Territorial Topics

SAN MARCIAL.

From the Bee.
Dr. C. G. Cruikshank visited Parale to attend Mrs. Juan Sedillo.
E. W. Brown returned from Denver, where he has spent several weeks negotiating for the sale of horses to British buyers.
The business of the San Marcial postoffice for the first quarter of the present year exceeded that of the same period for 1901. This is proof positive that our business men are enjoying a good run of trade, and that the town is forging ahead in commercial importance.

The Wigwam saloon, conducted by Messrs. Helm & Story, has changed hands. The new firm is J. B. Harry & Co. There are few people in this part of New Mexico who do not know Jess Harry and admit that he is a pretty good fellow. He has a good understanding of the liquor business and we predict for him a liberal measure of success while in charge of the Wigwam.

LAS CRUCES.

From the Progress.
District Attorney Llewellyn left for the Guadalupe country to look after his oil interests there.
L. O. Lutz of Mexico, died there at the age of 86 years. She was the mother of Mrs. Augustina Davis, of that place.

The gentleman who has put a roulette wheel in Bean & Nevez's saloon to run during the coming term of court, had his outfit attached by a cigar salesman for a cigar bill. He promptly came to time and the outfit was released.

Reports were around that Charlie Miller, our popular county commissioner, had carried off one of Dona Ana county's handsome young lady's to Germany. Information from his store at Anthony, however, is to the effect that there is no truth whatever in such reports.

Miss F. E. Blakesley entertained a few of her friends at her home on last Tuesday evening with a "ghost" party. After giving the "ghosts" an opportunity to guess the shades of their companion shades, masks were removed and the remainder of the evening spent in social conversation and music, light refreshments concluding the evening's pleasure. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Holt, the Misses Foster, Miss Metcalf, the Misses Jacobs, Messrs. McConnell, Center, Gerber, Jacoby, Deitch, Prenger Metcalf Kittendorf and Hunt.

From the Republican.
District and United States court will convene here next week.
Nicholas Galles took charge of the land office last Saturday.

C. C. Bickel, wife and daughter, who have been at the Alameda for some time, left the fore part of the week for Albuquerque.

A farewell reception was tendered Mr. Emil Solignac last Tuesday evening at the rooms of John H. May, the evening before his leaving for France.

Dr. J. F. McConnell was last week appointed by Governor Otero a delegate to the American congress of tuberculosis, which will meet in New York on May 14.

Patrick Dunn, a boilermaker from Philadelphia, broke his leg near the hip in getting off a train at the bridge close to Rincon on the night of the 3d. Dr. Brown set the fracture. Dunn was heating his way.

SOCORRO.

From the Chieftain.
Rev. Di Palma, of Albuquerque, was in the city to consummate the sale of a part of the Armijo block to H. Chamblin.

Report has it that Miss Mamie Bahney, an estimable young lady, who left Socorro three years ago to make her home in Missouri, was married recently to Mr. Scheneppe.

H. Chamblin has bought the store building he now occupies and the one adjoining it on the west. The consideration was $2,500. Mr. Chamblin will add another story to the building.

Col. Nat. Straw, the champion bear hunter of New Mexico, arrived in the city from a visit in Missouri and will leave for the Mogollon mountains where he will give brunt his best attention for a few months.

Carl J. Homme, of Wittenberg, Wis., formerly a student at the School of Mines, has accepted a position in Juarez, Mexico. It is a notable fact that graduates of the New Mexico School of Mines have no difficulty in securing and holding good positions.

Andy Wickham left for the mines in Mexico after a sojourn of two or three weeks at the home of his parents in this city waiting for a broken leg to heal. Andy always receives a hearty welcome from his many Socorro friends.

W. H. Byerts is solving the artesian water question for Socorro on his own account. He has just put a complete drilling outfit to work on his fruit ranch near the city spring and proposes to get a flow of water if it is to be had. Everybody will wish him success.

Socorro nose company No. 1 held a meeting at which officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Chief, C. Cortinas; foreman, P. N. Yunker; secretary, A. Winkler; treasurer, Edward L. Price; first assistant, Seferino Abeyta; second assistant, Page Savage.

DEMING.

From the Headlight.
A menial sneak thief entered the sleeping apartment of A. A. Douglas, recently from El Paso, and took from that gentleman's pockets $5.30 and a Barlow knife.

Miss Nina Johnston, who for the past year has been a guest of Mrs. Swepe, of this city, left for Los Angeles, Cal. After a short visit in California Miss Johnston will return to her home in Kentucky.

Miss Maya Melas, of Stoughton, Wis., who has been spending the past winter with Mrs. L. Brown, of this city, left for Los Angeles, where she will remain for some months to come. Miss Melas is a very accomplished musician and her absence from the musical circles of this town will be greatly felt.

While in Deming she had a large class of pupils whom she was instructing on the piano.

An Italian, a trained bear and a bugle made their appearance on the streets of Deming. The bugle sounded a crowd of urchins gathered and the bear was put through his paces. About the time the second performance was ended City Clerk Pennington appeared on the scene armed with a license book, which he showed the bear that he started off, dragging his master at the end of his chain. The last seen of them they were crossing the track, headed for Silver City.

RATON.

From the Range.
Faint Gavin, son of C. J. Gavin, will leave soon for Boston, where he will attend school.

George Berringer contemplates adding another story to his opera house building, fitting up the lower story for store rooms with office rooms on the upper floor.

The Range has been moving this week from the quarters which it has occupied for the past eighteen years to the Love building, opposite Mendelson's new block on Cook avenue.

The Santa Fe Presbytery will hold its annual conference at the Presbyterian church, Raton, beginning April 8 at 8 p. m., when an address will be made by the Rev. A. Hayes Moore, of Santa Fe.

