WE HAVE PLANNED THE WORK; NOW WORK THE PLAN

The present board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce appointed Sidney Weil as chairman of the reorganization committee with power to fill his committee. That is where he received his authority. Weil appointed the rest of the reorganization committee. That is where they received their authority. This committee devised the plan of the present reorganization. That is where it received its authenticity. So the present plan is the official plan of the Chamber of Commerce. There were 57 varieties of plans which might have been adopted. Perhaps any of them were better than this plan. But the committee adopted this one.

and discarded the others. They could use but one. To talk about another plan is idle. This is the plan. It is a thoroughly democratic and workable plan. The people are ready to accept it and join the Chamber of Commerce. There is no trouble on that score. The delay in the consummation for which we all devoutly pray, is due to a lack of workers. There are 100 blocks in the city which are unassigned for want of workers to take them. This will never do. We have planned our work. It is carefully and well planned. But the plan will not work itself. We must work the plan. This cannot be done without workers.

Any man can take a block and canvass it in two or three hours. Two or three hours! Do you get that? The man who is too busy to take two or three hours to help do this work is too short-sighted to deserve permanent success. Suppose it does cost you five dollars or ten dollars or twenty-five dollars? It is the best investment you have ever made. More people in Albuquerque will mean more business every day for everybody. We can get these people by going after them. The atmosphere of success following the achievement of our goal will add optimism to the community. People do not buy freely when they are pessimistic about the future.

If this plan fails, it will be due to a lack of workers. Failure would be a disaster to the city for months to come. Every old worker and 100 new workers should be on hand at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the Chamber of Commerce, prepared to put in whatever time is necessary to canvass a block. That is all that is necessary. But that is absolutely necessary. If those 100 business men, reading this, each decide to let the other 99 do it, not a soul will show up for work. If each does his duty, the victory is won. NO ONE CAN STOP US, BUT OURSELVES.

NAVAL LIMITATIONS TO FRONT THIS WEEK

Americans See No Reason in Arguments Advanced by Japan to Change the Ratio Proposed by Hughes

(By The Associated Press.)—Washington, Nov. 27.—The naval question, at least so far as its most vital element, the "five-five-three" ratio of fleet strength between Great Britain, the United States and Japan is concerned, is approaching the point of transfer back to the "big five" committee with the report of the naval experts. There is some expectation that a plenary session of the conference will be called this week to reach first decisions on the naval plan.

Whether the experts of the three major naval powers will submit individual reports is not known. Both the British and American experts were reported as having concluded their examination of the ship data involved in Secretary Hughes' proposal. The Japanese group was still toiling Saturday, it was said.

A summary of last week's developments on naval proposals indicates the following status: American officials have seen no reason in arguments advanced by Japan to any change in the key-stone of the agreement Mr. Hughes proposed, the "five-five-three" ratio. British naval officials have accepted the ratio although it means ultimate equalization of the American and British fleets.

Japanese officials have opposed the ratio, urging "10-10-7" instead. American naval opinion strongly opposes retention by Japan of the battleship Mutsu, whose both other ships in the proportion enlarge their fleets. There are indications that some American delegates seek strength in the arguments of Japan that the Mutsu might have been included as a completed ship in the retained fleets. There was nothing to indicate, however, that a compromise was being considered in the American camp. It has been indicated that Great Britain was not desirous of undertaking any further naval construction at present, which seems to French Idol Smokes the Pipe of Peace With Chief Red Tomahawk, Cementing the Friendship of the Red Men and France; Tumultuous Reception is Given War Hero.

(By The Associated Press.)—Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 27.—Marshal Foch smoked the pipe of peace here today with Chief Red Tomahawk, cementing the friendship of the Dakota Sioux Indians and France. The smoking was part of a tumultuous reception given the French soldier today by thousands. The dialogue of Marshal Foch

FOREIGNERS BUY UP GERMAN WINE OUTPUT

(By The Associated Press.)—Munich, Germany, Nov. 27.—Hundreds of foreigners, chiefly Frenchmen, Belgians and Hollanders, taking advantage of the present low value of the German mark, have almost bought up the entire German wine output of 1921. The ruthless raids by foreign buyers, whom no fancy prices seem to deter, are a source of bitter lamentation on the part of domestic consumers, who foresee that but little of the precious liquor will be left for their own enjoyment. German officials have been seeking means to prevent Germans from being deprived of this year's excellent wine and from having to purchase inferior vintages of other years at higher prices. As a last effort to retain the remains of the 1921 crop an agitation has been started to force foreigners to pay a higher price for the wine than the Germans.

WILSON, FEEBLE, NEEDS ASSISTANCE ON DAILY AIRINGS

Ex-President Wilson being assisted down the steps of his home in Washington by a colored servant.

Ex-President Woodrow Wilson is making a plucky fight to regain his health, lost during the trying days of his presidency, but he finds the task of moving about a great one. Despite his condition he tries to take a ride every sunny day.

NEW REGENT OF JAPAN POPULAR WITH SUBJECTS

Crown Prince, 20, Will Practically Be the Actual Ruler, Owing to the Illness of the Emperor.

(By The Associated Press.)—Tokyo, Nov. 27.—Crown Prince Hirohito, new regent of Japan, in addressing a gathering yesterday deplored the infirmities of the emperor, who had rendered necessary the naming of a regent and expressed anxiety as to whether he could discharge the duties which had fallen on his youthful shoulders. He is twenty. His aim, he said, would be to further the friendship of foreign powers and to promote the national welfare while awaiting his father's recovery.

The general view is that the appointment was a timely development in view of the emperor's condition. As regent, the prince will practically be the actual ruler. There is little doubt as to his popularity, of which there have been many evidences since his return from Europe. He has shown a personal interest in various popular undertakings and has strongly established himself in the confidence of the people. The health of the emperor has long been a source of anxiety and the naming of a regent comes as a relief from the tension. Viscount China has been appointed lord chamberlain in Hirohito's household in place of Baron Arata Romo, who asked to be relieved. Viscount China also will retain the post of privy councillor.

CHINESE ENVOYS WANT SHANTUNG DISPUTE AIDED AT CONFERENCE

Delegates Believe the Question Occupies An Important Place on the Program They Have Prepared.

DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS PREFERRED BY JAPAN

Any Settlement Made in Either Peking or Tokio Would Be Mistrusted, According to Delegates.

(By The Associated Press.)—Washington, Nov. 27.—The Shantung question finds its way into the Washington conference? This question occupies a prominent place in the talk of the delegates, though open references to it are guarded. In some quarters a desire is shown to avoid it if possible on the ground that the subject is likely to revive old controversies and interrupt the harmonious trend of the conference.

The Chinese view is that the Shantung question occupies an important place on the program they have drawn up for submission. The Japanese standpoint is that it is quite unnecessary to discuss the Shantung matter because Japan stands ready to open direct negotiations with China for the restoration of the leased territory of Kiau Chau in Shantung and the withdrawal of troops along the railroad on conditions which Japan considers reasonable.

Chinese delegates say that the Chinese people do not want either the Shantung question or that of the 1915 treaty settled in either Peking or Tokio. The Chinese, according to delegates, would mistrust any such settlement and believe that only through an agreement reached with the knowledge and participation of the world powers would a permanent, equitable solution be found. The Washington conference affords such an opportunity, according to Wellington Koo, a member of the Chinese delegation, who said China will press before the conference for the unfettered return of Shantung and abrogation of the twenty-one demands.

In some Far Eastern circles the suggestion is advanced that if Japan would take the initiative to bring about annulment of at least certain parts of the "twenty-one demands treaty" it would help calm agitation in China concerning Shantung and make for more amicable relations between Japan and China.

POPULARIZE COURSES IN GRADE SCHOOLS IS REQUEST OF TEACHERS

(By The Associated Press.)—St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 27.—More popular courses in the grade schools were generally advocated here yesterday in the closing session of the central association of science and mathematics teachers. Speakers expressed the opinion much of the grammar school curriculum should be transferred to the high school and colleges.

3 ARRESTED CHARGED WITH COUNTERFEITING

(By The Associated Press.)—Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 27.—L. J. Catlin, Frank Williams and Thomas Cline were arrested today charged with counterfeiting, and 150 spurious silver dollars and a counterfeit outfit were seized by the local police. A spurious coin, offered to a plain clothes man for change, led to the arrests.

YOUTH IDENTIFIED

(By The Associated Press.)—Pueblo, Colo., Nov. 27.—Authorities have identified as Raymond Keogh, 20 years old, the youth who was found unconscious in the business section last night suffering from severe head injuries. His condition is reported as serious. How he was injured remains a mystery.

ADVANCES APPROVED

(By The Associated Press.)—Washington, Nov. 27.—Approval of fifty-seven advances for agriculture and livestock purposes, aggregating $2,505,000, was announced tonight by the war finance corporation. They include: Nebraska, $221,000; Montana, $217,000; Colorado, $540,000; South Dakota, $222,000 and Iowa $591,000.

Furs, Silks, Clothing, Musical Instruments Stolen at Colorado Springs, Hauled Away in Truck.

(By The Associated Press.)—Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 27.—The Giddings & Kirkwood department store and the J. D. Hill brand music store were broken into some time last night and foot of furs, silks and clothing from the former and musical instruments, including a number of saxophones, from the latter, hauled away in a truck. The losses will exceed $50,000, police say, none of which was covered by burglar insurance. Officials of the Giddings store say it will take three days to estimate the damage. The police have discovered that $7,000 worth of silk stockings are missing.

DEPOSITIONS TO BE PRODUCED IN ARBUCKLE TRIAL

Defense Expects to Close Its Case Today; Rebuttal Testimony of the Prosecution Will Follow.

(By The Associated Press.)—San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 27.—Depositions of Dr. Maurice Rosenberg, of Chicago, and other eastern witnesses are to be produced tomorrow in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle.

The defense expects to close its case tomorrow and both sides expect that by the end of the week a verdict will have been rendered which will settle the share the motion picture industry, if any, in the death of Virginia Rappe.

Rebuttal testimony by the prosecution will follow the submission of the defense case and probably will take two days, the district attorney announced. The remainder of the week will be taken up with defense rebuttal evidence, final arguments, instructions by the court and jury deliberation, according to counsel for both sides.

Imatius H. McCarthy, former investigator for the United States department of labor and fingerprint student, is expected to be the first witness tomorrow. The defense called him for the purpose of refuting testimony by E. O. Heinrich, a consulting criminologist, that finger prints on the doors of the hotel St. Francis room where Miss Rappe is alleged to have been fatally injured were those of Arbuckle and Miss Rappe and showed evidences of a struggle.

SUBPOENAS ISSUED FOR SEVEN PERSONS

(By The Associated Press.)—San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 27.—Subpoenas were issued tonight at the request of the district attorney for Louise Guinn, motion picture actress, and six other persons, all believed to be connected with the motion picture industry, to appear in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle.

HUGHES' PROGRAM IS ENDORSED BY WOMEN

(By The Associated Press.)—Chicago, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Maude Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters today sent a message to President Harding, in behalf of the board of directors of the league, endorsing Secretary Hughes' program for the corporation of armaments and pledging support of the organization to the plan.

THIS PRODIGY IS IN HIGH SCHOOL AT 10

Tomah, Wis., Nov. 26.—(Special)—Tomah lays claim to the youngest high school pupil in the United States in the person of De Vere Rowan, 10 years old, who is astounding his teachers and classmates alike with his mature mind. Prominent educators who have heard of the boy, marvel at his ability.

Although most high school freshmen feel satisfied if they merely "get by" the first year with the regular work assigned to them, young Rowan is readily mastering his studies and is looking around for new fields to conquer. Recently he started Principal W. E. Bush when he asked for the almost unheard of privilege of adding an extra study to his course.

De Vere Rowan was born on March 17, St. Patrick's day, 1911, at Lone Wolf, Okla. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rowan, were farmers, and De Vere stayed at home until the age of 5 years, when he entered the fourth grade of the schools of Lone Wolf, a thriving little city. The usual American kid is entering kindergarten at the tender age of 5, but this prodigy was at that age fully prepared for the fourth grade.

The only schooling the boy ever had in a city was for two years in Lone Wolf. All the rest of his schooling has been in the country schools of Wisconsin.

The most powerful factor in the boy's education has not as yet been noted—his mother, Mrs. Agnes Rowan, who came back to her girlhood home in Monroe county, on the death of her husband in 1917, and has since that date been a rural school teacher.

WOMEN P. O. EMPLOYEES WILL NOT LOSE THEIR STATUS BY MARRIAGE

(By The Associated Press.)—Washington, Nov. 27.—Women postal employees will not suffer a change of status or lose any rights in the service by marriage, Postmaster General Hays announced today.

"Heretofore," he said, "when an unmarried woman, holding the position of postmaster, married, she was obliged to secure a new appointment, execute a new bond, or pass the civil service examination in competition with other candidates. This was a hardship, and the new ruling a woman postmaster will continue to hold office without a reappointment or other examination."

