "Stand back farther to shoot."

At the end of a year Swift Eagle was running ten times around Thunder Mountain at great speed; Mountain Lion was carrying a stone as large as himself to the top of the mountain; and Turkey Feather was shooting the target on top of the mountain as far as he could see it. The medicine man was pleased. Then he challenged all the neighboring tribes to a contest in running, in strength and in archery. Confident in victory over this small village each of the tribes sent its best men, each boasting of their prowess.

To their chagrin they were all badly beaten by Swift Eagle, Mountain Lion, and Turkey Feather. The little village enjoyed peace for many years, for other tribes feared the prowess of its warriors.

Wise men of the Spretels "Savage" Tire Company have decreed that no better tire shall be made than theirs. In their fabric D type tire they build with years of experience in that particular branch of tire construction. In their new Cord tire they have embodied the select of recent methods and the latest in cord tire improvements. And so Savage Tires are feared by the warriors of other tribes for their excellence and performance in competition with the pick of other makes.

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna Kent Forbes.

AN EGG SHAMPOO.

The woman who realizes the value of an egg shampoo for her scalp must eventually have beautiful hair. There are few treatments more effective than this for beautifying and improving the hair.

Some people will tell you that it is necessary to use three to six eggs for an egg shampoo. This is a foolish extravagant waste in these expensive days. One egg is sufficient for any ordinary head of hair, two eggs for even the thickest hair.

An Egg Shampoo Makes the Hair Glossy.

Beat up the egg until it is quite light, yolk and white together.

Rub this into the scalp and cover the hair as thoroughly as possible. Let it dry in.

It will take 30 minutes or more and it may feel rather sticky and messy. The egg dries over the scalp and absorbs the oil and dirt and grease and dandruff so that when you begin your shampoo you have no trouble in making the scalp absolutely clean. Every one knows that it is impossible to wash all the dandruff from the scalp with a plain soap and water shampoo.

Wash off the egg with warm water and any good mild soap, castile or tar for preference. Use soap over the scalp at least twice and three times if you have been using an oil tonic. Rinse with water a little hotter than what you washed with and rinse again several times. It is not so hard to rinse the soap from the hair when you have first used an egg. If you can dry your hair in the sun so much the better. You will have a beautifully clean scalp and soft glossy hair which will be benefited by the sulphur in the egg.

M. W. T. M. G. K. F. When the shoulders and back are too stout, it shows the whole body is overweight and general reduction will correct this. Exercises will help, but reduction is the real solution. Deep breathing, which fills the lower part of the lungs, will exercise all the muscles of the back and consume the surplus fat on the ribs and shoulders. For the bust formula, send a stamped, addressed envelope.

Worried? Consult the doctor about this oppressive sensation. It is quite possible that you merely have indigestion, which will often mislead people into thinking they have heart trouble.

C. L. Massage the legs each night with cocoa butter, which will nourish the tissue.

Reader: Stenographer: If you are between 20 and 24 years of age your weight is correct; if older add one-half of a pound for each year. Yeast cakes are not fattening in themselves, but they may be helping other foods fatten, since they provide vitamins and keep the system in better working condition.

HEROINE OF "FOUR HORSEMEN" TO WED

Alice Terry.

Alice Terry, who is the heroine in the screen drama made from D. W. Griffith's novel, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," is engaged to marry Rex Ingram, who directed the picture. The wedding, it is said, will take place soon. Miss Terry plays the part of Marguerite Laurier, wife of a French leader, who falls in love with Desnoyers, the rich South American tango dancing hero.

Close-Ups.
A complete fairy story will be embodied in "Enchantment," the next film in which pretty Marion Davies will star. This interlude is from the famous tale of the Sleeping Beauty. A scene from Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" will also be included in the photoplay.

A new stage at the Realart studio was the occasion of a big "film in the night" party attended by Rebs Daniels, Constance Binney, May McAvoy and many others.

Clothes such as Pola Negri wears in "The Arabian Night" put the "in" in the "oh" in chic. The first story for Harold Lloyd by Jean Hayes is "A Sailor Made Man" and has been completed. Mildred Davis will support Lloyd in the film.