The Baptist people of Raton have called the Rev. J. O. Willett, of Jackson, Mo., to take charge of their church. Mr. Willett is a graduate of the Baptist Theological seminary at Louisville, Ky., and is induced to come to this territory in the hope that our matchless climate may benefit his wife's health. He is expected here about May 1.

FARMINGTON.

From the Hustler.
The many friends of William Locke are happy to see him out again, after suffering a broken rib, due to a fall from a load of hay.

The Masonic fraternity of this vicinity are promised a rare treat, beginning on April 8, when Deputy Grand Lecturer of New Mexico Robert White will be here for three days to deliver a series of lectures.

The 32d anniversary of the institution of the first Odd Fellow lodge in the United States will be celebrated jointly by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of San Juan county, at Farmington, April 26. Committees from the various lodges are now arranging a program.

Farmington can now probably boast of having the finest and most modern department store in all New Mexico, thanks to the enterprise and efforts of the Hyde Exploring Expedition and the very able local management of George H. Browne. The main building, 50x115 feet, two stories and basement, is divided into five departments.

The educational contest held last Saturday evening was a decided success in every detail. Every one of the ten contestants showed a marked degree of gift and study, entitling each to individual mention, would space permit. Miss Lucille Thomas, of Farmington, carried off the first prize, consisting of a handsome gold medal, the second prize falling to Carrie A. Bates, of Aztec.

CARLSBAD.

From the Argus.
The farmers about Carlsbad and the citizens of the town having gardens have been the recipients of a variety of seeds for planting, the seeds coming to them through the courtesy of Delegate Roddy.

The little son of N. N. Davis, of Hope, had the misfortune to fall in a sheep jumping vat, at Lake Arthur, the first of the week. It was anything but a pleasant bath, and the little fellow was quite sick for a time.

There is some talk among those interested in setting up a "sure nuff" cowboy's carnival this coming Fourth of July, the participants themselves managing the affair. It will comprise a program made up almost entirely of horsemen's sports and work.

The city democrats held their convention Saturday night, March 29, and nominated the following ticket: For mayor, Dan H. Lucas; for town trustees, W. G. Woerner, Dr. C. M. Barber, for school trustees, W. J. Barber and Allen C. Heard; for recorder, C. C. Emerson for marshal, Ed King. There was no opposition ticket, and consequently, the above ticket went through. They are all good men.

HILLSBORO.

From the Advocate.
Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin left for Corpus Christi. They will visit several important places en route.

Superintendent Kasser, of the Hillsboro Gold Mining and Milling company, informs us that he has ordered a new stamp mill of twenty-five tons capacity, for twenty-four hours. It is one of the latest improved mills and he expects it here in three weeks.

Through a requisition upon the quartermaster general at Washington, D. C. Tom Murphy this week received six grave stones for the following deceased veterans of the war: G. O. Perrault, John Carey, Jacob Laycock, W. H. Allen, R. M. McCuiston and Christopher Watson.

Pursuant to the ultimatum of the school board the public school closed last Friday. However, Major Robert, the principal, who is much interested in the school and the welfare of its pupils, will, at his own expense, continue the school for at least two weeks for the benefit of the graduating class and all other pupils who wish to attend.

SAN JUAN COUNTY.

From Aztec Index.
San Juan county is in for a prosperous season.

Wheeler, the boy prisoner, is safe in jail and Charley Carter swears he'll stay there.

It is hoped to have the court house ready for use by the time court meets in October.

The Presbyterian church at Flora Vista is nearing completion. It is a credit to the community.

The new settlers on the La Plata are taking hold with the vim and energy that make for success, and there is no doubt that they will succeed.

Charles F. Holly is resurveying the Aztec town ditch, the intention being to take out one or two of the high places which cause trouble at present.

Fred Bunker received a telegram this week from Charles Mead and Will LeFebvre. The message was dated at Albuquerque and was in the old-time and approved form: "Have struck good game. Send more money."

From Farmington Times.
Robert Buchanan, of Cedar Hill, delivered a hog dressing 447 pounds, to the Hyde Exploring Expedition meat market last Friday.

The display of artistic work in the line of taxidermy in the Hyde building is equal to anything in the same line to be seen in the cities.

While some Indians were sitting around the campfire at Jewett, one playfully threw a cartridge into the fire. The explosion that followed took some fingers of one and slightly injured another. The seriously wounded were brought here for medical treatment.

From Farmington Hustler.
McKenzie and Ivie arrived yesterday with freight from Albuquerque.

Harry Myers began today to mould brick. He expects to turn 200,000 in this kiln.

The Farmington cornet band treated our citizens to a band concert Sunday afternoon.

Owing to illness, Miss Draper has resigned her position as teacher of the intermediate grade, and Miss Della Martin appointed to fill the vacancy.

The First National bank of Farmington received their charter Monday evening, and if the big safe and vault fixtures arrive on time, expect to open up for business on April 15.

WHITE OAKS.

From the Eagle.
S. M. Wharton has gone east on business and will be gone three or four weeks.

George Cooper, who has been very sick with pneumonia, is reported some better.

Dr. Miller has in preparation a lecture on "Mohammed and the Saracen Conquest," which he will deliver at Plymouth church on Sunday evening, April 21.

Messrs. Geo. E. Sligh and Ed Homan of Nogal, left over the El Paso-Rock Island for St. Louis. Mr. Sligh goes on business for the Nogal Mercantile company, of which he is a member, and Mr. Homan to take the Keeley cure. Mr. Homan is one of our best citizens, but has been so addicted to drink that he has decided to seek relief in this way.

SANTA FE.

From the New Mexican.
Judge John R. Merle is busy at work upon opinions for the sessions of the territorial supreme court which convenes at Santa Fe on April 24. No cases will be heard in chambers until after the adjournment of the supreme court.

