NEW MEXICO SCHOOL OF MINES LOCATED AT SOCORRO.

The New Mexico School of Mines is a Territorial institution, founded by the territorial legislature in 1889. The act creating it provides that the School of Mines shall be supported by an annual tax of one-fifth of a mill on all taxable property within the territory. This levy was increased by the territorial legislature in 1893 to twenty-seven and one-half hundredths of a mill.

The thirty-fourth general assembly of 1901 recognized the growing importance of the school by further increasing the tax levy of thirty-three hundredths of a mill.

The object establishing the School of Mines is fully set forth in the act creating it, to-wit:

"Sec. 28. The object of the School of Mines created, established and located by this act is to furnish facilities for the education of such persons as may desire to receive instruction in chemistry, metallurgy, mineralogy, geology, mining, milling, engineering, mathematics, mechanics, drawing, the fundamental laws of the United States, and the rights and duties of citizenship, and such other courses of study, not including agriculture, as may be prescribed by the board of trustees."

Thus, the object of the New Mexico School of Mines is most clearly outlined by the act causing its creation. From the first, the board of trustees has fallen into line with the policy of the act creating the school, and by a united effort by steering clear of any political whims or differences, has succeeded in carrying out the nucleus and laying the foundation of a scientific institution, for which the territory may well be proud.

The permanent improvements of the school during the summer vacation is especially marked, and registers a new era in the growth and development of the institution.

Prominent among the many changes and improvements made during the summer may be mentioned the installation of a new hot water heating plant executed by the Whitney company of Albuquerque.

Another prominent feature was the erection of the south wing of what will be known as the machinery and metallurgical building. It is the intention to add to the latter building from time to time, as circumstances will permit, until one of the largest and most thoroughly equipped metallurgical plants is established in the west.

The chemical laboratory buildings have been almost entirely overhauled; radical changes have been made throughout.

Facilities for conveniences and increased work by the students have been the object in making these changes. An addition of several new desks with gas and water connections, with two large hoods for carrying off noxious and poisonous fumes, were made indispensable by the imperative demand for more room and better ventilation.

The assaying department has been entirely renovated and is a model for convenience and execution of work.

Two new gasoline blow-pipe muffle furnaces with three very large muffle furnaces were erected in lieu of one small furnace, heretofore used in the prosecution of this important branch.

The geological and mineralogical cabinets have been removed from the third story to the basement, where commodious rooms have been fitted for their reception. The third story, made vacant by the removal of the geological department, has been refitted in a very desirable manner for a draughting room. Students now have every facility for draughting, designing, blue-printing, etc.

The school is well equipped in modern surveying and engineering instruments, chemical apparatus, balances of precision, and in fact well provided to turn out practical and up to date assayers, metallurgists, mining and civil engineers.

The engineering class has just completed an accurate topographic survey of the campus, which consists of a site of twenty acres. A copy of the map of this survey will be incorporated in the next catalogue. Those who work in the chemical department are encouraged in original methods of analysis, and the classes in physics frequently experiment in measuring the velocity of a rifle ball or calculate the force of gravity from the beating of pendulum. Original research is encouraged in all the departments of the school and every student is given due credit for skill and energy displayed.

The board of trustees of the school consist of experienced and wide awake business men; they fully realize that what they do for the New Mexico School of Mines is for the whole territory at large.

The members of the board are: Juan Jose Baca, president; C. T. Brown, secretary and treasurer; Capt. A. B. Fitch, F. G. Bartlett, J. E. Smith.

The faculty of the school consists of: Fayette A. Jones, E. M. C. E., director, and professor of mining, metallurgy and engineering; Francis C. Lincoln, S. B., professor of chemistry and geology; Emmett A. Drake, A. M., principal of the preparatory department; Oliver R. Smith, B. S., assistant in engineering and drawing; Julia F. Atkinson, B. L., assistant in mathematics; Anne W. Fitch, assistant in general science.

We produce here a cut of the likeness of Prof. Jones, and give a synopsis of the career of the one who now directs the workings of this valuable scientific institution:

Prof. Jones was born August 1, 1859, on a farm, twenty miles southeast of Kansas City, in Missouri. His education up to the time he was eighteen was such as a country school district could afford. At the age of eighteen he entered a flouring mill, alternately acting as bookkeeper, engineer and assistant miller. About this time the financial agent of the flouring mill absconded with a large sum of the earnings, which drove his father to the wall, who was one of the owners. Thrown on his own resources and using what little money he had earned by laid hen fruit, Mr. Yonker has a fine well stocked ranch. He has about 300 chickens and gets about half as many eggs every day. A good add for a hotel.

Capt. A. B. Fitch, of Magdalena, is spending a few days in the city.

Julian Truitt, editor of the Socorro El Republicano, has moved his office from the south side to a nicely lighted room on the west side of the Manuel Abeyta block. Abeyta also has a desk in the same room.

J. E. Smith, manager for J. C. Baldridge, speaks encouragingly of the growing prospects of Socorro.

The fruit growers of this vicinity are highly elated over the promising prospects of the coming fruit crop.

Eighteen charter members were taken in at the organization of the Eastern Star society, which was held in Masonic hall Thursday night. John E. Griffith, who has been instrumental in the organization of the lodge, deserves credit for the pains and trouble he has gone to in the institution of the lodge.

The following officers were elected to officiate during the coming year: Mrs. Lizzie Griffith, worthy matron; Mrs. Mary Bartlett, assistant worthy matron; Mrs. Emma Dougherty, conductress; Mrs. Mary Duncan, assistant conductress; A. E. Howell, treasurer; and Dr. C. G. Duncan, secretary. The society has decided to meet on the first and third Mondays of each month.

Socorro, March 19.—The Socorro Golf club is quite a lively organization. Great sport is anticipated at the ball game, which is to be played next Sunday between the American nine and the Scrub Clown nine. Henry Chavez and Caloso Chavez will form the battery for the Clowns.

Captain T. J. Mathews and Sergeant A. F. Katzenstein are quite enthusiastic over the promising prospects of Company H, of the National Guards. It already has a membership of forty-three, and they are the proper material for a crackerjack company. Company H's equipment will be here about the first of April and the boys think by hard drilling they will be prepared to go to the territorial encampment next fall.

A. F. Katzenstein, the prosperous soda water man, has ordered a new modern carbonator and will soon be able to supply the public with all kinds of water in all sized bottles.

Juan Padilla received a government warrant today for $816, Indian depreciation claim. Joe Price, the accommodation cashier at the Socorro bank, cashed the warrant.

George Lewis, of Albuquerque, spent

Wednesday in the city, returning to the metropolis Wednesday evening.

The interior of Henry Chavez's barber shop is receiving a new coat of paint.

Judge Daniel H. McMillan and wife and son, Morton, left the city Wednesday going north. The judge and wife will stop at Santa Fe and Morton will continue his journey to Buffalo.

Judge McMillan issued orders in eighteen important Lincoln and Socorro county cases, this week.

A new up-to-date job press has been instituted at the Chieftain office and August Meyers is turning out some nice work.

City rallies in Socorro are apparently quiet, but appearances in this case do not count. There will be two tickets in the field—the citizens and a straight republican. The leaders on both sides are busy organizing their forces and before election time comes around things will be pretty warm.

SCHOOL OF MINES.

Citizen Man Visits the Institution of Learning.

A MODEL MINING SCHOOL.

Special Correspondence.

Socorro, N. M., March 21.—Your correspondent visited the New Mexico School of Mines this morning. A wind storm made the day disagreeable, but the attendance at the school was excellent.

The first hour was spent in Prof. E. A. Drake's room. He is now comfortably quartered in the new brick building, which will some time in the near future be the south wing of the machine and assay department of the institution. His class in English is now reading Sir Walter Scott's most popular work, "Ivanhoe." Prof. Drake is an excellent English scholar and his classes show excellent training.

I was then escorted to the main building and introduced to Prof. F. A. Jones, principal of the school. Prof. Jones' room is directly in the right of the main entrance of the building. It is a large, cheerful, airy, well lighted apartment, with a supply closet on the north. The accommodating professor kindly showed me through the school and gave data on the different departments. We first went into the quantitative and qualitative laboratory. This room is in the extreme south wing of the main building. It has just recently been renovated and repaired, quite a number of improvements being made. New shutters are being hung and each desk has been supplied with water and private lockers. A large and much needed fume conductor has been instituted. From here we went into Prof. F. C. Lincoln's lecture room, and next to the assaying department of the school. It is equipped with all the modern conveniences necessary in the execution of all kinds of assay work. Next comes the machinery and metallurgical department. Here are the crushers, grinders, basking board and balances. Each balance is placed on a short stone and cement pier built from the ground up. One of the balances now used in the chemical cabinet is so fine that a pencil mark on a piece of paper can be weighed. The school is also supplied with a gas plant and water distillery apparatus. In the basement under the north wing of the main building is located the geological and mineralogical cabinets. In this department scores of specimens of quartz, mineral and stones from all parts of the world can be found. Prof. Jones has taken great pains during his travels to gather together this collection. A fine petrographic microscope has recently been added to this department. On the second floor is found Miss J. F. Atkinson, B. of L. She has charge of the preparatory department. On the west of her class room, facing the mountains is what used to be an anti room, but now is a nicely decorated study, belonging to Miss Atkinson.

On the third floor is located the draughting and engineering department under the control of Prof. O. R. Smith. This room is well lighted and a fine view of the surrounding country can be obtained. This department is well equipped with desk rooms, closets and blue printing frames. We next visited the assembly room. Miss F. F. Fitch, assistant in general science, presides there. A large and well filled library is located in this room. Adjustable desks have been instituted for the benefit of the scholars. They are so arranged that they can be raised or lowered according to the size of the pupil.

The building is constructed of sandstone and trachyte, making it very substantial.

From the Chieftain.

The opportunity for Socorro to secure another railroad is soon to present itself.

The Mine Development company have installed their new steam hoister this week at the New Era mine in the Black Range.

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Duncan gave a dinner party yesterday at their home on California street to the physicians of the city in honor of Dr. H. R. Brown, County Assessor. Benj. Sanchez wrote from Luna valley under date of March 10, that it was snowing heavily. He is out on official business and will probably not return to Socorro until about the first of April.

Excitement over base ball, golf, tennis, a glove factory, a military company, and the prospect of boring for oil is keeping the city of Socorro very much alive these days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Brown and family have taken up their abode this week in the Blackwell property. The property has recently been put into excellent condition and now makes a commodious and comfortable home.

Socorro is now the proud possessor of a fully organized military company belonging to the national guard. The company is to be known as Company H, of the First regiment of infantry. The officers have received their commissions, which are very handsome. The company is drilling every night and, according to Captain Matthews, making excellent progress.

Archuleta Sentenced.

Judge McFie overruled the motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment in the case of the United States against Francisco Archuleta, found guilty of embezzlement as postmaster at Coyote. Judge McFie sentenced Archuleta, who had restored to the government the shortage to pay a fine of $50 and the costs of prosecution. A motion for an appeal to the territorial supreme court was made, but it is understood that Archuleta, who is also indicted for perjury, will pay the fine and that the appeal will not be perfected. His appeal bond was set at $1,000.

HULIN BOUND OVER.

Dona Ana County Murderer Held for Trial.

The El Paso Herald says that the preliminary hearing of Eugene Hulin, charged with the murder of James Gardner, at Lanark, last Saturday, was held at Las Cruces on Tuesday last. Judge Leigh Clark and A. B. Fall, of El Paso, represented the defendant. The territory asked for a continuance until next Saturday, but the attorneys for the defense objected on the ground of great personal inconvenience in having to make so many trips. They were sustained by the court.

No testimony was taken, as examination was waived, and after some discussion the defendant was released on $5,000 bond. The territory's attorney asked that the amount be made $5,000, but the court said the fact that the defendant surrendered himself operated in his favor to the extent of the reduction asked.

The only eye witness to the scene, it is said, states that Hulin was at his desk in his office at Lanark writing when Gardner came in with a pistol in his hand. Hulin said: "I don't want to talk to you; I have no further business with you at all."

And just about that time the eye witness, so it is reported, saw Gardner's pistol coming up, and found he had business outside. Hulin says that Gardner fired the first shot, and his statement is borne out by the fact that the entire wrist of his left coat sleeve is powder burned and partly shot away. With this, he says, he attempted to ward off the first shot.

His aim was such that practically all his four shots reached vital spots. The men had had trouble before, and the fight was the result of an old grudge.

THE CASE OF WOOLLEY.

He Admits That He Murdered Buster McGee at Gardiner, Colfax County.

Sheriff Campbell and Deputy Jones returned to Raton on Tuesday from Des Moines, Iowa, with Thos. Woolley, charged with killing Buster McGee, both colored, at Gardiner, last September. At the time of the killing the two negroes had a quarrel over gambling, and McGee got a rifle to protect himself with. Woolley procured a revolver and shot his man twice in the neck, and Woolley escaped and was not heard from until arrested in Des Moines for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The woman in the case wanted him held for fear he would kill her, stating he had told her of the killing out here. Woolley denied having been in New Mexico, but later he confessed and said the act was in self defense. He will be tried at the term of court now in session.

THE BILL WILL FAIL.

Congress Will Not Pass the Bill Giving a Per Cent of Public Land Sales to School of Mines.

Western representatives interested in the bill to devote a portion of the proceeds of sales of public lands to the support of mining schools, are discouraged over the poor outlook for the measure at this session. Representative Scott, of Kansas, who reported the bill to the house said today:

"The prospects are not flattering for even consideration of the bill. I presented the matter to the speaker, and he said the appropriations were already climbing pretty high and he hesitated about seeing a bill passed that would add a permanent charge of about $1,000,000 yearly to the appropriations."

With this attitude toward the bill on the part of the speaker, its advocates do not hope for its passage.

FOR A BARREL OF WHISKY.

Santa Fe Wants a Phoenix Barkeeper to Cough Up.

Suit has been filed in the district court at Phoenix by the attorneys for the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix Railway company against S. P. Thompson and Edward Van for the price of a barrel of whisky. It is claimed that on September 13, 1901, the company received a barrel of whisky at Prescott from Jake Marks which was consigned to R. W. Baxter, at Winsburg. The whisky was by mistake delivered to defendants who, it is alleged, knew that the whisky was not for them, but who appropriated it, nevertheless. It was valued at $105, and the company seeks to recover that amount.

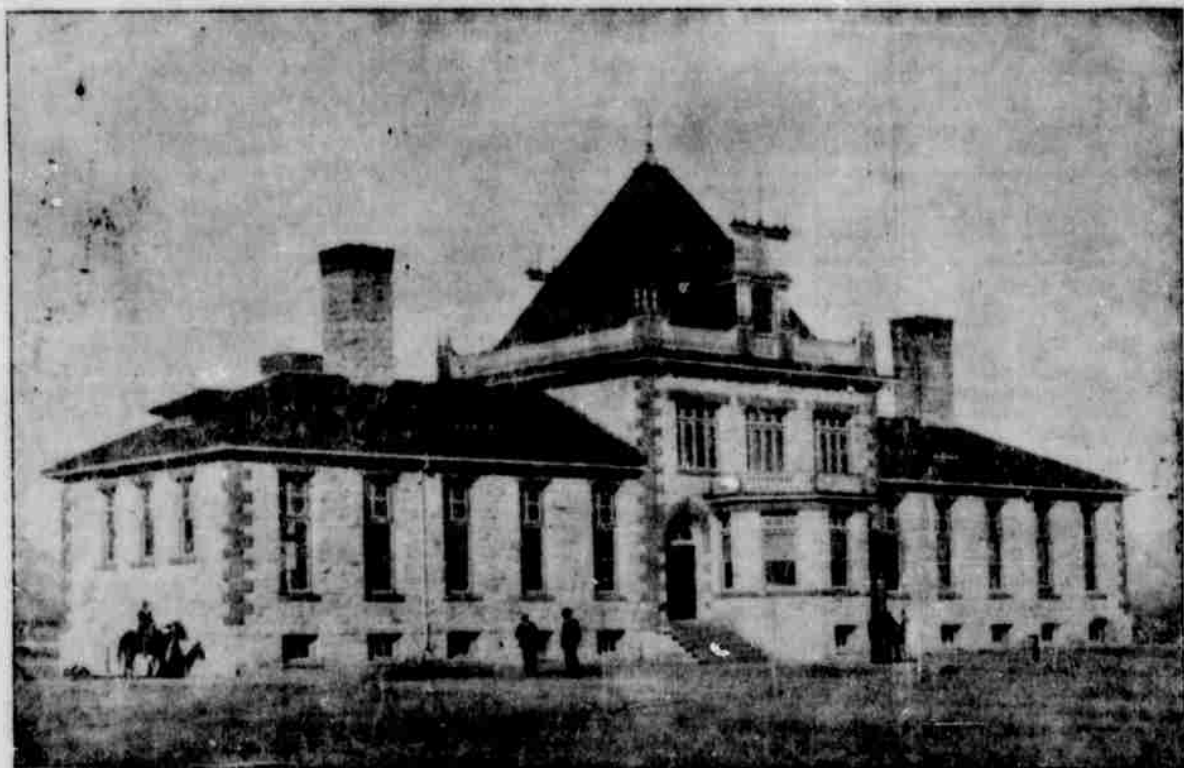

A BLOODY FIGHT AT CERRILLOS.

Romulo Urban Badly Cut in Neck and Abdomen by Pablo Tafaya.

Romulo and Justo Urban late Wednesday night picked a quarrel with Pablo Tafaya, and when too hard pressed Pablo whipped out a knife and cut Romulo in the neck and abdomen. Tafaya is not dangerously wounded. Romulo is being held without bail, however, to await results.

Two Italians were arrested for flourishing guns and threatening to shoot up the town of Madrid.

C. C. Burke, who came here for the remains of his brother, was the guest of the Metropolitan hotel and not of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Halloran as stated. Mr. Burke is an old friend of Mrs. Gruner.

CITY OF SOCORRO.

