BODY OF U. S. UNKNOWN HERO ARRIVES HOME ON NOTED CRUISER OLYMPIA

gun forward barked the passing of another minute. Again the pipe above wailed as they stepped ashore. The unknown was again on American soil.

Slowly the flag draped casket moved down between the troops and marines and under the eyes of the bluejackets standing at the ship's rails. As they came abreast of the hand, the dirge was stilled, a marine bugler sounded four flourishes of salute to a general officer. Then the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" rang out.

Wail of Funeral March.

Again the slow march to the waiting gun carriage was taken up; again the wail of the funeral march cut through with the crash of the gun above, sounded. Beside the casket stood the eight body bearers of the army headed by Sergeant Woodfill, hero of heroes.

The soldiers took over the burden at the gun carriage and then could be seen a withered handful of flowers, the only decoration on the flag wrapped casket. They were the blooms with which this casket was chosen from others in France. They will go with the unknown to his last sleep at Arlington.

As the casket was strapped in place, an order rang out and the cavalry band swung off to the left playing "Onward Christian Soldiers." Behind them came the troops, four abreast. After the casket and following the band, were Secretaries Weeks and Denby, riding in a closed car, General Pershing and Admiral Cootz and behind these other officers.

Thousands of Citizens.

The horses swung away at a slow trot. Ahead the windows of the old gateway were lined with marines at present arms and behind them, row after row, were packed thousands of American citizens.

Out through the gateway the cortege clattered to find other crowds lining the way under the fading daylight. On it went, to swing at last into the great plaza before the capitol and there troops again drew up in line, facing the massive building with sabres at "present" as the casket was carried up the wide stairway to be placed on the catafalque in the dim rotunda. The army secretaries, bareheaded, followed and behind them the officers and the others.

The only lights were those high among the pillars and the last faint gleams of day through the high windows. The waiting guard which would stand through the night about the bier, stood at present arms as the casket was set in place on the high, black-draped structure.

There was a pause then until the ring of a command on the plaza, the flurry of drawn steel as the sabres of the cavalry leaped out to "present" to announce that President and Mrs. Harding had arrived.

Lights Hoop Up.

As the president and Mrs. Harding came into the chamber, brilliant lights leaped up. The cameras clicked. About the bier, guard stood with rifle butts grounded.

Mrs. Harding stepped forward, a wide white ribbon in her hand. She had stitched it herself and stepping on the base of the catafalque she laid it across the casket, a slash of white across the rain sodden flax with its withered cluster of French flowers.

As Mrs. Harding stepped down the president pinned to the ribbon a silver shield of the United States, set with forty-eight gold stars. It is symbolic of the heart of the nation.

Wreath of Roses.

Then a great wreath of crimson roses was handed Mr. Harding and he laid it on the casket near the head and gave place to Vice President Coolidge and Speaker Gillett, who laid the tribute of congress, a wreath of chrysanthemums and carnations. Secretary Weeks laid the army's token of remembrance, a wreath of white roses against the casket at the head, and Secretary Denby placed the navy's offering, chrysanthemums and roses, set on an easel at the foot of the casket. Over and to one side, next to the wall, was placed the great masses of pink blossoms that were warned to life by the sun of France.

Pershing Salutes.

Then General Pershing stepped forward to place his own tribute and that of the A. E. F. on the coffin. It was a wreath of giant pink chrysanthemums and as he placed it, the officer paused a moment then stepped back a pace or two and drawing his flure to its full height, lifted his hand to cap brim in rigid salute.

The only spectators were the few clustered in the doorway. The bright lights blazed for a few moments as the president and Mrs. Harding went out to receive again formal honors from the troops waiting below.

Then the unknown was left alone with his motionless guard of honor that was changed at frequent intervals, alone with his head eastward toward France. On either side of the doorway stands the statues of Lincoln and Grant as though they also kept vigil. And as lights were switched off the dim twilight of the few scattered hidden electric lights let the shadows fall over the bier, and fill the vast cavern of the dome above with a mystery and a peace that will not be broken until daylight of the morrow.

SAN FRANCISCO WOMAN ELECTED SUPERVISOR

(By The Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 9.—Complete returns from 485 out of 496 precincts in yesterday's municipal election disclosed today that Miss Margaret Mary Morgan, printing office manager and club woman, was named as county supervisor, the first woman to hold such an office in San Francisco.

"I understand I am the fifth woman to be elected a county supervisor in the United States," Miss Morgan said. "The people who put me up was a business administration and they are going to get it."

The election developed several surprises, chief of which was the defeat of three incumbent supervisors, Fred Hillmer, Charles A. Nelson and Fred S. Brown, and the naming of five new supervisors in the nine elected. These new supervisors are Angelo Rossi, who is leading the ticket, Frank H. Robb, John A. McGregor, former president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, Miss Morgan and possibly Frank H. Harris. James Power and Joseph Lahaney, incumbent supervisors, did not seek re-election. John A. Wetmore is less than 200 votes behind Harris and may crowd him out.

HARDING INSTRUMENT OF GOD IN CALLING ARMS LIMIT PARLEY

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 9 (by The Associated Press).—During an impressive memorial service held today at the Japanese embassy for Premier Hara, assassinated last Friday at Tokio, S. Yokota, who represents the Japanese cabinet, revealed that the eye of the nation was turned to the conference delegation from Japan, Mr. Hara expressed the conviction that President Harding in calling the conference was the instrument of God.

The premier was not known as a religious man, and Mr. Yokota explained he was deeply moved to bear his chief burst into a flood of religious emotion in discussing the Washington conference.

FAIR AND WILL PAY THE INTEREST ON U. S. DEBT

(By The Associated Press.)

London, Nov. 9 (by The Associated Press).—An arrangement has been made to begin paying the interest on the debt owed by Great Britain to the United States at the rate of $50,000,000 yearly, it was announced in the house of commons today by Sir Robert Horne, the chancellor of exchequer.

Sir Robert made this announcement in the course of a statement on the financial prospects. He added with emphasis:

"I hope this remark about the debt we owe America will not be made the occasion for any discussion of the inter-allied indebtedness. It does not conduce to the friendliness of the feeling between America and ourselves to discuss that matter at all at present."

The Beauty of Expectant Motherhood

The crown of womanhood is motherhood. But many women face the ordeal of maternity without sufficient preparation. At such times and later—the mother should take a vegetable tonic, sold by druggists and known in almost every home as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is put up in both fluid and tablet form. If you wish to give it a trial send your name and address to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., enclosing ten cents, and a trial package will be sent you. Thousands of women have testified as to its efficacy. Read the following:

San Antonio, Texas.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an excellent medicine for women in a run-down and weakened condition during and after expectancy to give them strength and to keep them in a good healthy condition. I took 'Favorite Prescription' before my youngest child came and it kept me in a strong, healthy state and my suffering was much less than at previous times. I also took it afterward and it did me all the good in the world. I have always thought well of Dr. Pierce's medicine and always recommend them."—MRS. S. LEE, 214 Reddie St.

PROPOSE CUT IN PAY OF PACKING HOUSE WORKERS

Four of the Leading Firms
Ask Their Employees to Consider a Reduction to Be Made in Near Future.

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 9 (by The Associated Press).—A general cut in wages of packing house workers was forecast today when four of the big five packers—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Wilson & Co. and the Cudahy Packing company—requested their employees to consider a reduction in pay to be made effective in the near future. No definite amount was mentioned, and officials said their conferences had not determined the size of the reduction to be sought.

Morris & Co., the only one of the big five which has not established employees' councils, is expected to make any reduction which the others may agree on.

The Amalgamated Association of Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of North America recently took a strike vote in which a substantial majority authorized Cornelius Hayes, international president, to order a walkout if he was unable to reach a satisfactory agreement with the packers.

Closed Shop Not Recognized.

The big five claim, however, that only a small portion of their men are union members and that a strike would not seriously affect their plants. The closed shop has never been recognized in the industry.

The strike vote followed termination of the period of federal arbitration, established during the war with Judge Samuel Alchuler as arbitrator. The packers, having refused to renew the agreement.

"The packers action is no surprise to us," Cornelius Hayes, international president of the union, said when told of today's announcement, "and the packers are going to cut wages regardless of what the plant assemblies decide."

Presidents to Meet.

Hayes announced district presidents from all packing houses centers in the country will meet next week to consider what action shall be taken under the strike authorization recently voted.

The present scale of wages in the industry ranges from 45 cents an hour for common labor—which includes 50 per cent of all men employed—to a maximum of 80 cents for the highly skilled floormen. Semi-skilled trades range from 45 to 55 cents; killers from 62 to 65 cents, and hide removers from 70 to 75 cents a hour.

Arguments of the packers for a wage reduction at this time were presented by Louis F. Swift, president of Swift and company, in a letter today to the members of the various plant assemblies.

"We regret that we must at this time ask you to present an unpopular subject to your workmen through your assembly," Mr. Swift wrote, "but trust that the members of your organization realize that we want them to suffer as little hardship as possible from the hard times that have befallen the company."

Need of Reduction.

"It is only because of the greatest necessity that we bring up the need of a further substantial reduction in expenses so that we can meet the competition of other concerns operating on much lower labor costs. We have been doing all that we can in this direction, but unfortunately wages form such a large part of our expenses, that we are unable to do so. We consider an early reduction of wage rates."

"If investors would be unwilling to put their money into the packing business, we should have no plant operations, causing more unemployment, and thereby injure our workmen, ourselves and the general public."

"We have a very heavy obligation to our 40,000 shareholders, among whom are 21,000 of our own workmen."

"It is also a well known fact that the wages in other industries have fallen faster than wages in the packing industries, and I believe that every one in our organization realizes that the only questions today are:

"1.—How much wages will have to be reduced?

"2.—How soon is the reduction to be made?"

"We have held off on this matter as long as we possibly can—but having established a system of cooperation through plant assemblies, we want to feel that we can consult with our workmen through these assemblies on every vital matter that concerns them. For this reason we have not taken action before."

