SEVENTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

CARLSBAD, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1910.

NUMBER 84.

FIVE CARLSBAD SCOUTS ARE INJURED.

Truck Loaded with Boys Plunges Over Embankment Thirty Feet High and Upsets.

Five Boy Scouts of this city were injured last Monday on their way home to Carlsbad from camp, the accident occurring about seventeen miles this side of Cloudercroft, near Cox's Canyon. The start from camp was made in the morning and the party had had their dinner and started on. Garry Stinebaugh, who was driving the truck, remarked that the steering gear seemed loose and was told to tighten it, which he did. Soon afterwards he remarked that the gears seemed too tight and when the wheels of the truck struck a little wash-out in the road, the truck slid about five feet and plunged down the mountain side, a distance of about thirty feet, striking a rock about the size of an automobile and turning completely over. Nine boys were on the truck at the time and although they were bruised and shook up, the four older boys lifted the truck from those who were pinned beneath it. John Lewis, Clarence Horne, Walter Beach and Garry Stinebaugh accomplished this seemingly impossible task. Mr. Purdy and family were about fifty yards behind, in their car, and Mr. Purdy says he confidently expected all the boys would be killed. The injured boys were put in the Purdy car and taken to the home of a Mr. Goss, a short distance away, and Mr. Purdy returned to Cloudercroft for aid. Two surgeons and two ambulances were at once sent to the scene and the boys were taken to the Baby Sanatorium, where they were looked after. An operating room had to be arranged at short notice, when it was discovered that Elmer Forehand had a broken wrist, Clarence Horne suffered an injury to his foot and Wallace Vest and Garry Stinebaugh were hurt about the head.

As soon as news of the accident was telegraphed to Carlsbad, R. M. Thorne, R. C. Gorley and Tom Wood took cars and went out to bring the boys. All were able to be brought home with the exception of Garry Stinebaugh and Wallace Vest. They are still being cared for at the sanatorium.

While the accident is deeply deplored and by no means more than by Scoutmaster Purdy, it is one of those unfortunate affairs that will occur and for which no one is to blame. The wonder is that none of the boys were killed; their escape seeming almost miraculous. The fact of splendid army surgeons rendering aid almost immediately was a fine thing. These surgeons and 1400 men belonging to the engineering department of the army were enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Cloudercroft from Fort Bliss, El Paso.

Mrs. Vest left Wednesday night for Cloudercroft and arrived there Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Stinebaugh started from their home at Lovington and got as far as Roswell where they missed the train and decided to wait there for further news from the boys. The latest advice is that they are getting on well and, barring unforeseen complications, will soon be able to be brought home.

Later:—A telegram received by Bert Rawlins this morning says both boys are better and hope to be able to travel in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thorne and children arrived in Carlsbad Saturday, about noon, from the Boy Scout camp at Russia, N. M. Ned White, Patsey Higgins and Wallace Thorne accompanied them.

GRANT COUNTY MOTHER AND NINE CHILDREN DROWN.

Silver City, N. M., July 21.—Her three-year-old infant clasped in her arms, Mrs. Candelaria Galvan, 36 years old, of Hurley, N. M., and nine children were drowned nine miles east of here late yesterday, when a wagon in which they were riding was swept away in a swollen stream. Five of the children, whose ages range from 2 to 15 years, were those of Mrs. Galvan.

Ramon Galvan, the woman's husband, had started on a trip to a nearby ranch to spend the day, accompanied by his family and the children of some friends. After crossing the creek, the team stalled on the grade and backed into the water. A torrent four feet high struck the wagon, lifting off the bed and overturning it. Galvan and his wife succeeded in extricating themselves from the wagon, and both then tried to save the children, five of whom were rescued. In the effort, however, Mrs. Galvan was drowned.

MR. AND MRS. DOLPH LUSK GIVE PICNIC TO FRIENDS.

On July the 14th Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Lusk entertained hundreds of friends with a barbecue and dance in honor of Sam and Aud Lusk who have recently returned from overseas service. A large platform was built in the front yard for the dance, music being furnished by the Mexican band of Roswell. A lovely barbecue supper was served from 5 o'clock on in the evening, long tables were laden with good things to eat for the guests. Coffee and cigars were served all through the evening. O. D. and Naval uniforms made an attractive background for the daintily light colored dresses of the girls. Several of the Old Veterans were there and mingled enjoyably with the young.

The Carlsbad visitors for the dance who were registered at the Commercial were Mrs. M. E. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Livingston, Joe and J. M. Livingston, Mrs. Milton Smith, Miss Benford, Miss Essie and Barbara Jones, Mary Mize, William Collins and S. D. Stennis, Jr.—Livingston Leader.

BOY BURGLED Jailed.

Plummer Merrill, a lad of seven years, is charged with having broken into nine business houses at Roswell not to mention the bicycles and other things of value he has taken. In every instance Merrill has admitted that he did the work, but of late has claimed that another boy whose name he does not know has been associated with him in the business. He is now in the city jail awaiting sentence.—Roswell News.

UVALDE COMPANY'S ACTIVITIES

Albuquerque, N. M., July 2.—With its first well down more than a thousand feet, and with five distinct oil-bearing sands shown in the log of the last six hundred feet, the Uvalde Oil Company begins to look like one of the New Mexico oil concerns which has picked a winner in Texas. Judge R. H. Hanna, president of the company, has just received a letter from his drill superintendent, who states that there is no longer doubt that the company will find oil on its big tract in Uvalde county, but that it is only a question of the volume that will be developed.

The drilling site for a second well has been chosen, and the company's big rig will be moved to the new site as soon as the present well is completed, which will be within two weeks.

CYCLONE IN LOWER VALLEY. YOUNG MAN IS DROWNED IN LAKE.

At about eight o'clock last Saturday evening a cyclone struck the ranch of Joe Welch, on Owl Draw, thirty-five miles south of town, tearing the house to pieces and leveling fences, windmill and tower. Mrs. Welch and children, one twelve and the other thirteen years of age, were alone at the time, Mr. Welch being in Carlsbad. Their attention was attracted to two peculiar looking clouds, one directly over the house and the other a short distance north. The wind increased in velocity and when the clouds came together the house began to creak and shake, and almost before they realized it, Mrs. Welch found herself clutching the youngest child to her breast, and a part of the floor above her. They crawled out from under the debris in time to see the remainder of what had been the five-roomed house scattered to the four winds of Heaven. Some idea of the force of the wind may be gained when it is known that the cook stove was carried over 200 yards. Mrs. Welch and children remained in the rain which fell steadily for two hours, they being afraid to seek refuge in the garage which was not damaged in the least.

Neither Mrs. Welch nor the children received any serious injury, although they were bruised considerably and Mrs. Welch says they expected to be killed—their escape from death seems almost miraculous. We have not heard of any other damage resulting from the storm.

BUJAC TO ADDRESS AMERICAN LEGION AT ALBUQUERQUE.

In addition to Col. Bronson M. Cutting and Adj. Gen. James Baea, of Santa Fe, who have agreed to attend the American legion banquet and dance here Friday night, Maj. E. P. Bujac, of Carlsbad, will be present at both affairs and deliver an address at the banquet. The banquet and dance will bring to a close the membership drive which is being conducted by the legion this week. The results so far have been very satisfactory and the indications are that when the campaign is finished every honorably discharged soldier and sailor in the county will be enrolled in the legion.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN NEW MEXICO.

For the week ending July 22.—Moderate temperature and partly cloudy skies were general during the week, with daily local showers and thunderstorms. Many local downpours occurred, with washed roads, delayed railroad traffic and more or less damage to cut hay, alfalfa and grain. Harvest of rye and winter wheat continues in central and northern counties, and some oats have been cut. Cultivation of corn, beans, kaffir, sorghums and row fodder crops is general, and dry lands are exceptionally good. Range and stock conditions are excellent in practically all parts of the State. The shipment of cantaloupes is under way from the lower Rio Grande, and of early peaches from the lower Pecos.

Albuquerque: Recent rains have delayed the harvesting, although badly needed. Crops doing nicely, and range good.

Loving: Third cutting of alfalfa nearly ready in many fields. The seed alfalfa is practically a failure. Cotton setting good.

James Springs: Sunshine deficient and crops growing slowly. First crop of alfalfa cut two weeks ago with scant yield.

