SEVENTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

CARLSBAD, NEW MEXICO.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 1, 1919.

NUMBER 55.

J. BARBER, MASON, OLD-TIME RESIDENT AND BELOVED CITIZEN PASSES AWAY.

Remains Laid to Rest Thursday Evening in Carlsbad Cemetery Amidst Host of Sorrowing Friends.

The passing on of W. J. Barber has cast a gloom over all who were privileged to know him. The death occurred at Eddy County hospital Monday noon, July 28th, and was the result of burns sustained by him three weeks ago. For a time it was thought he would recover but pneumonia set in, and, in his weakened condition, he was unable to rally, and after suffering intensely his life came to a close.

The funeral was conducted from his late residence on North Canal street with interment in City cemetery on Thursday evening at six o'clock. An immense concourse of people were present at the house and followed the remains to their last resting place, telling in this manner of their love and respect for the departed and for those who remain to mourn.

At the home, a choir of picked voices rendered "Home of the Soul", and that beautiful prayer-hymn of Cardinal Newman's, "Lead, Kindly Light." Rev. Geo. H. Glavin feelingly read the passages of scripture appointed for such occasions and was followed in prayer and scripture reading by Rev. D. F. Sellards.

The body, encased in a beautiful cloth-covered, steel casket, was tenderly borne by his Knights Templar brothers, the following in full Knight regalia, acting as pall bearers: A. N. Pratt, A. C. Heard, H. I. Braden, Marvin Livingston, George M. Cooke and Dr. F. P. Doepf. Honorary pall bearers were chosen from among his old friends and associates, and were: Will Fenton, George Pendleton, D. R. Harkey, L. E. Hayes, Julian Smith and A. J. Crawford.

At the cemetery, the Masonic order had charge of the services. Mr. Barber having been a member of Eddy Lodge, No. 21, Star No. 9, and Rio Pecos commandery No. 9. The full ritualistic services of the order were given. Robert Killian, of Roswell, acting as master of the lodge.

Present at the funeral were the wife of Mrs. Barber, Mrs. W. H. Hammon, of San Marcos, Texas; Mesdames Hollinger and Atizer, of Cherokee, Texas, sisters of the deceased; Tod Barber, a brother of Reserve, New Mexico and Mrs. Gilbert Cowden, a niece, from Midland, Texas.

The floral offerings were many and exquisite, from the family, the Masonic orders, the W. C. T. U. and many old and dear friends.

As the sun was setting, all that was mortal of this good man, true friend and loving husband and father, was received in the embrace of Mother Earth. The current joins other friends in extending sincere sympathies.

"Oh, how sweet it will be in that beautiful land, So free from all sorrow and pain, With songs on our lips and with harps in our hand."

To meet one another again."

Life Sketch, Read by Minister. William James Barber was born in Caldwell County, Texas, December 12th, 1856. While yet a small child, his parents moved to Cherokee, San Saba County, Texas, where he grew to manhood. He was happily married to Miss Ida Latham of Deer Creek, San Saba County, December 27th, 1881. To this union two children were born: Mrs. J. R. Holt and John T. Barber. He moved, with his family, from

WIFE MURDERER WHO ESCAPED IS KILLED BY POSSE.

Isidoro Martinez Shot Through the Heart When He Resists Recapture at Home of Brother-in-law at Truchas.

Santa Fe, July 27.—Isidoro Martinez, wife murderer under sentence to be hanged and a fugitive from justice, was shot through the heart early this morning at the home of Andres Torres, his brother-in-law, at Truchas, Rio Arriba county. The shot was fired by Mounted Policeman Seferino Baca after Martinez had opened fire on a posse which had surrounded the house.

Sheriff George Armijo of Santa Fe county received word Saturday that Martinez was attending the fiesta in honor of Santa Ana at Truchas and dispatched Chief Deputy Ricardo Alarid, Mounted Policeman Baca and an Indian from Tesuque. Arriving at Torres' house, the officers asked Torres if Martinez was inside. He was said to have declared that he had not seen his brother-in-law. Alarid then stepped into the door and a shot was fired, by Martinez, who was inside. The bullet struck Alarid in the left shoulder, penetrating his lung and came out at the right shoulder.

The mounted policeman then swore in a number of residents as possemen and surrounded the house. Martinez opened fire again and Baca replied, sending his bullet through the fugitive's heart and killing him outright.

Martinez killed his wife two years ago at Santa Cruz in a frenzy of jealousy and was sentenced to hang. The state supreme court affirmed the sentence but Governor Larrazolo reprieved the man with the intention, it was said, of commuting the sentence, to life imprisonment. While under the reprieve Martinez escaped and had been in hiding in the mountains north of Santa Fe since then, eluding several posses that Sheriff Armijo sent after him.

Torres, the brother-in-law, was arrested by Sheriff Armijo this afternoon, charged with harboring a fugitive.

Alarid was brought here tonight on a stretcher and it was thought that there was every hope of his recovery.

Texas by wagon, before the days of rapid transportation, into this section of New Mexico where he made his home for thirty years.

His wife, Mrs. Ida Latham-Barber, departed this life August the 25th, 1909.

Mr. Barber united with the Methodist Church in about the year of 1890.

He was married on May the 14th, 1914 to Mrs. Annie L. Thomas, of Central City, Kentucky, the ceremony being performed in the home of her mother, Mrs. H. E. Barber, of San Marcos, Texas.

Standing by the bedside of his suffering mother, together with the other children of the family, he saw her pass into the great beyond, October the 18th, 1917. And today his father, R. T. Barber, bearing the burden of eighty-seven years, is sorely stricken with grief as he mourns the loss of his eldest son.

Mr. Barber is survived by his wife, by his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Holt and his son, John T. Barber; and also by five sisters and two brothers, namely: Mrs. Sadie Myers, Acme, N. M.; Mrs. Tom Gray, Carlsbad, N. M.; Mrs. H. W. Thaxton, Delphin, Oklahoma; Mrs. Altizer and Mrs. Ida Hollinger, both of Cherokee, Texas; H. S. Barber, of Cherokee, Texas, and H. E. Barber, of Reserve, N. M.

CANNING DEMONSTRATIONS.

Professor Conway arrived from Lea county where he had been conducting demonstration work. Saturday night, and on Monday he in company with Mrs. Jenkins erected an extemporaneous kitchen in one of Mrs. Weaver's rooms, at Loving, and demonstrated the best way to can beans and fried chicken to several ladies of that community and Malaga.

On Tuesday they conducted a canning demonstration at the home of George Frisch, at Atoka, where they canned corn, beans, grapes, plums, peaches and pears.

Wednesday they trained a demonstration team at Hope, Misses Tiny McPherson, Katherine Johnson and Maude Schultz composing the team.

In the afternoon of Wednesday they motored to the home of Mrs. Bixler, on the Chaves county line for a community canning demonstration. About twenty ladies were present. Peaches, plums, chicken, beans and corn were canned and a pleasant social time followed the work. Mrs. Bixler served cake, baked in her fireless cooker, and grape juice to all present. The meetings everywhere have been very successful and have roused a degree of enthusiasm that will be likely to tell on the pantry shelves in many a home next winter.

After the meeting Mr. Conway went to Roswell, where he spent one day, going thence to Clovis and working four days in Curry county and will go from there to State College.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER.

A dinner celebrating the anniversary of the wedding of Judge and Mrs. W. B. Robinson was given Tuesday night at the flume. A feast of good things was provided by the hostess and the favored guests enjoyed her hospitality to the fullest extent. The flume is an ideal place for an outing of this kind, being close to town, cool and shady. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rawlins, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Dow, Mr. and Mrs. John Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Wertheim, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Clark, and Mrs. Sam Kelley.

The first war bride to arrive in Carlsbad came in Monday night, accompanied by her husband, Jerry Pierce, of Black river. They were married at Paris, France, the young lady's home, sailing almost immediately afterwards for the States. Mrs. Pierce doesn't speak English and Mr. Pierce's French is not very fluent, but the current joins other friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous voyage over the sea of life. They left for Black river after a very brief stay in town, expecting to make their home in that section.

Mrs. Robert Gorley returned yesterday from a lengthy stay with relatives in Lincoln, Nebraska.

RESOLUTIONS, A. F. & A. M.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at a special communication of Eddy Lodge, No. 21, A. F. & A. M., held July 31, 1919:

Resolved, Be It Resolved: That we, the members of the lodge, do hereby express our sincere sympathy to the family and friends of the late J. Barber, who has been taken from our midst by death, and whose life was lived in accordance with the teachings of our great fraternity, and whose friendship was honored by all men, whose fortune it was to know him.

Resolved, Be It Resolved: That his death the lodge has lost a brother and the community a friend who was amiable and just to all. By him no deaf ear was ever turned to charity. He gave pound for pound, and loved his neighbor as himself.

Resolved, Be It Further Resolved: That we extend to his relatives our heartfelt sympathy, and may they be reconciled in his taking by remembrance of his life, one well spent.

Resolved, Be It Further Resolved: That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the lodge and that copies be forwarded to his relatives and to the press.