Wages Costs Increased.

"Swift and company's labor costs per hundred weight in 1919 was 46 cents, in 1921 it is $1. Live-stock had dropped in price almost to pre-war levels; prices of materials also have fallen, yet the difference between the cost of raw materials and the selling price of our products have broadened."

Bureau of labor statistics for July show that the average weekly earnings of 13 industries in the country are less than the weekly earnings of Swift and company employees. Swift workers averaged $5.70 more per week than workers in steel and $6.70 more than those in the cotton industry."

At present the packing plants are working with reduced forces. One company which normally employs 100,000 men has 25,000 now.

The proposed cut would affect all of the principal packing centers outside of Chicago, as well as the big five plants here, including Sioux City, Ia.; Kansas City, Okla.; Omaha City, Neb.; St. Joseph, Mo.

ACQUIT COLORADO MAN ON CHARGE OF MURDER

(By The Associated Press.)

Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 9.—Benjamin Chino, on trial in district court in Elbert county charged with the murder of J. C. Aylesworth, a business associate, was acquitted today at Elbert. In the verdict, the jury, which was out two hours, expressed the belief that the shooting was accidental. Aylesworth was killed last January after a quarrel over property owned jointly.

The skin of a valuable species of white deer which were in the royal parks was at one time utilized as money by the Chinese government.

RESULTS OF THE ELECTION BRING JOY TO TAMMANY

Chiefs Celebrate Tuesday's Victory; Hylan Wins
Mayoralty Race By 417,- 986 Votes Over Curran.

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 9.—Tammany chiefs tonight were celebrating the results of yesterday's election which promised unchallenged control of the city's government after January first.

In the greatest republican rout experienced here, Mayor Hylan was re-elected as was every one of his running mates on the democratic ticket. He had a plurality of 417,986 over his coalitionist opponent, Henry H. Curran.

Ninety-three per cent of the 1,284,464 voters registered voted—a turnout which observers declared was the heaviest in New York's history.

Townsend Scudder, democrat, carried the city by 261,975 over W. S. Andrews of Syracuse for judge of the court of appeals.

A feature of the election was the small vote of the socialists, about 50,000 less than given Morris Hillquit when he ran for mayor four years ago. Jacob Fanken, the party's candidate, received, $3,303 votes.

An exception to the general democratic sweep was in the second judicial district, where District Attorney H. E. Lewis, republican, was elected to the supreme court bench.

one side. But I shall say nothing that would make it difficult for us to arrive at an agreement. There are three parties to the conference, all with their own susceptibilities.

Must Give and Take.

"Success depends on the extent you can reconcile and accommodate those differences of temperament, of traditions and of interests. Do that and all parties must be prepared to give and take."

He emphasized the necessity of peace, saying it was needed for the welfare of the empire as well as for the good relations of the British Isles. The worst aspect of a family quarrel, he added, was not only that it caused unhappiness within the family, but attracted attention of the neighbors.

Declaring there could be no peace and that a great opportunity would be lost if each party approached the tangled problem determined not to budge an inch.

"We who are in the conference in behalf of the British government and people regard ourselves there as the trustees of the empire, and of its honor and its security. It is a high trust; we promise you we will not betray it."

ply one-third of the future paper requirements of the United States. W. P. Greeley, chief of the federal forestry service, told the committee.

Government forests contain 100,000,000 cords of pulp wood, sufficient to furnish about 2,000,000 cords annually without diminishing reserves, he said.

The federal forests contain, he estimated, 75,000,000,000 feet of merchantable timber, about 60 per cent being in the hands of private spruce of the remainder cottonwood and cedar.

Paper Industry.

The government has made two large sales of timber for paper manufacture and its present forest are a number of large interests considering developing the paper industry in the territory, he said.

He asserted that consolidation of his bureau work with other activities of the federal government for efficiency or economy.

MEMORIAL SERVICES ARE HELD FOR HARA

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 9.—Memorial services for Premier Hara, assassinated Friday in Tokio, were held today at the Japanese embassy by the Japanese gathered here for the armament conference.

Honors to the slain premier was paid by Baron Shidehara, the ambassador; Admiral Baron Kato, one of the chief delegates to the armament conference, and S. Yokota, chief of the legislative bureau of the Japanese cabinet, who is here as a personal representative of the premier. With bowed heads all spoke reverent words, dwelling upon the loss to the empire of the leader who had devoted all his efforts to the prosperity of his people, and had prepared the policy of conciliation and accommodation which Japan has announced as her attitude for the conference.

CLERGYMEN WORK A DAY IN BUILDING TRADES

(By The Associated Press.)

Boston, Mass., Nov. 9.—Seven clergymen today went to work in the building trades. It was a one-day job, the result of an invitation by the Central Labor union in return for the clergymen's courtesy in asking labor leaders to speak from their pulpits.

In a pelted rain Rev. Harry Freda drove a cement wagon, Rev. N. C. Petter and Rev. C. A. Young worked as laborers on the new municipal Latin school; Rev. Frank Kinkdon and Rev. P. D. Parker applied brooms on a Winter street building, and Rev. F. S. Stephenson and Rev. A. Smith did odd jobs on other buildings.

CHASE FOR GOLD WILL RESULT IN WARS, IS CLAIM

Soviet Premier Predicts Conflicts Between U. S. and Japan or U. S. and England by 1925 or 1928

(By The Associated Press.)

Moscow, Nov. 7 (by The Associated Press).—Nikolai Lenin, soviet Russian premier, made the fourth anniversary of the soviet republic today the occasion of an article in an anniversary number issued by the Pravda, in which he predicted the world chaos for gold will result in wars between America and Japan or America and England by 1925 or 1928.

The article is entitled "The Value of Gold Now and After the Victory of Socialism." He says that the soviet government has merely retreated in the attack on world capitalism, and is strengthening its position.

These attacks, he predicts will, after twenty years or so enable Russian communists to achieve an economic victory which will make it possible to employ all the gold that exists in the building of public structures that will demonstrate how foolish it was to kill 20,000,000 men in the world war for the sake of gold, and how foolish are capitalist powers who are planning wars over gold such as those he predicts.

HIGH PRICE OF MEAT DISCUSSED AT KANSAS CITY

Finished Product Sells for Twice as Much as the Farmer or Cattle Grower Gets, It Is Charged.

(By The Associated Press.)
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9.—Why the finished product of farm and cattle range costs the consumer more than twice as much as the farmer or cattle grower gets for his product, was discussed today at a conference held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The figures were supplied by J. N. Van Der Vries, Chicago, general western manager of the chamber. He said statistics gathered by the chamber showed that the farmer and livestock raiser received about 35 per cent of the amount the consumer paid for farm products.

Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, said that 50 per cent of the amount the packers received for all meat products went to the livestock raiser, leaving a gross margin of 11 per cent to the packers.

Vernon Campbell of San Jose, Calif., who was active in building co-operative marketing organizations among fruit growers of the Pacific coast, discussed retailing and jobbing problems.

"Ten years ago," he said, "we had one grocery store for every thousand consumers. Now statistics show that there are too many stores for every 250 people. It makes necessary much more efficient methods by the retail grocer, or he must make a larger margin of profit, if he is to survive."

He said that the experience of the fruit growers had been that much unnecessary cost of distribution was due to the fact that jobbing centers were too few and too widely distributed. He suggested that greater diffusion of wholesale establishments dealing direct with the retailer, would eliminate much unnecessary jobbing cost.

J. N. Van Der Vries, general western manager for the chamber, said that the conference was making an honest effort to find out some of the things that are wrong with the present system of distribution, with a view to eliminating unnecessary costs and improving the system.

"I heard so much about this Garren's Tonic," I decided to try it for my run down condition. I wish it had been sold long before, for it would have saved me many a restless night besides a great deal of money spent on other remedies in an effort to get back the energy and strength I used to have. This is what Mr. Orm Looper who lives at 1736 Humboldt St., this city says about the wonderful new product known as Garren's Tonic.

"For the past six months," continued Mr. Looper, "my system was run down and my head out of order. I lost my appetite and got no nutrition from what little I ate, consequently I felt weak and languid all the time, besides I was restless and nervous at night and would roll and toss until I wore myself out. I also suffered from gas and bloating and would almost go frantic with headaches. I spent a great deal of money on medicines, but it was useless for I derived no benefit from anything I took. Garren's Tonic put me back on my feet—it has given me a new lease on life. I just can't describe how good I feel—light and full of ambition; sleep like a top all night and my nerves are as steady as a monument. I am entirely relieved of dizziness and headaches and have gained five pounds. I am surprised at the remarkable results obtained from Garren's Tonic and feel it my duty to let the public know about my experience with this wonderful tonic. I wouldn't take any amount of money for what it has done for me."

Garren's Tonic is sold in Albuquerque by Alvarado Pharmacy—Adv.

EXPECT WILSON AT FUNERAL OF YANKEE FRIDAY

Former President Probably Will Ride in a Horse Drawn Carriage; Harding and Pershing Will Walk.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 9.—Former President Wilson probably will ride in a horse-drawn carriage among the mourners including President Harding, who will follow the coffin of America's unknown soldier on Friday when it is borne from the capitol on its way to Arlington. The order of the funeral parade made public today at the war department showed the space set aside for Mr. Wilson and that he intends to use a carriage.

President Harding and General Pershing will immediately follow the casket, walking abreast and with their aides in single file on either side.

Vice President Coolidge will follow the president at ten yards and Admiral Coad, chief of naval operations, will walk at a similar interval behind General Pershing. Their aides also will walk on the flanks, while behind will come Admiral Jones, commanding the Atlantic fleet, and Chief Justice Taft walking abreast.

Behind them will be former President Wilson's carriage, next Lieutenant General Miles and Young walking in line with members of the supreme court, then the cabinet walking five abreast in two ranks and with General Bliss on one side of the first rank and Admiral Williams on the other. Then will follow governors, the president pro tem of the senate, Major General Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps, and after them the senate members in column, eight abreast, followed by members of the house.