The city of Socorro contains 8,680,000 acres of land. The city is 161 miles in length from east to west and its greatest width from north to south is 34 miles. The Rio Grande valley is of more than average width in this county and it is lined with farms and orchards to its entire length.

The following are a few of the principal points of importance in the county, to wit:

Socorro, San Marcial, Magdalena, San Antonio, Kelly, Mogillon, Cooney, Graham, Alma, Prieta, Gila, Mangana, Luna, Sabinal, Lemitar, San Acacia, Polvadera, La Joya, and Paraje of which Socorro, commonly known as the "Gran City," is the county seat and headquarters for the Fifth judicial district, comprising the counties of Socorro, Lincoln, Chaves and Eddy.

The city of Socorro is situated on the western bank of the Rio Grande a little south and west of the geographical center of New Mexico, and the meridian line runs through the center of the city. The schools are excellent, there being three fine brick buildings equipped with all the modern appliances for ventilation. A fine brick court house and jail ornament the city, as well as the territorial school of mines, a building second to none in the states.

The city owns its own water system, piped from a thermal spring situated in the foothills of the Socorro mountains, three miles distant, and which is chemically pure. The Atkinson, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad runs through the city, and its engines are supplied with water from the city water works. The elevation gives a pressure sufficient to throw water over the highest building, hence insurance is cheap.

The city stands on a sloping mesa commencing at the river at an altitude of 4,500 feet, rising gradually toward the mountains, which stands at an altitude of 5,500 feet, the exposure being toward the rising sun, making it an ideal place for sanitary purposes.

A few years ago the United States granted a patent to the city of five miles square of land, that portion of which lying near the river and subject to irrigation from the stream is capable of producing wheat 30 bushels to the acre, and corn, rice, oats, barley, and vegetables of all kinds, including the sugar beet. This land has been appraised at $5 per acre.

There are tributary to the city the following mining districts: Socorro Mountain, Magdalena, Silver Mountain, Cat Mountain, Abiey, Cooney, Wilcox, Tallurido, Rosedale, Oscura, San Andreas, etc. Many of these have mines that have produced millions. There are large bodies of coal, gypsum, fire clay, and tripoli near by, which will eventually be utilized commercially.

Socorro is the most desirable place for a sugar beet factory, having thousands of acres of land adjacent well adapted for the raising of beets. It is a splendid point to establish a wool scouring plant and blanket factory, thousands of tons of wool being shipped through here each year. It is also an ideal place to establish a tannery and glove factory, being the center of the goat raising region, and would save the freight on raw hides to eastern factories. The city will donate to any parties sufficient land upon which to build factories. Wood can be contracted for here at $2 per cord and coal for $1.75 per ton.

The farms of Socorro county are found principally along the Rio Grande valley, beginning at Sabinal, about thirty miles north of Socorro, and thence stretching down to the beautiful fields about San Marcial. Probably 25,000 acres are under cultivation, though six times that area could easily be reclaimed in the first bottom by the establishment of reservoirs to catch and store the flood waters. This land is of inexhaustible fertility, friable and loamy. The mild climate allows the cultivation of a wide range of products. Alfalfa and wheat are the chief crops here. Fruit does well, especially apples, peaches and grapes, and south of Socorro are some famous orchards and vineyards.

The live stock interests of the county are large and with mining occupies the attention of the great mass of the people. There are probably 150,000 head of cattle, horses and goats in the county and some 250,000 head of sheep. The mild, open winters make this a stock-raising region par excellence, long cold spells and disastrous blizzards never interfering with the rearing of animals and profits. Socorro, Magdalena and San Marcial are each important shipping points for live stock.

The above facts are secured from Governor Otero's annual report to the secretary of the interior.

Elsewhere in The Citizen may be found a sketch of the Territorial School of Mines located at Socorro.

ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION COMMISSION.

After the expiration of the last legislative assembly Governor Otero appointed W. B. Walton and Thomas Hughes members of the St. Louis fair commission from this territory. The appointments were unopposed by these gentlemen. During the past year they have worked hard to collect a creditable exhibit, and the mineral collection at Charleston is largely due to their efforts. All this has been done without pay. The whole expense for the past year of the commission for clerical work, postage, telegrams, etc., is less than $200.

On this subject the Santa Fe News-Mexican says:

A weekly sheet published in Albuquerque charges that the appointments of Thomas Hughes, editor of the Albuquerque Citizen, and of W. B. Walton, editor of the Silver City Independent, as members of the commission to have charge of the New Mexico exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis are illegal, for the reason that they were members of the 34th legislative assembly, that created the commission, and were therefore under the organic act incompetent to hold such positions and ineligible thereto. This sheet claims that under the provision of the law prohibiting the appointment of members of the legislative assembly to offices created by the assembly of which they were members, Messrs. Hughes and Walton should immediately be removed as such commissioners. The position is not well taken and is not sustained by the law as it is. Messrs. Hughes and Walton hold merely nominal territorial positions. They are not sworn officers, they receive no pay, and are simply members of a commission created for a certain and specific purpose and can not therefore be considered of the class of officials that would properly come under the provisions of the law. In addition, it has been the custom since the territory was created, of the several governors thereof to appoint prominent citizens to serve as members of similar commissions, even when they have been members of the legislative assembly that enacted the laws making such. Governor Otero followed the custom and there was certainly nothing illegal or improper in his action when it is considered that Messrs. Hughes and Walton are fully competent to perform the duties of such commissioners and are leading and highly spirited citizens of the territory.

RURAL DELIVERY BILL PASSED.

After a week's practically uninterrupted consideration of the measure the house has voted the bill to put the rural free delivery service under the contract system and passed it. The paragraph relating to contract was stricken out in committee of the whole by a vote of 57 to 40. Efforts to keep the carriers out of the civil service were unavailing.

A yeas and nays vote was taken on a proposition to disqualify a carrier who uses his position to further the interests of any political party, which was defeated by a vote of 56 to 141.

The bill as passed establishes the rural free delivery service as a part of the postal system of the country, it having hitherto been conducted as an experimental service, by appropriations made from year to year, increasing from $10,000 in 1894 to $3,750,000 in 1902.

The bill provides for special agents in charge of divisions at $2,400 apiece; four other classes of special agents at salaries respectively of $1,200, $1,400, $1,500 and $1,600; route inspectors at salaries of $900, $1,000, $1,100 and $1,200; clerks graded at the same figures; and carriers at not exceeding $500 per annum.

IRRIGATION QUESTION.

The irrigation question at Washington appears to be growing more complicated from day to day. A recent dispatch announces that some of the enemies of the national irrigation movement have come out openly in favor of the state system. On the other hand the cattlemen are said to be actively supporting the compromise bill, because of the provision in it which leaves land open to scrip and desert land entries until the contract is let. They think this will enable them to get the land in the range states ahead of the settlers.

The bill is really a deception in this respect, because, while stating that land proposed to be irrigated shall be reserved for actual settlers only, it leaves this clause inoperative until the contract is let for the construction of the works, before which time every acre of the land would be taken up by speculators.

NAMING THE STATE.

The provisions governing admission are identical, except as to New Mexico. In the case of this territory a clause has been inserted in the bill which leaves the naming of the state, if admitted, to the legislature of the state itself, or to a constitutional convention. The name of "Lincoln" has been suggested, and the bill is so framed as to allow the adoption of this name if the people of New Mexico so desire.

The bill provides that the two remaining territories shall be admitted as the states of Arizona and Oklahoma respectively.

PROSPECTS FOR STATEHOOD.

The Pueblo Chieftain says that the prospects for statehood for the territories were never so good in the past as now. On Friday the house committee on territories brought in an omnibus bill, providing for statehood for New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma, instead of separate bills. This is an excellent indication of the absence of any serious objection anywhere. Now every vigorous petition could be sent in from the states that are neighbors of the three territories it might have an effect in hastening the result.

UNTIRING WORKER.

The Roswell Record says: Delegate Rodney is doing good work in congress. He is an untiring worker and never lets up. He has introduced every bill of importance wanted by the people of the territory and has made the strongest fight that has ever been made for statehood for New Mexico. He should receive all the encouragement that can be given him and all the assistance possible.

The principal orator to speak at General Grant's tomb on next Memorial day will be a man who wore the gray and fought under Lee against the victorious legions of Grant. United States District Judge Jones, of Alabama, who surrendered at Appomattox in 1865, has accepted an invitation to speak at Grant's tomb on Memorial day, and in his letter of acceptance Judge Jones speaks of "the delicacy of the great soul which in the hour of triumph thought not of victory but of how to spare unnecessary wounds to the pride and honor of defeated countrymen."

If the consumptive could only keep from getting worse it would be some encouragement. Scott's Emulsion at least gives tired nature a breathing spell. The nourishment and strength obtained from Scott's Emulsion is a great relief to the exhausted system.

This treatment alone often enables the consumptive to gather force enough to throw off the disease altogether.

Scott's Emulsion brings strength to the lungs and flesh to the body.

Mrs. Nancy B. Irving, of Chicago, believes that the realist who said centuries ago, "All men are liars," is about right. "They are all alike—gamblers and thieves, deacons and ministers." A year ago Mrs. Irving offered a prize to any man who could prove that he had told the truth, and the truth only, for thirty consecutive days without going out of business. No one has yet proved a claim to the money, although to use her own words, "there were hundreds of thousands" of contestants.

Attorney General Post, of Colorado, will ask the Colorado legislature at the next regular session for an appropriation to help fight the case now pending before the United States supreme court, entitled the United States vs. the Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation company. The Colorado attorney general says the principle involved vitally concerns the entire irrigation system of not only New Mexico but also that of Colorado.

The statistical abstract of the United States recently issued by the treasury department is a striking exhibit of the growth of this country. It shows that the area of the republic, which was 827,844 square miles in 1880, had grown to 3,925,600 in 1900, exclusive of Alaska and Hawaii, and the population in the hundred years increased from 5,308,482 to 75,695,724.

Legislation against assassination of the president is proceeding slowly in congress, but a bill is now favorably reported in the senate and will probably be passed at this session by both houses, punishing not only the assassin of president or vice president with death, but the attempt at their assassination, whether successful or unsuccessful.

W. C. Barnes, of Colfax county, thinks that competition in the telephone business is detrimental to towns, and refers to Las Vegas and Albuquerque for proof. In this city competition has reduced the tolls, pushed the line to every portion of the corporate limits and to adjoining towns.

Socorro is sure to get a railroad east to connect with the Rock Island system in the near future. Only one hundred miles of new road is needed to give Socorro a direct eastern outlet. The grade of the proposed line is light, and the road could be built at small cost per mile.

The Citizen sent a special representative around town yesterday morning to make a list of the saloons that were obeying the provisions of the Sunday law. He has not yet reported and it is suspected that he found several open saloons and fell by the wayside.

The Citizen has published both sides of the Sunday closing controversy, and will, so far as the paper is concerned, close the contention. The matter is not a newspaper subject, rightfully belonging to the courts.

Hard to please. The people of this city have been trying for twenty years to get direct railroad connection with the Pacific valley. Now that the road is assured the chronic kickers insist that the new line will injure the city.

From 1849 to 1899, a period of fifty years, there was but one addition to the membership of the president's cabinet. The proposed addition of a secretary of commerce would bring up the total membership to nine.

Professor Henry, of the national weather bureau has compiled some statistics on lightning which show that in the year 1900 there were 713 persons killed by lightning in this country and 973 injured by lightning.

People who want the Roswell cut-off railroad to come to this city direct, should get together and make a proposition to the Santa Fe company. Whining around town does not build roads.

The Citizen will publish an illustration of sketch of Eaton and Colfax county on March 22. All orders for extra copies must be received at the office on or before the morning of that day.

A piece of Arizona has a prospect of attaining statehood, anyhow. A bill has been introduced in congress to annex to Utah that part of Arizona above the Colorado river.

The city officers of Socorro have had their salaries reduced; the city clerk from $18.50 a month to $50 a year, and the city attorney from $300 to $50 a year.

STATEHOOD BILL.

Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.

Link Fortunes.

NO OPPOSITION IN HOUSE.

A special dispatch to the St. Louis Globe Democrat from Washington, under date of March 13, says:

Delegates Flynn, of Oklahoma, Rodey of New Mexico, and Smith, of Arizona, held a conference today and agreed to present the statehood bills for the three territories in form of an omnibus measure, which will be reported by the committee on territories at a meeting on Friday. Mr. Flynn and Mr. Rodey had no special preference in the matter, but Mr. Smith strongly urged the report of an omnibus bill. The other members of the committee on territories have left this matter entirely to the delegates from the territories seeking statehood, and their agreement will be made the report of the full committee.

Delegate Smith contends that the democrats in their caucus passed a resolution pledging the minority party to the support of all of the statehood bills. This he construes to mean that the party desired the bills to be acted upon together, in an omnibus measure. While the wording of the resolution referred to does not bear out the contention of Mr. Smith, Delegates Rodey and Flynn are perfectly willing that the three measures shall stand or fall together. Mr. Smith frankly admits that he is afraid that the bill for the admission of Arizona would suffer from a political standpoint if the bills were considered separately.

It seems to be generally conceded now that the statehood bill will pass the house without any serious opposition. All of the democratic members are pledged to the support of the measure, and no republican has expressed any intention of making a fight against any of the bills. Chairman Knox, of the committee on territories, and members Hamilton, of Michigan; Powers, of Maine, and Cushman, of Washington, on the republican side, have taken a deep interest in the statehood measures and will strongly advocate their adoption by the house. When the omnibus statehood measure has been reported it will become privileged and can be readily brought up for consideration.

It is not certain now that advocates of statehood will press consideration of the bill in the senate at the present session. The work for the bill has been confined almost entirely to the house, and there is some disposition among the friends of the measure to allow it to remain in the senate as unfinished business until the adjourned session of congress, which will convene in December. There are several reasons in support of this point of action, and not the least of these is the political reason. Much of the senate opposition, so far as it has been expressed, has been based upon the fear that the three territories, if admitted, might supply six democratic senators for the next congress. Delegate Rodey, of New Mexico, and Delegate Flynn, of Oklahoma, both insist that their territories are safely republican and promise to remain so. Some of the republican senators are inclined to consider the admission of the territories from a political standpoint, and are disposed to defer action until after the congressional elections this fall. If the territories return republican delegates it will be considered that the political measure of a reduced republican majority in the senate has been removed.

Advocates of statehood have also discovered what they believe to be another reason for senate opposition to statehood legislation. They claim that the senators object to having six members of that body added who would all be in favor of national irrigation legislation. This may seem inconsistent in view of the fact that the senate passed the irrigation bill without opposition. Statehood workers claim that the senate is counting upon the house to kill the irrigation bill. If this is not accomplished another objection to statehood legislation would be removed. So thoroughly are the statehood advocates convinced that the fate of their bill is linked with the action of congress on irrigation that they are disposed to wait until that measure has been disposed of by the house before taking any action in the senate on the statehood measure.

der date of March 14: Santa Fe today experienced the first really disagreeable day of the winter. A fall of a quarter of an inch of snow in the city and of twenty inches in the mountains was preceded by a sand storm, the wind blowing thirty miles an hour. Toward evening the clouds broke. The snow fall in the mountains comes at an opportune time as a water famine was feared. This evening the temperature is steadily falling, it being down to 30 degrees at 6 o'clock.

Believers of the skin, horrible plague. Most everybody afflicted in one way or another. Only one safe, never failing cure—Doan's Ointment. At any drug store, 50 cents.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE NOTES.

From the Las Cruces Progress.

Miss Mae Robbins, one of our popular old students, is teaching in Bland, N. M.

Arthur Williams and Arthur Hinton, old students of this college, came to see how it was getting along, the other day.

Professor Tinsley has a class of twelve in advanced physiology. It is refreshing to see how much larger our classes are than they were last year.

Russell Stinnett was so much pleased with the San Juan country that he will go there soon and engage in business. His class is very sorry to lose him.

On Wednesday evening Miss Macgregor asked a few friends to spend the evening, and to meet Miss Sidel and Miss Luce, of Chicago. These young ladies are guests of Mrs. Bowman.

We are pleased to note two well deserved promotions in the mechanical engineering department. Professor Mills succeeds Professor Brady, who resigned last winter, and Mr. Sage takes Professor Mills present position.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruptions. DeWitt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy condition and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Safe thorough and gentle. The very best pills. J. H. O'Reilly & Co., B. H. Briggs & Co.

Silver City Sanitarium.

Yesterday morning the contract for the addition to St. Joseph's sanitarium was let to the Black & Atkins company. The complete addition will cost $35,000 and will contain accommodations for fifty patients. Work will be begun at once and the first building will be completed July 1, of the present year.

The structure has been carefully planned to meet all the exigencies of a modern sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis invalids, and will form a square, or, in other words, be built around a court in the old California mission style. It will have porches outside and inside, upon which each room opens by means of French windows.

The dining room, kitchen and research laboratory will be in separate buildings. The plan has been especially planned and will be modern in every particular.

Architecturally, as well as industrially, and economically, the new sanitarium will be a splendid addition to the resources of our city.—Enterprise.

After a Deserter.

Corporal Van Buren and Private Davis, of troop F, came in from Fort Wingate last night and proceeded on north to Cerillos, where they will take charge of a deserter, Perry G. Bullett, of troop G, fourteenth cavalry, who deserted from Fort Wingate on January 1, 1902. The guard expects to return to Fort Wingate with the deserter tonight, provided time permits. The boys called at The Citizen office last night, and Corporal Van Buren stated that the hospital steward at the fort, Mr. Burkhardt, would leave today on a three months' furlough, during which time he expects to visit "the old folks" at his old home in Germany.

Victor Hugo Bachechi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oreste Bachechi, died of pneumonia. The little fellow was 15 months and 17 days old, and was an exceedingly bright child. The funeral took place at the bereaved parents' residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and many friends of the family were present to offer their condolence to the worthy parents.

CHRONIC KICKERS.

Some in Every Household in Albuquerque, But They are Growing Less. Chronic kickers the kidneys are—when they're sick.

What makes the kidneys sick? A simple thing. They have too much to do. Must keep up their work; they never rest.