District Attorney Frank W. Caney of Albuquerque, is in Santa Fe on business before the court of private land claims.

N. E. Stevens, of Albuquerque, prominent in Odd Fellow circles, is in Santa Fe on building and loan association business.

Cordelia LeBow, aged 3 years, died at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Thayer, of acute pneumonia. The funeral took place yesterday at 2 o'clock.

Rev. R. M. Craig, superintendent of Presbyterian missions, was an arrival from the south and left overland for Chihuahua. He returned recently from the east, where he made sixty-four missionary addresses in less than sixty days. He says that a new mission school will be built at Las Truchas and at other points in Taos and Rio Arriba counties.

C. C. Clark, of Kelly, Socorro county, past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of New Mexico, is in Santa Fe today on a business visit. Mr. Clark has just recovered from a long stage of illness that confined him to his home all winter. He reports that a new company will take hold of the Cavern mine at Kelly and will probably erect a smelter. There are about 20,000 tons of ore in sight at the mine.

Bert Ward has entered the employ of Grant Brunsburg as driver of the ice wagon.

The capital grounds are being prepared for the sowing of more lawn seed and the laying out of flower beds.

Vivian Padilla and Miss Francisca Ortega were married at the cathedral by Vicar General Fournchign.

The couple was attended by Narciso Mondragon and wife, Valentina Salazar de Mondragon.

Sunday afternoon 116 boys and girls were confirmed in the cathedral by Archbishop Peter Bourgade. In the morning over 100 children attended their first communion. The girls were all dressed in white and veiled.

A number of Navajo Pueblo Indians are in Santa Fe on business with W. H. Pope, United States attorney for the Pueblo Indians. The Indians have a grievance against settlers near Navajo on account of water rights.

The Santa Fe Water & Light company received a 200-horse power boiler and new smoke stacks for its power plant on Don Gaspar avenue. A 200-horse power engine and a 150 kilowatt generator will follow.

Mrs. W. H. Whitman is reported as somewhat improved, although still unable to leave her bed. Two of her daughters, Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, of Denver, and Mrs. J. R. Dudley, of near Denver, arrived on Saturday evening.

A. Ingerson and son are down over 100 feet on their gold prospect two miles directly north of Santa Fe. They will soon commence drifting. A considerable amount of ore is on their dump. They claim to have assays running as high as $43 a ton. The sinking is done in solid rock.

Hon. B. M. Read will be an applicant for the United States attorneyship of the Pueblo Indians, to succeed W. H. Pope, Esq., who has accepted a judgeship in the Philippines.

There are 228 convicts in the territorial penitentiary today, 222 men and six women. The latter are kept busy making shirts for the convicts. There is work for every male convict and plenty of it. Idleness has no place in the New Mexico penitentiary.

Sotero Martinez, who was mysteriously shot on Saturday evening, while on his way home, is reported to be much improved although not yet out of danger. District Attorney E. C. Abbott is working on the case and important developments may be announced in a few days.

W. M. Tipton, commissioner of public lands in the Philippines with headquarters at Manila, it is understood, will resign and return to this country at an early date, the climate of Manila not being suitable and unfavorably affecting his health.

A. O. Wright, supervisor of Indian schools, left for Genoa, Neb., after spending over a week at the United States Indian school in this city. He was much pleased with the condition of the school and recommended to the department that it be enlarged so as to increase the number of pupils to 150. He advised the construction of a new building for the 150 extra pupils and also the installation of a steam heating plant at the school.

Sotero Martinez is reported to be much improved from his wound and the attending physician, Dr. J. M. Diaz, now holds out hopes for his recovery.

The officers of the local lodge of Elks were installed by Deputy B. Runpe, of Albuquerque. A banquet was served at the Bon-Ton after the installation.

The brick pavement which should have been laid around the Old Palace last October according to assurances of Land Commissioner A. A. Keen, custodian of the building, awaits the pleasure of the penitentiary authorities who will get it as soon as they have the men and brick to spare.

Judge Jesse G. Northcutt, of Trinidad, judge of the Third judicial district of Colorado, a jurist of fine reputation, and a friend of Governor Otero, Judge

A. C. Abbott, and District Attorney E. C. Abbott, is in Santa Fe on business with Governor Otero. He is accompanied by his stenographer, Watt McHenry.

At the penitentiary a new electric arc circuit has been completed. Incandescent lights will be placed on the walls of the institution and will be burned all night, which will make any attempts of escape at night time even more difficult than at present.

The penitentiary will present a beautiful sight after dark with its powerful searchlights and a ring of incandescent lights around it.

St. John's Methodist Episcopal church and parsonage on San Francisco street were sold to Rev. Thomas Harwood, of Albuquerque, superintendent of Spanish Methodist Episcopal missions in New Mexico, for $700 and other valuable considerations. St. John's congregation will move out this fall, when its new church on Don Gaspar avenue is to be completed.

The next conference of the Spanish New Mexico missions will appoint a resident pastor for Santa Fe.

The board of trustees of the Presbyterian church held a meeting at which the newly elected trustees, J. A. Wood and John H. Walker, took their seats, succeeding E. P. Crichton and C. L. Bishop. George W. Knebel was elected president and treasurer, Alan McCord, secretary, and J. A. Wood vice president. A committee of the whole was appointed to draft suitable resolutions of thanks to the board of home missions, for the support given the congregation for many years.

LAS VEGAS.

From the Record.
Miss Maud McIntyre, of Santa Fe, is here visiting Mrs. John James.

Mrs. Sedora Black came in from San Miguel to visit her daughters who are in school here.

Arthur Hild is sporting a new hand-some rig. He must be preparing for a "campaign" this summer.