Comes now another French film. It is "The Orderly," from Guy de Maupassant's story. It will be distributed by Pathe. K. Kolas plays the role of the kindly but tragically ruined Colonel de Lamoulin. Paul Hubert and Madame Nathalie Kovanko, both favorites with Parisian audiences, will have leading parts.

AS THE PEOPLE VIEW IT

WHO WANTED REPEAL

Editor Journal:
The Herald under command of its masters, is now starting in to decry the agitation for a statewide direct primary law.

It mentions the well known fact, that the special interests got control of the legislature of New York so as to get through some iniquitous legislation for a gang of exploiters regarding the subway of New York in their own interest. It is the Lusk Assembly. It unveiled some socialist members of the assembly, against the advice and protest of Chief Justice Taft, and Secretary of State Hughes.

The leader of the reactionaries, the fellow Lusk, was exposed later by the entire press of New York, because his wife had accepted a thousand dollar silver service from some parties Lusk had helped get a bill through the assembly for.

This Lusk crowd, at the behest of the big interests and reactionaries, just managed to repeal the statewide part of the New York primary law, leaving the district and county phases of the law still in force. This is the first time in the history of direct primary laws, where any state has repealed any part of such a law.

The New York primary law was not a very good one anyway, but it was infinitely better than none. They have no initiative law in New York, or the people of that state would at once re-enact the statewide primary. The outcry against the repeal of it is statewide.

New Mexico is still the only state in the Union without direct primary law. No Mr. Herald, notwithstanding what you say, the agitation in New Mexico for such a law is greater than ever, and a statewide league to continue the agitation is being framed, and your bunch of exploiting owners will not be able to silence the agitation either, and don't you forget it, and if you don't get out of the way, you will get run over.

There isn't a state in the Union that wants to get rid of its direct primary law, anything you may say to the contrary. Only the exploiters, and tax dodgers and reactionaries want them repealed. Those laws are the people's weapon. We need a statewide direct primary law in New Mexico, and with it a corrupt practice act.

(Signed) Direct Primary.

Dear Sir: Referring to the article "North Fourth Street," in Sunday's Journal under the column headed "As the People View It," I think Mr. Hefflin's idea of painting a line in the center of the road a mighty good one and would suggest that they also build a fence along the side. Yours truly,

TO BROADEN SCOPE OF RED CROSS COMMUNITY NURSING WORK IN CITY

A meeting of the new nursing program committee of the local Red Cross chapter will be held this afternoon in the federal building preceding the regular Wednesday afternoon well-baby clinic at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. J. G. Gould, president of the Woman's club, is chairman of the new committee which will back the work of Miss Gladys Harris, Red Cross public health nurse, and which will assist her in developing the work here.

The city clinic on Wednesday continues to be well patronized, an attendance of 24 being recorded at last week's session. One Spanish-American woman who comes regularly to the clinic walks all the way from Santa Barbara, bringing her three children with her. Free milk has been furnished for some time past for herself and her three children all of whom where under nourished. Miss Harris is planning to conduct a class in nutrition in the near future.

Whose fault is it when your husband is cross at breakfast?

If you hit your thumb with a hammer you wouldn't blame your thumb for hurting.

Then why blame your husband whose nerves may have been pounded by coffee, and whose rest probably has been broken by the irritation of the caffeine it contains?

If you stay awake half the night you don't feel any too cheerful.

The caffeine of coffee and the tannin of tea are known drugs. If their use is persisted in, sooner or later the nervous system may give way.

Then you may have insomnia, or disturbed sleep. Your nerves and tissues will be robbed of that stability essential for normal and happy living.

You can avoid this possibility if you'll stop drinking tea and coffee and drink instead, rich, pleasing Postum.

Postum is the delicious cereal beverage with a coffee-like flavor. It affords the advantages of a hot drink, without the ill effects of tea or coffee.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Try it with the family for a few days, and see what a difference there'll be—how it will permit Nature to bring sound sleep and strong, sturdy, quiet nerves. Sold by grocers.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

And me and him went back in the dining room and looked at the apples, one being a extra big one and one being a extra small one not looking any relation, me thinking Well, its only polite to ask Artie to take one first and if he takes the biggest one he aint very refined.

