WAR FANGS OF GERMAN HAVE NO BEEF FRENCH EMBASSY REPORT COULD CREATE MILITARY UNITS WITHOUT DELAY, DATA REVEALS

Copies of Secret Instructions of the German Ministry of War Fall Into Hands of Frenchmen; Small Arms Are Said to Be Concealed; Germans Buying Arms and Artillery Plants

Washington, Nov. 8. (By the Associated Press).—M. Briand's desire in connection with the armament conference is that nothing should be withheld from the American public as to the military, economic or political situation of France, or the reasons why that government is or might be impelled to one course or another.

The military position and requirements of France are matters of anxious concern and General Bunt, chief of the French general staff, has brought documents respecting the military strength of Germany and her potential power. These, it is said, include copies of secret instructions of the German ministry of war, concerning the armaments of former German officers of whom there are 250,000, into skeleton regimental formations, so that without delay military units could be created by summoning former service men to which there are four or five million. General Bunt has a copy of the latest issue of the German army regulations published September 3 that does not deal, he points out, with an army of 100,000 as provided under the peace treaty, but with forces on a vast scale, including corps, armies and groups of armies.

Small Arms Cashed.

The French section of the French delegation also has brought reports respecting small arms said to be concealed in Germany. Arms and artillery factories owned by Germans according to these documents, have been acquired or are being constructed in the countries around Germany beyond supervision of the allied commission of control. Such estimates are indicated in Holland, in Switzerland and especially in Sweden. A large airplane factory is said to be in operation by Germans in Switzerland.

Preparedness for War.

From a confidential document, the French general staff that the German government and German organizations are determined upon a methodical and long-sighted preparedness for war. That

Judge M. E. Hickey Rules That Such Proceedings Cannot Be Instituted By Private Individuals.

PASSES MATTER UP TO BAR ASSOCIATION

Will Ask a Committee to Advise If Law Has Been Violated; If So, It Course to Pursue.

Albuquerque, Nov. 8. (By the Associated Press).—Judge M. E. Hickey, in the district court yesterday dismissed the contempt proceedings brought by J. M. Reynolds, president of the First National bank, against the Journal and its publisher. The decision resulted from a motion of the defendants to dismiss on the ground that such actions could not be brought by private individuals. The arguments continued about two hours.

Judge Hickey, representing the defendants, presented the motion and opened the argument. Judge Hanna pointed out to the court a statute in New Mexico requiring that all actions in which the state is interested shall be prosecuted by the district attorney or the attorney general. He then proceeded to show that the pending action was not a civil proceeding in which Mr. Reynolds was suing for a benefit, but was conferred upon him, but was criminal in its nature because of the offense committed, if any, was against the dignity of the state and the penalty, upon conviction, would be either a fine which would go to the state, or confinement in the common jail.

F. E. Wood, representing Mr. Reynolds, admitted the criminal nature of the charge but insisted that private parties had a right to call the attention of the court to the offense by sworn complaint and that thereupon the court could issue a citation for contempt, thus making the action one brought by the state.

H. B. Jamison, for the defense, pointed out to the court that the procedure insisted upon by the defendants was not a technical quibble, but was essential to the rights of the defendants. Without the representatives of the state in charge of the case there would be no one representing the state upon whom a writ of error for violation of the constitution could be served in the event of a conviction. He pointed out that the decision in one case would not be res adjudicata as to another case on the same facts that if Mr. Reynolds had a conviction, the decision in favor of Reynolds would not prevent Mr. McMillen, or any one else who considered himself aggrieved, from bringing a new case for contempt, based upon the same facts.

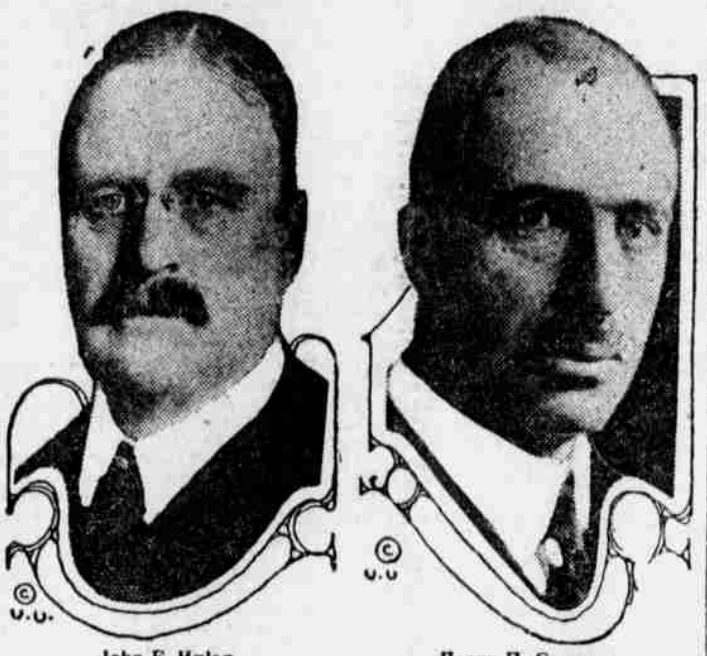

Upon completion of the arguments, Judge Hickey at once announced his decision dismissing the case. There was no hearing on the merits.

After the decision Mr. Wood called the court's attention to the sworn complaint of Mr. Reynolds and asked the court, on its own initiative, to direct the district attorney to file a contempt charge in the name of the state against the defendants. To this the defendants objected, asking instead that the court instruct the district attorney to investigate the charges and report to the court, in his judgment, a contempt had been committed, or not, in their judgment, a contempt had been committed.

Judge Hickey announced that he would ask informally that the members of the examining committee, of the state bar association, as friends of the court, investigate the matter and advise the court whether or not, in their opinion, a contempt had been committed and, if so, what procedure should be followed. The members of this committee are C. M. Bates of Albuquerque; Ira Grimshaw of Santa Fe, and William J. Lucas of Las Vegas.

Judge Hickey overruled the motion of the defendants to strike the amended complaints of Messrs. Reynolds and McMillen from the files, for the reason that each petition contained some matter which was properly there. The court has had this motion under advisement since it was argued a week ago. The defendants were given 48 hours in which to plead further.

WINNER AND LOSER IN NEW YORK MAYORALTY CONTEST TUESDAY

HYLAN IS RE-ELECTED MAYOR IN NEW YORK BY A PLURALITY OF 400,000, LEADERS ESTIMATE

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 8.—Mayor John F. Hylan, democrat, was re-elected today by a plurality, estimated from returns from nearly half of the city, 2,709 election districts, of approximately 400,000 over his republican opponent, Henry H. Curran.

The vote in 1,310 districts was: Hylan, 349,567; Curran, 122,923; and Jacob Panken, socialist, 42,923. It was also conceded by their opponents that the democrats had made a clean sweep of the other important municipal offices, electing their candidate for comptroller and president of the board of aldermen and the five borough presidents.

Republican state headquarters estimated that Townsend Scudder, democratic candidate for associate judge of the court of appeals, a state-wide office, would carry New York city by 241,000 over W. S. Andrews, republican, incumbent.

"I am delighted over the outcome," Mayor Hylan said. "The returns received indicate my election by a tremendous plurality. This shows the confidence the citizens placed in me and that they took no stock in the stories told about me."

SENATE SURTAX RATE WIDENING G. O. P. BREACH IN LOWER HOUSE

Insurgents Among the Representatives Object to the Minimum Income Levy of Fifty Per Cent.

PRESIDENT MAY GET MEASURE NEXT WEEK

This is Chairman Penrose's Prediction, But Other Members of Congress Are Less Optimistic.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 8.—The breach of the ranks of house republicans over acceptance of the senate maximum income surtax rate of 50 per cent continued to widen today.

House leaders sought to defer the fight at least until after re-writing of the bill by the conferees gets under way, but whether negotiations to that end which were opened with the "insurgents" would be successful remained to be decided.