Miss Rosie Frank, who had been visiting Mrs. Isaac Apple, returned to her home in New York City.

Herman Hild expects to leave for Santa Rosa, where he will remain several months looking after his father's interests in their branch house.

Word has been received from Prof. McNary, at Pittsburg, that his mother, while resting easily, is still very low and the doctor holds out no hope for her recovery.

J. B. Lewis, wife, and sister in law, Mrs. Good, who had been in Las Vegas and Socorro for some time, returned to Boise City, Idaho.

An old Mexican lady was found early the other morning near the home of Antonio Lucero almost frozen to death. She was very weak and could scarcely stand. She was taken to the Ladies' Home.

Mrs. Donald Stewart is packing her household goods preparatory to moving to Tucumcari, where Mr. Stewart has been for some time as manager of the store of Gross, Kelly & Co., of which firm he is a member.

Dr. N. Judd is expected back from Topeka, and the present program is for the preliminary hearing of Mrs. A. M. Walker to take place the day after his arrival. This may be changed, however.

Julius Linde, one of Hild's popular travelers, is back from Tucumcari.

D. B. Black is able to attend to his professional duties again, after being under the weather a few days.

Mrs. W. B. Givens left yesterday evening for Bernalillo for a couple of months' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Givens.

Sheriff Charles Romero went to Watrous this morning, after four young men, for whom he has warrants of arrest for the killing of a number of pigs at Laguna Pedrosa.

At a meeting of the E. Romero Hose company last night it was decided to build an addition to their hose house, in which to install a couple of horses, and Eugene D. Moosner, who was an ex-member of the company, was reinstated, bringing the company to its limit of twenty-five members.

Mary Alexander has filed papers for divorce against S. G. Alexander on account of his abandoning her and not paying her board. Mary and S. G., which may stand for Sodom and Gomorrah, are colored people, but have as good a right to get into a divorce suit as anybody.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ryan and granddaughter, Marguerite Cluxton, will leave for El Paso next week for a sojourn in hopes of benefiting Mrs. Ryan's health.

The many friends of Herman Hild were very much surprised to learn this morning that he had decided to become a benedict, and that he and Miss B. Liebstetter, an estimable and accomplished young lady from Kansas City, who had been visiting Miss Lucien Rosenwald the last two weeks, had become engaged. The engagement was publicly announced last night, and the young people are receiving the best wishes and congratulations of their friends today.

Lorenzo Delgado, who has been on the sick list, is up and around again.

L. J. Marcus has accepted a position with Gross, Richards & Co., of Tucumcari.

Fernandino Gonzales, one of the employees at the Insane asylum, and Manuelita Garcia were married at the Catholic church.

Ella de Otero has made application for the guardianship of Adolfo Lucero, one of the children of the man who died election day, as the carriage went after him to vote. The little girl, Yarda Lucero, about nine years of age, has been adopted by Juan de Las Reyes Abeyta Benizana.

J. G. Bliff, one of the popular Montezuma clerks, returned from Vinton, Kan., where he has been to see a sick mother, whom he left much improved.

Dr. N. W. Judd, H. S. Judd and wife, of Lead, S. D., Mrs. J. S. Judd and a lawyer arrived here and went direct to Hot Springs. Dr. N. W. Judd, who is a physician at the Montezuma, will remain here, but Mrs. Judd will probably return with her other son and make her home with him. The body of the father and husband was laid to rest at Whitehall, Ill., last Wednesday and the family immediately left for Las Vegas.

Nicolas T. Cordova has been appointed guardian of the minors, Rafael and Adolpho Lucero.

James Snyder left for Denver, where he will remain. He spent some five months in this city.

Letters of administration have been given to Mrs. Elfreda Harris, for the estate of her husband, Justin Harris, deceased.

Yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock, Edward Todhunter and Miss Maggie Hamilton were united in marriage at the residence of Mrs. Hamilton, on Mora avenue. Mr. Todhunter will be employed at the round house, and the newly married couple will make their home in this city.

Recently Postmaster Blood wrote Delegate Roddy asking him to send a United States map for use in the lobby of the postoffice. The map arrived this morning and it hangs in the lobby for the benefit of the public. Mr. Roddy seems ready at all times to serve his constituents to the extent of his ability.

From the Optic.
H. F. Forsythe is putting in a hard wood floor in his suite of rooms over Phil Dill's store.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Manuel B. Baca a bright little girl. The father does not yet know of his good fortune for he is in Puerto de Luna attending to business while the wife was in the city.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of several persons who are to take part in the approaching musicale, Prof. E. E. W. Layton says it has been postponed for a few days, but that notice of its exact date will soon be given.

L. M. Parks and Alexander Reynolds rode in from the T. O. K. pasture, near Cherry valley. They had complete cowboy outfits, such as twenty years ago were not uncommon in Las Vegas, but which of recent years have been growing less frequent in appearance.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. McGee, aged about 7 years, has diphtheria. The case is not considered dangerous.

J. S. Duncan left for Kansas City, Saturday night. Mr. Duncan left to buy quite an outfit of stock and vehicles for the Chaffin & Duncan livery stables.

Mrs. Luntzel, wife of the popular hackman, is from the bluegrass region of Kentucky, where every one knows and loves nature's noblest animal, the horse. Mrs. Luntzel shows her nativity by having reared a colt, which at less than two years of age would put to shame many a circus trained animal. She has taught the colt to climb a ladder, to pretend desperate sickness, to fetch and carry, and to do many other things, which would seem beyond the range of equine ability.

The brick yard will soon commence operations for the summer, and from the present outlook great lots of brick will again be in demand.

The Las Vegas steam laundry is still doing work at the old stand in the old way. The fire was not severe enough to interfere seriously with the work.