A meeting was called by County Agent A. Z. Smith, at his office, last Saturday, at which about thirty-five farmers were present. The object of the meeting was to take up the matter of the shortage of labor and see what steps could be taken to relieve the condition. It was the sense of the meeting that a committee be appointed to have the matter in charge which was done. The plan is to get a list of farmers who are needing help, find out how much help can be utilized and what arrangements can be made as to transportation of families, housing, etc. Mr. Smith said help may be had from Old Mexico and also from the Rio Grande country. Since Saturday he has been interviewing the various farmers under the project and having them sign up for the number of laborers they will employ during the season. The plans promise to work out satisfactorily for all concerned and if carried out as formulated will probably greatly relieve the stringency in the labor situation.

PLEASANT PROSPECTS APPEAR

Cotton Promises a Bumper Crop—May Is Selling at Twenty Dollars.

Cotton will twice be crowned King on the Carlsbad Project. Last year he was the ruling favorite, and in 1919 by all odds he will be first under the wire. There are nearly ten thousand acres of cotton in cultivation on the Carlsbad project, and it is believed that the price of the staple will be highly satisfactory. The crop is looking well, is fruiting vigorously, there is plenty of water to irrigate it, and, although there is the usual scarcity of labor, yet that situation has early been taken under consideration, and the pickers will doubtless be on hand in time to gather the crop.

Project Manager L. E. Foster recently received a letter of inquiry from a Los Angeles firm of cotton buyers, and the following information was taken from a letter which Mr. Foster mailed to the inquirer. The letter gave a general resume of the crop. "The total acreage this season amounts to approximately ten thousand acres, which at present is in very good condition. This cotton is all raised under irrigation and about 80 per cent. of it is Durango cotton running from 1.3-1.6 to 1.4 lengths, and is of very fine quality. The rest of the acreage is largely such varieties as Lone Star and Rowden, which will run about 1.3-1.5 staple."

"The yield for this year is estimated at between five and six thousand bales."

The Los Angeles firm expects to have a buyer on the ground this fall to bid for the crop, as it is apparently the higher grades of cotton for which these people are bargaining.

Comparisons of former crops show a steadily increasing acreage devoted to cotton, and a steadily increasing rise in value of the products. In 1917 there were four thousand acres in cotton, with a value of $50,000 per acre for the crop. In 1918 there were seventy-one hundred acres in cotton, with a value of $82,000 per acre for the crop. A recent sale of cotton from the Carlsbad project brought forty-five and forty-six cents. If these prices continue, cotton growers on the Carlsbad project may be expected to receive over a million dollars for this crop alone, in the fall.

Alfalfa also has been a record-breaker. The following report for July has been made by Project Manager L. E. Foster and will in due time appear in the Recordation Record:

"The second crop of alfalfa has been harvested generally throughout the project. The yield per acre is the largest in the history of the project and the quality so far is excellent. There is a ready market at prices around $15.00 to $20.00 per ton. The total acreage in alfalfa is 7,200 acres."

Very little alfalfa is being left for seed this year, as the prices being received for hay are so flattering. Twenty-seven hundred acres were left for seed last year, and the hay and seed value of these acres amounted to over 70 dollars per acre. The value for hay alone was slightly under fifty dollars, which has already been approximated this year on certain fields.

E. T. Carter reports a yield of four hundred and sixty tons from three hundred acres of alfalfa at Loving, on its first cutting, and of five hundred tons on its second cutting. Many other yields from well cared for fields are running in this general average.

DIPPING OF SHEEP IS BEING RUSHED.

The flockmasters of New Mexico are going at the dipping of sheep for scab in earnest. The dipping order, issued by the sheep sanitary board, became effective July 1st. The sheep growers are making for more inspectors, indicating that dipping is being rushed. Many new dipping cuts have been built. Many of the larger growers have vans of their own. The present indications are that the dipping of sheep will be completed by the time that the cattlemen will begin dipping for scab Aug. 1st.

More Than 3,000,000 Men Mobilized. Washington, July 26. Progress of demobilization was announced today as follows: Officers and men discharged to date, 3,028,487; sailed for the United States from Europe since November 11, last, 1,767,327; estimated strength of army July 22, 705,845 of whom only 224,975 were in Europe, 48,000 at sea en route home, and 363,000 in the United States; assignments, 87,289.

Vivian McCollum suffered a bad fracture of his right arm, Wednesday, breaking both bones just above the wrist. The accident occurred at the Weaver garage where Vivian has been at work since his return from the Boy Scout camp. Vivian is a fine, industrious young fellow with a good word for every body and his injury is deplored by his many friends.

Mrs. Mary Gunner, of Milwaukee, recently arrived in Carlsbad and is planning to make her home here. The lady is a sister of Mrs. R. H. Hitchcock, who lives below town.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN NEW MEXICO.

For the week ending July 29:—The week was warm, mostly dry and generally favorable, although the dryness was felt in some southern districts. Generally, however, the warmth and sunshine caused rapid growth of crops and continued the good condition of stock and range. Harvest of winter wheat, rye, some oats and barley continues in northern districts, while threshing is practically finished in southern. Much corn is past cultivation and is tasseling and silking, while beans are setting heavily. Second cutting of alfalfa is proving good in northern districts. Apples are coloring in the lower Pecos valley, and cantaloupe shipments continued from the lower Rio Grande. The season continues highly favorable.

Amarillo: Harvest about completed and threshing progressing. Crops doing finely, with abundant sunshine and plenty of moisture; ranges good.

Lakewood: The country is needing rain, but crops are doing well where irrigated. Hot, dry, clear weather has obtained. Ranges and stock are still in fair condition.

Virginia: Alfalfa harvest about over and fair yield obtained; weather conditions perfect for cutting and curing. Field peas looking fine—never saw them better; oats fair; wheat gives promise of large yield, especially winter wheat but cinch bugs are working in some spring wheat.

James Springs: Sunshine adequate and rains generally lighter. Apricots ripening also early apple, while cherries have been picked. Wheat looks good. River rather high, due to rains in the higher mountains.

Pueblo: Showers during the week greatly relieved drought conditions, which were acute in certain districts. Winter wheat and rye have set well under way, and oats and barley begun. Beets doing well, fruits promising.

Roswell: Temperatures about normal, abundant sunshine and no rain. Irrigated crops excellent, cantaloupes appearing; onion shipments continue; threshing practically finished. Apples are coloring nicely, about a month ahead of season. Drought over a part of this district affecting ranges.

Bloomfield: Crops doing fairly. Nuts all in stock in good condition. Latter part of week hot and sultry.

Las Piedras: Abundant sunshine and adequate moisture. Barley heading heavily and spring wheat heading heavily and spring wheat excellent; corn tasseling and shooting in the early fields.

FIGHT FOR NEW PATES IN PECOS WON BY EL PASO.

Freight to the Pecos valley by way of the Texas and Pacific and Santa Fe railroads may now be forwarded on the same terms as by the Santa Fe railroad alone, according to information received by A. U. Tadlock, trade manager of the Chamber of Commerce. This will make it possible to ship goods much quicker by the new routing than formerly. Mr. Tadlock has been making a fight for this concession for a number of weeks.

Notes of the new arrangements was mailed to El Paso shippers yesterday by Mr. Tadlock. Instructions to shippers were as follows:

"You will deliver your freight for points in the Pecos valley, between Pecos and Fortstock, to the Santa Fe at El Paso, and the Santa Fe in turn will deliver it to the T & P here. The latter line will haul it to Pecos and deliver it to the Santa Fe there. The new arrangement will make it possible for you to deliver freight at the Pecos valley stations mentioned in from three to five days, whereas heretofore it has required from 12 to 15 days (sometimes longer) to make delivery of freight to that territory."

"The continuation of the new arrangement depends wholly upon what efforts you make to increase your business in the Pecos valley territory. If you will put our schemes in that territory and increase your business very materially, the new arrangement will continue. If you do not make any effort to build up your business in the Pecos valley territory, and if therefore, the tonnage moving from El Paso to stations located in that territory is not increased, the new arrangement will not remain in effect. In other words, you have now been given the very thing for which you asked, and also the very thing which you said would make it possible to do a big business in the Pecos valley territory and it is strictly up to you to do the rest."

PECOS VALLEY GROWERS OFFER $1,000 REWARD.

Roswell, July 26.—The Pecos Valley Livestock association which was recently organized here, has advertised a reward of $1,000 for the conviction of any person or persons stealing livestock from any member of the organization. The association has been formed to stop thieves in the Pecos valley, and to protect the herds of the members, and includes members not only from the Pecos valley but from several of the surrounding counties.

Little Elizabeth Thorne returned with her grandmother from Roswell and will spend a few days in town.

GLOBE PLASTER AND MINING COMPANY IS BIG INDUSTRY THAT IS HELPING TO MAINTAIN CARLSBAD COUNTRY.

Has Pay-roll Aggregating $2,500.00 Per Month. Practically All of Which Is Spent in Our City—Business Growing at Rapid Rate.

Every town aspires to be a "pay-roll" town, and that town which can boast of the most varied pay-roll is the town which will most easily weather adverse conditions. Carlsbad is fortunate in having a varied pay-roll, aside from those industries which are naturally associated with a southwestern town. It is not dependent alone upon its cattle, its sheep and its farming industries to bring a steady stream of money through its banking houses. It is fast becoming a railroad center, but one of its most important industries, the plaster factory seven miles north of Carlsbad, has hardly yet been appreciated at its true value.

