CONVENTION OF LEGION BEGINS TODAY; KANSAS CITY CROWDED

Equivalent of War Strength
Division Is Already on the Ground; Diaz and Jacques Have Arrived.

TO DEMAND ACTION ON BONUS QUESTION

New Orleans and San Francisco
Have Come Out As
the Strongest Contenders
for the Next Meeting.

(By The Associated Press.)
Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 30.—
Equivalent of a war strength division, made up of men from New Orleans to San Francisco,
wives and relatives had arrived
tonight to attend the national convention of the American legion, which begins tomorrow. Included in the hundreds of arrivals are General Armando Diaz, of Italy,
and General Baron Jacques, of Belgium. They arrived within half an hour of each other and were given rousing welcomes.
Another notable to come was Vice President Coolidge, who will be President Harding's official representative.

This big mid-western city tonight
was a riot of color and sound.
Olive drab and naval uniforms
were much in evidence.
Three outstanding propositions
are causing the attention of legion politicians—the choice for next national commander, the selection of the next convention city and a fight to bring the permanent headquarters from Indianapolis to this city.

There seemed to be a general
acceptance among the delegates
that a man from the south or west would be the next commander.
New Orleans and San Francisco
apparently have come out as the strongest contenders for the next convention.

A resolution voicing a demand
for immediate action by congress on the bonus proposition will be one of the principal issues taken up, it was said. The resolution committee began work today, sifting several hundred resolutions.

Mexican Band On Hand.
All preparations had been made tonight for seating the delegates
at the opening session tomorrow in the big convention hall. The chief of staff's band from Mexico City, sent by President Obregon, entertained visitors in the hall this afternoon.

The credentials committee today
certified the total convention voting strength at 1,060.
Delegates from Alaska, Africa,
Chile, the British Isles, Canada,
Panama, Canal Zone, China, Cuba,
France, Guatemala, Hawaii, Japan,
Mexico, Peru, Porto Rico and Turkey will be seated.

Women's Auxiliary.
Not the least part of the whole
legion gathering is the first national convention of the women's auxiliary of the legion.
About 500 delegates will attend
the auxiliary convention beginning Tuesday at which the national auxiliary organization will be perfected. Another point which leaders plan to bring up, is the question of eligibility which now is limited to mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of legion members. Service men, who gave their lives during the war.

CHEERING THOUSANDS GREET FOREIGN HEROES

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 30.—
Greeted by cheering thousands,
General Armando Diaz, of Italy,
and General Baron Jacques, of Belgium, arrived today to attend
the national convention of the American legion.

STORY OF SACCO AND VANZETTI, OBSCURE PERSONS WHOSE NAMES ROCKED THE WORLD LAST WEEK

Were Convicted on a Charge of Killing Two Men in Massachusetts and Making Away
With $15,000; Their Comrades Raised $50,- 000 in U. S. and Abroad for Their Defense.

(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal)

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 30.—
The story of Sacco and Vanzetti,
two names that have puzzled
America for a week, ever since the cables started telling of the communist uproar in Europe,
caused by two obscure men in an American prison. It is an interesting revelation, and one of its threads leads to the very home of a justice of the United States supreme court, where Sacco was given asylum to near her.

23 KNOWN DEAD, SCORE HURT IN CANADIAN FLOOD

Model Copper Mining Settlement of Britannia Beach
Is Transformed Into a Scene of Desolation.

(By The Associated Press.)
Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 30.— Twenty-three persons are known to be dead, thirteen and perhaps more are missing and fifteen are nursing serious injuries as a result of the disastrous flood which plunged down a steep mountain side Friday night and transformed the model
copper mining settlement of Britannia Beach into a scene of desolation and ruin.
Fully half of the 110 neat cottages were carried away on the crest of the flood. Others were smashed to pieces by the onrush-ing waters and most of the remains were still partially submerged.

Search For the Missing.
Four children are dead and others are reported missing.
Of the dead and all of the injured were brought to Vancouver evening. All injured are expected to recover.

An energetic search for the missing
was made today but the work was slow because of the difficulty in clearing away the wreckage. It is considered doubtful if the bodies of some of the missing will ever be recovered as they are believed to have been washed into the muddy waters of Howe Sound.

Manager J. Donahue, of the Britannia mines, described efforts
made by those on duty at the mines,
three miles back from the beach,
to save residents. When the millions of water in the hills, gave way and released a roaring torrent
into the creek, a warning of the disaster was sent over the private telephone line of the mines. This message was received by Miss Ellen Patterson, telephone operator at the compressor plant in the village.
She rang everybody connected by telephone, relaying the miners' message: "For God's sake get out of your houses; flood coming."

Village in Darkness.
Before the warning could be understood and circulated, the waters
crashed down, sweeping away transmission lines and plunging the village into darkness.

The waters had fallen 2,000 feet
in their three mile journey down
the mountain and smashed straight through the center of the settlement. Britannia creek now runs through the village itself from the beach, and a few feet of water surrounds the wreckage.

The only undamaged buildings
on the residential side of the town are the custom house, a moving picture theater and an amusement hall, and a few houses. On the other side, a store, hotel and several mill shops were standing.
The lighting system was restored
tonight in the south side.

Delegates from a town eight miles north of here, is also flooded, but damage is not great.

BAR ASSOCIATION CONSIDERS CHARGES AGAINST ERBSTEIN

(By The Associated Press.)
Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 30.—
The members of the Los Angeles bar association, who considered for two hours yesterday charges by Thomas L. Woolwine, district attorney, that Charles E. Erbsstein, Chicago attorney, was wholly unfit to practice law here, and adjusted until Tuesday without making public any part of their deliberations, announced the grievance committee of the association
that it has Mr. Woolwine's charges against Erbsstein Friday night.
Mr. Erbsstein came here to head
the defense of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, jointly indicted with Arthur C. Burch, for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy.

Authorities stated tonight that they have learned that Rolando
came to his room at a boarding house about 4 o'clock the morning
the priest was slain. He is said to have laid a revolver on a table
in the room and made the statement he "had been to see a girl."
Then, according to information from authorities, he obtained from questioning other roomers boarding house, Rolando slept until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

And who are Sacco and Vanzetti?
Who are these obscure personages
who literally have rocked the world?
The cables connecting them with the furors in Europe have said merely that they were two men convicted of murder in Massachusetts.

Are In Jail.
Unquestionably it was the first time the great mass of the people of America had ever heard of the men. But the cases of Nicola Sacco and Bartholomew Vanzetti and their connection with the affairs on the continent are better understood in Massachusetts where the two Italian socialists and communists are in jail awaiting the outcome of a petition for a new trial, based on the accused of "slay in allegiance" before Judge Webster Thayer,
who presided at their first hearing.
Should Judge Thayer refuse to grant a new trial, the lawyers for the convicted men will, in all probability, appeal to the state supreme court.

Disarmament Council Organized

The organizing committee of the National Council for Limitation of Armament, snapped after first meeting.

A permanent organization to be known as the National Council for Limitation of Armament has been formed and has taken over the historic building used by General Grant as headquarters during the civil war as its future home. The organizing committee, shown above,
consists of many leaders of national movements. Left to right,
they are: Hugh S. Magill, secretary
National Educational association;
Frederick Libby, executive secretary national council; Mrs. Edward
P. Costigan, National Consumers'
League; Edwin S. Bethlehem, Jr., Veterans of Foreign Wars; and Mrs. Merriam, temporary chairman national council; Louis F.

Post, former assistant secretary of labor; Mrs. George T. Odell, Woman's National League; Mrs. Daisy Phelan, General Federation of Women's Clubs; and Miss Ethel Union League.

Despite Taucher's record of alleged connection with the activities of Von Bernstorff, Von Papen
and other German agents, the war
and many departments are understood to see no objection to his return.

It is intimated that Taucher
possesses secret information which
would be of value both to the government and certain American industries.

Taucher, according to intelligence agents, was concerned with widespread German intrigue in this country and was indicted in San Francisco with Von Papen for violation of neutrality laws in connection with the so-called Indu plot to ship arms and ammunition to India. After reaching Germany, however, he is declared to have evidenced a friendly attitude toward this country and used his influence in behalf of American prisoners of war.

PRICE OF MONEY IS TUMBLING IN UNITED STATES

Every Drop Means Millions to the People, As It Enhances the Value of Each Liberty Bond.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—The price of money is tumbling. There was a time when an announcement of this sort meant nothing to the mass of the people—it was but a sign that the men of Wall street
would have more and cheaper funds to play with. But each time money takes a drop now it means millions of dollars to the plain people of the United States, for falling money carries with it an enhancement of the value of each Liberty bond issued by the government of the United States. It means further that the government is enabled to borrow money
at lower rates and retire short time securities issued at much higher rates.

The easing up of money last week enabled the treasury to lower interest rates 1 per cent on a new issue of certificates.

The new issue of treasury certificates and one year notes is open to public subscription until next Tuesday. The amount of the issue is $200,000,000. The interest rates are 4-1/4 and 4-1/2 per cent, according to whether a short or a longer obligation is purchased. Six months ago the same sort of obligation was offered to the public at interest rates of 5, 5-1/4 and 5-1/2, dependent upon maturity of the obligation. The cut in six weeks time, therefore, is 1 per cent.

Interest Rate Is Low.
Incidentally the interest rate is the lowest offered since the Liberty loans were floated. It is 25 per cent lower than the highest the government had to pay on borrowed money, which was 6 per cent, in December, 1920. And the public is rushing in a miniature stampede to take the new certificates. They will be sold over-subscribed, according to all indications today, three days before the subscription books are closed.