The Sprague Electric company, of St. Louis, has been awarded the contract for building the generating mill of the plant of the Las Vegas Electric Light & Power company.

C. Herner, of St. Joe, Mo., a one time attaché of printing offices, but now traveling for plumbers' supplies, left for Albuquerque after a few days profitably spent in the Meadow City.

Revs. Norman Skinner, Curtis, Cruz, of Tremenda, Manuel Madrid and J. M. Reid, J. G. Quintana, Roberto Jaramillo and J. E. Cruz went to Raton to attend a meeting of the New Mexico presbytery.

There is a man on the west side who is engaged in the nefarious occupation of poisoning family dogs. There are many masterless hounds which should be sacrificed to the memory of their ancestors, but when a man kills a pet poodle or pug, the said man should be made to suffer.

BERNALILLO.

Bernalillo, April 8.—Mrs. J. Bibo and son, James, were visitors in Albuquerque on Monday.

Joe Hansen and wife, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who have been visiting in California, stopped at Bernalillo to visit I. Freudenberg and family. They will stop at several places to visit relatives before returning to Michigan.

Stogried Kahn, clerk of I. Freudenberg, gave an invitation ball last Saturday evening. The ball was nicely decorated. Many of Bernalillo's people attended and danced until the early hours the next day.

Bonifacio Montoya and family went to Santa Fe for a week.

Some of Bernalillo's young men have formed a new base ball club and played very well their first game.

Next Monday Francisco Sissneres will give a ball.

Josea Miera's little boy of 5 years of age died at 5 p. m. Monday from a severe cough.

Mr. Washburn went to Los Angeles on a business trip on Tuesday.

Many innocent April fool jokes were played on different ones here.

I. Freudenberg is enlarging his store by the addition of a salesroom.

David Sissneres's son is expected Saturday afternoon from Pedro Perera's ranch.

The wholesale price of a pair of shoes represents about 22 per cent in wages, 65 per cent in materials and 13 per cent in minor expenses and profits.

Delegate Rodney has taken the Las Vegas Record to task for its unjust criticism for his appointment of young Glassford to the naval academy. Mr. Rodney shows that the boy was born in Las Vegas and is now a student in the normal school at that place, and that he was appointed after being recommended by the leading citizens of the territory.

ABANDONED THE FARMS.

While land values go up in the west they go down in the east. It is said that in parts of New York land is worth only 30 to 40 per cent of what it was a generation ago. Numerous farms are for sale and agriculture and all farming pursuits have become careless and shiftless. The cream of the rural population has gone west, leaving behind the unprogressive, unventuresome ones. Farms are neglected, prosperous farming is a thing of the past, and a cloud of gloom has settled down on the country. This condition probably will lead to the land passing into the possession of the wealthy classes, who will let it rest until it again becomes productive.

AMERICAN HORSES.

The export trade in horses is becoming important, and it is a growth of not more than a decade. In 1891 our total equine exports amounted to less than $50,000. Last year the total was over $500,000. Of course, a portion of the total number of horses were for use in the South African war, but the bulk of the trade was in carriages, horses, saddlery and harness. Of course, the total does not include mule shipments to South Africa.

Europe is getting so crowded to render horse breeding profitable. The land is valuable. The same is true of cattle as everyone knows. So the export trade to the Western Hemisphere for her supply of horses and cattle—the most of the latter being shipped as dressed meat—however, instead of to the hoof.

THE IRRIGATION BILL.

Owing very largely to the action of President Roosevelt there is a chance again that an irrigation bill may be passed at this session of the congress. The president had a conference with Mr. Mondell, who is in charge of the bill and with some other western men, and an amendment was provisionally drafted which seems to remove the objections of the bill which were entertained by the president, and which would probably have led to its defeat in both house and senate. The change is in the section providing that the distribution of the water to be irrigated by the federal reservoirs shall be entrusted to the several states.

The change in the phraseology of the section makes it satisfactory to the president and also to many who were opposing the bill because of its provisions on state rights to an undue extent, and it seems possible that the bill may now be reported favorably and passed.

CITY POLICE.

This city has an excellent police force, and the force should be maintained at its present high standard of usefulness by the republican mayor and city council. The present marshal and probably a majority of the police should not be retained. Politics should not figure in the police department. A good policeman should pay little attention to political affairs. The marshal should be allowed to name the whole police force. Every member of the present police force has been a good record and if they are all retained during the coming year the people will not complain. Albuquerque is the most orderly city in the territory and this is largely due to the excellent police system.

The Methodists of this city deserve a better church building than they now possess. The old adobe church has served a good purpose, but a larger and better building is needed by that growing church.

Mexico has a law which provides that no man is eligible to serve as a juror unless he is actively engaged in some legitimate business enterprise or is pursuing actively a legitimate occupation which yields himself a remuneration sufficient to support himself and family. Mexico has some good laws.

THE RIGHT TO WORK.

Judge Baker, of Indianapolis, is deserving of commendation for rigidly upholding one of the fundamental rights of men—the right to work. Incredible as it would seem, we did not know it to be a fact, this inherent and inalienable right is often denied to free born American citizens, and the denial is enforced by violence and threats of violence, without restraint from the laws which guarantee equal rights to all citizens, and full protection in the enjoyment and exercise of these rights. Judge Baker is evidently a man who is not afraid to uphold and enforce the law.