Mogollon: Raining daily in the mountains and range is fine, with cattle looking good. The valley farmers are marketing early peaches.

Saint Vrain: Temperature moderate, sunshine inadequate, but plenty of moisture. Crops doing well but cultivation somewhat hindered by frequent rains. Grass and stock doing finely.

Roswell: Unusually cloudy week, with normal temperature, light showers and heavy dews. Good rains in surrounding country. All crops looking fine, except tomatos, which show root blight. Grain harvest completed and onions being harvested. Apples fine and as large as at picking time last year. Picking of early peaches begun but main harvest next month. Range reported good to excellent.

Elephant Butte: Temperatures have been moderate and good showers have occurred.

Agricultural College: The week was cool and partly cloudy, but only light showers occurred. Large shipments of cantaloupes and vegetables are being made, and peaches packing will begin soon.

Very respectfully yours,
GEO. M. BRINTON,
County Superintendent of Schools.

Mrs. Ned Shattuck returned on Thursday evening of last week from Beaumont, Texas, to her home in Artesia, coming to Carlsbad later and leaving for the ranch on the mail car Friday.

Lee Middleton received a wire from his sister, Mrs. Harvey Ezell, of Beaumont, Texas, Monday morning, containing the intelligence of the death of the baby daughter Sunday. The little one, whose name was Bertha, had been ill for some weeks with typhoid pneumonia and had suffered greatly prior to her death. Mr. and Mrs. Ezell are well known here, and have almost decided to return to this part of the country, their health being better here than where they now reside. It was thought at first that they might decide to bring the little body to Eddy County for interment, in the event of their removal, but later news states that the burial occurred at Beaumont.

AMERICAN LEGION ORGANIZED.

Service Men of World War Meet and Formulate Plans for Organization.

Pursuant to a call issued by Major Bujac, last Saturday night, about thirty ex-soldiers and sailors of the World War met at the court house for the purpose of taking steps looking toward the permanent organization of a camp of the American Legion.

The Legion originated in two meetings of soldiers, sailors and marines at Paris, on March 15th and in St. Louis on May 8th, 9th, and 10th. The committees appointed at these meetings have combined to form the National Executive Committee of the American Legion with headquarters at 15 West 44th street, New York City. It is expected that at least one million men will be enrolled as members. States and counties are organizing rapidly. Applications for permission to organize must go first to Santa Fe and from there be sent to National Headquarters at New York.

The league is non-partisan in its nature. It knows no distinction of rank or service. It is a civilian organization. Its objects are:

- 1st. To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States.
- 2nd. To foster and perpetuate 100 per cent Americanism.
- 3rd. To safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, Freedom and Democracy.
- 4th. To consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Its immediate program is:

- 1st. The organization of State branches, and local posts.
- 2nd. Co-operation with the Government and other existing agencies to find employment for ex-service men.
- 3rd. Assistance to ex-service men in matters of War Risk Insurance, Liberty bonds, allowances, compensation and service pay.
- 4th. Publication of weekly magazine, "The American Legion Weekly."

At the meeting Saturday night, Major Bujac presided. A vote was taken for temporary officers, which resulted as follows:

Major Bujac, Commander; Lieut. Fred West, Vice-Commander; Everett Grantham, Adjutant; Charles Culpepper, Post Historian; Johnny Bogelin, Chaplain; Sergeant Moore of Artesia and Chief Machinist Mate Tucker, of Loving, boosters.

A vote of thanks was extended the local Red Cross for their assistance shown the enlisted men and their families in various ways. Frank Moritz was elected an honorary member of the camp, in recognition of his services to the country, although not in active service. Moritz was noted for his campaign work while in San Antonio in the V. M. C. A. department. Had not the armistice been signed at the time it was, he would have very likely been commissioned. Major Bujac being in possession of several letters and recommendations to that effect.

Application for a charter has been sent in and after this is granted a permanent organization will be had.

CUT THE WEEDS!

This is Clean-Up Day in the "City Beautiful" and any who have not yet done so, are requested and urged by the town council, to cut down the weeds on their premises and so do that much toward making the town a more sanitary place. For the old cans and other accumulations where they can be got at handily and wagsons will call and collect them, but above all things, "CUT THE WEEDS!"

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

A party of young folks had a fine time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bush, on North Hataque street, Thursday night, the occasion being the 13th birthday anniversary of their only daughter, Miss Anna.

The color scheme was pink and white and was carried out in the dress of the honoree, the refreshments of cake and ice cream, and even the electric lights which were of the same dainty shades. The birthday cake, a beautiful white confection, with pink ornaments, the word "Anna" in pink letters, and "Happy Birthday" around the sides, was the work of Mrs. W. E. Smith, whose artistic skill is well known and is always at the service of her friends. It was lighted by thirteen white candles and was an object of much admiration.

"Hearts" was played, Malcolm Watts receiving the prize—a white cake with a pink heart on top. A peanut game was also played, the prize for which fell to Willis Moore, and was a sack of peanuts. Anna received a number of beautiful presents from her boy and girl friends and many good wishes from all who know her.

The guests were Henrietta Dillay, Dorothy Patton, Gladys Summerfield, Marjorie Snow, Rena Bristol, Isabelle Smith, Gladys Marable, Alice Walter, Nannie Irvin Little, Dorothy Fitzhugh, Gladys Carter, Wallace Thorne, Malcolm Watts, Fred Ocheskey, John Baker, Harold Toffelmire, Edwin Little, Willis Moore and Robert Callan.

ORANGE BASIN, NEW OIL FIELD TO BE DRILLED.

Territory West of Toyah and Pecos Fields Being Developed by New Company.

A new oil field, known as the Orange Basin, for which preparations have been made for the immediate development, appears to be on of the most promising oil outlooks in the close vicinity of El Paso, says the Times. Orange Basin is a vast depression in the earth's surface, extending from Sierra Blanca and Van Horn, Texas, on the south, northward thru Hudspeth and Culberson counties in New Mexico. It lies west of the Toyah and Pecos fields, south and east of the Tularosa and Hueco basins and southwest of the Artesia field. The town of Orange, N. M., lies in about the center of the big basin and is rapidly coming into prominence as the center of the oil activities in that section which give promise of eclipsing all other development within the close reach of El Paso.

R. W. Russell, geologist, of the local firm of Russell & Neighbour, states that the new field far surpasses in promise any of the so-called wildcat fields within close proximity to this city.
"The whole of the great basin," he says, "is in the Pennsylvania formation known to be the most favorable for the production of oil and gas. The structure is a very large, well defined and unbroken anticline. It has every indication of a vast oil field and I believe all that is necessary to put it on the map as such is proper development."

Indications are that this new field will be rapidly developed. Dog tax will be delinquent August 1st. All persons who do not pay same and obtain tag by this date will be dealt with according to law.

LESSON FOR JULY 27

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP.

LESSON TEXT—Phil. 4:10-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—If we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all unrighteousness. (1 John 1:7.)
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Psalms 133:1-3; Mal. 2:15; John 17:21, 22; 1 Cor. 12:12; Romans 12:16, 17; 1 John 4:7-13.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving Jesus and one another (Acts 12:1-17; John 13:34).
JUNIOR TOPIC—Keeping company with God's people (Acts 2:42).
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Our Christian friendships (John 15:12-15).
SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Facts and benefits of Christian fellowship.

The Epistle to the Philippians furnishes us with a beautiful example of fellowship between Paul and the church at Philippi. This church on several occasions sent Paul money for his support. The particular ministry of this sort at the hands of Epaphroditus while Paul was a prisoner at Rome was the occasion for this epistle. His words of thanksgiving for this gift is the text of our lesson.

I. Paul's Expression of Appreciation (4:10).

The Philippians had on several occasions expressed their sympathy and love for Paul by their gifts, but considerable time had elapsed since any gifts had reached him. When their care for him again flourished he was made to greatly rejoice. He recognized that the Lord was ministering to him through these people, therefore he rejoiced in the Lord. This was a very thankful way of saying "I thank you."

This gift was gladly received because he was in need and also because it assured him that his old friends still loved him.