Behind will come various war veterans' organizations headed by the men who hold the congressional medal of honor and followed by representatives of patriotic societies and others.

100 GIRLS TO BESIEGE CITY FOR RED CROSS

Captains Announced for 10 Teams Which Will Tag Automobiles and Take the Annual Roll Call.

An advance squad of one hundred—count them, ONE HUNDRED—pretty girls will tag your automobile and get you Red Cross membership for 1922 on Armistice day in the morning.

Miss Anna Ferguson at the head of the armistice day committee announces the final plans that have up to date remained a deep and dark secret. More than one hundred young ladies from the university, the sororities, the high school, down town organizations and clubs of all kinds commanded by sixteen captains, take charge of the Red Cross Armistice day roll call program.

Uniformed, with the insignia of the order on their hats, shoulder straps and money bags, and with the Red Cross emblem in flag form, these one hundred ladies will be turned loose on Albuquerque at 8 o'clock, Armistice day, with instructions to see that not one automobile goes untagged that day, that a good American dollar is extracted in every case, and that every man, woman and child takes out membership for the coming year to sustain the activities of the local chapter, in home service, public nursing and other work.

These girls will work by districts over the city on Friday, from 8 to 10 o'clock. At the hour of 10, districts and their limitations will be forgotten and the solicitors will be turned loose down town on the pavement and let the ladies stick the Red Cross on their wind shield. She will do it some time that day, anyway. More than $5,000 is to be raised in this campaign to support local activities solely and these girls expect to make a big dent in this budget on Armistice day.

The following are the captains who will have charge of their respective teams of from five to ten young ladies: Misses Carlissa Parsons, Grace Borradale, Margaret Bunn, Josephine Milner, Grace Stortz, Virginia Carr, Margaret McCann, Daphne Cobb, Fay Boyd, Mary Jardine, Mary Lou McGuire, Violet Jahn, Mary Sands, Mrs. Roy Graham, Mrs. Arthur Sisk, Mrs. E. T. Lassiter and Mrs. Morgan.

SUCCESSOR TO HARA HAS NOT BEEN CHOSEN

(By The Associated Press.)
Tokio, Nov. 9.—The problem of a successor to the pre-eminence remained uncertain today largely because of the continued refusal of Marquis Saloni, pleading age and ill health, to consider acceptance of the post, which the Asahi Shimbun says he persisted in during a conference with Prince Yamagata, an elder statesman.

As an alternative, Marquis Saloni was asked to suggest some other persons whom he considered qualified, but it is not known if he made any recommendation and both the Asahi Shimbun and the Kokumin Shimbun consider there is still a chance for him reconsidering.

JUDGEMENT FOR OPTIC REVERSED BY COURT

(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal)
Santa Fe, Nov. 9.—The $2,343 judgment for the Optic, Las Vegas, granted by the district court in San Miguel county by consent of the assistant district attorney and which the court, upon the district attorney's motion, refused to set aside, was reversed by supreme court today.

The judgment was for printing and supplies. The claim was allowed by the county but not paid because of lack of funds.

In handing down the opinion, the supreme court held chapter 109, laws of 1905, does not repeal the Bateman act.

RESTITUTION OF LAND IN MEXICO OBREGON'S PLAN

Between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 Acres Will Be Returned to Small Holders Soon as Possible.

(By The Associated Press.)
San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 9.—Restoration of between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 acres of land to small holders and farmers, as well as an extensive campaign in modern agricultural methods, is being pushed by the Mexican department of agriculture under the direction of President Alvaro Obregon, according to Senor S. R. de la Vega, assistant secretary of agriculture, now in San Antonio.

"One of the greatest difficulties that has attended the real development of Mexico," said Senor de la Vega, "has been the existence of enormous landed estate and the absence of a small hard-working, prosperous farming class. The government is taking vigorous and far reaching methods to draw away from this situation. Of course it will take time, but the progress already made is encouraging. The upbuilding of such a small land holding class would be one of the greatest assets Mexico could have."

Scouting Soil Conditions.
Senor de la Vega said that the agrarian commission, which is a branch of the department of agriculture, is making a careful study of the soil conditions in Mexico, and studying their best development from the viewpoint of modern agriculture. One of the objects of Senor de la Vega's visit to the United States is to study the methods used in this country.

The government is rapidly restoring small estates to farmers. This is a difficult task but not as complicated as it seems, according to Mr. de la Vega. Many of the titles of huge estates are defective because of the methods through which they were acquired, he said, and in some cases the big holders simply seized the lands in question through the aid of more or less irresponsible military bands.

One reason for the internal troubles which have been so frequent in Mexico in recent years, Senor de la Vega said, is that there were hundreds of thousands of peasants who should normally have been small land owners but who, having been deprived of their land, had little real interest in the progress of the government and were ready to fight for anyone who would furnish them with food, a little clothing, a few rounds of ammunition and an opportunity for occasional loot. By creating small land owners, the government would be ready to fight for anyone who would furnish them with food, a little clothing, a few rounds of ammunition and an opportunity for occasional loot.

By creating small land owners, the government would be ready to fight for anyone who would furnish them with food, a little clothing, a few rounds of ammunition and an opportunity for occasional loot.

Ignorance of the People.
"One of the greatest difficulties we have to face," said Senor de la Vega, "is in the ignorance of the class who normally should be small land owners. The department of agriculture is establishing throughout the country schools similar to the agricultural and mechanical colleges in the United States. It is a long, difficult task. Ignorance and indifference that have grown up through slow centuries are not removed in a day. Nevertheless it is wonderful what progress we have made and the interest the class we are trying to reach takes in this phase of agricultural development.

In addition to development and educational work, the Mexican government is purchasing large and increasing amount of modern agricultural machinery from the United States to be used in cultivation of the land, Senor de la Vega said.

Trade Is Increasing.
"The trade between the two countries is increasing," said Senor de la Vega, "and so are cordial relations. There should be a firm and lasting friendship between the republic of the north and the republic of the south and I am certain that it will be established on a firm basis in a short time."

"It is common to think of Mexico as a state exclusively rich in its mineral possessions. It is true that no other country of its extent has such a large possession of gold, silver and oil. But aside from this the soil of a large part of Mexico is extremely fertile and the climate is adapted for growing purposes. Our mines and oil wells up to date have been largely developed through foreign capital. Our agricultural development we hope to be able to carry on ourselves. This is the effort of the government. It is not an easy effort. Nevertheless, we will succeed."

STREET MARKETS ARE OPENED IN RUSSIA

Moscow, Nov. 9.—In cities the size of Petrograd and Moscow scores of street markets have lately been opened. Food is the drawing card. People who haven't money to buy white bread go to the markets to look at the tempting loaves, and they generally take something with them to sell or barter. They wander from market to market. It is the best way to meet one's friends and hear the news.

The wide streets and boulevards of Russian cities, and the great circles and squares afford ample space for markets which, however, cannot be confined to the market spaces of imperial days because of the lack of shops and the universal necessity for barter and sale.

The lime, which is a small kind of lemon, is medicinally one of the most valuable fruits in existence. It not only prevents scurvy, but, if taken in time, cures it; and it will also cure many forms of blood poisoning if taken in sufficient quantities.

TROWBRIDGE RECEIVES CALL TO ALBUQUERQUE

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)
Santa Fe, Nov. 9.—The Rev. Walter S. Trowbridge, rector of the Church of the Holy Faith, has received a call to become rector of St. John's cathedral, Albuquerque. He made the announcement from the pulpit Sunday. The church members immediately called a meeting and passed strong resolutions urging him to remain here. The Kiwanis club at its regular meeting Tuesday also voted unanimously "that it is the sense of the citizens of Santa Fe represented by the club that Santa Fe has the prior claim on him and cannot consent to his leaving under any circumstances."

Mr. Trowbridge in a little response thanked the club for its attitude and said that while he had the offer under consideration and had not fully made up his mind, he was more and more inclined to believe that he would not accept it, which statement elicited loud applause. It was a question, he said, of where he thought there was the greatest opportunity for service and he believed that in view of the vital things as yet unaccomplished in Santa Fe he rather wanted to stay and do what he could to bring them to pass, or words to that effect.

THE NEW GENERATION

By JANE PHELPS

JOAN HAS A NAIVE IDEA OF FATHERS.

CHAPTER 9.

That in many ways Joan was older than girls of her age usually are, goes without saying. The freedom given her, the liberty of action, the unencumbered mind all tended to make her appear older than she was. Margaret carefully scanned each book purchased, but naturally she could not do so with books Joan borrowed and read without showing her—because she feared interference, but simply because she did not think it worth while.

At times the girl astonished her mother by some remark that showed how thoroughly she digested what she read. Then she would follow it by her own ideas on the same subject—ideas showing originality to say the least. It was at times they were startingly different from those of a girl of her age usually had.

As Joan grew older Margaret at times anxiously wondered how far the child would go in her extreme ideas of men, women and society. She hated to have her an extremist while she admired her originality. So in order to combat this inclination, she carefully excluded from her library anything that might increase exaggerated ideas of these subjects. Mrs. Thompson said:

"I cannot understand how Mrs. Hayden, so ultra-conventional herself, can allow Joan such freedom."

Joan never seemed to note this disparity in her mother. She never camouflaged her talk in the least. At times Margaret had all she could do to control her features, not to look the amaze-ment she felt at Joan's frankness.

Then one day Gloria Freeman, who was spending Saturday afternoon with Joan, gave her another new cause for not really anxiety, but wonder as to how Joan would approach the new problem of sex.

"Joan is the only girl the boys look at when she is around," Gloria declared. "We are all jealous of her."

"That isn't my fault," calmly Joan replied.

"What makes you think Joan more popular than the rest of you?" Margaret smiled at Gloria. Her question was casual, yet she was anxious for the reply.