An iron molders' strike has been in progress at Indianapolis for about a month past, and the strikers have resorted to the usual methods of intimidation and violence in order to terrorize those workmen who want to work. One of the manufacturing companies affected by the strike at length appealed to the court for protection for its employees, who were terrorized by the striking molders. Judge Baker responded to the application by ordering the strikers whose names were given in the report to appear before him on April 15 and show cause why a restraining order should not be issued. In announcing the order Judge Baker said, addressing the plaintiff:

"I want you to change your bill of complaint. I want you to include in it a prayer for damages. It does not matter whether these men have any property or not. I will appoint a special master to fix the damages, and if you sever judgment against those strikers officers can, if the men are caught in bed, take away their clothing. They can have no property exempt under the state laws. The judgment will keep them in insolvency as long as they live, or until the judgment is paid. Things have come to a pretty pass when the city of Indianapolis will not give men who want to work protection from men who do not want to work."

A Bold Robbery.

Prof. Willis Cadwell, of the Mexican school, had a severe experience with burglars, Tuesday night. He was awakened about midnight by a man standing over him flourishing a butcher knife. There were two of the burglars. Mr. Cadwell tried to catch the hand containing the knife, but caught the blade instead, which was drawn through the hand, cutting the fingers to the bone, severing several important tendons. The robbers then overpowered Mr. Cadwell, tied him up and stole all the money in his pockets, as well as a valuable watch and chain. There is no clue to the miscreants, save that Mr. Cadwell is pretty sure one was a negro, and one spoke Spanish.—Carlsbad Argus.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Box Factory at Alamogordo Burned Saturday Morning.

The box factory and planing mill department of the Alamogordo Lumber company burned early last Saturday morning. The fire was discovered on the lower floor of the building and in two minutes the entire lower floor was a mass of flames. The building was quickly consumed. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Splendid work on the part of the employees saved the mill proper and the yards, which were filled with lumber and only twenty-five feet away. Squeamish S. S. Hopper has been driving the men some time in the new water system and their heroic efforts last night saved the company from a great loss.

The loss caused by the burning of the box factory and the planing mill amounts to $10,000, but $6,000 insurance was carried.

The machinery which burned in the building will cause two or three months delay in getting the factory started again and as a consequence many men will be thrown out of employment.

ROBBERY AT BURLEY.

Postoffice and Store of N. A. Field Robbed of Lots of Goods.

A correspondent of the Socorro Chief, from Burley, a small town in Socorro county, says:

"The postoffice and the store of N. A. Field were broken into Monday night by a lone Mexican robber who loaded up with all the shoes, calico and soap he could reach from the window. He then took a new saddle and some small tools from the stable. Mr. Field called up his two nearest neighbors, Navajos, in the morning and followed the robber's trail forty-five miles west, where they overtook the robber in camp. He showed fight at first but soon took to the brush and was lost in the darkness. In his camp his pursuers found all the stolen goods besides two horses belonging to the American Valley Sheep company, also a sorrel horse branded X-B and an old Gallop saddle with hair pockets. Should Mr. Robber want his horse and saddle he will find the same at Burley, but he must be careful not to leave any tracks or the Navajo would be so easy next time."

LAND UNDER IRRIGATION.

But a Very Small Part of Arid West Has Been Reclaimed Thus Far.

The irrigation committee of the house of representatives has compiled a table showing the area of land under irrigation in the western states and territories. Out of sixteen states and territories enumerated, New Mexico stands ninth in that respect with 204,508 acres or only one-third of 1 per cent of the total area under irrigation. Colorado leads with 1,611,271 acres or almost eight times as much as New Mexico under irrigation. California is second with 1,446,149 acres. The other western states make the following showing: Montana, 970,231 acres; Utah, 629,272 acres; Wyoming, 606,942 acres; Idaho, 602,548 acres; Nevada, 504,168 acres; Oregon, 388,198 acres; Arizona, 185,396 acres; Nebraska, 148,534 acres; Washington, 135,536 acres; South Dakota, 45,010 acres; Kansas, 24,997; North Dakota, 5,292 acres; Oklahoma, 2,761 acres.

MUST BE KIND.

Government Will Stop Cruel Treatment of Mail Horses.

NEW MEXICO INCLUDED.

Some time ago Secretary Whitehead of the Humane Society wrote to Congressman Shafroth on the subject of cruelty to stock in the service of the United States government, says the Denver Times. The secretary referred to all kinds in his possession showing that horses employed in carrying mails in the rural districts of Wyoming, New Mexico and some parts of Texas were cruelly abused. The evidence showed that in most cases the horses employed were bronchos that may be bought for a small sum of money and the contractors cared little whether they died or not. They would drive them thirty miles with mail and return without giving them any feed if they gave out, others were used in their stead and the worthless ones turned out to graze on the range, to be shot by the men who held star route contracts. These horses were practically in the employ of the United States government and Mr. Whitehead wrote to Mr. Shafroth suggesting that in the contracts for star routes a provision be inserted which would require the contractor to care for his horses. He also wrote to the second assistant postmaster general, Mr. Shafroth filed Mr. Whitehead's letter with the postoffice department with a recommendation. Mr. Whitehead has received the following letter from Second Assistant Postmaster General Shafroth which shows that Mr. Whitehead's suggestion will be in due course adopted by the postoffice department:

Postoffice Department, Second Assistant Postmaster General, Washington, March 11, 1902.—Hon. John F. Shafroth, House of Representatives, Sir:—Some time ago you filed in this office a letter addressed to you by E. K. Whitehead, secretary of the State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection of Denver, Colo., in which he recited a number of cases of cruel treatment of the animals used in carrying the mails on mail routes, and suggested whether it would not be practical to incorporate in the contracts a provision requiring that the animals be well treated for their own sakes.

I have given this subject some consideration, and while it is a question as to how far the department can properly go in a matter of this kind, still I think it will be practical to include some provision in future advertisements for mail service to the effect that the horses and mules used in carrying the mails shall be suitable for the purpose and properly cared for, and to impose some penalty for violations of such provisions. Such provision could not, of course, be applied to contracts heretofore executed, but it would be necessary to begin with some future general advertisement. Our next general advertisement will be prepared some time during the coming summer, and before it goes to press further attention will be given to the details of this subject, and I think we shall find it possible to take some action in the line of that suggestion. Very respectfully,

W. S. SHAFROTH, Second Assistant Postmaster General.

THE WORK GOES ON.