II. Paul's Manly Independence (vv. 11-13).

Though sincerely appreciating the gift, he would have them know:

1. He was independent of circumstances (v. 11). Through discipline of the Lord he had learned to be content with his lot. He knew that all things work together for good (Rom. 8:28) so whatever he was experiencing at the moment was from the hand of the loving Father. Happy, indeed, is the man who has learned this secret. Paul was willing to take poverty or prosperity, whatever came.

2. Willing to take what God sent (v. 12). If it be prosperity, he would rejoice and praise God; if it be adversity, he would patiently suffer it, knowing that it was permitted by the Heavenly Father because it was needful for his best interests. This is a fine example of self-mastery. If a thing desired was not forthcoming he would not allow his heart to desire it.

3. His faith was in Christ (v. 13). The soul peace which Paul possessed was not of himself, but because Christ indwelt him. Such composure is only possible as Christ lives in and becomes the dynamic of one's life. When the life is thus surcharged with the energy of Christ, he is absolutely independent of circumstances. Such peace is possible to all who will unreservedly yield themselves to God.

III. The Fellowship of Paul and the Philippians (vv. 14-19).

1. The gift of this church to Paul is an outstanding example of Christian sympathy (vv. 14-16). No other church had remembered Paul at all in his great need, but this one rendered pecuniary aid again and again, affording a fine example of mutual love between a minister and the people supporting him.

2. The gift a spiritual blessing to the church (v. 17). Paul was pleased with their gift not primarily for its value to him, but because of the blessing which the people derived from giving it. It was fruit which abounded to their account. "It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35).

3. Their gift was an acceptable act of worship—"an odor of a sweet smell, well-pleasing to God" (v. 18). True Christian giving is an act of worship to God.

4. Their gift would be rewarded by the Heavenly Father (v. 19). True Christian giving is not on the basis of prudence, but by faith in the living God who will make recompense according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.

Within God's Keeping.

He that takes himself out of God's hands into his own by and by will not know what to do with himself.—Benjamin Whitteote.

Face of the Master.

"Be sure that whenever you make an unselfish effort to comfort another, you will get a glimpse of the face of the Master."

Around the Throne.

Precious to themselves, O Lord, is the death of thy saints, which takes off the dusty cover that hides their brightness; which shapes and polishes them to a beautiful luster, and sets them as stars round about thy throne.—John Austin.

Fills Us With Wonder.

God lives above us, through the stars and the heavens—the above and the beyond, which we cannot penetrate nor fully understand. The mysteriousness of him fills us with wonder.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Goston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regularly until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's the original and genuine. 25¢

Avery Turner, the well known railroad man, of Roswell, was down from there Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellmeyer, of Lakewood, left yesterday morning for an overland trip to Alamogordo.

Mrs. Ben Stetson is spending her vacation at the home of her sister, in Covington, Oklahoma, leaving Thursday.

F. C. Horne is expected in Sunday from the eastern markets where he went three weeks ago to buy goods.

Walter Glover spent yesterday in town from his ranch. He reports Mrs. Glover as improving slowly from her recent serious operation.

Mary Etta Hudiburg is one of the graduates of Silver City Normal this year, receiving the degree of bachelor of pedagogy. Loula Anderson is also a graduate from the High School department.

Mrs. R. L. West, mother of Fred West and Mrs. Henry Smith, came in Wednesday from Hurley, New Mexico, where she has been visiting at the home of her son, Claude. Edmund, her son, remained in Hurley, having a good position there.

Fancher and Luther Bell, who are summering with their mother in California, have been camping with the Boy Scouts of Los Angeles, in the Sierra Madre mountains. Both boys are enthusiastic Scouts and no doubt had a fine time with the California boys.

Mrs. J. F. McClure entertained a party of friends Wednesday at a finely appointed luncheon, honoring Mr. McClure whose birthday anniversary occurred on that day. All had a delightful time, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sellmeyer and Mr. and Mrs. McNeil, of Lakewood; Mr. and Mrs. George McClure; Miss Inez Jones and Wesley McClure.

Mrs. Wyman-Jenkins and little sister, Miss Mary Sue Wyman, motored to Artesia Wednesday for a visit with friends. This was Miss Wyman's first lengthy visit from home and very elaborate preparations were made by the six-year-old young lady for her trip. She packed her favorite doll's clothing with great care, tying each garment separately in tissue paper and using a great deal of blue ribbon, finally taking the doll in a bathrobe in order that she might have all her clothes clean when she arrived at her journey's end. The little girl is a favorite with all and her quaint sayings and unaffected, childish manners are a continual delight.

Dr. W. F. Glasier went to Roswell yesterday morning to be in attendance at the X-Ray examination of Clarence Horne's foot, which was injured when the truck overturned as the Boy Scouts were on their way home from Clouderott. The foot was badly swollen, and an X-Ray examination was necessary to reveal the extent of the injury. Mrs. Horne and Clarence went up to Roswell on Wednesday night's train.

Walter Knowles, blind son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Knowles, of Eddy county, successfully passed the Eighth Grade State examinations at Alamogordo. Walter is the first blind boy in the State to take the examinations and wrote his examination on a typewriter, specially prepared for the use of the blind, having raised letters and characters.

Misses Mary Mize, Gladys Bush and Grace Jones came in Wednesday from the plains. The girls have been trying to get in for some time but the Jones car was out of order and so they were detained. Their experiences on the way home are laughable to those who hear about them.

Mrs. Niece and Mrs. Nettles, sisters of Mrs. A. A. Davis of this place, whose homes are in Dallas, after a visit here of several days, left for Roswell, where they will visit another sister, Mrs. McCain.

ICE PLANT RUNS TO CAPACITY.

The Carlsbad Light & Power Company has for some time past been running their ice plant at full speed and turning out ice as fast as the capacity of the plant will permit and that is no small amount as they are able to produce eighteen tons of ice per day. The major portion of this is sold in Carlsbad, some is shipped to towns up and down the railroad and the remainder used for ice cars for the Santa Fe. The railroad company requested Mr. Hubert to furnish them many more tons of ice than he is able to produce and take care of the home consumption, so he turned down their order with the explanation that he felt it was the ice company's duty to care for the trade in Carlsbad first then the railroad could have what ice was left, although there is more profit in furnishing the Santa Fe ice in bulk than in peddling it out over town.

L. O. Fuller, Esq., was down from Roswell the first of the week appearing as counsel in the case between Dee Harkey and J. T. Falke and others in regard to unlawful appropriation of water from Black river. The case was tried before Chas. A. May, assistant state engineer, of Santa Fe.

George Fessler left Monday for Plainview, Texas, where he takes up his old job of telegraphing, which he resigned to enlist in the service of Uncle Sam.

Ray Hewitt came in Wednesday night from the mines near Silver City and after a visit with home-folk will leave for Ranger, Texas.

That Carlsbad has the name of being a live little city is evidenced by the fact that inquiries are coming every week to this office and to the secretary of the Commercial Club, W. F. McIlvaine, about conditions here and the prospect of securing suitable places in which to conduct businesses of various kinds. A music store, a clothing store, a millinery store and a new jewelry business are among some of the new enterprises likely to be launched here in the near future. And it seems the most serious drawback to finding a place in which to conduct business here would not be readily and materially aid the growth of our fair little city. There is not much excuse for allowing unsightly business houses destroyed by fire to stand right in the main section of town when there is a demand for more room. The city council has been asked to have this burned property razed and the lots cleaned up, or the property owners induced to rebuild, either of which would be a vast improvement over conditions at present. The only way to have the best city in this section of the country is for all to boost and work for the betterment of Carlsbad.

Weekly Democrat Passes Away.

The Weekly Democrat came into existence last fall presumably in response to a sure need for a Democratic organ in the state. It started out bravely after a canvass of parts of the state in the interest of such an organ. But like all political organs its course was brief, but not spectacular. It costs money to run a newspaper and for want of support the Weekly Democrat has suspended. State Record.

HUDSPETH CHARGES UNREQUITED BY LAND COMMISSIONER FIELD.

Commissioner Refuses to Make Statement Either Refuting Allegations or Justifying Actions in Question.

A. H. Hudspeth, United States marshal, recently directed an open letter to the state land office which the New Mexican published as a news story of live interest, attempting without success at the same time to get a statement from the land office replying to Mr. Hudspeth's complaint.

