DRILLING SITES SELECTED-- OIL DEVELOPMENT TO BE RAPID

Two Oil Companies to Turn Loose Gushers in Carlsbad Area, Five and Twelve Miles from Town—Chas. M. Watson Brings First Oil Rig to Lower Pecos Valley.

Capitalists at Last Recognize Big Possibilities of Carlsbad Field and Are Backing Faith With Half Million Dollars—Other Wells in View.

Work has begun in proving the Carlsbad oil field. Two drilling sites have been selected.

One of them is on the north-west corner of the north-east quarter of section seven, township twenty-two south, range twenty-six east, five miles west and north of Carlsbad, and the other is on the Cunningham quarter, east of Loving, twelve miles south of town.

The rig for the West Columbia Trans-Pecos company, commonly known in town as the "Pool" was sent down from the Carlsbad yards Wednesday, and will be unloaded as rapidly as teams can be found to haul it to the well. It is a standard rig, the lumber alone costing two thousand dollars. Drilling on this site will be begun as soon as possible. An official of the company, speaking Wednesday regarding the prospects of the well, said that he expected oil to be found at a depth of thirty-five hundred feet or less, and that the company would start with an eighteen inch hole.

To the West Columbia Trans-Pecos Company and to Chas. M. Watson, who is in the employ of that company, must be ascribed the honor of being the first oil company to get a standard rig in the lower Pecos Valley and they will probably commence actual drilling operations first.

Lumber was started out to the Homer P. Lee site, west of town, nearly a week ago. The cook shack was first set up, and then work began on the shanty, and on the cellar, which was blown out Wednesday.

The Homer P. Lee well is located to go four thousand feet, and will start with a twenty-inch hole. The rig was loaded some days ago from the California office of the company, and is now rolling toward town. Unless held up by railroad delays, it will be in the yards in a very short time. The Carter Oil company, of which Mr. Lee is state representative, will supply fuel oil from its own refineries with which to operate the plant. Mr. A. D. Whitten is in charge of operations.

Homer P. Lee will put down two more wells in Eddy County, if blocks now under way are completed. The company has extensive holdings in and about this site already selected.

The country in which the well will be drilled has long been known to geologists as a favorite situation. It is peculiar in that two oil structures center there. E. M. Skeats, well known to old-timers in Carlsbad, was one of the early geologists who surveyed the region, and twenty years ago a well was drilled to a depth of thirteen hundred feet, not far from the present location. Mr. Skeats named the range of hills then which he thought covered oil pools, the "Border Range", and it is on this geological formation that both the Homer P. Lee and the Pool well will be drilled. No less than seven geologists of national reputation have visited Carlsbad within the last six months, and have united in declaring the present drilling sites of the two oil companies to be ideal ones. No reputable geologist will declare that oil is positively beneath a certain structure, but few, if any, fields ever brought in which were declared hopeless from a geological standpoint. The prospects for striking oil near Carlsbad are bright.

Charles Buskirk is the geologist who located the drilling site for the West Columbia Trans-Pecos company, which is under contract with Chas. M. Watson for a well thirty-five hundred feet in depth. Mr. Buskirk's surveys coincided exactly with those formerly made by E. M. Skeats, and the site is one selected many years ago by the old-time Carlsbad geologist.

These two drilling sites are authoritative, but it is common street talk that the pool will drill on a second site as soon as is possible, and that one more well, and possibly more, will be spudded in on the east side of the Pecos before Christmas.

The Carlsbad field is going to be thoroughly tried out, and a new variety of animal, the Carlsbad millionaire, is expected shortly to be adorning the streets.

BIG OIL FIELD IN NEW MEXICO IS INDICATED.

Geologists' Surveys and Early Development Highly Favorable That Oil Is To Be Found.

It is the belief of many people that the next large oil field in the United States will be found in New Mexico, states the Fort Worth Star Telegram. The fertile fields of the Pecos valley have been showing signs of oil for the past 25 years and the few ineffective efforts that have been wasted in blind methods of finding this petrol have not shaken the faith of those who have had occasion to visit the field. The discovery of oil in the Pecos valley section was accidental and made in an effort to deepen artesian water in the artesian water strata. In the early development of the country when artesian water was found, it was noticed that certain localities little showings of oil were found with the water but little attention was paid to this by-product until a well was brought in known as the Brown well. This well gave greater flowing of oil than any other up to the time it was brought in. Steps were taken to separate the oil from the water and it was found that this well was producing as high as 32 barrels of high grade oil during 24 hours. As soon as the news was heralded to the world, confident men took notice and a wild scramble for leases took place. Very unfortunate indeed was this, for it kept

BATTLESNAKE BITES LITTLE BABY, CAUSING DEATH.

Fangs of Maddened Snake Bring Death in Family Long Pursued by Ill Luck.

The eighteen-months-old baby of Mrs. Nat Roberts, who resides on a ranch near Lovington, was bitten by a rattlesnake last Monday, died the following morning, and was buried in the afternoon of the same day. Intense sympathy is felt for the mother, her other child being the victim of an automobile accident some three years ago and her husband dying from the flu during the epidemic last winter. This was her only child.

Just how this tragedy occurred is not yet known in Carlsbad, but many speculations are heard. Some believe the child was bitten while at play in some out-of-the-way place about the yard, while others tell that they have known of instances in their lives where snakes were found in the bed. Details will soon be learned it is thought and given later.

out the man ready to do development work in the field.

A half dozen wells or more have been drilled throughout this section known as the Roswell Basin (Fischer geological survey), affording oil and gas in varying quantities, along with the artesian water. The estimated amount produced in the most of these wells, have been from 2 to 50 barrels per day under normal conditions. The Brown well is situated between Artesia and Dayton, also the Muncy, Frisch, and Everests wells. About two and one-half miles southeast of the Brown well is the Bell well. Oil in this well is caught by means of setting a tank and acid locally to seepages. Both this well and the Brown well have an artesian flow of 250 gallons per minute. The oil is brought to the surface with the water accompanied by strong flow of gas. The oil is of dark green color, a paraffine base, and contains a large percentage of gasoline. Other wells in this section will show a small amount of oil, scarcely enough to give to the water a good coating. These wells also exhibit a small gas pressure. With all phases which have a bearing on the possible future oil value of this district considered it is one that must be regarded as with wonderful prospects. The fact that oil is present in so many wells so widely scattered throughout the district and that the oil is accompanied with considerable gas pressure, sufficient to force thru a column of water 800 to 1000 feet high is interesting. These wells continue to produce the same amount of oil for a period of eight or nine years.

The geology of this field is similar in many ways to that of Central and West Texas oil fields. The rock occupying the surface are unconsolidated sediments laid down in the form of successive terraces, which increases in elevation from the Pecos river westward to the foothills bordering the Capitan and White mountains. Beneath these recent unconsolidated sediments occur the older red sands and clays, gypsum and porous limestone. Thruout the Roswell basin the structure is concealed by these overlying recent unconsolidated sediments but east of the Pecos river, where the bluffs rise 100 to 200 feet in altitude evidences of the monocline is well afforded.

In a late geological report entitled "Petroleum near Dayton, N. M.", the following statements are made relative to the geology of the Pecos valley: "The Caprocks of the Pecos valley are of Carboniferous age, the lowermost Pennsylvanian and the uppermost Permian. The redbeds of the Pecos valley, on the evidence of fossil shells and stratigraphic position, are believed to be of the Permian age and are correlated with the well known Permian redbeds of north and central Texas and Oklahoma, which outcrop east of the Llano Estacado. It is of interest that the oil in the Electra field, Texas, east of the Llano Estacado occurs in the same stratigraphic position."

It is the consensus of opinion of students who have made a study of the geologic section of the valley that a well drilled to a depth of 3000 feet cut five sand horizons. This is reported to be the opinion of A. L. Ester Furbur of Furbur Bros., London, and Mexico City. The great monocline of which the Pecos valley is a part is watered by a series of anticlines and synclines that may be easily detected by the use of logs of the artesian wells. The structure in size and extent compare favorably with El Dorado and Cushing and entirely outrank Ranger, where the accumulation of oil and gas is due to sub-surface conditions that could not be predicted from the surface. Reverse dips of as high as 200 feet have been noted in the valley, while the reversals of Cushing and El Dorado are only 160.

The following companies are at work or have obtained holdings in the Pecos valley field: Inter-State Drilling Association, Illinois Producers, Kansas and New Mexico, Lincoln Oil Company, Eddy County Oil Company, Trans-Pecos and Carter oil companies. With these companies undertaking development on a large scale New Mexico should soon be a prominent factor in carlsbad for the present oil shortage.

GALLUP, N. M., SUFFERS FROM BIG MOUNTAIN STORM.

Families Driven From Homes; Buildings Swept Away and Bridges Taken Away.

Gallup, N. M., August 3.—Scores of families in Gallup were driven from their homes, a part of a business building was swept away, tracks on the main line of the Santa Fe railroad were washed out, and two bridges were carried away in a flood here last night.

A cloudburst on the north slope of the Zuni mountains sent a wave of water down the Rio Puerco, which overflowed at Gallup.

Homes in the western part of Gallup were badly damaged. Many families had no warning of the flood until water a foot deep had entered their homes. Others were warned by blowing of the fire whistle and sought higher ground. There was no loss of life.

A part of the Schauer building, carried away in the flood, lodged against the Second street bridge. This bridge and the suspension bridge were carried away.

Hundreds of yards of track on the Santa Fe line were washed out. The damage will not be repaired for a week, railroad officials said. Santa Fe trains are being detoured via the Southern Pacific.

A second flood this morning added to the heavy property loss. Indications are that storms in the Zuni mountains are not yet over.

PROMINENT POLITICIAN HERE.

Hon. Frank Curry, of Lordsburg, was a visitor in our city today. Mr. Curry had just returned from a trip into old Mexico, as far south as Mexico City, and brought out with him 50,000 head of sheep that he owned down there. Mr. Curry was recently appointed assessor for the new county of Hidalgo in this state, and was clerk of the last legislature. He is one of the best known politicians in the state among the younger set, and is a son of ex-Governor and now Gov. B. Curry. He went from here to Roswell and Albuquerque where he had made arrangements to dispose of his sheep. Mr. Curry will then return to Hidalgo county and commence the big job of making out the tax roll for the new county. While here he was registered at the Crawford.

Break in Canal.