"They like her best I guess because she says such different things. She is always saying bright things, and telling them stories of things she has read. I never read lots of the things she talks about. Mother won't let me. She says I am not old enough to understand them."

"Bosh!" Joan broke in. "People make me tired. I guess we understand more than they think we do. I'm glad I wasn't born when you were, Mumie. Mothers must have been so unknowing in those times. Perhaps fathers, too. I often wonder what fathers are really like. Of course, I know Gloria's father, and of course, and one or two others, but I only have a sort of how-do-do knowledge of them. Do fathers make much difference to a girl?"

"I guess we wouldn't have much money if it weren't for Dad," Gloria replied, shaking her head at Joan. "Fathers earn the money you know, Joan."

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established, the needs of the care of the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of a headache, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Elcher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month she had to be laid up. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books, and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says:

"When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would hear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or headache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2457 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been helping women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Allments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

KNITTED WEAR IS SMART FOR SPORTS

By ELOISE.

Knitted wear for sports costumes has been gaining in popularity during the past few seasons. Time was when the sweater and perhaps the mittens or gloves were the only knitted sports apparel. Dame Fashion smiled upon. Today, however, there may be seen in any fashionable wardrobe knitted frocks, suits, hose, hats and wraps. Millinery may wear an outfit entirely made up of knitted apparel if she so chooses.

Pictured here is a pretty sports costume which may be used for any out-of-door or motor wear. A cape of tan angora with a stole collar and large armholes finished in cuffs tops a pretty sports frock of brown silk jersey. The frock is a one-piece affair built on straight lines with tan stripes trimming the skirt and tan seed beads finishing the waist. A tan to match either the frock or cape may be had to complete the outfit.

Yestidday afternoon our class had a election to see who was the most popular fellow before school closes for the summer.

The election being between Reddy Merfy and Sid Hunt, and at lunch time me and Puds Simkins was waiting home talking about who we was going to vote for, me saying, This will be a grate chance to get even with Reddy Merfy all rite. I would vote for that guy if the world was coming to a end and I didnt have anybody else to vote for, that guy makes me sick, he thinks he owns the earth.

That's the way that he thinks, well he'll find out this afternoon all rite, sed Puds Simkins, jest because he can fite better than anybody else he thinks he can have waterter he wants, well jest let him wait and see, that's all I got to say, I would vote for that guy if I was starving to deth.

And we kept on talking about the different derty meen tricks Reddy Merfy had did us, and all of a sudden jest then somebody came up in back of us and put one arm around my shoulders and one arm around Puds's shoulders as if he thaut we was 2 of the greatest people in the world, and who was it but Reddy Merfy, sayin, Hello fellows, hello Benny, hello Puds, wats you 2 talking about so confidential?

O, nothing particular special, I sed, and Puds sed, O, nothing special particular, and Reddy Merfy sed, Well, wat ever it was I guess it was all rite because you 2 fellows certynly know a lot, you 2 fellows do, I certynly like you 2 fellows and always did, I got more if anybody gets fresh with either of you 2 fellows wv all you got to do is jest come and tell me and I'll nock their blocks off.

And he kept on wawking between us with his arms around our shoulders making us feel as if we was all rite, and after a wtle he sed, O by the way, I darn near forgot, the election for the most popular fellow is going to be this afternoon and if you 2 fellows havent got anything to do wv you mite as well vote for me, well, so long, fellows, so long, Benny, so long Puds, dont forget wat I told you about leaving me know in case anybody gets fresh with you.

And he took his arms down and gave us each a soft crack on the back and wawked away, me saying, Well coah, he aint such a bad guy after all, meah, Ill vote for him after all for all I know.

So will I, maybe, for all I know, sed Puds.

Proving everything depends.

SHOWING OFF.

My new green car was slick as grease, and yesterday I took my niece and neighbors three or five; and as we scorchd along the ways I pulled off sundry fancy plays, to show how I could drive. I drove so close to other cars that divers fenders bore the scars of this unseemly strife; I swung 'round corners on two wheels, and lauched to so close to the curb that I was who doled for life. But when a man acts like a boob there always is some other rube who'll beat him at his game; a reckless skate ran into me, and now my person may see all busted up and lame. My niece is nursing many wounds, and saying words like "Chee!" and "Zounds!" She even mutters "Pshaw!" The passengers who were my guests are planning for some drastic tests in the abode of law. I sit here in a plaster cast, and now I know full well, at last, that "Safety First" is wise; there is no sense in fancy tricks, endangering the lives of ficks and skatees and jakes and guys. There is no sense in running cars so they resemble shooting stars in their erratic course; there is no sense in pulling stunts, while traffic cops, with martial fronts, denounce you all they're hoarse. And when I leave my couch of pain and once again propel my wain among the surging crowds, I'll be so cautious men will say, "If everyone would drive that way, there'd be a slump in shrouds!"

COSMETIC GLOVES.

If it is just as well to be prepared at this time of the year with lotions to combat the drying effects of the winter winds. Most of us suffer during the winter from chapped hands, some of us in fact who do a great deal of manual labor suffer from chapped hands both winter and summer.

In any case where the skin has become quite dry and chapped the best treatment to give is to wear what are called cosmetic gloves. These are nothing but ordinary, old gloves coated inside with some special oily preparation. They should always be worn at night, the idea, of course, being that the skin can be coated with cosmetic for several hours and that the glove, while keeping the oil in contact with the skin, will also keep the bed linen free from grease stains.

To give the hands this treatment take an old pair of leather gloves, a couple of sizes too large, turn them inside out and cover the lining with cold cream or some special paste. Turn them back and put them on just before going to bed and immediately after you have washed the hands with soap and very hot water.

One well recommended cosmetic glove paste is made as follows: Refined Pine Tar, .1 teaspoonful Olive Oil, .1 pint This must be heated when mixed so that the pine tar is blended with the oil. It may be perfumed with a few drops of any perfumed oil you like. This is spread over the lining of the gloves. What remains on the skin is easily washed off the following morning.

L. M.: Hot, crude oil massaged into bald spots will often restore the growth of hair, unless there is a very shiny surface to the skin, in which case nothing will induce the growth again. This oil is much better than lanoline for the scalp.

L. E. D.: Consult the doctor about that lump in the front of your neck. It may be a goitre.

MME. YAJAMA AT 90 TYPICAL OF JAPAN

Mme. Keiji Yajama.

Mme. Keiji Yajama, the 90-year-old president of a girls' school in Tokyo, is in this country to present to the American people what she calls the "peace petition," signed by 10,200 women of Japan. It has been said that nowhere in the world are the women making such strides as in Japan, and Mme. Yajama herself is an illustration of the great advance that is being made by her countrywomen.

She was the first Japanese woman permitted by the Japanese government to teach and she has been president of the girls' school for forty years. For thirty-five years she has been president of the Y. W. C. A. of Japan. It was money presented to her by her school to provide luxuries for her old age which the madam decided to take for her journey to this country.

Mme. Yajama hopes by her visit to help cement peace between her own country and the United States and aid in bringing peace to the world. Through an interpreter, Mme. Yajama said:

"The Japanese women's anxiety in promoting peace shows, I think, their warmth of feeling toward the women of America. We are hearing constantly of the strained feeling shown toward Americans by the Japanese in Japan.

"I have heard people say that unfriendliness had been shown by the Japanese in Japan to Americans, but I personally have never seen it, and I have never seen any one who could say that they knew anything about it but the rumor. We have yellow papers in Japan as you have in America, which like to embellish sensational news and stir up the public to sell their papers. I do not believe they express the sentiments of the people of either country."

which could be cured easily now at this early stage.

Peggy K.: You should weigh 110 pounds. Your color will be all of those found in the autumn leaves.

J. M. P.: Your weight is correct. Join a gymnasium for the exercises to give height, as many of them require the special apparatus.

Muffie, Doty, Patty: Consult the doctor about the granulated eyelids. The old fashioned castle soap is a fine grade for all toilet purposes. I do not think that ankies are larger from the habit of wearing low shoes, as ankies get so much more freedom this way, the exercise should tend to make them more slim than when they are cramped in tight leather coverings, such as usually happens when wearing high shoes.

B. E. W.: A Friend: I will be pleased to mail the formula for the cream if you send an addressed, stamped envelope. This also applies to the request for directions on dieting for reduction.

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply ready and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few minutes. Pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. (Use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.)

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. MRS. MILLER ASKS FOR A CHANCE TO EXPLAIN CHARGES AGAINST HER

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Santa Fe, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Ruth C. Miller, in a letter to John V. Conway, state superintendent of public instruction, relating to the request for her resignation, asks that she be given an opportunity to hear any charges the board has to make against her and to answer them. She states that during the board meeting on last Saturday, November 5, Mr. Earl Douglass, assistant superintendent of public instruction, came to her with a request that she resign her position as state director of vocational education. Her reply was that "she would take this under advisement."

She says she returned this answer because of the fact that her appointment as state director of industrial education, which carries with it the position of director of vocational education, did not come from the board but came from Mr. Conway as state superintendent of public instruction, as provided in the laws of New Mexico, and therefore she felt that she is responsible to him. The board has not inquired of her of any specific charges against her, either personally or in connection with her work. But newspaper reports linked this request for her resignation with charges made in an audit of the department recently made by Traveling Auditor A. G. Whittier.

It seems, Mrs. Miller states, that only common justice to her and to the work which she has endeavored to build up for the past four years, especially since so much notoriety has attended this matter, that she be given an opportunity to hear and answer any charges made against her from any source whatsoever. She believes that she can depend upon Mr. Conway's sense of justice and fair play to give her this opportunity.

Mrs. Miller states that the records in her office are open to inspection and that she is ready at any time Mr. Conway may suggest to appear before him and the board. The cause of education requires a complete, open and thorough investigation and Mrs. Miller says she, for one, shall certainly welcome it.