The Globe Plaster and Mining Company has a plant valued at many thousand dollars and a pay-roll aggregating $2,500.00 a month, but its potential value to the town has not yet been measured. This company controls two thousand acres of gypsum, the beds ranging in depth from eight to thirty feet. This is practically inexhaustible supply. The gypsum in these beds has a twenty per cent content of moisture, and is absolutely free of alkali. Other beds of the same general character have been tested out in various parts of the country, but have been found to contain sometimes as much as eight per cent of alkali and as little as two per cent of moisture, and are from a chemical point of view, practically useless for the manufacture of plaster. That the gypsum in the Globe Plaster and Mining Company's deposits is driven off in process of refinement does not argue that gypsum containing no moisture would be ideal for the making of plaster. One of the characteristics of plaster is its property of absorbing water when being prepared for walls. When all but its natural content of water is dried out during the process of completion of a building, the plaster then reverts to its original state, that of gypsum, except that it has been refined of all impurities, and is better than a thin layer on a wall of earth, rather than in great chunks in the ground. Gypsum that has only two or three per cent of moisture is of a viscous nature, and chemists call it "dead."

The Globe Plaster is using a hundred tons of raw material daily. Practically eighty per cent of this raw material is converted into the finished product. There is some small waste in coarse material and rocks which are automatically rejected by the milling machinery, but water of evaporation is drawn out by the heaters accounts for the greater part of the loss.

The new gypsum is due from pits less than half a mile away and drawn to the factory in a small train of dump wagons hauled by a twenty-five hp. tractor. From there it is fed into an elevator, which drops it into a furnace, heated by powerful jets of burning crude oil. The temperature in these vats is regulated from automatic thermometers which show the temperature on graphic charts. The temperature is regulated from two hundred and seventy-five to three hundred and seventy-five degrees, according to the material desired. At times a temperature of four hundred degrees has been used on experimental work. The larger part of the output of the mill is brown hardwood plaster, which requires a heat of three hundred and seventy-five degrees to perfect it.

When the gypsum is thoroughly calcined, it is sent into a separator, part to be re-ground, part to be rejected, but the most of which is sent into the stock bins in the mixing department of the mill. From these bins it is drawn into the mixer and here it is prepared for its final stage, that of completed plaster.

The calcined material which resembles somewhat Portland cement in looks and in fineness, is not then ready for the market. It must first receive a certain amount of water, and a smaller amount of retarder. The retarder is added to retard the set of the plaster, when being used by the artisan. The mixer at the Globe mills will contain fifteen hundred pounds of the gypsum. To this is added a small amount of water, and several ounces of the retarder, both materials being obtained from the western markets. The amount of retarder used is conditioned upon the length of time required for the set of the plaster when put upon a wall. Soft water or water containing vegetable and animal matter, and water which contains mineral impurities is, therefore, the destination of the order being made up is generally required in order to accurately determine the proper amount of retarder to the raw material. Two samples of material are taken from each fifteen hundred pounds of plaster mixed, and these are tested, so that a constant check on manufacture is maintained.

These sample tests are an interesting part of the manufacture

Rev. J. A. Phillips, of Roswell, was one of the notable occasions observed at the Centenary. Mr. Phillips had about twenty-five native people at the meeting and an exhibit was made of their manner of living, educational facilities and industrial pursuits, that was pronounced very interesting to those people in the north, who are not familiar with conditions in the southern and southwestern states. Adobe houses were erected on the grounds and a very creditable exhibit was given, more interesting from the peculiar relations existing between the United States and Mexico at this time. The attendance at the Centenary was large and enthusiastic.

Miss Linn returned this week from a lengthy stay in New York, Washington and other eastern cities. She has had the benefit of special piano instruction from a prominent teacher in Washington, during her absence. Her friends, and that means everybody, will extend her a royal welcome home.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 3

CHRISTIAN WORSHIP.

LESSON TEXTS—Rev. 7:12; John 4:1-10; 13:34; Mat. 6:2, 6; Heb. 10:19-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—God is a spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth—John 4:24.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Mat. 4:10; Psalm 84 and 122.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Children praising God (Mat. 21:15, 16).
JUNIOR TOPIC—Worship in God's house (Luke 2:41-50).
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Why worship and how.
SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The nature and value of true worship.

I. What is Worship? (Rev. 7:12).
It is the attitude of the soul toward God, which recognizes him as the Supreme Being of the universe and benevolently inclined toward his creatures. It is the outflowing of the affections toward him and the ascription of praise and adoration to him as the one from whom all blessings come, the one to whom all glory and honor should be given, the one who is all-wise and powerful.

II. Whom to Worship (Rev. 7:10-12).
1. God (vv. 11, 12, cf. Mat. 4:10). Since in him we live, move and have our being (Acts 17:28), and from him every good and perfect gift cometh (James 1:17), we should worship and adore him.

2. Jesus Christ the Lamb (v. 10). We should worship him because he is God and because he, in the incarnation, linked himself with humanity and on the cross made an atonement for us and is now our high priest, through whom we have access to God (Heb. 10:21).

III. Qualifications for Acceptable Worship (John 4:1-10, 19-24).

This is a fine example of personal evangelism. Christ "must needs go through Samaria" to find this poor, sinful woman. He skillfully disclosed his identity to her. He knew the deep need of her soul, even the inward unrest which was hers while practicing sin. He made the point of contact by that which was uppermost in her mind, namely, water, and passed from the water of earthly to the water of everlasting life which was in himself (v. 10). In order to worship God acceptably there must be—

1. Knowledge of Christ (v. 10). Must know him as a prophet from God (v. 19)—the one sent of God (Acts 7:37, cf. Deut. 18:15) to make known to lost men the way to God. Must know him as the Messiah—the one anointed of God to save lost men (John 4:42).

2. A new nature (vv. 23, 24). Only the regenerated can worship God in spirit. Jesus declared "that which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit" (John 3:6). "Except a man be born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3). The natural man has not the capacity to "see" God, therefore he cannot worship him. God is spirit, therefore only the one whose spirit has been quickened can enter into fellowship with him in worship.

3. A sanctified life (Heb. 10:22). The life is sanctified by the Spirit (1 Peter 1:2); through obedience to the Word of God (John 17:17).

4. Faith in God (Heb. 11:6, cf. 10:22). Pretended worship without vitalized faith is an abomination to God.

5. Men of every nation and kindred (Rev. 7:9). God is the God of all nations.

IV. Where to Worship.

1. In secret (Mat. 6:6). The soul shut up with God, with the world and its cares shut out, really worships. Every Christian ought to have a secret chamber.

2. In the assembly (Heb. 10:24-25). While the private prayer is of first importance there is value in joint worship with fellow Christians which should not be overlooked. The actions of others are helpful in conducting a frame of mind for worship.

3. Everywhere (John 4:20-24). God is the Omnipresent Spirit, therefore wherever there is a person whose nature is spiritual he can worship. Christianity is unlike every other religion in that without ritual or temple the individual may worship God anywhere. John as truly worshiped God in Paphos as in the assembly at Ephesus, or Paul in the Roman prison as well as with the beloved saints at Philippi.

To Those Who Seek.
It profits little to know Christ himself after the flesh; but he gives his spirit to good men that searcheth the deep things of God.—John Smith.

How Can One Forget?
God living in us, and with us, and under us! How then can a man forget God?

The True Christian.
He that can apprehend and consider vice with all her baits and seeming pleasures, and yet abstain, and yet distinguish, and yet prefer that which is truly better, he is the true way-faring Christian.—John Milton.

Finds More of God.
The deeper one digs in nature the more of God he finds.

Beauty Made by God.
How much more beauty God has made than human eyes can see.

Reasons!

Why you should use Cardui, the woman's tonic, for your troubles, have been shown in thousands of letters from actual users of this medicine, who speak from personal experience. If the results obtained by other women for so many years have been so uniformly good, why not give Cardui a trial?

EX-CARLSBAD MINISTER URGES SUPPORT FOR IRELAND.

Dr. James Gratton Mythen, former rector of Carlsbad Episcopal church, is lecturing under the auspices of the National Association of Friends of Irish Freedom. From a marked copy of the "San Francisco Call," we take the following:

"The Venerable Archdeacon James Gratton Mythen, minister of Community Episcopal church, Baltimore, arrived in San Francisco yesterday afternoon, from Portland, in the interests of Irish freedom, under the auspices of the National Association of Friends of Irish Freedom. He is an American by birth and is 35 years old. He was recently discharged from the United States Navy, in which he was a second class seaman."

"Dr. Mythen is lecturing on the topic, 'The Irish Protestant in the History of the Revolution.' He will lecture to the Women's Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, this morning, in City Auditorium, and will be one of the speakers at the unveiling of the Robert Emmet monument in Golden Gate park tomorrow. During the coming week he will lecture in Salt Lake City and in Denver." Grandma Anderson and Mrs. Frank Moore had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Mythen and conversing with him at Golden Gate Park on the occasion above referred to. They write that he was very glad to see them and inquired about different friends of his in Carlsbad. He is not much changed, only grown older. Grandma says she greatly enjoyed meeting Mr. Mythen who is remembered here very kindly.

THOUSANDS STARVE IN NEW REPUBLIC.

Prague, Bohemia, July 15.—Political and economic troubles are not only obstacles that face the new republic of Czechoslovakia. One of its most serious problems is an alarming mortality rate. Figures made public by the Red Cross show that in three provinces the deaths in 1917 exceeded the births by 61,642. The statistics for 1918 show even a larger mortality. In 1914 there were 85,000 more births than deaths. The Red Cross has organized a system of soup kitchens and food agencies through which it hopes to save the lives of thousands of mothers and children.