One per cent sounds small but as a saving it is about the biggest thing Washington has witnessed in a financial way since before the war. If the saving of 1 per cent were applied in the interest rate which the government has to pay on its floating debt alone it would mean a lessening in the high cost of government of more than $24,000,000 a year for the floating debt apportionments of $2,200,000,000.

Rates Here to Stay.
From the response to the secretary's offerings of securities it is apparent that the lower rates are here to stay and that for a long time to come no government issue of certificates of short time
notes will bear more than 4-1/2 per cent. As most of the floating debt is to be retired within a comparatively short time by flotation of other issues whose proceeds will be used to pay off the maturing obligations, the saving of 1 per cent will become a reality on the entire floating debt within a year or eighteen months.

Mr. Mellon's shrewd financial sense in cutting the interest rate includes a rise in the federal reserve ratio of more than 70 per cent, more than half as much
again as it was slightly more than a year ago, and a big increase in
the amount of money which the government.

Deposits Increase.
Circumstances which made it possible for Mr. Mellon to execute his stroke of economy at this time include a rise in the federal reserve ratio of more than 70 per cent, more than half as much
again as it was slightly more than
a year ago, and a big increase in
the amount of money which the
government.

20 ARE DROWNED WHEN A STEAMER CAPSIZES
Antwerp, Oct. 30.—Twenty persons were drowned by the capsizing of the steamer August in the Scheldt yesterday. Owing to the shifting of the cargo when the wheel jammed hard astern, the vessel took on a heavy list, went over and sank quickly.

The passenger and crew boarded had no time to reach the deck. All those above decks were saved. The ship was only fifty yards from shore.

KARL AGAIN REFUSES TO SIGN ABDICATION
(By The Associated Press.)
Budapest, Oct. 30.—Former Emperor Charles has again refused to sign his abdication. Government plottings "ries who went to Tri-bany, where Charles was interned,
have so reported to Regent Horthy,
who has called a meeting of the cabinet.

GERMAN WANTS TO RETURN AND BECOME CITIZEN

Capt. Taucher, Indicted for Violating American Neutrality, Anxious to Come Back to United States.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—The state department has asked the department of justice to rule on permitting the return to this country of Capt. Hans Taucher, late of the imperial German army, who left for Germany in February, 1917,
with former Ambassador von Bernstorff, while under indictment in San Francisco for violation of American neutrality.

According to official advices from Berlin, Taucher wishes to become an American citizen as an example to his countrymen of the proper solution of Germany's future, through cultivation of good relations with this country. He is reported to have suggested that the government drop the indictment still pending in San Francisco in order that he may transfer his allegiance.

Despite Taucher's record of alleged connection with the activities of Von Bernstorff, Von Papen
and other German agents, the war
and many departments are understood to see no objection to his return.

It is intimated that Taucher
possesses secret information which
would be of value both to the government and certain American in-

PARAGUAYAN PRESIDENT TENDERS RESIGNATION

(By The Associated Press.)
Buenos Aires, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to La Nación from Asuncion says that President Gendra of Paraguay has handed his resignation to Dr. Felix Pavia, the vice president, owing to a revolutionary movement by the followers of ex-President Schorer. The revolutionaries are reported to have the support of all the troops and police in the capital and country districts.

AMERICAN BANK BEING OPENED IN MANCHURIA

(By The Associated Press.)
Riga, Oct. 30.—The Novy Put, bolshhevist organ here, reports that an American bank with a capital of ten million dollars is being opened in Fushun, Manchuria, with branches at Chita, Blagovestchensk and Khabarovsk.

The newspaper asserts that the bank intends to assist American trade in Siberia.

NESTOS VICTOR FOR GOVERNOR IN N. D. RECALL

His Majority Over Frazier, Incumbent and Non-Partisan Candidate, From 4,000 to 7,000 Votes.

(By The Associated Press.)
Fargo, N. D., Oct. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The non-partisan and non-partisan league factions seemed agreed tonight that the majority for R. A. Nestos, independent gubernatorial candidate in Friday's recall election, would be from four to seven thousand.

Recapitulation of tabulated returns, with a few additional reports, showed that 1,828 of the state's 2,046 precincts gave Nestos
106,148 votes and Governor Lynn
J. Frazier, non-partisan, 96,856.
Slight reductions in the estimated independent majority were made today at the factions' state
headquarters and by the independent newspaper compiling returns, and generally they set the lead at nearly 7,000, while non-partisans
looked for a cut to possible 4,000.

A. C. Towns, president of the national non-partisan league, told the Associated Press today that
"there is just as much non-partisan league sentiment in North Dakota today as there ever was. Also there are just as many league votes.
Over confidence on the part of the farmers with a consequent failure to vote, was responsible for the defeat."

ARTHUR C. BURCH WILL GO TO TRIAL TUESDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
Los Angeles, Oct. 30.—Arthur
C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, stated in the county jail here today that despite rumors he had been offered a sentence of life imprisonment if he would confess, he would go to trial Tuesday as scheduled.
His statement followed a conference of more than an hour with Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, indicated with him, and her chief counsel, Charles E. Erbsstein, of Chicago.

FOCH'S RECEPTION.

Paris, Oct. 30.—The French press, except the socialist and communist newspapers, today devoted much space to the reception
in the United States of Marshal Foch, expressing great satisfaction
over the warmth of the greetings accorded him in New York and Washington.

Irishmen at the conference were Michael Collins, the Sinn Fein finance minister, better known as the most elusive chief of the Irish Republican army, and Command-

TOTAL RESOURCES OF U. S. BANKS DECLINE

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—Aggregate resources of the 30,815 banks in the country, amounting to $19,688,839,- 000, declined by $3,390,269,000
during the last fiscal year, according to a statement of bank reports for June 30, issued tonight by the controller of the currency. The $154 national banks reporting showed a reduction in resources of $2,892,291,000.

AUTHOR IS DEAD.
London, Oct. 30.—Henry Mar-

RECOMMENDATIONS DESIGNED TO INCREASE EFFICIENCY OF VETS' BUREAU ARE MADE IN A REPORT

Appropriation of $16,400,000 for Hospitals,
Standardization of Training and Permitting Applicant to Select His Own Vocation Are Advocated By Committee.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—Sweeping recommendations designed to increase the efficiency of the veterans bureau were made in a report published today by the special committee investigating government activities for the relief of former service men. The report was the committee's second.
The bureau should "broaden its interpretation and widen the scope of application of existing laws," the report said, adding that additional legislation would be sought to meet deficiencies shown.

Among recommendations were:
Appropriation of $16,400,000 for hospitals; transfer of all government hospitals, including soldiers'
homes not needed by the army or navy, to the bureau; creation of a chaplain corps for service in hospitals and training centers; provision of cemeteries at soldier hospitals; standardization of training;
permitting the applicant to select
as far as possible his own vocation
of application of existing laws.

Cancellation of contract with state, municipal and private hospitals not in existence April 1, 1917, and with all similar institutions which are found unsuitable.

SETTLEMENT OF IRISH DISPUTE JEOPARDIZED BY MR. DE VALERA

His Message to the Pope
Has All But Wrecked Erin's Cause, According to Opinion in London.

VOTE IS DEMANDED BY PREMIER MONDAY

Leader's Action Has Liberated Quite a Stream of Anti-Sinn Fein Feeling in the British Capital.

(By GEORGE N. BARNES.)
(Special Cable to Morning Journal)
(Copyright 1921 by Albuquerque Journal)
London, Eng., Oct. 30.—Lloyd George's demand for an Irish vote in the parliament on Monday is due to the fact that Eamonn de Valera's recent telegram to the pope has liberated quite a stream of anti-Sinn Fein feeling and Great Britain has been hardening her heart.

The generous gesture of the king
at Belfast two days last had swept away political party animosities and evoked a spirit of good will which is unhappily rare in our public life. If taken at its flood it would be now have carried us
far. If met in a reciprocal spirit the difference might before now have been bridged.

But the general good will probably be allowed to ebb towards the old political animosities in which politicians rather than peoples determine public issues.

There is no question but that de Valera has all but wrecked the Irish conference and certainly he has weakened the Irish cause by his telegram. His action, it is not a mere ebullition of irrepressible vanity, would appear to be aimed at a break up of the conference and a resumption of hostilities between the two parties.

Efforts to Bring Peace.
Desperate efforts are being made at the moment by the friends of peace to effect some sort of compromise upon which to base
a continuation of the negotiations,
but whatever may happen in that respect an ultimate settlement has been jeopardized.

The first result of de Valera's act was greatly to strengthen the parliamentary opposition to the government's Irish policy. The unionists have even challenged the government and obtained no less than fifty-two parliamentary signatures to a manifesto protesting against further parley with Sinn Fein.

Lloyd George has met this move
by setting aside Monday for an unlimited Irish debate and a request for a vote on a resolution which will be prepared covering the government. The prime minister expects to win by a handsome majority, but I am convinced that the unionist move fairly well reflects the current of public sentiment. I am unfortunately lies very near the surface of the British mind and de Valera has succeeded in bringing it into view.

Flood of Propaganda.
Then the interregnum in the conference proceedings has encouraged the opposition to flood us
with propaganda in which the losses of British officers and Irish loyalists are brought up in lurid colors.