A large force of men and about eighty teams are at work on the break in the canal bank just north of the flume, and the prospects are that the work will be completed and water turned in the first of the week. The break in the bank is about fifty feet in length, but the canal at that point is elevated above the surrounding country, and about four hundred feet of bank is washed out at the bottom and has to be filled up and puddled. It may have to stand a few days after completion before water can be turned in and a full head of water, such as was carried previous to the break, cannot be carried for several days afterwards. A limited supply will be put in at the earliest moment possible.

Ray Soliday is anticipating a visit from his mother, Mrs. Annie Soliday, whose home is in Fulton, South Dakota; she will arrive this afternoon.

Mrs. W. J. Barber and children left Sunday for their ranch home some eighteen miles out toward Lovington, where they will remain a few days.

There'll be no disappointments in the big Mary Pickford picture, "Daddy Long Legs". The big show will sure be on Thursday & Friday, August 14th and 15th, at Ardmore, and in case of bad weather will be shown at the Theatre.

"Uncle Ed" Lyon was brought in from the mountains last Friday night for medical treatment and is now at Eddy County hospital. He is a brother of Mrs. Julia Shattuck and an uncle of Mrs. Thayer and has a very wide acquaintance in Carlsbad and Eddy County.

Miss Zada Mudgett came in from Las Vegas Monday afternoon. She will be in Carlsbad until the opening of the fall term of school, when she will again return to her studies in the State normal. Miss Mudgett stopped over Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Henry Schmarke, at Deming.

Tray Humphreys, wife and son and Miss Mary Vaughn, who had been visiting at the Humphreys' ranch, came in from there Saturday. Miss Vaughn left last Thursday for her work in El Paso, she being stenographer for a railroad company in the Pass city.

Milton Farris, of Artesia, brother of Claude Farris, is visiting at the home of the latter in Carlsbad, this week.

Garvin Smith, wife and son, Zane, left the first of the week for their home in Mayfield, after a month's visit with relatives and friends in Carlsbad.

Mrs. D. F. Sellards and daughter, Aurelia, are taking their vacation leaving Sunday night for Lincoln, New Mexico, where they intend to stay a week or ten days.

CARLSBAD MAY BE LANDING PLACE FOR COMMERCIAL AIRSHIPS

Promoter of Aerial Transportation Line Will Soon Arrive in City from El Paso to Discuss Possibility of Air Transportation.

$33,000.00 DAMAGE SUIT.

Papers filed this week with the clerk of the district court, D. M. Jackson, institute a suit for damages against the Public Utilities Company for the sum of $33,000 to be paid Mrs. Flora Loving for the death of her husband which occurred some few months ago while he was in the employ of The Carlsbad Light & Power Company as electrician. He went to look after some reported trouble for his company when he came in contact with a guy wire which, it is claimed, was being used by the P. U. Co. as a ground wire and was highly charged, instantly causing death. Grounds for the amount of damages claimed is based on the following figures: At the time of his death, Mr. Loving was 33 years of age, and, according to insurance mortality tables, he would have had an earning capacity for himself and family of 22 years, or until the age of 55 had been reached. In 22 years, at $1,500 per year, he would have earned $33,000, and deducting $25 per month for personal expenses, it leaves $33,000, the amount asked for in the suit. Mrs. Loving's attorney in the case is Major E. P. Bujac.

SHIPMENT FROM THE VALLEY.

That the Toyah Valley is enjoying a prosperous era at the present time is indicated by the heavy shipment of hay during the past two weeks; 118 cars of pea-green alfalfa have been shipped out during the past two weeks, and over a half million ready market in East and North Texas, at top prices. Forty-eight cars of gravel were shipped during the time from the pits near Saragosa for use on the National Highway, in Ward county.—Pecos Enterprise.

Former Pecos Man Electrocuted.

C. S. Turner, formerly of Pecos, was killed Sunday morning at Electra, Texas.

Deceased left Childress, Texas, about a month ago, going to Electra. He was at work on a building there and Saturday night a hard rain fell. The contractors sent him down to the building site to see about getting the water out of the basement. Saturday before some boys connected an iron plate with an electric wire so as to shock people who walked along and stepped on it. The rain left a pool that covered the iron plate and Mr. Turner stepped on it, killing him instantly.—Childress Index.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Mrs. Dilley was hostess last Friday afternoon to seven tables of bridge players, at her home on North Canal street, this city. The afternoon passed pleasantly at their favorite game. Mrs. Jackson was awarded first prize; Mrs. Stephenson second prize. Mrs. Dilley served dainty refreshments to her guests who were Mesdames Carl and Marvin Livingston, Bujac, Sikes, Holley Benson, Joyce, W. S. Moore, Stephenson, Clarence Richards, Frank Richards, Wright, Ervin, Roberts, Rawlins, Robinson, Worthen, Waller, Dow, Tinton, Kelly, Clark, Halley, Cunningham, Dopp, Foster; Misses Cooke, Gregorie, Simonds.

Miss Madeline Bates, of Roswell is in town, coming Thursday, for a visit with her cousin, Miss Wardle, and other friends.

John R. Means, of Hope, was a visitor from his home Tuesday of this week.

McCutcheon Brothers Receive Heavy Shipment.

Last week McCutcheon Bros. received thirty-two cars of cattle which will be placed on the Davis mountain ranch. Twenty-six cars were shipped from Haskell, Texas, and six from Midland. The receipt of this shipment indicates fine range conditions in the mountain country, abundant rains having visited that section since March, and grass is fine.—Pecos Enterprise.

PROGRAM W. C. T. U. MEETING.

Meeting of W. C. T. U. at the Methodist Church, Wednesday, August 13th. Song. Devotional exercises. President "Relation of the W. C. T. U. to Other Organizations." Mrs. Disman piano solo.—Mrs. Allinger "Child's Labor Law and Its Enforcement." Mrs. Allinger Vocal solo.—Mrs. A. A. Davis "Conservation of Child Life." led by—Madam Thorne Discussion. Duet.—Mesdames Clark and Davis All are cordially invited to be present.

Big Commercial Aerial Liners Will Alight on Flying Field at This City, Says Information To Commercial Club Secretary.

It is pretty generally known that Secretary W. F. Melvain has been in correspondence with The Southwestern Aerial Transportation Line and Aviation School, the idea of Mr. Melvain being to get Carlsbad on the line of this transportation company, and we print, herewith, a letter just received from the company, which is self-explanatory.

"El Paso, Texas, Aug. 4, 1919. "Mr. W. F. Melvain, "Secretary Commercial Club, "Carlsbad, N. Mex.

"Dear Sir: "We are in receipt of your letter of July 14th, which has been delayed on route somewhat with reference to our contemplated aerial route. We had hoped to be flying by this time but unforeseen inconveniences have prevented, which have also delayed our visit to your city.

"Desire to state that our first ship is on the way here and we expect it any day. With this ship we intend to pay all the cities in the southwest a visit and invite the people to fly with us. This trip we will make some time this month. We are going west as far as Phoenix, Tucson, Miami, Globe and Douglas. If we can get the people to see that aerial lines will benefit them, we want to organize a suitable company with capital to finance it. We want to have a 12-passenger ship that will go to the sea side, Kansas City or New Orleans without a stop. The Martin bomber with two Liberty motors, 303 horse power, is capable of doing this. In addition to the aerial lines we already have 25 students signed up ready to take up the course in flying. In this we must have a cheaper machine at our field here for them to learn in. Aerial lines require a great deal of capital to begin with, but it can be seen they are immensely profitable.

"We have no fear but what Carlsbad will assist us from every angle. And we want to thank you for your interest taken in our aerial project. We thank you for the landing field. I will be in your city at an early date, soon after our ship arrives, and arrange for the coming of the first commercial aerial liner. We want you to see us in the air and we will be proud to land in your city and visit with your good people.

"Yours very sincerely, "SOUTHWESTERN AERIAL TRANSPORTATION LINES "W. F. MELVAIN."

NOTICE TO THE GOATMEN.

There will be a meeting of the Pecos Valley Goatsmen's Association in Carlsbad, Friday, August 15th. All goatmen invited. Mr. McNabb, of the New Mexico State Bureau of Marketing, will be present and expects to advise us on regarding the sale of mohair. All goatmen and all persons interested in the sale of mohair are invited to be present. W. R. HEGLER, Secy.

COTTON CROP WORTH MILLION DOLLARS IS GROWING AT CARLSBAD.

Carlsbad, N. M., Aug. 4.—Farmers under the Carlsbad project are generally speaking a busy and contented lot this summer. Prices are excellent, the growing season has been satisfactory, and the crops are showing much promise. The cotton crop is headed for a million dollars in value, and alfalfa hay is selling rapidly at $20 a ton, with lots of it in sight.

Project Manager L. E. Foster says in his monthly report to the reclamation office at Washington that the "yield per acre of alfalfa is the largest in the history of the project." Yields of a ton and a half per acre from each cutting are being frequently reported. E. T. Carter of Loving and Carlsbad being one man who is well pleased with his crop. Mr. Carter took from 300 acres of alfalfa, 460 tons on his first cutting, and 500 on his second. Farmers are finding a ready market for hay at prices ranging around $20.

Nearly 10,000 acres of cotton are just beginning to bloom and the crop, generally speaking, is ten days ahead of its usual time. Eighty per cent of the cotton this year is Durango, which brings a good premium over the usual ruling prices. Buyers have already made inquiries regarding the crop. The yield is estimated at over 5,000 bales. A sale recently reported of Carlsbad cotton fixed the price for this staple at 45 and 46 cents.

The Magnificent Ambersons

BOOTH TARKINGTON

COPYRIGHT BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Major Amberson had made a fortune in 1813 when other people were losing fortunes, and the magnificence of the Ambersons began then. Major Amberson laid out a 200-acre "development," with roads and statuary, and in the center of a four-acre tract, on Amberson avenue, built for himself the most magnificent mansion the Midland City had ever seen.

CHAPTER II.—When the major's daughter married young Willard Minafer the neighbors predicted that as Isabel could never really love Willard all her love would be bestowed upon the children. There was only one child, however, George Amberson Minafer, but his upbringing and his youthful accomplishments as a mischief maker were quite in keeping with the most pessimistic predictions.

CHAPTER III.—By the time George went away to college he did not attempt to conceal his belief that the Ambersons were about the most important family in the world. At a ball given in his honor when he returned from college, George monopolized Lucy Morgan, a stranger and the prettiest girl present, and got on famously with her until he learned that "queer looking duck" at whom he had been poking much fun, was the young lady's father. He was Eugene Morgan, a former resident of Highbury, and he was returning there to erect a factory and to build horseless carriages of his own invention.