MINERS WON'T ACCEPT CUT IN PAY, ULTIMATUM

Union Chiefs Confer Regarding Plan of Action in Case the C. F. & I. Co. Attempts Reduction.

(By The Associated Press.)
Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 9.—International representatives of the United Mine Workers of America met with John P. McLennan, district president, and other district officers here tonight to consider a plan of action in the event the Colorado Fuel and Iron company makes an announcement of a cut in wages in the southern Colorado coal fields. It was probable the announcement would be made tonight of what transpired at the conference, it was announced.

Notices bearing the signature of union officials and announcing that the union men would not accept any reduction in wages were circulated among the miners here today.

A copy of one of the notices read:

"In the near future agents of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company will hold meetings in your localities for the purpose of getting you to accept a reduction in wages. At present they are endeavoring to secure the services of business men to attend these meetings and tell you why you should work for lower wages. The industrial commission's decision does not compel the employees of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company to accept any reduction in wages."

"The United Mine Workers of America will not accept any reduction in wages. Organizers will notify you of the date of these meetings and we challenge any officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, or any of their agents, to meet us in debate before the employees to discuss the justice of any reduction."

UNITY BETWEEN U. S. AND JAPAN FORECAST

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Nov. 9.—K. Mochizuki, member of the Japanese parliament, expressed the belief that among results of the Washington conference should be unity and complete understanding between the United States and Japan, and a joint effort for the commercial development of the Far Eastern countries adjacent to Japan.

Disarmament of lands in the Pacific or at least no further enlargement of armament should also result, he asserted.

He said he was here to observe the progress of the conference as a special representative of the Kenmei Kai, or opposition party in Japan. Also he hoped to help the people of this country understand the position of Japan, he said.

S. and his country.

TEXAS CHURCHES PLAN ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE

(By The Associated Press.)
Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 9.—Churches of several denominations in Texas will observe Armistice day November 11, in some form of memorial, according to leaders in the denominations. Special programs have been fixed by some denominations, while ministers of other churches will determine their own observance.

Southwestern Baptist Institute near Fort Worth, will have a special service under the auspices of the ex-service men in the seminary, according to L. R. Scarborough, president. There will be addresses and a special military program.

Many are very glad to co-operate with the rest of the good people in this land in commemorating the heroic deeds of our men and the men of other nations who won the peace for democracy," President Scarborough said.

As a result of the observance of Armistice day decided upon by the Catholic bishops of the United States, assembled in Washington, D. C., last September, services will be held on that day in which parish churches throughout the five dioceses in Texas, according to the Right Rev. J. M. P. Lynch, bishop of the Diocese of Dallas. Special prayers will be said for harmony among the delegates who will meet in Washington for the purpose of bringing about a limitation of armament and a better understanding among the nations. Bishop Lynch said, adding: "All to the end that an anxious world may be relieved of the crushing burden now weighing down the people by reason of their mutual jealousies and mistrust of one another."

Christians churches (Disciples of Christ) in Texas are generally preparing to observe Armistice day and "are in favor of everything that will help prevent war, including the disarmament of nations insofar as this is possible," said J. B. Holmes, superintendent of the Texas Christian Missionary society.

The memorial of the signing of the armistice has been left to the individual clergymen in the Episcopal churches of Texas, according to the bishops.

"It is the purpose of the Episcopal churches throughout this diocese to observe Armistice day by prayer and meditation, the nature of such observance, apart from this, being left to the individual clergymen to decide," the Right Rev. Clinton Quinn, bishop of the diocese of Texas, announced. "Our message to the people on this day is that we must measure up as a nation to our place of leadership among the nations of the world."

Special services will be held on November 11 at El Paso, Tex., where all the pastors and the leading laymen of the Central Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will be in session according to the statement of H. M. Thews, presiding elder of the Fort Worth district. Bishop W. N. Almsworth probably will address the conference on this occasion, the Rev. Mr. Matthews said.

BOXERS ALL SET FOR EXHIBIT AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Caldwell and Gorilla Jones Each Confident of Victory; Battle Royal Promises Plenty of Action.

Walter Caldwell and Gorilla Jones are all set for their 15 round exhibition which will be the feature of the boxing card at the armory this evening. Both boys are in the pink of condition and are confident of their ability to stop the contest before the full 15 rounds are checked off.

In training here the two boys have given evidence of ability to put on one of the best bouts seen in the city for some time. Both have speed, endurance, the ability to take punishment and a K. O. wallop if they can get it to working right. In so far as taking punishment is concerned, fans seen inclined to credit Gorilla with an edge on Caldwell, due to his heavier and shorter frame. On the other hand, Caldwell has a long list of K. O.'s to his credit, most of his bouts ending suddenly when he connected a long swing in the proper place.

Although some fans feel that Jones is the better man, Caldwell outboxed him when they met the last time. As far as boxing is concerned, both are finished products and clean fighters. The exhibition should be snappy up to the end of the final round, in case it goes the limit.

Battling Otero and Johnny Candelaria will stage the opening bout which will be called at 8:30 o'clock. King and Jim Flynn will have the semi-final to do with as they please. The battle royal will be the second event on the program. Five boys have signed up for the general scrap which will probably be the most exciting event on the program.

Special sections have been reserved for the ladies, who will not be charged admission. Manager Peter Cordova stated last night that the fighting would be of the cleanest type and that order would be preserved to the complete satisfaction of any woman in the audience. Indications are that many women in the city intend taking advantage of Manager Cordova's invitation and will attend the exhibition.

IRISH PROBLEM IS LESS ACUTE PREMIER CLAIMS

Better Prospects of England's Proposals to Ireland Being Accepted Than for Years, He States.

(By The Associated Press.)

London, Nov. 9.—The lord mayor's banquet tonight assumed more than national importance when the premier, replying to the mayor's toast to the cabinet ministers, followed the custom of such gatherings at the historic Guild hall of speaking his mind regarding foreign affairs.

The tradition has been that the premier must touch only on foreign policies but in response to the lord mayor's suggestion that the guests anxiously awaited news of the Irish conference, Mr. Lloyd George expanded the statement made early in his speech that the Washington conference is like a rainbow in the sky and then passed to Ireland.

He declared there was a better prospect of Great Britain's proposals to Ireland being accepted than he had seen in the past. Beyond this he refrained from divulging the results or the possibilities of the conference.

In his opening remarks the premier alluded to the economic troubles afflicting the world, such as followed the Napoleonic wars. He expressed the conviction that the force of the cyclone was already spent and followed with a recital of numerous symptoms indicating a revival was coming, particularly the fact that "in every land the slackness that seemed to overcome labor is passing away."

FORMER TERRITORIAL GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA DIES AT CHICKASHA

(By The Associated Press.)
Atchison, Kans., Nov. 9.—John M. Ege, 86, former territorial governor of Arizona and a pioneer in three western states, is dead at his home in Chickasha, Okla., according to word received today.

Mr. Ege spent his youth in Buchanan county, Missouri, and Doniphan county, Kansas, practiced law in Leavenworth, Kans., was appointed a United States marshal while Kansas was still a territory, and helped establish the first United States district court in Fort Scott.

When the Oklahoma "strip" was opened in 1890 he obtained a claim near Oklahoma City. Later he went to Arizona where he became territorial governor.

A characteristic of Ege was his long curls, worn even after his hair became thin and white.

How often have you felt that way. How often have you wished for something to give you genuine and lasting relief for Gas?

Go to a first-class drug store, ask for a bottle of genuine Baimann's Gas-Tablets; take three tablets an hour before meals and again three before eating—then watch. Now comes a surprise. No more gas, no more "smothered" feeling, no difficult breathing, and no bloating.
Remember Baimann's Gas-Tablets are not only for the relief, but also for the prevention of Gas. Most people with Gas suffer from nervous dyspepsia, not common indigestion.

HARDING MAY BE DRAWN INTO THE TAXATION FIGHT

House Democrats Take This View and Point to the Wide Split in the Republican Ranks in Congress.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 9.—President Harding may be asked to act again as mediator in the tax revision fight.

This is the view of house democratic leaders, who point to the wide split in the republican ranks in congress on the income surtax provision.

Democrats say that the majority leaders are opposed to the senate amendment with its maximum rate of 50 per cent, but are faced with the possibility of its final enactment through a coalition of "insurgent" republicans and the solid democratic minorities.

Representative Dickinson of Iowa, and other leaders of the "insurgent" republicans in the house, believe they have sufficient votes, with the aid of the solid minority, to force the acceptance of the senate surtax rates. They have agreed, however, to defer the fight until after the conference get under way their work of rewriting the tax bill.

Under the agreement as outlined by both sides, the bill will be sent to conference tomorrow without instructions to the house managers, but the managers, before agreeing with their senate co-workers on the surtax provision will ask the house for instructions. This, it was explained, would open up the fight in the house, probably next week.

The tax bill as passed by the senate was reported back today to the house. Upon examining it the members found that the senate had added 32 amendments. Despite this great number of changes Chairman Fordney, of the house ways and means committee, who will head the house conferees, said the bill probably would be in conference only a few days.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

*For Frying—For Shortening

Make pastry with Crisco and your pie-crust will be so flaky and tender that it will melt in your mouth. And, best of all, people who ordinarily cannot eat pastry find Crisco pastry and biscuits and shortbreads perfectly and easily digestible. This is because Crisco is simply wholesome vegetable oil, hardened by a special process to proper shortening consistency.

Make cake with Crisco and it will have a delicate flavor and fine-grained texture. Crisco is so white, so pure, and so delicate that it is the ideal enrichment for cakes. Just a teaspoonful of common salt for every cupful of Crisco and your cakes will taste as if made with butter. White cakes made with Crisco are snowy marvels that look as delicious as they taste.

Fry with Crisco and your kitchen will be free from acrid smoke and odor, because Crisco is odorless, and does not smoke at frying heat. Fried things taste better, too, because Crisco coats them instantly with a protecting crust that keeps all the fat out and all the flavor in. Since Crisco itself is tasteless, you enjoy the full natural flavors of the food, without the slightest greasy taste. There is no waste to Crisco frying because you can strain all the leftover fat and use it again and again. It retains no taste of anything—even onions—that has been cooked in it.