The worst aspect of the situation is the conviction that de Valera's attitude is not a reflex of the mind of the Irish people. It is true that Sinn Fein obtained a return of their candidates at the last election in southern Ireland,
but there were few other candidates.

They kept them out of the field.
And even were it otherwise a single election in a war atmosphere
could not be taken as an indication.

ALL INTERESTED IN CONFERENCE. SAYS MONTANAN

Japanese Delegation to the Washington Conference Speeds Eastward; Everybody in Fine Humor.

(By The Associated Press.)
On Board the Japanese Special, Oct. 30 (By The Associated Press.)—The special train bearing the Japanese delegation to the Washington conference moved through Montana today with everybody in fine humor. Nature could not have presented more beautiful weather as a greeting to the distinguished men.

Admiral Baron Kato and Prince Tokugawa take brisk walks when stops afford. At Alberton, the prince and the admiral rode on the big electric locomotive while a moving picture operator filmed the scenery.

Prince Tokugawa stood last night on the platform of the observation car admiring the Snoqualmie tunnel in the Cascade mountains.

"At a little mountain town last night where the train stopped, an inhabitant asked a passenger, 'Is this the Japanese special?' when answered in the affirmative, he quickly asked: 'Is this Washington conference going to amount to anything?' We're all interested on this way."

"The member of the party answered he did not know but hoped for the fun in the interest of the whole world."

At Deer Lodge, the delegation was welcomed by Mayor Conley, Judge Richard Gale, who was an officer in the A. E. F. in Siberia and received a decoration from the Emperor of Japan and the Japanese colony. The train is due in Washington Wednesday.

RESPONSIBILITY OF BALL PLAYER AUTHOR'S THEME

George Wharton Pepper.

"If any special responsibility rests upon the ball player it is the responsibility to young America," writes George Wharton Pepper, prominent Philadelphia attorney, in his foreword to the new compilation of the arguments and rules of the game, of which he is the author. "The boy in the bleachers is in school even if he doesn't realize it," Pepper continues.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO INCREASE EFFICIENCY OF BUREAU ARE MADE

"These very unfortunate experiences" would be prevented by requiring completion of training centers before the men are admitted for training.

Reduction in Force.
Pointing out that only 1,300 of the 6,000 employees in the bureau in July were former service men, the committee declared it was "unable to understand why the board discriminates against former service men," and suggested the "immediate cutting down the large force of employees in Washington."

The committee said that the government had failed to obtain "results commensurate with the large expenditures" in rehabilitation work and expressed belief that knowledge of the government's failure prevented men "from seeking hospital treatment until too late."

"Location of hospitals on improper sites was denounced. The time has come, the committee declared, to decrease the number of 'contract' hospitals, which it finds were the cause of 'just complaints.'"

"The peak of the load" in hospital needs will not be reached until 1927, the investigators believed.

"We feel it necessary to emphasize as strongly as possible absolute necessity of expending money appropriated by congress for the hospitalization of former service men without reference to incident but in accordance with local demands, political interference, aggrandizement of existing government agencies or agitation of local groups of any kind."

"Abominable conditions have existed in various hospitals which could have been avoided," the report continues. The committee criticized the policy which dealt with compensation claims as a purely medical problem and declared many applicants have been unfairly and unjustly rated, others have had their compensations reduced without just cause and some are receiving more compensation than they should. The system has been wholly unsatisfactory, unjust and unfair, the committee declared.

The report showed $32,425 policies of term insurance and $27,810 life insurance policies in effect August 1, 1921.

7 PERSONS INJURED IN TRAIN DERAILMENT

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Seven persons, including Miss Mary Green, of Denver, were slightly injured and scores were shaken up today when the Duluth-Chicago express of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad was derailed near Arlington Heights, Ill. A broken rail is believed by railroad officials to have been responsible.

STORY OF SACCO AND VANSETTI, DETAINED IN PRISON IN U. S.

ability, appeal to the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts and the chances are that it will be months before Sacco and Vanzetti actually come within the shadows of the electric chair in the state penitentiary under the very brow of Bunker Hill.

Story of the Crime.

Briefly, the story of the crime for which these two men were convicted is as follows:
On the afternoon of April 15, 1920, Frederick A. Parmenter, paymaster of the Slater and Morrill shoe company of South Braintree, Mass., accused the newly arrived doro Berrardelli, a special policeman of the same Boston suburb, were on their way from the bank to the shoe factory with the company pay roll, amounting to $15,000. Two bandits held up the paymaster and the policeman, emptied their revolvers into their bodies, killing them and got away with the booty. It was weeks after the Sacco was arrested charged with the crime. The arrest of Vanzetti followed some time afterwards. The trial took place in Norfolk county, where the crime was committed and lasted several weeks. The date of the arrest of Sacco is significant because at the time the department of justice at Washington was making a nation-wide campaign against so-called "reds" all over the country. Sacco and Vanzetti were gathered in as "red" suspects. Indeed, they were connected with the connection with the radical element and their examination at the trial on this score formed an important act in the government's case in connection with the "reds."

When they were arrested their comrades in this country and abroad rallied to their support and raised a sum of $50,000 for their defense. District Attorney Frederick K. Katman, who convicted Sacco and Vanzetti claimed he was subjected to a steady torrent of vilification by members of the Boston Post colony. They have been interested in their cases and firmly believed that Sacco and Vanzetti were framed by the government.

Although the alleged murderers had able local lawyers, the case was brought on by Fred H. Moore of California, who took a leading part in the defense.

Women to Their Defense.

Among the Boston society women who took part in the defense was Mrs. Elizabeth Glendower Evans and Mrs. Cerise Carnavan Jack, representing the League of Democratic Control. Mrs. Louis B. Ranton of an old Salem family, and Rev. W. B. Smith of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches and Mrs. B. Davis of the New England Liberty League.

The Italian government instructed its counsel at Boston to watch the trial and to see that Sacco and Vanzetti were protected in all their rights. Students from Radcliffe and Wellesley also took active interest in the trial and occupied seats in the court room at the county court house in Dedham, situated not far from the home of Frederick L. Sloman, recently ambassador to Argentina.

Other well known radicals, some of international reputation, attended sessions of the court and showed a deep interest in the outcome. These radicals kept their friends informed of the progress of the trial and throughout the case the Reds of the world followed its details with eagerness.

A venire of more than 500 was summoned for the trial, feeling ran high in the county. Men showed a disposition to evade jury duty, giving all sorts of excuses, until the venire was exhausted before the panel was completed. The sheriff was ordered to go out on the highways and byways and bring in men for jury duty. Finally the twelve jurors were chosen and sworn in.

The government produced witnesses who the defendants' counsel claimed and still claims that they were in error and that the identification of the defendants was far from convincing. The district attorney in his argument closed with this pithy sentence: "Do Your Duty."

"Men of Norfolk, do your duty," Judge Thayer, charging the jury, also appealed to them to seek courage in their deliberations, "such as was typified by the American soldier as he fought and gave up his life on the battle fields of France." He said that the real issue was the very narrow one of identity. After hours of deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree."

At numerous exceptions were taken during the trial, the prisoners were removed to the county jail to await hearing on trials as results of appeals.

Since his arrest the wife of Sacco gave birth to a child. Mrs. Sacco lived near her husband several weeks this summer, as the result of arrangements made on request and effected through the state government.

Says He Is Innocent.

Vanzetti was a fish peddler in Plymouth, which has a large Italian colony. Sacco was a Brooklyn shoe worker. Vanzetti was already under sentence of from twelve to fifteen years in state prison for killing a Plymouth policeman and robbing Alfred E. Cox, paymaster of the L. Q. White shoe company of Bridgewater, Mass., while the latter was on his way from the bank to the shoe factory with a $13,000 pay roll. Vanzetti says that if he gets another trial he can produce witnesses to prove that he was selling fish the day of the Bridgewater murder, which his counsel says will go a long way towards proving that he is innocent of the killing.

Since the demonstrations in France and Italy over the Massachusetts trial, a strong police guard has been thrown around the home of Judge Thayer, who lives in Worcester and is a member of the superior court.

Experiments to determine the angle at which a ladder should be placed to obtain the maximum degree of safety for those using it have shown that the angle of 75 degrees is the best, whatever the height of the ladder.

AUTOMOBILE IS HIT BY TRAIN; GIRL IS KILLED

(By The Associated Press.)

Fort Collins, Colo., Oct. 30.—Miss Effie Lighter, of Fort Collins, was almost instantly killed here this afternoon when she was crushed beneath an automobile which had jumped the tracks and was struck by a train. The accident occurred on the Colorado and Southern train backed into the automobile which had stopped on the track to avoid being struck by another train coming in the opposite direction on the parallel tracks of the Union Pacific railway.

Mrs. David C. Threlkeld, another occupant of the car, suffered a sprained ankle. Thomas Threlkeld, her son, driver of the car, was not hurt. The car was a 1919 model and was carrying five passengers. The accident occurred on the Colorado and Southern tracks which are parallel with the Union Pacific tracks with about fifty feet intervening. With the approach of a train on the Union Pacific tracks, Threlkeld stopped the car on the Colorado and Southern tracks, not seeing a train approaching from that side. Miss Lighter jumped from the car, shutting the door as she jumped to safety.

She apparently feared that in shutting the door of the car she had cut off the escape of Mrs. Threlkeld, who had been riding in the back seat with her. Miss Lighter ran toward the car and attempted to open the door. As she reached the car, the train backed into it, throwing her to the ground beneath it. Her skull was crushed.