GRACE TALBOT MARRIES.

A wedding which will come as a surprise to her many friends here, is that of Miss Grace Talbot, of El Paso, to Lieut. James B. Brown of Detroit, Michigan, which occurred at the home of the bride's aunt in Chicago last Friday.

Miss Talbot is an Artesia girl, although her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Talbot, have been residing in El Paso for a number of years. Lieut. Brown spent a year in El Paso as a member of the Michigan National Guard, and later went overseas with the 32nd Division. He has recently returned home and is a member of a well-known firm of architects in Detroit, where, after an extended honeymoon trip to New York, Buffalo and other Eastern points, the newlyweds will make their home.

The host of friends of the Talbot family here extend congratulations to the young people.—Artesia Advocate.

GAME PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OFFERING REWARD.

For Evidence of Vandals Who Dynamited Trout in Spirit Lake in Pecos—G. P. A. Offers $500 Reward Cash.

A reward of fifty dollars each for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties who dynamited Spirit Lake was announced today by F. R. Stevenson, president of the Santa Fe Game Protective Association.

Spirit Lake lies on the high divide between Santa Fe and the Pecos river, and was one of the best fishing spots in the southwest. It is said to have been dynamited early this spring or late last fall, thousands of decaying trout being found by the first parties who visited the lake this spring. It was stocked four years ago by the United States Forest Service, cooperating with local residents and sportsmen. The fish had just grown to large size and were furnishing fine sport to many fishing parties. Most, if not all of the fish were killed by the explosion. The shores of the lake were foul with dead fish for several months this spring.

State Game Warden Thomas P. Gable is working for the arrest of the offenders, with the cooperation of the local Game Protective Association. Dynamiting fish is prohibited by the state law under a heavy penalty, and is regarded as the worst of unsportsmanlike acts by true fishermen.

Any person able to furnish any clue to the identity of the guilty parties is asked to report to F. R. Stevenson, Santa Fe; Hugh Hodge, Silver City or F. C. W. Pooler, Albuquerque, or to State Game Warden Thomas P. Gable. Names of parties reporting will not be made public and the reward will be promptly paid on conviction of the offenders.

Of this outrage the Albuquerque Evening Herald says:

"The reward offered by the New Mexico game protective association for conviction of the parties who dynamited 'Spirit Lake' on the crest of the Pecos range, is too small for the seriousness of the offense."

New Mexico has been at great pains and considerable expense to stock its trout streams and lakes. These streams and lakes are one of our greatest assets, as an attraction for tourists and for the amusement of our own people in holiday time.

The game warden's office has not sufficient means to hire deputies to patrol each stream and to guard every lake. That should not be necessary. Rewards of sufficient amounts should be offered by the game warden and by sportsmen's associations to interest everyone of this class of vandals.

A few arrests, convictions and real punishments, of a severity such as is provided for under our law would put a sudden and permanent stop to this kind of out-lawry.

COL. PISTOLE WILL RETURN.

Recent advices from Col. W. R. Pistole, now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, are to the effect that it is probable that he will return to civil life in fall and upon his release from the army will take up his residence and law practice in Artesia.

At the outbreak of the war Col. Pistole volunteered his services and on account of his legal training and ability, was assigned to duty in the Judge Advocate department, where his work has earned him advancement until he now carries the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

It will be a pleasure to greet the Pistole family on their return and they will find a welcome awaiting them.—Artesia Advocate.

SECOND HAND SUITS COST $100.

Nish, Siberia, July 20.—An idea of the high cost of keeping clothed in the Balkans can be drawn from the valuation placed upon one case of old clothes which recently arrived with a large shipment from the Buffalo Chapter of the American Red Cross. A merchant in the district appraised the American cast-off garments as worth $1,500. The valuation of the same case in America was $72. A suit of underwear of the poorest men's suits are worth $50 to $100 second-hand; shoes are $10 to $20 per pair. Hats of the $1.00 quality costs about $6 in Nish; and thread is 80 cents a spool.

NOTICE.

I have one bay mule, unbroken, 4 years old, a three-year-old filly and some ponies which are none from my range. All are in my brand. I will pay one dollar per head for any information as to their whereabouts. Address: WARREN T. BOATWRIGHT, 1 Aug-21 Artesia, New Mexico.

WEAVER'S GARAGE

TO ERADICATE CATTLE PLAGUE

In an attempt to eradicate the tubercular cattle plague in this country, the government has recently promulgated a new regulation to prevent the interstate shipment of diseased animals to cattle breeders or dairymen. Cattle consigned to a public stock yard, steers and range cattle, may be moved without restriction, however, under the new regulation.

The federal government and the governments of forty-two states are already united in the effort to control other animal diseases, and the campaign against tuberculosis is getting well under way along the same lines. Cattle known to be tubercular may be moved interstate for immediate slaughter under federal inspection, but they must be marked for identification and they must be accompanied by a certificate showing their condition and the purpose for which they are shipped; and it is sandy provided that these diseased animals cannot be moved in cars or compartments containing healthy cattle. Tuberculin tests for the detection of tuberculosis may be made by veterinary inspectors of the bureau of animal industry at public stock yards or regular bureau stations, or by veterinarians of the state of origin, authorized by the state and approved by the federal bureau.

This is a wise precaution, and it will have the unequalled endorsement of all who eat meat and drink milk.—El Paso Times.

Had it not been for the veto of a Democratic President and the insistence of Democratic Senators and Representatives, the disabled American soldiers of the World War would have gone adrift as regards adequate vocational training. But the Republican party could have pointed to another example of party efficiency in saving the nation's money.

Senator Sherman agrees that war is what General Sherman said it was, especially when it was fought under a Democratic administration and when a Democratic President negotiates the greatest pact of peace ever written, and is instrumental in forming a society of nations that will give the world its first promise that there will be no more wars.

It was with much pleasure that we received a good sized basket full of assorted peaches, plums and prunes from Ed. Scoggins, one of the Current's oldest and most valued subscribers, who lives at Hope, Remembrance of this kind are appreciated by the editor and take us back to our boyhood days when we were a barefoot boy in our father's printing office when the subscriber was as ready to share such things with the local newspaperman as they were with the minister; and that it was highly appreciated by us goes without saying. Mr. Scoggins' fruit is large in size and of the finest flavor, and as the crop this year is very large anyone needing peaches, plums or prunes would do well to visit his place where all that are needed for the winter's supply may be obtained.

In the case of Dillard vs. C. C. Sikes, treasurer of Eddy county, which was tried here some time ago before Judge C. R. Brice, in which Dillard instituted mandamus proceedings to force the county treasurer to issue a tax deed based on a tax certificate, the court has ruled that the treasurer must issue the tax deed. Mr. Sikes desired this proceeding to be taken as he was not certain just what his duties were under the law and after being ordered to issue these deeds no blame could be placed at his door for performing his duty. Recent rulings by the supreme court of the state of New Mexico in the case of Pace vs. Wight holds that the fact that property was in fact sold for delinquent taxes is a jurisdictional essential; for, if no sale in fact occurred, which must be proven by the record and not by oral evidence, the bases for the subsequent proceedings would not exist. It was further ruled in that case that the time for redemption of land by the property owner is three years from date of the recording of the certificate of sale. In all cases where certificates are held by the county acquired under the law of 1899, and not recorded until after the repeal of the Act of 1899, by the Act of March 18th, 1913, the time of redemption is three years from such recording.

The special taxation attorney, eight in number, of the various districts in the state, met late yesterday afternoon and again today with Attorney General O. O. Ashmun in his office at the capital to go over the tax law with reference to delinquent taxes. The object is to have uniform action against those who took part in the delinquencies this morning, were Mark Thompson, Las Cruces; Joe Woodberry, Silver City; J. M. Boyce, Roswell; Louis Armijo, Las Vegas; W. Clancy, formerly attorney general, of Santa Fe; Secretary John Joerns, of the state tax commission; also was present. Santa Fe, New Mexican.

It is announced by the General Gypsum Corporation at Manassas and Buffalo, N. Y., that that company has adopted plans for construction of the largest gypsum manufacturing plant in the world. It will be located at either Matamoros or Valmora, N. M. They have the largest deposit of white sand in the world in the Tularosa basin. In the white sands which they control there are more than ten billion tons of the gypsum. The articles to be manufactured are, terra cotta, plaster board, plaster of Paris, fireproof tile, building blocks, and other building material. University News.

The south window of the Joyce Fruit grocery store is a sight for people who think nothing can be grown in New Mexico. The window contains plums, prunes, cranberries, apples, pears, watermelons, cantaloupes and tomatoes. All are arranged to show off their colors to the best advantage and the window is attracting quite a good deal of attention.

Major E. P. Bujac returned from Roswell the middle of the week, where he was engaged in business before the court, and has since been confined to his room with an attack of asthma.