Can't blame them for kicking. Ever have your kidneys kick? Ever have a bad back, a lame back, or aching one?

Know it's the kidneys kicking? The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

Mr. C. S. Keep, of 323 E. Camarillo street, Colorado Springs, Colo., Associated Press operator, says:

"Long before I came to Colorado Springs I knew all about Doan's Kidney Pills in the state of Massachusetts, where they are considered a household remedy. I used them several years ago for a lame and aching back, and I have seen scores of statements from representative citizens of Worcester and other cities in the east, all emphatically endorsing the claims made for that preparation. My advice to anyone suffering from either a weakened or over-excited kidney is to procure Doan's Kidney Pills, take a course of the treatment and the results promised will inevitably follow."

Plenty of similar proof in Albuquerque. Call at the Alvarado Pharmacy for particulars.

PATENT DELIVERED.

The Washington Mine at Bland May Now Be Sold and Worked.

The patent for the Washington mine in the Cochiti district was delivered last Saturday by the federal land office to Fred J. Otero, W. H. Childers and E. W. Johnson, et al. of Albuquerque. The property had been under litigation for a number of years and is considered the most valuable mining proposition in the Cochiti. It has some $150,000 worth of ore on the dump. Now that the litigation has been ended it will be probably sold to a syndicate that will work it and will erect the necessary reduction works.

Notes from Correspondents

RATON LETTERS.

District Court to Convene Monday—Interesting Notes.

Special Correspondence.
Raton, March 14.—District court will convene in Raton next Monday. There is a heavy criminal docket, but the civil docket is unusually light. The case of the Territory against Robert Love for murder will likely consume considerable time and is a case of much interest. Last Halloween some mischievous boys were taking advantage of the license of the occasion, and among other pranks loaded a small outboard belonging to Love upon a wagon and were in the act of transferring it to another location, when Love appeared on the scene dressed in his night robe and with a shot gun in hand. The boys took to flight, but before Bert Parsons, a 17-year-old youth, had gone on many paces, he was brought to earth by a shot from Love's gun. The shot was immediately fatal. Love is a blacksmith, and has for many years been an industrious citizen of Raton, though his hasty temper is generally known.

Attorney C. J. Gavin returned last night from Chicago, where he went to attend the meeting of the Business Men's League, before which body he made an impressive address advocating national aid in the building of storage reservoirs and canals for the reclamation of lands in the arid west. Mr. Gavin says the business men of Chicago are fully alive to the benefits which would accrue to the commercial interests of that city by the agricultural development of New Mexico and other states and territories where irrigation is necessary and are heartily in favor of the president's reservoir policy.

T. W. McAniff, and Judge C. M. Bayne are talked of by the republicans as candidates for mayor. It has been the practice in this city for the different parties to make their nominations one week prior to election. The probability is that the democrats will nominate Dr. J. J. Shuler, the present mayor, who was elected the last time by a majority of but one vote. There is much dissatisfaction on account of the extravagance practiced in the administration of city affairs the past year, and judging from the general sentiment if the republicans nominate either Judge Bayne or Mr. McAniff their candidate will have a walk over.

FROM ANOTHER.

Raton, March 14.—Mrs. Quick delightfully entertained a dozen ladies last Saturday afternoon, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Chapman, whose 82d birthday anniversary it was. The ladies passed a pleasant afternoon with their sewing and conversation, and after partaking of a dainty supper, wished Mrs. Chapman many happy returns before departing for their homes.

On Wednesday evening were married Miss Anita Wray Lawson to Bert Ramsey, by Rev. McGill, at the residence of the bride's mother on Second street. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to the intimate friends of the family.
In response to an invitation from the Seven-hundred Enchir club of Trinidad Mesdames Sandusky, Hobbs, Collin, Remsburg, Van Houten, Mendelson and Leahy went to Trinidad to play the fascinating game at the residence of Mrs. G. L. Davis, Saturday afternoon. The Raton club was victorious, carrying off three prizes. In the evening Mrs. E. S. Bell gave a jolly whist party, in honor of the visitors. The ladies returned Sunday morning.
Mr. and Mrs. Van Houten have invitations out for a party Monday evening, to celebrate the natal day of their patron saint.

"TALK-A-LITTLE" KILLED.

Particulars of the Double Murder Committed Near Winslow.

Special Correspondence.

Winslow, March 13.—Yesterday a young Navajo Indian about 14 years of age, known by the citizens of Winslow to be a son of a Navajo Indian called "Christmas," came in town on a pony and reported the killing of his mother, whose name is "Talk-a-Little," and three children, by his father, "Christmas." At once Judge J. F. Mahoney and Sheriff Secrist, Constable K. C. Henley and W. A. Poor, with teams to bring in the remains of the family to town, left Winslow about 6 o'clock. Before they could arrive at the spot it became dark and they lost the trail and were forced to return to town. Next morning the judge, as coroner, summoned a jury and with teams left town about 8:30 o'clock, arriving on the scene of the killing about 11:30 o'clock, to find the mother, "Talk-a-Little," dead, and her little baby about 10 months old lying within four feet of her also dead, and the other two children that had been reported dead were none the worse except the scars and cold. It was a pitiable sight. There lay the mother and babe dead on the ground close to the house, and the two children who survive standing by a little wind break crying and shivering with the cold, both nearly nude. Their uncle, whose name is "Two Whiskers," heard of the crime and preceded the coroner's jury a few minutes. The little ones whose ages are about 3 and 5 years respectively, were well fed and clothed and taken charge of by their uncle. The murderer could not be seen anywhere. The little girl says he took the grub and blankets and left on foot. The Navajos say they will get him and bring him to Winslow. "Christmas," as he is called, is well known in Winslow, as he has worked around among the houses for two or three years, doing washings and such other work as he could get to do. Judge Mahoney swore in the jury and after investigating the cause of the killing they rendered the following verdict:

We, your coroner's jury, empaneled to investigate the cause of the killing of a Navajo woman and her babe, about fifteen miles south of Winslow, and after investigating, find that the woman, "Talk-a-Little," and her babe came to their death from the result of gunshot wounds inflicted by their husband and father. (Signed) W. A. Poor, foreman; D. E. Hanks, P. P. Secrist, E. J. Wallig, Everett Carter, G. E. Gillmore.

Rev. H. W. Peck, D. D., of Prescott, Ariz., will preach two weeks, beginning Tuesday night next, at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Winslow.

Mr. Peck comes to us highly recommended and is prominent in revival work. The people of Winslow will do well to go and hear him.

A FEW CORRECTIONS.

Special Correspondence.

Winslow, March 14.—The murder that occurred at about fifteen miles south of Winslow caused very little more comment than did the article appearing in the Albuquerque Journal-Democrat of March 13, purporting to be by wire from this town, of which article not one paragraph is true except that there was a murder committed by a Navajo woman and one child were the victims. In the first place the article was made up and sent by wire before anybody could get ready to go to the scene of the crime, and of course could not get the truth of the story until the sheriff and posse, or some one of them could return. The report was from the boy that his father had killed his mother and three children, and not mother and two sisters, as the above mentioned article has specified. As was reported to The Citizen, the first party was too late in starting to find the place, as the place was very much out of the way, and no roads leading to it. The article goes on and states that Marshal Henley organized a posse to go in pursuit of the suspect and rode to the scene of the crime and found the boy's story verified. This is not right. Mr. Henley was in bed sick and the posse was organized by Sheriff Secrist, who was at Winslow at the time doing assessment work, and when the sheriff's posse, together with Coroner J. F. Mahoney, arrived at the scene of the crime, it was many hours after the Journal-Democrat had printed its paper and so the article goes on with a story from imagination. Mr. Henley is an efficient officer of the town, and Sheriff Secrist is on the trail of the murderous Indian. The article referred to together with the article in the Los Angeles Herald, caused so much comment here that your correspondent thought it best to correct it through the columns of your valuable paper, and would suggest the Journal-Democrat correspondent get the news before wiring next time.

FORT WINGATE.

Interesting Notes from the Post Located Near Gallup.

Special Correspondence.

Fort Wingate, N. M., March 14.—Since the visit to the fort of General Arthur MacArthur, who was recently entertained so lavishly in Albuquerque, there has been much speculation as to whether this place would be abandoned or not, despite the decision of the board, and if so, how soon. Some claiming it will be retained, base their opinions upon the facts that as a health resort for soldiers returning from the islands, it is "par excellence," and it is acknowledged that its water is almost unsurpassed. Also that as the post recommended for Albuquerque is to be an infantry post, this will be retained for cavalry. In connection with this, I may say that an old resident on the reservation stated that when the question of establishing a post at Albuquerque was mooted quite a while since, one of the reasons against it was "the water is too bad for the soldiers to drink and the whiskey too high for them to buy." ever, I do not stand sponsor for the truthfulness of this. One thing is certain, however, that if the post is retained it will be considerably enlarged and improved. The commanding officer, Major Hardie, in company with the quartermaster, Lieutenant Jordan, recently inspected all the buildings in the fort, making memoranda of the improvements necessary, on which will be based an estimate of the cost of rehabilitation, and which, it is believed, will have considerable effect on the final outcome.

There are here now two troops, "F" and "G," of the Fourteenth cavalry, a new regiment which was organized at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in March, 1901. They arrived here on September 16, 1901, relieving one company of the Twenty-eighth infantry, which was sent to Fort Logan, Colo. The troops have seventy-five men each, including ten to be recruited to the maximum strength of eighty-five.

Captain C. C. Smith, troop "G," with some five enlisted men, has been granted permission to take a thirty-day trip within a radius of 200 miles of the fort. The captain expects to leave on or about April 1, but his route has not yet been fully decided.

Hospital Steward Charles Wadsworth arrived today from Fort Douglas, Utah, to relieve the present steward, Oscar Nakard, whose enlistment expires on the 15th. The latter has been for the last two years in Alaska and was assigned to this post within the last two months. He will re-enlist at once and take a three-months' furlough.

Defender Lodge, No. 29, I. O. O. F., gave an entertainment to the officers and enlisted men of the post on its anniversary, February 22, and it being such an unequalled success, they have decided to repeat it on the 26th, the anniversary of the order. On the former occasion Major Hardie made quite an interesting speech on the benefit to a person, socially and morally, in being an Odd Fellow, as viewed by him, which was greatly gratifying to the lodge members and listened to with close attention by those assembled. The lodge is quite proud of its standing in the list in this jurisdiction, in increase in membership during the last six months, the number being twenty-two.

Commencing today on every Friday, weather permitting, guard mounting will be mounted. This will be the initiation of these two troops in this form of mounting guard.

ALGODONES.

Special Correspondence.

Algodones, N. M., March 15.—The weather here has been delightful until yesterday, when there was a slight fall of snow in the forenoon, but clear weather the rest of the day. Today it is cold and stormy with slight flurries of snow. School closed here for the term the last of February, but reopened on the 10th of the present month by order of the school superintendent.

Wallace Hesselde, president of the Albuquerque Land and Irrigation company, came up here last week to see the Mayordomo and commissioners of the Algodones ditch in regard to some trouble about the canal. The Algodones ditch company have decided to have nothing to do with the canal, and will have water running in their own ditch today.

This has been a very healthy winter here. There has been no sickness at all and no death has taken place here for several months.

SILVER CITY.

Special Correspondence.

Silver City, N. M., March 17.—J. M. Fritter, who was injured in a runaway coming in from his mines at Santa Rita, a few weeks ago, died at the Ladies' hospital from an injury sustained on last Friday. Mr. Fritter was thrown from the buggy and caught his foot in the springs in some way and was dragged for considerable distance, and while at the time of the accident the doctor who attended him stated that he did not think his wounds would prove serious, but complications set in which caused his death. The deceased was largely interested in mining ventures in the Santa Rita district. He leaves a family of several children and a wife. Mr. Fritter was a member of the local lodge of Elks and several other societies. The remains were taken in charge by the A. O. U. W. and interment was had in the cemetery of that order.

Ernest Barnes, superintendent of the Silver City smelter and wife and sister, Miss Freda, returned on today's train from a few days pleasure trip to El Paso.

H. Niles returned today from quite an extended trip to his old home in Philadelphia, where he was on business connected with a Texas mining company of Central.

A murder case which caused considerable excitement in this section several months ago was decided in the district court today. The murder occurred in Pinos Altos. The officers of that mining camp one morning found a dead Mexican lying out in the street with his head mashed to a pulp with a heavy stone which lay near the body. Signs of a hard scuffle were plainly evident and the horrible condition that the body was found in together with the means used to kill the man, made it the most foul murder that has oc-urred in that little camp for many years.

Two Mexicans were arrested and placed in the Grant county jail and at the trial today the evidence was so strong against one of them that he pleaded guilty to the crime of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary at Santa Fe.

Considerable talk is going around here in regard to a new mill which local capital is thinking of erecting in the near future. The proposition will undoubtedly be a good paying investment owing to the recent order closing the reduction works in this city. There is abundance of ore in the surrounding country of all grades and from the present indications it will only be a short time before capital will see the wisdom of erecting a good mill at this point.

TIRED OF LIFE.

Despondent and Deserted, Seeks Relief in Suicide.

The finding of the decomposed body of a woman in the Colorado river just below town, last Saturday, furnishes the closing chapter to the story of the short career of another of those unfortunate women whose downward and checkered existence can be traced to the duplicitous man, says the Needles Eye. The story of "Dolly Gilbert" does not differ materially from that of most women of her class. Left motherless early in life she was an easy prey for that class of men whose crimes are hidden under the cloak of society and protected by their associations with the business world. Dolly Gilbert, by which title she was known, came to Needles a few months ago and took up her residence in the shanty district of the town, where she led a life of recklessness and revelry characteristic of women of that section, until about a month ago when she disappeared.

There were many stories about that girl and quarreled with her "lover" and had threatened to end her life in the river, and the belief was so strong with her companions that the day after her disappearance the river was searched as far as the bridge. No signs of the body or clothing were found, however, and as a report had in the meantime reached Needles that the missing girl had been seen in Barstow, the suicide theory was abandoned and the matter soon forgotten. Last Saturday, however, some workmen had occasion to move the big barge of the Colorado Steam Navigation company, and as they did so the body of a woman slowly came to the surface. It was that of Dolly Gilbert and the mystery of her disappearance was solved.

The body was taken to the morgue and Coroner Thompson notified. The inquest was held the following day and a verdict of suicide was rendered. The remains were buried "on the hill," and the affair will be forgotten until the next act in the tragedy of sin calls it to mind.

GRAND JURORS

Judge Baker's Charge to the Territorial Grand Jury.

NOW DO YOUR DUTY.

Yesterday afternoon, on the empanelling of the territorial grand jury, Judge Baker delivered the following charge to the jurors:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: You have been duly selected, empaneled and sworn in as grand jurors for the present term of the district court. It is incumbent upon the court to instruct you generally what the law is, and your duties under the law; and where the instructions are not particular and exhaustive, you can apply to the district attorney or the court at any time for further instructions, or as to what the law is on any particular matter.

In the main, it is the duty of you as a body to inquire into all violations of the law that have been committed within this county, or that may be prosecuted in this county, irrespective of persons. Your foreman is empowered to administer oaths to the several witnesses that will appear before you. It is expected of the grand jury that you will be controlled by the evidence only that is produced before your body. The general rules of evidence will govern you in determining whether or not an indictment should be presented. You will consider none but legal evidence and the best evidence and the best evidence in degree, when you are deliberating upon whether or not a presentment should be made. You may consider hearsay or secondary evidence, for the purpose only of assisting you in ascertaining or running down proper persons whose legal evidence may be ascertained or found; but in all your deliberations you will allow no secondary or hearsay evidence to weigh with you on any particular.

It is the duty of the grand jury to present indictments against any and all persons whom all the evidence taken together is such as in the judgment of the general members of the grand jury would warrant a conviction before a trial jury beyond a reasonable doubt. If any of your number know of any violations of law, or have reason to believe there has been any offense, or the law, it is your duty to bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury. In other words, it is the duty of the grand jury to investigate and carefully consider any charge of violation of the law from whatever source it may come.

You must be very careful not to allow your prejudice or inclinations to swerve you for or against the returning of an indictment. You should be equally as cautious not to allow your personal inclinations or desires to prevent you from returning a bill.

You will allow no one to remain in your room during your consideration and deliberations upon any subject calling for an official act from your body. After a thorough and full consideration of all legal evidence before you, as to whether or not a true bill should be found against any person or persons, it is your duty then to vote upon the question, and if twelve or more of your members are of the conscientious opinion that a bill of indictment should be presented, you will then request the district attorney to prepare an indictment upon the back of which will be the words, "A True Bill," which must be signed by your foreman.

The first matters for your consideration will be to consider whether or not the parties now in custody having been bound over from magistrates or justices of the peace, should be presented by bill of indictment or discharged. If twelve or more of your number find a bill against these persons, then a true bill should be presented; if less than twelve of your number only think a bill should be presented, then the parties should be discharged; and you will so report your findings in these matters.

You will next consider any and all charges against persons who have been bound over to the district court, and are now upon bond, awaiting the action of your body.

It will be your duty to inquire of any witness or public officer of the county, for use of the grand jury or of any member you will have free access to all public records of the county. Among other things, it will be your duty to inquire into whether or not the jails of the county are properly kept.

The law requires, as well as the good service of the grand jury, that all your doings be kept absolutely secret; not only in minor matters or important matters, but all matters should be kept inviolate by every member of the grand jury, and in fact, the law provides that if any grand juror shall disclose the doings of the grand jury while sitting, or even thereafter, that they may be punished in any sum not exceeding the sum of $50, unless such disclosure is made under due process of law.

The law makes it a part of my duty to charge you and call your especial attention to section 495 of the compiled statutes of 1897, which law provides in substance, that it shall be unlawful for any county commissioner, sheriff, probate clerk, or any other person who, as principal or deputy, holds any county office in any county of this territory, to either directly or indirectly buy, sell, deal in or speculate in or with any certificate, warrant or other evidence of indebtedness issued by said county or by the territory of New Mexico, except such warrant or certificate as might be issued to such person. The law also provides in section 496, that it is unlawful for any mayor, councilman, collector, marshal, clerk or other person holding any office or appointment in any incorporated city or town in the territory, to either directly or indirectly, buy, sell, barter, deal in or speculate in or with any such certificate or warrant of such incorporated city or town, except such as are legally issued to them; and a like provision is in the statute for the clerk of the district court or his deputy of this meddling or intermeddling with orders or certificates issued by such officers.