CLAIMS AUTOMOBILE IS THE COMING MODE OF TRANSPORTATION

(By The Associated Press.)—Topeka, Kans., Nov. 27.—The automobile is the coming mode of transportation for traveling men and others who must cover a wide territory and meet many people, in the opinion of Asa R. Crawford, assistant to President P. P. Warner of Washburn college. Warner and Crawford have just returned from a three weeks trip over the state in behalf of the coming mode of transportation fund campaign.

Crawford declares the cost of the light car bought for him by the college—$300—was easily saved in the first week, since he was able to see so many more people than if limited by train schedules.

4 PERSONS LOSE THEIR LIVES IN NEW HAVEN FIRE

(By The Associated Press.)—New Haven, Conn., Nov. 27.—At least four persons lost their lives here tonight when the Rialto theater, a moving picture house, was destroyed by fire. More than four score received hospital treatment. It is believed some of the patients may die.

Fire Marshal Perkins said other bodies might be found in the ruins although a search with lanterns revealed only 30 bodies. Two other bodies were at the hospital.

For two hours, while the flames enveloped the theater, it was feared the death list would be heavy. Ambulances carried scores of persons to the hospital, many were in the hundreds had gone home out and buried and scorched. Spectators told of a stampede at the cry of "Fire," and of bodies being in heaps on the main floor, when firemen entered the structure the worst fears were unfounded.

NEARLY BILLION DOLLARS SLUMP IN TAX INCOME OF GOVERNMENT

(By The Associated Press.)—Washington, Nov. 27.—Government tax receipts during the fiscal year 1921 decreased nearly a billion dollars as compared with last year while the cost of collection increased 32 cents for each $100, according to the annual report of the bureau of internal revenue made public tonight. Collections during the past fiscal year totaled $4,595,000,665, against $5,407,589,231 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, a decrease of $812,578,566, or fifteen per cent.

The cost of administering the internal revenue laws for the year the report said, was $40,203,716, or 37 cents for each $100 collected, against 55 cents last year. However, the report added, included in the expenditure was $6,894,497 for the administration of the prohibition and narcotic laws and $129,000 for the enforcement of the child labor law, which, deducted from the total, leaves $32,314,399, or an equivalent of 72 cents for each $100 in taxes collected.

Income and profits taxes aggregated $3,223,372,322, compared with $3,055,946,003 in 1920 and miscellaneous collections totaled $1,366,627,091, against $1,450,644,248 in 1920.

Principal decreases were: Alcoholic liquors, $57,247,720; tobacco manufactures, $40,559,969; excise taxes, $38,555,121; corporation taxes, $11,494,761; and stamp taxes, $11,379,813.

These decreases, the report said, were offset by increases on estate taxes, $4,407,037; transportation and telegraph, $2,164,328, and admission and dues, $1,372,933. Collections under the penalty provisions of the prohibition act totaled $2,164,328, against $1,372,933 in 1920, an increase of $791,395. In 1920, value of forfeited liquors produced $25,263, against $1,965,874.

JAP CABINET IS TAKING A HAND IN THE NEGOTIATIONS OVER THE TONNAGE RATIO OF BATTLESHIPS

Admiral Kato Has Laid the Matter Before His Government; May Accept the "5-5-3" Arrangement, as Proposed by Hughes, and Not Insist on the 70 Per Cent Allotment.

(By The Associated Press.)—Washington, Nov. 27.—The Japanese cabinet and diplomatic advisory council at Tokio are taking a hand in the negotiations here over the tonnage ratio of capital warships to be allotted Japan. Admiral Kato, senior Japanese delegate, has laid the situation before his government.

It is understood he received from Tokio today explicit instructions as to his procedure in reply to communications from the delegation.

It is pointed out that while the Japanese have made it known that they believe they are entitled to a ratio of 70 per cent, there is no available evidence that so far as the conference itself is concerned that Japan has already laid claim to this ratio.

The report was in circulation today that Japan, falling to have her own standard of measurement accepted, would be disposed to accept the "five-five-three" arrangement. This impression seemed to be growing among Japanese. They were of the opinion that Japan would not by over-insistence go so far as to endanger the success of a general naval agreement.

HNMM LES' SEE

It is believed here that the problem of finding new employment for those who will have no work to tax all the wisdom of the government at a time when the general labor situation growing out of the decline in Japanese exports, coupled with a heavy cost of living is giving Japanese leaders concern.

It is pointed out that while the Japanese have made it known that they believe they are entitled to a ratio of 70 per cent, there is no available evidence that so far as the conference itself is concerned that Japan has already laid claim to this ratio.

U. S. SHIPS LED ALL NATIONS IN CANAL TONNAGE

American Vessels Carried 5,163,000 Tons Last Fiscal Year; British Merchantmen Take Second.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 27.—Ships of four nations carried 89 per cent of the approximately 11,600,000 tons of cargo which moved through the Panama canal during the fiscal year ended June 30.

American vessels led all others with 5,163,000 tons, establishing a record by increasing the total tonnage of the previous high year by 615,885. British ships were second with a total of 3,738,250 tons, surpassing their high mark of 1917.

Japan and Norway took third and fourth with 758,600 and 637,380 tons, respectively. Japan exceeded her last high mark of 522,778 tons. Of the nations which shared in moving the remaining 11 per cent of tonnage the most important were Denmark, Holland, Spain, Sweden, France and Peru.

Governor J. J. Morrow, in his report, says that the most important trade route served by the canal "was that between the east coast of the United States and the west coast of South America." Others of the principal routes were those from the east coast of the United States to the Far East and between the west coast of America and Europe.

In terms of money the Panama canal had gross revenues of more than $27,000,000; increased investment additions, stock, etc., of $8,000,000 and gross operating expense of $24,500,000. The excess of revenues in the last fiscal year, the report shows, was $2,750,000 more than operating expenses without allowing for interest on the capital cost of the waterway.

The Panama Railroad company, according to the report, had a gross revenue of approximately $22,000,000, an increase in investments in capital additions of $1,500,000, while the gross operating expenses were $22,000,000 on June 30. Gross revenue of the Panama railroad steamship line, for the same time were $5,156,433, while the operating expenses for the fiscal year totaled $5,857,257.

BORAH "KNOCKS" ASSOCIATION OF NATIONS SCHEME

France would be objectionable to the American people, but that under an association of nations the same thing could be effectuated and accomplished. It is also being urged that while the people of the United States would not be willing to form an alliance with France and Great Britain to guarantee the security of France the same thing could be accomplished under an association of nations and without any constitution.

It is also urged that the international debt could be more successfully manipulated through the association. All of which things simply disclose that the association of nations is another name for the league, with some additional and more extensive powers annexed.

"It does not appear as yet whether we are to have two leagues or one league and one association or whether it is to be that the league organized by Mr. Wilson, will be merged into the association organized by President Harding. It will be difficult to get rid of the present league unless the Versailles treaty is radically modified, but I presume we will know more when the matter is reduced to such concrete form as will enable us to grasp it or at least to try to do so."

An "Irreconcilable." Senator Borah was one of the "irreconcilables" in the senate who opposed the league of nations. He maintained a position of unalterable opposition to the league and was found in the ranks of those voting against the various Lodge reservations. Senator Borah voted for the Knox resolution, the purpose of which was to repeal the joint war resolution and enact a congressional declaration of peace.

DES MOINES TO HOLD FRANCHISE ELECTION TODAY

Any Result, However, Cannot Be Put Into Effect Until Case Is Decided By State Supreme Court.

(By The Associated Press.)
Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 27 (by the Associated Press).—Des Moines' special street car franchise election will be held tomorrow as scheduled by the city council in spite of yesterday's district court decision that the procedure of the council was illegal and that the franchise itself is irregular.

Judges of the state supreme court announced that they would grant the stay of execution of the temporary injunction order sought by the city. It is pointed out that while the election may be held tomorrow the city remains enjoined from putting into force or effect any result of the election until after the case is decided on its merits by the supreme court.

Today's action by the supreme court practically assures Des Moines of street car service this winter, according to attorneys for both sides. It is pointed out that whatever the result may be tomorrow, whether the franchise is approved or defeated, the action will be null and void until after the supreme court has gone fully into the merits of the case and either affirms or rejects the decision of Judge James C. Hume of the lower court. The case may not be heard on its merits for several months.

Students of singing may now use a new appliance which enables them to practice without any sound being audible outside the room.

ASSOCIATION OF MARKETING WILL CONVENE MONDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
Chicago, Nov. 27.—Officials of twenty state market bureaus besides federal market officials and other agricultural experts will meet here tomorrow, and Tuesday for the third annual convention of the National Association of State Marketing Officials.

Such important crop handling questions as these are scheduled for discussion. Important factors in determining standard grades for fruits and vegetables, standardization and inspection services as it has developed in California, and its relation to market reports, consumers' marketing problems, costs of distribution from the shipper's standpoint, and problems facing cooperative marketing organizations.

Speakers include C. H. Taylor, chief, Leon M. Estabrook, associate chief, and H. W. Sampson, specialist in standardization, of the U. S. bureau of marketing and crop estimates, Washington, D. C.; F. W. Read, specialist in standardization, department of agriculture, Sacramento; H. H. Jones, director New York office, New York Division of Foods and Markets; R. E. Phillips of Rochester, N. Y., secretary of the International Apple Shippers' association; C. H. Gustafson of Chicago, president of U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., and director of marketing, American Farm Bureau federation; Dr. Theodore Macklin, department of agricultural economics, University of Wisconsin; and Dr. Eugene H. Ford, commissioner, New York Division of Foods and Markets, Albany.

Committee reports will be made on standardization, co-operative organizations, transportation, legislation, sales and consignments, market reporting and city marketing.

L. G. Foster of Madison, Wis., president, and W. Munson of Boston, secretary of the association.

BRITAIN TO ASK THAT LIMIT BE FIXED ON SIZE OF SUBMARINES

forecast agreement with the American views.

Japan Present Statistics. Japanese officials have presented tables of tonnage to support their claim that they are entitled to retain the Mutsu without similar limitation by the other powers. The Japanese have contended she was a completed ship November 11.

The next step, when the three groups of experts finish, will be their report to the arbitration committee. It seems likely that even if the British and American experts are found to be in accord, Japanese naval officers will submit differing conclusions. It will then become the task of the "big five" committee to seek an agreement on a report to a plenary session.

British opposition to the submarine element of Mr. Hughes' plan was certain to be a chief point to be discussed by the committee and the conference.

British delegates are prepared to press their point that not only should Mr. Hughes' replacement allowance of 90,000 tons in submarines for the British fleet and the American fleet and 64,000 for Japan be reduced but that the size of future submarines should be limited.

There is also the probability that France and Italy will figure largely in whatever the conference may decide as to undersea craft. This is said to overshadow an early attack by the conference on the problem of bringing the French and Italian naval programs into harmony with a general scheme of naval limitations.

Japanese contentions for a higher proportionate strength in air, air carriers, and submarines, proposals also may lead toward a five-power debate. Both France and Italy will prove to be more deeply interested in this new naval element than the other three powers of the three major navies. Both are advanced in aviation.

NEARLY BILLION DOLLARS SLUMP IN TAX INCOME

duced from materials other than fruit $6,465,658 taxable gallons of distilled spirits, a decrease of 13,250,133 from 1920, while 18,995,154 gallons were removed from bond, an increase of 6,772,245 over 1920.

Liquors containing more than one-half per cent of alcohol produced at breweries and distilleries, compared with 286,169,680 in 1920, while cereal beverages containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol produced during the year aggregated 255,825,830 gallons. Production of wine and cordials totaled 19,551,595 gallons and at the end of the year there were 27,648,896 gallons in bond as compared with 17,677,370 gallons on June 30, 1920.

Increase in the number of tax collections districts from sixty-four to seventy-four was recommended by Commissioner Blair as a means of increasing the efficiency of the service.

TOKIO WANTS HEALTH CENTER LIKE THOSE IN U. S. AND EUROPE

New York, Nov. 27.—Tokio wants a health center like those of the large cities of the United States and Europe. In an effort to obtain it, Dr. R. B. Teusler, director of St. Luke's International hospital at the Japanese capital, has just come to New York to interest Americans in a project to so expand that institution as to equip it to perform the functions of a health center.

At present Tokyo has no institution that would correspond to the health centers of other nations. It is proposed to make St. Luke's hospital the nucleus for an establishment which shall include a hospital of 250 beds, a training school for 150 Japanese nurses, a post-graduate department for training Japanese interns and for medical research work, a public welfare and health department to include medical social service and a medical laboratory for American and British medical literature and magazines. Dr. Teusler says that about 15,000,000 would be required to properly establish the proposed health center.

CONDITIONS IN TENTH RESERVE ZONE IMPROVED

Volume of Business in October Shows an Increase Compared With a Year Ago, Report States.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—A note of tempered optimism marks the November review of business, farming, mining, agricultural conditions and oil production in the Tenth federal reserve district, compiled by officials of the federal reserve bank here.

"General conditions," said the report, "continue to improve as the year 1921 nears its close. It is apparent, however, that progress toward a full and complete realization of prosperity and business activity must be slow."