Albuquerque People Are Interested—It Has Much to Do With Our Welfare. Never out of work. That's the case with the kidneys. Twenty-four hours to the day is the time they put in. They're equal to it when they're well. But they get sick. Stomach troubles, indigestion, straining, a fall or over-exertion. Often makes the kidneys sick. But the work must go on. They ask for help through the back. The back aches. It's kidney ache. Doan's Kidney Pills are kidney helpers. The daily work goes on. Mr. Jacob Wolfe, carpenter, of 1239 North Ninth street, third ward, St. Louis, says: "When I first came to St. Louis there was not a bridge across the river, there was only a ferry. I helped to build the bridge house over forty years ago and worked on nearly all the old buildings in the city. There was not a railroad in St. Louis, so a word or two from me to my many friends and acquaintances should carry considerably more weight than if I lived say in the New England states. Mrs. Wolfe and I have had more than one attack of backache. Mine was not remarkably severe, but it was annoying. Nothing but Doan's Kidney Pills advertised induced me to get a supply and Mrs. Wolfe and I commenced the treatment. If it had not performed absolutely what it promised, if the action of the pills were not a long way ahead of anything we ever before used, I would be the last resident in St. Louis to publicly recommend them."

Las Vegas Laundry Fire.

The alarm of the fire bells at about 4 o'clock this morning brought out quite a crowd to the Las Vegas steam laundry, says the Record.

The fire caught in and was confined to the engine room, and completely destroyed all the inner fittings and tanks which were made of wood. How the fire caught is a mystery and can only be laid to spontaneous combustion. There was very little fire under the boiler as it is permitted to die at night after working hours, and was hardly possible the fire could have arisen from that source.

The fire raged furiously for the time, but the brick wall between the engine room and laundry confined the flames to the rear and that part is one charred mass, the roof being entirely burned off. Both fire companies made good runs and turned streams on the fire, working an hour and forty-five minutes. They did good work. The loss will probably reach $2,000, but the laundry was able to resume work this afternoon.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough. Mrs. Ellen Harrison, of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing, would often faint and lie dead at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives." See substitutes. Alvarado Pharmacy.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE.

Personality of the Chairman of Committee on Territories.

After the statehood bill passes the house and gets into the senate, it will be in the hands of Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, as chairman of the senate committee on territories. Concerning his personality the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says:

Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, is undoubtedly the most popular man in the senate in a social way. He is really the only one in his class. He is young, good looking—the women say very good looking—a widower, well dressed always, knows which forks to use, is an entertaining dinner companion—again the women say "a brilliant conversationalist"—and with about as good prospects as a reasonable woman could ask. In a word, he is looked upon as eligible. He has no large amount of money, but with his salary and writing, and perhaps a few law fees on the side, he manages to get together $10,000 and $15,000 on which to live. And he believes in living well.

He has unusually good taste in the matter of furnishing, and his apartment at the Portland, is known for its rugs, hangings and bric-a-brac collected in his travels. The gossips are all watching and chattering ready if he looks twice at a girl to predict something in the matrimonial line. Some of the divorcees and senators' wives have taken him in tow and are doing their prettiest to match him with some very rich and very good looking girl.

One foolish story has been started that he is to marry Miss Alice Roosevelt. It is founded on the fact that he has met her and dined with her at the same table once or twice; this added to the idea of some lady that it would be a good thing to do.

There are two or three rich widows in the Washington smart set who would not only like to be Mrs. Senator Beveridge, but none of them has been given any appreciable reason to expect such a change of state. The young senator efforts to scorn all such girls with a high and mighty scorn, but his professions are not entirely supported by his conduct, for he goes about seven days in the week.

COURT AT CARLSBAD.

Manning and Wilburn Murder Cases Were Set for Trial This Week.

The criminal docket was called in the Carlsbad district court last Tuesday. Three cases were noted for trial. The case of the Territory vs. James M. Manning for murder, was set for Wednesday morning, April 2. Messrs. Gatewood and Bateman, on behalf of the defendant, filed a plea in abatement, on the ground generally that the grand jury bringing the indictment had not proper and competent evidence before them upon which to found the indictment; to which plea the territory entered a general denial. Testimony was adduced on behalf of the prosecution and the defense and the plea was overruled. What is known as the Wilburn case was set down for Friday morning, April 14. This is the case in which a young man, Church Wilburn, living in the vicinity of Hope, Eddy county, was killed while returning from church one evening in the early part of June, 1900. The defendants are Luther Foster, Elder Miller and Eli Foster. Two indictments were returned by the grand jury today. Also three new bills.

GOLD FIND IN NEW MEXICO.

Denver Investors Have $80 Ore in Old Placer Camp.

Bernalillo county, New Mexico, boasts of the very latest brand new gold camp. It is located in the Sandia mountain range, about twenty-five miles east of Albuquerque, says a writer in the Denver News.

Placer digging has been operated there for over a century by the Mexicans. A month ago a representative of the Treasure Hill Mining company, operating at Kinman, Ariz., and composed of Colorado and eastern capitalists, visited the section and secured a group of claims for his company on a reef of rocks which he thought to be the source of the placer gold. On Saturday last the company received word that gold had been found in one of the claims. Some of the mineral arrived in Denver Tuesday. Eight tests were made averaging over $80 per ton. E. Chapin Gard, secretary of the company, leaves for the new field tonight to superintend work on the properties. He will be accompanied by a party of Denver capitalists.

Concise Statement of Fact.