And I sed to him, Go ahead, Artie, take one. Sounding as if I didnt give a darn wich one he took, and he kepp on looking at them a while, saying, No, you take one first, you live heer and you awt to have the first choose. Wich one do you want? he sed, and I sed, Eny one, either one. Thinking, G, the big pig, he thinks Ill take the little one out of politeness and then he can take the big one and look as if I was a axel-dont. And I thart, Like fun, like heck, saying, No, go ahead, youre company, go ahead and take one. I dont care wich one you take, Id jest as leaf have one as the other. Wich one do you want? I sed.

Holey smoke, wat do I care wich one I got, so ahead and take the big one, that will show how much I care, sed Artie.

Well I tell you lets wats do, I sed, jest to show you Id jest as leaf have one as the other, lets cut them in half and each take half of each. Wat do you say? I sed, That suits me all rite, anything suits me, & I dont care wich one I get, Im immaterial, sed Artie.

Being wat we did. Proving wen people get too polite it starts to look suspicious.

CORRUPT PRACTICES.

No one can be found who will defend corrupt political practices. Now and then an apologist is found who says they are a political necessity in order to combat the methods of the opposition. Yet no one will defend political corruption, although many men, and some women, who are honest enough in their private relations, will indulge in such practices, or wink at them.

When a political party degenerates to the point where it will refuse to pass an act regulating corrupt practices or will dupe the public by misleading it with a law forbidding the practices but omitting any adequate penalty for violation, that party is unworthy of popular esteem or support. These practices are sometimes countenanced by political leaders.

New Mexico must have a corrupt practices act with teeth in it. The "opposition" must be put in a position where it dare not resort to such methods. Then the apology for them as a counter-irritant will be unnecessary.

Crowding the polls, bulldozing election officials, stuffing ballot boxes and buying votes must be made an unhealthy pastime. There can be no decency in elections until these practices are stopped. In the recent election the state campaign committees of both parties discountenanced these methods. Yet they went on, in isolated cases.

Both parties should commit themselves to a law which will meet this disgraceful situation.

FALL'S BAD TASTE.

The Hon. A. B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior, was an Albuquerque visitor for a few hours last week. He did not honor the Journal with a call. We merely noted his presence in the city. His presence created no interest. But his comments did. An evening paper quotes him as follows: "There will be no legislation pushed through congress this session. No matter what politicians have promised, nothing will go through congress until the administration has mapped out a complete program."

"Mr. Fall stated that the relief alone was responsible for the $50,000,000 relief loan for stockmen. No one else, he said, had anything to do with it."

"As for the McNary bill," he said, "I can safely say that there is no one in New Mexico who knows anything about it, in spite of what some men may have said. The original bill has been lost completely, and only a few men in Washington know of the contents of the substitute for it."

This, of course, was a personal, vindictive and ill-advised slap in the face of Senator H. O. Bursum. In effect he said that Bursum had done nothing in the senate and had lied to the people about having had any part in the passage of the $50,000,000 livestock relief bill.

The poor taste of a cabinet officer, in thus assailing a republican United States senator, and in doing it in a way that involved the president in the affront, is astounding. It marks the limitations of a man whose animosities are stronger than his judgment.

This ugly performance lends added color to the rather reliable rumors that Fall left as deep-seated a prejudice against Senator Bursum as he could in the minds of other senators, when he went into the cabinet. It also creates a suspicion as to why all matters affecting public-land legislation proposed by Mr. Bursum, or "assistant" secretaries of the Interior recommend against his proposals.

If Secretary Fall were merely handicapping Senator Bursum by his childish hostility, we might well be silent. But when he hinders Senator Bursum, either in his standing in congress, in his legislative program, or in his political standing in New Mexico, he is striking at the heart of progress in this state. If help is to come to New Mexico, Senator Bursum must be strong enough to bring it.

Secretary Fall is showing a vile spirit toward the state which honored him and lifted him to national prominence. He is also exhibiting disgusting political treachery toward the one man who made his career a possibility—Holm O. Bursum.

As Brutus said, in meditating on the death of Caesar: "For 'tis a common proof, That lowliness is young ambition's ladder, Whereto the climber-upwards turns his face; But when he once attains the utmost round, He then unto the ladder turns his back. Looks in the clouds, scornful the base degrees By which he did ascend."

SENTIMENT FOR DISARMAMENT.