May Force a Conference.

If the negotiations started today terminate without an agreement, majority leaders plan to bring in a rule to force the bill to conference without instructions.

Chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee said he expected the bill to be ready for the president next week. Other senators and some house leaders were less optimistic. Estimates as to the time of final congressional action ranged from ten days to three weeks.

Amount of Revenue.

Treasury experts completed their estimates as to the revenue which would be yielded by the senate bill. The total for this fiscal year was placed at $2,242,730,000, as compared with $3,450,000,000 under existing law; that for the next fiscal year at $2,717,280,000 and for the calendar year 1923 at $2,722,280,000.

A statement by the experts said that the technical and administrative improvements in the bill were quite as important as the reductions in specific rates.

Work in Both Directions.

"The improvements work in both directions," the statement said. "They close holes through which taxes fairly due have high-escaped; and they provide cushions to protect the taxpayer in situations where profit is not really made but only appears to be made."

"Avoidance of the tax through the device of gifts will be greatly reduced."

"Necessary business readjustments or reorganizations which are now blocked by the excessive taxation of purely paper gains can be carried through without premature collection of the tax. Farmers, miners and others who realize capital gains, which in a large majority of cases have been acquired through a period of years, will be permitted to close their deals and take their profits without fear of a tax unfairly made prohibitive by taxing as a lump sum, in one year, profits which have been earned over a series of years."

GALLUP BOY, 14, IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)

Gallup, N. M., Nov. 8.—Nello Liberatori, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Liberatori, proprietors of a hotel here, was accidentally shot and killed tonight by a neighbor, a boy of 17, who came to Gallup a couple of months ago and has been working around the Liberatori hotel and in the City garage, the office of which is below the hotel office. Both of the boys were in the hotel office when a shooting occurred. A rifle, which was supposed to be unloaded, was standing against the wall. Anderson is alleged to have picked up the weapon. It was discharged, the bullet passing through the Liberatori boy's head and lodging in the desk. When Anderson discovered what had happened he fell in a faint on the floor. The Liberatori boy was rushed to a local hospital and an effort was made to revive him, but without success. Inquiry as to who was the owner of the rifle was fruitless. There is a possibility that it was left there by a tourist who had his car in the garage.

STAGE-DRESSING FOR ARMS LIMIT CONFERENCE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Washington is Picking Up the Odds and Ends Preparatory to Convening of Parley on November 12.

JAPAN IS WILLING TO REDUCE NAVAL PROGRAM

Will Cut Her "Eight-Eight" Plans if a Satisfactory Proportional Agreement Can Be Arrived At.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press).—The final interest of stage-dressing for the armament conference was ushered in today by developments which concentrated the attention of practically every element of Washington and its distinguished guests.

The senate took a hand by adopting the last acquiescence of the republican leaders, as presented by the democrats requesting that the doors of the conference room be opened whenever the full body of delegates were in session, and that record be kept of everything that transpired.

Kato's Statement.

Among those who will sit at the conference table, Admiral Baron Kato, head of the Japanese delegation, made himself the center of attention by a statement asserting that his nation was willing, in the interest of a successful conference, to go to the length of reducing her "eight-eight" building program if a satisfactory proportional agreement could be reached.

Meanwhile Premier Briand of France, confining his public expression to a general renewal of his nation's willingness to meet everybody else half way in the effort to reduce armaments, paid a round of official calls, including a visit to President Harding, and expatiated himself on the situation in conference with his colleagues.

Works on Address.

Members of the Netherlands' delegation also were busy today, as indicated by the president, who had spent much of the day on the address with which he will open the conference Saturday. Tonight the manuscript was finally completed and Mr. Harding is known to have reflected his proposed course of conduct throughout the negotiations by dealing only in a broad way with the problems of the conference and leaving the specific presentation of American proposals to the American delegates.

No Meeting Held.

That these proposals have been completed so far as possible, for the present, was indicated by the waiting attitude of the delegation, which held no meeting today pending the assembly tomorrow of the advisory committee of 21. It is expected that this meeting, members of the American "Big Four" will impart to the advisory body the program prepared for the opening days of the conference and also in the selection of an American secretary-general. It is understood administration officials have seriously considered as their choice for secretary-general, J. W. Garrett of Baltimore, a former minister to several European and South American countries, who now is on the staff of the state department.

Results Before Christmas.

There appeared today a growing belief that the results of organization and preliminary negotiation will be completed quickly and that when the conference is but a few days old, it will find itself in the midst of its most serious work. It was believed that they reflected a view today that something definite would be accomplished before Christmas.

HARDING THANKED BY METHODIST WOMEN FOR CALLING CONFERENCE

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Thanking President Harding for calling the Washington conference, the Methodist Women's Home Missionary society declared their hope that it would mark a great turning point in world peace. This is the text of their resolution adopted at Providence, R. I., and sent to the president:

"Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church through its delegated body in annual meeting assembled expresses its deep gratitude for your calling the conference on the limitation of armaments. We believe it to be a momentous step in the development of right relationships between the nations. Representing a society of over 400,000 members, devoted to Christian activities in the interest of our nation, touching closely millions of homes, spending last year nearly three million dollars, we speak for Methodist womanhood.

"We have feared the horrors of war and realize the burden of war that follows every conflict, so we rejoice in all movements that tend toward world peace. We realize the vast funds expended in battleships and armaments, and pray that the delegates to this conference may turn this power into the constructive tasks of peace. May God's name be honored and His guidance be followed. We pledge our hearty support and united influence to make effective the cause of righteousness."

PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE MUST WORRY ALONG ON $800,000 IN FUTURE

(By the Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former New York chorus girl, will receive a lump sum of $80,000 and two fur coats and jewels valued at $800,000, according to terms of a settlement reached today after her divorce from Stanley Joyce, millionaire Chicago lumberman, and filed today when hearing of his action to annul the marriage was reopened.

Mrs. Joyce relinquishes her $250,000 home in Miami, Fla., returns $400,000 in jewels purchased from a Paris jeweler, but not paid for and also releases title to temporary alimony of $150 a month awarded her last spring, but never paid by Joyce. Joyce testified his assets aggregated $2,995,156.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Judge Sabath tonight indicated he would grant a divorce to Stanley Joyce, millionaire Chicago lumberman, from Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former New York chorus girl.

The hearing of Joyce's petition was concluded today after she had announced that a settlement between Mr. and Mrs. Joyce had been reached whereby she would receive cash and jewelry totaling $800,000, but would return to Joyce property valued at more than a half a million dollars.

OPEN AIR LIFE AND HEALTHFUL GAMES FOR GIRLS ARE FAVORED

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 8.—Open air life and healthful games for girls are favored by Mrs. Warren G. Harding. In a letter to Mr. Oliver Harriman, national president of the Camp Fire Girls, the wife of the president, writes:

"I have never been able to imagine any reason why the Camp Fire Girls should not be just as useful an organization for the girls as the Boy Scouts. Moreover, it seems to me that girls need this kind of inducement to open air life and healthful games and occupations, quite as much as the boys. The fact that women play in the world has been greatly changed, even in my own generation, it has been broadened and enlarged and we will be wise if we recognize that larger consideration for the health and physical advancement of the girls will better fit them for the role they must assume."

TYRANNY, ABUSE WERE THE RULE IN ARMY, CLAIM

Privates Say Records in the War Department Will Prove Charges If They Haven't Been Tampered.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 8.—The Private Soldiers and Sailors Legion today in a letter to Secretary Weeks, declared that "unless the records of the war department have been tampered with," a scrutiny of them will furnish "all the evidence necessary to prove conclusively that tyranny, brutality and abuse were the rule and not the exception in the attitude of officers toward enlisted men" in the A. E. F.

The letter was written in connection with Mr. Weeks' request that the American Legion assist in securing facts relative to alleged mistreatment of soldiers.