Miss Lighter was a daughter of the late Judge H. C. Lighter, of Fort Collins.

The car was pushed thirty feet down the track after the train struck it. Miss Lighter's body being crushed beneath the overturned automobile. Mrs. Threlkeld and Thomas Threlkeld probably owe their lives to the fact that the automobile was a 1919 model. They were unable to jump from the car before it was struck, but escaped with only slight bruises, although they were carried in the wrecked car for a distance of about 100 feet before it was crushed.

An inquest will be held tomorrow. Coroner H. M. Balmer, of Fort Collins, said tonight.

the national convention of the American legion.

After being escorted by a guard of honor of hundreds of men, women and children, the visitors were hurried to the homes of the Kansas City men, whose guests they will be while here.

The two men had breakfast and then heard mass. The remainder of the forenoon they spent resting. This afternoon General Jacques attended the legion's aerial derby. General Diaz had a more strenuous day. The local colony of thirteen thousand Italians took him in charge this afternoon. With his staff he occupied a box at a theater and heard Titta Ruffo, Italian baritone.

Tonight he was guest of the local Italian colony at dinner and was presented with a jeweled sword.

FOCH AND PERSHING SPEEDING WESTWARD

Washington, Oct. 30.—Marshal Foch and General Pershing tonight were speeding to Kansas City, to greet in the American legion convention many whom they commanded in France.

The two military leaders left Washington this morning accompanied by their staffs and by high officers of the American legion. Their train is due at Kansas City late tomorrow.

The war welcome accorded Marshal Foch in Washington did not spend itself until his train left the station, hundreds filling a portion of the huge concourse in the early morning.

tion of the permanent mind of the people. Few here believe that Ireland is behind the de Valera attitude. If it were so then of course peace and reconciliation would be a far off. But if the Irish people want peace they must find some way of becoming articulate.

The past week as a whole has been one of excursions and alarms, as wild men have in turn broken out on the continent of Europe. The attempt of the experimenter to plant himself once more on the Hungarian people fortunately ended in a fiasco but the revolutionists in Portugal have effected a change of government by the simple expedient of killing their predecessors.

Three Other Eruptions.

Three other eruptions and settlements are under way. The Poles and Russians are growing across their loosely fortified frontiers in Germany which mean a reopening of the Louchen-Rathenau agreement for the reconstruction of devastated France. There is a general ferment instead of much needed solidification. The only evidence of returning sanity comes from Paris, where the French premier has spoken some words of wisdom to the French chauvinists. He has reminded them of Waterloo and Sedan, and although the warning is somewhat belated it may yet restrain some who in the name of liberty would appear ready at all times to play into the hands of license.

depositors of the nation have put into the banks of the country during the last few weeks.

The federal reserve board's figures show that the country now is banking money; until recently it had been checking it all out of the banks. Reports from 800 national banks to the board, as of October 19, show that individual deposits subject to check rose more than $200,000,000 in two weeks and once more are back on the high side of the ten billion dollar mark.

Their upward turn indicates further helpful advance toward normal business conditions.

MAJ. GEN. CROWDER'S LIFE IS THREATENED

Havana, Oct. 30.—Threats against Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder and the United States legation in Havana, are contained in proclamations distributed in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The posters denounce General Crowder as a "representative of the American bourgeoisie," and threaten the danger of vengeance against the American legation.

The police last night arrested ten persons at the headquarters of a syndicalist labor organization. Terrorist proclamations were found.

HARVARD IS LOOKING WITH ANXIETY TOWARD ITS NEXT GRID GAME

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 30.—Under the stigma of defeat for the first time since 1916, Harvard's football team today was looking with anxiety toward its game with Princeton Saturday. Before the Centre college eleven of Danville, Ky., one of the smallest colleges in the south, Harvard went down to a 6 to 0 defeat Saturday.

Princeton, defeated by Navy academy, 13 to 0, and Chicago 9 to 0 this year, crawled out of the depths on Saturday and defeated Virginia 34 to 0.

Penn State displayed great strength in both attack and defense, and defeated Georgia Tech, 28 to 7.

Yale has come through the season without defeat. Brown was the victim Saturday, 45 to 7.

The highly efficient Pittsburgh eleven threw a dazzling offensive against Pennsylvania's line and triumphed, 28 to 0.

Cornell crushed Dartmouth 59 to 7.

Navy added Bethany to its victims, 21 to 0, while the Military academy reserves toyed with Susquehanna, 53 to 0.

POOR FIELDING CAUSED DEFEAT OF THE YANKEES

George Chadwick Praises the Work of Huggins As Manager; Has Built Up a Championship Club.

By GEORGE CHADWICK.
Special Dispatch to Morning Journal.
Copyright 1921 by Albuquerque Journal.
New York, Oct. 30.—Miller Huggins, manager of the New York American league club, although he was unable to win the world's series from the Giants, was successful in bringing the first American league championship to New York. That brings up some inside history which was recalled to the recollection of a former official of the National league, when he saw in print today that Huggins had been criticized for not winning the world's series.

"It seems strange to me," the former official said, "that they cannot let that man alone. He is one of the most competent managers in baseball, to my mind, and I tell you the National league would have been found he had been lost, to the American league."

According to the story of this former baseball man, news of Huggins' transfer from the National to the American league, was received in the older organization with a lot of derogatory criticism, for anybody, no matter who it may have been, who was responsible for the transfer of Huggins to the rival organization. It is said that some of them went to the head of the league and complained, yet the head of the league had no more to do with it than the club owners, nor so much for if the club owners had been smart they might have asked permission to deal with Huggins.

One club in particular did not like it. That club happened to be the New York National league club which feared that Huggins might some day be a managerial rival who would make trouble. There were many opinions as to whether Huggins might become so valuable to the American league that the prestige of the Giants might be seriously threatened. That talk was not shouted from a bench in Bryant park, but plenty of it could be heard.

Nobody did anything to prevent Huggins from changing allegiance. There was supposed to be enough cash among the National league owners to prevent such a thing from happening. The trouble was that too few in the National league were aware of the ability possessed by the little man who has just won his first championship.

Whether Huggins has taken away any of the prestige of the Giants is a question. It is certain that he has built up a championship club. He has attracted thousands of spectators to see his team who never went to American league games before. True, there is Babe Ruth to be taken into consideration and due credit is being given him, but if Ruth could be held to playing winning ball for the New York club Huggins had played his part of the game right.

Not once during the world's series or afterwards did Huggins offer the slightest hint as to why his club did not win. If they failed, all he would say was that his players would be back the next day doing their best, and that was that.

Huggins did not criticize the umpires and gave the way for an all-in case of defeat, nor did he hold any player of his team responsible in public print for anything that did not go to suit him. His course made a lot of friends for him and his club.

Huggins has a following because he has marched quietly along doing his best and his efforts have been accepted by those who don't see any sense in blowing everybody off the map every two or three weeks.

That the Yankees failed to win was not so much due to short comings on the part of their pitchers as to bad fielding in the two games which decided the series. Defeats of that kind do not lay responsibility on the manager for incorrect use of his pitchers. There are many who think Huggins used his pitchers as well as could be expected in view of the fact that he had but two on whom he could depend.

However, the fact remains that Huggins whose loss to the National league was so deplored, has been successful and has increased attendance at the games by the thousands. If the National league feared Huggins would prove a thorn in their flesh, they were right, for he has proved that any American league club can draw even more spectators than a National league club.

It is the habit of bees to place their honey in the coolest place in the warmest.

SHIFT PLAYS IN FOOTBALL GAMES ARE INCREASING

Camp Also Finds That Forward Is Increasing; Punting Is Also a Very Vital Asset.

BY WALTER CAMP.
(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal.)
(Copyright 1921 by Albuquerque Journal.)
New York, Oct. 30.—At this point in the season it behooves both the coach and the student of football to take stock of the development of play produced in the year 1921. It may be fairly said that the season up to the first of November has emphasized the prime importance of the forward passing game carried further in its finesse than anything we have seen before. Secondly, it has been shown that punting, both offensively and defensively, is a very vital asset, and thirdly, it is apparent that the broadening of the base of attack both through shift plays and movable men in the backfield has made considerable strides and put an additional burden on the defense.

Far From Perfect.
The defense to the forward pass has improved rather measurably but it is still far from perfect. This was illustrated in the case of Yale in her games against Williams and the Army. Both these teams found a soft spot in the middle of Yale's back field which was always uncovered. It was there they threw their passes and this strategy put Yale alarmingly on the defensive. It was not a hit or miss maneuver, but a carefully planned and well executed. As it was repeated time after time in each game it would have seemed to have uncovered a vulnerable point.

Chicago used a pass of less distance to Rodney, which netted them their touchdown against Princeton. The writer has followed in actual observation the play in both the east and the middle west and there is a distinct difference in the two sections. That difference lies largely in the fact that the middle west teams are forward pass more—this is for a greater period of years. Hence their defense to this play is better. Western teams are not thrown into a condition of dazed paralysis by the forward passing game.

Shift Plays Developed.
Another notable thing in the season's development is that shift plays far from being on the decline, are being developed even more and are very effective. They lend themselves to deception and make it difficult for the defense to recognize any hold of attack and get set accordingly. Chicago certainly demonstrated this in the Princeton game. The Princeton line was quite unprepared to meet the shift plays which were used in their efforts to hurry the passer and they also had a little quicker in diagnosing the direction of the pass.