Reports show increases in the volume of business done in October, 1921, over September in the furniture, hardware, grocery, implement and millinery business, and decreases in drugs, dry goods and automobile accessories.

The movement of grain to market has decreased heavily in the aggregate as compared with September. Wheat receipts at four markets decreased 44 per cent, while corn receipts increased 21 per cent.

Flour production in October showed great improvement as compared with a year ago, the October, 1921, output being 52.8 per cent greater than that for October, 1920. Flour mills, says the report, were maintaining production at 82.5 to 90.5 per cent of capacity.

Coal mining in the district showed a decline being kept up to 82.7 per cent of capacity, as compared to 62.8 per cent in September. This decrease is largely attributed to idleness among Kansas coal miners. In the Rocky Mountain district output was only about 10 per cent of normal capacity, while in Missouri it was 62.5 per cent and in Oklahoma 82.2 per cent.

As a result of the threatened railroad strike which did not materialize the end of October found dealers stocked with large supplies of coal and waiting for cold weather to give them an opportunity to unload. Generally the coal market situation is considered "dull," says the report.

As a result of an increase of zinc prices of three dollars in October, zinc production in that industry has been stimulated and the number of shipments has increased heavily.

"Increased activity in mining," says the report, "has taken care of a part of the unemployment problem and in addition there were three mills under construction which helped take care of mill carpenters and other labor."

Hog cholera is reported as improved in Kansas and "quite serious" in Nebraska. Other livestock in Kansas is in fine condition. In Oklahoma the report indicates that many stock cattle, which should be kept on the farm are being shipped to market. Live stock in New Mexico and Wyoming is in good condition. Throughout the district the movement to market was heavy during October, showing an increase of 29.4 per cent over September.

The weather has been favorable for outdoor work of all sorts in the entire district, but lack of moisture is beginning to present a serious problem. In Kansas, where the western half of the state needs moisture badly, though still good in the eastern third. In Missouri the progress and condition of winter wheat is reported as good. Oats are in good condition, and much wheat sown in dry soil has not yet sprouted.

Petroleum production in Kansas and Oklahoma is about normal in volume, with prices higher, and more optimism among operators than has prevailed for several months.

Building operations reached the high mark of the year in October, twenty cities showing an increase of 74.3 per cent, as compared with October, 1920. Spring building activity is indicated, says the review.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING CONTEST IS WON BY STUDENTS OF OHIO U

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Students from Ohio State university won first place in the collegiate livestock judging contest held yesterday at the International Livestock exposition, it was announced tonight.

The Ohio team scored 4,178 points out of a possible 5,000, winning first honors in the placing of sheep and horses. Ontario college was second. Other schools finished in this order:

Oklahoma, Purdue, Kansas, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, State, Missouri, Washington, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kentucky, Texas, Colorado.

GERMANS AND FRENCH PREFERRED IN MEXICO

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 27.—Germans and French are the desirable sort of persons the Mexican government wants for immigrants, according to a colonization bill prepared for submission in the Mexican chamber of deputies, according to Mexico City advices. Germans are praised for "their moral virtues and indomitable perseverance."

Chinese are not wanted because they take their savings back to China and the author of the bill doesn't think they assimilate with the Mexicans.

Several immense tracts of land are open for colonization.

ONLY TEN MORE DAYS OF BIG "FIRST PERIOD" VOTE OFFER

Biggest and Best Vote Offer in the Albuquerque Journal's Automobile Campaign Ends Wednesday, December 7; After That Time Less Votes Will Be Given on Each and Every Subscription Payment; Interest in Campaign Increasing by Leaps and Bounds, with Many Candidates Working Hard in Race for Studebaker Sedan, Studebaker Touring Car and Chevrolet Touring Cars; Still Time to Enter Race and Win an Auto.

Candidates in the Albuquerque Morning Journal's great $8,200 gift giving campaign have but ten more days in which to turn in subscriptions and secure the greatest number of votes for each subscription. Interest in the campaign and enthusiasm in the progress each day of the different contestants, is increasing by leaps and bounds. Every candidate in the race realizes that the Capital Prizes—representing as high as $2,295 in cash—are practically within their reach, to be claimed by the more energetic candidates as their very own, or forfeited to their hard working competitors during the next few weeks.

It depends almost entirely upon the work done by candidates during these next ten BIG VOTE DAYS—the days when each subscription counts many more votes than they will later on in the campaign.

Contestants Must Hustle. If a contestant halts now for a moment—if they slack up or let their enthusiasm wane—if they overlook the opportunity to better

GOODS ACQUIRED BY BOLSHEVISTS ARE DISSIPATED

Stocks Confiscated Prove a Gold Mine for Dishonest Officials; Claim Pilfering Has Been General.

(By The Associated Press.)
Moscow, Nov. 27 (by a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press).—Goods acquired by the government when it took over all property have been dissipated to a very great extent and probably constitute a considerable part of the material offered on the local street markets.

The bolsheviks confiscated the stocks of merchants and the contents of offices and residences and stored them in government houses which have been named "loot houses" by the non-communist public.

These stocks were drawn on very heavily by the army and for other government purposes. But they also proved a gold mine for dishonest officials and the dearth of all sorts of small articles in these houses indicates that pilfering has been pretty general.

Concert pianos, gigantic divans, immense bedroom suites and wardrobes abound, but flat silver, table linen, small rugs and other household articles which guards could carry are lacking. When the American relief administration opened up the houses where its personnel lives the government was to supply all furnishings under the food agreement.

Silver Mining. It was with greatest difficulty that enough dishes were found in the "loot houses" for the use of the Americans and, although assurances were given that the government stores would yield plenty of table silver, the relief workers were obliged to use tinmed iron spoons. Repeated searches were made in warehouses where silver was listed, but it was always missing.

Many old-time Russians who are employed by the American relief administration have recognized pieces of their own furniture in the lot supplied to the American relief administration houses by the government.

Many of the better pictures from private houses have been put into galleries in Moscow and Petrograd. Old furniture and tapestries have also been saved for museums in many cases, but the great mass of confiscated furniture and carpets has gone into government offices or residences of government officials.

The property of foreigners was treated the same as that of Russians.

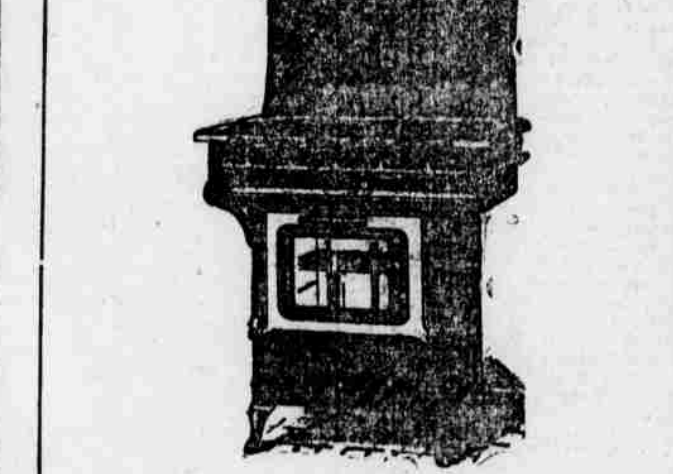

The Notre Dame football eleven, which made such a brilliant record this season, was one of the lightest teams on the gridiron.

RED STAR

DEMONSTRATION SALE STARTS NEXT THURSDAY

There are more Red Star Vapor Stoves in use in Albuquerque than any other one kind of stove burning oil. There must be a mighty good reason for this. The one and only reason is that Red Star Stoves are more economical and more satisfactory. They cook as quickly and as well as the city gas range—and much more economically.

Next Thursday, December first, starts another Three-Day Red Star Demonstration Sale. There will be good things to eat—and a factory man to demonstrate the Red Star. Be There!

AN ALL-YEAR ROUND STOVE

The Red Star is the one all-year round stove. In the winter it can be made to heat with great economy. In the summer, by keeping the oven door closed, it is as desirable as an electric stove, and much more economical.

THE CALORIC PIPELESS FURNACE

When you are down to the Red Star Demonstration ask us about the Caloric Pipeless Furnace. It will be on display. Remember that it saves one-third to one-half of your fuel bills, quickly paying for itself, and adding hundreds of dollars to the value of your property.

REORGANIZATION OF WEST TEXAS LEAGUE PLANNED

(By The Associated Press.)

Sweetwater, Texas, Nov. 27.—Eight clubs to compose the reorganized West Texas baseball league next year will be chosen in Sweetwater tomorrow. Four of the clubs will be San Angelo, Ballinger, Sweetwater and Abilene, all of which finished last season. The other four will be selected from Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Stamford, Brownwood, Coleman and Big Springs.

Now entrants will not be charged for their franchise, according to a previous announcement by the league, but each of the eight clubs will post $500 for a bonus, half of which will go to the players on the club winning the first half of the split season and the remainder to the players winning the second half, to eliminate jockeying. To guarantee players' salaries and other league expenses, each club will deposit $1,000.

To prevent overstepping the new club salary limit of $1,500 monthly, reduced from $2,000, and the player limit of fourteen men, which is a one-man-out, both to include manager, officials and players, each club must make an affidavit monthly that players received only the salaries stipulated in the contract without bonuses. The penalty for the first violation is to be a $500 fine and expulsion is the penalty for the second violation. Each team is to carry five men who have played higher than class D baseball and must have five "rookies."

Clubs on the road are to receive only $75 daily guarantee, without a percentage of the receipts. A new president is to be named for the league tomorrow. R. A. Hodges, of Abilene, has been named. His intention of resigning and being succeeded by a man who is not a resident of any town in the league. The new president will give $10,000 bond and will be required to furnish monthly reports on receipts and disbursements and weekly averages.

Sunday baseball will be optional with the towns.

FARMERS OF 24 STATES MATCHING SKILL FOR $10,000 GRAIN PRIZES

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Thousands of farmers of twenty-four states and half a dozen Canadian provinces are matching skill for the $10,000 prize in the Chicago Board of Trade for the best samples of corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, seeds and hay grown during the current year. The decision will be reached at the third International Grain and Hay show which opens here today.

Agricultural colleges, crop associations, experimental stations, the United States department of agriculture and Canadian provincial departments of agriculture are represented by extensive exhibits showing the handiwork of wizards of the soil throughout the productive stretches of the continent.

Prof. G. L. Christie, Purdue university, superintendent of the exhibit, which is held in connection with the International Livestock exposition, declared that the number of samples had increased 1,000 since last year.

Standing sentinel at the entrance of the grain show is a thirty-foot ear of corn. To build this symbol of the corn belt sixty bushels of corn were required. This single freak ear, hog-raising statisticians declare, would fatten from six to nine hogs from 107 pounds each to 227 pounds each in sixty-six days.

3,000 QUART BOTTLES OF BEER CONFISCATED

(By The Associated Press.)

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 27.—Nearly 3,000 quart bottles of Canadian nine percent beer were confiscated by police and prohibition forces here today. A lake-going yacht also was seized, together with an automobile said by police to belong to George Dittman, an alleged rum runner.

The crew escaped.

Dittman was arrested later and held without bail.

MYSTERY

The Dream of Life in a Romantic Setting.

Cobweb, by George Agnew Chamberlain (Harper & Brothers). Water upset the plans of Napoleon and changed the career of Ritt Bourne. It came in a shower for the French general, but in two tears for Ritt—two maverick tears which broke away from the herd and rolled unbidden down the pallid face of the girl Alloway, who was "remarkable because she looked it."

The first tear caught Ritt's attention; the second, his heart. They made him marry a girl without knowing who she was. Nor did he care, so delicately had the finely-spun threads of her past life which he had been privileged to glimpse enmeshed him in cobweb of filmy gossamer.

Mr. Chamberlain has written a dashing story of romance with the deft hand of expert craftsmanship. The book is airy with the buoyancy of youth and is unsolved by a single spot of unwelcome suggestion. The chief ingredients used are faith and love and the stories are really two) combine to outline a working basis for successful matrimony.

Alloway is Wordsworth's "phantom of delight." The mystery of her coming into a great city is paralleled by the intangible quality of her charm. With few direct adjectives of description the author has brought the reader face to face with perfection in feature, dress and manner, and the girl so pleasantly sketched would be immediately recognized as ever encountered in any of her varying moods.

There is in the book the dream of foreign lands, the potency of vagrant desires. Love is present, but the mystery of the source is hidden and seek with the actual fact of its existence.

"Cobweb" is the sort of a book one wishes to read and then pass on to another whose friendship and esteem are dear.

PLACING OF MOVABLE STEEL DAM IS A NEW ENGINEERING FEAT

(By The Associated Press.)

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 27.—A movable steel dam, placing of which is described by government officials in the office of the United States engineer as a "remarkable engineering feat," is nearing completion in the north canal at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The most remarkable feature of the work, the engineers say, is the swinging of the dam's framework of the dam, weighing approximately eighty tons, into place at one time. This was accomplished by means of a stiff leg derrick on either side of the canal.