Company funds accumulated to purchase extra rations for the enlisted men, were "in a large number of cases...embezzled by the officers and were dissipated by these officers in drunken orgies with women and wine," the letter charged, and cited a case at the army hospital at Savenay, France. A wounded man, it declared, was sentenced by the commanding officer to a term at hard labor, without trial, for having refused to do "ward labor."

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—First precincts to report tonight on today's non-partisan municipal election gave Mayor James C. Couzens, a slight lead. The vote in fifteen precincts out of the 687 was: Couzens, 1,014; Daniel W. Smith, 749.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Unofficial returns from 203 out of 370 precincts in Louisville gave Houston Quinn, republican candidate for mayor, a lead of 5,465 votes over Harris, democrat.

In case none of the seven candidates receives a clear majority on first choice votes the second choice votes are counted. If this total vote fails to show a majority the election is decided on a plurality of all choice votes.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—S. L. Shank, republican, was leading Boyd M. Ralston, democrat, in today's municipal election by 18,899. 188 precincts had been tabulated. The vote for mayor: Shank, 49,430; Ralston, 29,551.

PREMIER BRIAND AND AIDES CALL AT WHITE HOUSE

Frenchmen Also Are Received by Coolidge, Weeks and Other Officials; Praises Buildings.

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 8. (By the Associated Press).—Premier Briand of France and members of the delegation he heads today made official calls on President Coolidge and drove about Washington. The premier was received by President Harding, Vice President Coolidge, officials of the state department in the absence of Secretary Hughes, who has gone to New York to vote, and by Secretary Weeks and others.

Discussing his reception by President Harding, M. Briand said:

"The president was most kind and cordial and mentioned the circumstances that I am the first French prime minister to have visited Washington."

The premier was presented at the White House by Ambassador Jusserand of France and was accompanied also by M. Viviani, M. Sarraut, Admiral de Bon and General Buat. The president chatted for some time with his visitors.

At the senate, M. Briand and his party were received by Vice President Coolidge and Senator Lodge.

"I find your capital wonderfully beautiful," M. Briand said, "and full of monumental buildings. I take pleasure in thinking it was laid out by a French engineer more than a century ago."

M. Briand then attended a motion picture show.

ARMS MEET CAN DO MUCH, SAYS BRITISH LEADER

Balfour Confident of Good Result From the Conference Which Is Scheduled to Meet Next Saturday.

Quebec, Nov. 8.—Belief that the Washington armament conference could do much to produce a better world was expressed by Arthur J. Balfour, former British prime minister, when he arrived today as acting head of the British delegation.

"I don't believe this disarmament conference can do everything," Mr. Balfour said. "I am personally confident it can do much. I am confident of the steps being gradually made to produce a better and improved world—an international world—this step will be of all history the greatest. In that hope I go to Washington."

Mr. Balfour led the British delegation across the Atlantic in the absence of Premier Lloyd George, who was detained in England but who hopes to come later. The delegates were given a hearty welcome when they landed. They left at once for Montreal and will proceed to Washington tomorrow.

FIND RAILWAY GUILTY OF REFUSING TO ALLOW 25 EMPLOYEES TO VOTE

(By the Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company was found guilty today of refusing to permit 25 employees to absent themselves from work for two hours with pay to vote in the primaries last April.

Judge Frank Righelmer, in county court, fined the company $100 in each of the 25 cases. An appeal will be taken, the company's attorney announced, to test the law requiring employers to pay for the time employees spend voting.

UNKNOWN HERO'S BODY TO REACH CAPITAL TODAY

Guns at Fort Washington Will Roar the National Salute as the Olympia Steams Up Potomac.

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 8.—America's unknown dead from France was in home waters tonight, riding in state aboard the old cruiser Olympia over the waters of Chesapeake bay. Tomorrow, to the crash of guns from saluting forts and naval posts, the treasured casket will move in honored progress up the historic Potomac. And in preparation for its arrival late tomorrow, events were shaping themselves toward a climax of honors on Armistice day.

As the Olympia steams slowly up the river, the guns of Fort Washington will roar the national salute of twenty-one guns to her half-masted flag. Off Mount Vernon, the ship will pay its homage to the tomb of Washington. Again at Washington barracks a battery will hammer out its twenty-one gun message, to be repeated again at Washington navy yard as the old ship ends her journey.

Even as she turns into the Potomac early tomorrow, the Olympia will receive the first highest naval honors for the unknown soldier she carries. The battleship North Dakota lies a distance up the river with guns and flags waiting to pay tribute. And ahead of the cruiser will steam the destroyer Barnard as escort of honor to the dead.

At the navy yard, the navy will render custody of the casket that marks in the nation's history the glory of him who died for the flag, to the army comrades of the dead man. He will be given back to the keeping of the khaki-clad men with whom he fought in France. His hero guard of honor alone will lay hand on his coffin thereafter.

Band Will Play a Dirge.

The transfer will be in full ceremony. As the casket leaves the ship, the guns of the Olympia will boom out 21 times. The ship's band will play a dirge as the body is carried down the gangway with soldiers and sailors at present arms and officers at salute.

Received by the army, the casket will be placed by the selected non-commissioned officers of army and navy and marine corps in a motor house and a squadron of cavalry and mounted band will lead the way toward the capitol where the catafalque awaits under the vast dome, the catafalque on which Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley lay.

A guard of honor will wait at the flight of steps leading up to this resting place and the men in khaki will keep vigil about the bier until it is carried out Armistice day to its niche on the terrace of the memorial amphitheatre at Arlington cemetery.

Late in the day and before the public may pass through the great rotunda, President Harding will lay a wreath on the casket. Vice President Coolidge also will place a floral tribute on the coffin, and Senator Cummins, president pro tem of the senate, and Speaker Gillett of the house will place

ONLY 2 PER CENT OF LIQUOR ANALYZED IS FIT TO DRINK--HAYNES

Washington, Nov. 8.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, in a statement tonight warned the public against the dangers of drinking "bootleg beverages." Less than two per cent of the liquor analyzed by chemists of the prohibition unit, he said, has been found fit to drink since the cutting has cut off the supply of bonded liquor. Whiskey and gin made from wood alcohol by bootleggers, he said, is practically certain to result in blindness and death.

there the wreath congress has voted.

Four Armed Sentries.
Through the night and until the booming of minute guns on Armistice day to bear out the passing of this honored soldier to his last rest, four armed sentries will stand at the corners of the bier. Each branch of the army and navy will furnish men for this inner guard. Before them will pass on Thursday a throng of Americans paying homage. Not a minute of that day but has been claimed by some person or some society to lay a wreath on the casket, among them the British ambassador to testify to Britain's sympathy. The flowers will go later to Arlington, to be laid at last on the stone above the quiet nook in which the unknown will come to rest forever.

FAST FOOTBALL GAME SCHEDULED HERE FOR ARMISTICE DAY EVENT

Not by any means the least of the Armistice day celebration will be the Albuquerque high school football game to be played at the Washington park gridiron at 2:30 o'clock. The high school students will form a parade at the high school at 2 o'clock and march down Central avenue to Washington park. The parade will be featured with floats and all kinds of vehicles. The student body of the high school have been looking ahead to the Armistice day game as the most important feature of the home schedule and are going to be at the game in force.

This game will help decide the high school football supremacy of New Mexico. After being defeated twice by El Paso, the normal school is out for blood and will endeavor to their utmost to get their revenge from Albuquerque high. They did not lose to El Paso either time by a large score and they will give the high school a battle royal.

The high school will be in better shape than ever before for the battle and it is hoped that Nathan Glassman will be in shape for the fray Friday. The line will be largely as it appeared on the field last Saturday. However, the backfield will be worked over in order to further strengthen it.