As people visualize the possible benefits of disarmament by the nations the one which makes the widest appeal is reduced taxation. Their tributes in approval of ideals that may be realized, such as the abolition of wars, are to be regarded lightly. Still, the fact remains that they appear to be more concerned about stopping the drain on their purses to defray expenditures which they do not direct than about other advantages, tangible or otherwise. It reminds of the popular conception of true appreciation.

A "piece of money" leaves nobody in doubt as to the state of mind of the donor. Giving something real is positive testimony. Affection, protection, devoted service, are too intangible to be accounted of real value save in exceptional cases. If all the nations were to disperse their land and naval forces and so cut their expenses that the peoples could count on an increase of the currency contained in their purses at some appointed time, we are confident the air would ring with praises of the statesmanship which had wrought the miracle.

Actually, though, reduced taxation is the least of the measurable benefits that can be obtained, important though this be. The money which governments exact for carrying on their unproductive enterprises constitutes far less of a drain upon national resources than does the holding of vast numbers of men out of industry. If money were wealth Russia would be the richest country in the world, for it has so much of this "symbol of value" that it is truly immeasurable. Yet Russia is an aimless seeker. Its fiat wealth is worthless and its true wealth useless. The country is not working. A country is poor when its people are unproductive.

Every man enlisted in armies and navies is a charge against his country. A double charge, if you please. He not only has to be supported in virtual idleness, but the real work that he might do is undone, and society as a whole is deprived of the production which he might yield. We may never see armies and navies wholly abolished. But if they can be greatly reduced in size, millions of men will be added to the potential industrial forces of the world. Taxes saved to the people will not amount to more than a small fraction of the wealth which will be added to the total available through increasing the working forces. Yet there is but small comprehension of this.

ARE THEY "SELF-HYPNOTIZED?"

A writer in an automobile journal says a good many motor accidents can be attributed only to the "self-hypnotism" of the driver, and he relates several incidents in point. According to his theory there is a mysterious something in the motion of the rapidly proceeding car that renders the senses at a time when they ought to be unusually alert. He has seen an expert chauffeur allow his car to crash head-on into another coming from the opposite direction and yet the man had his eyes wide open and his attention apparently was not distracted from the job of driving.

Whatever there may be to this theory, certainly an increasing number of motorists are utterly oblivious to the rules both of the law and of common courtesy and safety in the operation of their cars. A writer mentions the following classes of dangerous and inconsiderate drivers:

The man who leaves his empty car stand in a busy street all day long; the man who turns a corner at 15 miles an hour after a single toot of the horn, giving the pedestrian no chance; the man who fails to stop back of the building line when halted by a crossing cop; the man who passes to the left of a trolley car whether the street is empty or crowded; the man who refuses to stay in the traffic line and persists in edging ahead of the man in front of him; the man who uses the left side of the street or roadway to get ahead of the line; the man who, intending to turn a corner, rushes up alongside the car on the right, thrusts out his hand, swings across the front of the other and compels the latter driver to make his car stand on its nose to prevent a collision; and the worst nuisance of all, the man whose passengers stick their hands out in all directions, leaving you to guess whether he intends going to the right or left or up in the air.

There is no law to reach some of these offenses; others are amenable. Every careful motorist is interested in the observance of the ordinary rules of the road. The majority are careful. For the sake of the general safety there ought to be some way to make all toe the mark.

VERSE OF TODAY

LIFE IS A GYPSY DRESSED IN RED.

Life is a gypsy dressed in red,
As sweet as the Lord could make her;
Life is a gypsy dressed in red,
And no man ever shall break her;
Life is a gypsy dressed in red,
She took our coins and way she sped,
But we press out on the trail she fled,
Though we know we can not overtake her!

Life is a gypsy dressed in red,
And she holds her honor frailty;
Life is a gypsy dressed in red,
And she breaks a new heart daily;
Life is a gypsy dressed in red,
With a purple kerchief round her head,
And those she loves are better dead,
But we follow her, grimly, gallily.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

MORE MEN IN COLLEGE.

(From the Tacoma Ledger.)
The small colleges are reporting increased enrollment of men students. This is interesting for various reasons. It is said that the scarcity of jobs for college men is making them put in their time on further study. Yet going to college costs money, and it seems obvious that in a time of business depression families with moderate incomes would hesitate to add the cost of a year at college to their already overburdened budget unless it were regarded as ultimately worth the effort and sacrifice.