Mr. Hudspeth stated that he had been advised by State Land Commissioner Nels Field that a certain area of state land was to be sold in one body. He has a letter from Mr. Field to that effect. On this and on a sale publication, which he alleges was made in the Estancia Herald, corroborating the letter, he bases a charge of favoritism to one of the largest land holders and wealthiest cattle growers of the state, to wit, Stanley, N. M. He also stated that another United States official was personally informed by an attaché of the land office that the lands referred to were to be sold in parcels.

Mr. Hudspeth, who is quite a reputable citizen, as are both Lieutenant Governor Pankey and Commissioner Field, neither of whom we imagine considers it necessary to convince the public of his bona fides through all of the "hot" news which has been made a public show on alleged official information, which has not been denied. We are not concerned with Mr. Hudspeth's motives or the merits of the undoubtedly acrimonious land controversy between Mr. Pankey and the Gerharts. The point is that the state land commissioner has "refused to discuss" a matter which has become of public interest and involving policies in a state office established by the people of the state, or to clear up by a simple statement a controversy over a legitimate and apparently well-founded complaint, which controversy has been carried into the political arena. We are entirely friendly to the land commissioner and his staff and deprecate such a mistake.

Charges of political motives are flimsy if the facts are persistently avoided, as they have been by the newspapers publishing columns of gush over the land commissioner and lieutenant governor and denouncing the complaint because he is a democrat. Mr. Hudspeth's complaint must stand as warranted and entitled to a reply until it is denied that the land commissioner wrote the Gerharts the letter, the copy of which he produces; nor can this newspaper be charged with publishing democratic propaganda when the land commissioner has declined to make a statement proving the falsity of Mr. Hudspeth's allegations and of the alleged letter.

The New Mexican has the highest personal respect for Mr. Hudspeth, Mr. Field and Mr. Pankey. The latter, however, and any legal land purchase he may make from the state, are beside the point. Mr. Pankey is a shrewd and successful business man and that is his business. As a servant of the people, elected by their votes, however, Mr. Field will make a serious mistake in "refusing to discuss" a complaint based on a letter signed with his name while allowing over-eager friends to denounce the complaint as false and purely political. We assume that he is administering the office according to his best judgment; and that he should make a statement, in recognition of the public's right to one, refuting the charge made by Mr. Hudspeth or justifying the action which the latter alleges.

We haven't assumed that Mr. Field could not do either of these things. Meanwhile it is quite improper to charge the New Mexican with publishing party propaganda, in the absence of any explanation from Mr. Field.

The land office finally consented today to give the New Mexican an unsigned statement, setting forth the office's undoubted right to use its discretion in land sales, but which does not clear up the point at issue. It says it was decided to sell these lands "section by section" and that the "records are clear and unequivocal"—in the face of Mr. Field's letter, a part of the records, stating exactly the contrary. Hence the issue is still befogged and the Hudspeth complaint is unanswered.

Statement by Land Office. At the state land office the following statement was made for publication:

It is the general policy of the state and land office to sell lands in such a manner as to bring about competitive bidding and the highest price. At the same time where the state has good and bad lands great care is necessary to prevent a sale of the more valuable or non-salable lands on its hands. In such a manner as to leave the state with less valuable or non-salable lands on its hands. In the letters which have appeared in the press the fundamental idea upon which the policy of the state land office is based has been entirely overlooked.

"Right here it might be stated that it is not the policy of the state land office to encourage sub-leasing or speculation in its lands for profit. State lands are primarily disposed of for the purpose of obtaining the greatest revenue possible. The commissioner of public lands is vested with considerable discretion in the matter of the sale of lands in large or small tracts. In the particular instance referred to by letters and comments appearing in the press it was decided to sell the whole tract advertised but to offer it section by section.

The records in the case are clear and unequivocal and the office of the commissioner of public lands is willing to stand upon the records and what they disclose."

Another from Hudspeth. Santa Fe, N. M., July 9, 1919. Editor of the New Mexican, Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Sir:—There has not appeared a denial over the hand of any of the parties concerned, of the allegations made in my letter to the state land commissioner of June 18.

It has occurred to me that you, after hearing of the false stories, might entertain the thought that the charges made by me were not justified by the facts and that you had been hurried into permitting the New Mexican to be used in the ignoble work of traducing innocent men. Those familiar with the practice of the land office know that it is the custom to sell in one body all lands listed under one sale number. The notice of sale No. 1334, which appeared in the Estancia Herald, did not contain the clause to the effect that the land would be sold in separate parcels.

However, in view of the whole situation, I feel that you should have tangible evidence of the facts alleged and I am enclosing a photographic copy of a letter of Mr. Field, which, I think, will remove all doubts.

There is reason to hope that the press, by giving publicity to this matter, has caused the abandonment of the plan to sell in one body the 7,839.11 acres described as sale No. 1333. Sincerely yours, A. H. HUDSPETH.

Jimmie Kincaid returned Friday on the mail car from Queen, where his father is living and where he had been on a visit and continued on to El Paso Monday morning, where he has been offered a position as government truck driver.

Jim Delk, of Rocky and Charley Tucker of Loving were among others at the soldiers and sailors meeting Saturday night.

Economy -- ICE

ECONOMY was a lesson forcibly brought home to the American people during the war and one that will be beneficial for years to come. The use of Ice these sultry days is true economy in that it preserves costly foods which otherwise would spoil. Then there is the benefit to good health derived from the use of Ice, besides the real pleasure it offords.

GOOD SERVICE, THE BEST ICE at the lowest possible price and the fact that it is manufactured in Carlsbad has given to us the large share of the Ice trade, which we appreciate and will strive to continue to merit the patronage of our customers.

Yours for service and a square deal.

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound with costs at minimum.

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar". It will interest you. Address Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

HEARD AND STONEMAN RETURN FROM SANTA FE.

County Commissioner Heard and Road Supervisor Stoneman returned from Santa Fe last Saturday where they went in the interest of the county roads. They state that the work on the road to Carlsbad will begin not later than September and the work on the road from Bronco to Tatum and from Tatum northwest to Clark's Gap will begin in January. The road from Lovington east to the State line and from Lovington west toward Artesia has been designated for State and Federal aid. The work on this road will not begin, however, until some time next year. Mr. Heard turned down the proposition of the State to loan the county a truck as they expect the county to pay all of the expenses in getting it here and maintaining it and a further rental of $35.00 per month for three years.—Lovington Leader.

V. O. McCollum and wife and the little boys, Virgil and Wathan, came in Sunday after a pleasant visit at the Boy Scouts' camp, where the boys were in training, and later with their eldest son, Blythe, who is in government employ in the Pass City.

How big is Heaven? How many people will it hold? How many mansions there? Will it ever be filled? If so, how long will it take? These are some of the questions Rev. George H. Givan will discuss in the sermon at the Methodist Church Sunday morning. His subject will be "The Dual Home of Man."

Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas are in town again after spending a vacation in the White Mountains. They visited the Mesquero Indian reservation in the northern part of the State, spending the Fourth of July at that interesting place, witnessing many of the rites which are conducted by the Indians annually on the reservation. They report the usual good time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leck are rejoicing over the return of their son and daughter, J. B., and Wardle, who have been visiting relatives on the plains since close of school. The children returned Sunday night, in company with their uncle, Robert Leck.

ARTIST'S WIVES

The famous "Artists Wives" commenced on the 10th of this month. It is a New York production, and is a very fine and First National production,
"Artists Wives" is adapted from the two volume edition books of the same title by Frank Johnson.

"Artists Wives" is described as a faithful story of married life in New York society. According to the program, the adaptation to the screen, a woman who is married to an artist, and who lives in the present-day world.
This program for this, as described in the book, has been included in the screen adaptation.
Miss Stewart makes her return to the American screen after an absence of several months in the role of Amy Forrester, the "only member of a social set to whom pleasure is young." As the wife of Andrew Forrester, and obsessed only with the idea of constant and uninterrupted amusement, she appears in the role of the young society matron who finally is brought to a realization that unbridled pleasure is but the ash of happiness.

BUY COAL NOW

THE SOUTHWEST AND ALL AMERICA HAS ONLY ONE WAY TO FORESTALL THE MOST SERIOUS COAL SHORTAGE IN HISTORY THE COMING WINTER.

THAT IS TO BUY COAL NOW.