CHAPTER IV.—Eugene was an old admirer of Isabel's and they had been engaged when Isabel threw him over because of some youthful indiscretion and married Willard Minafer.

CHAPTER V.—While driving with Lucy next day, George allows the horse to get beyond control, and the animal overturns the cutter, spilling George and Lucy in the snow, unhurt, although George is greatly annoyed.

CHAPTER VII.

When George regained some measure of his presence of mind Miss Lucy Morgan's cheek, snowy and cold, was pressing his nose slightly to one side; and a monstrous amount of her furboa seemed to mingle with an equally unpalatable quantity of snow in his mouth. He was confused, but conscious of no objection to any of these juxtapositions. She was apparently uninjured, for she sat up, hatless, her hair down, and said mildly:

"Good heavens!"

Though her father had been under his machine when they passed, he was the first to reach them. He threw himself on his knees beside his daughter, but found her already laughing, and was reassured. "They're all right," he called to Isabel, who was running toward them, ahead of her brother and Fanny Minafer. "This snowbank's a feather bed—nothing the matter with them at all. Don't look so pale!"

"Good Heavens!"

"George!" she gasped. "George!" George was on his feet, snow all over him.

"Don't make a fuss, mother! Nothing's the matter. That darned silly horse—"

Sudden tears stood in Isabel's eyes. "To see you down underneath—dragging—oh!" Then with shaking hands she began to brush the snow from him.

"Let me alone," he protested. "You'll ruin your gloves. You're getting snow all over you, and—"

"No, no!" she cried. "You'll catch cold; you mustn't catch cold!" And she continued to brush him.

Amberson had brought Lucy's hat; Miss Fanny acted as lady's maid; and both victims of the accident were presently restored to about their usual appearance and condition of apparel. In fact, encouraged by the two older gentlemen, the entire party, with one exception, decided that the episode was after all a merry one, and began to laugh about it. But George was glummer than the December twilight now swiftly closing in.

"That darned horse!" he said.

"I wouldn't bother about Pendennis, George," said his uncle. "You can send a man out for what's left of the cutter tomorrow, and Pendennis will gallop home to his stable; he'll be there a long while before we will, because all we've got to depend on to get us home is Gene Morgan's broken-down chafing dish yonder."

They were approaching the machine as he spoke, and his friend, again underneath it, heard him. He emerged, smiling. "She'll go," he said.

"What!"

"All aboard!"

He offered his hand to Isabel. She was smiling but still pale, and her eyes, in spite of the smile, kept upon George in a shocked anxiety. Miss Fanny had already mounted to the rear seat, and George, after helping Lucy Morgan to climb up beside his aunt, was following. Isabel saw that his shoes were light things of patent leather, and that snow was clinging to them. She made a little rush toward him, and, as one of his feet rested on the iron step of the machine, in mounting, she began to clean the snow from his shoe with her almost aerial lace handkerchief. "You mustn't catch cold!" she cried.

"Stop that!" George shouted, and furiously withdrew his foot. "For heaven's sake get in! You're standing in the snow yourself. Get in!"

Isabel consented, turning to Morgan, whose habitual expression of apprehensiveness was somewhat accentuated. He climbed up after her, George Amberson having gone to the other side. "You're the same Isabel I used to know!" he said in a low voice. "You're a divinely ridiculous woman." "Am I, Eugene?" she said, not displeased. "Divinely and 'ridiculously' just counterbalance each other, don't they? Plus one and minus one equal nothing; so you mean I'm nothing in particular?"

"No," he answered, tugging at a lever. "That doesn't seem to be precisely what I meant. There!"

This exclamation referred to the subterranean machinery, for dismaying sounds came from beneath the floor, and the vehicle plunged, then rolled noisily forward.

"Behold!" George Amberson exclaimed. "She does move! It must be another accident."

"Accident?" Morgan shouted over the din. "No! She breathes, she stirs; she seems to feel a thrill of life along her keel!" And he began to sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Amberson joined him lustily, and sang on when Morgan stopped. His nephew, behind, was gloomy. He had overheard his mother's conversation with the inventor: it seemed curious to him that this Morgan, of whom he had never heard until last night, should be using the name "Isabel" so easily; and George felt that it was not just the thing for his mother to call Morgan "Eugene;" the resentment of the previous night came upon George again. Meanwhile his mother and Morgan continued their talk; but he could no longer hear what they said; the noise of the car and his uncle's songful mood prevented. He marked how animated Isabel seemed; it was not strange to see his mother so gay, but it was strange that a man not of the family should be the cause of her gaiety. And George sat frowning.

Lucy turned to him. "You tried to swing underneath me and break the fall for me when we went over," she said. "I knew you were doing that, and—it was nice of you."

"Wasn't any fall to speak of," he returned brusquely. "Couldn't have hurt either of us."

"Still it was friendly of you—and awfully quick, too. I'll not—I'll not forget it!"

Her voice had a sound of genuineness, very pleasant, and George began to forget his annoyance with her father. This annoyance of his had not been alleviated by the circumstance that neither of the seats of the old sewing machine was designed for three people, but when his neighbor spoke thus gratefully he no longer minded the crowding—in fact, it pleased him so much that he began to wish the old sewing machine would go even slower. George presently addressed Lucy hurriedly, almost tremulously, speaking close to her ear:

"I forgot to tell you something: you're pretty nice! I thought so the first second I saw you last night. I'll come for you tonight and take you to the Assembly at the Amberson hotel. You're going, aren't you?"

"Yes, but I'm going with papa and the Sharons. I'll see you there."

"Well, we'll dance the cotillion together, anyhow."

"I'm afraid not. I promised Mr. Kinney."

"What?" George's tone was shocked, as at incredible news. "Well, you could break that engagement. I guess, if you wanted to! Girls always can get out of things when they want to. Won't you?"

"I don't think so."

"Why not?"

"Because I promised him. Several days ago."

"See here!" said the stricken George. "If you're going to decline to dance that cotillion with me simply because you've promised a—a—a miserable red-headed outsider like Fred Kinney, why we might as well quit!"

"Quit what?"

"You know perfectly well what I mean," he said huskily.

"I don't."

"Well, you ought to!"

"But I don't at all!"

George, thoroughly hurt, and not a little embittered, expressed himself in a short outburst of laughter: "Well, I ought to have seen it!"

"Seen what?"

"That you might turn out to be a girl who'd like a fellow of the red-headed Kinney sort. I ought to have seen it from the first!"

Lucy bore her disgrace lightly. "Oh, dancing a cotillion with a person doesn't mean that you like him—but I don't see anything in particular in the matter with Mr. Kinney. What is?"

"I prefer not to discuss it," said George curtly. "He's an enemy of mine."

"Why?"

"I prefer not to discuss it."

"Well, but—"

"I prefer not to discuss it!"

"Very well." She began to hum the air of the song which Mr. George Amberson was now discoursing. "O moon of my delight that knows no wane!" and there was no further conversation on the back seat.

The contrivance stopped with a heart-shaking jerk before Isabel's house. The gentlemen jumped down, helping Isabel and Fanny to descend; there were friendly leavetakings—and one that was not precisely friendly.

"It's an awful till tonight, isn't it?" Lucy asked, laughing.

"Good afternoon!" said George, and he did not wait, as his relatives did, to see the old sewing machine start briskly down the street, toward the Sharons; its lighter load consisting now of only Mr. Morgan and his daughter. George went into the house at once.

He found his father reading the evening paper in the library. "Where are your mother and your Aunt Fanny?" Mr. Minafer inquired, not looking up.

"They're coming," said his son; and, casting himself heavily into a chair, stared at the fire.

His prediction was verified a few moments later; the two ladies came in cheerfully, unfastening their fur cloaks. "It's all right, George," said Isabel. "Your Uncle George called to us that Pendennis got home safely. Put your shoes close to the fire, dear, or else go and change them."

"Look here," said George abruptly. "How about this man Morgan and his old sewing machine? Doesn't he want to get grandfather to put money into it? Isn't he trying to work Uncle George for that? Isn't that what he's up to?"

It was Miss Fanny who responded. "You little silly!" she cried, with surprising sharpness. "What on earth are you talking about? Eugene Morgan's perfectly able to finance his own inventions these days."

"He strikes me as that sort of man," George answered doggedly.

"Isn't he, father?"

Minafer set down his paper for the moment. "He was a fairly wild young fellow twenty years ago," he said, glancing at his wife absently. "He was like you in one thing, George: he spent too much money—only he didn't have any mother to get money out of a grandfather for him, so he was usually in debt. But I believe I've heard he's done fairly well of late years. No, I can't say I think he's a swindler, and I doubt if he needs anybody else's money to back his horseless carriage."

"Well, what's he brought the old thing here for, then? People that own elephants don't take their elephants around with 'em when they go visiting. What's he got it here for?"

"I'm sure I don't know," said Mr. Minafer, resuming his paper. "You might ask him."

Isabel laughed and patted her husband's shoulder again. "Aren't you going to dance? Aren't we all going to the dance?"

He groaned faintly. "Aren't your brother and George escorts enough for you and Fanny?"

"Wouldn't you enjoy it at all?"

"You know I don't."

Isabel let her hand remain upon his shoulder a moment longer; she stood behind him, looking into the fire, George, watching her broodingly, thought there was more color in her face than the reflection of the flames accounted for. "Well, then," she said indulgently, "stay at home and be

"We Won't Urge You If You'd Really Rather Not."

happy. We won't urge you if you'd really rather not."

"I really wouldn't," he said contentedly.

Half an hour later George was passing through the upper hall, in a bathrobe stage of preparation for the evening's gayeties, when he encountered his Aunt Fanny. He stopped her.

"Look here!" he said.

"What in the world is the matter with you?" she demanded, regarding him with little amiability. "You look as if you were rehearsing for a villain in a play."

His expression gave no sign of yielding to the request; on the contrary, its somberness deepened. "I suppose you don't know why father doesn't want to go tonight," he said solemnly.

"He never wants to go anywhere that I ever heard of," said Fanny. "What is the matter with you?"

"He doesn't want to go because he doesn't like this man Morgan. Look here, what makes you—and everybody so excited over him?"

"Excited!" she jeered. "Can't people be glad to see an old friend without silly children like you having to make a to-do about it? I've just been in your mother's room suggesting that she might give a little dinner for them—"

"For who?"

"For whom, George! For Mr. Morgan and his daughter."

"Look here!" George said quickly. "Don't do that! Mother, mustn't do that. It wouldn't look well."