It is my duty to call your attention particularly to section 1377 of the compiled statutes of 1897, wherein the law provides in effect that if any person shall carry a deadly weapon, either concealed or otherwise, on or about the settlements of the territory, except upon his own premises or in the lawful defense of his person, property or family, it is a crime indictable under the laws of the territory. The law also provides that if any person shall draw a deadly weapon upon another, or if any person shall handle a deadly weapon in a threatening manner at or toward another, except in the lawful defense of himself, his family or his property, it is an indictable offense. The law upon this subject will be more particularly explained to you by the district attorney in case any such matter shall come before your body.

You are further instructed that if any person who shall be found on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, engaged in any sports or in horse-racing, cock-fighting or in any other manner disturbing any worshiping assembly or private family, or attending any public meeting or public exhibition, except for religious worship or instruction, or engaged in any labor, except works of necessity, charity or mercy, it is an indictable offense, and should any violations of this statute come to your knowledge or information, it is the duty of the grand jury to indict any and all such persons.

In case an interpreter is needed for the examination of witnesses, or in your discussion of evidence, you will have one at your command, but in no event must the interpreter or any other person be in your room or within your hearing during your balloting or determining whether or not an indictment shall be returned.

It will be the duty of the grand jury to select one of your number as clerk, whose duty it will be to make and prepare the minutes of your proceedings, except your votes on indictments. Such minutes should be furnished to the prosecuting attorney, to aid him in drawing indictments if you find any, in accordance with the views of the grand jury in the finding of such indictment. The law is a little lax as to when and how the grand jury shall carry on its proceedings. The grand jury is, however, under the supervision of the court, and I direct that your hours of labor shall be from 9 to 12 in the forenoon and from 2 to 5:30 in the afternoon, and further direct that during all your hours of labor you work earnestly and honestly and as speedily as possible, and let me ask that you make a record for speed as well as for honest and conscientious work during your term as grand jurors.

CASE OUTLAWED.

Final Result of Suit Against Hart, the Defaulting Coal Oil Inspector.

In the case of the Territory of New Mexico vs. M. S. Hart, et al, a judgment against Hart was entered for $6,279.30 and interest. It was found, however, by the court that the plea of the statute of limitation runs in favor of the other defendants in the case and upon motion of their attorney, the case against them was dismissed.—Report of court proceedings in the New Mexican. This means that Mike Hart has got to pay back to the territory the excess of fees he collected while serving as oil inspector. It also means that owing to the statute of limitations his bondsmen are not held for this sum on his bonds. As Hart is execution proof, and long since has left the territory there will be but a faint chance of the territory ever recovering this money. The only satisfaction that can be gathered is that Mike had a rattling good time with the money, and hundreds, perhaps thousands, helped him drink it up.—Lordsburg Liberal.

D. W. Tice has just completed a set of plans and specifications for the Mormon church commissioners, for the erection of a handsome stone and brick church, 14x78, at Ohio, this county. The edifice will consist of basement and upper floor, with a seating capacity of 150.

The Fruitland-Olio people are fast demonstrating that unity of action can accomplish for a community. Without any noise or hurrah, they have quietly proceeded to develop one of the richest farming sections in the southwest, built good schools, roads and irrigation canals, and now have in the hands of the architect, plans for one of the handsomest churches in the territory.

LORDSBURG.

From the Liberal.

Frank J. Buck, the assayer, made a trip to Cerrillos this week with a carload of Arizona ore which is being sent there as a trial shipment.

E. McCormick, superintendent of the Aberdeen Copper company, has resigned and accepted a similar position at Telluride, Colo. He left for his new place Saturday.

The Western Union office is to be moved from the Southern Pacific depot to the Arizona & New Mexico depot, where it will have rooms on the upper floor, and will not be so crowded as it is in the present location.

Dr. Jaton was in from his camp at Malone this week. He thinks he has one of the finest gold showings he knows in the country. He has a four foot ledge that will average $50 in gold and silver, with silver at 50 cents an ounce. Much of the ledge will go higher, but he has not had an assay out of it that has carried less than an ounce of gold. He intends to do considerable development work on this property before deciding what to do with the ore, but if the ore continues in quantity he will undoubtedly put a mill on the property.

DEMING.

From the Herald.

Mrs. John Anderson of El Paso, has a force of men at work putting in the poles for the electric lights in Deming.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gleason have now fully decided to go to Manila, and will reside there for the future if the climate proves beneficial to Mr. Gleason.

The supper given last Friday evening by the ladies of the Presbyterian church netted them $75.00 which sum goes towards the purchase of a new organ for the church.

The building that Mr. J. A. Mahoney is erecting at the rear of his already large place of business in this city is fast assuming shape and when completed will be quite an ornament in that vicinity.

Few through passengers, and no visitors at Deming fail to notice the three beautiful peaks which we have adopted as the seal of our county. Let us hope that the range will prove in time as useful as it shows up pretty.

There are a large number of conductors, engineers and other railroad men now in Deming. Many of these gentlemen are here in the employ of the Blue and red and others are here on leaves of absence from other roads and are visiting with the railroad boys of this town.

W. H. Greer made a hurried trip on the Santa Fe this week, going as far as Lamy Junction and on his return had the pleasure of riding as far as Albuquerque on a special train carrying Paul Morton to the Pacific coast. While in Albuquerque Mr. Greer was interviewed by The Citizen man and gave, for publication, a very concise and sensible report of our public affairs at present.

From the Herald.

The Blakes railroad people have a force of men at work in the vicinity of its Southern Pacific crossing engaged in putting in the interlocking safety switch ordered by the court.

The ice factory and electric works are nearing completion. It is the opinion of quite a number that a brewery will be added to the plant shortly. Beer made from Deming water would have a large sale.

Rev. Brower, of Albuquerque, superintendent of Baptist missions of New Mexico and Arizona, will meet the Baptists of Deming the first Sunday in May at Odd Fellows' hall, to plan and arrange with them for the ground and erection of a Baptist church.

Pete Brown accidentally shot himself in the left breast, just over the heart, this morning. He was handling a .38-caliber revolver when it accidentally exploded. The ball entered near the breast bone and came out through the muscles under the left arm. Dr. Cassels is attending him, and says he will be all right again in a few days.

TAOS.

From the Crescent.

From good authority we learn that a new stage line is to be started between here and Tres Piedras.

T. J. Jennings, late of Morenci, Arizona, will locate in Taos county and open a butcher shop at Ambizette.

The local actors and actresses are diligently rehearsing the first act of the drama, which will be staged on April 1.

Dr. T. P. Martin has treated eighty-five Pueblo Indians with anti-toxin, as a preventative against diphtheria, since his return from Santa Fe Saturday.

A. Gauder's new ware house is nearly completed. It will be a great advantage to his business, as it will hold an immense amount of hay and grain.

It has been suggested that the bonded indebtedness of Taos county, which amounts to about $17,000, and is drawing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, should be refunded into bonds drawing interest at the rate of 5 per cent.

A. G. Muller is experimenting on a large scale on a piece of land he owns. Mr. Muller has planted about twenty-five different kinds of seed and has set out ten kinds of fruit and shade trees and six kinds of grasses have been sown.

A. G. Muller has let a contract for adobe with which to build a new store and bids on lumber are now coming in. The store will have a frontage of sixty feet and will be 125 feet deep, running from the plaza back to the extension of Green street. It will be a very handsome building.

Recent storms in the mountains surrounding the Taos valley have increased the snow to several feet in depth, which insures water for the coming season. Taos citizens with a little cloudy weather and some snow in the air, but none on the ground, and is entitled to the ribbon for the finest winter climate in the west.

There is strong talk about the erection of a wool scouring mill in this neighborhood. A promoter from the east has been looking over the field here lately and expressed himself as very well satisfied that such a plant would be profitable to the investors if sufficient wool is raised in Taos county to supply the mill. The plant is to be run by water power.

LAS VEGAS.

From the Record.

W. L. Peabody indulged in a farewell pyrotechnic display just before leaving Saturday afternoon for El Paso. He went to light a gas stove and the head of the match flew off and over on the lace curtains instantly setting them on fire. They in turn ignited some clothing on a couch and in an instant there was a blaze that looked as if the entire house would be burned. The fire was extinguished with difficulty after burning the curtains, some clothing and a large hole in the carpet. Mrs. Peabody had her hands burned in trying to extinguish the fire.

Henry Benedict's horse and laundry wagon took a trip up Railroad avenue that was not down on the program. No damage was done.

E. McElroy, formerly in Superintendent Fox's office, accepted the position vacated by P. W. Condit as clerk in the trainmaster's office. Mr. Condit will go into Gross, Kelly & Co.'s as stenographer.

Jesse Williams, new colored arrival from Kansas, en route to Santa Rosa to open a barber shop, needed an overcoat. He went to Bacharach Bros. today and saw an overcoat he liked. He took that overcoat and made a sneak for the door. Mr. Bacharach had business at the door at that particular time and the negro started to run. He went directly into the corner in rear of the store and was nabbed. Judge Wooster thought the deal worth $10, and Williams had to soak some of his barbering outfit to meet the judge's ante. Result: Jesse is out $10, the price of an overcoat, and still has no overcoat.

Col. R. E. Twitcheell, who returned from a southern trip is very ill suffering from tonsillitis. His many friends will be pleased to hear of the recovery of the gentleman.

D. J. Osborn's henery is booming along in fine style. The buildings are going up fast under the large force of men working and Las Vegas will soon have an abundance of "home grown hen fruit."

The city has a $10,000 damage suit on its hands. City Clerk Tamme was served with papers at the instance of Mrs. R. J. Hamilton, asking that sum for injuries she sustained last fall, the day Rindling Bros' circus was here, by her falling on a defective sidewalk near the bridge and breaking one of her limbs.

The temporary executive committee of the Young Men's Christian association has just been appointed and is as follows: D. J. Osborn, chairman; H. O. Garver, D. T. D. A. Coker, Dr. C. H. Bradley and E. H. Horlow. This committee will suggest revisions to the Y. M. C. A. constitution to fit local needs and until the constitution is adopted they will have oversight of the work of the association.

From the Optic.

Will Hartley and Charles Ward were charged with riding a bicycle on the sidewalk and not with appropriate wheels.

H. E. Finney writes the Optic that he will not travel the territory this season and that Thomas Hall, of Hall & Leonard, of Albuquerque, will tune and repair the Las Vegas pianos this season.

Pierce Murphy received a letter from a man who lives at W. A. Texas, inquiring for a ranch of certain size and price. "Chico" Woodson got next in some way and has written a Texan that he has just the ranch required.

By accident, or by malice, aforesaid thought some one carried away C. J. Schell's coat last night while the owner was attending church. The coat was left in the vestibule of the Methodist church. It is a blue chinchilla coat and had in it valuable papers. Mr. Schell is greatly inconvenienced by losing the coat and will give a reward of $10 for the return of the coat and papers.

M. L. Cadey sold Don Margarito Romero a nice new hack for service between Las Vegas and El Porvenir.

Rabbi J. Kaiser, late of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, has come to Las Vegas, seeking relief from bronchial trouble. He was for thirty years a Jewish pastor, but is retired now on account of poor health. He is a competent instructor in vocal music.

The new addition to the Masonic cemetery has been recently surveyed and plotted. Beside the stone wall which has been put around it, city water has been put in, trees are being planted and the grounds are being beautified generally. A number of family lots have been sold off, and more are under consideration. The property, when completed, will be indeed a cemetery worthy the city with which it is connected.

P. A. Manzaneros, who, with other business men, has been working for the re-establishment of the daily mail to Santa Rosa, which was discontinued a few days ago, received a telegram from Delegate B. S. Rodey, yesterday, which stated that Mr. Rodey would see the department and try to have the daily mail again established. This is sought after greatly by Las Vegas people and was a convenience to both places while in force.

The cavalry troop had a regular drill last evening at their barracks. The troop will not be troubled any further with absentees at drill, for, under the law, a detail may be sent to arrest the absentees at any time. This law will be observed. About the first of April, Major Rankin will take the troop to El Porvenir for an outing. A swell dance will be given at the Montezuma hotel about the first Friday in April. It is expected this ball will be one of the features of the social life of the year for the city. Governor and Mrs. Otero are expected over from Santa Fe to attend the function.

Miss Mae Schen, well known here and who attended the Normal University in this city last year, has taken charge of the school at Bland, New Mexico.

Fox, superintendent of the New Mexico division of the Santa Fe.

ALAMOGORDO.

From the News.

Quinnlin & Son have a contract for building a lodging house at Carrizozo for the El Paso-Rock Island road.

The court house will be one of the handsomest buildings in the territory when it receives the finishing touches. Hodge Furniture company have purchased of Robert White the store building now occupied by them. The consideration was $3,000.

D. E. McCarthy, an El Paso-Rock Island brakeman, has recovered from the smallpox and is again at work on the construction train.

Conductor Jack Ryan brought up a special from El Paso Sunday. The cars were loaded with celery from California, consigned to Kansas City.

Chief Engineer Sumner returned Wednesday from Tucumcari and along the line of the Dawson road. He reports some thirty miles of that road graded and the work progressing rapidly.

There are now sixteen men employed in the freight office of the El Paso-Rock Island road in El Paso and it is said that it is with great difficulty that they handle the large amount of business the company is doing.

TUCUMCARI.

From the Pathfinder.

The health officer of Guadalupe county has appointed Dr. E. J. Pring as his assistant for Tucumcari and adjacent railroad camps.

The lumbermen are selling to the new lumbermen and ranchmen large lots of lumber which is being converted into comfortable dwellings and outside improvements.

Tucumcari's two big wholesale houses are receiving carloads of goods daily, and from dawn until twilight the wagons of purchasers are being loaded from their platforms.

There were two deaths in Tucumcari this week. One man died of pneumonia—in a tent. The other was a consumptive and his life went out with the storm of Wednesday.

Services were held in the new Tucumcari church last Sunday, both morning and evening. The organization of a Sunday school was also perfected. The first prayer meeting was held last Wednesday evening. The new church started out under most favorable conditions.

Tucumcari continues to grow as well as the surrounding country. Claim buyers and settlers are coming in rapidly. The fact of the surrounding country growing faster than the towns of Guadalupe county assures permanency for the towns. It must be highly gratifying to all who have invested.

TUCUMCARI A BUSY TOWN.

Takes Name From Mountain of Same Name.

From Topeka Journal.
The town of Tucumcari derived its name from the mountain of that name that forms the setting in the background against which the town is seen by the passenger who passes through the place on the train.

Mt. Tucumcari is a peculiarly shaped peak standing clear and distinct, quite alone and separate from the other mountains of the series. Mt. Tucumcari is not wonderful because of its height, for it is not a tall peak, but its distinction comes from the fact that it stands alone and the formation of the peak is so evenly regular. It is almost perfectly round, and the sides form a gradual slope until they nearly reach the top, where a plateau seems to be surrounded by another mountain peak of nearly the same shape as the base. The second peak has the same clear and regular features as the bottom part. The top of the peak is perfectly level, and embraces an area of perhaps several acres. The top is studded with pine trees and other timber. The mountain peak can be clearly seen from the trains.

The town is a thriving little place of from four to five hundred population. It is the supply center now for the vast sheep and cattle country surrounding the town. The railroad invading that section has done away with the necessity of freightage goods and provisions across country, and already a large wholesale house is doing a lucrative business. A lumber yard, hotel, and a large wholesale and retail outfitting store and wool storage warehouse, together with the many saloons and few little stores comprise the business section of the town. It is a noticeable fact that although Tucumcari is a younger city than several other towns along the line and that it is regarded as the toughest town along the line, it has more painted surface in evidence in proportion to its size than any of the other frontier towns.

The residence portion of the city is scattered. The houses are not built near each other and the entire townsite probably covers an area of about

Mines and Minerals

The Arizona Copper company of Arizona has paid, to date, $2,969,925 in dividends.

The gold production of Cripple Creek district, Colorado, for February, 1902, is reported at $1,855,447.

The Stern Cloud group of mines, owned by Fred Williams, which is situated near Prescott, has been sold to Chicago capitalists for $10,000.

H. H. Warner, who made a failure of one of the best mining properties in Arizona, is the president of a $10,000,000 basket machine company in the east.

Three hundred men quit work at the mine of the Congress Gold company last week as the result of the effort of the company to break up the Miners' union.

The gold production of the hydraulic mines in southern Oregon for the season 1901-02, is estimated at $1,000,000, with a good probability of its being greater.

The Chihuahua Enterprise states that the Compania Fundadora de Flor y Acero de Monterrey has absorbed several fine manganese properties in El Valle district, near Parral, and has begun extensive development.

The Globe Silver Belt reports that it has been decided to erect a smelter at the Troy mines. The order for it has been given, and its delivery is promised for April 1. It is expected to have it in operation May 1 next.

The Mohave County assessor understands that the Lane was offered $12,500 for his interest in the Ben Doran mine, near the treadwell, this week. Considering that the mine has a shaft only about ten feet deep, a cash offer of this amount for one-half the property is an indication of the great values shown by the output.

Joseph Wharton, of Philadelphia, owner of the Tehachap and Wall Street mines at Eldorado canyon, passed through Kingman, Arizona, early last week and returned the other day, having placed the management of the property in hands of a mining superintendent. The mines are among the richest in the state of Nevada and ought to be producing large quantities of bullion.

The Minnesota and Arizona Mining company has increased its capital from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. The company has for its object the purchase of a group of mines in the Gold Basin country of Arizona, upon which they are at work at present. The company is composed of many reputable citizens of Minneapolis and other towns of Minnesota. Extensive work is mapped out for this company on the Gold Basin mines and the installation of machinery will soon be made.