Production is dropping behind the amount necessary to supply the normal winter demand at the rate of two and a half million tons a week. The consuming public must provide

THE COAL FAMINE SERIOUS.
Experts Say Price May Go Up $5 A Ton.
Washington, July 17.—Urging congressional investigation of the coal situation, government officials and coal operators told the House rules committee today that a fuel shortage was impending.

"Coal men fear the situation may get away from them, and that prices may rise $5 or $6 a ton," declared C. E. Leshner of the geological survey.

Anthracite production since January 1 was 16,600,000 tons less than last year and bituminous 74,700,000 tons, Leshner said, due to lack of demand.

"The only remedy is for the consuming public to lay in supplies now," he said.

We consider it our duty to give the public warning of the probable situation next winter.

HEED THE WARNING!

That work must be provided NOW ing shortage because coal in which to haul coal will NOT be available this fall. Higher rates are predicted.

The Nation faces an inevitable scarcity of coal and higher prices this fall. Very likely the coal shortage will develop into a serious coal famine. Dr. H. A. Garfield, United States Fuel Administrator, stands sponsor for this statement. Other government chiefs agree with him.

The Department of Labor, through Secretary Wilson and Director Babson of the Information and Education Service, says coal is going to be scarce because labor is scarce.

The Railroad Administration, through Director General Hines, sees an impending

Railroads will be swamped with a flood of industrial production. Automobiles, building materials, household goods, machinery, the country's greatest grain crop—a thousand and one things—will DEMAND railroad attention this fall.

The railroads have only a limited equipment to haul the country's commodities. The movement of coal unquestionably will suffer.

We cannot urge too strongly that you buy your coal now. You MUST buy it now to be sure of having it next winter.

LOCAL NEWS

J. H. Jones left Thursday night on a business visit to Roswell, rather expecting to return this afternoon.

L. B. Peckenpaugh, of Wichita, Kansas, traveling salesman for the Globe Plaster and Mining Company, is in the city this week.

Virgil Middleton, who has been working for Dolph Shattuck, on the later's ranch, came in home for a few days rest this week, he having been slightly indisposed for several days.

The Carlsbad Bakery ("The Doughboys") will put on free delivery the first of the month, to any part of the city. All you need to do is to telephone your orders for bread, cookies, cake or pie, and they will have them at your door in a short time.

A picnic was enjoyed west of the river by Miss Ono White's Sunday school class last Tuesday night. The young ladies and their teachers report a fine time with plenty of good things to eat, including ice cream and cake. So enjoyable was the outing that a similar event is planned for the near future.

Born:—Thursday, July 24th, to Mr. and Mrs. Will Hudiburn, a boy baby. Congratulations.

Mrs. Fred Rindskopf is spending the week in Roswell on business, her little daughter accompanying her.

Gus Dean and E. L. Bogle were travelers to Queen the first of the week, remaining in that vicinity for several days.

County Treasurer and Mrs. C. C. Sikes returned from an overland trip to Ocala, Georgia, where they went six weeks ago. They are glad to be at home once more and both look well after their long journey.

Judge D. G. Grantham, our honorable Mayor, took a day off yesterday, and, accompanied by his family and guests, spent the day at Rocky Arroya. He tells us they fished, swam, ate dinner and had a general good time.

N. L. Randolph, of the Peoples Mercantile Company, dry goods, returned last night from his trip to eastern markets where he purchased goods for his firm. The goods are beginning to arrive and fully sustain the reputation enjoyed by that store for handling only the best at the lowest possible cost.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Alinger, parents of Albert Alinger, are visiting at the home of the latter in this city, coming from Oklahoma, for that purpose and expecting to remain a week or two in the city.

Walter Beall and family expect to leave here for Lubbock, Texas, in the course of a week or ten days. We are sorry to lose this young family from Carlsbad, but wish them success in their new home.

Charlie May, who was in Carlsbad the first of the week taking testimony in a water rights case, for the State engineer, left for Santa Fe at the conclusion of the hearing. He tells us the children are doing fine at Santa Fe, but Mrs. May's health continues poor.

Dr. W. E. Glasier returned on Thursday afternoon from Roswell where he went to assist in the X-Ray examination of Clarence Horne's foot which was injured in the Boy Scout accident. He brings the good news that the X-Ray developed the fact that no bones were broken.

Sheriff Hewitt and Sam Batton left yesterday morning in charge of Frank Davis, who had been committed to the Insane Asylum at Las Vegas. Mr. Hewitt will continue his journey up into Idaho where he goes after a man wanted in this county on a criminal charge, and will return with the Hewitt car.

Mrs. James Simpson, of Chalk Bluff ranch, returned the first of the week from El Paso, where she has been in consultation with a specialist. She is feeling better since her trip than for many months. Mr. Simpson came down from the ranch and accompanied his wife to her home.

The Summer Normal, at Silver City, will close this week and most of our teachers will return by the middle of the following week. Eddy county has the distinction of having the largest attendance at the institute of any county in the State, with the exception of Grant county, of which Silver City is the county seat. There are thirty-eight in attendance from this county.

Will Shadrack and wife are guests of Mrs. M. S. Chaytor at the Palace hotel. Our people will remember Mr. Shadrack, who was a school boy here but a few years ago and very popular among young and old. He and his wife will receive a hearty welcome, although their stay here will be but a few days. They come from Childress, Texas, where Mr. Shadrack has a position as mechanical draughtsman.

Mrs. R. E. Dick and daughter, Dorothy, left Sunday night for Long Beach, California, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

Rev. D. F. Sellards will deliver the sermon at the Air dome Sunday evening at eight-thirty. Special music by the Gerlach orchestra and others.

Miss Dorothy Ryan left Sunday night for San Francisco, where she will join her mother, Mrs. L. W. Ryan, and sister, Mrs. Cassingham, who have been there for some months. Mr. Ryan expects to leave for the same place about the 1st of August.

Mrs. Warren Snyder spent the week end in Carlsbad with her sister, Mrs. W. B. Robinson. She was accompanied on the trip by her brother, Hardin Green, and her cousin, Mr. Watson, both of whom are here from Mineral Wells, Texas.—Livingston Leader.

A big party was given at the J. M. Dillard home in Carlsbad yesterday afternoon, honoring Lynn Dillard, the four-year-old son of the family. A splendid time was enjoyed by the little folk with games, refreshments, such as children love and souvenirs. May be have many more happy anniversaries.

A. D. Whitten, the oil man, T. J. Pickens and Paul McLenathen arrived in Carlsbad from Guadalupe county, where they have been for some weeks engaged in surveying and locating oil claims. Mr. Pickens is a surveyor and says that all the land in that part of the country has been selected for oil locations. They spent most of the time at Newkirk which is 32 miles from Tucumcari. Two other outfits are working in the same territory.

Ed Bass and sons, Vivian and Dick, and son-in-law, Tom Pendleton, came in from Walnut Wells, New Mexico, last Monday. All are former residents of Eddy county and were busy exchanging the glad hand with old friends, while they were in town. They came by way of Queen and were accompanied to Carlsbad by Dolph Shattuck of that place. The Bass boys, Clyde and Fred, who were in the service, returned from overseas last Friday, the day before the party left Walnut Wells. Clyde was officially reported "missing in battle" and for a month or more the family were very uneasy about him, but, fortunately, the report was a mistake which was later rectified. The party left Tuesday for Queen, but will probably return to this city before laying on the homeward trip.

FAREWELL TO WHITSON FAMILY.

Cleverly attesting their esteem for Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Whitson, all those connected with the firm of Joyce-Fruit Company of this city formulated plans for an invigorating outing for Wednesday afternoon, which was given upon the eve of their departure for Roswell. The widespread popularity of the honorees is a tribute to them and causes keen regret at the thought of soon they are to leave Carlsbad and their numerous friends here.

Surprising the Whitsons, at the close of business hours, the "Joyce-Fruit family" met in a body at the store and drove from there to the home, with filled baskets of good things to eat. On reaching there a camp-fire was built, over which weenies were roasted and bacon broiled. After a good swim the party was quite fit for a full supper, which was topped off by ice cream and good cake.

Mother Stanford, in her kind way, presented each guest with a beautiful bouquet from her own garden.