"Wouldn't look well!" Fanny mocked him; and her suppressed vehemence betrayed a surprising acerbity. "See here, George Minafer, I suggest that you just march straight on into your room and finish your dressing! Sometimes you say things that show you have a pretty mean little mind!"

George was so astounded by this outburst that his indignation was delayed by his curiosity. "Why, what upsets you this way?" he inquired.

"I know what you mean," she said, her voice still lowered, but not decreasing in sharpness. "You're trying to insinuate that I'd get your mother to invite Eugene Morgan here on my account because he's a widower!"

"I am!" George gasped, nonplused. "I'm trying to insinuate that you're setting your cap at him and getting mother to help you? Is that what you mean?"

Beyond a doubt that was what Miss Fanny meant. She gave him a white-hot look. "You attend to your own affairs!" she whispered fiercely, and swept away.

George, dumfounded, returned to his room for meditation.

He had lived for years in the same house with his Aunt Fanny, and it now appeared that during all those

Batteries? Only One for Me

If you saw batteries every day as I do you'd say the same, and your choice—like mine—would be Willard every time.

You'd know—as I do—that every Willard Battery is built to give full battery value for every penny that's paid for it—that every piece of insulation, every plate, every jar, is known to be right before it leaves the factory.

We keep a complete stock of Willard Batteries—and can supply a new one fully charged and ready for use on your car. If you need battery repairs, we'll furnish you with a rental battery, so that your car can be kept constantly in service.

years he had been thus intimately associating with a total stranger. Never before had he met the passionate lady with whom he had just held a conversation in the hall. So she wanted to get married! And wanted George's mother to help her with this horseless-carriage widower!

"Well, I will be shot!" he muttered aloud. "I well—I certainly will be shot." And he began to laugh. "Lord 'mighty!"

But presently, at the thought of the horseless-carriage widower's daughter, his grimaces returned, and he resolved upon a line of conduct for the evening. He would not to her carelessly when he first saw her; and after that he would notice her no more; he would not dance with her; he would not favor her in the cotillion—he would not go near her!

He descended to dinner upon the third urgent summons of the colored butler, having spent two hours dressing—and rehearsing.

The Hon. George Amberson was a congressman who led cotillions—the sort of congressman an Amberson would be. He did it negligently tonight, yet with infallible dexterity, now and then glancing humorously at the spectators, people of his own age.

George had carried out his rehearsed projects with precision. He had given Miss Morgan a nod studied into perfection during his lengthy toilet before dinner. "Oh, yes, I do seem to remember that curious little outsider!" this nod seemed to say. Thereafter all cognizance of her evaporated: the curious little outsider was permitted no further existence worth the struggle. Nevertheless she flashed in the corner of his eyes too often. She seemed to be having a "wonder" (Continued On Next Page.)

The people of New Mexico are closely watching the various developments for oil in the state. Very few doubt that oil will be found, but just where and at what depth no one knows. There is one consolation, however, geologists say New Mexico is to be a great oil producing state. With the many prospects working now and others being started, it looks like the great period of production, as predicted, is close at hand.—Ex.

THE MAGNIFICENT AMBERSONS.

An unbearable soreness accumulated in his chest; his dislike of the girl and her conduct increased until he thought of leaving this sickening Assembly and going home to bed. That would show her! But just then he heard her laughing and decided that it wouldn't show her. So he remained.

When the young couples seated themselves in chairs against the walls round three sides of the room for the cotillion George joined a brazen-faced group clustering about the doorway—youths with no partners, yet eligible to be "called out" and favored. He marked that his uncle placed the infernal Kinney and Miss Morgan, as the leading couple, in the first chairs at the head of the line upon the leader's right; and this disloyalty on the part of Uncle George was inexcusable, for in the family circle the nephew had often expressed his opinion of Fred Kinney. In his bitterness George uttered a significant monosyllable.

The music flourished, whereupon Mr. Kinney, Miss Morgan and six of their neighbors rose and waited knowingly. Mr. Amberson's whistle blew; then the eight young people went to the favor table and were given toys and trinkets wherewith to delight the new partners it was now their privilege to select.

George strolled with a bored air to the tropical grove, where sat his elders, and seated himself beside his Uncle Sydney. His mother leaned across Miss Fanny, raising her voice over the music to speak to him.

"Georgie, nobody will be able to see you here. You'll not be favored. You ought to be where you can dance." "Don't care to," he returned. "Bore!"

"But you ought—" She stopped and laughed, waving her fan to direct his attention behind him. "Look—Over your shoulder!"

He turned and discovered Miss

"I Found You!" She Laughed.

Lucy Morgan in the act of offering him a purple toy balloon.

"I found you!" she laughed.

George was startled. "Well—" he said.

"Would you rather sit it out?" Lucy asked quickly as he did not move. "I don't care to dance if you—"

"No," he said, rising. "It would be better to dance." His tone was solemn, and solemnly he departed with her from the grove. Solemnly he danced with her.

Four times, with not the slightest encouragement, she brought him a favor: four times in succession. When the fourth came, "Look here!" said George huskily. "You going to keep this up all night? What do you mean by it?"

For an instant she seemed confused. "That's what cotillions are for, aren't they?" she murmured.

"What do you mean: what they're for?"

"So that a girl can dance with a person she wants to?"

George's huskiness increased. "Well, do you mean you want to dance with me all the time—all evening?"

"Well, this much of it—evidently!" she laughed.

"Is it because you want to even things up for making me angry—I mean for hurting my feelings on the way home?"

With her eyes averted—for girls of nineteen can be as shy as boys, sometimes—she said, "Well—you only got angry because I couldn't dance the cotillion with you. I—I didn't feel terribly hurt with you for getting angry about that?"

"Was there any other reason? Did my telling you I liked you have anything to do with it?"

She looked up gently and as George met her eyes something exquisitely touching yet queerly delightful gave him a catch in the throat. She looked instantly away, and, turning, ran out from the palm grove, where they stood, to the dancing floor.

"Come on!" she cried. "Let's dance!"

He followed her.

"See here—I—I—" he stammered.

"You mean—Do you—"

"No, no," she laughed. "Let's dance!"

He put his arm about her almost tremulously and they began to waltz.

It was a happy dance for both of them.

Christmas day is the children's, but the holidays are youth's dancing time. The holidays belong to the early twenties and the teens, home from school and college. It is the liveliest time in life, the happiest of the irresponsible times in life. Mothers echo its happiness—nothing is like a mother who has a son home from college, except another mother with a son home from college. Yet they give up their sons to the daughters of other mothers, and find it proud rapture enough to be allowed to sit and watch.

Thus Isabel watched George and Lucy dancing as together they danced away the holidays of that year into the past.

"They seem to get along better than they did at first, those two children," Fanny Minafer said, sitting beside her at the Sharons' dance a week after the Assembly. "They seemed to be always having little quarrels of some sort at first. At least George did: he seemed to be continually pecking at that lovely, dainty little Lucy, and being cross with her over nothing."

"Pecking?" Isabel laughed. "What a word to use about Georgie! I think I never knew a more angelically amiable disposition in my life!"

Miss Fanny echoed her sister-in-law's laugh, but it was a rueful echo, and not sweet. "He's amiable to you!" she said. "That's all the side of him you ever happen to see. And why wouldn't he be amiable to anybody that simply fell down and worshiped him every minute of her life? Most of us would!"

"Isn't he worth worshipping? Just look at him!"

"Oh, I'm not going to argue with you about George!" said Miss Fanny. "I'm fond enough of him, for that matter. He can be charming, and he's certainly stunning looking, if only—"

"Let the 'if only' go, dear," Isabel suggested good-naturedly. "Let's talk about that dinner you thought I should—"

"I?" Miss Fanny interrupted quickly. "Didn't you want to give it yourself?"

"Indeed I did, my dear!" said Isabel heartily. "I only meant that unless you had proposed it perhaps I wouldn't!"

But here Eugene came for her to dance, and she left the sentence uncompleted. Holiday dances can be happy for youth renewed as well as for youth in bud—and yet it was not with the air of a rival that Miss Fanny watched her brother's wife dancing with the widower. Miss Fanny's eyes narrowed a little, but only as if her mind engaged in a hopeful calculation. She looked pleased. (To be continued.)

SENATOR LODGE AND SHANTUNG.

Republican "strong men" in the Senate, and particularly Senator Lodge, long noted for his familiarity with and interest in foreign affairs, are moved to tears over the "crime of Shantung". Because of Japan's acquisition of the territory that Germany grabbed from China, Senator Lodge and others would reject the peace treaty and throw the League of Nations covenant into the bonfire.

It is more than passing strange that Senator Lodge should suddenly develop so deep an interest in China's territorial integrity after the lapse of twenty-one years during which he was silent and stone cold on that subject.

It was in 1897-98 that the international robbery was committed and Shantung passed to the possession of Germany. Senator Lodge was then in the Senate, President McKinley was in the White House, the Republicans were in control everywhere. Senator Teller and some leaders of the opposition party denounced the dismemberment of China and declared it to be America's duty to "join with Great Britain in a notice to Russia and Germany that dismemberment will not be permitted."

Did Senator Lodge define a similar attitude for himself? Not until the lapse of twenty-one years, then to suddenly burst into tears, to be moved to intense indignation by the transfer of a bit of territory from one international robber to another strong-arm nation whose title is at least no worse than that of the imperialistic country. Senator Lodge saw committed the original robbery without so much as lifting his voice in protest. Verily, the years have softened the Massachusetts Senator's heart, but have failed to make consistency his jewel.

Lovington is in the grip of a big union revival and is so stirred up over it that the business houses close every day from 10 to 11 in order that the clerks may partake of the spiritual feast. There is in this interesting situation no warrant for the conclusion that Lovington is such a naughty point that even the clerks need conversion. It is just the way they do things on the plains.—Keweenaw News.

Camel Cigarettes

18 cents a package

Camels are sold everywhere in a scientifically sealed package of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

They Win You On Quality!

Your enjoyment of Camels will be very great because their refreshing flavor and fragrance and mellowness is so enticingly different. You never tasted such a cigarette! Bite is eliminated and there is a cheerful absence of any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

Camels are made of an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos and are smooth and mild, but have that desirable full-body and certainly hand out satisfaction in generous measure. You will prefer this Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Give Camels the stiffest tryout, then compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price for quality, flavor, satisfaction. No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they will not tire your taste!

BODY OF WOODS BOY FOUND. TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF THE MOTHER OF MRS. H. D. HUBBARD.