Cured His Piles

Now 88 Years Old But Works at Trade of Blacksmith and Feels Younger Since Piles are Gone

The oldest active blacksmith in Michigan is still pounding his anvil in the town of Homer—thanks to my internal method of treating piles.

Mr. Jacob Lyon, Homer, Mich.

I wish that you could hear him tell of his many experiences with ointments, salves, dilators, etc., before he tried my method. Here is a letter just received from him:

Mr. E. R. Page, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir: I want you to know what your treatment has done for me. I had suffered with piles for many years and used suppositories and all kinds of treatments, but never got relief until I tried yours. Am now completely cured. Although I am 88 years old, and the oldest active blacksmith in Michigan, I feel years younger since the piles have left me. I will surely recommend it to all I know who suffer this way. You can use my letter any way you wish and I hope it will lead others to try this wonderful remedy.

Yours truly,
J. L. LYON.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU OPENED AT ARMORY FOR GUARD MEMBERS

Free employment service for the national guardsmen of Albuquerque and for the employers who wish to engage them, is now offered through a special service bureau opened at the national guard armory at the armory. First Lieutenant L. E. Love will be in charge of the bureau, which is designed to supply employment for members of the national guard.

The bureau will be open from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. A list of all national guardsmen and their trades is kept on file for reference. Every form of labor is represented in the guard and almost any branch of special ordinary labor can be furnished on short notice. The telephone number of the bureau is 813-W.

A meeting of the military affairs committee of the national guard is called for Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce. This committee is composed of representatives of the several civic organizations of the city who are backing the national guard unit. HUNDRED BABIES TO FACE CAMERA FOR GROUP VIEW

The climax, which is likely to be highly dramatic, to the three days children's health conference conducted by the Red Cross nursing department, will come this afternoon when an attempt will be made to take a group photograph of all of the babies who were examined at the conference.

The moving picture camera man has left town. Under the circumstances, then, a "still" will have to be made. The "net" will be the interior of Milner's studio at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mothers of all of the children examined, of which there were over a hundred, are invited by the Red Cross to bring their babies to be photographed.

A photograph will also be made of the baby winning the highest score in the examination. Certificates of examination giving the health score will be presented to the first seventy-five children examined under appointment during the conference. Over a hundred were examined and many more were turned away because they had not made their appointments according to the announcements of the nursing committee.

The three days conference will close this afternoon with a program at the federal building. There will be health recitations by children under the direction of Mrs. B. C. Smith, an address by Dr. J. F. Docherty, city and county health officer on "Child Welfare Work," and by Miss Gladys Harris, Red Cross public health nurse, on "Education for Parenthood." There will also be health moving pictures and a lecture on the baby exhibits.

KIWANIANS CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY WITH PROGRAM AT LUNCHEON

Features of the last hour of the war overseas and patriotic music featured the Armistice day program of the Kiwanis club at their luncheon yesterday. Richard P. Woodson, Jr., and John O'Loughlin, Kiwanians who had been in France when the armistice was ordered, described how they first heard the news of the cessation of hostilities.

Musical was furnished by Richard Bonelli and his wife, who were guests of the club. Last night's concert artist begged off on account of a sore throat but played accompaniment for two songs by his wife, who is also gifted with a voice. Mrs. Bonelli sang "A Swiss Echo Song" and "Home, Sweet Home" for an encore. Miss Hortense Switzer sang the French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," and Maurice Klein sang "A Pulse New Mexico," both being accompanied by Mrs. D. W. Fawcett. Former Lieutenant Governor Benjamin F. Pankey was a guest of the club, giving a short talk. Henry G. Coors, Jr., gave a report of the organization of a Kiwanis club at Las Vegas in which he assisted. A resolution was passed favoring the appointment of Phil Jacobs of Bernalillo as state highway commissioner in the place of Eugene Krapenich. A committee composed of J. H. Coors, Pearce Roddy and Dr. M. K. Wylde was appointed to take up this matter with the governor.

The attendance roster of three hundred hand-picked guests came from Frank H. Bauer of Denver, who was a guest at a Kiwanis meeting here several months ago. They were drawn by W. C. Ranbo, E. J. Strain and Fred Fisher. The "silent boost" was a can of Vaseline and a brush donated by Wallace Hesselnden.

MURPHEY SANATORIUM ENTIRELY TAKEN OVER BY EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The deeds to the property of the Murphey Sanatorium were handed over to the Episcopal church yesterday morning, thus completing the transfer of the property, and the church authorities are preparing for the inauguration of the new management.

Dean W. H. Zeigler has assumed his office as superintendent, and will hereafter center his activities on the hospital, which will be known as St. John's Sanatorium. He expects to leave November 22 for New York, and will stay in the east about one month, conferring with national officers of the Episcopal church.

Bishop Hewden has appointed the following persons as a board of directors for the sanatorium, to serve with himself as acting president of the board: Alfred C. Stares, Robert E. Dietz, Albert G. Simms, George S. Downer, and Mrs. E. R. Edgar.

For the time being the business management will be in charge of Dr. W. T. Murphey.

MME. BONELLI SINGS BEFORE KIWANIS CLUB YESTERDAY AT NOON

Mme. Pauline Bonelli, soprano, sang yesterday at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club. Her selections were "Swiss Echo Song," a very difficult coloratura air which she sang with perfect ease and accuracy, and "Home, Sweet Home," into which she put her delightful lyric quality.

Mme. Bonelli is here with her husband, Richard Bonelli, whose song recital of Tuesday still lingers in one's memory. She is a soprano of considerable reputation. S. Morgan Powell in the Montreal Daily Star wrote: Mme. Bonelli... the fortunate possessor of a voice of rare limpid quality and pure silver tone.

Mme. Bonelli has appeared in over three hundred joint recitals with her husband, as well as in countless solo concerts in this country and abroad. From here she goes to New York with Mr. Bonelli, where they will appear with the Bethoven society and other large musical organizations.

NEURASTHENIA--NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Heart—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and system. He has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and everything looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia or nerve starvation, due to overwork, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The longer this continues the more certainly will it, and in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man should live on the simple foods, eat plenty of cooked fruit and green vegetables, sleep nine hours at night if he can, an hour in the afternoon and feed his starving nerves and brain with a good nerve and blood food like Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Doctor Robelin, which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force. It also contains genuine organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apple.

Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be a real nerve and blood food since it supplies the principal ingredients demanded by your nerves and blood to give you strength, energy, force and endurance. It often increases the body and mental vigor, weak, nervous, down hearted, and nervous folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if it does not produce perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

BLISS OFFICERS ARRIVE FRIDAY TO MEET VARSITY

Both Teams Place Their Trust in Line Play; Former All-American Ends On Officers' Line-Up.

The football squad of Fort Bliss officers, who meet the varsity here Saturday afternoon, will arrive in Albuquerque some time tomorrow, according to information received by Coach Roy M. Johnson yesterday. About twenty players, besides a large delegation of spectators, will make up the party. The trip will be made overland in army trucks.

In preparation for the game Saturday Coach Johnson has given his men an abundance of signal practice for the past week, developing a series of new plays which are expected to prove extremely effective in Saturday's game. "Skill practice" has also been held frequently in the gymnasium in the evenings in order to give the men a good grounding in the theory of the game.

The Fort Bliss officers are expected to specialize in line play, bringing a line which will average about 175 pounds. As Johnson has a line of about the same weight, and has also been training his squad particularly in line work, Saturday's contest is expected to follow the lines of old-fashioned football. Aerial work will probably play only a minor part.

According to reports which have sifted through from Fort Bliss the officers are coming to Albuquerque confident of a victory, placing great trust in the work of Blake, former all-American end at West Point. The varsity, however, feels equally confident and the U. N. M. supporters are looking for a victory by a large score.

N. M. PIONEERS WILL ORGANIZE THIS EVENING

The first chapter of the New Mexico Pioneers society will be organized tonight at a meeting of the Albuquerque old timers at the chamber of commerce. The organization is expected to spread over the entire state and to include as members all those who have lived in New Mexico over fifteen years.

Those who have signed up for membership since the preliminary meeting will gather at the chamber of commerce at 8 o'clock tonight to perfect the permanent organization.

B. Ruppe, who was elected temporary chairman, will preside over the meeting. L. W. Gales is acting secretary.

More than a hundred persons in the city have expressed a desire to become members of the society. It is the plan of the organizers to establish chapters all over the state and to hold a state convention of the organization once a year in Albuquerque. It is hoped to make the annual gathering of the old timers equal the state fair in interest.

How Not to Take Cold.
Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of their noses. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

How to Prevent Sunburn

By Vola Vale

"The best way to prevent sunburn and beautify the complexion," says Vola Vale, the well-known motion picture star, "is to cover the exposed parts of the face, neck, hands and arms with a liberal supply of Derwillo before going out in the open. On returning cleanse the skin thoroughly with Liska cold cream, and you will be as free from sunburn as though you had remained at home." This combination, Derwillo and Liska cold cream, is wonderful for beautifying the complexion. Over a million girls and women use Derwillo in place of face powder because it "stays on." No "touching up" all the time to keep the face from shining. Derwillo and Liska cold cream are sold at toilet counters everywhere under a money-back guarantee. If you try them and are not pleased ask for your money back. In this way you really get a free trial and nothing could be fairer than that. Try it today.

OPEN IT UP.

Can anyone conceive of a single legitimate reason why any man or group of men should wish to retain a dominating control of the Chamber of Commerce?

As presently organized a trio of prominent men have a majority of the directors who are their business associates or employees. Whether this is accidental or by design is a matter of little consequence. It is sufficient to ruin the organization.