Practically every coach in the country now realizes that attack must be formed on a fairly broad basis, either by spreading the four men in the back field somewhat, by the use of shift plays or by a line tackle in the interference on or outside tackle in order to meet the line-charging presented by a first class team.

Another feature of the season is the steady improvement in combining the forward pass and the running game, making one a foil for the other and keeping the defense in transition as to whether they must meet a running play or an aerial one.

Value of Long Punter.
The force and power with which plays with a swinging interference are directed on, or outside of, the tackle and end, tempted more coaches early in the season to try to get more power into the wings.

Some instances where this was effected, it has not worked because the men transferred left work in their old positions. Warner of Pittsburgh, was compelled to shift Steinback as a roving center after trying him at end for this reason. There have been times in the past when the farmer has been disposed to undertake co-operative ventures but until recently there has been an unwillingness on his part to pay for high class management. The county agents have stressed the importance of real business ability in management to such an extent that the farmer has now been convinced.

NEBRASKA THE ONLY UNBEATEN TEAM IN MISSOURI VALLEY
(By The Associated Press.)
Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 30.—Nebraska university stood out tonight as the only unbeaten team in the Missouri Valley conference, as a result of its victory Saturday over Oklahoma and the defeat of Drake and the Kansas Aggies by Missouri and Kansas respectively.

In taking first place the Cornhuskers snatched the Sooner under by a 44 to 7. It was nip and tuck all the way in the Washington-Ames game at St. Louis, Washington winning 2 to 0.

SOLUTION OF IRISH DISPUTE SEEMS TO DEPEND UPON ULSTER
(By The Associated Press.)
London, Oct. 30.—Efforts have been made to prevent a breakdown in the Irish peace conference, but a continuance of the negotiations seems to depend largely on the willingness of the Ulster authorities to assist in coming into line with the Sinn Fein.

Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, who has professed a desire to work amicably with southern Ireland in an all-Ireland council will, it is said be offered extended powers for the northern parliament, accompanied by a strengthening of the position of the central council connecting the two Irish parliaments, and it is declared to be the belief that he may accept.

But, it is asserted, he will oppose any curtailment of the area of the northern parliament.

The prevailing belief here seems to be that even should there be a breakdown in the conference, the truce in Ireland should continue.

COOPERATION BY FARMERS PROVES A BIG SUCCESS

Marketing Organizations Did a Business of $375,714.660 Last Year; Predict Huge Gain This Year.

BY RALPH BURTON.
(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal.)
(Copyright 1921 by Albuquerque Journal.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—Figures just obtained at the department of agriculture show that farmers' co-operative organizations last year did a business of $375,714,660, as against a little more than $60,000,000 in 1919. The figures for 1921, it is claimed, will show another tremendous gain.

Under the auspices of the department of agriculture the farmers of the country are being led more and more toward business methods in the marketing of their crops. According to the reports of the county agents of the department, the farmers in the United States have come to realize as never before that success in farming is dependent upon effective organized marketing systems for farm products.

Co-operative associations, formed among the farmers largely through the work of the county agents, are increasing rapidly in number and influence; only within the last week they have attained recognition by the federal reserve board in a way that is expected to make bank credit more available for farm use.

Organization Work.
To the average city dweller, particularly those in the east, the extent of the work of county agents in organizing farmers' co-operatives will be almost astonishing. Certain business interests have criticized the attitude of the department but the policy that institution has adopted is that the farmers' business education must now be put on a par with his education in production.

Last year 738 county agents assisted in organizing co-operative enterprises. This was 81 per cent of the total number of agents in the field. The business done through these organizations as stated amounted to $375,714,660, and the savings through the co-operative form was $21,152,773. The average business per agent was $509.22 and the saving per agent was $28.34. These figures, according to the department, are very conservative for only 58 of the 738 agents reported on the amount of business done and only 503 reported the savings effected.

Farmer Is Awakened.
Rapidly falling prices for products, inability to get credit to hold products until the market was favorable, have awakened the farmer to the fact that his interest in his product must be more than in the immediate sale of it. He must be able, in part at least, to follow the produce to the market. This co-operative association plan enables him to do this.

When the farmer has been disposed to undertake co-operative ventures but until recently there has been an unwillingness on his part to pay for high class management. The county agents have stressed the importance of real business ability in management to such an extent that the farmer has now been convinced.

Practically the policy adopted by the department and its agents is to discourage organization, if competent management can not be obtained.

The department's policy is that the county agent is as much concerned in helping the farmer with economic buying and selling as he is in connection with economic production. That does not mean, of course, that he is expected to do the farmer's business for him. It merely implies that his relation to production and business organization is essentially the same. He can help determine what crops should be grown and what business organization is necessary; he advises how to grow crops efficiently and as to the best methods of co-operative organization; he helps farmers to help themselves but he should never assume personally or officially any financial responsibility for co-operative business.

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna Kent Forbes.

There are several ways of getting rid of a double chin. First of all there is a diet, and secondly, there is massage. The best way to eliminate a double chin is to try both methods, and also a third method, which is to make use of astringents.

A double chin is a deposit of unnecessary flesh. To put it untechnically, flesh spreads itself in fine layers under the skin. A thin layer of fat under the scalp means that the roots of the hair have that much nourishment and that the hair will be thick and glossy, layers of flesh over the body give the curves that we call beauty. But when these layers grow too thick and become positive lumps, the lines are no longer pleasing to the beauty lover's eye.

The double chin can be massaged away.

One of the first places where unnecessary flesh is deposited is under the chin. If you diet so that you weigh the proper amount and never any more you are not likely to acquire a double chin. But if you already have one you must not only diet in order that the body may use up the superfluous flesh, but you must also massage in order to break up the particles of fat so that the blood may carry them off to other parts of the body.

Then because the skin has stretched to cover these layers of flesh, you must make frequent use of astringents. Otherwise your chin will not regain its thin and youthful appearance. It is possible, however, to massage under the chin with ice. This reduces flesh and at the same time tightens the skin.

Anxious Rose.—Worried.—E. M. The action of yeast is to provide vitamins which are usually lacking from the diet of the people who are troubled with these skin blemishes. Nature then regulates itself. If the diet had not been impoverished by a poor selection of foods, there probably would have been no need of the yeast and the skin would be clear of pimples and liver stains. Yeast does not fatten itself, but the person may increase in weight, when there is this regulation of the system through improved nourishment and elimination.

E. A.—Larline.—The old fashioned castle is a good choice for all toilettes, including that of a shampoo. The fragrance which comes from astringent and sunning the hair is to be preferred to any scent which would be used in a shampoo. A drop or two of attar of roses on some absorbent cotton makes a dainty scent for lingerie. While this is more costly than most astringents, it is more enduring; two drops should keep a drawer fragrant for six months.

L. L.—Pull out each coarse or dark hair by using a blunt-pointed tweezer, and bleach the hair with peroxide of hydrogen. To remove hair permanently, have the electric needle treatment.

SAYS GIRLS' HOMES CAUSE ILL HEALTH

Dr. Kristine Mann.

Discontent with home conditions, rather than long hours of overwork, is partly responsible for the poor health so prevalent among the industrially employed girls of today, according to Dr. Kristine Mann, head of the health center for women in New York City under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. From an examination she recently completed of more than 1,000 women and girls engaged in gainful occupations in factories and business houses, Dr. Mann points out that industrial conditions are not the only factors in the rapid deterioration of health among the girls. Unhappy home conditions and mal-adjustments to life generally rank as handicaps, she said.

"Many of our so-called working girls suffer acutely from unhappiness and friction in their family lives," said Dr. Mann, who is daily and nightly helping girls and women to better health. "A girl's health depends very greatly on her mental attitude. If she is suffering from mental strain, there is bound to be a marked reaction in her physical condition. The time has passed when an unmarried girl of twenty-five is regarded as doomed to spinsterhood. Her pay envelope gives her a certain comfortable feeling of independence which makes any undue restrictions imposed upon her at home difficult to bear. The unhappiness that results is not only reflected in her attitude toward the home and work but in her physical condition."

"Every woman, whether she expects to marry or not, should, I believe, experience that feeling of self-reliance that comes with earning a salary," Dr. Mann said. "The young wife who knows that if necessary she can resume her place in the business world has a much greater chance for maintaining an equal part in her household than has a young wife who must rely on the support of someone else. I heartily recommend at least a year's business experience to every girl. It is a splendid booster for self-respect."

NEW WASHING MACHINE PLAYS JET OF WATER ON CLOTHES IN BOWL

Water has always played an important part in the washing of clothes, first the water in a running brook or stream, then water in a tub with a corrugated board on which to scrub the clothes clean, then water enclosed in round or square tubs with revolving cylinders containing the clothes—now a new washer is here in which the washing is done by a jet of water. In principle it is based on the method used in washing wool in textile mills.

The new washer is a large one-piece bowl shaped like an urn with a lining of white enamel like a bath tub. There is no machinery in this bowl. Immediately as the switch is turned, a jet of warm water pours into the bowl with considerable force or pressure. This stream of water pushes the clothes down to the bottom of the bowl, then they come up, so they are revolved by the jet of water over and over again. The dirt is thus loosened and finally removed through the bottom strainer into the quiet settling chamber. After the washing is done the water can be automatically removed by the pump through the discharge or drainage outlet, the settling chamber being cleaned at the same time.

A safety wringer is provided, operated by an independent motor. The entire machine is mounted on "roller skate" wheels instead of casters so it can be easily rolled about, or it may be permanently connected to the hot and cold water supply.

