On Feb. 27, Elmo Alanis, president of the Northeast National Foreign Trade Council, said that the private sector is prepared to invest about $10 billion in the strengthening and modernization of the state-run railway company, Ferrocarriles Nacionales de Mexico (FERRONALES). In return, he said, businesspersons are demanding an extension of highway construction concessions from 10 to 15 years, and a role in free trade accord negotiations. (Source: El Universal, 02/28/91)