Word has not as yet been received from Santa Fe as to the game scheduled with Albuquerque to have been played here October 22. It begins to look doubtful whether the locals will get to play the Ancient City team this season. However, the local Indian school smothered the Santa Fe high school under a score of 60-0 last Saturday at the capital city. The Albuquerque Indians in the afternoon of the same day defeated the Santa Fe Indians 40-14.

ROSENWALD BROS. STORE TO REOPEN TUESDAY, NOV. 15

Reduction of Prices to Be Made On All Goods in All Departments; Adjustment on Stock Reached.

Announcement that the Rosenwald Bros. department store, closed by the fire which swept a corner of the third floor, would re-open on Tuesday, November 15, was made by members of the firm yesterday afternoon.

"We have reached an adjustment on the stock," said D. S. Rosenwald, speaking for the store. "The question of damage to building and fixtures will be taken up later. The adjusters assisted us in every possible way in order that we might finish with the stock and be able to place it before the public as quickly as possible."

"We will open our doors for business again on Tuesday, November 15. In the meantime, we are going through our stocks, marking goods down to the lowest possible level. Our sales force is busily engaged in separating the least damaged goods from those harmed most by smoke and water. They are segregating the goods which were apparently untouched, although everything in our store will be sold at reduced prices."

"Our employees have pledged their cooperation and are serving loyally. They are showing a willingness to work night and day in order that the store may be re-opened next Tuesday as we have announced."

"We have heard of current rumors that as soon as we dispose of our stock now on hand, which we will do before bringing in new goods, we will close out our store and sell our building to the hotel company."

"Rosenwald Brothers wish to state that we not only expect to continue in business but that we will broaden the scope of our store in order that its usefulness to the trading territory adjacent to Albuquerque may be extended. We will enlarge; we will advance; we will keep pace with the city and try in addition to get a faster stride for it."

"So far as the hotel is concerned, we have no ambition or desire to be in the hotel business and are interested in the building of the new hotel only from the standpoint of community interest."

BARELAS BRIDGE TO CLOSE; CITIZENS WILL HOLD MASS MEETING

A notice was posted on the Barelas bridge yesterday to the effect that the bridge would be closed on and after November 10. This has aroused the ire of the people living west of the river and they will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the office of the county agent to consider taking whatever legal steps may be necessary to protect their rights. Neil Ferguson announced last night.

The best amethysts are brought from Cambodia, in India, and from Siberia, Ceylon and Persia.

RELIGIOUS PLAN FOR 'Y' MAPPED OUT AT MEETING

Plans for the religious work of the Y. M. C. A. were made last night at a meeting of the religious committee and a large number of the clergy of the city. It was definitely decided to resume the usual fall and winter fellowship lunches at the "Y" on Sunday evenings. The first one will be held next Sunday, Rev. H. A. Cooper delivering the opening address. The supper will be held at 5:15 o'clock.

Ten churches expressed the intention of co-operating in the fellowship lunches and will have special committees to assist and to invite persons to the lunches. Good programs will be arranged for each of the affairs.

It is possible that a Sunday afternoon forum will be started, but the plans were not completely made at the meeting yesterday.

A prayer meeting will be held Armistice day morning at the "Y" starting at 9 o'clock and lasting twenty minutes. All citizens are invited to attend.

Those who attended the meeting last night were: W. P. McDowell, L. C. Merfeldt, Rev. H. S. Davidson, H. L. Snyder, E. Griffith, G. E. Valliant, Rev. A. M. Knudsen, A. E. Johnson, A. L. Shaver, Rev. 10 ARE KILLED AND 7 HURT IN ELECTION RIOTS

Four Clashes Are Reported in Various Parts of Kentucky; Breathitt County Stages Two Affrays.

(By The Associated Press.)

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Known casualties in Kentucky's election tonight stood at ten dead and seven wounded.

Nine men were killed in two affrays in Breathitt county; a man and a woman were wounded in Louisville and one man was killed and two others seriously wounded in Estill county.

The first of the killings occurred Monday night in Breathitt county when Sylvester Howard, Jr., was killed by Mari Pitts.

The second affray in Breathitt county occurred today when Cleveland Combs is said to have made efforts to serve as election clerk in place of a man previously appointed. Combs, his brother Leslie, Ephern and George Allen and John Roberts and George McIntosh were killed outright and five other persons wounded, two of them, Berry Combs and Tom Center, dying later.

Four of the dead were democrats and four of the wounded republicans.

Woman Is Wounded.

In Louisville, Patrolman Benoit Gardner, in a quarrel with Harry Ross, fired several shots. One shot seriously wounded Ross and another struck Mrs. Lillian Collins, aged 64.

The fourth affray was in Estill county, where P. F. Wolfenbarger, republican candidate for sheriff, was seriously wounded by Lloyd Winkler. Winkler was shot and killed by Wolfenbarger's son, Jeff Phant. Richardson, a bystander, also was wounded.

Another death was added late today when K. K. Spencer, a democrat election clerk, was killed at Simpson election on Frozen creek, in Breathitt county.

GORDY, DEMOCRAT, IS WINNER IN MARYLAND

(By The Associated Press.)

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—The election of W. S. Gordy, Jr., democrat, as comptroller, over State Senator Oliver Metzger, republican, and control of the legislature at today's election in Maryland was claimed by the democrats on the basis of returns received up to midnight tonight. Republicans conceded that Gordy would carry Baltimore by 5,000 or more.

Dr. H. A. Kelly, an independent candidate for the house of delegates from Baltimore, running on a reform platform, was defeated.

THE EFFICIENT WOMAN

We hear a great deal nowadays about the efficiency of women. In the novels of fifty years ago, who ever heard a woman praised for her executive ability, force, and energy in the sense that it is used today? The frail, delicate, helpless ideal of womanhood has passed away. How is it possible to measure up to the ideals of modern womanhood? In the first place, we must keep our bodies in the best possible condition.

Thousands of women have succeeded through daily baths, exercise in the fresh air, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of female weakness.

START SUIT TO ENJOIN FURTHER SALE OF BONDS

Blumarch, N. D., Nov. 8.—A suit has been filed in Burleigh county district court, it was learned today, seeking to enjoin further sale of state bonds and attacking the validity of the contract between the Bank of North Dakota and Spitzer, Rorick and company, a Toledo concern, for disposal of the securities.

While refusing to issue a temporary restraining order, Judge W. L. Nussle directed the industrial commission, against whose members the suit is filed, to show cause November 9 why the contract with the Toledo concern should not be set aside.

The industrial commission recently contracted with the company for the sale of about $6,000,000 worth of state bonds, at a 5 per cent discount, $1,200,000 of which have been delivered.

In the action, initiated by a group of northern North Dakota taxpayers, the following points are made:

That the Bank of North Dakota is not legally possessed of state bond it has undertaken to deliver to Spitzer, Rorick and company.

That the industrial commission is without authority to sell the bonds at less than par.

That the bond contract is illegal because attempts are being made to sell the bonds at less than par.

That the industrial commission shall sell the bonds for cash at not less than par.

That the bonds to provide the capital of the bank were not legally sold and the bank never legally established.

That any transfer of the bonds from the industrial commission to the bank is a mere subterfuge intended as an evasion of the law, and not binding upon the state.

JOAN OBJECTS TO HER MOTHER LOOKING YOUNG

CHAPTER 8.

Realizing that Joan might become somewhat offensive in her remarks if not curbed in some way Margaret talked to her in a general way about being broad, allowing other people to think and do as they pleased the same as she did, without criticism.

"If we all thought and acted alike, what a stupid place this world would be, wouldn't it, Joan?" she remarked as if casual. She tried always to assume this tone with Joan. "That we all have a right to our opinions, to express ourselves in our own way, makes life interesting where otherwise it would be dull. I believe you are capable of judging for yourself. Mrs. Thompson does not believe Hortense or any young girl is, therefore, you and Hortense are different, and so interest each other. If you were just alike, thought alike, acted alike, you would simply be bored."