The dam will have been installed by December 1, the engineers say, work of placing the gates being under way. The dam will be used to protect two locks in the Soo canal. When the dam is completed it will be possible to shut off the water supply through the canal entirely. Placing of the structure is a precautionary measure entirely, it is pointed out. If at any time any of the gates in the locks break, such an order would be impossible to stop the flow of the water, which might flow through the canal at a high rate of speed, imperiling shipping and carrying away other locks. It is to prevent such an occurrence that the dam was authorized by the government.

The new dam is said by engineers to mark a new step in such construction, the entire framework and gates being built of steel.

The dam is to be operated much like a drawbridge, being drawn in the middle. It will be possible to close either or both sides at a time, keeping the water from one or two locks, as desired. The dam will be tested each month.

SENTENCED TO FORTY YEARS.

DIVERSIFIED COMMENT ON "THREE SOLDIERS" BY JOHN DOS PASSOS

(By The Associated Press.)

The latest popular pastime is defending or attacking John Dos Passos' book of the war. The choice is yours.

John Farrar, The Bookman—"A more powerful study of young America has never been written. It is a good story, too, filled with incident and memorable characters."

Coningsby Dawson, New York Times—"Insulting the army—it is either a base libel or a hideous truth. Dos Passos has achieved a nationwide insult."

F. Scott Fitzgerald in the St. Paul Daily News—"With few exceptions, 'Three Soldiers' by a young Harvard man named John Dos Passos, is the first war book by an American that is worthy of serious notice."

The Evening Transcript—"Public opinion will be shocked by 'Three Soldiers,' but the art of fiction in America and the Goddess of Truth have a new and bright and faithful votary in the artistic gifts of John Dos Passos."

New York Times Editorial—"To characterize 'Three Soldiers' in a single sentence, it is one long protest, rising now to a shriek against military discipline."

Sidney Howard, Lieutenant Al Service, A. E. F.—"I assert that the book's thesis is convincingly presented because the life it depicts as actual was just so, and lives so in the memories of those who endured it."

Ralph Hayes, Former Secretary to Ex-Secretary of War Baker—"Three Soldiers' is a world tale of shranked spirit, broken bodies and a world of suffering."

Harry Hansen in the Chicago Daily News—"Not for Flappers. The frankest, most outspoken American book that has been written since the outbreak of the war."

SPINSTERS

Three Generations of Them Grow Up With Chicago.

(By The Associated Press.)

The Girls, by Edna Ferber (Doubleday Page & Company). There seems to be a movement among the contemporary fictionists for the protection and uplift of old maids. Edna Ferber, whose stories of women in business and other plights are well known, has just published with Doubleday a new book, "The Girls."

So eager was the public to know what Miss Ferber had to offer on this subject that two new editions were necessary before the book really got on the market.

Miss Ferber has made her "girls" live in Chicago, which she knows intimately from the Art Institute to the stockyards. Although she professes to hate its familiar imperfections, she has made it seem a livable place, not at all the dreary terminal where westerners have to change trains to get back home. One feels that one could get around Chicago alone in the decrepit old "electric" of the Thrift family after one or two rides out with the "girls."

To return to the case of the unwed heroines, aged seventy-four, thirty-two and eighteen-and-a-half, respectively, the authors doesn't really do anything about it. It is an unsatisfactory story if one insists upon the prescribed fairy tale ending of "getting married and living happily ever after."

The civil war and the later world conflict robbed the eldest and the youngest of the girls of their first and dearest loves, both men, by fiction coincidence, of the same name and undesirable social standing, "nobodies" in the eyes of their respectable and dominating third kinwomen. Possibly the middle girl had her romance when she doctored her family and went overseas during the war. The comment "It is a brave life, Lottie. Stick to it," by a great-aunt Charlotte when the "real story" of the French war orphan is told leaves the reader in some doubt.

The first Charlotte Thrift, whose father was a pioneer in Chicago, is a rare old girl. She confesses to liking the cigarry odor of a man and sits up in bed at midnight to imbibe a chocolate ice cream soda as calmly as if it were her usual night cap. Lottie, the niece, doctored by her mother, wastes ten years in running up and down on family errands before she breaks away. Charley, the grand niece, is a slightly feisty young woman who would have blushed at her age and lives a comparatively unrestrained existence.

In answer to the book hounds' query "Is it good?" I should reply that "The Girls" is an unusually good piece of fiction. It is easy, interesting reading, just modern enough to give the reader enough presented to intrigue readers of both sexes. "The Girls" has already preoccupied more than one heated argument over the tea cups.

BOXERS ALL SET FOR EXHIBIT AT ARMORY TONIGHT

City Boxing Commission to Judge Exhibits and Give Decisions; Program to Start at 8:30 O'clock.

Members of the city boxing commission will act as judges of the boxing bouts to be held at the armory tonight. John Flaska will referee the Chavez-Gonzalez and the Anaya-Corona main events and Eddy Lewis, of New York City, will referee the two preliminaries. The referees will have nothing to do with the decisions.

The doors at the armory will be opened at 7 o'clock and the first preliminary will start at 8:30. Benny Chavez has chosen Eddy Lewis as his chief second and O'Rocky will be in Gonzalez' corner. Kid Anaya stated yesterday that Jack Torres will occupy his corner. Corona has not yet chosen his chief second. Jake Levy, of Santa Fe, will arrive today to act as official time keeper. He is bringing several car loads of Capital city fans down to see the exhibition.

All four of the double main event boys are featherweights. Benny Chavez and Sailor Gonzalez being scheduled for fifteen rounds.

SAILOR GONZALEZ Who Will Box Benny Chavez at the Armory Tonight.

and Kid Anaya and Johnny Corona for ten rounds. The boys will step into the ring weighing about 125 pounds each.

The city commissioners and the city attorney and city manager have been invited to attend the exhibition, which promises to put Albuquerque again on the map as the location for first class boxing cards. Ladies, accompanied, will be admitted free of charge. They will not be required to pay war tax.

MILLE LENGLEN IS NOT A GOOD LOSER, ASSERTS

(By The Associated Press.) Paris, Nov. 27 (By the Associated Press).—Capt. A. R. De Joannis, who accompanied Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis player, to the United States last summer, has resigned as vice president of the French Tennis Federation and also as a member.

He resigned in protest against the federation's "order of the day," published today, blaming directors of the "United States Lawn Tennis Federation for unjustified commentaries on the sporting spirit of Mlle. Lenglen."

His resignation is the climax of a controversy that has been going on inside the federation since the return to France of Mlle. Lenglen. He was accused of having urged the French player "to engage in tennis matches while physically unfit."

"Mlle. Lenglen," he said, "was fit when she met Mrs. Mallory at Forest Hills. She was defeated by a player who on that date showed a better brand of tennis."

"I shook hands with Mlle. Lenglen," he continued, "before she entered the court. Her hands were cool and her pulse normal. She only commenced coughing after having lost the games. I blame her for refusing to continue when I could have obtained a recess."

"Suzanne's attacks against the United States lawn tennis officials and the public are unwarranted. She was received like a little queen and treated with the utmost courtesy. Her every whim and mood was satisfied."

"She knows how to win but she does not know how to lose gracefully. She placed the personality of Suzanne before the good name of the sporting world of her country, and could not face defeat."

HIS CUE WORK IS TALK OF BILLIARD WORLD

Welker Cochran, snapped while warming up for one of his matches in the international tourney at Chicago.

The sensational playing of Welker Cochran in the international billiard tourney in Chicago bears out the predictions that he may be the man to unseat Willie Hoppe from his throne in the near future. Cochran, still in his early twenties, set a high run record for the tourney when he ran up 386 points in the fourth inning of his match with George Sutton. He won the match in the fifth inning, 400 to 57. The previous record for the meet was 307, held by Hoppe. Cochran is a San Francisco man.

PERSONAL NOTES OF THE STATE

DEXTER NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Weaver, of Roswell, were Thanksgiving day visitors in Dexter.

R. F. Gibson, who for the past year has been superintendent of the local plant of the Pecos Valley Milling company, has severed his connection with that concern and has taken up his residence in Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Sweeney former residents of this place, have returned from an extended business trip to Texas points and are stopping off here for a short time before going on to Hot Springs, N. M., where Mr. Sweeney plans to enter business.

Rev. Henry Barton, of the M. E. church, was in charge of the union Thanksgiving services of the Dexter churches, held on Thursday at 7:30 o'clock.

George Wilcox has recently completed a nice little five-room bungalow in the west part of town.

Hunting parties into the mountains are more than usually numerous this fall and game seems to be plentiful although the recent enlargement of the White mountain game preserve has closed some of the best hunting ground. Joe Chandler was the first local hunter to return with a deer, having obtained a magnificent six-pronged buck the very first day out.

Other deer in the hills include Arthur and Alfred Stone, Nate Kuykendall, C. L. Brooks, Frank Crain, Urban Wiseman, O. M. Wallace, George Wilcox, Ernest Utterback, Charlie Lathrop and S. B. Davis.

Fletcher Waddell and Earl Wolfe are doing jury service at the county seat during the fall term of court being held by Judge C. R. Brice.

The girls' basketball team of the local high school took the measure of the fast Artesia girls' team last week by a score of fourteen to eleven. Quite a number of Dexter fans accompanied the team to the down-valley town and they report an interesting time.

The Dexter schools enjoyed the regular two-day Thanksgiving vacation Thursday and Friday.

Dexter chapter of the American Red Cross reports good success in their annual relief last week and this.

The surfacing crew of the Dexter-Roswell highway project which has been located at Orchard Park for the past two months, is being moved to Dexter this week and work of graveling this end of the project will begin at once.

The Dexter camp of the W. O. W. were hosts to a large crowd of people Thursday evening when they entertained at a fine turkey dinner.

The list of guests was too numerous to be included here.

The Missionary society of the local churches served Thanksgiving dinner to about one hundred and fifty home folks and visitors at the Commercial hotel. About fifty dollars accrued to the treasury thereby.

CARLSBAD.

Mrs. R. L. Halley and Mrs. Rom Holt entertained on Friday with the first of a series of bridge parties, twenty guests being present.

A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations with baskets of chrysanthemums and in the refreshments.

Mrs. J. D. Hudgins had the honor of making high score. Those present were as follows: Mesdames Hudgins, Dugan Rickman, J. N. Cunningham, W. F. Glasier, E. H. Lang and her guest, Mrs. Shaver, of Sioux Falls; H. H. Dilley, E. P. Bujac, D. M. Jackson, Bert Rawlins, Frank Richards, Allen Hardy, Mary Miller, C. C. Sikes, L. E. Pence, L. E. Erwin, W. G. Donley, W. E. Moore, Misses Pratt and Howell. The second of the series of parties was given on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Holt. Mrs. Harry McKim having high score on that day.

A very congenial dinner party was given by Mrs. L. C. Pence on Tuesday evening. Those enjoying this hospitality were Misses Lucile McNeely, Frankie Howell, Corinne Higgins and Mr. Logbeck.

Mrs. F. G. Tracy returned Tuesday from Washington, D. C., where she has spent the last two months with her daughter, Mrs. George Eddy.

Mrs. W. F. Glasier was hostess Tuesday afternoon at a delightful bridge party, sixteen guests being present. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the game.

Mrs. H. I. Braden was hostess to the bridge club on Wednesday at her home on Canal street. Mrs. F. G. Tracy made high score on this occasion.

Mrs. C. C. Sikes entertained at dinner on Thursday the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Pence, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hudgins, Miss Dorothy Hudgins, Miss Frankie Howell, Mrs. Mary E. Howell, Messrs. R. B. Trowbridge and Bill Hudgins.

The home of Mrs. John Barber on Halaguano street was the scene of a pretty Thanksgiving bridge luncheon on Friday. Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Dugan Rickman being joint hostesses. Thirty-five guests were invited for this occasion.

An art exhibit of the paintings of the New Mexico artists was held at the Women's club each afternoon of the past week, under the auspices of the Women's club.

F. G. Tracy left Thursday night for Salt Lake City to attend the meeting of the Western States Reclamation association, which convenes at that place the 29th of this month.

Over one thousand people witnessed the cowboy rodeo in Carlsbad on Thanksgiving. The celebration began on Wednesday and lasted through Thursday and Friday with dances at the armory each evening. The music was furnished by a very good negro orchestra and large crowds were in attendance each evening.

Up to last Monday, 3,300 bales of cotton had been shipped to the different cotton centers from Carlsbad. The average yield for the season is estimated at three-quarters of a bale to the acre, for this project.

WIRTH IS URGED TO REPLY TO SPEECH OF PREMIER OF FRANCE

(By The Associated Press.) Berlin, Nov. 27 (By the Associated Press).—Now that Premier Briand of France is homeward bound from Washington, newspapers are urging Chancellor Wirth to abandon his reserve at least to the extent of informing the American public of the "uselessness of Mr. Briand's arguments in support of France's attitude on disarmament."

They say that the Wirth government did not desire to engage in acrimonious controversy with M.

Theaters Today

"B" Theater—Repeating for the last time today "Black Sheep," with Neil Hart as the leading star; also repeating the two-reel Percy and Ferdie comedy, "Their Dizzy Finish," and the "Current Events" pictures.