The past year has been a difficult one for recent graduates. Men from scientific and technical schools, with their expensive and highly specialized training, have found it very difficult to obtain work in their lines. They are thankful for any sort of job. As one employer said, "A college degree doesn't mean much this year. Our night watchman is a college graduate."

The immediate conclusion from this statement might be that the college course had been wasted. But that young man probably will not be a night watchman all the rest of his life; and although he and his fellows may be discouraged at present, they are not sufficiently so to prevent hundreds of other young men from seeking that same college course eagerly.

When the revival of business and industry comes, these men will be ready to undertake bigger jobs and make earlier advancement than if they had neglected their opportunity for further training now. College graduates may have spent the summer delivering ice or acting as night watchman or performing other lowly tasks, but the very fact that they secured and held these jobs against other competitors is indicative of their spirit and prophetic of future achievement.

DIVORCES.

Divorced news fill the public prints, and for the gentle readers; and dames in silk and dames in chintz for court decrees are plead-ers. They form a dismal caravan, these dames who tire of marriage; and now and then a loquacious man looms up, with humble carriage, "Gadzooks!" we mutter, as we read, "oddsfish and eke geewhizzle! Is matrimony gone to seed? Are wedding vows a fizzle? Our institutions are at fault, since sacred vows are shifting; is it not time to call a halt? Oh, wither are we drifting?" But where one female goes to court to have her vows rescinded, and be the melancholy sport of lawyers broken-winded, a hundred wear their wedding rings, old fashioned homes adorn-ling, and cherish still the filmy going to the one marriage morning. The girls with woe of many tints, who want a separation, all break into the public prints, and make a large sensation. But happy wives who hold the fort don't get that sort of men- tion; they air no grievances in court, and so escape attention. So when you read of divers dames with troubles true or phony, who ask to have their maiden names and ample alimony, remember that for every one who takes these public courses, a hundred others women shun the court that deals divorces!

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE ANTS.

Once upon a time as Uncle Wiggly was getting ready to hop from his hollow stump bungalow to go look for an adventure in the woods he asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy:

"Wouldn't you like to come along with me and have some excitement?"

"No, thank you," answered his muskrat lady housekeeper. "Being chased by a wolf or a fox isn't my idea of a good time."

"Oh, but I have lots and lots of adventures besides those of being chased by bad animals," said the bunnies. "Come and perhaps we may find a poor, cold grasshopper whom you may bring home to help spread the slices of bread when you give a 5 o'clock tea."

"How can a grasshopper spread slices of bread?" asked Nurse Jane curiously-like.

"By standing on his front legs and kicking with his hind legs against a pat of butter with the slices of bread lying on the table near him," answered Mr. Longears.

"Nonsense!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I don't believe I care for a grasshopper bread spreader."

"Well, come along and maybe I can find a cricket who can play the fiddle with his left hind leg, so you and I can dance!" spoke the bunnies.

"No! No!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I'd like to go with you, but I must stay home and do some sweeping. You toddle off and tell me about your adventure when you get back."

So Uncle Wiggly hopped off

through the woods and over the fields. But, look around as he did, not an adventure could he find, and he was very sad and disappointed.

"I'll have nothing about which to tell Nurse Jane," said Uncle Wiggly to himself, as he turned back toward his hollow stump bungalow. He reached it safely, and as he entered he saw, on a chair, a pan of dust from the floor, where Nurse Jane had placed it to throw away. The pan was almost filled with dust, for the bungalow had not been swept in a week.

"But where is Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggly as he looked around. "I suppose she was called away. I'll empty the dust pan."

The bunnies rabbit friend was just going to do this when, all of a sudden, he heard some voices crying:

"Oh, we never can get them home! Oh, what shall we do? We never can get them home!"

"Goodness me!" thought the rabbit gentleman. "I wonder if some one is trying to make Curly and Floppy Twinsty and Speakey Squealer the pig children, go home. Little pigs are very hard to make to do that. I must see what it is!"

Out of his bungalow hopped Uncle Wiggly, and so very fast that he knocked the pan of dust down from the chair. It fell to the floor, scattering dirt all over the clean place which Nurse Jane had swept.