"That's right, Mumsie! It would be terrible to have two or a dozen of me," Joan replied, and from that time Margaret noticed that while Joan often showed by her manner her intolerance of the actions of other girls, more conventional than she, it was seldom that she expressed herself as intolerant as before.

Joan had moments of frankness which sometimes almost alarmed her mother. One day Margaret came down to breakfast with her black hair coiled loosely around her shapely head, instead of drawn back in a tight knot, as had been her custom for years.

"Why—why, Mumsie! Whatever have you done to yourself? You look almost pretty—but so silly for my mother."

Margaret laughed, then apologized a little, claimed she had hurried. But after Joan had gone to school she sat for some time before her dressing table, fluffing out her hair a little more, smiling vaguely as something in her face recalled her youth to her mind.

"So silly for my mother," she said. Margaret told the person reflected in the mirror. Then with unnecessary violence she drew her heavy hair into its accustomed unbecoming knot and went about her duties a bit more carefully than usual. She must not forget that she was Joan's mother.

"There, old dear, you look like yourself again!" Joan declared when she returned from school.

"Yes, dear." The answer was meek.

"Some women make such awful fools of themselves, dressing up and trying to appear young. I'm glad you aren't such a fool, Mumsie. When I get as old as you I shall be sensible."

As Margaret was not quite 34, this remark was, to say the least, enlightening, as to what Joan considered "old."

After this Margaret was even more quiet in her dress and actions. Once she regretted she could not go to an affair at the church they attended. Joan remarked in reply:

"I can't see why you care about going. When I am as old as you I shan't want to eat ice cream and cake, and hang around at church socials."

Once again Margaret meekly stood rebuked.

"I am going to college, Mumsie."

Joan had been quiet for some time. Margaret furtively watching her, knew the child had something on her mind, something she would soon divulge. She had so closely watched her child that she could read every change of expression as if her countenance were a printed page.

"What made you think of college, Joan?"

Her question was quiet, but her heart beat strangely, and her breath came in a little gasp. Was she to lose her child, her companion, just when she would need it most? Not that Margaret objected to college, but she had planned differently for herself and Joan, when Joan finished at Miss Corey's. They would travel, see the world. Margaret only knew other countries through books. She longed for a closer, more intimate knowledge of them. And it would be so delightful to travel with Joan—her naive remarks, her fresh, unbiassed opinions would make traveling with her a pleasure.

"Oh, every girl of my character goes to college nowadays! I want to live in the college environment, to be free and independent of home, of you, Mumsie, and—of the independent of me! Why, Joan—"

"Yes, Mumsie, independent even of you."

"It will be a long time before you can enter college, Joan; you must change your mind by that time."

"I'll tell you if I do, but don't bank on it. I am going to college."

COSSACK COAT IS KRIMMER TRIMMED

By ELOISE

A winter wrap must be worn for so many long, cold months that one is likely to become very tired of it, no matter what the style or color. By the end of the season the dark colored, dark fur trimmed coats begin to pall on one and there is a longing for bright colors and vivid tones of spring and summer.

Here is a winter wrap, however, which is bright enough in its color contrast to satisfy midday through the entire season. It is made of the lustrous new winter coating called Pollyanna cloth in black. The coat is built on Cossack lines with wide kimono sleeves and a shawl or surplus collar which crosses in the front and fastens far on the left side. The cuffs, collar and banding around the front panel of the wrap are of pretty gray white krimmer, the season's favored fur.

A narrow shoestring belt may be worn or not, as one sees fit. A wrap of this style is correct upon any occasion of the winter months, for street, afternoon or evening wear.

BETTER BABIES HOLDING OWN AT HEALTH MEETING

Scores of babies, little ones, big ones, brown skinned ones, pink and white ones, chubby and frail, sober and crying, busy nurses and doctors making examinations, solicitous mothers bustling about with blankets and things. That is the rather bewildering (to the layman) state of affairs in the after-school court room during the three days of the first children's health conference which is being conducted this week by the nursing department of the Red Cross club.

Mothers swarmed to the conference on the opening afternoon yesterday, many bringing their children without having first made appointments for their examination.

All were accepted, however, registered and started through their examinations. Baby carriages were parked outside the auditorium and the elevator ran a children's special tour up and down during the hours of the conference.

The big court room was arranged with exhibits of interest to parents on one side and with a series of examination rooms around the opposite side. In these curtained-off compartments sat the physicians and nurses who took the examinations. Miss Gladys Harrie, Red Cross public health nurse, was mistress of ceremonies.

The babies were registered and assigned score cards upon which their records were marked in each test. The first was mental and developmental, testing the child according to his age. The second was on measurements, the third on general physical examination, which included deportment during the test, the fourth was oral and dental and the fifth was on eye, ear, nose and throat.

The children were graded on each point according to standard tables published by the better babies bureau and their final scores were figured by a board of judges. As each examination was made the mothers were informed as to particular defects discovered and how to remedy them. The final scores will not be given out until after the last day of examination, when a photograph will be made of the most perfect child entered in the contest.

The exhibit includes a complete layette of forty pieces, loaned by Kistler-Collister, an automatic picture machine which shows slides on the care of infants, a diet table set with proper meals for children of various ages and from which diet instructions were distributed by Mrs. Maude Doty, county home demonstrator. There are also display a home-made refrigerator for keeping children's milk cold, a home-made fireless cooker, model chairs, cribs and bath equipment and a table of "baby killers" conspicuous among which are painted toys, soothing syrups and rubber nipples.

Mrs. J. G. Gould, chairman of the nursing program committee of the Red Cross, assisted by Mrs. Mike Nash and Mrs. Albert Gaudorf, are registering the entrants in the contest. Mrs. Jack Stutz, Mrs. Arthur Nye, Mrs. P. H. Roberts and Mrs. Edward Miller are scoring the children. A number of physicians, specialists, nurses and assistants will be on duty to make talks at the program.

The examinations will continue today. The conference will close with a program at the federal building on Thursday. Miss Harris and Dr. J. F. Docherty, city and county health officer, will make talks at the program. The announcement of scores of the children entered will also be made at that time.

created at the Kansas City meeting. It is now known as the American legion auxiliary instead of the Women's auxiliary of the American legion. Other delegates from New Mexico were Mrs. Emma Summers, of Albuquerque; Mrs. Mary Chapman, of Gallup, and Mrs. Mabel Helfitt, of Fort Bayard.

SHE WINS HONORS AS A LAWYER IN SOUTH DAKOTA

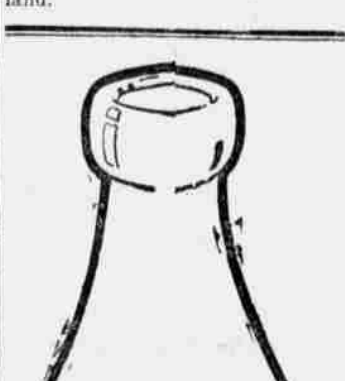

Dorothy M. Rehfeld.

Women always point with pride to their sisters who have entered the business world and succeeded in work which had heretofore been man's. And those women who attain unusual honors and distinctions in their work are living arguments that women are fitted for something beside maternal duties.

Miss Dorothy M. Rehfeld of Aberdeen, S. D., is one of the successful women about whom South Dakota people boast. Miss Rehfeld is the only independent practicing woman lawyer in her state. In addition to that distinction she is the first woman lawyer in South Dakota to whom was issued a license to practice in all United States courts.

Miss Rehfeld has also been active in suffrage work, and last year she was sent as one of the twelve American delegates to the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance congress held in Geneva, Switzerland.

DAUGHTER OF FORMER PRISON WARDEN WEDS FATHER'S CHAUFFEUR

(By The Associated Press.)