The two tunnels on the Leland vein in the San Francisco mining district, near Kingman, Arizona, are now in nearly 700 feet. One of the tunnels is in over 200 feet and the other almost 200 feet from the adit. In the deep tunnel an immense ore body has been cut and in the other the ore is widening out and shows big values. Steve Bedford is in charge of the work and is driving the tunnels in at a rapid rate. This mine recently passed from West and Buel to Thomas Ewing for a large sum.

HUNTING LOST MINE.

Party of Prospectors Think They Have Found Adams Mine.

From the Lindsborg Liberal.

The long lost and much hunted Adams diggings have again been found and this time it undoubtedly is the real thing. The circumstances surrounding the re-discovery shows it entirely genuine. It will be remembered that in the seventies a man named Adams with a companion, started from Arizona prospecting. They traveled eastward and finally at the mouth of a creek which flowed into a canyon they found a wonderful deposit of placer gold, with a little digging nuggets were taken out like digging potatoes. Adams and his companion were stampeded by the Indians, the companion was killed and after many days Adams reached a settlement, where he told his wonderful story of the rich deposit at the mouth of this creek. The only landmarks he had were two large buttes standing near. Many parties have gone out hunting for these lost Adams diggings, but never were able to find them. Adams died a poor man, never finding his own, nor making any other stake. A couple of weeks ago a party of men, consisting of E. F. Heath, H. Wright, P. A. Endicott, A. D. Stout and E. L. Truitt, none of whom had ever heard of Adams and his lost diggings, started out from Lindsborg to go to Scarborough's ranch in the Burros, near which they had heard, was some placer ground. They drove north into the Burros, lost their road, and never got to Scarborough's. Now, any one acquainted with the history of mining knows, there is no better way to find a bonanza than to get lost. They made camp nearly to death that night, and the next morning found some float. They prospected up a canyon which is not far from Malone, and there found a quartz ledge, and in it free gold, and what is more peculiar, along one side of it a black substance, which afterwards proved to be graphite, and this also carries gold. The men came in this week with samples of their find and assays showed they had some high grade gold rock. Mr. Wright was in the Lindsborg office, telling about his find. He mentioned they had camped in a canyon, and there were two large buttes standing near. The writer, remembering the story of the Adams diggings, asked him if a creek came down into the canyon, and he said there did, and they had found free gold in it. Wright was then told the story of the Adams diggings, which he had never heard before, and he said the description of the country fitted the location exactly. Everything is there exactly as Adams described it, except the big nuggets of gold, and they may be there too. The party started back for their camp Tuesday, and will proceed to thoroughly prospect the mouth of that creek, and if Mr. Adams left any gold nuggets as big as potatoes they will surely get them.

The Mines on Sunday.

Messrs. Schoonmaker and Bailey went out to the Tecolote mining district yesterday and brought back a few specimens of a specially high grade. Accosted by friends to whom they showed a few small gold bottles of effervescent enthusiasm, Bailey is reported to have a mine out there that runs a little better than one hundred per cent, but he did not bring it with him. A great many people kept the roads to the mining district hot all day yesterday. The day was fine for traveling and the beauty of the snow-capped mountains rising to meet the eye on every hand added to the enthusiasm of the prospectors.

E. Z. Condit has developed into a full fledged mineral man. He came in from his claim today with the rust of ages on his tanned countenance and shoes. He doesn't know as yet whether he has a bonanza or not. This afternoon he returned with fresh zeal and groceries.—Las Vegas Optic.

TRYING TO BUY.

Southern Pacific Wants the El Paso & Southwestern Road.

The El Paso Herald says that the latest well defined rumor concerning railroad matters in and around El Paso is that the Southern Pacific has again set out to buy the El Paso & Southwestern from the Phelps, Dodge people.

When that firm first built the Arizona & Southern, the western end of the present El Paso & Southwestern road, the Southern Pacific made a desperate effort to buy it, but were refused.

Since that time it is a well known fact that every damper possible has been put in the way of the extension of the Phelps, Dodge railroad by the Southern Pacific people.

It is rumored that the Southern Pacific has made all kinds of offers for the new road, even offering to carry bullion and freight free for a term of years and to pay $3 for every $1 that the road has cost.

C. Stubbins, general traffic director of the Southern Pacific, when here the other day, gave out that he was here to meet Mr. Harriman for the purpose of escorting him over the Pacific division of the Southern Pacific, but that night he quietly left town and has been making a tour of the El Paso & Southwestern lines for the past three days in company with General Superintendent Choate, who left here Monday morning and met the Stubbins party at Deming, from which point the trip over the road was made.

Mr. Harriman will be here Friday from his trip to Mexico and it is reported today that Mr. Stubbins will return to El Paso and go with him to the coast and report on his trip over the El Paso & Southwestern lines.

A Thrilling Arizona Mine Story.

There was a wild report in Bisbee not long ago that a cattleman had been hurled down a well 126 feet deep, and that he was undoubtedly dead. Since he was dead the people did not think it was worth while to go prospecting for him, but one man became curious about the matter and went out to look at the shaft. It was an old one and was twenty feet deep. The man was in it but he was not dead. He was sitting quietly in the bottom of the shaft beside a fire of old timbers, calmly writing his will on the clean side of his collar. After waiting a couple of days he concluded he was not missed and prepared to turn up his toes in Christian resignation. How an Arizona cattleman happened to have a collar is uncertain, and why, in having one, he didn't chew the starch out of it instead of using it to write a will is not explained. He was probably a tenderfoot.

Hotel Man Stabbed by Laborer.

Joe Buckham, manager of the Folsom hotel, at Folsom, N. M., was stabbed in the abdomen in front of Carl Ecklund's saloon by Matthew McManis, a laborer on the Colorado & Southern railroad here. Both parties had been drinking and there seems no other assignable cause for the difficulty. Although the wound inflicted was a serious one, it was not considered fatal by Dr. Lutman, the company physician at Folsom, and Buckham took the train for Denver, where he has friends. McManis was taken in charge at once by Sheriff Garcia and will be taken to Clayton for a preliminary trial. It was reported at Folsom that Buckham had died on the train to Denver, but the report is not believed.

Santa Fe Republicans.

The republican city committee of Santa Fe have set Saturday, March 28, as the day for holding the city convention to nominate candidates for the municipal election on the Tuesday following. J. Sparks, superintendent of the water and electric light company, District Clerk A. M. Bergere and Leo Hersch, a merchant, are the leading republican candidates for mayor, the present incumbent, Amado Chavez, having declined a renomination.

Will Vote for a Library.

Besides electing municipal officers, the citizens of Roswell will on April 1 vote on the question whether they are willing to tax themselves one mill on the dollar to guarantee an annual maintenance fund of $500 for a library should Andrew Carnegie give the city $10,000 for a library building.

Charges Separated.

The Protestant Episcopal congregations at Carlsbad and Roswell have been separated by order of Bishop J. M. Kendrick. Rev. George Hinson, the pastor, will take charge of the Roswell congregation while a new minister will take charge of the Carlsbad church.

Cochiti Mining Stock.

No shares of Cochiti Mining company stock were sold on the Boston mining exchange last week. The highest asked was 50 cents a share. Of Santa Fe Gold & Copper company stock 1,590 shares were sold at $3.75 a share.

The Denver Republican says: The grievance committee from the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, concluded their meeting with the Denver & Rio Grande officials last night. The committees were in session during the forenoon with Manager J. H. Herbert and in the afternoon with Superintendent ent Martin. The employees of the road had no important grievances to present to the officials and the meeting was without incident. A few technical matters were amicably adjusted and there was no controversy over any of the points at issue. The question of the length of time that freight and passenger crews should be employed without being paid for overtime was brought up and settled. A sliding scale was agreed upon regulating the pay for overtime according to the different classes of work done.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Woman's Relief Corps cleared, at their St. Patrick's hall, $100 over and above expenses.

A. B. Weaver, proprietor of the Aztec Cigar company, is now located at No. 305 South First street.

Darby E. Day, representing the Mutual Life Insurance company, left the city on a business trip last night.

August G. Iels is here from the Navajo Indian reservation, to visit Albuquerque relatives and friends for a few days.

G. E. Brewer, insurance adjuster, who was up in the northern counties on business, returned to the city Tuesday night.

Ernest Myers, of the liquor firm of Myers-Albee company, left last night for Socorro, taking along with him his samples.

A brother of Mrs. Shattuck, the dressmaker, arrived this morning from the south. The visitor is in exceedingly poor health.

B. B. Borden and son, Fuson, have left Gallup for Albuquerque, driving overland. They expect to reach the city in about eight days.

Several Chilli sheep raisers are here to attend court. Messrs. Clark, Fowler and Dunbar came in from the mountains Tuesday.

Mrs. Helen Parks, a lady well known in this city, was a passenger for Santa Fe this morning, where she will visit friends for a few days.

South Edith street, from Railroad avenue, has been thoroughly graded by Street Commissioner Tierney and his gang of street cleaners.

John G. Brown, who is located here as the representative of the Greeley, Colo. Potato company, returned to the city last night after a successful trip through Kansas.

Miss Mary E. Dinnette, supervisor of Indian day schools, is in the city. The lady is trying hard to stamp out diphtheria, which is raging in the small villages near Santa Fe.

The Browns and Santa Fe Pacific shops ball teams will play a game on Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds. Both teams are very strong and a good game should be the result.

Charles C. Lord, agent for the Wells Fargo Express company at Winslow, came in from El Paso this morning. He remains here today, leaving tonight for his home at Winslow.

The Lead Avenue Methodist church concert will take place tonight at the church, and not on January 30, as the copy published yesterday indicated. See program in another column.

Rosa Vigil, the 11 months' old son of Edward Vigil, who lives on South Third street, died last night of whooping cough. The funeral was held at the family residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Bland milling promoters, who have been in the city the past few days, it is understood today, have secured about $1,200 in subscriptions from Albuquerque citizens toward their some milling scheme.

The last of the fourteen private rooms on the first floor of St. Joseph's sanitarium was provided for this morning by G. L. Altheimer agreeing to furnish it in memory of his wife. The sisters will now take up furnishing the second floor.

Young Donald McClanathan, who was severely bitten by bulldogs a few days ago, is recovering. A paragraph in this paper last Monday said the boy had died. He stood at the head of his classes in school, and is now the faithful office boy of Dr. Alger, the dentist.

N. E. Stevens was at Silver City, and conducted the Odd Fellows services over the body of J. M. Fritter, whose funeral occurred there a few days ago. Mr. Stevens is a resident of this city, and represents the Montezuma Savings Loan & Building association on the road.

Mrs. A. D. Whitson, the piano and music dealer, is at her room threatened with blood poisoning. A few days ago she dropped a piano stool on her foot, badly bruising one of the toes. Since then the member refuses to yield to medicines and is now giving her a great deal of trouble.

Mrs. Mabel Kinney and daughter, Miss Dorothy, family of Rev. Bruce Kinney, left Wednesday for Salt Lake City, Utah, where the family will reside in the future. Friends were at the depot to see them safely on the train and wish them a safe journey to their new home. Rev. Kinney will meet his wife at Pueblo.

J. A. Weinman has taken one of the two remaining rooms at St. Joseph's sanitarium and furnished it. The problem of furnishing the first floor is now practically solved. William McIntosh, of Chilli, has given the sisters $50 and it will probably be used to complete the outfit of the floors in both wards. The floor of the chapel will be oiled and furnished by C. A. Hudson as a gift.

A. R. Burdick and his wife, of Chicago, left last night for Faywood Hot Springs. Mr. Burdick and other wealthy men of Chicago have leased a hundred thousand acres of land along the Mimbres in Luna and Grant counties and are under contract to establish irrigation works for the entire district. Construction of the dam has commenced and it is expected the land will be thrown open within two years.

President George Haskell, of the Beatrice (Nebr.) Creamery company, is on his way to Albuquerque for his health. Mr. Haskell has suffered a relapse from an attack of pneumonia and is coming here to regain his health, if possible. He is accompanied by Mrs. Haskell, her brother, W. K. Kinsland, and Dr. A. R. Mitchell, an eminent specialist. The party travels in a private car and will first go to Denver for consultation with a specialist there and will then come on to this city.

HIS WIFE'S LOVER.

Woman Admits Intimacy and Husband Shoots Her Paramour.

JAMES BOLTON THE VICTIM.

W. R. Pearson, a coke washer working at Segundo, near Trinidad, Colo., went to the spot where his wife had met her lover, James Bolton, clandestinely, and shot him down before her eyes. At the inquest held two women admitted the intimacy, but accused her husband of having been first unfaithful to her. The shooting was the result of the betrayal of Mrs. Pearson by her 16-year-old daughter, Deputy Sheriff Kreeger, who was sent to arrest Pearson, was stoned by Mexicans and came nearly losing his life.

Pearson moved to Segundo from Trinidad. He was employed under the street commissioner. Among his closest acquaintances and closest friends at Segundo was Bolton. So friendly were the men that Pearson asked Bolton to board at his residence.

Bolton Ordered From House.

According to the story of the witnesses at the inquest, it was during the time while Bolton was rooming in the Pearson home that the intimacy between him and his friend's wife sprang up. The little daughter of the Pearsons informed her father of the state of affairs and Pearson ordered Bolton to leave the house. Bolton, however, Mrs. Pearson says, called quite often during the absence of her husband.

Sunday evening he came and persuaded her to take a walk with him. After the couple had left the house the little girl ran to the coke ovens, where her father was employed, and told him that they had gone and indicated the direction they had taken.

Pearson ran to the house and secured his revolver, then set out in search of the pair. He encountered them at the top of a hill and informed the man that there would have to be an immediate settlement between them. Bolton turned and ran. Pearson, hurling epithets after him, drew his revolver and fired. The bullet struck Bolton in the back and passed clear through him. The heart and lungs were penetrated and Bolton died within a few moments.

Another Woman in the Case.

Pearson telegraphed Sheriff Clark and Coroner Sipe at Trinidad. The one he requested to come and take charge of the body of the dead man and the other to take him in custody. He claims that he did the shooting in self-defense. Mrs. Pearson denies this and says that her intimacy with Bolton was caused by the unfaithfulness of her husband. She testified that Pearson at one time brought a woman into her house and said that she must be allowed to stay there. Mrs. Pearson said he admitted that the woman's past had been questionable, but that he intended to reform her.

While Deputy Sheriff Kreeger was driving to Segundo to arrest Pearson, he was attacked by several Mexicans who stoned him from the top of the hill. The sheriff had his head heavily lacerated as a result of wounds received by being thrown from a train recently, and these bandages and a heavy blanket, worn to keep the cold air from his wounds, are all that saved his life. One of the rocks, weighing two pounds, hit him a glancing blow on the head. Later he returned to the spot and arrested Cruz Cordorzo, whom he recognized as one of his assailants.

LADIES OF THE MACCABEES.

They Surprised the Sir Knights at Their Meeting Last Night.

The Knights of the Maccabees last night were surprised, and that right well, by the ladies of the organization had permitted a rumor to go uncontradicted that they would call on the members and the business of the evening was rushed through. Some preferred to stay home and others well-dressed, some hot mince pie and others cold; some took cream in their coffee and others don't. It was some satisfaction to think about it, but it was all the satisfaction they had. The members of the order sat around and waited until there was no excuse for waiting longer and the knights went home sadder but wiser men. It was a genuine surprise.

Commercial Club Dance.

The dance at the Commercial club last night was a most delightful affair. It was not crowded, the music was good and everyone seemed happy. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chester D. Coram and Miss McCaffrey, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Spooner, of Indianapolis; Miss Sadie Jaffa, of Trinidad; Miss Easby-Smith, Washington; Captain Reid, of Las Vegas; Capt. C. C. Smith, of Fort Wingate, and W. D. Spencer, of Boston. Others present were Messrs. and Mesdames L. H. Chamberlin, M. W. Flournoy and M. Mandell; Misses Stevens, Hawks, Fitch, Wetter, Lewinson; Messrs. Hertog, Wilkerson, Frost, Paxton, Alger, Newcomer, Myers, Fisher, Lewinson, McCanna, D. Weiler, H. B. Weiler, Kuhns, Pickard.

Indian School Children.

With a total enrollment of 359, the Santa Fe school has 46 quarter blood, 48 half blood, 5 three-quarter blood and 260 full blood Indian pupils, or 72.4 per cent of full bloods. This is a splendid showing, and probably no other large non-reservation school can come up to it, though Phoenix is a close second. Superintendent Crandall is having good success in enrolling full blood Pueblos and many from pueblos not hitherto reached.—Native American.

Shipping Horses.

"Captain Jack" Crawford, the poet scout, went east this morning with a carload of very fine horses, which he raised on his ranch near Fort Craig. The horses will be taken to South Africa for service in the British army. In the same train was a consignment of California mules, bound for the same destination.—Las Vegas Record.

Returns to Gallup.

D. Morello, member of Morello Bros., wholesale liquor dealers of Gallup, who went to Globe, Ariz., February 22, visiting with his brother, B. Morello, at that point for a few days, also visiting a lot of mining camps around Arizona and Mexico, got back this morning, and he reports business is booming in that part of the country.

WHILE HE SLEPT.

An Enemy Tried to Burn Down the House of Jose S. Esquivel.

Revenge is sweet. Nearly anybody is human enough to admit that. But no one should have another cardially enough to turn down his enemy's house over his head while he sleeps. That sort of self vindication is utterly bad. Jose S. Esquivel, the tax assessor, paroled back at people who carried with him. The other day he had a fight. That has nothing whatever to do with this story, but it goes to show that he has some very human enemies as well as some perfectly good friends. It is overwhelmingly lucky for Jose that Charles Spies wanted to catch No. 8 last night. If Spies had not wanted this traitor and man would never have been passing Jose's house on Pacific street at that hour and would not have discovered his house to be asleep. That is exactly how it happened. The traitor saw a red and white flame hurriedly climbing from a pile of coal oil soaked rags up the facing of the front door. He woke up late and saw the flames in the hall. He rushed to the door and saw a dastardly attempt at a G. O. P. You cannot convince Jose that incendiarism is a proper method of personal warfare. That is because he does not relish the idea of being burned alive in his own house.—Las Vegas Optic.