GLOBE PLASTER & MINING CO.

of plaster. Each sample is mixed with sand in the proportion of one part to two and then wet and molded, then laid away to set. The time when water is added is taken. Two simple instruments are used in the continuation of the test. They are called the Gilmore needles, and are two long needles of steel, ending in brass balls. The point of the first needle is one-twelfth of an inch in diameter and the needle is loaded with a ball weighing one-quarter of a pound. The second needle has a point one-twenty-fourth of an inch in diameter, and carries a weight of one pound. When the wet plaster has set sufficiently hard to sustain the weight of the first needle on its point, it has reached the degree of hardness termed its initial set. When the plaster has set sufficiently hard so that when the sharper pointed, heavier needle is set upon it, it will sustain its weight, the plaster has then set to its final set, and this time is also carefully determined. Thus the setting time of all plaster loaded in each car is known, and no car is allowed to leave the yard until the foreman knows that it is up to standard manufacture.

The Globe Plaster is shipped in three containers, jute bags, cotton bags and paper bags. During the war, when cotton was at a discount, the use of cotton sacks was adopted generally throughout the country, both as a means of utilizing the surplus cotton, and because it was almost impossible to obtain jute from India. The importation of this material has since been resumed, but the use of cotton sacking is still popular in the south. The paper sacks, however, are serviceable, a thousand sack car being recently sent to Oklahoma, arriving there in perfect condition. The paper sacks contain eighty pounds, the other one hundred pounds each.

The Globe Plaster and Mining Company is a growing concern. It started operations shortly before the war opened for America, and during those stormy months its growth was retarded by the arbitrary rules which were laid down by Washington for the government of all industries. During these months the company kept a crew at work, although it was not running under full pressure. Since the resumption of normal business, the company has sent its salesmen on the road in open competition with other and stronger companies, and is winning in its uphill fight. The present concern inherits nothing but the oldest connection from the old concern which it succeeds. The present resident manager, M. F. E. Hubert, although in the employ of the old concern, was not in sympathy with the financial methods which finally wrecked it, but is building up the present company in a sound and conservative manner which bids much for its ultimate development. The company is a close corporation, and is owned by men allied with the latest banking interests of Kansas City, one of the strongest banking institutions in the west.

In speaking of the future prospects of the company, Mr. Hubert said, "We hope sometime soon to announce the erection of a new mill nearer Carlsbad. We have practically inexhaustible beds of gypsum within six miles of town, and when the growth of our business compels it, we will build a two hundred ton capacity mill. Although practically all of our purchases are made through Carlsbad, yet the larger mill will, we believe, mean much more to the town. In the last eighteen months our banking operations with one bank have amounted to thirty-five thousand dollars, and most of our pay-roll is now expended in the town."

Friends in Carlsbad and vicinity will extend congratulation and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Redfield, formerly of Carlsbad, over the birth of a son, July 18. No particulars as to weight or name are obtainable, but heartiest good wishes are hereby extended to the happy parents for their success and that of the little boy.

We are a little late in announcing the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Hudson, who reside on the Webster farm near Otis. The little girl was born July 23rd and weighed at birth nine and one-half pounds. A remarkable incident in this connection is that the baby, the baby's mother, her grandmother, Mrs. Ida Hood, of Lubbock, Texas, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Shegwood, of Newcastle, Texas, are all at present in the same house—four generations.

Frank Smith, Floyd Childers and Garry Stinebaugh are expected to arrive in Carlsbad tomorrow night, the former from El Paso and the latter from Clouderoff, where he has been since the accident in that vicinity last week. A message was sent Garry to join the other boys at the Pass ave where they spent a week and from all accounts have been having the time of their lives. Floyd will remain in Carlsbad for a day or two before continuing on his journey to Roswell, his home.

ONE MAN OPERATES BOTH TRACTOR AND IMPLEMENT

MOLINE UNIVERSAL TRACTOR

Due to its high clearance, 29 1/4 inches, the Moline Universal Tractor is perfectly adapted for cultivating, enabling one man to cultivate corn or other row crops, two rows at a time, at the rate of from 14 to 20 acres a day.

The Moline Universal attaches direct to the cultivator, and forms a compact unit with it that is controlled from the seat of the implement, where the operator must sit to do good work, dodging individual hills by shifting the cultivator gangs with his feet.

The position of the operator directly behind the right wheel of the tractor gives him an unobstructed view ahead. All he has to do is to keep the right wheel of the tractor a certain distance from the outside row and the whole outfit will go properly. An electrical governor permits the engine to be slowed down to a snail's pace for turning at the ends of rows, or for cultivating the first time over.

FRESH EVERY DAY

The latest word from Garry Stinebaugh, the Scout injured in the auto wreck, is that he is doing fine and will be home one day this week. Wallace Vest, the other injured lad, is at home and able to be up and around town. Everyone feels fortunate that the accident was not more serious and too much can not be said in praise of the splendid army surgeons and soldiers who so kindly ministered to the lads free of all charge. Also to the splendid lady in charge of the sanitarium at Clouderoff as extended the hearty thanks of all.

Father Gilbert, at one time in charge of St. Edward's Catholic congregation here, came in yesterday on the afternoon train from the east, apparently much improved in health.

Misses Aline and Anna Middleton left Monday night for their home in La Habra, California, after a month's visit with relatives in Carlsbad and vicinity.

Miss Grace Bearup accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ares to the ranch in the mountains last Saturday for a few days' visit.

Mrs. B. D. Wright, of Queen, left Tuesday morning for a visit to kinfolk in the vicinity of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. Carl Livingston was a pleasant hostess to a few ladies at her home on North Canyon street last Saturday, honoring Mrs. Will Sharrack, of Childress, Texas, who was a visitor in the city at that time. After a delicious four-course luncheon, the ladies played bridge during the afternoon hours. Those sharing Mrs. Livingston's hospitality were the honor guest, Mrs. Shadrack, Mrs. E. P. Bujac, Mrs. C. C. Sikes, Mrs. Holley Benson, Mrs. Carl Livingston, Mrs. Fern Albright, and Miss Lucille McKeeley.

FOR SALE:—Pure bred Rhode Island Red eggs for hatching, $1.00 per 15. MRS. W. H. MULLANE.

Brakeman Phillips, of the Santa Fe, has just returned from a trip to Comanche county, Texas, where he went to place two of his children in the care of their grandparents. The baby, little Lillie, is with her father and will be home after by Mrs. T. Baker, during Mr. Phillips runs on the road. They have moved into the Baker cottage on the corner of Halagueno and Fox streets.

L. C. Bristoe, of Clovis, came down from there Tuesday afternoon for a visit with his mother and sisters, and to renew his acquaintance with his brother, Paul, who has just returned from overseas.

THIS ENDS IT.

The state land commissioner informed the New Mexican today that the letter written to the Gerhart brothers of Stanley, N. M., to the effect that lands under sale 1354 were to be sold in one body, was erroneous, due to a misunderstanding on the part of an attaché of the office. This attaché he explains also gave instructions to the Estancia Herald to omit the "separate sale" clause from the official publication in that paper. Mr. Field discovering this and countermanding the order, so far as the New Mexican is concerned, this ends a tempest in a teapot.

We accept Mr. Field's explanation at its face value.

We are further gratified to find that the charges of the New Mexican "Ruralist", the weekly edition of the Albuquerque Herald, are without foundation. The Ruralist charged A. H. Hudspeeth with "falsifying the records" because Mr. Hudspeeth quoted the erroneous letter bearing the signature of Mr. Field. It is pleasant to discover that Mr. Hudspeeth did not take a letter not for a signature, as the Ruralist implied; and it is evident he had every reason to believe his complaint was grounded on official authority.

It is no disgrace for an error to occur in this land office. Mr. Field's frank statement is the proper procedure in a case of this kind. Several million words of acrimonious "bull" and political controversy in newspapers could have been eliminated had he made this statement sooner. New Mexican.

A VALUED LETTER.

Pupils in Carlsbad schools, who received sets of books at the close of school in the spring are in receipt of the following letter:

Chicago, July 19, 1919.

Dear Friend:
Your name has been sent to us as one of the pupils in your school who has earned the right to wear one of the Morris Setz Liberty Medals, and we want to extend our congratulations to you upon having succeeded in winning this medal.

We are sure it represents to you success in some of the work you have done, and we hope you will continue to deserve the honor which has been given you, as it is a good deal more important to deserve an honor than it is to win a prize.

Yours very truly,
Setz, Schwab & Co.

BUY COAL NOW

THE SOUTHWEST AND ALL AMERICA HAS ONLY ONE WAY TO FORESTALL THE MOST SERIOUS COAL SHORTAGE IN HISTORY THE COMING WINTER.

THAT IS TO BUY COAL NOW.

THE COAL FAMINE SERIOUS. Experts Say Price May Go Up $5 A Ton.

Washington, July 17.—Urging congressional investigation of the coal situation, government officials and coal operators told the House rules committee today that a fuel shortage was impending.

"Coal men fear the situation may get away from them, and that prices may rise $5 or $6 a ton," declared C. E. Leshner of the geological survey.

Anthracite production since January 1 was 10,600,000 tons less than last year and bituminous 74,700,000 tons, Leshner said, due to lack of demand.

"The only remedy is for the consuming public to lay in supplies now," he said.

We consider it our duty to give the public warning of the probable situation next winter.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TAKES OVER BASEBALL TEAM.

Efforts have been making for some time to have the fire department assume the management of the baseball team and at a meeting of the department Wednesday night, the matter was acted on formally with the result that J. S. Oliver was elected manager of the team and Y. R. Allen, assistant manager. A canvass of the town had previously been made to secure money for suits and equipment of various kinds, the following firms agreeing to pay for one suit each: Star Pharmacy, Southern Auto Company, A. G. Shelby Grocery Company, Pratt-Smith Hardware Company, Joyce-Pratt Company, First National Bank, R. M. Thorne, State National Bank, C. M. Richards, National Bank of Carlsbad, Corner Drug Store and Sweet Shop.