Were these same fifteen men who are now the directors, to be chosen by a vote of the membership at large, they would be eminently competent and satisfactory directors. The public apathy is not because of the men, but on account of this plan of organization.

If there is a motive behind the present plan, it should be abandoned. The organization must be the impartial arm of the whole people. If there is no subterranean motive, the present plan should be abandoned because it fails to command public confidence and enthusiasm.

Swapping dollars with ourselves makes little money for the average man. It is out of growth, development, added citizenry, that an increased profit comes. "More people" means "more business."

Let us abandon the theory which has put its brand on the forehead of progress in New Mexico—scheming to obtain a special advantage for a special few. Even these would make far more money by a wide-open policy which brought more people and more money into the community. The old theory is both bad morals and bad business. Men will be happier and equally prosperous when they make their profits out of community growth instead of out of special favors wrung from the people.

Let those now in the Chamber of Commerce loyally continue their support. Let new blood be brought in to help do the work. Let new and added community-building personalities be developed. Give every one an equal voice in voting. Then a new enthusiasm will sweep us forward.

CONSERVING THE SUPPLY.

The United States department of agriculture has control over the hunting of birds and quadrupeds in Alaska and has been exercising its authority in a manner that might well be emulated by some of the states. Under new regulations promulgated by the secretary of agriculture, an open season is provided for trapping beavers and martens in the territory. There has been no open season for killing beavers there since 1910, and none for martens since 1916. Both species were rapidly diminishing in numbers, but the protection accorded has permitted them to multiply to such an extent that trappers are once more to be allowed to take their pelts. Conservation pays.

It is doubtful if foxes and minks do all the damage charged to them. They compensate for at least a part of it by their destruction of rats, mice and insect pests. It is said that it is necessary to get rid of them in order to preserve the game. But there were both game animals and predatory animals in the woods before the coming of the white man, and both kinds were abundant. So far as their preying on poultry is concerned, a few good fox or mink pelts would more than pay for a large-sized vermin-proof chicken run.

Fur prices are extraordinarily high now, as compared with what they used to be, because there has not been proper conservation of fur-bearing animals. The supply of wild furs in the United States has decreased from 25 to 50 per cent in the last 10 years. Pelts are brought from all parts of the world to supply the American demand. If the situation is not to become worse protection will have to be extended even to carnivorous fur-bearers, like the fox and mink.

The federal government has set a good example in its five-year ban on the killing of martens in Alaska. In proportion to their size they are among the most bloodthirsty of animals, feeding chiefly on small mammals and birds. But marten skins brought as much as $201 each last year; and it is no more than common sense that such animals are worth more than all the rabbits and grouse that they may destroy.

INTERESTING TESTS OF SENTIMENT.

The National Economic League has held an interesting referendum. The membership of the league is a group of studios, forward-looking, disinterested citizens. The vote is their best thought on the subject submitted.

One thousand and thirty votes were cast. The first question asked whether there should be open, visible and responsible leadership in matters of national finance. In reply, 96 per cent said "yes;" 2 per cent "no;" 2 per cent non-committal.

Asking whether there should be an executive budget prepared under the direction of the president and publicly explained and defended before congress by members of the cabinet, the answers were as follows: 95 per cent "yes;" 4 per cent "no;" 1 per cent non-committal.

The third question asked if the rules of congress should be so changed as to give cabinet members the privilege of the floor, without a vote, when matters of finance and administration are under discussion. Ninety-two per cent answered "yes;" 7 per cent "no;" 1 per cent non-committal.

Other questions in similar vein were asked with similar results in the answers.

The ratio of these answers is representative of the feeling on the subject in America. Closer contact should be established between those who raise and those who expend our revenues. Only so can an intelligent, business-like and economical administration be established.

A GLOOMY PROPHECY.

The unemployment situation in England, disturbing as it has been for months, is steadily growing worse without anything substantial in preparation to meet it.

But Sir George Parish, who has some reputation in the United Kingdom as a financier and economist, says the worst will not arrive until next year. He prophesies that the number of idle next year will be double that of the present, a situation difficult to imagine unless one chooses to see in Sir George's reasons an explanation for his gloomy prediction. The main one is that Russia remains prostrate because of unintelligent action by the other nations and that British recovery cannot be expected until Russia is once more on her feet.

Whether Sir George's interest in some branch of Russian trade has influenced his prophetic vision may be a question without inflicting injustice upon him, but his insistence upon Russian restoration as the prime essential may be a hint as to the source of his inspiration. Undoubtedly the collapse of Russia has had its share in the general effect, but the breakdown everywhere was so general that it is over-stressing a factor to select Russia as the pivotal point of world recovery from the effects of a situation that is without parallel. If the number of idle in England increases until a year hence the total is double that of today, the inference may easily be that England next year will be worse off than the Russia of today. Sir George may be sincere, but probably mistaken.

IS WOMAN THE "VILLAIN"?

Readers of Ruskin who have firmly believed in his argument that all great authors have placed woman in the role of guardian angel of the world, rectifying the blunders of men, may well be aghast at the attitude of the novelist of today who persists in picturing mother as the villain of the tale and father as the martyr, who arouses all the sympathy of the reader. It is the false and foolish pride of the mother which wrecks the household in the novel of today and the father totters and falls in his vain attempt to keep up with her ambition.

While the matchmaking mother is no new character in fiction, the portrayal of mother as the villain seems to have been carried to undue lengths by the newest writers and more than one good woman has protested that the mother is being unjustly painted in fiction, thus causing a disrespect for womanhood.

INVITE THEM.

Senator Stanford of Oregon has introduced in congress a resolution to invite the members of the a moment limitations conference to make a trip across the continent as the guests of this country. This resolution will pass. It should pass.

A trip across the United States will go far to take away any lurking notions any one may have that a war against America could win. The vastness of our country would overpower them. They can not realize until they see.

Albuquerque should invite them to pay us a visit. Here is a great opportunity.

Mexico wants to borrow money from Uncle Sam. She should have applied during the war. Then was when all borrowers were accommodated, regardless of collateral.

VERSE OF TODAY

CONVENTION.

When I catch a glimpse of you
An irritating glimpse of you
Turning some distant corner,
My body gives a sudden twinge,
And I want to run
Shouting your name.

But my companions
Continue their empty discussion
Of indemnities
And foreign trade
In the same calm, monotonous fashion
As before!
And I remain listening.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

A GOOD TIME TO START.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)
In an address to a gathering of business men in Atlantic City the other day, Charles M. Schwab declared that if he had his life to live over he would choose the present day for the beginning of a career. Mr. Schwab is a person of sanguine temperament, but he is no Pollyanna. He has reason for the joy that is in him.