BACK FROM RESERVATION.

Accompanied by Richard Wetherell, R. E. Putney Returns to City.

Richard Wetherell, general manager of the Hyde Exploring Expedition, accompanied by the wholesale grocer, Robert E. Putney, came in from Thorpe, out west, this morning. Mr. Putney has just returned from an overland trip to the San Juan country, and he is thoroughly satisfied that that section of New Mexico is one of the very best in the territory. Mr. Wetherell is here on business connected with the Hyde big Indian blanket and curios store on First street, which he found in good condition and under the careful management of A. R. McGaffey. The gentleman reports business fine on the Navajo Indian reservation, where the Hydys have a dozen or more general merchandise stores, and says that the country looks better than he has seen it for many years. Mr. Wetherell, accompanied by J. R. Colby from Newport, Vermont, will leave for Thorpe Monday night. Mr. Colby goes to accept a position in one of the Hyde reservation stores.

FINED FOR ASSAULT.

Judge Crawford Gave a Large Dose to Two Offenders.

Frank Williams, Harry Bagan and W. A. Tulip were before Judge Crawford this morning charged with assaulting James Young, a well known confectioner at Second street and Coal avenue, last night. The testimony showed that Bagan and Williams had been drinking and were quarreling with a fourth man. They stopped at Young's and were quarreling there. Young ordered them out of the store when Williams hit him on the eye and Bagan kicked him. Tulip was trying to act as peacemaker. Williams and Bagan were each given thirty days and Tulip was discharged. Mr. Young appeared in court with his eye badly discolored and his head tied up.

LEG AMPUTATED.

Jose Matta Was Struck by a Train Last Night.

About midnight last night a man was found unconscious and to all appearances dead on the track in front of the Harvey eating house. His left leg was crushed just above the ankle and his head was badly bruised. He was taken to the hospital and this morning his leg was amputated a little above the knee by Dr. Simms. The man's name Jose Matta and his home is Cuero. He does not remember having seen a train or engine or having been struck. He will recover.

John Wickstrom's Condition.

John Wickstrom, for years one of the successful saloonkeepers of this city, but who retired some time ago, is in a pitiful condition. A few evenings ago, while in one of his semi-conscious rambles throughout the city, he fell off a sidewalk and badly bruised his left cheek and left eye. This morning the eye was badly inflamed and blood was noticed oozing from the cuts on the side of his face. From all indications, Wickstrom is partially out of his mind and it would be an act of charity on the part of his sporting friends and of those he befriended with his money when he was flush, to see to it that he is provided with a home, or sent to his people, who either reside in Chicago or Omaha. John was all right a few years ago, when he had money galore, but as is all wrong now, for he has no money and is living upon the small bits of change he secures here and there by asking for it.

The Attempt Failed.

The remains of Samuel Bergern, whose death occurred here from consumption, were shipped to Moline, Ill., last night, accompanied by his mother. It is understood that the mother attempted to work the Benevolent association on the charity racket, and would have been successful, had not a gentleman interposed and announced that the lady was well fixed financially. The Citizen ventures the assertion that the Benevolent association, always ready to extend help and aid to the unfortunates, is quite often worked for charity where charity is not needed.

Wireless Telegraphy.

Prof. C. E. Magnusson, of the department of physics of the University of New Mexico this morning delivered a lecture on wireless telegraphy in assembly hall before a large audience of students and many citizens. He gave a practical demonstration by sending messages across the room and the demonstration seemed to be supernatural. It was intensely interesting and entertaining.

Small Pox at Aguilar.

There is a case of small pox at Aguilar, and County Physician S. L. Blair went to that place this morning for the purpose of bringing the patient to the pest house east of this city. There are at the present time three occupants of the pest house, all of whom are reported to be getting along nicely.—Trinidad Chronicle-News.

STRUCK OIL.

The Manuelito Company Operating Near Gallup.

THE NEWS CONFIRMED.

W. H. Wolf, president of the Mariano Oil company, confirms the news of a strike of oil near Gallup in the following letter to The Citizen, which was received this morning:

"Gallup, N. M., March 18.—The Manuelito Oil company have struck a small flow of oil in the well visited by a Citizen representative while at Gallup a few days ago. They are down to a depth of 110 feet and the oil comes in with a small flow of salt water.

"J. I. Turnbull, of Albuquerque, is on the ground and says the oil is of a good quality, and that they expect to find a large flow of oil within the next 200 or 300 feet.

"I would have wired this to you yesterday had I got the news earlier in the afternoon, but this letter will give you some idea of what they have and you can tell the people the news through The Citizen today."

The Manuelito Oil company is composed almost entirely of railroad officials and employees, and a short time ago, leased from President Wolf the drilling outfit of the Mariano Oil company, placing the machine on ground about five miles from Gallup, where they are now at work. This location is not what is generally known as the "McKinley county oil lands," which are located from ten to twenty miles from Gallup, but nevertheless the indications are just as pronounced and some say more so where the company is now drilling.

The Citizen hopes that oil will be struck in flowing quantities by some of the various companies of McKinley county.

SAVED FROM LION.

Englishman's Friends Creep Up and Shoot the Lion Down Just in Time to Save Him.

Percy Faskally is a young Englishman of wealth and position who is well known about El Paso, where he has made his headquarters. Now he has distinguished himself in a mild way by saving the life of a companion on one of the ranges of the Victoria Land and Cattle company near Deming.

Faskally, Frank A. Hoffman, of Chicago, and Steve Burchfield were out forty miles southwest of Deming, going to examine a new watering place. On their way back, as they were driving along in a four seated rig, with two saddle horses tied behind, Hoffman saw a flock of quail over in the foothills of the Floridas, and jumped out and started after them.

Faskally and Burchfield shortly after stalked out the team and mounted the saddle horses to go in closer to the watering place. As they approached a rise they saw an immense mountain lion, apparently intent upon some quarry, and they separated to be able to take him on two sides and get good shots.

As they crept slowly over the ridge they saw, to their horror, that it was Hoffman the lion was stalking, and that he was lying along the ridge, still beyond reach, entirely oblivious of danger, and keeping an eye out for quail.

They shouted to him in unison, and he heard just in time to see the danger, to spring up, and leap beyond the lion's reach. At almost the same instant they fired, and both bullets did deadly work. Their aim was true, and Mr. Lion bit the dust. The skin, which they are keeping as a trophy, and will bring here to be mounted, measures seven feet in length.—El Paso Herald.

HOFFMAN-DANZIGER.

A Las Vegas Young Lady Captured By a Mississippi.

One of the prettiest weddings that has occurred in Las Vegas for some time was that at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. B. Danziger, on the west side, yesterday at noon. As the clock struck 12, Rev. B. A. Bonheim pronounced the words that joined Miss Juliet Danziger and Nestor Hoffman, of Meyersville, Mississippi. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Miss Jeanette. The bride was beautifully dressed in white organdy over silk, trimmed with lace and white satin ribbon and orange blossoms; a handsome veil of tulle, white gloves and satin slippers. A beautiful subburst of diamonds caught the veil of the bride's hair. The groom was dressed in the regulation black.

The parlor and dining hall was handsomely decorated in similar, evergreens and cut flowers. The guests consisted of the immediate family and a few friends. After the final word was pronounced, the newly wedded couple and the guests repaired to an elegant repast awaiting them.

The presents were numerous and very costly. Many telegrams of congratulation were received from friends in various parts of the union. The bride and groom left on this morning's flyer on their honeymoon trip. They will be at home at Meyersville, Mississippi, after April 15.—Optic.

INDIAN SCHOOL NOTES.

Special Correspondence.

Indian School, March 19.—Pedro Ruiz, our new engineer, is installed in his new position and is doing satisfactory work. Pedro was a former student of the school, and we are glad to see him thus rewarded for his faithful work.

A. O. Wright, a supervisor in the Indian service, is here at present and is inspecting the school. He came from Pine Ridge, S. D., and he says it is very cold up there and he is pleased to make the change to our genial climate. He says that the Indian school work in general is progressing favorably.

Jacob Weinmann, of the Golden Rule Dry Goods company, one of the big dry goods establishments of the southwest, was around town yesterday celebrating in a very happy manner his 43rd birthday. Cigars were handed around among friends who indulged, while lemonades and soda pops constituted the other gifts. Mr. Weinmann is enjoying the health, and is shopping his affairs so as to take life easy in a few years.

GALLUP GLEANINGS, A GOOD PROSPEROUS TOWN.

(From Daily Citizen Friday, March 14.)
After a sojourn of several days at Gallup, returning to the city last night, the junior member of the Citizen is thoroughly convinced that Gallup is one of the best towns in New Mexico. The Citizen has a big list of subscribers at Gallup. Read the following items of general interest:

Old Times—Mrs. M. Railroad has retired from active business life. She, with her husband, has been a resident of Gallup for eighteen years and they are first class people. In the early days of the Carbon town, Mr. and Mrs. Railroad conducted the only saloon

Railroad Builders—While other towns throughout the territory are building railroads on paper, Gallup has one coming her way in reality, namely the Durango, Gallup & Clifton railroad. The Citizen representative enjoyed an hour's conversation with a Gallup railroad enthusiast yesterday and after the conversation, he could hear the wheels turning at work and the mile whack on turning up the ground in good fashion. This road has already constructed thirty-eight miles to Lordsburg in the southern part of the territory and is pushing up the country toward Gallup and Durango. The road electric light plant, and a water supply system, the latter owned and controlled by the town. W. H. Wolf is the owner of the electric light plant, and he furnishes better lights to his customers than are furnished elsewhere in the territory. His machinery is of the high-speed Corliss patent, and he has never had a shut down or breakage since starting up a few years ago; therefore, he has never put the town of Gallup or any of his customers in darkness. He furnishes, including the Gibson general merchandise store, about 1,100 lights, and says that his profits amount to over $500 a month. As stated, the town owns the water works, and clears up every month, over and above all expenses, $250. The rates for electric lights and for water are considerably lower than the rates furnished Albuquerque consumers, and both Mr. Wolf and the town of Gallup are getting rich on their live-and-let-live rates.

Briquette Works—R. C. Hills, the geologist of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, is at Gallup, personally overseeing the works and arranging to have a test run made, if possible, by the first of April. The machinery is all of new designs and Mr. Hills says the plant is strictly an experimental one. A. E. Kingsley is the engineer. Gallup people are anxiously waiting for these works to start up and be a success, for it means a plant on a much larger scale being erected at Gallup should these experiments prove successful.

Oil Companies—The New Mexico Consolidated Oil company held a meeting and elected the following officers and directors: W. P. Kuechenbecker, president; Gregory Page, vice president; R. B. Langman, treasurer; John C. Hubbard, general manager; W. A. Welsh, secretary; J. D. Clements, W. D. Boardman, J. C. Spears, Wm. McVicker and F. E. Farnold.

The Mariano Oil company elected the following directors: W. H. Wolf, W. W. Risdon, C. G. Egan, J. F. Luthy, W. T. McCreight, W. Moore Clayton, D. M. Richards and F. H. Mitchell. The directors will meet soon in Albuquerque and elect the officers, at which meeting a financial report will be submitted.

The Manuella Oil company, backed by officials along the Santa Fe road, recently leased the drilling machine of the Mariano company and is now drilling at a point about four miles from Gallup. Messrs. Densmore and Compton are in charge of the drilling. Mr. Turnbull, ex-division master mechanic at the local shops, was in Gallup yesterday, and being interested in the Manuella company, visited the place where drilling is now in progress. He gave it out yesterday that his company will expend considerable money in the search for oil on the McKinley county fields.

Short Paragraphs—On Monday morning Gallup and vicinity was visited by a snow and the air was quite chilly. In the afternoon another snow appeared and for miles around the ground was pretty thoroughly covered. By Wednesday, however, the snow had practically disappeared. During the past winter this section has been blessed with some fine snows, assuring plenty of good water and grass.

Albert Reis, the ex-postmaster, was called to Santa Fe last Sunday, as a witness in a United States case on trial at the territorial capital. He is expected to return to Gallup Friday morning.

W. F. Kuechenbecker, who has served Gallup as mayor and town trustee on several occasions and considered one of the substantial of the place, now occupies a store room directly opposite the depot on Railroad avenue. He is in the furniture business and enjoys a good trade.

Charles Vidal, who purchased the second-hand business of Antonio Trosello, now of Albuquerque, reports his trade keeping up nicely, although others in the second-hand business say "that times are not as good as they used to be."

Robert and George Hodgson, two brothers, are in business here—the former as the popular pastor of the Gallup Methodist Episcopal church, the latter and presiding elder of the Albuquerque district, and the other as the manager of "The Racket" store. They are doing nicely and are well liked, not only among the Methodists, but the people in general.

The village blacksmith is Sam. Holter, and he is doing a good business. T. C. DeShon, who also does a general blacksmithing business, says he is kept exceedingly busy these days.

John Koenig has sold out his saloon business to Joseph Hoefler, and Koenig says he will return to coal mining.

Mrs. E. F. Bocklett, who purchased the millinery business of Mrs. M. Railroad a few months ago, will have her spring opening of millinery next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. She has prepared for a fine business this spring.

The blackstone disciples of Gallup are L. J. Henry and K. K. Scott, and they get all the legal business of the town. They are bright young attorneys, and are popular with the people.

Ellis Winders is the town marshal, with W. A. Kreamer as assistant. They guard the town well, and with W. A. Smith as the high sheriff, Gallup and McKinley county are well policed.

George Koenig has returned to Gallup after a trip to Los Angeles, where he went to be operated upon for appendicitis. He is now digging coal at the Rocky Cliff mine.

The butcher of Gallup are McQuade & Brown. They do a big business.

The restaurant on Railroad avenue, conducted for five years by Mrs. A. M. Tamoney, is now under the management of Joseph Koenig. On selling out Mrs. Tamoney and children took a trip to the Buffalo exposition and returning took up her residence in a neat cottage on the outskirts. She accumulated a well earned compensation by hard work, and deserves a rest from business.

E. P. Kenney, well known contractor and builder, is not blue on account of the coal mine situation here. He has several good contracts that will keep him busy during the summer months.

Mrs. H. M. Hogan, who came to Gallup a short time ago from Albuquerque and purchased the Mrs. Paxton lodging house, is doing nicely and says she likes Gallup very much. The lady has many friends among the railroad employees, and her rooms are kept occupied all the time.

Arthur Maxwell, one of the steady young gentlemen of Gallup, has taken hold of his father's lumber yard and other business interests like a veteran, and is proving a great help to his widowed mother, Judge Theo. Maxwell, whose sudden death occurred a short time ago, was one of Gallup's foremost citizens, and was mayor of the town when his career was cut short by death.

Some of the nicest residence property in the city is owned by Mrs. Chas. Harding. Some time ago she started on a handsome two-story brick residence, and hopes to complete it during the summer.

Hon. T. N. Hinch appeared on the street yesterday with his mustache shaved off, giving him a decidedly younger look. The transformation is credited to the fact that Mr. Hinch is now mayor of Gallup.

Mrs. J. C. Carman, wife of a Railroad avenue grocerman, departed a few days ago for Louisville, Ky., to visit relatives and friends.

J. A. Wells, who resided in Albuquerque a few years ago, is in the delivery business here. He gets his share of orders.

Samuel Neustadt, representing Grunsfeld Bros. of Albuquerque, was here Wednesday. He left for the Navajo reservation stores.

Fred. Fornoff, deputy United States marshal, came in from Albuquerque Wednesday, and is on a trip to several places on the Navajo reservation, for the purpose of summoning witnesses to Albuquerque to appear in half a dozen Indian whisky selling cases.

Dr. C. L. Edmundson is arranging to leave Gallup next month for New York.

Hon. C. N. Cotton, a big general merchant of Gallup, has returned from Denver, where he was on business.

Lawrence Smith, who was a university student a few years ago, is chief clerk under Master Mechanic E. M. Sanjule. He is a popular young man, well liked by everybody in Gallup, and especially the young ladies.

Mrs. Wells, mother of Mrs. Palmer Ketter, who has been seriously ill, was reported better yesterday. Mr. Ketter is the efficient manager of the Caledonian general merchandise store, while his wife, before her marriage, resided in Albuquerque and was quite popular in social circles.

Toney Cacciavillani, an Albuquerque stone mason, is doing a good business and he reports himself busy every day.

George Weinert, who was a clerk in Albuquerque years ago, is holding down a good situation at the Caledonian store.

One of the finest buildings in the territory is the Morello Bros. stone building in Gallup. It is known as "The Palace," and is a handsome structure.

There's Many a Slip on the ice or wet ground at this time of year, and many a sore spot in consequence. No amount of caution will guarantee you against accident. That is why we keep Perry Davis' Painkiller on hand to relieve the ache of bruised flesh, and sore, throbbing muscles. It has given relief to two generations. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

The Woman

Who is discouraged by a condition of ill-health which fails to yield to the treatment of local physicians will be glad to know she can consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. In a little more than thirty years, Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sick women. All correspondence is held as strictly private and is answered confidentially. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"After being subjected for some time to an annoying female trouble," says Mrs. Minnie Tullison, of Potomac, Virginia Co., Ill., Box 10, "I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, who at once understood my suffering and advised me to take his Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery, and use also his 'Lotion Tablets' and 'Sanipositories.' After using his medicines eight or nine months I was completely cured."

"I am grateful to Dr. Pierce for his advice and the kind and encouraging letters he wrote to me. I would advise any woman suffering with female disease to consult him. Prompt and respectful attention will be given and good advice received by so doing."

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Douglas Johnson, one of our former students, has won recent honors in making some geological discoveries in New York. He is attending Columbia university.

There have been a number of fine lectures at assembly this week. Tuesday morning Dr. Bunker gave the third of his series of lectures on Biblical archeology, which was entitled "Did Moses Write?" He cited many proofs for his side of the argument, taking up and combating the stand held by the higher critics, that the people were all illiterate and consequently could neither read or write. He spoke of the Rosette Stone and many other important archeological specimens of hieroglyphic and cuneiform writings and in a very scholarly and conclusive way brought out his point.