Five weeks after going to a watery grave, the body of Jimmy Woods, aged 16, who was drowned while bathing in the Pecos river, June 20, was found by a party of fishermen from Toyah, last Friday. Deceased, with others were bathing at a point on the river below Red Bluff, where young Woods, who could not swim, stepped off a sandbar into deep water. All efforts to rescue him were futile, and on account of swift currents, dangerous. For many days the banks of the river were patrolled to recover the body, and as no trace was found, the search was given up, the supposition being that the body had become lodged in crevice or was buried in the quicksand which abounds along the Pecos. A reward of $50 for the recovery of the body remained unclaimed for several weeks.

The recovery of the body was purely accidental. One of the party was attracted by buzzards circling overhead, and investigation revealed all that was left of the boy's earthly remains—a mere skeleton, minus the underjaw and one hand. The flesh was nearly all gone, and the circumstances surrounding the finding of the body and the location, which was a couple of miles below the scene of the accident, were the only items that served to identify the body as that of young Woods.

Sheriff Rice was notified, and forming a party, he went to the scene and improvising a raft, ferried the body across the river and brought it to Pecos, where it was taken in charge by the undertaking department of the Pecos Mercantile Company, and upon advice from the boy's father, was prepared for burial, which took place in Fairview cemetery.

Mr. Woods, the father, arrived in time for the burial services, which were conducted by Rev. W. A. Knight. On account of the great distance to be traveled overland, the mother was unable to make the trip to Pecos.—Pecos Enterprise.

riches and fame are understood in the market place.

"Was this a successful life? What say you, young lady, fresh from high school, smiled upon by many and smiling upon the bright prospect of life and love? Is it your ambition to close your eyes upon this world after 80 years of it, surrounded by your 10 children mourned by 60 grandchildren and by a thousand friends in a moderate-sized western town? Probably not. Unless your youth bolies your wisdom, you say within yourself, 'No. There is too much hardship in that kind of a life. I do not want to work so hard. I do not want to give birth to 10 children and stand by the deathbeds of five of them, and afterwards see my husband die, my family scatter to the four corners of the universe, and suffer all the pangs of disappointment and disillusionment that come with four score years of such a life.'"

THE FARMER'S SON.

An eastern farm paper prints a long series of verses purporting to be the explanation by a farmer's son of why he left the farm and went to the city, says the Indianapolis News. The gist of his argument is found in the following:

I left my dad, his farm, his plow,
Because my calf became his cow.
I left my dad—'twas wrong, of course—
Because my colt became his horse.
I left my dad to sow and reap,
Because my lamb became his sheep.
I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork
Because my pig became his pork.
The garden truck that I made grow
Was his to sell, and mine to hoe.

ROOMS OR BOARD AND ROOMS FOR TEACHERS.

The Eddy County Teachers' Institute will be held in Carlsbad from August 25 to 29th inclusive. About seventy-five teachers are expected to be in attendance during the week, perhaps many more than can find hotel accommodations, and parties who will take teachers to room or to room and board during Institute are requested to notify the County Superintendent, Geo. M. Brinton, stating the location, price, and the number that can be accommodated.

The week of August 25 to 29, inclusive, will be a teachers' rally week when all the teachers of Eddy County will convene in an inspirational meeting preparatory to beginning school the following week, and the public is requested to assist in providing a way to entertain these visitors. If you have a vacant room during the week, make it known to the County Superintendent at an early date that all the teachers can be taken care of during their stay in Carlsbad.

PRESIDENT WILSON CUTS AWAY MORE GROUND FROM UNDER LEAGUE OF NATIONS OP- PONENTS.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson is making it as easy as possible for the Republican senators who have taken an extreme position in their opposition to the League of Nations to recede. He has shown that he has no personal feeling in the matter, and no resentment against those who have criticized him. He is ignoring attacks on him that were uncalled for and unjustified.

Not only has the President said that he would be at the disposal of Senators who were trying to understand the full meaning and significance of the peace treaty, including the League of Nations, but has made it known through Senator Hitchcock and others that he is willing to disprove charges that he would name delegates to the League of Nations of his own personal choice regardless of the wishes and views of others.

His proof of that would be a measure drawn by State Department officials, aided by Mr. Hitchcock, the ranking member of the Foreign Relations Committee, providing for the selection of the delegates to the League of Nations by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. In other words, any delegate the President would select must be confirmed by the Senate, which, at this time, is controlled by the Republicans. This bill would become the enabling act.

Another Canard Spoiled.
Thus the President has eliminated the story of certain Republicans that he was planning to take full control of the American end of the League of Nations.

The people of the nation will understand from this offer that the President is absolutely frank with the Senate Republicans, and his critics have no ground to stand on in this matter.

The same measure that would provide for the naming of the delegates would also make it plain that the American representatives in the League of Nations could take no step under Article X, the one held up by Republicans as bad, without an authorization from Congress.

That disposes of another scarecrow the opponents of the League of Nations put up to frighten the people.

Carrying out his policy of giving the Senate or individual Senators the benefit of any knowledge he may have from a close touch with the construction of the peace treaty President Wilson is "at home" constantly to all who wish to see him for the purpose of discussing any provision of the document. He has gone further and invited hostile Senators to the White House to go over the situation with him. He has let it be known that he will not try to clear up any doubtful points which bother Senators in their consideration of the proposition.

Before the President came back from Europe he was criticized for standing aloof from the Senate. It was asserted, by Republican leaders, that he had not taken them into his confidence, and had withheld information about the peace conference. Now the same Senators are saying privately that he is trying unduly to persuade Senators that he is right and they are wrong. If he does he is damned and if he does not he is damned. The country is beginning to see through the opposition to the League of Nations as observers in Washington have seen for months. The opposition is not so much against the League of Nations as it is against the President and his party. Much of the talk against the treaty is partisan.

Moses Has to Talk.

The mouthpiece of the opposition seems to be the young and glib Senator from New Hampshire, Mr. Moses, who declared that the League of Nations "should be thrown out of the window." It is believed that Mr. Moses has been selected by Senators Lodge and Brandegee, the leaders of the forces opposing the President, to do the talking. The latest plan of this coterie of partisans is to notify the President that 25 Senators—called the "immovables"—have pledged themselves not to vote for the treaty until he agrees to reservations. This story has been given to the press but none of the "immovables" will admit that he is party to the new round robin.

Democratic leaders believe that the Republican opposition to the League of Nations and the treaty will ultimately crumble. They see signs of a breaking up now. Pressure from back home is beginning to bear as the light is thrown on the situation here and the truth begins to circulate. Time, it is felt, will dispose of the "immovables," as it did the Lodge round robin. The names of the 25 were withheld; it was feared public sentiment would move the "immovables."

American Soldiers in School.

Fifteen thousand American soldiers have enrolled for three months special college course at Reims, southeast of Paris, according to telegraphic reports. This is one of several branches of the overseas educational centers in all Army corps; educational work now going on, divisions for vocational training and general secondary education, and the detaching of soldiers as students in universities in the allied countries. About 2,000 Army students are in attendance at English universities.

BIG TIME FOR OLDTIME RESIDENTS OF CARLSBAD.

Under date of July 22nd, the following letter and clipping were received from Mr. Stephenson, who with Mrs. Stephenson, is now visiting kinsfolk and friends in Pittsfield, Illinois:

"I thought the readers of the dear old Current would like to know of the excellent dinner our Illinois friends gave us the 20th in honor of my wife's birthday. We certainly are having a great time, but are anxious to get back home. We took a steamboat ride yesterday, leaving here in the morning and getting back late in the evening. Sure was nice and cool on the water. I had a splendid time at the Centenary at Columbus, and will try and tell something about it when I get back. I also attended a district Epworth League convention at Bowen, Ill., and had a nice time. We will be leaving here in about two weeks for Wisconsin to enjoy ourselves fishing and bathing on the Great Lakes, and then we will be coming our way back to dear old Carlsbad. I have not seen a country since I left home I like half so well as Carlsbad. New Mexico is good enough for me."

"I am sending you a clipping from the 'Pike County Republican' of the dinner."

"The first of September, will soon be here and we will be with you. Hoping all are well, I beg to remain, as ever,

"EDWIN STEPHENSON."

"Dinner for Mrs. Edwin Stephenson."

"Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stoner gave a large dinner party to relatives at their home near Detroit, last Sunday, for Mrs. Edwin Stephenson."

son of Carlsbad, N. Mex., in celebration of her 60th birthday. The day was ideal and the large company present were unanimous in their vote that the affair was a huge success. Among various accessories of the dinner, the table bore two large platters of roast beef and seven yellow-legged chickens with gravy galore, to say nothing of green beans, potatoes, salads, pickles, apple sauce, jelly, seven large cakes, coffee and tea. Present were Mr. and Mrs. James Stoner and two children, Ada and Loren, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stoner and daughter, Mary, Mrs. Edna Peebles, husband and daughter, Allen, George Stephenson, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Stephenson and son, Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stephenson and son Ray, Roy Stephenson and wife, Floyd Stephenson, who has just returned from overseas, Harold and Ella Stephenson, Gladys and Helen Sneed, besides Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stephenson, in whose honor the dinner was given, making twenty-five in all. Mrs. Vincent Stephenson brought her kodak and made several pictures of different groups. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dixon drove over in their car and spent the afternoon. As the day drew to a close and the guests began to leave, all voted it a most perfect day, and joined in wishing Mrs. Stephenson many happy returns."

LOCAL NEWS

Harry Huston, of Monument, registered at a local hotel Tuesday.

J. F. Joyce was a business visitor to Roswell, the latter part of last week.

Miss Craig, of Roswell, was a guest at the Fred Dearborne home over Sunday.

Judge Hervey, of Roswell, was in town between trains Friday afternoon on legal business.

J. M. Stroud, of Lakewood, was in town this week on business. Mr. Stroud is a merchant in the City-by-the-lake.

Baxter Culp, well known business man, of the plains country, was in town from Lovington a few days the first of the week.

Mrs. Able, mother of Mrs. S. I. Roberts, will leave the first of the week for Los Angeles, where she will visit with a daughter for some time.

Mrs. Sadie Cheatham, stenographer, in the office of the Reclamation Service, is taking her vacation, which she will spend in Texas and Oklahoma.

R. L. Moritzky brought in a wagon load of fine watermelons from his place in the lower valley Tuesday for which he found a ready sale.

Mrs. Trentham, who, with her sister and little daughter, Blanche, has been in the city for some time for health purposes, left this week for Colorado, where she hopes to entirely recover her health.