Lyric Theater—Repeating today "Bring Him In," with popular Earle Williams as the star, assisted by an all-star cast; also repeating "The Skipper's Treasure Garden," the two-reel Tonerville comedy.

Pastime Theater—Shirley Mason, one of the William Fox de luxe stars, is still at the Pastime as the leading character in "Queenie"; also repeating the "Fox News" pictures and "The Flirt," with Harold Lloyd as the star.

CATTLE WAR ON THE WESTERN PLAINS FURNISH THEME FOR "BLACK SHEEP"

Things began to happen in the very first scene of "Black Sheep," which opened at the "B" theater yesterday and which is being repeated today.

Even before you are comfortably seated you will find yourself neck-deep in interest in this dynamic drama of one of the most unusual wars ever staged in this or any other country. It is a picture based upon the war between the cattlemen and the sheepherders and it was no gentlemen's war either.

The hobbed of these hostilities was in Wyoming, the locale of this picture, and before it ended many lives were lost and thousands of dollars worth of sheep and cattle were destroyed.

Neal Hart is the star of this production, which exceeds any of his previous efforts both in historic and artistic effects. He is supported by an exceptionally clever cast, which makes this one of the best western productions ever shown at the "B" theater.

The lover of out-of-door drama, which was portrayed with so telling an effect in Neal Hart's other productions—"Hell's Oasis," "Danger Valley" and "Skyfire"—will find in "Black Sheep" the same sort of cleverness that is earning for that star the title of America's premier actor of western roles.

DRAMATIC INCIDENT OF NORTHWEST IS WOVEN IN "BRING HIM IN"

H. H. Van Loan, the well known author and short story writer, after a trip to Canada and the great north woods, incorporated many of his adventures into the Earle Williams picture, "Bring Him In," which is being repeated today for the last time at the Lyric theater.

To set local color, Mr. Van Loan visited a dance hall in Claire. The place was filled with a typical motley gathering of miners, prospectors, Indians, and dancing girls. There he heard a story which is used as an incident in "Bring Him In." A pretty little Indian girl was trying to induce her drunken father to go home with her and a number of roughneck hangers-on were trying to prevent it. A man rushed forward to intervene when a shout of warning from the crowd checked him. Turning, he saw the brilliant scarlet uniform of the famous Northwest Mounted Police flashing in the doorway. The officer rushed at the drunken miner, hit a good smashing blow that felled him to the floor and was escorting the Indian girl and her father out of the door when one of the miner's friends stabbed him in the back. The gang of ruffians closed in on the officer, shouting fiercely. At this moment, another member of the Mounted Police pushed his way into the room. The newcomer waded through the mob, hitting right and left with his gun butt and his fist. He cleared the hall and aided his wounded comrade.

Mr. Van Loan wove this all into a thrilling story of the Mounted Police. He told how years later the man whose life had been saved was sent to "bring in" his old comrade wanted for murder. The conflict between his friendship and his sense of duty makes a most dramatic situation.

SHIRLEY MASON SCORES TREMENDOUS BIG HIT IN PICTURE, "QUEENIE"

The first showing here of the Fox production "Queenie," which opened at the Pastime theater yesterday and which is being repeated today, with Shirley Mason as its star, served to prove anew the irresistible winsomeness of this favorite screen artist.

In the story of "Queenie" Shirley wins the heart of a youthful poet. But near the end the poet decides that poetry—at least his brand—is not conducive of wealth, so he becomes the manager of his rich father's big factory. Aside from this romance of the young pair, there is lively action galore, and enough laughs and suspense to carry the story to the end without a moment's lapse of interest. The story was written by Wilbur Finley Fauley, and the picture was directed by Howard M. Mitchell—who has directed this star in a goodly number of her Fox successes. The support throughout is excellent.

WARM RECEPTION FOR NAVY FOOTBALL TEAM

(By The Associated Press.)

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 27.—The Navy team that vanquished the Army cadets in the annual football game were accorded a warm reception on their return from New York today by their comrades and townspeople.

The main demonstration did not take place until after arrival of Captain Larsen and his teammates at the academy grounds. The players were pulled off the cars and borne on shoulders of their enthusiastic comrades to Bancroft hall.

Woman's Daily Magazine Page-Electricity In The Home

HOME KITCHEN VENTILATED FOR COOK'S COMFORT

Three times every day or twenty-four hours a week every woman who does her own cooking is obliged to spend hours in a stuffy kitchen filled with cooking odors that not only make a heavy, ill-smelling atmosphere, but really take away the appetite. In the winter time doors and windows are usually kept closed to prevent chilling the house and gradually other rooms become permeated with objectionable odors.

A new kitchen ventilator operated electrically is able to turn the kitchen workshop into a pleasant place because it draws off all cooking odors and keeps them from entering other rooms. Such a ventilator permits the cooking of foods that are often omitted from the family dinner because they will "smell up" the house. The home atmosphere should be kept fresh, clean and sweet and free from smoky, steamy air.

Ventilating equipment has long been in use in the kitchens of first class restaurants. Such kitchens with their huge ranges would be excessively hot and there would be a consequent spoilage of food, not to mention the discomfort of the cooks. If there had been no provision for proper ventilation, pure air is as important as pure water, not only in big hotels but in the home kitchen. Before the late war have depended chiefly upon haphazard methods of ventilation.

NATIONAL LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS WILL MEET NOVEMBER 30

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Nov. 27.—Leaders of women voters' organizations in seven states will meet here November 29 for the fourth regional conference of the National League of Women Voters. States concerned are Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Washington, D. C., president of the league, Mrs. F. B. Pinchot of Milford, Pa., its financial chairman, and Mrs. Richard Edwards of Peru, Ind., will be among the speakers.

Among others participating will be Miss Elizabeth Hauser of Glendale, O., director for the district, and these state presidents: Mrs. A. H. Beardsley, Elkhart, Ind.; Miss Mary Bromberg, Hopkinton, N. H.; Mrs. Wilbur Brotherton, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Guy Malin, Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. John L. Ruhl, Clarksville, W. Va.; Mrs. Ben Hopper, Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Henry W. Cheney, Chicago president for Illinois.

On December 1 Miss Belle Sherwin of Cleveland, second vice president of the league, will open a three-day institute on efficiency in government.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

Me and pop was in the setting room, pop smoking and thinking and me looking at my arithmetic homework and wishing that whoever invented homework had bin run over or something before they invented it, and all of a sudden I had a idea, saying, Hay, pop, I bet you use to be good as anything in arithmetic when you went to school, didn't you, pop?

Well, I believe there was one boy in the class better than I was, but he was exceptional, sed pop. Did you ever win any prizes or anything, pop? I sed.

Not that I can remember, I may have, sed pop, and I sed, Well G, pop, gosh, I tell you lets wat, supposing you do this iample that we got for homework and sed if your answer is the same as mine, and if it is mines rite.

Lets have a look at it, sed pop. And I showed him the iample and he took out his fountain pen and started to do it on a piece of paper, saying, Let me see now, let me see, this looks simple enuff, let me see, if 4 men can do a pece of work in 3 and a half days working 8 hours a day, let me see, wat kind of a foolish iample is this to give a child let me see, no thats not rite, well if you were able to do it I certenly awt to.

And he kept on talking and making faces and putting down numbers for about 10 minits and then he sed, O thats simple enuff, there's nothing to that, I've got the answer already.

O that was quick pop, no wonder you use to win prizes, leave me see the answer you got, I sed. Wats your answer? sed pop, and I sed, Leave me see yours and Ill tell you if it is the same. O ho, I smelt a rat, sed pop, and I sed, Sir? and pop sed, You havent done the iample at all, have you?

Sir? No sir, Lsed, and pop sed, Then let the 4 winds of heaven take my answer. And he tore up his pece of paper with the answer on it in little bits of peeces and threw them up in the air and they went all over the floor, and wena came up stairs she made me pick them all up.

SAN FRANCISCO ELECTS HER FIRST WOMAN SUPERVISOR

Miss Margaret Mary Morgan.

To Miss Margaret Morgan goes the honor of being the first woman supervisor of San Francisco. Miss Morgan was recently elected to her office, which was never before held by a woman. She is a business woman, however, and asserts that her election does not necessarily mean that she will enter politics.

Miss Morgan is manager of one of the largest printing plants on the coast. She was the main factor in setting the big printer's strike which took place in that city. Previous to that, as one of four appointed persons, she was sent to China to study the industrial conditions of women. She also has the distinction of being the only woman chairman appointed on the "Be a Doer" committee formed by the business people of northern California for advertising purposes. A tremendous purse has been gathered for this three-year advertising campaign, and Miss Morgan is one of the three trustees appointed for its care.

She is called in constantly by big business interests for advice and is spoken of as having "an uncanny vision of the outcome of business problems." It was the business men of the city who insisted that for the good of San Francisco Miss Morgan must have a hand in the governing of its business. A tribute to her recognition of the business woman which is unusual from men.

HOT WAFFLES BAKED BY ELECTRICITY ARE PREPARED AT TABLE

Hot, crispy waffles with a generous amount of butter and real maple syrup—can you imagine any food more delicious, made right at the table too! Waffles baked by electric heat are so light that each one creates a desire for another. The chief drawback has been to supply the demand, especially if the man of the house had a large capacity for waffles. There is a new electric waffle iron announced that bakes three at a time and it's easy to operate. Just pull down the handle and the waffle iron is ready to be used. Pour in the batter, raise the handle until the waffle iron closes and crispy waffles, done just right are the result—three of them ready to eat.

You recall the lady who wrote: "And we poured, baked, buttered and ate," well, here is a recipe for waffles so that others may pour, bake, butter and eat.

Waffles for the new electric waffle iron:
2 cups pastry flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 2 eggs; 2 teaspoons salt; 2 tablespoons butter.

1-2 cups milk. Mix dry ingredients and cut in the butter. Add beaten yolks and milk, then cut in beaten whites of the eggs.

Corn flour waffles:
1-2 cups white wheat flour; scant 1-2 cup white corn flour; 1 teaspoon sugar; 3-4 teaspoon salt; 3 teaspoons baking powder; sift together three times; 2 eggs well beaten; 2 cups milk.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

A WEEK'S DINNERS FOR THE MARRIED WOMAN WORKER.

This morning's mail brought me a letter which reads, "I am writing for a bunch of us who are married wage earners. When we leave the shop for our homes at night we have to do our marketing then get dinner for our husbands. Would you help us by printing a whole week's set of dinner menus that we could get in a hurry, after getting home at night? It's so hard to think up good meals that we can get in about half an hour. And they must be substantial, for our men folks need hearty meals."

I take pleasure in helping out these girls with the following:
Monday Night's Dinner—Cold meat left from Sunday's roast. Boil just twice as many potatoes as you need for this meal so you'll have some cold tomorrow night for hash. Open and heat a can of string beans. Dice a couple of bananas and a couple of oranges, mix them, then sprinkle with sugar, for dessert. Bread, butter and coffee are taken for granted in these menus. Also pickles, relishes, and other such things that help to make a meal taste good.

Tuesday Night's Dinner—Hash from the last bit of Sunday's roast and the cold boiled potato on hand. Open and heat a can of tomatoes. Make a cornstarch pudding (this is a quickly made dessert, and the egg in it helps to make the meal substantial).

Wednesday Night's dinner—Hamburg steak meat balls. Make a double quantity of white potatoes again (half for tomorrow night) and mash them all. Open and heat a can of peas. Pare, core and dice a couple of apples put them over the fire with water to cover, and boil them about 20 minutes, or till soft, then sweeten them to taste; this apple sauce is even better if a dash of ground cinnamon is added for flavor, or a little lemon juice or a drop or two of vanilla extract.

Thursday Night's dinner—Buy two or three slices of raw ham and broil these as you would chops. In setting the big printer's strike which took place in that city. Previous to that, as one of four appointed persons, she was sent to China to study the industrial conditions of women. ARTISTIC LAMP SHADES CAN BE MADE AT HOME

Many women make their own lamp shades of silk, or of chiffon drapes, or other light material, but a clever woman designer in New York has gone a step further and has made exquisite lamp shades out of ostrich plumes.

A certain display man wanted new lamp shades to adorn two display windows on Fifth avenue. The color scheme of each window was orange and black, the objects of display were orange colored evening wraps and handsome black hats.

Two floor lamps illumined the display, each lamp having a shade made of orange colored plumes tipped with black. The frame used was four sided and smaller at the bottom than at the top. The plumes stand upright and are fitted in closely round the bottom of the frame which is covered with orange mulline. The tips of the plumes droop over slightly on the outside. The light coming through the orange colored mulline and plumes is very lovely and greatly enhances the beauty of the goods displayed.

ELECTRICAL NOTES

Figures show that the average person now uses more than twelve times the amount of electricity that he used eighteen years ago. An army of 1,400,000 men and women are owners now of stocks and bonds of the electric companies and more than $300,000,000 of public funds in the hands of insurance companies and $1,700,000,000 in bank funds are invested in public utility securities.