Thursday Professor Montoya, the head of the Spanish department, spoke on the "History of the Spanish Language." He showed the practical value of the study of Spanish, stating that about eighty million of people on the earth spoke the Spanish language and one understanding the English and Spanish could travel from Alaska to Cape Horn without the least trouble or inconvenience.

Professor Wenzel gave a second talk on "Governmental Policy" yesterday morning, in which he spoke of the present educational system and the outlook in the Philippines.

The Minage staff has been remodeled and new members taken in representing the different departments. There will be but two more issues this year, one double number for March and April called the Easter number, and an extra large number at commencement. Miss Craig has taken the work of the editor, Miss Huggert, Mr. Wroth and Mr. Van Wagner are her assistants. Mr. Shields is business manager, Mr. Ryan, circulator; Mr. Strong, subscription agent; Miss Breese, exchange and local editor, and this staff will be assisted by a number of reports from the different bodies of students. The members of the staff have gone to work with a vengeance, and the two remaining numbers of the year are assured to be the best ever issued.

Some of our boys played on a picked base ball team at the fair grounds this afternoon.

Could Not Breathe.

Coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, other throat and lung troubles, are quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is not a mere expectorant, which gives only temporary relief. It softens and liquefies the mucous, draws out the inflammation and removes the cause of the disease. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. "One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family." J. H. O'Reilly & Co.; B. H. Briggs & Co.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS.

Among Them Vice President Kendrick and General Manager Mudge.

J. W. Kendrick, third vice president of the Santa Fe, arrived last night from the east. With him were General Manager Mudge and General Superintendent Hurley. Mr. Kendrick was met here by A. G. Wells, general manager of the coast lines, and the two went west on a trip of inspection. They were accompanied by G. A. Henderson, superintendent of machinery and W. A. Nettleton, assistant superintendent of machinery. Mr. Mudge and Mr. Hurley went to El Paso. In the party to this city was C. M. Taylor, mechanical superintendent of the western division, and F. C. Fox, the division superintendent. The latter returned to Las Vegas this morning, but Mr. Taylor went south with Messrs. Mudge and Hurley.

No Diphtheria Here.

Julian Padilla has returned from Albuquerque and brought back with him his daughter, Miquelita, who had been attending the mission school at the Duke City. He will send Miquelita back to school when there are no more cases of diphtheria in Albuquerque.—New Mexican.

The Santa Fe New Mexican persists in advertising to the world that diphtheria exists to an alarming extent in Albuquerque, when that paper and the man who is constantly writing untruths about this city knows to the contrary. There were a few cases at the government Indian school, a few miles up the valley, but, as published some time ago by City Physician Ponce, these cases were thoroughly quarantined and there are no cases in the city.

A few weeks ago the Mohave country, Ariz., Miner published a squib to the effect that fifty deaths from diphtheria had occurred at Santa Fe, but knowing the item to be false, The Citizen did not reproduce it. Had the item referred to Albuquerque, the New Mexican would have published the article under glowing headlines.

Acker's Blood Elixer positively cures chronic blood poisoning and all scrofulous affections. At all times a matchless system tonic purifier. Money refunded if you are not satisfied. 50c and $1.

Buried for Ages.

Last week, while sinking a shaft on the Little Mack mining claim, J. W. Bennett dug into some ancient ruins in which he found several pieces of Indian pottery, a stone hammer and several other relics, which prove that a camp once stood on the identical spot which Mr. Bennett chose to seek a fortune in mining, except that when the little red man or his ancestors, who knows how long ago, lived on that spot of earth the surface was nearly ten feet below where it is today.

Although that is not what Mr. Bennett was looking for when he started his shaft, he is much pleased with his find, but, with true modesty, gives his brother, Edwin P. Bennett, the credit of the discovery, saying, if he had not advised me to sink in that place he would never have found these things.—Cerrillos Register.

Can't Keep It Secret.

The splendid work of Dr. King's New Life Pills is daily coming to light. No such grand remedy for liver and bowel trouble was ever known before. Thousands bless them for curing constipation, sick headache, indigestion, jaundice and indolence. Try them, 25c at all druggists.

Jolly Bachelors.

The bachelors of the Congregational church last night entertained their friends in a jolly manner, in which there were many surprises. Numbers on the program turned out to be entirely different from expectations and the guests were weighed before and after supper, showing a gain of some ten pounds. Two numbers on the program that were most enjoyable were a solo by Mr. Napier and a duet by Miss Dodson and Clyde Hopping. There were a number of other novel features and a highly enjoyable evening was spent.

A Severe Cold for Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nisbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a terrible cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes. Alvarado Pharmacy.

We are With You.

Hon. Tom. Hughes, of the Albuquerque Citizen, was in Raton last week and secured a long list of subscribers for his paper. It is to be hoped that after this the editor of the Citizen and his influential friends in the central-southern part of this territory will be alive to the fact that New Mexico extends considerably farther north than the north line of San Miguel county, and that the denizens of the "north" are the peers of any in the territory.—Raton Range.

Pneumonia Follows a Cold.

But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals and strengthens the lungs and affords perfect security from an attack of pneumonia. Refuse substitutes. Alvarado Pharmacy.

Art Bradley, who was recently employed in the pattern department of the local Santa Fe Pacific shops, left this morning for his old home at Moline, Ill. His brother, F. C. Bradley, who is employed at Brockmeier & Cox's, will remain in the city.

Raw or Inflamed Lungs.

Yield rapidly to the wonderful curative and healing qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar. It prevents pneumonia and consumption from a hard cold settled on the lungs. Alvarado Pharmacy.

The traffic on the local passenger trains which passed through the city this morning, was unusually light. Train No. 22 from the south was two hours and forty minutes late, caused by bad connections with the Mexican Central at El Paso.

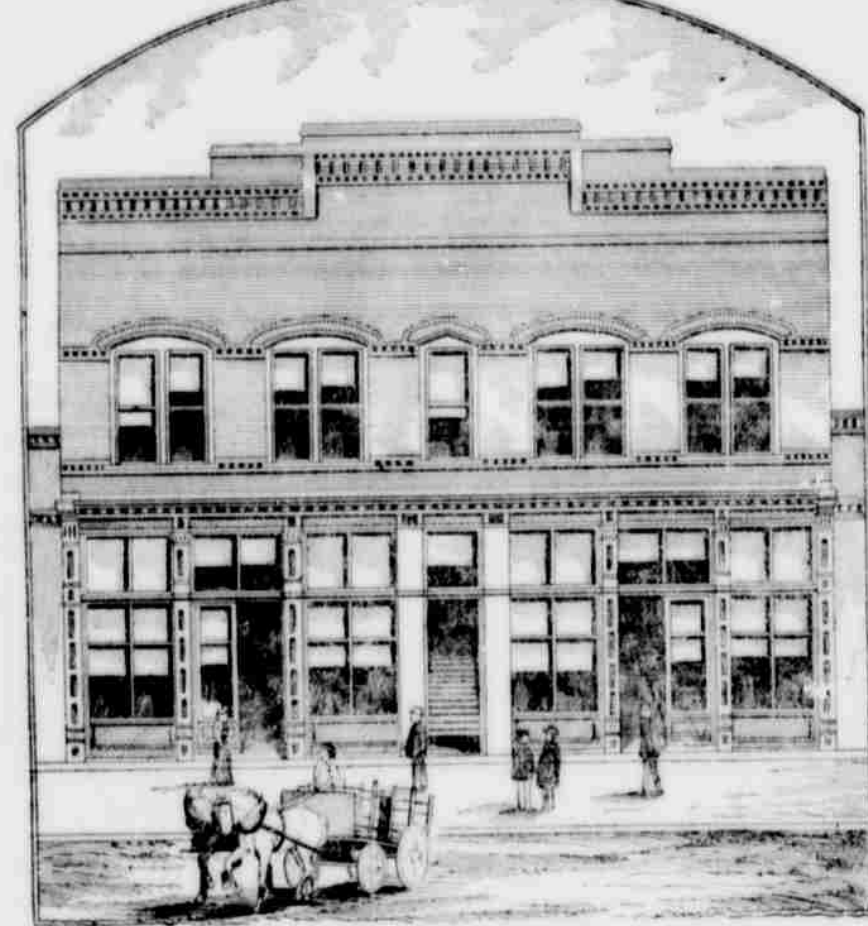

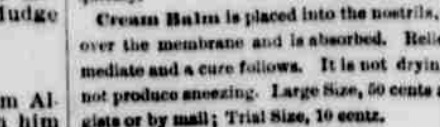

You will never wish to take another dose of pills if you once take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easier to take and more pleasant in effect. They cleanse the stomach and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale by all druggists.

Vaccinate Young Cattle.

Ricardo Gomez, the 250-pound cattleman of Tremontina, is in Las Vegas for the purpose of obtaining the necessary virus to vaccinate his young cattle. He says that quite a number of cattle around his neighborhood are dying of black leg and he believes a stitch in time saves nine.—Optic.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages, Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane, loosens catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly. Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Drug-gists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents.

and restaurant of the town and did a thriving business. Later, Mrs. Railroad engaged in the millinery and dressmaking business, and by careful attention to her customers built up a good trade. Growing tired of the life, she disposed of the millinery business to Mrs. E. F. Bocklett, and now, with her family, resides in a pretty home. Her son, Orrin, holds a position at Page's bottling works, while another son, Albert, is working as a machinist apprentice at the railroad shops. Both are good boys and are pleased that their mother can now enjoy a rest.

Tom Tucker Assaulted—Tom Tucker, who was a deputy sheriff under W. L. Cunningham at Santa Fe a few years ago, is here as a hide inspector for a big cattle company. A few days ago, Tom, with several soldiers from Fort Wingate, was out on a spree, and the soldiers, taking offense at something Tom had said, knocked him down and administered several severe kicks in Tucker's face. When Tucker got loose from his assailants he made for Mrs. Winchester at Hinch's, but Mr. Hinch would not let him have it. Had he secured the weapon a few dead soldiers would have been the result of their attack, for Tom is a shooter and the people of New Mexico, especially the Borrego gang of Santa Fe, know it. Two of the soldiers were arrested and fined, and they will not visit Gallup as long as Tucker is in town.

Politics—The democrats and independents will hold a meeting at Kitchen's opera house on Saturday night for the purpose of placing a ticket in the field for the April election. Some good men are mentioned for the nominations, but the republicans, who will also nominate a ticket, are not alarmed about the result when the votes are counted on April 7.

Good County Government—McKinley county is truly in the hands of good officers and they are performing their duties to the entire satisfaction of the taxpayers. The Odd Fellows building is used for county purposes and is conveniently arranged for the holding of court and for all office purposes. The large room will be used for the court, while on the ground floor are rooms for the probate clerk and judge, for county collector and treasurer, for sheriff and county commissioners, and for the other officers, except for assessor—the latter having his office in a neatly furnished room at the building of the Rocky Cliff Mining company. On the first of March there was in the county treasury over $10,000 and of this amount over $5,000 is apportioned off for the holding of court. There is a good fund for school purposes, while in all other funds there is a balance on the right side of the ledger. No debts are outstanding, and in consequence McKinley county is in first class financial condition. The commissioners are William McVicker, chairman; Edward Hart and W. L. Brotherton; D. C. Russell is the clerk; with W. W. Risdon deputy clerk; W. A. Smith, sheriff; S. Casavant, assessor; John C. Spears, collector and treasurer, with Miss Nellie Spears, deputy. Mr. Spears makes out a balance sheet, showing the amounts in cash and every fund, and the amount on hand, if any, at the end of every month, and these monthly balance sheets are placed in the hands of the commissioners. The county is erecting a new jail with Pauly steel cells, and Sheriff Smith will soon have one of the best jails in the territory for his prisoners.

Fine Public School—One of the largest and best public school buildings in the territory is located in Gallup. Prof. Larkin is the superintendent and principal. There are seven rooms, with ten grades, and about an average attendance daily of 300 pupils. In a future article The Citizen will speak at length of this fine public school.

may not reach Gallup or Durango this year, but it is the firm belief of Gallup citizens that it will be built through that town as soon, if not sooner, than some of the other roads now projected for this territory.

Economical City Government—Not to be outdone by the county officers, Gallup has a town board that knows how to economize and have money in the treasury. T. N. Hinch is the mayor, vice Judge Theodore Maxwell, deceased, and he thoroughly understands his duties. The other trustees are J. J. Wexelberger, T. C. DeShon, Antonio Gardino and Alex. Elsie. K. K. Scott is the town clerk and Joseph Morello town treasurer. Bills are paid promptly every month and the town is kept in a very clean condition. The Citizen representative was told yesterday that over $2,000 in money was in the city school fund.

Coal Mining Situation—While the force at the various coal mines is not as large now as usual, still there is no reason for alarm among the business men of Gallup. It is true that the Catalina mine and the old Gallup mine at the Gibson camp have closed down, owing to the existence of an insipid fire in one of the side shafts of the Gallup, and a lack of orders for coal from the Santa Fe Railway company, but the other mines are being worked. In the Weaver mine a big force is kept employed three or four days a week; at the Clarkville mine a hundred miners are at work every day; at the Caledonian Coal company's Otero mine and at the Rocky Cliff mine about sixty miners are employed at each mine, while at the Union and Stewart mines a force of twelve miners are kept busy every day. Some say the outlook for Gallup, owing to the present coal situation, is not at all bright, and there are others who believe Gallup will continue to be a good, prosperous town while other towns will decline and practically fade away.

Hon. J. J. Sheridan, the territorial mine inspector, is still at Gallup. He is thoroughly familiar with his duties.

Luxuries of Gallup—The town of Gallup is enjoying modern luxuries—that is, it has a telephone system, an manager of "The Racket" store. They are doing nicely and are well liked, not only among the Methodists, but the people in general.

The village tailor is Richter, and he has combined his trade with that of retail liquor, the firm being Brown & Richter.

John Schauer, proprietor of the Gallup beer hall, has been sick in bed for the past week, suffering with erysipelas. His clerk is Toney Bremke, who is a brother-in-law of Simon Halling, of Albuquerque.

Alex. Elsie, of the dry goods firm of Russell & Elsie, formerly an engineer on the Santa Fe Pacific, is now report-

The office of trainmaster at Barstow has been abolished, and W. M. Mills is again in his old job as passenger conductor. This transfers Conductor Hayes to the east end, says the Needles Eye.

J. B. Horner, a brother of ex-Alderman L. B. Horner, of this city, passed through the city on his way to Phoenix. He is the general manager of the Nickel Plate railroad, and en route east will stop over a few days here.

Already seven special trains to California over the Santa Fe have been engaged by the club women of the United States who are planning to attend the biennial of the club women at Los Angeles on May 1.

A report from Oklahoma states that the town of Sapulpa is to be for the present the eastern terminus of the Arkansas Valley & Western railroad. The road is to be built between Enid and the main line of the Frisco.

Between Deming and Douglas five telegraph offices are in operation, viz: Deming, Deming Junction, Coe Creek and Slaughter. An office will shortly be opened at Hachita, the junction with the Arizona and New Mexico.

P. W. Zimmerman, claim live stock adjuster of the Santa Fe road from Raton to this city, and out west as far as Needles, and Jose G. Chaves, the claim adjuster for all lines south of this city, are here today on business.

The El Paso Herald says: "Chas. F. Whittlesey, the chief architect of the Santa Fe system, who has recently opened offices in this city, was here to consult relative to the erection of some buildings west of Albuquerque."

This morning a letter was received by H. B. Ferguson from President Francis I. Gowen, of the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf railroad, in which it was stated that he is as yet unable to fix a definite date for coming to New Mexico.

Senator Burton has introduced a bill in the senate authorizing the construction by the Central Arizona Railway company of a line through the San Francisco river forest reserve, from Flagstaff northeast to Jerome and Globe.

A. S. Weatherbee, superintendent of the Mexican Development company, purchased the large Navajo blanket at the local Harvey catalog house, paying $275 for it. Mr. Weatherbee was here last Saturday, leaving that evening for City of Mexico.

The Santa Fe will soon commence construction work on a line from the southern border of Kansas to Paul's Valley, Indian Territory, about 200 miles. This new road will tap the fertile country lying east of the Santa Fe main line to Texas.

It was reported here yesterday that Engineer Williams, of the ill-fated 482 which went down in the Franconia wreck, had died in the Los Angeles hospital from his injuries, but up to this morning the report could not be verified. —Needles Eye.

Harry Gregory, for some months past in the superintendent's office at Winslow left the first of the week for San Francisco, where he will locate. Mr. Hammond, formerly of Flagstaff, has succeeded Mr. Gregory as Superintendent Hubbard's chief clerk.

The pooling system is a dead one on the Santa Fe and the engineers are glad. The announcement was made recently that hereafter all engineers on the Rio Grande division would have regular engines. The assignments are to be had at once.

Kansas City's railroads evidently appreciate the coming greatness of the western metropolis. It is now expected that they will build a union station superior to the union station in St.

Louis, to be built at a cost of $1,000,000. This would cost each of the ten roads $100,000.

Another contemplated extension of the Santa Fe Pacific is from Thoreau, about one hundred miles west of Albuquerque, to Durango, Colo. This proposed route is exactly a part of the proposed route of the Clinton & Durango road and would pass through a virgin coal, timber and agricultural country.

The new hospital to be erected by the Santa Fe is to be located on Boyce Heights, Los Angeles, fronting the Hollywood park. The hospital will be thoroughly modern, have accommodations for one hundred patients, and will take care of any employees that may be injured between Albuquerque, N. M., and San Francisco.

The Southern Pacific company has filed articles of incorporation by which it consolidates all its property in California, Arizona and New Mexico, under one company, which will be known as the Southern Pacific Railway company. Its capital stock is fixed at $155,455,000, making it one of the largest companies in the United States.

H. Dixon, chief inspector of the Santa Fe Pacific at Winslow, went home to dinner last Tuesday and when he returned to the office about 1:30 p. m. there was a large grin spread over his familiar features. Under his arm he carried a large box of A. J. cigars, and all on account of a ten and a half pound baby boy, who made his arrival Tuesday. Mother and son are doing nicely. —Mail.