HAVE NO PLANS FOR NEGOTIATING WITH I. & G. N. OFFICIALS

"LADY KILLERS."

The United States department of agriculture is fostering an exhibit of "lady killers" in the state of Washington. Among the exhibits are shown the old-time wash tub, washboard, broom and dustpan, the sadiron, castiron kitchen stove, coal stove, soapstone heater, and many other pieces of household equipment of bygone days.

In another department are shown the modern conveniences that, as the "silent servants" of the house, are washing clothes and ironing them, cooking the meals, and sweeping and cleaning the rooms, with the touch of an electric switch.

IT IS WISE TO KNOW FUNCTION OF FUSE PLUGS

When Lights Go Out Householder Can Often Make Own Repairs By Fitting in New Plugs.

It is important to understand the function of fuses. The fuse plugs in house wiring installations are to the wires of the house what a safety valve is to a steam boiler. They consist of a small lead wire mounted in a suitable screw cap which melts in case of a continuous overload, saving the wiring and preventing any more serious difficulty.

When part of the lights go out in the house it is an indication that a circuit fuse is blown. When all the lights in the house go out and a chance out of the window indicates that your neighbors have uninterrupted services, this usually indicates that the service fuse is blown. When the circuit fuse blows, the householder sometimes has a test lamp, a socket lamp with a couple of wires projecting with which the various circuits in the fuse box can be tested, one after another, to determine which fuse is blown.

In some cases a blown fuse can be determined by shaking the fuses. The one that rattles will often be found to be blown as the lead wire in melting often leaves a little drop of lead inside the fuse. This rule is not infallible, however, and cannot always be depended upon. Every household should be provided with extra fuses, which should be kept in the cabinet. As soon as fuses are blown they are worthless and should be thrown away.

A very wise precaution is to open the main switch ahead of the meter on the occasion of severe electric storms or upon occasion of leaving home for long periods. This effectively cuts the current of the building and reduces the exposure from current of higher voltage getting into the house.

Electric wiring is now a real necessity in every modern home. Even the small cottage can afford to have its light wiring installed.

TAKE GOOD CARE OF THE ELECTRIC RANGE

The usual care given any kitchen range will suffice to keep your electric range neat and clean. Use a damp cloth to wipe food spots from the enameled surfaces and inside of the oven. Don't drench the oven. Open the oven doors after completing cooking operations and permit the oven to thoroughly air. This will keep it sweet smelling. Occasionally wet a piece of cheese cloth, wring it as nearly dry as possible and then put a few drops of some light polishing oil on the cloth and wipe the enameled surfaces of the range, afterwards wiping gently with a dry piece of cheese cloth. No attention need be given the coils of the element. They are self cleaning. Very little, if any, food spilled on these burners will come in actual contact with the coils—it drops through to the reflector, from which it can be easily removed.

LOOKS LIKE A HALLOWE'EN HAT, BUT IT'S THE LATEST WINTER MODE

A veritable witch's hat is the newest winter mode imported from Paris. It is quite likely to make the wearer bewitching instead of bewitched. Silk plush is the material and two silk plush wings striped with silver ribbon is the trimming around the base of the cone-shaped crown.

FURNITURE CAN BE ELECTRIFIED TO SUIT NEEDS

For light housekeeping the electrified tea wagon is recommended. For this the wiring is extremely simple and consists only of a double socket, introduced either at the side of the table top or partly concealed by it. Thus equipped, the tea wagon can be wheeled to the spot appointed for the tea, be it library, living room or porch. There an electric cord connects the available outlet with the tea wagon socket, and the party can proceed. Another variation is an electrically equipped table kitchenette. This is a piece of furniture closely resembling the ordinary library table, but furnished also with double cupboards like a sideboard. The top of this so-called table lifts up, to reveal an electric cooking outfit, while the two cupboards house the necessary china, linen and silver. This ingenious arrangement was devised by a woman.

At present the wiring of furniture is a matter of individual enterprise, that is, the purchaser of new furniture may order it so equipped at the factory, or the owner of existing furniture may call in the local electrician and have it wired to suit his needs.

Here several words of caution are necessary, for the chief art in the successful wiring of furniture consists in hitting upon the best location for the outlet. In making this choice the owner ought to bear in mind three considerations: Convenience in usage, concealment of as much of the wiring as possible,

"I'M THE HAPPIEST MAN IN THE WORLD," SAYS "BO" McMILLIN

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20.—"Bo" McMILLIN, Centre College's star, said he had reached the zenith of his football ambitions when he crossed the Harvard goal yesterday. "I am the happiest man in the world," was the way he expressed it.

"Last year," he added, "when Captain Horween offered me the ball used in the game we lost, I refused it and told him that to the victor belonged the spoils. I also told him I would be back next year to win the pigskin. Now I've got it and I'll keep it for my kids."

He disclaimed all individual credit, saying that without the play of Armstrong, Roberts and the rest he could not have scored. "I just tried to carry out orders," he said.

What Would You Do?

What would you do if your 13-year-old daughter announced that she intended to begin smoking?

Wait a minute! Remember how you used to do things "on the sly" when you were her age. Remember that your saying "you mustn't" or even "you shant!" does not end the matter. And it isn't only cigarettes—it's everything.

Is your child a poor, meek, dominated little nonentity, afraid to have an opinion, afraid to take a step, because you've always had all the opinions for the family and taken the only steps permitted? If so, you have destroyed your child's personality, its individuality, its divine right to self-expression and freedom of thought. So the modernists say. Or is your child a "bad one," hard to manage, always in trouble, perhaps paying the penalty now for some waywardness or worse—all because you failed to teach it the ways of the world, the rights of others, the paths of honor and decency, the value of truth, the rules of the game? If so, you are to blame! You shirked the sacred duty of parenthood, you failed in the greatest task God gives to men and women—the training of a little child.

"Here Comes the Bride!"

Everybody wishes her well! Happy and radiant she starts out on life's adventure. She should have health to begin with. Good looks in woman do not depend upon age, but upon health. You never see a good-looking woman who is weak, run-down, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, dragging-down pains, irregularities and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness.

It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the safest woman's tonic because it is made entirely of roots and herbs, without alcohol. (Ingredients on label.) It is 50 years old, and its age testifies to its goodness. A medicine that has made sick women well for half a century is surely good to take. Women from every part of America testify to its merits. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package and confidential medical advice, or booklet.

Beaumont, Texas.—"For girls who suffer I always recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have given it to my two girls with most satisfactory results. They are now in absolutely perfect health, while they might have become frail and delicate had it not been for the taking of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription at just the right time."—Mrs. D. ## CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS.

The Journal and its editor have been cited by Judge Hickey to show cause by November 4, why they should not be punished for contempt. Judge Hickey issued the citation at the request of J. M. Reynolds, president of the First National bank. The purpose is to stop the Journal from discussing the public policy involved in our libel laws as affecting the freedom of the press in New Mexico. We wish to show due respect to Judge Hickey pending the hearing of the contempt case. We have never shown the slightest disrespect for him or his court, at any time. The Journal believes thoroughly in maintaining the authority and dignity of courts.

We do feel justified in calling the attention of the public to two facts. We have never discussed the law or the evidence governing the specific libels with which Mr. Reynolds originally charged us nor reflected in the slightest degree upon the impartiality and integrity of the court.

We have discussed no law which is fixed and determined by New Mexico precedent in its application to the Reynolds case. We have confined ourselves to the public policy involved in the construction of the libel laws which Mr. Reynolds asks to have crystallized into permanent and binding law in New Mexico by a court decision. We have discussed this because the public welfare demands it. The Journal can not function to expose wrong doing in New Mexico, if the Reynolds theory is upheld.

Our discussions have been dignified and directed to basic policies of government. They have not been indulged in an effort to affect the application of a law to a suit against the Journal alone, but in order to lead the people to see how fundamental and far-reaching a public policy is involved in establishing such a precedent.

The attempt to smother publicity will be apparent to those who will attend court on November 4. Mr. Reynolds' attorneys will charge that this editorial constitutes an added contempt. They would silence us absolutely if they could.

N. M. CUDABAC.

The Journal wishes to make special mention of the passing of a friend. Mr. Cudabac's death is a distinct loss to the business and religious circles of the city. He was an indulgent father and as a husband, was a chum.

Mr. Cudabac was one of the earliest friends in Albuquerque of the present editor of the Journal. Although the business associate of a group of men most violently opposed to the policy of the Journal, his friendship never slackened.

The last public appearance of our friend was at a gathering which was addressed by the writer. Although then ill from his fatal sickness, he insisted upon honoring us with his presence. His partiality toward us inspired a reciprocal affection. We mourn his loss with genuine sorrow.

Mr. Cudabac had a normal, useful and honorable career. His interest in public benevolence was his most marked characteristic. Thousands will join us in regretting his untimely death.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Chamber of Commerce is steadily weakening. It threatens to cease to function. The indifference to it is laid to a variety of causes.

There is but one real cause. The people of Albuquerque have no less civic pride and ambition than in former years. As good townbuilders are available now as at any time in the history of the city. A belief that we are in better shape to go forward is in the air.

If those holding plural memberships in the Chamber of Commerce will surrender them without withdrawing their present financial support, a long step will be taken. What we mean is this: Let the man who now has 25 memberships, costing him $1,000 per year and giving him 33 votes, take one membership at $20 and then give $270 to the chamber's service fund. Put members on a voting equality.