Those enjoying the outing were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Joyce, Mary Frances and June; Mrs. M. J. Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Les Bates, L. H. Bates, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Brantley, Draper Brantley, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hamblen, Brantley, Glen and Alva Ruth Hamblen, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Farris, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lapsley, Henry Brockman, Emma Brockman, Elmore Jones, Ina Camp, Iris Ester, Ruth Roach, Mrs. G. L. Cooke, of Hope; Robert Hemenway, Byrd Regnier, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Whitson, Lawrence and Robert Whitson, Miss Mary I. Johnston, Miss Amy Gregorie, of Charleston, S. C.; J. E. Alston, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nelson.

Ernest Deitz came in Tuesday morning from his home on Rocky Arroya, bringing in fifty fine weenies which he disposed of without any difficulty. Ernest has only been out of the service three weeks. He left Carlsbad on July 10th, 1918, in the infantry and was assigned to Camp Cody. Later he was sent to various camps in the east. He only missed going overseas by taking down with the "flu" the very day the rest of his company left for the vessel. He had measles and influenza, which was followed later by a bad attack of pneumonia. As this was the third spell of that disease which he had, his recovery was necessarily slow. To crown all his misfortunes, he had to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Ernest is glad to be at home again and while he looks a little the worse for all his experiences, will likely soon recover his usual good health. He expects to remain on the ranch this summer, where he says they have one of the finest crops they have ever had.

A paper is being circulated asking that the Fire Department take over the city baseball team and assume the responsibility for the various games that are played, etc. A subscription in the neighborhood of one hundred dollars has been promised and those having the matter in charge will have no trouble in securing money for baseball suits and other paraphernalia necessary for the team.

Miss Ida B. Hines, of Fresno, came up from there last night on a visit with Miss Mary Causery, her old school chum.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Major Amberson had made a fortune in 1875 when other people were losing fortunes, and the magnificence of the Ambersons began then. Major Amberson laid out a 20-acre "development," with roads and statuary, and in the center of a four-acre tract, on Amberson avenue, built for himself the most magnificent mansion the Midland City had ever seen.

CHAPTER II.—When the major's daughter married young Wilbur Minafer the neighbors predicted that as Isabel could never really love Wilbur all her love would be bestowed upon the children. There was only one child, however, George Amberson Minafer, but his upbringing and his youthful accomplishments as a mischief maker were quite in keeping with the most pessimistic predictions.

CHAPTER III.—By the time George went away to college he did not attempt to conceal his belief that the Ambersons were about the most important family in the world. At a ball given in his honor when he returned from college, George recognized Lucy Morgan, a stranger and the prettiest girl present, and got on famously with her until he learned that a queer-looking duck, at whom he had been poking much fun, was the young lady's father. He was Eugene Morgan, a former resident of Elmhurst, and he was returning there to erect a factory and to build business carriages of his own invention.

CHAPTER IV.—Eugene was an old admirer of Isabel's and they had been engaged when Isabel threw him over her shoulder of some youthful indiscretion and married Wilbur Minafer.

CHAPTER IV.

The hero of the fete, with the dark-eyed little beauty upon his arm, reached the top of the second flight of stairs; and here, beyond a spacious landing, where two proud-like darkies tended a crystalline punch bowl, four jade archways in a rose-vine lattice framed gliding silhouettes of waltzers, already smoothly at it to the strains of "La Paloma." Old John Minafer, evidently surprised, was in the act of leaving these delights escorted by a middle-aged man of commonplace appearance. The escort had a dry, lined face upon which, not ornamentally but as a matter of course, there grew a business man's short mustache; and his thin neck showed an Adam's apple, but not conspicuously, for there was nothing conspicuous about him. Balding, dim, quiet, he was an unnoticeable part of this festival, and although there were a dozen or more middle-aged men present, not casually to be distinguished from him in general aspect, he was probably the last person in the big house at whom a stranger would have glanced twice. It did not enter George's mind to mention to Miss Morgan that this was his father, or to say anything whatever about him.

Mr. Minafer shook his son's hand unobtrusively in passing. "I'll take Uncle John home," he said in a low voice. "Then I guess I'll go on home myself—I'm not a great hand at parties, you know. Good night, George."

George murmured a friendly enough good night without pausing. Ordinarily he was not ashamed of the Minafer; he seldom thought about them at all, for he belonged, as most American children do, to the mother's family; but he was anxious not to linger with Miss Morgan in the vicinity of old John, whom he felt to be a disgrace.

He pushed brusquely through the fringe of calculating youths who were gathered in the arches, watching for chances to dance only with girls who would soon be taken off their hands, and led his stranger lady out upon the floor. They caught the time instantly, and were away in the waltz.

George danced well, and Miss Morgan seemed to float as part of the music, the very dove itself of "La Paloma." George became conscious of strange feelings within him: an exaltation of soul, tender but indefinite, and seemingly located in the upper part of his diaphragm.

The stopping of the music came upon him like the waking to an alarm clock; for instantly six or seven of the calculating persons about the entryways bore down upon Miss Morgan to secure dances. George had to do with one already established as a belle, it seemed.

"Give me the next and the one after that," he said hurriedly, recovering some presence of mind, just as the nearest applicant reached them. "And give me every third one the rest of the evening."

She laughed. "Are you asking?"

"What do you mean, 'asking'?"

"It sounded as though you were just telling me to give you all those dances."

"Well, I want 'em," George insisted. "Are you going to give me—?"

"Good gracious!" she laughed. "Yes!"

The applicants flocked round her, urging contracts for what remained, but they did not dislodge George from her side, though he made it evident that they succeeded in annoying him; and presently he extricated her from an accumulating siege—she must have convived in the extortion—and bore her off to sit beside him upon the stairway that led to the musicians' gallery, where they were sufficiently retired, yet had a view of the room.

"How'd all those ducks get to know you so quick?" George inquired, with little enthusiasm.

"Oh, I've been here a week."

"Looks as if you'd been pretty busy," he said. "Most of those ducks, I don't know what my mother wanted to invite 'em here for."

"Perhaps it was on account of their parents," Miss Morgan suggested mildly. "Maybe she didn't want to offer their fathers and mothers."

"Oh, hardly! I don't think my mother need worry much about offending anybody in this old town."

"It must be wonderful," said Miss Morgan. "It must be wonderful, Mr. Amberson—Mr. Minafer, I mean."

"What must be wonderful?"

"To be so important as that!"

"That isn't important," George assured her. "Anybody that really is anybody ought to be able to do about as they like in their own town. I should think!"

She looked at him critically from under her shading lashes—but her eyes grew gentler almost at once. In truth, they became more appreciative than critical. George's imperious good looks were altogether manly, yet approached actual beauty as closely as a boy's good looks should dare; and dance music and flowers have some effect upon nineteen-year-old girls as well as upon eighteen-year-old boys.

The stairway was drafty; the steps were narrow and uncomfortable; no older person would have remained in such a place. Moreover, these two young people were strangers to each other; neither had said anything in which the other had discovered the slightest intrinsic interest; there had not arisen between them the beginnings of congeniality, or even of friendliness—but stairways near ballrooms have more to answer for than have moonlit lakes and mountain sunsets.

Age, confused by its own long accumulation of follies, is everlastingly inquiring, "what does she see in him?" as if young love came about through thinking—or through conduct. At eighteen one goes to a dance, sits with a stranger on a stairway, feels peculiar, thinks nothing, and becomes incapable of any plan whatever. Miss Morgan and George stayed where they were.

They had agreed to this in silence and without knowing it; certainly without exchanging glances of intelligence—they had exchanged no glances at all. Both sat staring vaguely out into the ballroom, and, for a time, they did not speak. Here and there were to be seen couples so carried away that, ceasing to move at the decorous, even glide, considered most knowing, they pranced and whirled through the throng, from wall to wall, galloping bounteously in abandon. George suffered a shock of vague surprise when he perceived that his aunt, Fanny Minafer, was the lady-half of one of those wild couples. She flew over the floor in the capable arms of the queer-looking duck; for this person was her partner.

The queer-looking duck had been a real dancer in his day, it appeared; and evidently his day was not yet over. In spite of the headlong, gay rapidity with which he bore Miss Fanny about the big room he danced authoritatively, avoiding without effort the lightest collision with other couples, maintaining sufficient grace throughout his wildest moments, and all the while laughing and talking with his partner. What was most remarkable to George, and a little irritating, this stranger in the Amberson mansion had no vestige of the air of deference proper to a stranger in such a place; he seemed thoroughly at home. He seemed offensively so, indeed, when, passing the entrance to the gallery stairway, he disengaged his hand from Miss Fanny's for an instant, and not pausing in the dance, waved a laughing salutation more than cordial, then capered lightly out of sight.