Leavenworth, Kans., Nov. 8.—The courtship which culminated in the marriage of Elmer Inman, serving a sentence in the Kansas state penitentiary, Lansing, near here, and Miss Lavona Coddling, had its inception while Inman was acting as chauffeur to J. K. Coddling, the young woman's father, who was until recently warden of the prison.

Inman, who was serving a sentence of ten to twenty years for complicity in a jewelry robbery at Arkansas City, is back in prison for violation of his parole.

Denison, Tex., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Elmer Inman, wife of an inmate of the Kansas state prison at Lansing, and the daughter of the former warden, J. K. Coddling, who disappeared from Topeka Saturday after failing to secure a parole for her husband, arrived in Denison last night. It was learned today. She arrived here from Tulsa and called upon her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Inman, this morning.

WOMAN PUTS DRESS ISSUE IN POLITICS

Miss Annie Mathews, democratic candidate for register of New York county, has taken the woman's dress issue into politics with the announcement that she favors "wearing what is becoming, bearing in mind always the occasion that it is required for."

In a statement from the Annie Mathews campaign committee, the feminine voters of New York county, Miss Mathews "is always well dressed in business hours in a simple modish gown of dark blue" and that she is "equally stunning in evening dress."

Over Fifty Years Ago

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. He finally made up his mind to place some of his treatments before the entire United States and, moving to Buffalo, he put up what he called his Favorite Prescription, and placed it with the druggists in very state in the Union.

That was over fifty-five years ago. For fifty-one years this Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce's has sold more largely throughout the United States than any other medicine of like character. It's the testimony of thousands of women that it has benefited or entirely eradicated such distressing ailments as women are prone to.

For over fifty years some of Dr. Pierce's home medicines have been selling over the drug counters, so that more than fifty million bottles have been sold during that time. This speaks well for the reliability and value of Dr. Pierce's standard home remedies. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood tonic and strength-builder which contains no alcohol, yet has tonic qualities that have endeared it to the American public. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, Aloin and jalap, have long been considered a reliable vegetable laxative, in the same way that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's—namely, Anuric (anti-uric acid), has been successfully used by many thousands of people who write Dr. Pierce in unqualified terms of the benefits received—that their backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble have been completely conquered by the use of Anuric.

DRINK BUTTERMILK.

Very few people realize how valuable buttermilk is as an aid to good health and good looks. Simple as a reminder I would like to make a list of some of the many uses of this inexpensive drink.

If you are reducing drink buttermilk. The caloric value of a glassful is only 80. It has the same amount of nourishment as a glass of skim milk, but it contains acids which are beneficial to the system.

If you have a muddy skin drink buttermilk. The acids mentioned above stimulate certain organs in the body so that the skin will should be encased in a mitten without a thumb, as a child who is broken of this habit during sleep will rarely have to be corrected for it during the waking hours.

Maud H.: Do not take the water late in the day and you will not have this trouble. Take one pint of very warm water before breakfast and if you salt it slightly you will find that you will not have to resort to these pills. The salt in the water carries it into the intestines, where it assists in cleaning the system through this channel. If the salt is omitted the kidneys act upon it and are flushed.

Reader: As you bleached the coloring from the hair, nothing will help it, except to wait for nature to restore it. You can dye the parts that look badly, but that should be done by someone who knows how to do the work artistically.

become clear and fresh.

If you are trying to gain weight and cannot drink whole milk, as is the case with so many women, drink buttermilk with cream added. To make this drink fattening you should add four or more tablespoons of cream. It will give the buttermilk a richer taste.

If you have indigestion drink buttermilk, which will aid you in digesting other foods and is itself one of the most easily assimilated articles of nourishment.

If your skin has become tanned or freckled use buttermilk externally. It bleaches the skin and gives it a soft, fine feeling. It will not, of course, completely eliminate all freckles, but it will help to do so.

If your skin has become rough or chapped, rub it with buttermilk, for this will keep it soft and in good condition.

If you want an unusually good bleach scrape two tablespoons of horseradish into a cup of buttermilk, massage this into the arms or the neck. If you use it on the face be careful not to let any of it get into the eyes.

Pink Eyes: Children are often cured of sucking their thumbs through having something painted on the ends of them that is unpleasant to the taste, but harmless to their digestion. Bitter aloes is used for this. During the hours of sleeping the hands

Pimples and boils are signs of lowered vitality

A familiar food now used to correct them

PIMPLES and blackheads (acne) and boils are often the signals of a falling off in health. "A bad acne may indicate profound debility," writes a physician connected with a number of leading New York hospitals, and "the repeated occurrence of boils should always be looked upon as an indication of lowered vitality."

It has been found from actual clinical tests that remarkable results are obtained in treating these complaints with Fleischmann's Yeast.

Today Fleischmann's Yeast is everywhere recognized as a valuable "conditioner." It is a fresh food which supplies in rich quantities the newly discovered vitamins known to be lacking from many of our foods. It thus corrects lowered vitality which is so often the underlying cause of these minor ailments.

To protect themselves against these complaints many are making Fleischmann's Yeast a part of their regular diet. It is a highly digestible food assimilated like any other fresh food. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor and the clean, wholesome taste it leaves in your mouth.

Eat Fleischmann's Yeast before or between meals—from two to three cakes a day. Only one precaution: if troubled with gas dissolve yeast first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. You will like Fleischmann's Yeast spread on toast or crackers, dissolved in milk or fruit-juices, or just plain. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast and get it fresh daily.

Send 4 cents in stamps for the interesting booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York, N. Y.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down condition, constipation, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamins preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamins, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS.

The Journal feels that some progress is being made. Judge Hickey, of the District Court, in dismissing the contempt proceedings instituted by J. M. Reynolds against the publisher of the Journal, held that such proceedings are criminal in their nature and can not be begun by private parties. He held that they must be instituted in the name of the state and prosecuted by the district attorney or the attorney general.

By this decision Judge Hickey has established the rule that newspapers can not be held in contempt at the whim of private individuals, but that the gravity of the offense must be sufficiently great that it appeals to the proper officials of the state as a matter needing investigation through a formal charge brought by the duly elected representatives of the people and in the name of the people.

This decision does not confer upon newspapers any license to attack the dignity of the courts, but does afford them protection against frivolous charges, brought by individuals in order to vex and burden the papers. It deprives individuals of the power to intimidate newspapers by a threat of contempt proceedings. Yet it provides an adequate remedy in the event of an actual contempt.

WELCOME TO ALBUQUERQUE!

The Journal wishes to deny emphatically that the attitude of Mr. George Roslington toward the healthseekers in our midst is in any sense the attitude of the community generally. Mr. Roslington opened his mouth and put his foot in it when he indulged in such comments.

Not only are the revenues brought here by sick people one of our chief sources of prosperity, but two-thirds of Mr. Roslington's "red blooded, two-lunged" people came here with sick members of their family. Such is true of the writer, who professes to be "red-blooded and two-lunged." We understand such was the case with Mr. Roslington, also.

The greatest product Albuquerque has to sell is climate. It costs nothing to produce it. Its consumption by sick folks produces hundreds of thousands of dollars per year.

Sick people are welcome to come to Albuquerque. They are invited to come. We want them; we need them.

Many of these sick people of today will be the well of tomorrow, becoming the driving force in a community which they dare not leave. Many of our most useful men and women of today were sick folks yesterday.

Let us be sensible, fair and decently polite toward our guests.

This is said without disparagement of Mr. Roslington's main contention that we need red commercial and industrial blood.

MAIN STREET ABROAD.

Like certain species of moths, best sellers in fiction are notoriously short-lived. With an appetite whetted by display cards and other publicity devices known only to book publishers and dealers, the reading public pounces upon the best seller on the first day of its appearance, and for a month or two nothing will satisfy it but this one book.