J. D. Ball, of Breckenridge, Texas, was in town last Sunday, coming from Artesia where he had been attending the funeral of a brother, who was buried Wednesday.

Mrs. W. L. Moody is assisting temporarily in the National Bank of Carlsbad during the absence of Miss Dorothy Ryan, who is visiting with her mother and sister in California.

Miss Virginia Hervey, daughter of Judge Hervey, of Roswell, came down from there Saturday for a short visit with her friend, Mary Frances Joyce.

Mrs. Fenton Alley and the little Oliver girls, Hazel and Louise, are in attendance at the reunion and picnic at Pecos this week, going down Wednesday morning.

Miss Mary Vaughn left Wednesday for El Paso, after spending her vacation in Carlsbad with her sisters, Mrs. Annie Weeks and Jessie Carrie Vaughn.

Jane and Katherine Dean, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dean, of Pecos, after a pleasant visit here with their little friends of other years, left Wednesday morning for their home.

Dr. W. C. Doss, of Artesia, was in town from there the first of the week, looking after business, he being a government cattle inspector.

Rev. J. B. Cochran, presiding elder of this district of the New Mexico conference, was in town Wednesday from Roswell and conducted quarterly conference at the Methodist church that night.

Mrs. George Lucas, who had been in Ranger, Texas, where her husband and son are at work, returned to this city Saturday on business and will be here several days before returning to the oil town.

Mrs. Will Ward was in town Wednesday from her home in La Huerta, with a lot of fine Elberta peaches, which she shipped to Colorado Springs. The specimens she showed the Current reporter tipped the scales at a pound each. Some peaches, those!

John R. Joyce accompanied the house guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Joyce, to their homes in Roswell last night. The little girls, Marjorie Leland and Virginia Hervey, were the recipients of much social attention during their visit here.

Garry Stinebaugh, the Boy Scout who was so severely injured in the accident while returning from camp at Clouderoft, was able to return from there this week. Tuesday Garry still carries his head in a sling, but considers himself a lucky boy to get out of it as well as he did. He is the last of the boys to come home from camp.

Frank Smith and Floyd Childers returned Saturday night from their visit to El Paso and are enthusiastic over their good time in the Pass city. It was thought Garry Stinebaugh would meet the boys at El Paso, from Clouderoft, and return here with them, but the persons in charge of the sanitarium there considered him unable to make the trip at that time.

Mrs. Katherine Woods and two daughters, Margaret and Katherine of Corsicana, Texas, who have visited at the Grantham home, on Greene Heights, for the past month left for their home last Tuesday morning. One of the daughters is an accomplished pianist and the other an elocutionist of much promise, and Mrs. Woods, herself, is a trained vocalist. Their gifts have been at the service of their friends ever since their arrival, and all part from them with sincere regret.

A LAWN PARTY

Quite the pleasantest affair of the week was the lawn party given at the R. M. Thorne home on North Canyon street Monday night. About thirty boys and girls were present honoring the 13th birthday anniversary of Wallace Thorne. The young folk indulged in various games on the lawn which was lighted by electric lights, especially strung for the occasion, and were later served with refreshments by Mrs. Thorne, assisted by Miss Grace Jones and Miss Nellie Linn.

All kinds of nice times have been enjoyed by the girls composing the Joyce house party this week. A swimming party at the Bujac home one morning; a picnic, which failed because of the shower, Tuesday afternoon, and which was turned into a porch party, and in addition to everything else, a "dress-up" party. This was given Monday afternoon, and was greatly enjoyed by the little girls. As may be surmised from the name, the girls appeared as grown-ups, in the discarded finery of their mothers, and the result was extremely laughable. After playing "Rook" and other games, the children were taken to the Sweet Shop and treated to delicious chocolate ice cream. A long table had been arranged and the children were all seated at one time. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. J. F. Joyce and Mrs. Holley and Wells Benson, and those present were Marjorie Leland and Virginia Hervey, of Roswell; Lois Noah, of Oklahoma; Henrietta Dille, Gertrude Lowenbruck, Sue Katherine Lacey, Dorothy Hudgins, Adelle Bujac, Frances Etter, Helen and Claire Benson, Gladys Carder, Ida Pearl Morris, Nannie Irvin Little, Anna Bush, Frances Joy Foster, Katherine Woods, of Corsicana, Texas; Josephine Williams, Evelyn McIntosh, Mary Frances and June Joyce.

Tom Gray and wife came home from their visit to the coast the first of the week and Mr. Gray showed up in town Wednesday, but Mrs. Gray remained at the ranch for a rest. Mr. Gray says they had a fine trip going and coming; took in the Grand Canyon and other points of interest on the way, and had a fine stay at Long Beach, California. They were gone from home about six weeks.

Miss Wardie Bates, Miss Ova Butcher and Miss Francis Cooke, three of Carlsbad's ambitious young ladies, will leave Monday for Berkeley, California, to attend the school there. They are all graduates of Carlsbad High schools and their desire to complete their education is most laudable. We wish and predict a successful school year for all of them.

Miss Geer left Wednesday night on a trip to Kansas City, Missouri, and will later visit other cities farther east, where she has relatives, remaining until the early fall, when she will return and accompany her sister, Mrs. John Moore, to the home of the latter in Tela, Honduras.

Sheriff John Hewitt returned the first of the week from Idaho, where he went for the purpose of bringing back one M. D. Rawls, who is wanted in this county on a criminal charge. He found the man, but owing to some fault in the papers was unable to secure his return to this state for trial.

Mrs. John Snow, nee Helen Wallace, is visiting her parents and friends this week from her home in Denver. This is Mrs. Snow's first visit since her marriage some months ago and she is receiving a royal welcome at the hands of her friends.

The family of Chris Walter spent Sunday in Roswell, going up to meet their daughter, Miss Mildred, who was expected home from Las Vegas. The young lady not arriving in the afternoon, they returned to Carlsbad. Miss Walter came in Monday on the afternoon train.

Mrs. Daniel, of Hope, and Mrs. Nunnally, of Artesia, were passengers to El Paso this morning, in charge of the five-year-old son of Mrs. Daniel who is a victim of infantile paralysis and was taken to the Pass city for special treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Curry Holcomb and daughter, Miss Tera, of Lakewood, were in town yesterday, shopping and looking after business of various kinds. Miss Tera is rather contemplating a visit to Washington, D. C., in the near future.

Mrs. J. S. Oliver had her left arm broken Friday of last week, sustaining the fracture by falling while crossing a stile in her yard in North Carlsbad. The injury has been exceedingly painful, but is gradually getting easier.

J. W. Strong and wife and H. G. Strong, a brother, of Palestine, Texas, are in town at the Palace and talk of locating near here if a suitable location can be secured.

Mrs. J. D. Cantrell returned from her visit at Fort Stockton, Texas, and will leave today or tomorrow for her home on McKittick Draw.

Richard Westaway is spending a few days in town this week from his ranch in the foothills west of town.

HEMSTITCHING AND PICKING:—Mrs. Annie Weeks will do both promptly and on reasonable terms. Call T. C. Horne's store or telephone 210.

MARRIED.

Monday morning at four o'clock a romantic wedding occurred in Carlsbad, the contracting parties being W. E. Destree, of Roswell, and Miss Mamie Ball, of Artesia. Miss Ball was en route to Texas with an uncle who was desirous of placing her in school to complete her education. Her fiancé, on learning of this by telephone, decided to take matters in his own hands and hurriedly came to Carlsbad, sought the aid of Miss Tettelmire at 3:30 o'clock in the morning and by her kind offices as deputy county clerk, their license was secured and at four o'clock they were married by Judge Frank Richards at his home on North Canyon street. The happy couple will make their home in Roswell, for which place they left Tuesday, stopping for a visit at the home of the bride's mother in Artesia.

May joy and happiness be their portion through life.

The meetings at the Armory under the auspices of minister Sewell Jones, of Roswell, assisted by Sister Hoffman, have been well attended and much interest shown. Mr. Jones, although a young man, is an able speaker, and the singing by Mr. Hoffman is also excellent. The meetings will continue over Sunday.

Misses Mary Lee Pond and her sister, Lucille, daughters of Mrs. Georgia Pond, returned Monday night from a visit to their father's relatives at Colorado, Texas. The girls say they have had a delightful visit with a number of social affairs in their honor, and were hardly ready to return home.

Percy Cooper came in from Ft. Douglas, Utah, where he had been in an army hospital for some time taking treatment for an injured hand. Percy has been overseas, and has had the usual lot of a soldier and is more than pleased to receive his discharge and be at home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donaldson, of Loving, were overnight visitors to Carlsbad Tuesday, Mrs. Donaldson leaving on the morning train Wednesday for Spafford, Arizona, to visit with relatives. She expects to be gone at least a month.

Mrs. Whit Knowles, of Colorado, is visiting her husband's people, R. B. Knowles and family, on their ranch, west of Lakewood, and will later make a visit to relatives at Monument.

"Pete" Craft, one time agent of the Santa Fe at this place, now living in Clovis, was in town on a business visit Wednesday.

A SHIFTING OF PRIESTS.

A complete change in the force of priests in charge of St. Edward's mission at Carlsbad was made this week. Rev. Father Gilbert, who has been in Kansas City for some time for health purposes, returned last Friday and has been appointed priest in charge, to be assisted by Rev. Father Edgar Casey, of Cincinnati. Rev. Father Francis de Sales, of Pena Blanca, will have charge of the mission of San Jose. Rev. Father Fabian will go to Roswell and Rev. Father Valerian to Kansas City, Kansas. Rev. Father Polycarp will return to Escanaba, Michigan. Brother Christopher has been assigned to the Jemez Indian reservation in the northern part of the state, and, with his going, the town will lose one of its familiar figures; Brother Christopher, or "Big Brother", as he is called by the children of the parish, having been a resident of this city for nearly sixteen consecutive years.

Oliver Shattuck and Bill Santo, of Artesia, were down from there Monday, en route to the mountains west of town. Santo is one of the unfortunates who were shell-shocked while in France and has seemed to recover slowly, and is was thought well for him to have a change of work and surroundings.

Moline Universal Tractor

By using the MOLINE UNIVERSAL TRACTOR and MOLINE TRACTOR IMPLEMENTS, you can farm more land, better, easier and at less expense than you ever did before.

The UNIVERSAL, as its name implies, can be used for any work on the farm heretofore done by horses. It is the only Tractor that will do this, besides doing your belt work. It will work longer faster and better than horses, and when not at work the expense stops.

Can refer you to local users of the Moline who will be glad to give you any information. Let us tell you about them. Call, phone or write us.