George gazed stonily at this manifestation, responding neither by word nor sign. "How's that for a bit of freshness?" he murmured.

"What was?" Miss Morgan asked.

"That queer-looking duck waving his hand at me like that. Except he's the Sharon girls' uncle I don't know him from Adam."

"You don't need to," she said. "He wasn't waving his hand to you; he meant me."

"Oh, he did?" George was not mollified by the explanation. "Everyone seems to mean you! You certainly do seem to have been pretty busy this week you've been here!"

She pressed her bouquet to her face again and laughed into it, not displeased. She made no other comment, and for another period neither spoke.

"Well," said George finally. "I must say you don't seem to be much of a prattler. They say it's a great way to get a reputation for being wise—never saying much. Don't you ever talk at all?"

"When people can understand," she answered.

He had been looking moodily out at the ballroom, but he turned to her quickly, at this, saw that her eyes were sunny and content, over the top of her bouquet, and he consented to smile.

"Girls are usually pretty fresh!" he said. "They ought to go to a man's college about a year; they'd get taught a few things about freshness! What you got to do after two o'clock tomorrow afternoon?"

"A whole lot of things. Every minute filled up."

"All right," said George. "The snow's fine for sleighing: I'll come for you in a cutter at ten minutes after two."

"I can't possibly go."

"If you don't," he said, "I'm going to sit in the cutter in front of the gate, wherever you're visiting, all afternoon, and if you try to go out with anybody else he's got to whip me before he gets you." And as she laughed—though she blushed a little, too—he continued, seriously: "If you think I'm not in earnest you're at liberty to make quite a big experiment!"

She laughed again. "I don't think I've often had so large a compliment as that," she said, "especially on such short notice—and yet I don't think I'll go with you."

"You be ready at ten minutes after two."

"No, I won't."

"Yes, you will!"

"Yes," she said, "I will!" And her partner for the next dance arrived, breathless with searching.

"Don't forget I've got the third from now," George called after her.

When "the third from now" came George presented himself before her without any greeting, like a brother or a mannerless old friend. Both George and Miss Morgan talked much more to everyone else that evening than to each other, and they said nothing at all at this time. Both looked preoccupied as they began to dance, and preserved a gravity of expression to the end of the number.

And their next number they did not dance, but went back to the gallery stairway, seeming to have reached an understanding without any verbal consultation that this suburb was again the place for them.

"Well," said George coolly, when they were seated, "what did you say your name was?"

"Morgan."

"Funny name!"

"Everybody else's name always is."

"I didn't mean it was really funny," George explained. "That's just one of my crowd's bits of horsing at college. We always say 'funny name,' no matter what it is. I guess we're pretty fresh sometimes; but I knew your name was Morgan because my mother said so downstairs. I meant: what's the rest of it?"

"Lucy."

"How old are you?" George asked.

"I don't really know myself."

"What do you mean: you don't really know yourself?"

"I mean I only know what they tell me. I believe them, of course, but believing isn't really knowing."

"Look here!" said George. "Do you always talk like this?"

Miss Lucy Morgan laughed forgivingly, put her young head on one side like a bird and responded cheerfully: "I'm willing to learn wisdom. What are you studying at school?"

"College!"

"At the university! Yes. What are you studying there?"

George laughed. "Lot o' useless guff!"

"Then why don't you study some useful guff?"

"What do you mean: 'useful'?"

"Something you'd use later, in your business or profession?"

George waved his hand impatiently. "I don't expect to go into any 'business or profession.'"

"Not?"

"Certainly not!" George was emphatic, being sincerely annoyed by a suggestion which showed how utterly she failed to comprehend the kind of person he was.

"Why not?" she asked mildly.

"Just look at 'em!" he said, almost with bitterness, and he made a gesture presumably intended to indicate the business and professional men now dancing within range of vision.

"That's a fine career for a man, isn't it? Lawyers, bankers, politicians! What do they get out of life, I'd like to know! What do they ever know about real things? Where do they ever get?"

He was so earnest that she was surprised and impressed. She had a vague, momentary vision of Pitt, at twenty-one, prime minister of England; and she spoke, involuntarily in a lowered voice, with deference:

"What do you want to be?" she asked.

George answered promptly. "A yachtman," he said.

CHAPTER V.

Having thus, in a word, revealed his ambition for a career above courts, marts and polling booths, George breathed more deeply than usual, and, turning his face from the lovely companion whom he had just made his confidant, gazed out at the dancers with an expression in which there was both sternness and a contempt for the squalid lives of the untaught Midlanders before him.

However, among them he marked his mother, and his somber grandeur relaxed momentarily; a more genial light came into his eyes.

Isabel was dancing with the queer-looking duck; and it was to be noted that the lively gentleman's gait was more sedate than it had been with Miss Fanny Minafer, but not less dexterous and authoritative. He saw George and the beautiful Lucy on the stairway and nodded to them. George waved his hand vaguely; he had a momentary return of that inexplicable uneasiness and resentment which had troubled him downstairs.

"How lovely your mother is!" Lucy said.

"I think she is," he agreed gently. "She's the gracefulst woman in that ballroom. How wonderfully they dance together!"

"Who?"

"Your mother and—the queer-looking duck," said Lucy. "I'm going to dance with him pretty soon."

"I don't care—so long as you don't give him one of the numbers that belong to me."

"I'll try to remember," she said, and thoughtfully lifted to her face the bouquet of violets and lilies, a gesture which George noted without approval.

"Look here! Who sent you those flowers you keep makin' such a fuss over?"

"He did."

"Who's he?"

"The queer-looking duck."

George feared no such rival; he laughed loudly. "I s'pose he's some old widower," he said, the object thus described seeming ignominious enough to a person of eighteen, without additional characterization.

Lucy became serious at once. "Yes, he is a widower," she said. "I ought to have told you before; he's my father."

George stopped laughing abruptly. "Well, that's a horse on me. If I'd known he was your father of course I wouldn't have made fun of him. I'm sorry."

"Nobody could make fun of him," she said quietly.

"Why couldn't they?"

"It wouldn't make him funny; it would only make themselves silly."

Upon this George had a gleam of intelligence. "Well, I'm not going to make myself silly any more, then; I don't want to take chances like that with you. But I thought he was the Sharon girls' uncle. He came with them—"

"Yes," she said; "I'm always late to everything; I wouldn't let them wait for me. We're visiting the Sharons."

"About time I knew that! You forget my being so fresh about your father, will you? Of course he's a distinguished-looking man, in a way."

Lucy was still serious. "In a way?" she repeated. "You mean, not in your way, don't you?"

George was perplexed. "How do you mean: not in your way?"

"People often say 'in a way' and 'rather distinguished looking,' or 'rather so-and-so, or 'rather' anything, to show that they're superior, don't they. It's a kind of snob slang, I think. Of course people don't always say 'rather' or 'in a way' to be su-town. Your question is purely mercenary, I take it: you want to know his true worth before proceeding further with the daughter. I cannot inform you, though I notice signs of considerable prosperity in that becoming dress of hers. However, you never can tell. It is an age when every sacrifice is made for the young, and how your own poor mother managed to provide those genuine pearl studs for you out of her allowance from father I can't say.

"Oh, dry up!" said the nephew. "I understand this Morgan."

"Mr. Eugene Morgan," his uncle suggested, "politeness requires that the young should—"

"I guess the 'young' didn't know much about politeness in your day," George interrupted. "I understand that Mr. Eugene Morgan used to be a great friend of the family. The way he was dancing with Aunt Fanny—"

Amberson laughed. "I'm afraid your Aunt Fanny's heart was stirred by ancient recollections, George."

"You meant she used to be silly about him?"

"She wasn't considered singular," said the uncle. "He was—he was popular. Could you bear a question?"

"What do you mean; could I bear—"

"I only wanted to ask: Do you take this same passionate interest in the parents of every girl you dance with? Perhaps it's a new fashion we old bachelors ought to take up. Is it the thing this year to—"

"Oh, go on!" said George, moving away. "I only wanted to know—"

He left the sentence unfinished, and crossed the room to where a girl sat waiting for his nobility to find time to fulfill his contract with her for this dance.