The best seller in fiction which will hold its place at the head of the list for six or eight months is a rare book. In unmanly fashion these widely read books are always crowding each other out of first place. Last come, sold first, is the slogan in the world of best sellers. If the best seller is of the lightest sort of fiction, it often fares worse than those which carry a more serious message. Then it is sold with a rush the first few weeks of its life, and its sales show a quick falling off as soon as a competitor appears.

But even the fact that it is a book with a serious message can hardly account for the perseverance with which Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street" has clung to first place. Today, almost a year after its first appearance, it is still one of the six books in greatest demand at the book stores, and public libraries throughout the country report even now that no other book of fiction is more widely asked for.

Not many of our best sellers in fiction go abroad to foreign markets. They are too short-lived for that. It was reasonable to suppose that Canada should want to see our Main Street. But when England exhausts three editions; when the Swedes have it translated so that they may read it; and when other European countries are asking for translations, it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that our middle western America has produced a piece of literary art of distinct merit.

THOSE WHO CAN'T READ.

If what we have learned from investigations carried on during and since the war comes anywhere near the truth, the problem of illiteracy goes somewhat deeper than we had supposed. We had thought that all we had to do to stamp out illiteracy was to make sure that every child received a primary school education.

But it seems that if that is not a positive guarantee against illiteracy, it may sound somewhat incredible, but among educators who have scanned closely the mental tests which were given our soldiers the opinion seems to be growing that people can forget to read. Some of our so-called illiteracy is to be laid at the door of lack of occasion and inducement for reading. The school, it is maintained, might put all its resources to work to teach individuals to read fairly well, but still if by chance any of these individuals leave school at an early enough age, they could forget what they had learned.

As a matter of fact, a great many children leave school at an age before reading has become a habit with them. No doubt a goodly share of these unfortunate eventually lead lives in which the ability to read is fostered because of necessity. But there still remains an alarmingly large number to whom this good fortune does not come. Despite the fact that thousands of tons of printed matter are sent from the presses of the country every day, these persons find neither occasion nor inducement to look at printed pages. We might blame the offending individuals for being too shiftless to take advantage of opportunities easily within their reach. But even this would not remedy the matter; it would not teach them to read. The fact remains that if we are to carry on a successful campaign against illiteracy, we must employ methods which will get at this large number of individuals. It is said that these people number millions. Would it not be worth while to investigate what manner of life these people lead for whom the printed page is unintelligible?

"A SCRAP OF PAPER."

Great Britain has at last discovered that its trade agreement with soviet Russia is nothing but "a scrap of paper." So much is admitted by the chancellor of the exchequer, who says it is worthless because Russia has nothing to trade. Thus the dual purpose of the compact is defeated for it is understood to have been a part of the treaty that the soviet should cease its propaganda in the British possessions. The latter in fact was the prime motive of the British in entering into the agreement. The soviet exhibited its unreliability in flaunting the terms as to propaganda and thus the British find themselves disappointed in both parts of agreement.

Yet, have the British any cause to feel disappointed? When one treats with criminals one is cradulous unless one expects to get the worst of the deal. The British had the means of knowing the characters of the Russian authorities and if they hoped for something to their advantage they certainly had sublime faith. Now they realize the emptiness of that from which they expected much. Until Russia installs a government that can be trusted, it is better for the world to hold aloof and let the bolshevik stew in the mess they have brewed. This does not include refusal to relieve the starving but anyone who trades on the foundation of bolshevik honor will regret it, if it is the hope that honor will be found there.

However, when it comes to Lenin and Trotsky, Russia has its stomach full.

VERSE OF TODAY

SUNK LYONESSE.

In sea-cold Lyonesse,
When the Sabbath eve shafts down
On the roofs, walls, beffries
Of the founded town,
The Nerxids pluck their lyres
Where the green transparency beats,
And, with motionless eyes at gaze,
Make minstrelsy in the streets.

The ocean water: stirr
In salt-worn casements and porch,
Piles the blunt-nosed fish
With fire in his skull for torch.
And the unearthly lovely weep
In lament of the music they make
In the sullen courts of sleep.

Whose marble flowers bloom for aye,
And, lapped by the moon-gold tide,
Mock their carver with heart of stone,
Caged in his stone-ribbed side,
—Valter de la Mare in the Century.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

FAME'S CHOSEN.

(From the Cincinnati Enquirer.)
From Chalons-sur-Marne, in France, to memorized Arlington, where rest the nation's great, comes the body of an unknown American soldier for sepulture.

At these obsequies will attend the chosen ruler of the republic, the high dignitaries of state, the representatives of the great powers to do honor to one whose name forever must be hidden. What a destiny! How inspiring to the youth of the nation who, in future years, may stand by the grave of the Unknown! The mother of this hero, who died in the cause of humanity, never may know that it is her son who lies there, who was entombed with honors such as only are accorded to those whose deeds have won them a lasting place in the hearts of millions. But every mother in America will know that the sleeper there is even as her own son, a type of the republic's virtues and patriotism.

Forever unknown, and yet immortal! He may be officer or private. He may have come from the rugged north shores of the Atlantic or from the golden California clime, from a farm in Kansas or from the woodlands of Oregon, from the ranks of the strugglers or the environments of opulence. It matters not whence he came, he belongs to America and to fame. No man may know the story of his passing, whether it was in the hell of the Argonne, in some wild charge on the Marne, under the walls of St. Mihiel or in some lonely shell-shattered trench. But all men will know that he died for America, for liberty, for civilization, for humanity. He represents all that heroism, devotion, loyalty and sacrifice may mean. With his comrades he will rest through the endless years. Great in death as he was great in duty to the uttermost, his tomb will be a shrine upon which generations will place the bays of reverent appreciations, the flowers of grateful memory.

EASY JOBS.

I see the farmer milk a cow, and I remark, "Beshrew it, there is no trick to that, I swear, and anyone could do it." But when I try to do the stunt my kinks so slow and halting, the cow kicks in my Mare-like front and leaves me some-saulting. I see the blacksmith shoe a mule, and you may hear me twitter, "Give me the proper sort of tool, and I could shoe that critter." And when the blacksmith says, "Just try!" I take his smithy roof I fly and raise a doleful clamor. I see the artist paint a fence, and mutter to my neighbor, "Oh, any man of common sense could do that sort of labor." But when I get myself a brush, and paint my cottage porch, the neighbors to my gateway rush, and whoop and fear and chortle. "Your artwork gives my nerves the jumps," observes the village weaver; "it looks like jaundice and the mumps mixed up with scarlet fever." I watch the poet work his harp, his timbre and his whistle, and I observe, "The poet sharp requires less brains than gristle; give me a lyre and I will show that making song is easy;" but when some odes I deftly throw, the critics say they're cheezy. I look down from my empty loft upon the toilers under, and all the other jobs look soft, and mine seems hard as thunder.

"Nurse Jane answer I, 'But I am in a deal of trouble, too.' 'What about?' asked the bunny rabbit. 'Well,' went on the muskrat lady food keeper, 'the chili sauce is about done, and I want to pour it into jars to cool. But I also want to go over and call on Mrs. Littlebit, the rabbit lady. She wants me to show her how to make chili sauce like mine.' 'She couldn't want a better kind,' chuckled the bunny, 'for I never smelled any chili sauce so good. So toddle along, Janie. I'll pour my chili sauce into jars for you.' 'That will be very kind,' said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. 'But be careful not to burn yourself, as the sauce is quite warm, from having cooked on the stove.' 'Uncle Wiggly said he'd be careful. So when Nurse Jane had tied her tail in a pink ribbon bow, and had hopped over to the rabbit lady's house, Uncle Wiggly began to pour the chili sauce from the kettle into the different jars, where it was kept all winter. Sugar and spices and everything nice had Nurse Jane put into this chili sauce, and when it was cool in the jars, which were ready to have the tops screwed on, Uncle Wiggly took just a little taste of the sauce. 'Wow!' he exclaimed, as he felt it on his tongue. 'It is very hot, though they call it by the cold name of chili sauce! And it isn't hot from the fire, either. It is hot because it has vinegar, mustard, red pepper and horseradish in it. But a little is all right.' Uncle Wiggly drank some cool water to make his tongue feel better and then he sat down to wait for Nurse Jane to come back home. Soon there was a patter of feet on the steps, and the bunny jumped up crying: 'Come in and see the chili sauce!' 'That's just what I'm going to do, my rabbit friend!' growled a savage voice. 'And there, in the door, stood the Bushy Bear. 'Did you invite me in?' growled the bear. 'I-I thought you were Nurse Jane!' stammered the bunny. 'Well, no matter, you asked me to come in, and here I am!' roared the bad chap. 'I'm not saying I wouldn't have come in anyway, but here I am, and I must nibble your ears!'