Useful rules for baking: Slow even, temperature is about 250 to 300 degrees Fahrenheit; moderate oven, temperature is about 350 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit; hot oven, temperature is about 400 to 450 degrees Fahrenheit; very hot oven, temperature is about 450 to 550 degrees Fahrenheit.

Already many farms have electricity delivered to them by the central station plants and within a very short time it is to be expected that the rural districts will have the same efficient and modern service as is possible in the thickly populated cities. The same plants that serve the cities now furnish service to the smaller communities and to the farms.

An electric grill of improved rigid construction with a convenient three-heat snap switch that can be easily detached when cleaning the appliance, has been placed on the market. The grill includes a removable rack with four separate pans for poaching eggs, and is of the shape and size of the ordinary stove plate which permits the use of small aluminum vessels. The pans have large handles, strongly supported. The grill is also made with an oven, which adds to its serviceability in the well appointed light housekeeping apartment or kitchenette.

Under the auspices of the Electrical Co-operative league there is now being constructed in Denver an electrical home. It is being constructed as an object lesson in the use of electricity in the house. The wiring of the house will be most conveniently arranged, and in addition to a model system of illumination, will contain every known electrical appliance for saving labor in the home. The construction of this home serves to call attention to what the development of the electrical industry has meant to the public. Much drudgery has been removed from and comfort added to the home through the use of electricity.

POWER DRIVEN SEWING MACHINES MEAN SAVED ENERGY AND ECONOMY

A southern woman again starting housekeeping after three years in hotels and boarding houses bought an electric sewing machine and saved money by making all her own window curtains and hemming and making her bed linens.

In one day she made six kitchen aprons, a saving of one-half of what the ready-made ones would have cost. Later she made five wash dresses and saved the dressmaker's cost which in this case was five dollars each. During the same month, $27 was saved when for the first time in three years she made twelve gingham and linen suits for her five-year-old son, twelve wash dresses and six undershirts for her three-year-old daughter.

The actual time spent in accomplishing all of this sewing was a little over five weeks. Only two days were required to do the stitching of the curtains and linens. The actual saving in dollars by the use of the electric sewing machine was $70.85. The machine cost less than $70 on time payments.

OMAHA PACKING PLANT WORKERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Will Walk Out to Resist Announced Wage Cuts If a Majority Decide to Take Similar Action.

(By The Associated Press.) Omaha, Neb., Nov. 27 (by the Associated Press).—Omaha packing plant workers today voted in favor of a strike here to resist announced wage cuts if a majority of employees of the industry in other packing centers want to take similar action.

The vote was taken at a mass meeting called by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of North America. According to Jacob Davis, president of the union's district council, about fifty per cent of those who attended were non-union workers.

MEETING OF PROTEST IS HELD IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Wage cuts recently agreed to by representatives of the workers of the packing industry paved the way for a ten-hour day and further wage cuts, speakers at meetings of protest held under the auspices of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of North America, asserted today.

Three meetings were held but only a few hundred workers were present. They expressed their disapproval of the wage cut agreed to at conferences between representatives of the workers and employers. Dennis Lane, secretary of the national union organization, asserted that the industrial plan exists only on paper, that it does not represent the sentiment of the workers and that it merely paves the way for further wage cuts.

The workers were urged to take no action unless ordered to do so following a meeting of the executive committee of the meat workers' union here Wednesday. Action followed an address by Mr. Davis, who said that he described conditions as they existed in the packing industry "in an impartial way" so that the workers could decide for themselves what they wanted to do. About 1,500 employees were present, Mr. Davis said.

Resolution Adopted. A resolution was adopted repudiating the action of the plant conference boards in accepting wage reductions. The resolution said: "Whereas, the big five packers through their conference board, or so-called company unions, have declared a reduction of wages of from three to seven and one-half cents in all their plants, said reduction to become effective November 28.

"Be it resolved, That we, the packing house workers in mass meeting assembled, repudiate the action of the conference boards or so-called company unions in voting for or accepting any reduction in wages whatever, and we want the public to know that the great majority of packing house men and women do not favor a reduction of wages, as the big packers would have the public believe in their statements to the daily press.

"Be it further resolved, That we favor the calling of a strike in the immediate future in Omaha, should the packing house workers, or a large majority of them in other packing house centers signify their willingness to strike.

"Be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the general executive board of the A. M. C. and B. W. of N. A., and a general conference board now holding a joint meeting in Chicago, with the request that action not be long delayed.

"Be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be given to the public press for publication." President Davis said the vote in favor of the strike in the event action of this kind is favored in other centers, was "so unanimous that it was hardly necessary to take the nay vote."

EMPLOYEES ARE URGED TO WAIT FOR ORDERS

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—C. J. Hayes, national president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, addressing a mass meeting of more than 2,000 packing house workers in Kansas City, Kan., today urged them to await orders from their union before taking formal action relative to wage cuts. Several speakers from the workers, however, urged them to strike immediately. No formal action was taken.

SIOUX CITY PROTESTS AGAINST WAGE SLASH

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 27.—Emphatic protest against wage reductions announced by the packers was voiced here today by Local 297 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen. Following an address by Patrick J. Gordon, vice president of the international union, the 131 members of the union who attended the meeting, voted unanimously to oppose the reduction. Those present represented only a small proportion of the more than 2,000 packing house employees here.

DELEGATES ARE GRASPING ROOT PLAN ON CHINA

Full Significance of the "Four Points" Is Coming to Be Better Understood at Washington Parley.

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 27 (by the Associated Press).—The full significance of the American "four points," proposed by Ellhu Root and adopted by the arms conference to guide its discussions on China, is coming to be better understood as the Far Eastern negotiations proceed on specific subjects.

At first regarded as largely a reiteration of general principles which had long been sanctioned on paper by all the powers, the "four points" have in fact become the foundation on which China's friends hope to erect a system of reforms that will in many respects reverse past and present practices. The American delegation has taken the leadership by making known that it regards the Root resolution as vastly more than a few finely turned diplomatic phrases. The American position is that by accepting the "four points" the nations have bound themselves to apply in a concrete way the long-proposed principles of fair dealing toward China, and to proceed without subterfuge to give China as great a degree of independence as conditions warrant.

Powerful support from outside the American delegation has strengthened that position and in the discussions of tariff autonomy, extra territoriality and postal rights the trend of the negotiations never has been permitted to stray far from the Root platform. In every case proposed solutions have been maintained in the light of appropriate sections of the "four points," with the result that the four American principles have become the dominating element of the discussions.

How this method will affect such problems as Shantung, Manchuria and the "twenty-one demands," if they come before the conference is to be demonstrated. With the questions of extra territoriality and postal rights to be disposed of tomorrow, through specific declarations now in preparation, there was an expectation in some quarters that the subject of leases, including those held by Japan in Shantung and Manchuria, might be brought up for discussion soon.

Shantung Agreement. Delegates are hearing many rumors of an attempt to secure an agreement on Shantung, at least, outside the conference. Such a development apparently would be welcomed by all powers. In its consideration of China, it was explained, the conference is considering the situation as divided roughly into three sections. First there has been a grouping of all the sovereign rights that China still retains, with general agreement that all must be preserved. In the second group have been placed all the rights in dispute as a result of the treaties and other agreements, with the understanding these will be restored to China insofar as possible. The third group comprises rights which China declares have been asked from her without any pretext whatever and which it is the desire of the conference to give back unless valid reasons can be produced to the contrary.

ATTEMPTS TO ATTACK EMBASSY FRUSTRATED

(By The Associated Press.) Rome, Nov. 27.—Several demonstrations against the French embassy were attempted today as an aftermath of the excitement caused by the publication of Washington dispatches alleging use of harsh words by Premier Briand of France against Senator Schanzer at the Washington conference. The police dispersed the demonstrators. There were further anti-French demonstrations Saturday night in Genoa and Naples.

Moore's Firepot Burns the Gas, Smoke and Soot

In ordinary stoves it has never been possible to burn the gas of soft coal, and the greater part of its heating power has been lost. Moore's Firepot is constructed specially to burn all the Gas, the Smoke and the Soot of soft coal, making it as valuable for heat as hard coal.

Perpendicular flues, extend from the bottom to the top, on the side of the fire box. These are connected by narrow slots with the inside. The air which is admitted through the draft slide is drawn up the flues and discharged through the slots against the sides of the coal; the heat frees the gas from the coal, which immediately mixes with the air and bursts into flame. The smoke passing out of the chimney is white, showing that all the heat-giving qualities in the coal have been consumed. The fire burns around the sides of the firepot, and gradually consumes the coal toward the center. There are no ashes between the fire and the pot, so that a great heat radiates through the firepot.

In ordinary stoves the fire burns from the bottom and center toward the top and outside; the gas is driven up the chimney and wasted, and the ashes and fuel prevent heat radiating to the oven.

Through the invention and use of Moore's Firepot the heating value of soft coal or slack is nearly doubled. The cheapest grade of slack coal can be used in this stove with the same success and satisfaction as the best grade of lump.

THE NATIONAL PARK AND THE PECOS VALLEY

Will Robinson, veteran newspaper man in New Mexico and editor of the Roswell News, has something to say of the proposed national park in the south part of the state.
Perhaps there is nothing in the suspicion that foxey Bill Hawkins is slipping something over on the people. Perhaps not!
The fact remains that Hawkins once tried to divert the waters of the Rio Grande river across the Sierra Blanca to his El Paso and Southwestern railroad in the vicinity of Three Rivers where a well known member of the cabinet has a ranch which he calls his residence. Senator Fall was helping him. The irrigation farmers who depended upon the waters of that river and those having summer homes on its banks, blocked the deal.
Perhaps this park was not suggested by Secretary Fall in order to bring these lands and waters under the control of the secretary of the interior. We assert nothing. Perhaps the fact that Mr. Fall owns several hundred acres of land on the side of the range to which Mr. Hawkins has been trying to divert the Rio Grande, has nothing to do with this park move. We say, perhaps not!
Mr. Bill Hawkins, well known philanthropist, perhaps heads the committee through sympathy for the people of New Mexico. He merely wishes to help his friends in Raton, Las Vegas, Santa Fe, Gallup and Albuquerque. Perhaps!

But listen to what Mr. Robinson says:
"Rev. S. E. Allison, Byron O. Beall and Robert Kellahan are studying the dope for the meeting at Las Cruces next Monday to consider the proposition to create a national park in the mountains. The first enthusiasm for the plan has given way to more mature thought, in the course of which several things have occurred to the minds of the thinkers. One is that W. A. Hawkins of El Paso is chairman of the meeting, the same Hawkins that tried his best to grab the waters of the Rio Grande from the Rock Island road, and might near get away with it. The second is that Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall, who joined in that benevolent raid, would be czar of the park if created, and the way would be wide open to get away with that same water. Another is that if the tract is made a park and follows the usual practice, all cottage rights would be wiped out, and the park would simply be a rubber-neck proposition with a high-priced hotel as the center of it. Once made a park it will be good-bye to any chance for the common folks, these students say. They may not have the right hunch—but since we all know both Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Fall, the general impression is that the delegates will be wise to land in Las Cruces with their fingers crossed. Conservation is one thing, a clever raid on the water supply, and the sale of real estate by some leaders is another."

The Pecos valley should be at Las Cruces to watch this deal. The Journal's attention has been called to the matter before. In August surveyors, presumably employed by the railroad, were at work re-surveying the cut through the Sierra Blanca. Perhaps everything in on the square. Perhaps!

WOMEN PHYSICIANS.

There is an air of reserve about cultured Britishers which tends to make us think of them as a conservative people. This impression is strengthened by their retention of the monarchical form of government and titled nobility. We are apt to lose sight of the fact that notwithstanding the reverence paid the crown the English are as democratic both in spirit and practice as Americans.
The idea that the British are conservative is given a jolt by a casual piece of news which the cables bring concerning the extent to which English women are entering the medical profession. We take pride in the way American women are throwing off the age-old fetters that limited their sphere of activity and are engaging in occupations formerly reserved exclusively for men. But so far as the practice of medicine is concerned, English women seem to be outdoing us. An authority says there are now many more women students of medicine in England than in the United States.
Britishers regard this development with complacency. And why should they not? Women are certainly equal in intelligence to men, and the good judgment, the steadiness of nerve, and the ability to stand fatigue, which they have exhibited as nurses at countless thousands of sick beds and operating tables show that they are not lacking in the other qualities essential to a good physician.

BUNCOMBE.

To the man not so blinded by political prejudices that his sense of humor is in complete eclipse, the contortions of political managers to bring about what they want while seeming to be very impartial and disinterested, is amusing.
On March 31, 1917, after having had years in which to fill the postoffices with postmasters to the political liking of the democratic leaders, Woodrow Wilson, president, issued an executive order placing all postoffices under the civil service—leaving, however, incumbents in their places. Thus what looked to the public like a great stride forward in efficient service, resulted in fact, in making perpetual the berths of democratic postmasters.
Had the order been left in force by the Harding administration there would have been a gradual shifting to an actual civil service basis, as new postmasters succeeded those who died—postmasters rarely resign.
Will H. Hays began his career as postmaster general with a well sounding order, issued March 9, 1921, that the postal establishment was to be "humanized." In fact, this is being done and the efficiency of the department is being rapidly increased. However, some things are being done which hardly tend in that direction.
On May 10, 1921, President Harding, by executive order, so far withdrew postmasters from the civil service as to allow the naming of one of the highest three qualified eligibles for appointment. The civil service was to examine. Then the politicians could choose from the highest three. This, of course, was better than the appointment of utterly incompetent for political reasons only, but it put an end to Wilson's plan to pass those offices under the civil service.