WILLIAM JAMES BARBER.

(An Appreciation)

By Rev. Geo. H. Givens.

While William James Barber had been for many years a member and supporter of the Methodist Church, he was not known among his many friends as a devout Christian character. While there is no doubt that he was deeply pious within yet he never put his religion on dress parade. His was to do and not to say. But he was never known by any one as anything else than a gentleman of the very highest and noblest type. One of his warm friends said of him, "He was a man absolutely without sin, and I would give anything to be as good and sinless as he was."

He was conscientiously a man of his word. No man ever doubted for a single moment any statement he ever made. His word was as good as his bond. His character was above reproach, and was such that any young man might well emulate. No man ever even suspected that he was not a true man.

He was successful in business, but attained success by being honest and square in all of his business transactions. His business associates respected, honored and loved him. He was a man among men.

He was also a gentle, accessible man. He found fault with no one, neither did he ever speak a harmful word of any. If he had nothing good to say about his neighbor, his tongue was sealed.

Everybody loved him because he was one of the best men in all the country. His men on the ranch had the highest regard for him. He was a man who loved his fellow-men and took great delight in seeing every one prosperous and happy. And yet, he always had a very tender place in his heart for the poor and for all who were in sorrow or pain. His heart was full of sympathy.

He was a gracious, thoughtful, gentleman to all persons alike. His home life was an ideal one. His children adored him. His ministry to his invalid wife was as tender and beautiful as human eye ever beheld. President McKinley could not have excelled him in this noble trait of character.

A good citizen, a good neighbor, a good Mason has gone from among us. A kind husband and a noble father is no more. His care for the wife of his last years was intense, and his care and devotion to the little children entrusted to him was loyal and indulgent.

We gather here in his own home to say farewell. With bowed-down heads, with tearful eyes and aching hearts we say "Good-bye." We shall soon lay his body in the cold and silent tomb, but his memory shall live in our hearts forever.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. H. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR AUGUST 10

WINNING OTHERS TO CHRIST.

LESSON TEXTS—Acts 16:3-15; James 5:19, 20.

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Luke 19:10; John 3:1-16; Acts 20:17-21; 28:30, 31.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping others to know Jesus (Acts 16:3-15).

JUNIOR TOPIC—Telling our friends about Jesus (John 1:40-46).

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Witnessing for Christ.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Personal evangelism the duty and privilege of all Christians.

I. Paul Called to Macedonia (Acts 16:9-12).

The inclination of Paul and his companion was to tarry in the province of Asia, preaching the Word, but they were hurried along against their inclination. Realizing that the Spirit knew best they obeyed. In the guidance of the Spirit we find him just as active and as faithful in closing doors as in opening them. Those who are disposed to do the will of God should heed this fact. Being hemmed in on all sides, Paul saw in a vision a man of Macedonia pleading for help. He now saw clearly the mystery of the closed doors about him. As soon as the divine way was known they rendered immediate obedience. As true servants of God they did not question his wisdom nor delay action. Christ, the Divine servant, is the pattern of obedience for all time.

II. Paul Winning Lydia to Christ (Acts 16:13-15).

With Paul as leader, the missionaries went to Philippi where they spent several days studying the conditions there. The Jewish element in the city was very insignificant, as they could not afford a synagogue, making it necessary for the devout people to frequent the river side for worship. To this humble gathering Paul came and preached to the women gathered there. A certain woman by Thyatira, a proselyte, he lived in his message and was baptized. The work of the Lord here had a very humble beginning, but it was destined to transform all Europe and the world. Lydia's is a typical conversion, therefore it is worthy to note—

1. Her attendance at the place of prayer (v. 13).
2. She listened to the preaching of the Word of God (v. 12-14).
3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).
4. She was baptized (v. 15).
5. Her household believed (v. 15).

III. The Blessed Issue of Soul-Winning (James 5:19, 20).

The business of soul-saving is the most important in which a human being can engage. Anyone who has been saved can point lost souls to the Savior. Christ came to save the lost (Luke 19:10). It is the blessed privilege of all Christians to labor together with God in rescuing the perishing. The result of soul-saving is twofold:

1. It saves souls from death (v. 20). Meditation upon the three words "saves," "soul," "death," will make us conscious of the tremendous importance of soul-saving. We must realize the value of the souls before we can give ourselves to the work of saving them. A soul is of more value than the whole world (Matt. 16:26). God valued souls so much that he gave Jesus to die for them (John 3:16).

2. "Hides a multitude of sins" (v. 20). God's way of hiding sin is to save men from it. Every sinner has a multitude of sins, therefore every soul saved hides that multitude of sins. When sins are thus hidden they are out of God's sight forever. "As far as the east is from the west, so far hath he removed our transgressions from us." (Psalms 103:12). He remembers our sins against us no more. (Isa. 43:25.)

Open to the Light.

The heart of a true Christian appears like such a little white flower as we see in the spring of the year; low and humble on the ground; opening its bosom to receive the pleasant beams of the sun's glory; rejoicing as it were in a calm rapture; diffusing around a sweet fragrance; standing peacefully and lovingly in the midst of other flowers round about; all in like manner opening their bosoms to drink in the light of the sun.—Jonathan Edwards.

What Trial Is.

That which purifies us is trial, and trial is by what is contrary.—John Milton.

Despondency and Hope.

Despondency is ingratitude—hope is God's worship.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Growth.

To become like Christ is the only thing in the world worth caring for, the thing before which every ambition of man is folly, and all lower achievements vain. . . . Reflect the character of Christ and you will become like Christ.—Henry Drummond.

What Heaven Is Like.

Heaven is where love is, and where love is there heaven is. Our homes and the homes of our neighbors should give to each of us some idea of what the real heaven is like.

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Thelma Jones, of El Paso, spent a few days in town the first of the week, visiting the family of V. S. Nelson.

Miss Ethel Jones, sister of Rev. Jones, of Roswell, who has been conducting services in the Armory this week, visited at the V. S. Nelson home on Main street.

Miss Pauline Johnston returned Saturday from Silver City, where she had been attending summer normal. Miss Johnston had the pleasure of a few minutes' conversation with her father, J. S. Johnston, at Pease, he boarding the train from which she alighted on his way to the Texas oil fields.

Much needed work is being done on the ditch on west Fort street, just north of the George Frederick property. The repairing of the ditch and running water down it, may have as a result the saving of some nice Lombardy poplar trees, which were planted by Mr. Frederick on Arbor Day, some of which have already died. Trees in front of Grace Episcopal Church seem to be dying because of the lack of water.

Miss Loula Anderson is another Carlsbad girl who was attending the state normal at Silver City, returning home Friday. Miss Anderson graduated from the high school department of the normal.

L. A. Swigart returned Saturday from a six-week stay at the west coast, where Mrs. Swigart and Miss Dorothy will remain until later in the season.

Ola Carrell, a little ten-year-old girl who reads with her parents on the Boyd place, west of town, had the misfortune to break her arm last week, but is recovering from the hurt as rapidly as could be expected. The fracture was occasioned by falling from a picket fence while she and her sister were playing, the right elbow being badly crushed.

Mrs. Ross Mitchell and children left Saturday morning for Ranger, Texas, where Ross has already secured employment and where the family expect to make their future home.

George and Garrett Thomas, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Thomas, who resided here for many years, but now live in Artesia, are here for a couple of weeks' visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Maggie Reed, and other friends. The boys have many friends among the young folk who are glad to have them here even for a short visit.

Mrs. Maggie Reed has some fine, White Leghorn pullets which are about ready to lay, which she will sell at regular prices.

Mrs. Charity Green left this week for Abilene, Texas, where she goes to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hiley. The trip was a hard one, and grandma's friends are anxiously awaiting news of her arrival at Abilene.

Mrs. Mary C. Dow, mother of Hon. R. C. Dow, of this city, and Judge Hiram Dow, of Roswell, was taken to Eddy county hospital last week and successfully stood an operation Saturday, with every likelihood of a speedy recovery.

J. J. Kircher left Monday morning for the oil fields of Texas where he expects to secure employment.

HONORING A VISITOR.

Mrs. Holley Benson entertained a number of ladies at her home in Carlsbad Tuesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Stephenson, who is spending the summer here, from Burley, Idaho. Four tables of players enjoyed the afternoon at cards, the prize being awarded Mrs. Myron Clarke, for highest score. Those present were the honor guest, Mrs. Stephenson, and Mesdames C. C. Sikes, E. P. Bujac, Carl Livingston, Dilley, Joyce, Hudgins, Dow, Lange, W. S. Moore, C. M. Richards, Myron Clarke, Doepf, Rawlins, Ralph and Sam Kelley.

A LINE PARTY.

A merry crowd of little girls were given a line party Saturday night. Mrs. Holley Benson being the hostess. The members of the Joyce house party were the guests, a few others from Carlsbad being asked to swell the happy crowd. The girls were taken to the Sweet Shop and afterward to the Alhambra, where they enjoyed the picture very much. In the party were Mary Frances and June Joyce and their guests, Marjorie Leland and Virginia Hervey, of Roswell; Jane and Katherine Dean, of Pease; Adelle Bujac, Nannie Irvin Little, Anna Bush and Evelyn McIntosh.

R. B. Knowles and wife were in town Wednesday coming from their ranch twenty-five miles north of here. They have just moved to their ranch from Artesia and intend making their home there, although they have a nice home in Artesia. Their son, eighteen years old, will go away to an automobile school and the blind son, Walter, will return to his school at Alamogordo, at the opening of that institution in the middle of September. They expect to employ a governess for the other three children on the ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Knowles are lively young people and it is always a pleasure to receive a visit from them.

Lee Jones has purchased the general merchandise store of Elms & Co. at Hope, and has taken charge. Mr. Jones is one of the well known men of the southwest, having followed the cattle business in the Sacramento mountains, in the Weed vicinity, for a number of years. The past few years he has been at Cloudercroft, where he was connected with the Cloudercroft Commercial Company and later with the Myers Company. Mr. Jones is a man of exceptional business ability and we bespeak for him his share of the business in Hope and vicinity.

Light Rates Reduced at Raton, N.M. Raton, N. M., Aug. 4.—The Raton Public Service company is sending out slips with its August 1 statements announcing that there will be a reduction of 10 per cent in the light rates, dating from the first of August. J. J. Schuler is general manager of the company and says the change in rates has been made possible owing to the consolidation of the light and water companies.