"Oh, now I've done it!" said Uncle Wiggly. "Nurse Jane will scold me for spilling her dust. But I was in such a hurry to help the little pigs. I'll sweep up the dust when I come back."

Out of the bungalow hopped the bunnies, but he found no little pigs who needed driving home. Instead he saw some little ant ladies who were trying to carry home some kernels of grain which they wanted to store away under ground, in their home, for winter. "But the kernels of grain are so large we never can get them home!" sighed the ant ladies. "They are too heavy for us!"

"Oh, I'll help you! I'd just love to help you!" said Uncle Wiggly. With his paws he brushed down the holes of the ants' houses the piles of grain kernels.

"Oh, thank you! Thank you!" whispered the ant ladies, for, being very small, they had tiny voices, you know. "Perhaps we can help you, Uncle Wiggly," they went on.

"I'm afraid not," spoke Mr. Longears. "And now I must leave you, for I knocked over Nurse Jane's pan of dust on the clean, swept floor, and she'll scold if she sees it."

"What's that you say?" cried one of the ant ladies. "Dust on the floor? Oh, this is just where we can help you. We can easily pick up grains of dust, as they are small and light. Come, friends, she called to the other ants, 'we will help Uncle Wiggly who was so kind to us.' Then ten million, five hundred thousand ants crawled into the bungalow, and crawling about, picked up every grain of dust the bunnies had spilled. The floor was soon as clean as a new dinner plate, the dust being put back on the pan by the ants.

"Oh, thank you so much!" called Uncle Wiggly, as the ants crawled away. And just as the bunnies emptied the pan of dust in the coal bin, Nurse Jane came back.

"Oh, so you are helping me—thank you!" she said. "I had to go out without emptying the dust."

"Yes, I helped the ants, the ants helped me and I helped you," said the bunnies. "Altogether it was quite an adventure."

But of course Nurse Jane didn't know about the dust being spilled. And perhaps it is just as well, so we don't need to speak of it.

And if the dining table doesn't try to dance on one leg and spill the sugar down the back of a chair, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Little Poole.

He knocked the pan of dust down!

THE MARKETS

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 4.—In its chief characteristics today's stock market was largely a repetition of yesterday's session. Domestic oils of the low grade varieties were most prominent, making temporary extensions to recent gains on the further advance of prices for crude and refined products.

The cheaper and junior shares of western and southwestern railroads, as well as coals of secondary importance, also were favored, probably on the theory that their earnings are bound to show substantial improvement on the more extensive movement of commodities to market.

Usual leaders among industrials were irregular or heavy representative steels, equipments, motors and affiliated issues being supplanted by obscure specialties. These embraced most of the mail order and chain store stocks. Kresge, for example, rising thirteen points on declaration of a 54 per cent stock dividend.

All European exchanges excepting Italian rates were firm to strong on heavier dealings especially for sterling, which rose above 2.74 for demand for the first time in nearly a fortnight.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Wheat underwent a decided tumble in value today after scoring upturns during the first half of the board of trade session. The decline came from the northwest, together with absence of export business, had much to do with weakening the market. Prices closed heavy, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 net lower, with December $1.15 1/2 to $1.15 1/4 and May $1.19 1/2 to $1.20. Corn lost 1/4 to 1/2 and oats 1/4 to 1/2. The finish in provisions was unchanged to 12c lower.

An opinion by a leading member of the board who has just returned from a four months' trip to Europe, that the wheat crop in the northwest, together with absence of export business, had much to do with weakening the market. Prices closed heavy, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 net lower, with December $1.15 1/2 to $1.15 1/4 and May $1.19 1/2 to $1.20. Corn lost 1/4 to 1/2 and oats 1/4 to 1/2. The finish in provisions was unchanged to 12c lower.

Provisions declined at the last with export demand very slow, the market gave way rapidly, the last hour in particular. Contributing to the late weakness was talk that Argentina was underselling the United States and that British exporters were in trouble because of failure of continental buyers to pay for wheat.

Bears in the corn market contended that the crop was benefited by last night's frost, as the crop had already matured. Oats were governed by the wheat but corn hit provisions declined at the last.

In sympathy with grain, but for the greater part of the day had previously been upheld by higher quotations on hogs.