After a new membership drive, let the present directors resign and allow the full membership to elect a new board. Most of the old board would be re-elected, but they would have a commission from the rank and file of the members. A new spirit would be manifest at once.

If the present large contributors are loyal, wise and unselfish, they will correct at once, this grave mistake, unintentionally made, of plural memberships. And they will do it without withdrawing their support.

NOT SO SIMPLE.

The problem before the limitation of armaments conference is not as simple as may be imagined by some people. At first blush it would seem that an agreement to maintain the present relative strength of the armies and navies of the world would not be difficult. If each, without an extravagant building program, would be as well relatively without that enormous expense, why spend the money?

But other factors enter which rob the matter of its simple pro-rata limitation feature. How is it possible to put a limit upon the activities of the brains of men? Fleets of airplanes can be built in a comparatively brief time. Under the guise of commercial transportation the evolution of the air plane can go on and the war types be designed. The work on poison gases can not be stopped. While one nation might suspend this department in all good faith, the secret laboratories of another would be stealthily perfecting this unseen but deadly weapon.

A proposal will be made at the conference to forbid the use of gases in civilized warfare. It should be rejected. Those nations which in good faith, relied upon that agreement would find themselves later to be the victims of the secret machinations of the designing.

War is a silly thing. It is an effort to settle an issue by the use of force. A war can end only by the weakening of one side or the other beyond further resistance. Poison gases are not inhuman as compared with mines and bombs and ambushes. In the late war 25 per cent of our casualties by missiles were fatal. An added per cent resulted in disfigurements worse than death. Of our gas casualties only 2 per cent were fatal. Gases put the combatant out of service at the minimum loss of life. Gases, too, can be tempered to the offense and the need. Tear gases, or at most a very solid and non-fatal mustard gas, will quell mobs, incipient riots or warlike savages.

Nor should we agree that gases shall not be used on non-combatants. The word is too elastic. Are workers in ammunition factories non-combatants? Are employees of shops or railroads, transporting food or supplies non-combatants? Are the farmers raising the foods without which armies can not be maintained, non-combatants? We all know that there are nations which will do anything they can to win, once they are at war. Limitations should be placed upon visible armaments, where the great expense of building and maintenance lies and where a long period of construction is necessary. Bad faith in such a respect is easily detected.

Our government has made more headway in learning of deadly gas since November 11, 1918, than the world had knowledge of at that time. Very soon science will have made gas warfare so effective that the very horror of war will stop war.

When spectacular feats of strategy and personal bravery and prowess no longer avail and men must die ignominiously and en masse in the trenches from gas poisoning, the glamour of war will pass.

We say all this in order that we may add one warning: Do not expect too much to come out of the present conference. Yet, the public should insist upon reductions of the armies and navies of the world. We can no longer bear the burdens of armament under the expanding policies of the nations.

We must sleep before we can walk in this effort to abolish war.

As usual, the fall fashions include the wearing of masculine hands in pockets.

Only a short time until the early Christmas shopping drive.

VERSE OF TODAY

DANTE.—1921.
Over the vaults of pain and ice of our despair,
In the green high forest where our hopes are new,
In place of prayer, and dreaming where an angel
Might still his wings before the face of beauty,
There rises a voice of victory and battle;
It is the voice of one who from deep earth emerges
Through darkness became the lover of light;
A pilgrim who found the light of faces in a star
Because he, living, loved a woman, dead—
And, from her lapsing, placed her with God
For the sureness of her keeping—
And who made the journey thither
And almost remembered what he saw.
—Charles R. Murphy in The Bookman.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

BATTER CHARLES IS OUT.
(From the Minneapolis Tribune).
For the second time in six months Charles of the late house of Hapsburg tried to reestablish himself upon a monarchical throne in Hungary and failed. He may as well consider himself as having struck out, for it is unlikely he will be left in position to make another such attempt. If he sets any value upon his life he ought to be thankful that he has come out of his latest attempted coup d'état with whole skin.

Charles committed a breach of faith with the Swiss government in taking leave without giving the notice he had promised. He kept that he was setting contrary to the wish and will of the allied powers. Presumably he was flying in the face of a majority popular sentiment in Hungary. Surely he was lending himself to the machinations of selfish politicians who have not relinquished the idea that the old order of things governmental in Hungary should be restored.

The dethroned ex-emperor has shown himself to be a public nuisance in Europe—a nuisance that must be abated in the interest of peace and order. Hungary is having a hard enough task to stabilize itself without being stirred up by such seriocomic enterprises as Charles has engaged in. The house of Hapsburg has been put out of business for all time, if there is anything dependable in the recognized decrees of the past and in the signs of today. If contrived more than its share to the turmoil of the world.

Charles is very far from being a Napoleon. He has neither the brain, the statesmanship, the vision nor the force of character possessed by the man who, a hundred years ago, conquered most of Europe only to fall at last and die in exile. The sooner he counts himself out of the sweep of events the better for himself and all others concerned. Mankind is looking at him today through the big end of the telescope, making him appear far off and small. It is in no mood to turn the glasses around, and even if it were it never could see him a majestic figure.

BE CAREFUL.

O wile you're on your way thro' life
Be careful of the things you do,
And you'll live to maybe 100
Or at least to 82.

2
Don't pick your teeth with eraser shells
Or anything pointy or thin
And close your mouth when you're in a draft
Or germs will wander in.

3
Don't stand in front of a runaway horse
Just to find out the result,
And never pick out a pieceman
When you want someone to insult.

4
Don't step on nails with your shoes off
Or pore vinegar on your ice cream
Or go around patting strange horses
No matter how innocent they seem.

5
Fall gently when you have to fall
But stay where you are when you're high,
And if bullets start to wizz past you Don't wait to find out why.

6
O its nice to live to 100
Or even to 82,
And the people who do it the best
Are the ones that take care what they do.

"Look on the bottom!" chuckled the bunny, and as the Fox turned the cake over, Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane slipped out. So they were far away when the Fox read: "This cake is from Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane!"
Well, you can imagine how surprised that Fox was! Next the Bunny Fox Apple and Old Wolf Nurse Jane went to the Wolf's den. He didn't know them and when Uncle Wiggily handed the Wolf a box, and it opened, out dropped a lovely sugar pie.
"Oh, give me this for Hallowe'en," growled the Wolf, surprised like.

"Look on the bottom!" laughed the bunny, as he and Nurse Jane ran away.
And when the Wolf looked, it said on the pie:
"From Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane."
"Hallowe'en is turned upside down," growled the Wolf, but he liked the pie.
And when the Bear was thus given a honey dumpling he was so tickled that he turned a somersault, when he had read out after it, "bunny and nurse," and "Oh, Uncle Wiggily I could kiss you!"

"Not tonight!" laughed Mr. Longears as he ran back to his hollow. "I'm going to bed now," he said to Nurse Jane. "Well, go bobbing for apples with the animal children. This is the best Hallowe'en I ever knew."
And so it was. And if the rubber hand doesn't play so loudly in the middle of the night that it makes the pen jump down into the ink well, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the pins.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HALLOWE'EN.

When the day came, on the night of which fell Hallowe'en, Uncle Wiggily said to Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzys, his muskrat lady housekeeper:
"I'm going to have some fun this Hallowe'en."
"Oh, I suppose so!" sighed Nurse Jane. "You'll probably slip salt in the sugar bowl, give me a last year's paper to read and put a tickle on the window to scare me at night! Oh, I know you, Wiggily!"

"Nothing of the sort!" exclaimed the bunny gentleman, making his pink nose twinkle twice as fast as the egg beater, because he was so excited. "I'm not going to play any of those tricks at all, and none on you, anyhow."

"Then, for goodness sake alive, what are you going to do?" Nurse Jane asked.
"I'm going to be a ghost!" cried the bunny.
"You're not!" laughed Mr. Longears as he ran back to his hollow. "I'm going to bed now," he said to Nurse Jane. "Well, go bobbing for apples with the animal children. This is the best Hallowe'en I ever knew."
And so it was. And if the rubber hand doesn't play so loudly in the middle of the night that it makes the pen jump down into the ink well, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the pins.

look like a sour apple, what then?" asked Nurse Jane.
"Then I'm going to the bad chaps' dens and play my tricks; and I invite you along to see the fun!" said Mr. Longears.
"Well, at first Nurse Jane didn't want to go. But when Hallowe'en came, and Uncle Wiggily made up like a sour apple, he dressed the muskrat lady housekeeper up like an old witch; and, of course, the Fox, Wolf and Bear would never harm an old witch.
"Now you're ready to start," said Uncle Wiggily as he took up a heavy basket, and he and Nurse Jane (Old Witch, you know) set forth.

On the way Sammie and Susie Little, the rabbits; Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, and Jackie and Fanny Bow Wow, the puppy dogs, were dressed up in false faces, having fun. But none of them knew Uncle Wiggily, who looked like a sour apple, or Nurse Jane, who was made up like an old witch.

So the bunny rabbit and the muskrat lady, laughing at the animal children, went on until they came to the den of the Fox.
"Here's to you, all alone," whispered the bunny rabbit, as he peeped through a window. "Now follow me and say nothing."
Boldly Uncle Wiggily went in the Fox den with his basket. The Fuzzy chap looked up as the door opened, and said:
"Poo! More Hallowe'en jokes, I suppose! Well, I never bother Old Witches, and I don't care for Sour Apples, so you may go."
"But first I have to play a Hallowe'en trick on you!" said Uncle Wiggily, making his voice sound squeaky and queer. "Open the door!"