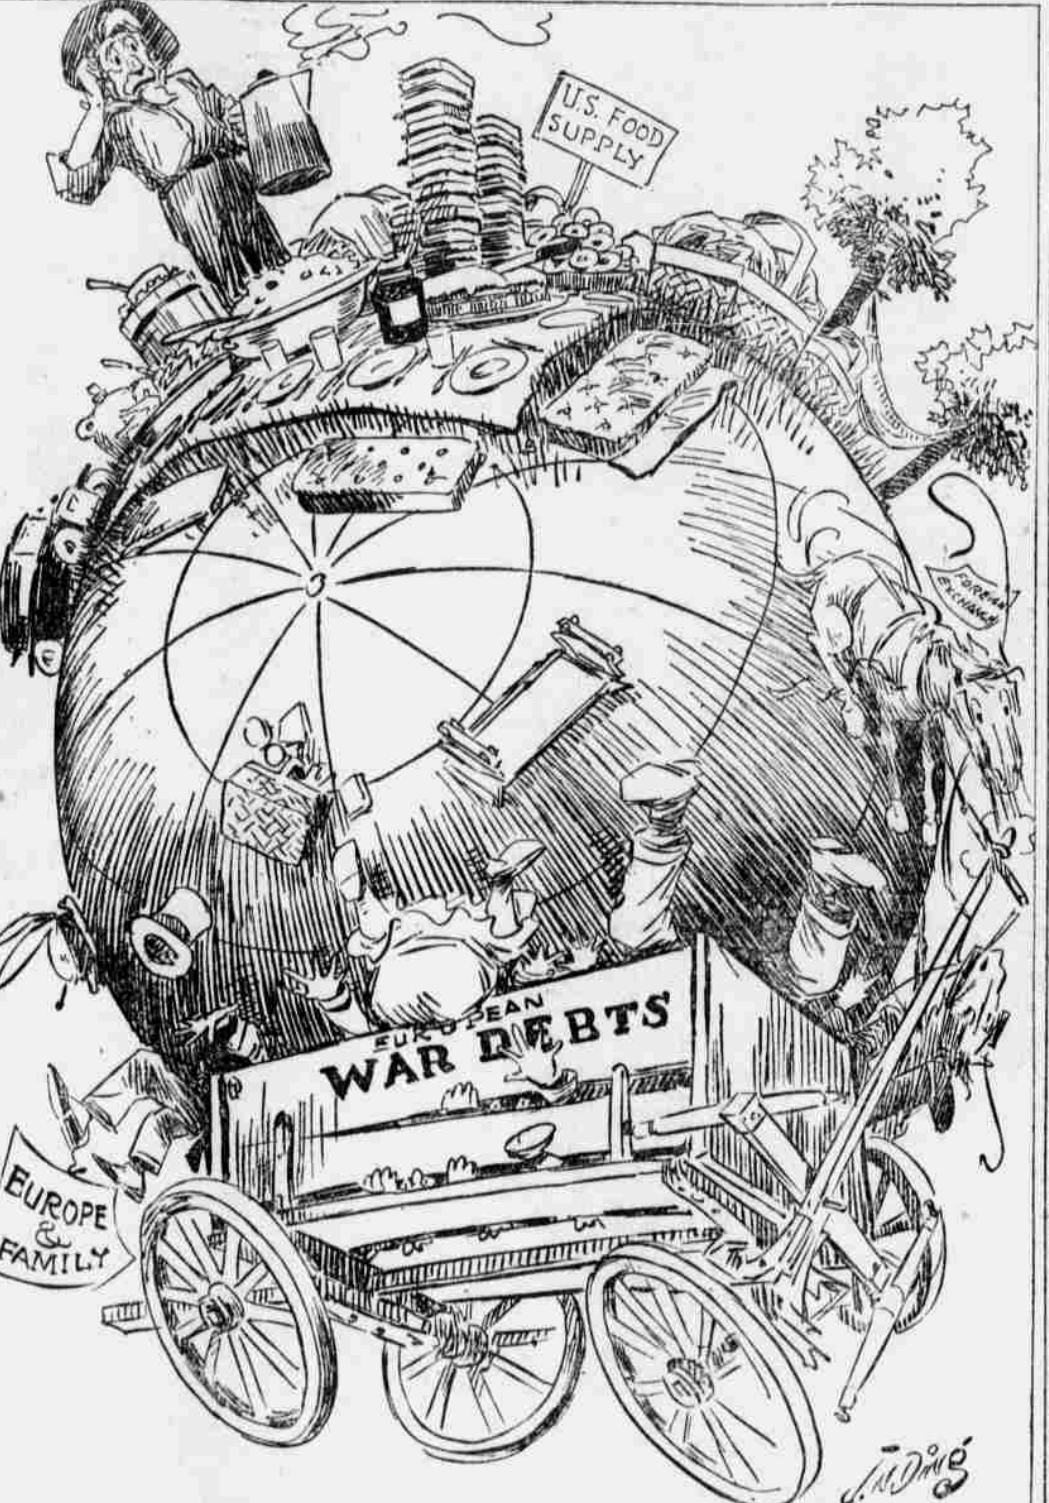

It is not an easy time just now to make a start, but every one knows, though many forget, that business runs like a small boat at sea, always going up toward the crest of a wave or down into the trough. Any period of depression means that a rise is coming and Mr. Schwab doubtless had in mind the fact that any property or position that a young man gains now will automatically become better as years pass by simply because this year is in the trough.

For the young man also the schooling of these difficult times will be invaluable. Two or three years ago making money was easy and the fever for spending was epidemic. The young man who started then made more money than he is likely to make again for years to come, and, as a consequence, he set out in life with a false idea of the money value of his own services. He also imbibed the notion that this life is much easier and much gay than it really is. He is getting a new start now on a bad education and he will be unlearning old lessons while the beginner learns the truth.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE ACORNS.

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily had just finished his breakfast and was shaving his pink, twinkling nose—Oh listen to me, would you? I mean when the bunny gentleman was shaving his whiskers, there sounded a joyous shout in front of the hollow stump bungalow.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily! Hello! Come on out!" cried two jolly voices.

"Goodness me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I hope that isn't the Fuzzy Fox calling you! He is so impudent it would be just like him!"

"No, it is Curly and Floppy Twinstall, the piggle boys," answered the bunny gentleman, looking from the window. "I'll be with you in a moment, my little piggle chaps!" Uncle Wiggily added.

"Oh, he'll never grow up!" laughed Nurse Jane, as she washed the face of the clock and gave

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" the dinner dishes their breakfast. "What is going on now, piggle boys?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he hopped out to join the Twinstall chaps. "Aren't you a bit early today?" asked the lady mouse teacher in the hollow stump school.

"Oh, we aren't going to school—at least not right away," squealed Curly.

"We know where there's a whole pack of brown chestnuts!" added Floppy. "And we came to show you so you can tell Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels. For there is more chestnuts than we can eat." "Chestnuts? This time of year?" exclaimed the bunny, holding his pink nose on one side. "I thought the squirrels and chipmunks had hidden away all the chestnuts long ago. However, it is possible that in some bosky dell there may be a few they overlooked. I'll go with you and see where they are."

"Oh, such lovely chestnuts!" cried Floppy.

"And so many!" grunted his brother.

Over the fields and through the woods went Uncle Wiggily with the piggle boys, and soon the two Twinstall chaps ran ahead down into a little glade where grew tall trees.

"Look at the chestnuts!" cried Floppy.

"There's a million of 'em!" shouted Curly.

Uncle Wiggily looked at the brown shiny nuts on the ground. Then the bunny gentleman sadly shook his head.

"These aren't chestnuts, Curly and Floppy," he said. "I'm surprised you piggle chaps didn't know they were acorns. It is true they are the color of chestnuts, but they are of quite a different shape, as you may see. Also, acorns come off of an oak tree and chestnuts come off a chestnut tree. And acorns aren't good for squirrels and chipmunks to eat, they're bitter. Though, if they can't get anything else I suppose Johnnie and Billie Bushytail would eat acorns. But these oak seeds—for that is what they are—will never take the place of chestnuts."

"Aren't they any good?" sadly asked Floppy.

"We thought we had found such a nice lot of chestnuts!" sighed Curly. "We saw them yesterday and we left them until today to show you. Aren't acorns any good at all, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Oh, yes, they're useful for lots of things," said the bunny gentleman with a smile. "From little acorns great oaks grow, as you have learned in school. Also, some pig families love to eat acorns. I wouldn't be a bit surprised but what your father and mother would be very glad to get these acorns for the winter."

"Oh, they are good to eat!" cried Curly, cracking some in his strong teeth.

"Yes, and they're good for something else, too!" suddenly shouted Floppy.

"To play marbles with, perhaps," said the bunny gentleman.

"No! To throw at the Fuzzy Fox! Here he comes, sneaking up, thinking he's going to get us!" yelled Floppy. "Come on, we'll throw the hard acorns at the Fox! Here he is!"

And, surely enough, the Fuzzy Fox was sneaking along. But Uncle Wiggily, Curly and Floppy caught up pawfuls of acorns and threw them at the bad chap, hitting him on the nose so that he howled once, twice, three times, and then away he ran.

"I don't like acorns!" he whined. "But we don't laugh and Curly and Floppy. Then they went on to school, and Mr. Longears told Daddy Twinstall about the big pile of acorns, so the pig gentleman could take them home for his family to eat during the long, cold winter."

So, after all, you see it was a good thing Curly and Floppy mistook acorns for chestnuts. And if the toothy brush didn't bite the cake of soap just for fun, you know, when it's sliding down the side of the bath tub, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the weasel.

THE MARKETS

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 9.—Large buying orders from speculative sources came into the stock market over the election day recess and prices of various popular issues, especially oil, steel and kindred shares were substantially enhanced.

The broad demand for oil was materially assisted by more advances for the crude products in the case of Mexico. Petroleum, however, which dominated the market at a net gain of 7 1/2 points, the movement was based mainly on technical conditions, shorts paying heavy tolls.

Rails, steels and like issues drifted aimlessly, but came briskly forward into the last half of the session. Purchases of those stocks were accompanied by the weekly surveys of trade authorities, which emphasized the more hopeful feeling in that industry.

Shares of concerns which may reasonably hope to benefit by increased holiday business, such as the department stores, also strengthened, but tobacco and several more obscure specialties were heavy or irregular. Lenders were undeterred by the rise of call money from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent in the final hour, many closing prices being at or near the day's top.

Sales, $65,000 shares.

Cables stating that Germany is preparing to meet her next reparations payment, accounted for the moderate rally in marks. Sterling was firm but remittances to most of the other allied currencies were moderately lower on small trading.

Danish bills were heavy and Far Eastern quotations continued to ease.

Liberty and most other active bonds were irregular on further profit taking, the International group also showing no marked trend. Total sales, par value, $15,675,000.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.
Chicago, Nov. 9.—Wheat displayed fresh strength today, all points showing a falling off in receipts. The market closed strong 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 net higher, with December $1.06 1/4 to $1.06 3/4 and May $1.11 1/4 to $1.11 3/4. Corn gained 1/2 to 3/4 and oats 1/2 to 3/4 to 1/2. Provisions were unchanged to 20c lower.

It was with but little effect that bears in wheat tried to explain away the evident curtailment of receipts. One assertion was that the falling off was due partly to the coming drop in freight rates, shipments being held back to take advantage of the new rates. It was also said that bad condition of country roads had been more or less responsible. The fact remained, however, that primary receipts were smaller than a year ago and there were predictions that total primary receipts this week might not exceed 4,000,000 bushels against recent totals of 9,000,000, or 10,000,000. Notice that no moisture of consequence was reported from Kansas, Oklahoma or Texas despite rain and snow elsewhere counted as an additional bullish factor. Such setbacks as took place in values proved transient and appeared to be due chiefly to profit taking.

Corn and oats sympathized a little with wheat, but held within narrow limits, traders doing little while awaiting the government report. Government figures were about as bad as had been generally expected.

Turnups in hogs and possibilities of labor troubles at the stock yards here gave only temporary firmness to provisions. Toward the last quotations had a downward slant because of absence of demand.

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS DOINGS

Anyone who has the desire and the determination to own a home in the University Heights can easily do so by consulting either Levrett-Zapf & Co., or E. C. Morgan. Both are prepared to build you a cozy bungalow of California, Spanish or Pueblo type of architecture on a rent paying basis if you have a lot up there, hence your first duty will be to buy a lot on easy payments or for cash.

Some idea of the growth of the Heights lately may be gathered from the fact that in one year the water services have considerably more than doubled, and the greater number of these meters have been installed within the last three months.

It used to be, not so long ago, that we knew every man, woman, child, dog or cat that lived in the Heights, now we can not keep track of the houses, let alone know who our next-door neighbor is.

HIGHEST CLASS IN EVERY WAY

Like Caesar's Wife—

Anthony Bond's bride must be above reproach. How difficult this was you will understand when you have seen "THE FURNACE." For Folly Bond was beautiful, admired, unconventional,—and not in love with her husband. "THE FURNACE" is one of the most powerful dramas of modern marriage ever shown on the screen. And its settings, lavish costumes, and unusual situations make it a picture out of thousands.