"Pardon me, wait," he muttered, as she rose brightly to meet him; and she seemed pleased that he came at all. He danced with her perfunctorily, thinking the while of Mr. Eugene Morgan and his daughter. Strangely enough his thoughts dwelt more upon the father than the daughter, though George could not possibly have given a reason—even to himself—for this disturbing preponderance.

By a coincidence, though not an odd one, the thoughts and conversation of Mr. Eugene Morgan at this very time were concerned with George Amberson Minafer, rather casually, it is true. Mr. Morgan had retired to a room set apart for smoking, on the second floor, and had found a grizzled gentleman lounging in solitary possession.

"Gene Morgan!" this person exclaimed, rising with great heartiness. "I don't believe you know me!"

"Yes, I do, Fred Kinney!" Mr. Morgan returned with equal friendliness. "Your real face—the one I used to know—it's just underneath the one you're masquerading in tonight. You ought to have changed it more if you wanted a disguise."

"Twenty years!" said Mr. Kinney. "It makes some difference in faces, but more in behavior!"

"It does so!" his friend agreed with explosive emphasis. They sat and smoked.

"However," Mr. Morgan remarked presently, "I still dance like an Indian. Don't you?"

"No, I leave that to my boy Fred. He does the dancing for the family."

"I suppose he's upstairs hard at it?"

"No, he's not here," Mr. Kinney glanced toward the open door and lowered his voice. "He wouldn't come. It seems that a couple of years or so ago he had a row with young George Minafer. Fred was president of a literary club they had, and he said this George Minafer got himself elected instead, in an overbearing sort of way. Fred's very bitter about his row with George Minafer. He says he'd rather burn his foot off than set it inside any Amberson house or any place else where young George is."

"Do people like young Minafer generally?"

"I don't know about 'generally.' I guess he gets plenty of toadying; but there's certainly a lot of people that are glad to express their opinions about him."

"What's the matter with him?"

"Too much Amberson, I suppose, for one thing. And for another, his mother just fell down and worshipped him from the day he was born. He thinks he's a little tin god on wheels—and honestly it makes some people weak and sick just to think about him! Yet that high-spirited, intelligent woman, Isabel Amberson, actually sits and worships him! You can hear it in her voice when she speaks to him or speaks of him. You can see it in her eyes when she looks at him. My Lord! What does she see when she looks at him?"

Morgan's odd expression of genial apprehension deepened whimsically. "She sees something that we don't see," he said.

"What does she see?"

"An angel."

Kinney laughed aloud. "Well, if she sees an angel when she looks at George Minafer she's a funnier woman than I thought she was!"

"Perhaps she is," said Morgan. "But that's what she sees."

"My Lord! It's easy to see you've only known him an hour or so. In that time have you looked at George and seen an angel?"

"No. All I saw was a remarkably good-looking fool-boy with the pride of Satan and a set of nice new drawing-room manners that he probably couldn't use more than half an hour at a time without busting."

"Then what—"

"Mothers are right," said Morgan. "Mothers see the angel in us because the angel is there. If it's shown to the mother the son has got an angel to show, hasn't he? When a son cuts somebody's throat the mother only sees it's possible for a misguided angel to act like a devil—and she's entirely right about that!"

Kinney laughed and put his hand on his friend's shoulder. "I remember what a fellow you always were to argue," he said. "You mean George Minafer is as much of an angel as any murderer is, and that George's mother is always right?"

"I'm afraid she always has been," Morgan said lightly.

The friendly hand remained upon his shoulder. "She was wrong once, old fellow. At least, so it seemed to me."

"No," said Morgan, a little awkwardly. "No—"

Kinney relieved the slight embarrassment that had come upon both of them; he laughed again. "Wait till you know young George a little better," he said. "Something tells me you're going to change your mind about having an angel to show, if you see anything of him!"

"You mean beauty's in the eye of the beholder, and the angel is all in the eye of the mother. If you were a painter, Fred, you'd paint mothers with angels' eyes holding imps in their laps. Me, I'll stick to the old masters and the cherubs."

Mr. Kinney looked at him musingly. "Somebody's eyes must have been pretty angelic," he said. "If they've been persuading you that George Minafer is a cherub!"

"They are," said Morgan heartily. "They're more angelic than ever." And as a new flourish of music sounded overhead he threw away his cigarette and jumped up briskly. "Good-by; I've got this dance with her."

"With whom?"

"With Isabel!"

The grizzled Mr. Kinney affected to rub his eyes. "It startles me, your jumping up like that to go and dance with Isabel Amberson! Twenty years seem to have passed—but have they? Tell me, have you danced with poor old Fanny, too, this evening?"

Mrs. John W. Moore and daughter, Emily Geer, arrived in the city Wednesday night, coming here from New Orleans. They left Tela, Honduras, the 10th of this month and had a pleasant trip on board the steamer, Truxillo, one of the United Fruit Company's passenger boats. Mrs. Moore spent several days in New Orleans before coming here. She reports John well and charmed with his work in the Central American city. Mrs. Moore and baby will spend most of the summer in Carlsbad.

"Twice!"

"My Lord!" Kinney groaned half in earnest. "Old times starting all over again! My Lord!"

"Old times?" Morgan laughed gaily from the doorway. "Not a bit! There aren't any old times. When times are gone they're not old; they're dead! There aren't any times but new times!"

And he vanished in such a manner that he seemed already to have begun dancing.

"Are You Engaged to Anybody?"

at least. "See here!" he said. "Are you engaged to anybody?"

"No."

Not wholly mollified, he shrugged his shoulders. "You seem to know a good many people! Do you live in New York?"

"No. We don't live anywhere."

"What do you mean: you don't live anywhere?"

"We've lived all over," she answered. "Papa used to live here in this town, but that was before I was born."

"What do you keep moving around so for? Is he a promoter?"

"No. He's an inventor."

"What's he invented?"

"Just lately," said Lucy, "he's been working on a new kind of horseless carriage."

"Well, I'm sorry for him," George said, in no unkindly spirit. "Those things are never going to amount to anything. People aren't going to spend their lives lying on their backs in the road and letting grease drip in their faces."

"Papa'd be so grateful," she returned, "if he could have your advice."

Instantly George's face became flushed. "I don't know that I've done anything to be insulted for!" he said. "I don't see that what I said was particularly fresh."

"No, indeed!"

"Then what do you—"

She laughed gaily. "I don't! And I don't mind your being such a lofty person at all. I think it's ever so interesting—but papa's a great man!"

"Is he?" George decided to be good-natured. "Well, let us hope so. I hope so, I'm sure."

Looking at him keenly, she saw that the magnificent youth was incredibly sincere in this bit of graciousness. She shook her head in gentle wonder. "I'm just beginning to understand," she said.

"Understand what?"

"What it means to be a real Amberson in this town. Papa told me something about it before we came, but I see he didn't say half enough!"

George superbly took this all for tribute. "Did your father say he knew the family before he left here?"

"Yes, I believe he was particularly a friend of your Uncle George; and he didn't say so, but I imagine he must have known your mother very well, too. He wasn't an inventor then; he was a young lawyer. The town was smaller in those days, and I believe he was quite well known."

"I dare say. I've no doubt the family are all very glad to see him back, especially if they used to have him at the house a good deal, as he told you."

"I don't think he meant to boast of it," she said. "He spoke quite calmly," she retorted, as her partner for the next dance arrived.

She took wing away on the breeze of the waltz, and George, having stared gloomily after her for a few moments, postponed filling an engagement, and strolled round the fluctuating outskirts of the dance to where his uncle, George Amberson, stood smilingly watching, under one of the rose-vine arches at the entrance to the room.

"Hello, young namesake," said the uncle. "Why lingers the laggard heel of the dancer? Haven't you got a partner?"

"She's sitting around waiting for me somewhere," said George. "See here: Who is this fellow Morgan that Aunt Fanny Minafer was dancing with a while ago?"

Amberson laughed. "He's a man with a pretty daughter, George. Meantime you've been spending the evening noticing something of that sort—or do I err?"

"Never mind! What sort is he?"

"I think we'll have to give him a character, George. He's an old friend; used to practice law here—perhaps he had more debts than cases, but he paid 'em all up before he left