P. E. Linn and wife are late arrivals in Carlsbad, coming from Oklahoma. The gentleman has taken the place in the Peoples Mercantile dry goods left vacant by the removal of W. H. Hill. They have rooms in the N. T. Daugherty house, on West Fox street for the present.

NOTICE TO SCHOOL PATRONS.

For the information of all persons who have children between the ages of six and sixteen, we give below the new Compulsory School Law which was passed by the last legislature. The school authorities of the City of Carlsbad will see to it that all the provisions of this law are strictly enforced.

School will open Monday, Sept. 1st, at 9 A. M. Regular classes will be held beginning Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. Patrons are urged to start their children the first day in order that there be the minimum delay in the proper organization of the schools.

This year a Kindergarten will be conducted at the General School Building. This work will be in charge of Miss Anne Elliott of Fort Morgan, Colorado, who is an experienced Kindergarten. Children will be admitted who have reached their fourth birthday and who have not yet reached their sixth birthday. In case the number of children between these ages who apply for admission is not 36, a sufficient number of children beyond the age of 6 will be admitted provided that no child will be admitted to Kindergarten who has reached the age of seven years. It is further provided that the school authorities reserve the right to transfer any child of the latter class to the First Grade at any time. Children between six and seven years will be admitted in the order of their application. All persons desiring to have such children admitted should make application in writing to the Superintendent as soon as possible.

Compulsory School Law.
SENATE BILL NO. 102.—(As amended.)—AN ACT Relating to Schools; Providing for Compulsory School Attendance; Part-Time Schools and Classes and Penalties. Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of New Mexico:

Section 1. Children between the ages of six and sixteen years of age shall attend public schools of the state for as many weeks as the public schools in the district in which such children reside shall be in session, except that children actually attending private or denominational schools maintaining courses of instruction, approved by the State Board of Education, those physically or mentally unfit or incompetent and those residing more than three miles from public school houses and to whom no free public means of conveyance to and from school are furnished shall be exempt from the provisions of this act.

Sec. 2. Children subject to the provisions of this act, between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years may be excused by issuance of certificate of employment, from full time public school attendance, by the city or county school superintendents within whose jurisdiction such children reside or are employed, upon assurance that said children are then or in the immediate future shall be definitely employed in some gainful trade or occupation. The certificate of employment shall contain the name, age and residence of the child excused, by whom employed or to be employed, the last grade attended by the child and a recitation that the child is excused from full time public school attendance until the certificate shall be revoked.

Sec. 3. Whenever in any school district there shall have been issued fifteen such employment certificates there shall be established a part-time school or class giving instruction for not less than one hundred fifty hours per year and for not less than five hours per week between the hours of 8 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Sec. 4. Whenever the number of hours for which a child over fourteen years and less than sixteen years of age may be employed shall be fixed by Federal or state law the hours of attendance upon a part-time school or class shall be counted as a part of the number of hours so fixed by Federal or State laws, but nothing contained herein shall affect the right of the employer to reduce the compensation of the child.

Sec. 5. The State Board of Education shall adopt rules and regulations concerning the establishment of part-time schools and classes.

Sec. 6. Whenever any school district shall deem it inexpedient to establish part-time schools or classes it shall present to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction the reasons for such inexpediency and the State Superintendent may excuse the district from the establishment of such part-time schools or classes if he deems such reasons sufficient.

Sec. 7. Parents, guardians and persons having control of children subject to provisions of this act are hereby made responsible for the public school attendance of such children and any parent, guardian or person aforesaid who shall violate any of the provisions of this act, after any school authority shall have given public notice of the substance of the provisions of this act, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail for not less than five or more than ninety days, and in addition to penalty aforesaid, any parent, guardian or person having control of children subject to the provisions of this act who shall violate the provisions hereof shall be subject to the writ of mandamus at the instance and in the name of county or municipal boards of education or county or city superintendents of schools without consent of the attorney general.

Sec. 8. Any person, firm or corporation employing a child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years of age shall permit the attendance of such child upon a part-time school or class whenever

Dr. L. Black returned Sunday from Sheffield, Texas, accompanied by his son, A. E. Black, and the latter's wife, who will spend a week or ten days in the city. Dr. Black says the oil well which his son is drilling at Sheffield, is down over 3,000 feet and they are having trouble in casing off the water, but prospects in that section of the country look pretty good.

Mrs. J. S. Perry, mother of Perry brothers of the Current, and of Mesdames Fred and John Zimmerman, came in Tuesday evening for a visit to her children and to friends whom she met on former visits. Mrs. Perry's home is in Coolidge, Texas.

A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.
Mrs. N. D. Hiller was pleasantly surprised at her home in Rio Vista last Friday afternoon, that being her birthday. Several of her friends visited her at her home each carrying some little token of remembrance. A complete surprise resulted, but Mrs. Hiller rallied and assisted in disposing of the delicious cake and ice cream taken along by the guests to celebrate the occasion. All enjoyed themselves immensely. Mrs. Hiller remarking at the close of the afternoon: "I knew you liked me, but I didn't know how much until now."

Those present were Mrs. Sam B. Smith, Mrs. Hardin Clark, Mrs. J. J. Kircher, Mrs. Lum Anderson, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. R. L. West, Mrs. M. L. Davis and Mrs. Ray Davis.

Mrs. Buford Folk and children came in from the ranch the first of the week and will spend several days in town while Mrs. Folk cans her fruit. They came alone, the lady running the car the entire way, which is quite an undertaking with three small children.

Eddy County has an immense crop of plums and peaches this year, which are now about at their best. Unless a special effort is made by housewives, there will be a large amount that cannot be taken care of. Such a crop is seldom enjoyed two years in succession and advantage should be taken of that fact and of the low price to can as much fruit as possible.

Manager J. S. Oliver and Assistant Y. R. Allen accompanied the baseball team to Pecos this week where they are expected to play three games at the re-union there. One game was played yesterday with a score of 4 to 3 in favor of Pecos.

John H. Zimmerman, of the local postoffice force, will be a gentleman of leisure for a few weeks from yesterday—his vacation beginning at that time. He is planning a visit to the Guadalupe.

Oscar Usery was at the Palace hotel this week from his headquarters on the D ranch.

Mrs. Albert Area left this morning for Pecos, to meet a friend of hers, Miss Faye Wilcox, who will join her there from McKinney, Texas. The girls were classmates in college, at Roanoke, Virginia, last year and are warm friends.

Mrs. S. L. Perry was quite painfully injured and shocked while diving in the river some distance north of Tansil dam last night. The water being shallower than she had reason to expect, she struck her head on a ledge with the result that she lost consciousness and would have undoubtedly drowned but for the presence of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Zimmerman, who came to her assistance and managed to hold her until the arrival of help when she was taken to her home and a physician called. The opinion of the latter is that she has not sustained any permanent injury, although she will be confined to her bed for some days.

Robert E. Tims, a brother of Mrs. Jack Shannon, has been in the city several days and will leave tonight for the home of his mother in Oklahoma. He recently came overseas from Germany, where he was with the Army of Occupation and was discharged at Ft. Bliss. He brought many interesting curios and souvenirs with him, having fought with the Marines.

Mrs. George Brantley and son, Draper, left this morning for Monahans, Texas, near which place the annual reunion of the Draper family will be held, and which is looked forward to with great pleasure by all the different families.

Dr. Wm. F. Glaser has received a new X-Ray machine this week and it is being installed and in a few days will be ready for work. Adjoining the X-Ray room is a dark room, already fitted up, for the purpose of developing the films. The machine will do all kinds of X-Ray work and is quite an acquisition to this city. The current hopes to give a complete description of its workings after a demonstration has been made, which will be as soon as installation has been finished.

David Sellards left this week for the Livingston ranch to spend a few days before the opening of school.

MARY PICKFORD IN "DADDY LONG LEGS."

Everybody who loves a baby is destined to a treat when they see "Daddy Long Legs," the first Mary Pickford Company super-feature, which will be presented at the Airdome Thursday and Friday of next week. More than a score of the cutest kiddies on the screen aid Miss Pickford in this screen version of the famous novel and play by Jean Webster.

The earlier scenes are enacted in a great orphan asylum where dozens of children, were pathetic charges without father, mother nor near relatives, are supported by the bounty of John Grier, who obtained his ideas of how a charitable institution should be run while directing convict labor. Grier left behind the big gray building as a memorial to his whispering conscience, but he undid any good which there may have been in the act by placing cruel dominating women, with no sympathy for children, in charge.

Into this institution there comes, at the opening of the picture, a baby different from the rest. She grows to a child of 12, being named Judy Abbott, because this name looked good to the tyrannical head matron. As the real action of the picture is opened, Judy (played by Miss Pickford) is seen offering to the little toddlers around her the only kind words and really pleasant treatment they have.

The first half of "Daddy Long Legs" is filled with the doing of the little parentless children, clad in stripes, like as many little criminals, and fed upon soup and prunes. They are seen at work, and at the machine-like play prescribed for them; cowering before the matron and the more crabbed of the trustees; always hungering for the love and attention which is denied them; occasionally, as every child must, "acting naughty."

The most appealing baby types were selected to be actors in "Daddy Long Legs," and with Mary Pickford among them acting the part of a little girl as only she can, the ever moving action becomes a series of the most laughable and touching pictures of child life. Marshall Neilan, who directed the picture, shows himself a master of the humanly interesting in his handling of his child actors particularly.

One of the most humorous bits is that in which Judy and a freckle-faced little boy decide to lead the orphans in a "prune-strike." Outwitted by the matron they are driven into the yard without food. They find a jug of hard cider and some sandwiches, which, innocently enough they consume, whereupon they both become gay, and get into all sorts of mischief.

In the long run Mrs. Pritchard, one of the trustees who is humane, a new trustee, a young man of wealth and position, to interest himself in the bright little Judy. The young man in question says he is not interested in girls, but that he will provide her with a college education. So, with no other knowledge of her benefactor save the sight of his tall shadow against a door, Judy goes to college, and "Daddy Long Legs" is born.

Mrs. C. N. Richards entertained a few of her host of friends at a bridge party yesterday afternoon, the personnel of the guests being Mesdames Joyce, Holley Benson, Stephenson, W. S. Moore, Sikes, Carl Livingston, Bujac and Miss Gregg. All report a pleasant afternoon with their friend.

Rev. Guy Duff, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Colorado, Texas, will preach in the local church of that denomination next Sunday at 11 o'clock. It is hoped he will conduct the services in the Airdome, Sunday night.

The J. G. Usery family are in town this week, coming to meet Miss Masie, who returned from Silver City school a day or so ago.