Then came an executive order giving ex-service men five points on their examinations as an allowance for service. That sounded well on paper. But listen to an instance we have before us:

In the examination for a certain postoffice an ex-service man made a grade of 91.40 per cent. His five points made his total 96.40 per cent. His nearest competitor had a grade of 82.53. As the politicians could name any one of the highest three, they named the second man. So the 5 per cent preference to ex-service men becomes a joke.

Why not say that the administration will appoint whom it chooses provided he can pass an examination. This would accord with the facts and be sincere.

But the theory seems to be that the public likes to be deceived. This applies to both parties.

SANTY OR INSANTY.

Costly criminal trials will no longer be featured by the clash of experts, testifying profoundly and incomprehensibly, if the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology has its way. It often appears the more money there is in a case the greater is the difficulty of learning the truth. To correct this condition delegates to the thirteenth annual meeting of the institute last week advocated a model bill, which, enacted into law, might avoid many of the difficulties now experienced.
Conflicts of testimony between eminent specialists in criminal trials involving the claim of insanity as a defense have indeed been disquieting to many citizens. Confidence in the process of law itself is involved, and the layman has sometimes wondered if "expert" testimony can be purchased as a marketable commodity.
Of course, such insinuation is baseless as a general rule. It is not strange that two able professional men often disagree in their conclusions; it is strange rather, that two ever can be found to agree. There are so many differences in point of view, in observation, in phrasing, interpreting and applying definitions that the opportunities for contradiction are manifold. To standardize regulations covering such evidence in the interest of uniformity and comparability is a noteworthy undertaking.
There should be more sanity in pleas of insanity.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

WILL HAYS, ECONOMIST.
(From the New York Evening Post)
Will Hays, the postmaster general, may go down in history as the founder of an entirely new school of economists. In a speech in this city a day or two ago, in which he attempted to formulate a program for an industrial renaissance in the United States, he laid down the postulate that "a man should contribute to the cost of society in proportion as he consumes the labor of society." In its practical application this would mean that the citizen who rears a large family and seeks to give his children every educational and cultural advantage, thus being a large consumer of "the labor of society," should be taxed more heavily than a miserly bachelor receiving the same income. It is evident that Col. Roosevelt's mantle did not fall upon the shoulders of Will Hays. If Hays is right, then Congress committed a terrible blunder when it provided a greater income tax exemption for married than for single persons and for persons with dependents than for those without. If this Haysian premise is right, then there is but one conclusion to the whole matter—the country must have a sales tax. And that's the Ethiopian in the woodpile. Will Hays is for it.
But Mr. Hays was not content with laying down just one new economic principle in the course of the evening. Reduced to its simplest terms, his argument for the sales tax was based upon the wholly original idea that the way to encourage production is to discourage consumption. Several generations of economists had been laboring under the delusion that goods were produced in order to be consumed and that consumption determined production. Hays demolishes this error. Consequently merchants and others who have been waging buying campaigns to induce the return of prosperity can read what he has to say about the sales tax with a great deal of profit—and perhaps with no little consternation.

TOBEY TOADVINE
DIED NOVEMBER 27, 1921
(See notice elsewhere in this paper by T. B. C.)

The weather has not rained for some time.

"The theory of the eugenic cranks is to marry all the bow-legged men to all the knock-kneed women in order to insure a straight legacy for the future."

A clever pun by an eminent Chicago divine.

With Breathitt county, Kentucky, and Mingo, W. Va., armed, the balance of power will always be with the United States.

Ideal men exist only in the minds of maiden ladies who cannot forget their one and only love affair in which they died.

People who visit you only when they want a favor cannot possibly be classed as anything except liability acquaintances.

A loaf of bread, a jug of wine and thou,
Singing beside me in the wilderness,
Oh wilderness, hide me from Volstead now.

We predict an abundance of cockwits for these milk driers if they keep on keeping on.

Some parents will not attempt to help Willie with his lessons because they have no wish to take a chance on lowering Willie's regard for their intelligence.

Another thing wrong with the world is that there are too many people trying to give advice, and too few people willing to take it.

"Both Miss Prevost and Miss Blake testified that after Miss Rappe had been found moaning in Arbuckle's room, she said, 'He.'"

—Tuesday's Journal.

This makes it look bad for Fatty.

If the astronomers in Rome next April decree that a year shall have thirteen months, we will join the northern Minnesota Swedish farmers in hoping they do not make it another winter one.

NOBODY'S DARLING.
My mamma told me not to smoke—I don't.
Nor listen to a naughty joke—I don't.
She made it clear I must not wink at handsome men, or even think about intoxicating drink—I don't.

To dance and flirt is very wrong—I don't.
Wild girls chase men, wine and song—I don't.
I kiss no boys, not even one, Don't even know how it is done—I don't.
You wouldn't think I have much fun!

I DON'T.
(Author unknown.)

If it were not for the Morning Journal, we wonder where the evening bust would find material for most of its editorials.

RAW ALKID: We sent a messenger boy recently to an establishment in this village with instructions to bring us a certain article, C. O. D. When the terms were made known to the party in charge of the establishment, said party refused to accede to the request, whereupon a gentleman present stepped up, paid for the article, remarked that he was a friend of ours and would collect from us at the first opportunity.

This was more than a week ago and to date the gentleman has not shown up.

We desire to carry no bills over into December, therefore, if the gentleman in question will come forward with documentary evidence in the form of an affidavit drawn up by a recognized attorney, and sworn to in the presence of reputable witnesses, to prove he is who he says he is, and furthermore, will take under advertisement the proposition of reimbursing him to the extent of the sixty-five or seventy-five cents involved.

The Apollo club, in arranging for the schumann-leick concert December 26, is giving Albuquerque one of the finest Christmas presents the community could possibly receive.

And please note there will be no "raised prices" for this attraction.

A WOULD-BE RECLUSE.
I want to go where there are no trails,
And maps are an unknown thing;
I want to be where geography fails,
And the silence will sing high.

Far from the haunts of all human kind,
There I'll plant myself and stick,
Where the jibes and jeers of the human mind
Wouldn't hit me like a brick.

I want no words of the smart pale face,
To sneer that my hopes are rash,
So that's why I wish for a farflung place
When I start my first mustache.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PIE

When Uncle Wiggily hopped past the hollow stump school one day, he heard the lady mouse teacher saying:

"Come, children, we'll sing the pie song."

The bunny rabbit gentleman stopped and twinkled his pink nose.

"I wonder what the pie song can be?" thought Mr. Longears. "Surely they can't sing a song when they are eating pie, for you have to open your mouth when you sing and eat pie you must close your mouth. Then, too, the lady mouse would never let the animal boys and girls eat pie in school. I wonder what it can be."

Just then the lady mouse said again:

"All ready now—sing the pie song."

And the squirrels, rabbits, goats, ducks, chickens, and little mice sang:

"Sing a song of sixpence,
Four and twenty blackbirds,
Baked with a pie,
When the pie was opened,
The birds began to sing,
Now wasn't that a dainty dish
To set before the king?"

Uncle Wiggily laughed. He twinkled his pink nose like an alarm clock going upstairs backward and then he threw his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch high up in the air.

"Oh, ho! I know what I'm going to do!" laughed the bunny.

"I'm going to make a singing pie for Nurse Jane."

"Now, if Nurse Jane isn't home, everything will be all right," thought the bunny to himself, and he filled with this new idea, Uncle Wiggily hopped to the woods and fields. The weather was cold and the clouds seemed about to drop down flakes of fleecy, white snow to cover the bare, brown earth. But Uncle Wiggily wore a warm coat and he did not mind the cold.

Over the fields and through the woods he hopped until he came to a store. He went inside and bought a pound of butter and a pound of lard. He bought something else. Finally he reached his hollow stump bungalow.

flaw—not four and twenty blackbirds, but two little sparrow children—Dickie and Nellie Flit-tail. Around the room they flittered, twittering and all the while more bird singing came from the make-believe hill.

"Wiggy! What a surprise!" laughed Nurse Jane, as she looked inside the pie to see if anything more was coming out. "However did you do it?"

"Oh, I just put a little phonograph inside the dishpan," explained the bunny. "Then I got Dickie and Nellie to hide in with it. Next I put the brown tissue paper 'crust' over the top of the pretended pie and waited for you. When you cut the paper with the knife that played a record of bird songs. Then out flew Dickie and Nellie. Wasn't it nice?"

"Oh, the loveliest surprise I've ever had!" said Nurse Jane. "And now we'll have some real pie!" So the phonograph was taken out of the dishpan and it played sweet music while the sparrow children ate real pie and every once in a while, Uncle Wiggily would laugh.

"This pie is even daintier than the one set before the King!" he said, and Nurse Jane agreed with him. So if the baker man doesn't put the cake of ice in the oven to make a chocolate pudding for the rag doll I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jollie's cheese.

TOBEY TOADVINE
AS I KNEW HIM
By T. B. Crabb, his Secretary

Few people knew Tobey Toadvine as did the writer. I, alone, was with him when he dropped into sleep from which there is no awakening, therefore I speak with authority, and not as the scribes who generally write for newspapers.

Mr. Toadvine died last night at "the apartments in the highlands" and the body will "lie in state" at a local undertaking establishment from two until four tomorrow afternoon, after which it will be shipped to his former home in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Toadvine was not a resident of Albuquerque, as was popularly supposed, and his presence in the city was held captive by it. He was en route from nowhere to some place else, via here, when he became so entranced with the sepi landscape surrounding us that he was held captive by it.

He often remarked that in all of his travels, most of which had been in Pullman cars of the side door type, never had he beheld a more cheerful and unbridled and unrestricted brown, and he marveled more and more each day at its great resemblance to the ro-torvague section of the Sunday newspapers.

He hated green exceedingly, except in juleps, and Scotch Black and White, with a dash of water color, only exceeded his love for brown.

Tobey, as he was affectionately called by his few intimates, was a most unusual character. He was first of all a bachelor, which of course accounted for his cheerful disposition as well as his ability to always look on the bright side of everything. The Santa Fe crossings could not even cross him, although the one at Central Avenue came perilously near it on several occasions.

He could go to a picture show, even at "raised prices," and not blink. The orchestra were a never ending source of wonderment to him, as he could not see how it was possible to make an instrument so complicated and still get so little music out of it. And with all his freedom of movement with air so free, he could never understand why it was used so sparingly by some of our places of amusement. Once at Barelas hall very busy. First he found an old dishpan that Nurse Jane had laid aside, as it had holes in which to let the water run out.

"But the holes aren't large enough for my pie to run out," said the bunny. After working hard for an hour Mr. Longears sat down in his easy chair and looked at something in the middle of the dining room door.

"If Nurse Jane doesn't laugh when she sees that, may I never nibble another cabbage leaf!" chuckled the rabbit uncle. There was a noise at the door, however, and Wiggily quickly settled back in his chair and pretended to be asleep. He knew Nurse Jane's pawsteps.

"Wiggy! Wiggy!" exclaimed the muskrat lady as she entered the room. "Wiggy! Wake up! You're asleep! And, for mercy's sake, what's this big thing in the dishpan? It looks—my land—it looks like 'PIE'!"

"What's that?" said Wiggily. "Oh, it's you, Nurse Jane; is it?"

"Of course it is I," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzie. "But what's this in the dishpan? It looks like a pie!"

"It is a pie!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "I made it while you were gone. Nurse Jane. Open the pie and see what happens," and he handed the muskrat lady a big knife. "But be careful where you cut," warned the bunny.

"Why, where's the top crust of this pie made of paper—brown tissue paper—so that it looks just as if it had been baked in an oven?" cried Nurse Jane.

"Of course!" laughed Mr. Longears. "Open the pie, Nurse Jane." The muskrat lady put the knife through the paper crust of the big pie. All at once some birds began to sing.

"Oh, my goodness me, makes alive and a bushel of soap bubbles!" cried Miss Fuzzy Wuzzie. "It's like a Mother Goose pie, Oh, Wiggy!"

And just then out from the pie

he had the foresight to have done

this, he might be alive and well today. But no, frugal creature that he was, he thought the cheap- est was the best, whereas, the best is always the cheapest when it comes to money. There will be no next time in which he will know better.

But it was not the direct loss of his health that was the cause of Tobey's taking off. The truth of the matter is that he was shocked to death. It may be true that ill health sapped his vitality to the point where he was not able to withstand the thing that smote him, but that is simply a matter of opinion in which one man's is not as good as another's.

Up until last week he was as well as usual, and was looking forward to seeing the royal gorgon on Thanksgiving, as he had been advised by his doctor against a trip to the Grand Canyon. His interest in everything pertaining to Albuquerque was intense, and he had followed the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce with avidity, or even more so, and expected great things from the reorganization, but when the announcement came last week that the annual dues had been cut from $30 to $12, the shock work it was to him was too much for his frail body, and he passed out.