The suits have already been ordered and we may expect some sure enough games in the near future, the manager and assistant both being baseball enthusiasts and boosters. The game scheduled between Roswell and Carlsbad teams, for yesterday afternoon, was recalled because of a funeral occurring at that time.

The firemen have asked the Current to express their thanks to the business firms and others who have been so liberal in their donations and have made it possible to have a uniformed baseball club in Carlsbad.

Willard Bates met with a serious accident at his ranch at Panama, Wednesday. He was driving a team of horses, to a wagon loaded with salt when the animals became frightened and ran away, throwing Mr. Bates off and breaking his leg just above the ankle. Both bones were fractured; a physician went out from Carlsbad and reduced the fracture and Mr. Bates was brought into town yesterday, the family accompanying him. He is resting as well as could be expected at this time.

Teachers in attendance at the Summer normals at Silver City and Las Vegas are beginning to come to their respective homes up and down the valley. Arriving on Wednesday night were Misses Joanna and Maryette Hudiburch, Misses Ruth and Margaret Brown, of Hagerman; Miss Beryl West, of Hagerman; and Misses Wright and Eunice Stegner, of Artesia. Many of the teachers will come by way of El Paso, stopping over a day in that city and will reach here to-night or tomorrow from the south.

Judge J. W. Armstrong returned to Carlsbad Wednesday night from his vacation at various points in Missouri. His family returned at the same time.

Tom McLennan is having the property on the corner of North Canal street remodeled and enlarged in different ways. A sleeping porch will be added and new floors put down all over the house.

Hon. R. C. Dow returned Thursday evening of last week from Miami, Arizona, where he was summoned because of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Mary C. Dow, of that place. Mrs. Dow rallied sufficiently to return to Carlsbad with her son, and hopes are entertained that she may recover speedily. She is at the home of Judge and Mrs. Dow west of the city.

Mrs. R. H. Hitchcock and her daughter, of Janesville, Wisconsin, came in recently and are at the home of their kinman, Archie Hitchcock below town. Mr. Hitchcock will come October 1st, his business affairs will not permit him to come before that time. Mrs. Hitchcock says she is enjoying herself here very much, finding the weather more agreeable than in the north.

D. McKnight, chief clerk of the railway mail service, with headquarters in El Paso, came down from Roswell Tuesday night and continued on to the Pass city Wednesday morning. While Mr. McKnight was here, N. T. Daugherty and Horace Hutchinson, local railway clerk, took their semi-annual examination. They are required to make a grade of 98, and the examination consists of questions on the United States postal laws, various post offices in this jurisdiction and other matters of vital interest to the public.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Major Amberson had made a fortune in 1853 when other people were losing fortunes, and the magnificence of the Ambersons began then. Major Amberson laid out a "development," with roads and statuary, and in the center of a four-acre tract, on Amberson avenue, built for himself the most magnificent mansion the Midland City had ever seen.

CHAPTER II.—When the major's daughter married young Wilbur Minafer the neighbors predicted that as Isabel could never really love Wilbur all her love would be bestowed upon the children. There was only one child, however, George Amberson Minafer, but his upbringing and his youthful accomplishments as a student maker were quite in keeping with the most pessimistic predictions.

CHAPTER III.—By the time George went away to college he did not attempt to conceal his belief that the Ambersons were about the most important family in the world. At a ball given in his honor when he returned, George recognized Lucy Morgan, a stranger and the prettiest girl present, and got on familiarly with her until he learned that a "queer looking duck" was the young man's father. He was Eugene Morgan, a former resident of Carlsbad, and he was returning there to erect a factory and to build business carriages of his own invention.

CHAPTER IV.—Eugene was an old admirer of Isabel's and they had been engaged when Isabel threw him over because of some youthful indiscretion and married Wilbur Minafer.

CHAPTER VI.

"The appearance of Miss Lucy Morgan the next day, as she sat in George's fast cutter, proved so charming that her escort was stricken to soft words instantly and failed to control a poetic impulse. 'You look like—' he said. 'Your face looks like—it looks like a snowflake on a lump of coal. I mean a snowflake that would be a roseleaf too!'"

"Perhaps you'd better look at the reins," she returned. "We almost upset just then."

George declined to heed this advice. "Because there's too much pink in your cheeks for a snowflake," he continued. "What's that fairy story about snow-white and rose-red?"

"We're going pretty fast, Mr. Minafer."

"Well, you see, I'm only here for two weeks."

"I mean the sleigh!" she explained.

"We're not the only people on the street, you know."

"Oh, they'll keep out of the way."

"That's very patriotic charitably, but it seems to me a horse like this needs guidance. I'm sure he's going almost twenty miles an hour."

"That's nothing," said George; but he consented to look forward again.

"He can trot under three minutes all right," he laughed. "I suppose your father thinks he can build a horseless carriage to go that fast?"

"They go that fast already, sometimes."

"Yes," said George; "they do—for about a hundred feet! Then they give a yell and turn up."

Evidently she decided not to defend her father's faith in horseless carriages, for she laughed and said nothing.

The road was now polka-dotted with snowflakes and rounded to the loud, continuous jangling of sleigh bells. Bells and ricks, all below and pointing jets of vapor, darted at the passing sleighs to ride on the runners, or sought to rope their sleds to any vehicle whatever, but the fleetest no more than just touched the flying cutter, though a hundred soggy notions grasped for it, then recoiled and whirled till sometimes the waters of these daring notions panned that in the snow and lay a gravel, reflecting.

But there came paunting and clanging up that flat thoroughfare a thing which some day was to spell all their sleightest merriment—save for the rashest and most disobedient. It was vaguely like a topless surry, but came brous with unwholesome exuberances fore and aft, while underneath were spinning leather belts and something that whirled and howled and seemed to stagger. The ride-stealers made no attempt to fasten their sleds to a contrivance so nonsensical and yet so fearsome. Instead they gave over their sport and concentrated all their energies in their lungs, so that up and down the street the one cry shrilled increasingly: "Git a hoss! Git a hoss! Git a hoss! Mister, why don't you git a hoss?" But the mahout in charge, sitting solitary on the front seat, was unconcerned—he laughed, and now and then ducked a snowball without losing any of his good nature. It was Mr. Eugene Morgan who exhibited so cheerful a countenance between the forward visor of a deer-stalker cap and the collar of a fuzzy gray ulster. "Git a hoss!" the children shrieked, and gruffer voices joined them, "Git a hoss! Git a hoss! Git a hoss!"

George Minafer was scarce two far; the twelve miles an hour of such a machine would never overtake George's trotter. The cutter was already scurrying between the stone pillars at the entrance to Amberson addition.

"That's my grandfather's," said George, nodding toward the Amberson mansion.

"I ought to know that!" Lucy exclaimed. "We stayed there late once last night; papa and I were almost the last to go. He and your mother and Miss Fanny Minafer got the musicians to play another waltz when everybody else had gone downstairs and the fiddles were being put away in their cases. Papa danced part of it with Miss Minafer and the rest with your mother. Miss Minafer's your aunt, isn't she?"

"Yes; she lives with us. That's our house just beyond grandfathers." He waved a sealskin gauntlet to indicate the house Major Amberson had built for Isabel as a wedding gift. He frowned as they passed a closed carriage and pair. The bodywork of this comfortable vehicle sagged slightly to one side; the paint was old and seemed with hundreds of minute cracks like little rivers on a black map; the coachman, a fat and elderly dandy, seemed to drowse upon the box, but the open gables afforded the group pants of the cutter a glimpse of a tired, fine old face, a silk hat, a pearl tie and an astrachan collar, evidently out to take the air.

"There's your grandfather now," said Lucy. "Isn't it?"

George's frown was not relaxed. "Yes, it is; and he ought to give that rat trap away and sell those old horses. They're a disgrace, all shaggy—not even clipped. I suppose he doesn't notice it—people get awful funny when they get old; they seem to lose their self-respect, sort of."

"He seemed a real Brummell to me," she said.

"Oh, he keeps up about what he wears, well enough, but— Another thing I don't think he ought to allow: a good many people bought big lots and they built houses on 'em; then the price of the land kept getting higher, and they'd sell part of their yards and let the people that bought it build on it to live in, till they haven't hardly any of 'em got big, open yards any more, and it's getting all built up. The way it used to be it was a gentleman's country estate, and that's the way my grandfather ought to keep it. He lets these people take too many liberties; they do anything they want to."

"But how could he stop them?" Lucy asked, surely with reason. "If he sold them the land it's theirs, isn't it?"

George remained serene in the face of this apparently difficult question. "He ought to have all the tradespeople boycott the families that sell part of their yards that way. All he'd have to do would be to tell the tradespeople they wouldn't get any more orders from the family if they didn't do it."

"From the family? What family?"

"Our family," said George, unperturbed. "The Ambersons."

"I see!" she murmured, and evidently she did see something that he did not, for, as she lifted her muff to her face he asked:

"What are you laughing at now?"

"Why?"

"You always seem to have some little secret of your own to get happy over."

"Always!" he exclaimed. "What a big world, when we only met last night!"