"Oh, please don't!" begged the rabbit, unse. 'Yes, I shall, too!' howled the shaggy fellow. 'And I also heard you say something about seeing the chili sauce,' went on the bushy beast. 'Is that it?' and he pointed to the jars filled with red tomato juice—and other things. 'That's chili sauce,' sadly said the bunny. 'Just what I want,' the bear said. 'I have on my winter coat of fur, and it's a bit warm today, so a little chili sauce will cool me off. I'll take a can!'

He raised a jar to his mouth. 'Hold on! Wait!' cried Uncle Wiggly. 'That is CALLED chili sauce, to be sure, BUT—' 'Never mind butting!' impatiently interrupted the bear. 'That's very well for you. I know what this chili sauce is. I'll take some to cool my mouth!'

With that he drank a lot of the new chili sauce. But, though it was no longer hot from the fire, it was hot with mustard, cloves, cinnamon and red pepper. 'Oh, wow! Oh, trolley cars! Oh, trolley cars!' howled the bear. 'My mouth is on fire! Oh, water! Water!' and, dropping the jar, out of the bungalow he ran, not hurting Uncle Wiggly at all. 'Well, it's a good thing chili sauce is spicy and hot!' laughed the bunny as Nurse Jane came back. And if the mud puddle doesn't try to come in the house and go to sleep in the middle of the clean tablecloth, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the acorns.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK.

By Lee Pope

Today in school Miss Kitty red us some fables, saying, 'So now the 2 main points to remember about fables are 1st that they always deal with animals who possess the power of speech and 2nd that they always prove something, or in other words, they have a moral. Now I want everybody to make up a fable, and remember, it must have a moral,

such as He who laughs last laughs best, or It is a long lane that has no turning, or something of that nature.

And she started to mark papers at her desk and after about a half a hour she said, 'Well, who has a fable finished?'

Wich Leroy Shooster waved

his hand and Miss Kitty said,

'Very good, Leroy, read it aloud to the class, please.'

Wich Leroy Shooster did, reading, 'Once there was a camel and a flea, and the flea said, 'Hay, camel, if you leave me jump over you I'll leave you jump over me.

And the camel said, 'All right, that's a go. And he bent his humps down and the flea jumped over him and then he started to jump over the flea but the flea was hoping to meet the hand, laughing, 'Ha ha ha you got to catch me first. And the moral is, It's a grate life if you don't weaken.

The fable started most promising-ly, but I can't see how the moral has any connection, who else has a fable completed? said

Miss Kitty.

Wich Jimmy Egan waved his hand and got up and read his being. 'Once a lion was eating a load of hay, and a cow came up to him and said, 'Hay, you're not supposed to eat hay, you're a lion, hay! And the lion gave him a crack on the jaw and then he him up to prove he wasn't just fooling with him. And the moral is, wherever you see fire there must of bin some smook.

I approve of neither the fable nor the moral, and I mitio as well

add that a cow is never a him, who else has a fable? said Miss

Kitty. 'Wich nobody else had,

and Miss Kitty said, 'O well, we'll go on to the geography lesson, perhaps it's just as well.

Wich perhaps it was.

THE MARKETS

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Bullish sentiment began to appear in wheat today than for a considerable time. Some renewal of trans-

Atlantic buying of United States breadstuffs together with falling of receipts helped to raise wheat inward confidence. The finish, although unsettled, was 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c higher with December at

$1.04 1/2 to $1.04 3/4 and May $1.03 1/2 to $1.03 3/4. Corn gained 1/4c to 1/2c and oats 1/4c to 1/2c. Provisions varied from 17c decline to 5c advance.

With Holland reported as having purchased hard winter wheat at the Gulf of Mexico and with Sweden said to have taken a liberal amount of rye, wheat moved upward steadily, subject only to moderate occasional setbacks. Gossip was current that Italy would be a buyer next week, and the market was unaffected by reports that an Italian firm was in financial difficulties. Country offerings proved small, and this circumstance when taken in connection with the much smaller receipts at all points was deemed of especial significance in some quarters.

Much attention also was given to complaints from the southwest that prolonged dry weather was injuring the outlook for the winter crop.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. Exporters appeared to be after corn as well as wheat and rye.

Acute weakness in the hog market carried lard and ribs down to the lowest quotation this season.

Later, however, the provision market showed something of a rally

owing to the strength of grain.

Closing prices: Wheat—Dec., $1.04 1/2; May,

$1.03 1/2. Corn—Dec., 46 1/2c; May, 52 3/4c.

Oats—Dec., 32 1/2c; May, 37 1/2c.

Pork—Jan., $14.70.

Lard—Jan., $7.75; March, $8.90.

MAN WHO BROKE WINDOW TO GET IN JAIL HAPPY

F. M. White, who threw a rock through the State National bank window in the hope of obtaining free lodging from the city and county, is now happy. Judge W. W. McClellan handed him a thirty-five-day sentence yesterday morning. This is the maximum sentence which can be imposed for the offense.

With but 1 cent in his pocket, sick, tired and hungry, White became desperate a few days ago and deliberately threw a rock through the big plate glass window at the bank.

When asked by police why he had committed the outrage, he replied that he wanted to get into jail.

Psychologists in the city have had a number of lively discussions regarding White. They have attempted to deduce the fundamental reason for the act. It appears now that there was but one deep reason—the man was hungry. And he will have Thanksgiving dinner at the jail. He smiled yesterday when reminded of this fact.

The birds-nests from which the far-famed Chinese soup is made are built by a species of swallow that abounds on the coasts of Java, Ceylon, and Borneo, and consist of a gelatinous substance obtained from marine plants.

SICK SOLDIERS TO TAKE PART IN THE PARADE

All Invited to Occupy Autos in Line of March on Armistice Day; Committee Needs More Automobiles

Forty-five convalescent soldiers in local hospitals voted strong yesterday for taking part in the Armistice day parade. Frank Mindlin, of the Armistice day arrangements committee, made a canvass of the hospitals in the city and found many of the boys anxious to be in the line of march.

Automobiles will be ready to take the boys in the parade and all other convalescent soldiers who would like to participate in the celebration are urged to notify members of the committee, which will see to it that the boys have a place in the line and that they are called for at their homes and brought back by auto after the celebration.

Those desiring to take part in the program should call Mr. Mindlin, telephone number 452, or Mrs. J. H. Riehl, telephone number 2183-R. Although there are a number of automobiles already promised for the use of the sick and convalescent soldiers, a few more will be needed and any person who can put his automobile at the convenience of the committee for this particular use, is urged to notify Mr. Mindlin at once.

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS DOINGS

Upon petition of the residents and property owners living east of the city limits, including the University of New Mexico campus and the entire University Heights Addition, the board of county commissioners enacted an order forbidding loose animals of any kind including chickens from running at large within that district. As soon as the district is posted the law will become effective and residents are only required to telephone the sheriff's office and the stock will be taken up and the owner of the property fined. Residents of the Highlands will have to move to the Heights to get real municipal protection.

Dr. E. N. Wilson and family hope to be able to move into their new home on Vassar avenue this week.