The rabbit gentleman took from his basket a box, and handed it to the Fox.
"If this is a surprise package, like a firecracker or pepper candy or anything like that!" snarled the Fox. "It'll—"
But just then the box opened of itself and out fell a lovely cake!

"Oh, my," barked the Fox. "Who gave me this?"

"Look on the bottom!" chuckled the bunny, and as the Fox turned the cake over, Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane slipped out. So they were far away when the Fox read: "This cake is from Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane!"

BUSBY'S WORLD KNOWN COLORED MINSTRELS HERE

Can you imagine anyone being a scream on the stage using just an ordinary snare drum? Well, Lessee Brown, with the famous Busby Minstrels who appear at the opera house tonight at 8:15 o'clock is what the show people call a "hot" hit act so entirely different from anything ever seen that the audience seem to want more and more, while his comedy is so refreshing he has to respond to encore upon encore. This young man has a bright future, and what is most pleasing he does not seem to show he has talent, just as natural, and as though he enjoyed playing his drum and making funny faces.

This is only one of fifteen vaudeville acts offered by this well known organization, who have been before the public for the past thirty-three years.

AUTO DEALERS PASS RESOLUTION OF DEATH OF N. M. CUDABAC

Members of the Auto Dealers association, meeting in a special assembly yesterday morning, passed the following resolution upon the death of N. M. Cudabac, who had been in charge of the Cadillac agency here:

"Resolved: That in the death of our esteemed citizen and our fellow dealer, N. M. Cudabac, this association sustains a distinct loss. We have lost a member whose place will be difficult to fill in the activities of this community. The members of this association have always regarded the friendship of N. M. Cudabac and his willingness to assist in the promotion of the automobile industry very highly indeed. He was not only a Christian gentleman who represented a splendid type of citizenship but he has always been regarded by his associates as upright and honorable."

"To the bereaved widow and sons, we extend our deepest sympathy and affection and share with them, in a measure, the loss of our friend and associate."

"E. BLISS, Secretary."
"CHARLES M. BARBER, President."

NESTOR MONTOYA HAS SUPPLY OF SEEDS TO DISTRIBUTE IN STATE

Congressman Nestor Montoya has sent the following letter relative to a supply of garden seeds and a limited amount of flower seeds which he has received for distribution to the people of the state:

"Editor, Albuquerque Morning Journal.
"Albuquerque, N. M.
"My Dear Sir:—Will you kindly state in the columns of your valuable newspaper that I have now ready for distribution to the people of the state, 20,000 packages of vegetable seed and 2,000 packages of flower seed. Requests for seed should be made direct to me, care of Room 145, House Office Building, Washington, D. C. All requests should be in before December 1."

"Thanking you for this favor, I am,
Very truly yours,
"NESTOR MONTOYA."

HALLOWE'EN PARTY IS GIVEN BY MISSES NOE

Misses Thelma and Beatrice Noe entertained a number of friends at a Halloween party at their home, 417 1-2 South High street, Saturday night. The guests were dressed in Halloween costumes. The program consisted of music furnished by Bernard Wright, L. R. Allen, B. A. Noe and the hostesses, dancing and "diving" for apples. Refreshments were served. Those invited were: Misses Sarah Ferrall, Helen Slevert, Florence Reynolds, Adelia Elder, Mildred Sugars, Mae Lynch, Elizabeth Strong, Constance Ratagie, Helen Haynes, Forrest Appleby, Ollie Pitt and Gladys Howard; Messrs. Harold Johnson, Paul Schaeffer, Bob Elder, Samuel Goodwin, Charles Strove, Bruce Green, Carl Allen, Horace Moore, Volle Brown, Bernard Wright and John Oldaker.

BAPTIST MEN'S CLASS ENDORSES ACTION TO STOP SUNDAY DANCES

The Convention Bible class of the First Baptist church of Albuquerque, with a membership of about forty men, who meet at the Y. M. C. A. building each Sunday morning for Bible study, spent a large part of the lesson period yesterday morning discussing and approving the resolutions of Sheriff Tony Ortiz and District Attorney E. B. Garcia in their efforts to stop Sunday dancing.

Agreeing with those officials that these dances are not innocent amusements, but contribute to ward drunkenness, fighting and moral laxity the class by unanimous vote of those present authorized resolutions to the effect that it heartily endorse the actions of the county officials in trying to stop the dances and in which the members of the class pledged their support individually as citizens and collectively as a body, in this important step.

JAP ARMS ENVOY BRINGS AMERICAN WIFE TO PARLEY

Mrs. Taji and children, John and Yurie.

Construction Commander Taji of the Japanese navy, a member of the Japanese delegation to the disarmament conference, has brought with him to the U. S. his white wife and their two children. The photo of Mrs. Taji and the children was taken while they were getting a glimpse of America's "wild west" at Cheyenne, Wyo., en route to Washington from the Pacific coast.

CLEARED SMALL FORTUNE AS RUM RUNNERS, CLAIM

Five Persons Arrested at Colorado Springs Made More Than $35,000 During Summer, They Say.

(By The Associated Press.)
Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 30.—Following the arrest here last night of two men and three women and the seizure of 100 cases of bonded whiskey, alleged to have been brought here from Juarez, Mexico, local authorities today were checking up on the stories told by the prisoners implicating prominent local citizens as purchasers of the liquor.

The men arrested gave their names as C. E. Weston and C. L. Olson. Names of the women were withheld by the police. The men were taken into custody as they drove into Colorado Springs with a truck loaded with whiskey. They are said to have admitted to the officers that they have made four trips from the border in the past six weeks and declared they had made profits of more than $35,000 during the summer.

According to a statement by Sheriff Weir, of El Paso county, the men told them they had been selling the whiskey to local and Denver clubs. They also said, according to Sheriff Weir, that all of the load seized yesterday had been sold in advance to local clubs, hotels and individuals.

The alleged admissions of the pair are being investigated, Sheriff Weir said.

CAPT. HARDY ARRIVES FOR EXHIBITION OF EXPERT RIFLE SHOTS

Capt. A. H. Hardy of Denver, who is to give an exhibition of fancy shooting with rifle, revolver and shotgun, has arrived here with Mrs. Hardy. The demonstration is to be given at the end of the university street car line at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Capt. and Mrs. Hardy will visit their daughter, Miss Madeline Hardy, who is an instructor in the high school.

SUTHERLAND IS HIGH IN SUNDAY SHOOT OF LOCAL RIFLE GROUP

R. G. Sutherland was high gun at the shoot of the Duke City Rifle club held yesterday. The following ranges were shot: 200 yards off hand, 300 yards slow fire, kneeling position, 500 and 600 yards prone. The following scores were made out of a possible 200: R. G. Sutherland, 163; C. A. Spahr, 160; C. A. Hall, 157; Charles Grossman, 153; L. B. Adelson, 152; A. Verhelier, 127; Clyde Donaldson, 117.

AUTO COLLIDES WITH TRAIN; 4 ARE KILLED

(By The Associated Press.)
Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 30.—A man, a woman and two young girls were killed in a collision of the automobile in which they were riding and a Great Northern passenger train at a grade crossing near Roy, Wash., late today.

All are unidentified. The car's license number indicated it belonged to "D. Lamping," of Tacoma, but no person of that name is known here.

DELEGATES FROM CHINA GREETED IN WASHINGTON

More Than 90 Members of the Party Received By Government Officials and Are Given an Ovation.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—China's advance guard to the Washington conference arrived tonight. The more than ninety members of the party were received by government officials and were given an ovation by crowds.

The Chinese delegation was the second official body to arrive in response to the president's invitation to participate in the discussion by nine nations of Pacific and Far Eastern problems, the first Japanese detachment having arrived last Sunday. Others are scheduled to arrive this week.

The American delegates will hold their third preparatory session tomorrow, and Secretary Hughes has indicated gratifying progress has been made.

Courteous Exchanges.
After formal exchanges of courtesies between the Chinese and American officials, the playing of national anthems by the military band, the visitors were escorted by cavalry troops to their residences, the Chinese legation and hotel apartments.

Crowds lined the streets, applauding.

Liang Ju Hsu headed the delegation with the official designation of "Adviser." Prominent among the delegates were Vice Admiral T. Sal Ting Kan and Lo Wen-Kan, as associated advisers and Chang Mun-Yew, counselor to the delegation, the principal members of which will arrive later.

Delegates Impressed.
Many of the delegates appeared to be unusually impressed with the first view of Washington. Leaving the president's room at the union station, the official party debouched on the plaza.

Immediately in front, occupying the center of the plaza, formed the dimly outlined congressional building and framed by the heavy marble columns of the station was the dome of the capitol, brilliantly illuminated.

Prominent among the welcoming throngs were representatives of the Chinese gospel missions, whose more than 500 members joined the official reception party.

MOLDS FOR MAKING OF COUNTERFEIT MONEY SEIZED FROM A TENT

(By The Associated Press.)
Denver, Colo., Oct. 30.—Molds for the manufacture of counterfeit $20 gold pieces, silver dollars and half dollars, were seized from a tent in the municipal automobile grounds here tonight by Roland K. Goddard, chief of the United States secret service in this district.

Following the seizure, Jackson Darling, said to have come here a few days ago from Detroit, Mich., was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. He is alleged to be owner of the tent in which the molds were found. Darling is an organizer for the Teamsters and Chauffeurs' union of Detroit, according to Goddard.

No counterfeit coins have been made here with the molds seized tonight, Goddard declared.