"That's another case of it," he said, with obvious sincerity. "One of the reasons I don't like you—much—is you've got that way of seeming quietly superior to everybody else."

"Oh," she cried. "I have?"

"I, you think you keep it sort of confidential to yourself, but it's plain enough! I don't believe in that kind of thing. I think the world's like this: there's a few people that their birth and position, and so on, puts them at the top, and they ought to treat each other entirely as equals." His voice betrayed a little emotion as he added, "I wouldn't speak like this to everybody."

"You mean you're confiding your deepest creed—or code, what ever it is—to me?"

"Go on; make fun of it, then!" George said bitterly. "You do think you're terribly clever! It makes me tired!"

"Well, as you don't like my seeming quietly superior, after this I'll be noisily superior," she returned cheerfully. "We aim to please!"

"I had a notion before I came for you today that we were going to quarrel," he said.

"No, we won't; it takes two!" She laughed and waved her muff toward a new house, not quite completed, standing in a field upon their right. They had passed beyond Amberson addition and were leaving the northern fringes of the town for the open country.

"Isn't that a beautiful house?" she exclaimed. "Papa and I call it our Beautiful House."

George was not pleased. "Does it belong to you?"

"Of course not! Papa brought me out here the other day, driving in his machine, and we both loved it. It's so spacious and dignified and plain."

"Yes, it's plain enough!" George granted.

"Yet it's lovely; the gray-green roof and shutters give just enough color, with the trees, for the long white walls. It seems to be the finest house I've seen in this part of the country."

George was outraged by an enthusiasm so ignorant—not ten minutes ago they had passed the Amberson mansion. "Is that a sample of your taste in architecture?" he asked.

"Yes, Why?"

"Because it strikes me you better go somewhere and study the subject a little!"

Lucy looked puzzled. "What makes you have so much feeling about it? Have I offended you?"

"Offended?" nothing!" George returned brusquely. "Girls usually think they know it all as soon as they've learned to dance and dress and flirt a little. They never know anything about things like architecture, for instance. That house was about as bum a house as any house I ever saw!"

He spoke of it in the past tense, because they had now left it far behind them—a human habit of curious significance. "It was like a house meant for a street in the city. What kind of a house was that for people of any taste to build out here in the country?"

"But papa says it's built that way on purpose. There are a lot of other houses being built in this direction, and papa says the city's coming out this way; and in a year or two that house will be right in town."

"It was a bum house, anyhow," said George crossly. "I don't even know the people that are building it. They say a lot of riffraff come to town every year nowadays and there's other riffraff that have always lived here, and have made a little money, and act as if they owned the place. Uncle Sydney was talking about it yesterday; he says he and some of his friends are organizing a country club, and already some of these riffraff are working into it—people he never heard of at all! Anyhow I guess it's pretty clear you don't know a great deal about architecture."

She demonstrated the completeness of her amiability by laughing. "I'll know something about the north pole before long," she said, "if we keep going much farther in this direction!"

At this he was remorseful. "All right; we'll turn and drive south awhile till you get warmed up again. I expect we have been going against the wind about long enough. Indeed, I'm sorry!"

He said, "Indeed, I'm sorry," in a nice way, and looked very strikingly handsome when he said it, she thought. No doubt it is true that there is more rejoicing in heaven over one sinner repented than over all the saints who consistently remain holy, and the rare, sudden gentleness of arrogant people have infinitely more effect than the continual gentleness of gentle people. Arrogance turned gentle melts the heart; and Lucy gave her companion a little sidelong, sunny nod of acknowledgment. George was dazzled by the quick glow of her eyes, and found himself at a loss for something to say.

Having turned about he kept his horse to a walk, and at this gait the sleighbells tinkled but intermittently. The snow no longer fell, and far ahead, in a grayish cloud that lay upon the land, was the town.

Lucy looked at this distant thickening reflection. "When we get this far out we can see there must be quite a little smoke hanging over the town," she said. "I suppose that's because it's growing. As it grows bigger it seems to get ashamed of itself, so it makes this cloud and hides in it. Papa says it used to be a bit nicer when he lived here; he always speaks of it differently—he always has a gentle look, a particular tone of voice, I've noticed. He must have been very fond of it. From the way he talks you'd think life here then was just one long midsummer serenade. He declares it was always sunny, that the air wasn't like the air anywhere else—that, as he remembers it, there always seemed to be gold dust in the air. I doubt it! I think it doesn't seem to be duller air to him now just on account of having a little soot in it sometimes, but probably because he was twenty years younger then. It seems to me the gold dust he thinks was here is just his being young that he remembers. I think it was just youth. It is pretty pleasant to be young, isn't it?"

"You're a funny girl," George said gently. "But your voice sounds pretty nice when you think and talk along together like that!"

The horse shook himself all over and the impatient sleighbells made his wish audible. Accordingly George tightened the reins, and the cutter was off again at a three-minute trot, no despicable rate of speed. It was not long before they were again passing Lucy's Beautiful House, and here George thought fit to put an appendix to his remark. "You're a funny girl, and you know a lot—but I don't believe you know much about architecture!"

Coming toward them, black against the snowy road, was a strange silhouette. It approached moderately and without visible means of progression, so the matter seemed from a distance, but as the cutter shortened the distance the silhouette was revealed to be Mr. Morgan's horseless carriage, conveying four people atop: Mr. Morgan with George's mother beside him, and in the rear seat, Miss Fanny Minafer and the Hon. George Amberson. All four seemed to be in the liveliest humor, like high-spirited people upon a new adventure; and Isabel waved her handkerchief dashingly as the cutter flashed by them.

"For the Lord's sake!" George gasped.

"Your mother's a dear," said Lucy. "And she does wear the most bewitching things! She looked like a Russian princess, though I doubt if they're that handsome."

George said nothing; he drove on till they had crossed Amberson addition and reached the stone pillars at the head of National avenue. There he turned.

"Let's go back and take another look at that old sewing machine," he said. "It certainly is the weirdest, craziest—"

He left the sentence unfinished, and presently they were again in sight of the old sewing machine. George shouted mockingly.

Alas! three figures stood in the road, and a pair of legs with the toes turned up indicated that a fourth figure lay upon its back in the snow, beneath a horseless carriage that had decided to need a horse.

George became vociferous with laughter, and coming up to his trotter's best gait, snow spraying from runners and every hoof, swerved to the side of the road and shot by shouting. "Git a hoss! Git a hoss! Git a hoss!"

Three hundred yards away he turned and came back, racing; leaning out as he passed, to wave jeeringly at the group about the disabled machine: "Git a hoss! Git a hoss! Git a hoss!"

The trotter had broken into a gallop, and Lucy cried a warning: "Be careful!" she said. "Look where you're driving! There's a ditch on that side. Look—"

George turned too late; the cutter's

F. M. Hatfield, of Malaga, was in town Saturday from his home, and while here made a little call at the Current office. Professor Hatfield is enthusiastic over the outlook for the lower valley. The cotton situation, he says, is especially promising. There are two thousand acres of the fleecy staple available for the gin in that section. Mr. Lavin, the cotton gin expert, will have charge and with the good prices now offered for cotton and the prospects of a rise in price, everything does assume a rosy prospect for the cotton farmers under the project.

Miss Birdsong, a sister of Mrs. Whitson, arrived in the city Tuesday for an extended visit with her relatives, coming from Cleburne, Texas, where she has been visiting friends, since leaving her home at Longview, Texas.

C. W. Patchin, druggist, in the employ of R. E. Dick, left the first of the week for Phoenix, Arizona, where he has accepted a position with a drug company and expects to remain. Mr. Patchin had many friends in Carlsbad, especially among the young folk who regret his leaving while wishing him the best of success in his new home.

Albright Is Perpetual.
Col. Albright has again changed the name of his paper. It is now the New Mexico State Republican, and seems to be quite as alive as the New Mexico Weekly Democrat was dead. The demise of the Democrat leaves Colonel Albright with a monopoly of the weekly political field in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Dock Vest returned Saturday evening on the train from the south, bringing her son, Wallace, with her. Wallace is getting on as well as could be expected considering the nature of his injury. The physicians say that the skull fracture is of the outside bone and he will probably soon recover and suffer no bad after-effects. His hips are bruised and swollen badly and physicians say he came within a "hair's breadth" of having his hips broken. Mrs. Vest speaks in highest terms of the treatment she and Wallace received from the soldiers who were at Cloudercroft, while she was there. Two of the Hospital Corps were on duty as nurses for the boys day and night, and Mrs. Vest says she can never thank them enough for their kindness.

Mother Henderson is still quite ill at her home near Malaga, and a number of her friends from Carlsbad, including Reverend and Mrs. Sellards, spent the day with her recently. Her extreme age makes this illness especially hard on her, but her friends are very hopeful for her entire recovery.

Carlsbad, O. Lake Arthur 1.

One of the best games of baseball ever seen in Carlsbad was witnessed last Sunday afternoon by a fair-sized crowd of fans, when Carlsbad crossed bats with Lake Arthur. The final score was 1 to 0 in favor of the visitors and it was disappointing to the local rooters to see one chance after another slip by without the home team making a score. Allen Stewart pitched one of the best games played here this season and despite poor support managed to hold the score to one lonely tally, which was not at all earned. The Fire Department is to manage the team and have already collected by subscription enough money to buy suits and meet necessary expenses, and it is to be expected that Carlsbad will have some rear base ball for the rest of the season.