The Topeka State Journal says: Wednesday the new engine hoist which the Santa Fe is to put in service at Albuquerque shops, but which has been held here for several days in order that it might be put together, was being loaded for shipment to that place. It was designed by Superintendent of Motive Power Henderson and will be an important part of the new apparatus there.

There is a rumor in circulation that the Gonzales had purchased the Santa Fe Central railroad, and that all work had been ordered suspended. This rumor is a mistake, like many other rumors put in circulation here. This morning John A. Lee, a big First street lumber merchant, denied the truthfulness of the rumor, and states that he received this morning a big order for material from the Pennsylvania Development company to be shipped to their camp up the road.

One of the remarkable things about the recent terrible wreck on the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio road in Texas is the way in which the claims department of the road is settling up the losses of the company. Immense sums of money are being paid to the injured passengers, and every care is being given to them. Immediately after the wreck, the road sent four claims agents to the scene, and commenced adjusting claims. About $75,000 in cash has already been paid out to passengers who were either injured or lost relatives in the disaster.

The contractors have commenced laying the ties and rails on the Dawson road west from Dover, the point of connection of the road with the Santa Fe. The switch was put in last week and the real laying of the track is now going on at a rapid rate. Twenty-four carloads of rails are side tracked at Springer ready for use. Everything looks favorable for a speedy finish for that part of the Dawson road to connect with the Santa Fe. Large quantities of coal are on the dumps at the Dawson mines waiting the finish of this part of the road for shipment.

The San Bernardino Sun says: "John Andrews, who has been connected with the local Santa Fe shops for more than six years, the greater part of his time as master car builder, has been asked to tender his resignation as ship track foreman, and has complied and is no longer in the service of the company, which he has served for twenty-two years—to all accounts faithfully. Such is the reward of earth. The first actual evidence that Mr. Andrews stood in disfavor with the company, that he came to pass last December when he was discharged from the foremanship of the car department to fill a newly created office, that of ship

ECZEMA'S ITCH IS TORTURE.

Eczeema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off, sometimes the skin is hard, dry and fissured. Eczeema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes and other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.

"For three years, I had Tetters on my hands, which caused them to swell to twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of runny sores, very painful, and causing me much discomfort. Four doctors told me it could not be cured, and they could do nothing for me. I had only three bottles of S. S. S. and was completely cured. This was fifteen years ago, and I have never since seen any sign of my old trouble." —Mrs. L. B. Jackson, 124 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo.

S. S. S. neutralizes this acid poison, cools the blood and restores it to a healthy, natural state, and the rough, unhealthy skin becomes soft, smooth and clear.

It cures Tetters, Erysipelas, Boils, Salt Rheum and all skin diseases due to a poisonous condition of the blood. Send for our book and write us about your case. Our physicians have made these diseases a life study, and can help you by their advice; we make no charge for this service. All correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

track foreman. And now, not yet three months later, comes the news of his final dismissal. He will remain in San Bernardino for the present, at least until the end of the month. As it has always been the custom for the car shop foreman to manage the ship track it is quite probable that the office held by Mr. Andrews will be taken off the payroll. Mr. Andrews was employed at the local shops for years as foreman of the car department.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe has let a contract to L. L. Summers, consulting engineer, Rookery building, Chicago, for a power plant to be erected for furnishing power and light to the shops at Topeka, Kas. The equipment of the plant will include 1,500 horse power engines, directly connected to direct current generators. There will be about 1,500 incandescent lamps and 175 are lights distributed about the shops and yards. There will also be some 750 horse power electric motors used for driving the various machines, traveling cranes, transfer tables, etc.

Extensive improvements are going on at the Santa Fe shops in San Bernardino. The contemplated improvements mean an expenditure of something like $500,000. The new track-way will foot up to something like 25,000 feet of steel rails, and the force at the shops must be more than doubled to make such a vast outlay profitable. When questioned as to the recent layoffs along the line an official said that already men were being taken back. A night shift is now at work, and after the beginning of the next fiscal year the force will be equal to that at work before the wholesale discharges.

Under the management of S. E. Bass, superintendent of reading rooms for the Santa Fe system, a splendid system of resorts for Santa Fe men is being built up. The reading room system is encouraged by the Santa Fe because it is believed to be a good business investment, by educating and encouraging the men in the employ of the road. The reading rooms of the system are at Emporia, Newton, Dodge City, Purcell, Ft. Woodward, Ocala, La Junta, Colo., Raton, N. M., San Antonio, N. M., Albuquerque, N. M., Winslow, Arizona, Seligman, Arizona, Needles, Cal., Barstow, Cal., and East Yards, Cal.

Dangers of Pneumonia.

A cold at this time if neglected is liable to cause pneumonia which is so often fatal, and even when the patient has recovered the lungs are weakened, making them peculiarly susceptible to the development of consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar will stop the cough, heal and strengthen the lungs and prevent pneumonia. Alvarado Pharmacy.

SANTA FE ROAD.

Activity in Railroad Building in New Mexico.

The management of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad seems to be greatly exercised over the fact that the Chicago & Rock Island has, by constructing its line to El Paso, secured a shorter route than the Santa Fe to the Pacific coast, says the Denver Republican. Wherefore, according to report, the latter is to construct a line from its Pecos valley road to a point somewhere on the old Atlantic & Pacific, which would make a through route shorter than the Rock Island.

In the event that the proposed extension is built it will, in connection with other lines now building or in contemplation, revolutionize the traffic relations of southeastern New Mexico. The part of New Mexico in question has always been cut off from the remainder of the country except for the little railroad in the Pecos valley and, recently, the line from El Paso north to Alamogordo. Its resources have remained undeveloped, and it has been so inaccessible that comparatively few men have entered it.

Its development will undoubtedly be stimulated by the construction of the proposed lines. The Rock Island will cross it from near the northeastern corner of the territory to the boundary just north of El Paso. A new road is about to be built from Santa Fe to connect with this Rock Island line; and now comes the Santa Fe with the declaration that it will construct a road across the region under consideration from east to west at nearly its central point. A great stimulus will be given the development of New Mexico and more or less to the whole southwest.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You have good reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, when you have a severe cold, accompanied by pains in the chest or in the back between the shoulders. Get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it as directed and it will prevent the threatened attack. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for colds and la grippe, we have yet to learn of a single case that has resulted in pneumonia, which shows that this remedy is a certain preventative of that dangerous disease. For sale by all druggists.

INCREASED EARNINGS.

Santa Fe and Rock Island Among the Leaders in the Race.

Passenger department earnings of the railroads generally have been increasing steadily for some time past at a rate sufficient to deserve marked attention. Aggregate earnings of these departments, as shown in the last report of the interstate commerce commission, amounted to $425,909,210. This was more than the annual aggregate of the government receipts up to 1898, or the value of seven years' gold production of the country at the present rate of output. The sum named shows an increase over the 1909 record in excess of $22,000,000, and over 1899 an increase of $66,000,000, which gives an idea of the more recent progress that has been made.

Among the roads showing gains of from 30 to 50 per cent were the Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Burlington, Southern Railway, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Walcott and Rock Island, although due to its source, it could not be demonstrated that in a majority of these cases results improved to no small extent as to mileage operated. In some instances new construction has taken place, in others consolidation, and in many cases both of these influences have operated.

LEAD BUSINESS.

Miners Should Combine and Establish Smelters in the West.

INTERESTING ARTICLE ON MINING

The lead business, like any other, is done by three parties, the producers or miners, the middle men or smelters, and the manufacturers or consumers, who supply the trade in the various articles of manufacture. The producers are mining companies and individual miners, among the former some are more or less associates of the smelter trust. The middle men are the American Smelting and Refining company, the Picher Lead company, of Joplin, Mo., the Pacific coast smelters and quite a number of smelters independent of the trust, but mainly engaged in the reduction of non-argiferous lead ore. Independent works are preparing for operations in the Rocky mountains in competition with the trust. The manufacturers or consumers are the National Lead company, owning the Harrison reduction works, the Rio Grande plant at Socorro and the old silver smelting and refining works at Chetlinham, St. Louis, of which only the latter is in operation, reducing the ore from the company's own mines at Flat River, Mo., to pig lead. The National Lead company is composed of a number of corrodng companies throughout the middle and eastern states, consuming about 70,000 tons of pig lead per annum. In 1909 there was made 98,210 tons of white lead, which includes the product by the independent corrodors and probably also the sublimed white lead made by the Picher Lead company, of Joplin, Mo. The manufacture of lead pipe and lead plumbing, mixtures for rubber and other goods consumes the rest of our production of lead. Every new article produced in certain branches increases the consumption of lead. Prosperity in general increases it. We produce enough lead, year in and year out, to do so. Some times there is a shortage, then a surplus, but on the average, production balances consumption. As leadville, for a time, largely increased the output, so will, for a time, southwest Missouri. The introduction of the Willey table and its imitations have prevented a great shortage in the Rocky mountains. From time to time thus a new discovery or an invention has filled a shortage. And so it may in the future. New railroads into mining districts will make possible new developments, but our dormant resources of lead are pretty well known throughout the United States. There is no danger of a serious overproduction if it be then a year of panic. The American Smelting and Refining company was organized for self protection to stem the tide of competition which proved ruinous. The Guggenheim smelters entered the combination after having professed intention of remaining independent. Today the Guggenheim interest is the whole soul if not the whole body of the trust. The trust is doing all it can to force all smelting companies into its arms, but in Missouri, especially southwest Missouri, the mines of that class which can produce profitably only by wholesale operations which have a good profit now with a very low state of the market. The most prominent producers there, the St. Joe Lead company and the Beslogie Consolidated, as well as the National Lead company, cannot cease operations or reduce their output without very serious loss, but the two former have frequently withheld their product from the market for a time. In Joplin the chief production of lead is incidental with zinc mining and the Picher Lead company sells the pig lead generally on the same day that it buys the equivalent in ore. The output around Joplin will rarely exceed 25,000 tons of pig lead per annum. This includes Kansas. The trust, therefore, so long as Missouri remains such a prominent factor cannot absolutely control the market, although it can materially help it by storing its desilverized lead. This, however, does not restrict the output. Hence the closing of trust plants and the low price they pay for the ore, increase of treatment charges, in fact the demoralization of the Rocky mountain market for argiferous lead ore. The use of foreign lead smelters abroad facilitates the policy of restricting the home production. A combination of miners is one of the measures of relief and in anticipation of such a step the trust has associated with a number of mine development companies that buy up large mines. It stands to reason, therefore, that no new smelter can operate successfully unless it is assured of plenty of ore, has good financial backing, the good will of railroads and talent and business management.

"If I Could Get Rid of this abominable cold," exclaimed the sufferer, when the end of a spasm of coughing gave him a chance to talk. The way out of the trouble is plain. Take Allen's Lung Balm before the merciless grip of the cold has fastened upon throat and lungs. After a few doses the cough is easier and less frequent, and a complete cure is but the question of a little time.

Assistant Treasurer R. L. McCance, of the Santa Fe Central Railway company, will leave for Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to attend to several business matters, including the purchase of additional machinery and supplies for the Santa Fe Central company. Mr. McCance, although in Santa Fe but a short time, has already won the respect and good will of the people of this city through his thorough and straightforward business methods and his genial manners.

QUIT THEM COLD. Rock Island and Texas & Pacific Withdraw from Passenger Bureau.

At a special meeting of the Southwestern passenger bureau in St. Louis the latter part of the week the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, the Chicago, Rock Island & Texas and the Texas & Pacific served notices of withdrawal from the bureau.

The meeting had been called for the purpose of discussing and taking action upon the recent notices of withdrawal that had been received from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and the South Pacific lines in Texas.

It seems that the reason these lines have left the bureau is because the International & Great Northern has not been identified with the bureau of late years, although it has observed all the rules and regulations thereof. Nevertheless, the other Texas lines take the ground that they do not want to be tied up in an organization so long as one stone is thrown at the outside in a position to act independently without notice.

The advisory committee of the bureau has been directed to communicate with the officials of the International & Great Northern urging them to come into the organization. It is possible that before this that road has been induced to enter the fold and the others have returned.

Would Smash the Club. If members of the Hay Fever Association would use Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, the club would go to pieces, for it always cures this manly—and asthma, the kind that baffles the doctors—it wholly drives from the system. Thousands of once-hopeless sufferers from consumption, pneumonia, bronchitis owe their lives and health to it. It conquers grip, saves little ones from croup and whooping cough and is positively guaranteed for all throat and lung troubles. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottles free at all druggists.

Wells-Fargo's Fiftieth Anniversary. The semi-centennial anniversary of the Wells-Fargo company occurs on the 15th of this month, which is tomorrow.

To appropriately commemorate the event, every employe of the company who has been in their service twelve months will be presented with a silver medal.

Across the fact of the medal, in the center, are the words, "Wells-Fargo," and above this is a picture of the old stage coach. At the bottom of the design is a picture of the pioneer express messenger astride his mustang, the whole conveying an idea of the business and the manner in which it was carried on before the days of telegraphs and railroads.

On the reverse of the medal the modern method is shown. On the center is the date, "March 18, 1902," and the words "Express and Banking." Above this is a picture of the telegraph lines while below is a train of cars. On the border is inscribed the motto, "Fidelity."

We offer subject to prior sale 450 000 5 per cent, 20-year first mortgage electric bonds. For further particulars, address Stephen D. Demmon & Co., 109 Washington street, Chicago, Ill., or Moscow E. L. & P. Co., Moscow, Idaho.

Four Horned Navajo Sheep. J. C. Mundersbach purchased last week from a Navajo Indian a sheep which has four well developed horns. Two of its horns grow up and curve to ward its back and are twelve inches or more in length. The other two curve in an opposite or downward direction and are large and also about one foot in length. This sheep has been viewed by a number of our sheep growers and they acknowledge they never saw one horned like it before. It is doubtful whether it has a duplicate in the world. Mr. Mundersbach prizes it very highly and it will require a fancy price for him to part with it.—Flagstaff Gem.

Every family should have its household medicine chest, and the first bottle in it should be Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, nature's remedy for coughs and colds.

It is a Fact. Confidence is said to be more than half the battle in a business career, and our friend Tom Hughes, of the Albuquerque Citizen, appears to be overstocked with the increment. The senator says: "The Citizen secured nearly 100 new subscribers last week, and it cannot be squeezed in business or in politics." Well, it does look that way.—San Marcial Bee.

The Browns and Barrels ball teams are to play tomorrow afternoon at the fair grounds. A good game is promised.

The Citizen was misinformed as to the date of the musicale to be given by the choir of the Lead Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. It will be next Thursday night instead of Friday night as was stated in yesterday afternoon's paper.

Miss Kittie Elder and brother, Bert, left this morning on the California Limited for San Francisco, where Miss Elder will spend the summer. Mr. Elder will take steamer at San Francisco for Peru, where he is employed with a mining company.

After a visit to the military encampments of the east, Mrs. McCright returned to the city last night, and will be ready on next Thursday afternoon and evening to show the ladies of this city and vicinity some exquisite creations in headgear.

Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Herrick spent a few hours in the city yesterday between trains, having come in on the California limited and left at night for Magdalena. The professor reports having a nice visit in New York, and says their son, Harry, who is attending the Denison university, is doing fine. They spent one day at Denison.

Lecture on "Truth—What Is It? How Know It?" at Odd Fellows hall 3 p. m. Sunday. The first of the lecture will give a definition as precisely as possible of truth, as used by science. This definition will show the insufficiency and failure of certain "isms," "creedalism," "agnosticism," "materialism." The remaining part of the lecture will deal with the "ways and means" of knowing the truth. A solo will be rendered by Miss Helmbeck, and other appropriate music. Cordial invitation to everybody.

IN MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Judge Crawford Failed as Peacemaker in a Case.

Judge Crawford tried to act as the peace maker between two well known ladies of Albuquerque this morning. One was charged by the other with having come to her house, forced her way in and indulged in violent abuse. For this a warrant was issued. The defendant retorted by saying she had been accused of being a thief and that her wares were accused by the husband of the complaining witness trying to console her. Judge Crawford tried to bring down the white winged dove of peace but the bird would not come near and the case was fought to a finish while court, attorneys and spectators were frequently convulsed with laughter. At the close of the testimony Judge Crawford delivered a lecture and warned the defendant to keep away from the plaintiff's house.

John Clark was fined $5 for assaulting Wm. Joyce. He said Joyce owed him money which he refused to pay and he slapped him.

A Grand Success.

The Mrs. S. B. Cowell's millinery opening at No. 119 West Gold avenue, this afternoon, was a grand success, and the lady, with several competent assistants, was kept extremely busy for several hours showing the visitors the pretty and handsome display of the latest designs in millinery. When a Citizen representative called at the store at 3 o'clock this afternoon, he found it almost impossible to enter owing to the large crowd present, and everybody in attendance seemed pleased with the styles presented for their inspection. Mrs. Cowell has the popular idea of millinery opening, that of afternoon and evening, and the exhibition of spring styles will be continued tonight until 9 o'clock. A musical concert was rendered this afternoon under the direction of Miss McCune. A concert also tonight.

Will He Build? Joe Barnett and wife have departed for Santa Rosalia Springs, Mexico, where they will remain for a few weeks. There is a report in circulation, which cannot now be personally substantiated, that Mr. Barnett will soon commence tearing down the old adobe building at the corner of Railroad avenue and Second street, known as the Talbot property, and will erect thereon a handsome business building of brick or stone. It is a known fact that the present occupants of the building—S. Vann & Son and Stephen Halling—have been requested to look out for other locations, which is an indication that Mr. Barnett intends at an early day to ornament the splendid lot with a fine business building.

Yesterday morning while going north on No. 8, William Clements, brakeman for Conductor A. H. West, while running ahead of his train to turn a switch fell and broke his collar bone at a station north of Wagon Mound called Nunn. Mr. Clements remained with his train and came down to Las Vegas on No. 1 that evening.