Had there been a precedent for such a tremendous reduction he might have survived, but it is unlikely that anything short of a fire sale slaughter of prices could have effected him otherwise, for with a fire, you some how or other expect a sale, but the Chamber reduction came right out of a blue sky. No smoke or anything. It was a master stroke and it knocked poor Tobey for a goner.

Mr. Toadvine's "apartments in the highlands" consisted of one room with a sleeping porch screened in from everything except the gaze of the sightseers, being shown town. It is of course now for rent.

It has a nice north exposure, making it admirable for winter wear, and the lot is only four doors away, to the left, where a grate fire may be seen burning on cool evenings. This adds wonderfully to the cheerfulness of the outlook. The room itself has a bed in it, if you push it in off the porch, and a chair in case you have company. If you have two callers, one may sit on the bed. This gives an intimate touch as well as makes gossip among the neighbors, thereby creating interest in you and your affairs.

No children. No sick. Tobey Toadvine! Gone but not forgotten.

LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAM WILL LAUNCH
SEASON ON TUESDAY

With the football season closed, all eyes at Albuquerque high school are turning towards basketball.
The basketball season will be a different proposition than football was to the Duke city high athletes since there are four of last year's team still in school. Two of these men, Glassman and Goodrich, will be candidates for the guard positions and Joe Benjamin, who was center last year, is still with the team. Lynn Hammond is the only one of the three forwards who did not graduate. With four-fifths of a state championship team to start the season with, it would seem that Albuquerque high will stand very high in basketball circles.
Practice will start Tuesday evening in the armory and outfit will be issued Monday after the last period of school. There are uniforms for fifteen men this year and the squad will be thinned down to that number before the end of this week. However, the men not making the first choice for the squad will still have a chance to show their wares and may get a place on the select fifteen. Since there is no floor in the city with more than two goals the above number of men will be all that the coach can handle.
A greater number of men are expected to come out for the net team than ever before at the local high school. The armory has been secured for practice and all the home games will be played there.
The schedule will include some excellent contests on the home floor this season and possibly the state tournament. The new bleachers that will be moved from Washington park to the armory, will give ample seating facilities for everyone attending the games played in Albuquerque.

El Paso will be one of the attractions for the winter when they meet Albuquerque High in Albuquerque. The state tournament will probably be played in this city and will be the big event of the year. Teams, both boys and girls, will play for the state title of each division of the sport.
The team will probably make a trip through the Pecos valley, playing Fort Sumner, Clovis and Roswell and possibly will play in Las Vegas. Gallup may play in Albuquerque and Santa Fe will go up against the locals on January 13 here. The first game of the season will be played with Harwood school in their gymnasium on December 3.

EXPORTS DURING OCTOBER SHOW A DECIDED SLUMPBusiness With Europe Totaled $196,000,000,
Compared With $423-
000,000 Last Year.(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 27.—Values of the merchandise exported during October fell to fractional parts of the totals for the same month last year, while decided drops in imports were noted by the commerce department tonight in its monthly summary.

Exports to Europe aggregated
$196,000,000 compared with $423-
000,000 in October last year, while imports amounted to $67,000,000, against $88,000,000. During the ten months ended with October exports to Europe were $2,656,000, against $3,720,000,000 during the corresponding months of 1920, while imports aggregated $622,000-000, compared with $1,075,000,000.
Exports to South America for October aggregated $15,000,000, against $28,000,000 a year ago, while imports totaled $18,000,000, compared with $47,000,000. In the ten months ended with October, exports to South America aggregated $244,000,000, compared with $491,000,000 for the same months last year and imports aggregated
$242,000,000, against $506,000,000.
Exports to Asia during October aggregated $44,000,000, against $46,000,000 last year, and imports
$41,000,000, compared with $75-
000,000.

Exports and imports by principal countries during October compared with October, 1920, follow:
France exports, $26,000,000,
against $79,000,000; imports, $11-
000,000, against $12,000,000.
Germany exports, $26,000,000,
against $32,000,000; imports, $7-
000,000, against $7,500,000.
Italy exports, $15,000,000, against $26,000,000; imports, $7,000,000,
against $4,000,000.
Great Britain exports, $55,000-
000, against $160,000,000; imports,
$19,000,000, against $14,000,000.
China exports, $5,000,000, against $13,000,000; imports, $10,000,000,
against $9,000,000.
Japan exports, $25,000,000,
against $12,000,000; imports, $17-
000,000, against $21,000,000.

GERMANY IS MAKING
BID TO REGAIN HER
TRADE WITH MEXICO(By The Associated Press.)
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 27.—Germany is making a strong bid to regain her trade with Mexico, reports received at the Mexican consulate in El Paso, the American consul in Juarez and at other consulates in Mexico from various parts of that country tonight.

German firms have representatives throughout the republic, and according to reports, which said these representatives not only understand American and English trade goods, but offer longer credits and better terms to Mexicans than any other country. The activities to regain trade do not stop in the interior of Mexico.
The example pointed out by a British merchant in Juarez is declared typical. This merchant declared that he was visited by a German salesman who sold him some Christmas toys, including some fine animal toys.

"The toys were far covered with rubber tube and ball, so when the ball is pressed the animal will make a distinctive noise. They were first class goods, which are unobtainable in this country. I bought them at $3 a dozen and sold them at $4. They were of German manufacture," the dealer said.

"Practically the same toy and certainly no better rubber is stored in El Paso for $3 each. Buying from the German I can sell toys at that kind for $1 and make 33-1/3 per cent profit."

OFFICERS WITHOUT CLEW IN MURDER OF
COUPLE AT GALLUP(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Gallup, N. M., Nov. 27.—Officers tonight were still without a clue to the person or persons who shot and killed J. W. Blackwell, Jr., and his wife. Their bodies, each with a bullet through the breast, were discovered Saturday morning.
J. W. Blackwell was a nephew of the founder of the Bull Durham Tobacco company. His father and brother founded the town of Durham, N. C., to which point the bodies of Blackwell and his wife will be sent for burial.

A reward of $1000 has been offered by the town of Gallup for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons who killed
Blackwell and wife.
An inquest for the bodies will be held tomorrow.

AVIATOR IS FATALLY
HURT IN PLANE CRASH(By The Associated Press.)
Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 27.—
Emory Rogers, formerly lieutenant in the aviation corps and an instructor at various eastern flying fields, was injured fatally late today in a crash at a field near here maintained by a commercial flying company he organized. Spectators said his monoplane was about forty feet up, travelling rapidly, when Rogers started a turn.
The plane crashed sidewise.
AUTO THIEF TAKES CAR FROM GARAGE

An attempt was made last night to steal the automobile from the garage at the Pineau home, 1127 North Eleventh street. The would-be thief broke into the garage and started the car. He drove the car almost out of the yard when he became frightened by the family and jumping out, ran away. Several garages in that part of the city were broken into last night and some tools stolen.

MASTER BANDIT FAILS TO INTIMIDATE
MAIL CLERK, WHO DOWNS HIM UNAIDEDRoy Gardner, master bandit, at right; Herman Inderlied, the mail clerk, center, and the sheriff, with a detaining handcuff on Gardner.

Roy Gardner had escaped from McNeil penitentiary, Washington, unaided and was being sought dead or alive by police all over the country when he climbed into a mail car on the A. P. & S. F. road near Los Angeles to rob the car. Mail Clerk Herman Inderlied, six feet two and weighing 215 pounds, was ordered at the point of a gun to throw up his hands. Inderlied struck the gun from Gardner's hand, threw him to the floor and sat on him until Inderlied's calls to trainmen outside brought aid.

MEXICO MAKING PROGRESS UNDER
OBREGON REIGNEnd of First Year of His Administration Finds the Nation More Peaceful
Than in Many Years.(By The Associated Press.)
Mexico City, Nov. 27.—The first year of Gen. Alvaro Obregon's administration as president of Mexico, which ends November 30, has been one essentially of reconstruction and reorganization. He became the head of a republic torn and worn by revolution, split by factional strife, its finances a wreck and its rehabilitation an almost superhuman task.
A new cabinet post, secretary of education, has been added during the year and its head, Jose Vasconcelos, has been promised adequate financial means to carry out an ambitious program of education which, President Obregon says, is the nation's greatest problem.

The federal-owned railroads have been completely reorganized in the managerial departments and some progress is being made toward their rehabilitation. Rolling stock has been acquired and an alarms port congestion which threatened bankruptcy to many interior merchants who were unable to obtain supplies of goods has been appreciably relieved.
The agrarian question still vexes
although the administration claims that its program in regard to lands is on the road to completion. Under the direction of the national agrarian commission several hundred thousand acres of land have been expropriated from the large haciendas and delivered to the peasants. Peasants have flowed into government offices here and charges of bald confiscation have been openly made.

The Obregon government has struggled with a trend toward radicalism. Various state governments, notably those of Vera Cruz and Puebla, have enacted laws that are regarded here as radical and plans for federal intervention to prevent the enforcement of these laws have been met with the official statement that the chief executive will not encroach upon the sovereignty of the states. There are frequent Gruyery clashes in the states of Yucatan and Michoacan between radicals and conservatives with the former still retaining their power.

Army Being Reduced.
The war department announces that progress is being made in the reduction of the federal army to 50,000 men, entailing the dismissal of many score generals and other high officers. The dismissed soldiers are being given an opportunity to colonize.

President Obregon has been unable to secure recognition of his government by the United States, Great Britain and France. To many observers this failure is the greatest deterrent to stability and prosperity now confronting the chief executive. The United States has said that the Mexican president must sign a treaty of amity and commerce as a prior act to recognition and this President Obregon has steadfastly declined to do, asserting such action would be neither legal nor within the dignity or pride of the nation. A deadlock on recognition now ex-

Last May President Obregon placed an export tax on oil shipments from Mexico and a loud protest went up from American producers. Production and development shut down and shipments ceased. They were resumed early in September after an agreement was reached between the oil men and Secretary de la Huerta.

The financial rehabilitation of Mexico is still a subject for study and the only definite information on that subject is the official assurance that the government wishes to arrange its debt.

Claims of Foreigners.

Claims against the government for damages suffered by foreigners during revolutionary periods are to be treated by a mixed claims commission, according to President Obregon's suggestion, but thus far there is no indication that such a commission has been established.
A year, then, of Obregon finds a nation more united and outwardly peaceful than in years; still struggling to arrange its finances but handicapped by lack of recognition by three great powers; a nation making some progress along the lines of reconstruction and reorganization.

President Obregon, enjoying better health today than he did a year ago, is optimistic and says that the sun is slowly but surely breaking through the clouds.

NEBRASKA FOOTBALL TEAM ASKED TO PLAY
AT SAN FRANCISCO(By The Associated Press.)
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27.—The Nebraska football team, Athletic Director Luchner announced today, has received an invitation to play a game at San Francisco, January
2. The invitation did not designate the opposing team. Director Luchner said Missouri Valley conference rules against post-season games will probably prevent acceptance.
MAY MODIFY CONSENT
DECREE OF PACKERS(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 27.—Investigation to determine the advisability of recommending to the District of Columbia supreme court a modification of the big five packers' consent decree to enable them to resume operation of unrelated industries, will begin tomorrow before a joint committee formed by Attorney General Daugherty.
Modification of the decree was suggested by the California co-operative canneries and other organizations on the ground that the National Live Stock and Animal Industry Association, a packers' association and other organizations on the ground of undue competition.

LATER PARLEYS
PLAN ENDORSED
BY JAP ENVOYFrank Discussion Will Clear the Air and Insure a Permanent Good Understanding, Says Hanihara.(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 27.—Vice Foreign Minister Hanihara, a Japanese delegate, tonight endorsed the proposal for later international conferences.

"Japan has come into this conference in a spirit of candor, prepared to discuss all matters so that causes of future misunderstandings may be reduced. It may be impossible to conclude all things at this session. New problems may arise. A frank discussion will clear the air and insure a permanent good understanding."

"In any future conference suggested by President Harding, eastern questions may logically find their way for deliberation and in this event, I think Japan will be found ready to take part with the great object of maintaining a harmonious co-operation of the powers and world peace."

Senator Schanzler of Italy, speaking tonight of the "Association of Nations," said:

"We cannot but greet with great satisfaction the announcement given by President Harding that it would be his intention to promote yearly conferences for a free co-operation among the nations for the purpose of discussing questions of universal interest. In the modern world, the interests of the various nations are so intimately intermingled as to render a common discussion necessary, and such discussion cannot be effectious without participation of the United States."

"The organization of the league of nations cannot be an obstacle to the realization of the president's idea. Any plan aiming to bring the peoples near together, to create solid bases for the maintenance of peace, to lighten the ties of economic solidarity among the nations, and to facilitate the peaceful solution of controversies which may arise among nations, must be greeted with joy and the strong hope of a better future for humanity."

"We, therefore, await with the greatest interest for complete details of President Harding's plan."