A FISH FRY.

A pleasant fish fry Sunday evening on the river bank below town was enjoyed by a crowd of congenial friends who met for that purpose at the appointed spot and spent the evening together. Those enjoying the occasion were Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Ervin, Dr. W. E. Glasier, Bert Rawlins and wife and their guests, Messrs. Keith and Morgan, of Roswell, and J. A. Hardy family.

We learn with regret of the contemplated removal of the family of U. S. Hamilton to Abilene, Texas, in the near future. They have purchased a home there and expect to reside there permanently. They will be greatly missed, Mr. Hamilton being a member of the official board of the Methodist church and a splendid contractor and builder, in which business he has been engaged since coming to Carlsbad some six years ago. Mrs. Hamilton and daughters, Helen and Hazel, have many friends in church and social circles in Carlsbad and all wish them a happy home in the Lone Star state.

S. E. Piper of Albuquerque office of the biological survey, on an expedition to Colfax county, New Mexico, reports a kill of 2,000 prairie dogs in one day. SIN OF INGRATITUDE.

Rev. Geo. H. Glivan.

Ingratitude is one of the most destructive sins of the human heart. It is also one of the most unreasonable as well as one of the most common. It cankers the soul, corrodes the body and dwarfs the mind. Every function of the body, mind and soul is clogged and hindered by its presence. Like a vampire it sucks the very life-blood from its victims. It robs the moral nature of its warmth and vitality and vitiate the fountain springs of life. "No wonder King Lear exclaims, 'Ingratitude! thou marble-hearted fiend.'"

Ingratitude is the effect of pride, stupidity and narrowness of soul. It means when God pours out his blessings, either directly or by means of human hands, the soul is either too vain to acknowledge them; too stupid to comprehend them; or too little to feel them. It matters not whether the favor is granted of God or man; or whether in nature it be material or spiritual, to the ungrateful heart the result is the same: there will be no gracious response for the blessing given.

Ingratitude is found in every condition of life—among the young, the middle-aged and the old; among the poor, the wise, the rich. It is very plainly seen in the attitude of many children toward their parents. The toil, anxiety and sacrifice of parents too often go unheeded and unloved by their children who seem to expect all and give nothing in return. The ingratitude of some sons and daughters is lower than that of the brute, for they are even glad when the infirm parents are out of the way. Their hearts are too cold; their lives too barren and their souls too little to cherish and foster parental love.

Many men desire friends only to use them as tools for profit, and when they can no longer be used at will they are cast ungraciously into the junk heap. Every thing that has ever been done is either despised or forgotten. "Benefits forgot" is one of the very new definitions of ingratitude. Such men ask a favor but never return one; they borrow and never repay; buy on credit and never pay if they can help it. Or, having the ability to pay, they stand their benefactor off from time to time and afterward plead limitation of the law. Even fuel, food and clothing for their families are bought with no intention of paying the bills. And in some instances medicines and medical robes and caskets for the dead are ordered with no attempt or intention of paying for them. After the sick are well or the dead buried the sense of obligation and gratitude to all benefactors and sympathizers seem to vanish away.

But the ingratitude of man to man as base as it is, the ingratitude of man to God is a thousand times worse. In God we live and move and have our being. He is the Author, not only of life, but also of everything that is in any way beneficial or helpful to life. All things conducive to the welfare of the body, the happiness of the mind and to the salvation of the soul come from Him. His cornucopia, full and free, is lavishly emptied into every life. Empty hands and hearts and souls reach out and take His blessings in. They are as free as the air we breathe or as the purring streams that flow. After all that our kind and thoughtful Heavenly Father is and has been to us, yet many of us think more of some friend than we do of God; many of us are more polite to men than to Him; and many of us appreciate some present from a friend more highly than all the blessings God ever showered upon us. We bow and express our gratitude in the most flowery words we can command for the most trifling present or favor from a friend; but the good Lord can pour down numberless and priceless gifts from day to day, and year after year and our hearts remain as cold as ice and our tongues as silent as the dead.

Education within itself does not always carry the ineffaceable marks of a gracious heart. It would appear that education, culture and refinement would always carry the generic and specific marks of gracious acknowledgment, but, however highly educated and refined one may be, is not ingratitude toward God one of the rudest things on earth he can be guilty of? A failure to express thanks to a friend for a favor is an offense that demands an apology. It is neither a sign of culture nor good breeding. But shall we be more anxious to set ourselves right before men than before God? Is it a mark of education? Is it a mark of culture to be more polite to any human being on earth than to the God of life?

Another form of ingratitude is to be stingy with the Lord and His cause. Who can name the rich merchants, bankers or millionaires in the heart of Africa? Financial prosperity is found only in Christian lands. America is one of the most prosperous nations on earth solely because she is one among the most Christian. Her laws and her institutions are founded upon the teachings of the Prince of Peace. Her advantages and opportunities to make money flow out of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Without this the opportunities of American citizens would be no better than that of the hottentots of Africa. They were no better on American soil for the Red man of the forest, and when men become rich and prosperous even millions it can no more be attributed to their superior ability than to their favored opportunity, and possibly not so much.

And for a rich man to be ungrateful and stingy with God is to despise the source of all his financial success and to despise the pit from which he was born.

Now for a man to be rich or poor and fail, neglect or refuse to bring an offering unto the Lord and thus acknowledge his gratitude and give Him the glory due His name, makes the man an ingrate of the deepest hue and the lowest type. But money is the least offering any man can make. Time, talent, the heart and its affections stand pre-eminently above money. And when a man is gracious toward God with these he will and must be gracious with all his worldly possessions. The apostle of John Wesley, "Make all the money you can; give all you can, and save all you can," is very hard to excel. Within itself it is a code of ethics that all men would do well to follow.

Many people are not grateful because of pride. The Lord is too small for them to bow down before; Christianity is too trivial for their exalted minds, and the church too common for them to enter. Yes, to the scornful God is a myth; the Bible a fable and religion a farce. Blinked and blind, with no sense or appreciation of the value of Christianity they live and die.

The stupid are insensible to the true, the beautiful and the good. To the coarse and vulgar all things are vile. Religion with all its springs of gratitude in such lives is an unknown quality. From withered hearts and blighted lives no streams of gratitude can ever flow. From frozen souls and putrid depths no religious principles nor convictions can ever rise. Nothing but the Son of God can speak a dead corpse into living existence.

The hearts of many people are too little to contain the exhilarating and buoyant effects of a gracious disposition. If their souls were placed in a wine press with the weight of the universe upon the fulcrum not one drop of gratitude to God or man could be squeezed out of them in a thousand years, for out of nothing, nothing comes. With the fountains of appreciation all dried up they themselves are in great danger of being dried, and parched and burned forever and ever. O soul! beware of base ingratitude, either to God or man.

ABOUT DR. M. F. ANGELL.

University of Idaho, Moscow, July 25.—Dr. M. F. Angell, formerly of the University of New Mexico, has been made acting dean of the College of Letters and Science here. He will serve during the year's leave granted to Dean E. M. Holme who has been called to the University of Chicago for the summer and who expects to do research work in Europe this winter.

Dean Angell came to the University of Idaho in 1913 from the University of New Mexico where he was Dean of the College of Science and Engineering. He has recently declined two attractive offers from other state institutions.

Last fall Dean Angell was Director of Vocational Training, Section B, of the Students Army Training Corps and received high praise from federal inspectors for the work he did in this position. He was acting dean of the University during the absence of Dean J. G. Eldridge in Europe last spring.

MINING IN NEW MEXICO IN 1918 AND 1919.

The Geological Survey has just issued the following press bulletin in regard to mining in New Mexico:

During the year 1918 mines in New Mexico produced $681,000 in gold, 782,000 ounces of silver, $235,000 pounds of lead, 98,300,000 pounds of copper, and 24,100,000 pounds of zinc. The statistics for 1919 will show a considerable decrease in the output of all metals except gold. The Chino Copper Co., which in 1918 produced 79,346,373 pounds of copper and $39,732 in gold and silver, produced only 11,512,133 pounds of copper during the first quarter of 1919, owing to curtailment of operations. This company hopes to be able to continue operations at 50 per cent capacity. The Durango Mountain Branch of the Phelps Dodge Co., which in 1918 produced 53,146 tons of concentrate averaging 14.9 per cent copper, has been so seriously affected by the drop in the price of copper that it has suspended operations. The Santa Fe Gold & Copper Co. has also ceased operations at San Pedro.

During the first five months of 1919 the 85 Mining Co. at Lordsburg, shipped a quantity of siliceous copper-silver-gold ore almost equal to that shipped by it during the entire year 1918. Developments at Mogollon may maintain an output of silver equal to that of 1918, when the Fanny mill was operated only 5 months. The combined gold districts of Nogal, Whiteoak, and Baldy have so far produced ore at an increased rate.

The decreased shipments of lead and lead-zinc ores from Magdalena and the discontinuance of the shipments of lead from the Organ Mountains district will greatly reduce the output of lead from the State.

The suspension of operations at Pinos Altos and the curtailment of operations at Hanover and Kelly will naturally result in a greatly decreased output of zinc.—State Record.

I am offering for sale 50 acres of land within two miles of the Illinois Producers well No. 2 on Dayton Hill, the heart of production, in blocks of 10 acres or more; or will lease the whole tract for oil and gas.