E. M. Doe, one of the brightest lawyers of the Arizona bar, sent out to the people and boards of supervisors in the five northern counties, through which the Santa Fe railroad runs, a statement of the condition of the law under which he holds that the road is now subject to taxation.

He calls upon the people and the supervisors to see to it that the road is placed upon the assessment roll by the territorial board of equalization and that if the said board failed or refused to do so to take steps to compel them to observe the law. The article is well timed and right to the point. The board of supervisors of Coconino county have been active in the matter of the railroad taxes and have enlisted the aid of three of the brightest lawyers in that county, E. M. Doe, E. S. Clark and District Attorney J. E. Jones. The men have been in Washington and have looked into the matter most thoroughly.—Kingman Miner.

Dying of Famine.

A telegram to the Denver News from Phoenix, Ariz., under date of April 4, says:

Twenty thousand Indians on the Sacaton reservation are suffering from famine, which, if allowed to continue, is certain to result in fearful mortality among the Pima and Maricopa tribes. Agent Hadley came to Phoenix to secure temporary relief for the Indians and to urge that petitions be sent to congress asking the Washington authorities to provide means to avert the disaster which he says is sure to come unless the Indians are given water or supplies. White ranchers above the reservation have diverted all the water and the Indians have had none for many months. They are abandoning their ranches and their cattle are dying by scores or lack of feed. Relief has been sent from Phoenix and the desired petitions are going forward to Washington.

Mines and Minerals

About forty prominent ore producers in the San Juan district of Colorado have formed an organization for the purpose of opposing the smaller trust, and that can only be done by independent smelting works.

C. Haseltine, H. A. True and W. H. Bullard, Boston gentlemen, who are largely interested in the Mine Development association now operating in the Black Range, arrived in Socorro and left in company with C. T. Brown for a visit to their Black Range properties.

The Headlight says: The Denning Sampling works, having ceased buying ore, an arrangement will be made by which shippers of small lots of heavy lead ore can store their ore in sacks at the concentrating mill until a car load can be made up, and it requiring it, can receive an advance on the value.

A. G. Muller, of Taos, has struck it rich one mile from Clonquilla, in Taos county. The strike was made about eight miles east of Barranca station, on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. The vein is 28 feet wide and of 28 assays, the lowest is $30.17 and the highest $200.00 to the ton. The average is $250 gold per ton. The quartz shows gold on the surface on a cropping over 20 feet wide. The assays are by Burlington, of Denver. Already 100 men have rushed to the new camp which is forty-eight miles southwest of Questa.

H. J. Chatterton, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been in Lordsburg this week, and spent a good deal of his time in the hills south of town, says the Liberal. In speaking of what he saw he said: "I have during the past six months examined numerous mining camps in northern Mexico and have not seen a camp that in my opinion possesses as many natural advantages as your Shakespeare camp. Abundance of ore in broad well defined quartz veins. Easy access, and only three miles from three railroads with concentrator and smelter at your very door in a climate where you can work out of doors every day in the year if you want to, are surely advantages that will sooner or later attract the attention and favorable consideration of mining investors."

CAPITAL INTERESTED.

The Southern Properties Being Developed in Good Fashion.

A writer from Silver City sends the following interesting mining notes to the Denver News, under date of April 1.

The American Mining company, of Williamsport, Pa., recently organized with a capital of $1,200,000, is operating at Lordsburg. Thomas A. Lister, president of the company, has great faith in the district, and says it is bound to come to the front.

A favorable report has been turned in by C. R. Keyser, of Des Moines, Iowa, formerly state geologist of Missouri, and who has been making a careful inspection of the mineral properties near Magdalena. As a result of his visit, important transactions have been made.

No little attention is being paid now to property about Bayard station, which is the center of the gold-producing area of the district. It will undoubtedly prove to be a thriving camp.

At the Owl mine, at Gold gulch, a very rich strike has just been made. The first shipment to the smelter netted the owners $55 per ton in gold, and some silver. The formation is like that of Cripple Creek. The vein is five feet wide and running parallel to it is a vein of zinc and lead which has not yet been assayed. The gold found in the placers is mostly wire gold though there are some pockets of free ore. The shales and quartz can be worked at a good profit, if done on a large scale.

T. J. Curran of the Mogollon Gold & Copper Mining company, located at Mogollon, considers their properties among the richest in the section, and big dividends will soon be paid. W. J. Wetherly, a shrewd mining expert, has charge of the operations.

At Burro mountain, the management of the St. Louis mine is cleaning out and enlarging a double compartment the old 700-foot shaft on that claim, and we are advised that when the work has been completed the company will have over 5,000 tons of shipping ore blocked out. There are rumors of a sale pending upon this property.

At Pinos Altos, Messrs. Woodbury and McCalla have one of the largest bodies of low grade ore in the country, shown by latest development work they have done upon the property. For 100 feet in a horizontal line they have uncovered a fifteen-foot body of conglomerate ore running high in zinc, which carries copper, gold, silver, lead, iron and manganese values.

In the Malpais district, Messrs. Sinclair and Fulton, Michigan capitalists who have lately acquired all of the mines worth mentioning in this district and who have put on a force of men to develop the same, report that they are in a streak of high grade ore upon one of the claims which runs 70 in gold and 128 ounces silver, the average of the ore shoot being about $40 in both these metals. These gentlemen were in Silver City recently, investigating the best method of treatment for their output. Incidentally they arranged with some of our freighers to haul a shipment of their ore which they state will run over $100 per ton.

It is reported that the General Concentrates people who recently examined the Houston-Thomas property at Pinos Altos will be on the ground in a few days to complete the deal, after which it is their intention to commence active operations. They have been delayed on account of the transfer of the Oatost property at Cook's peak.

Miners Strike.

A Phoenix dispatch says that at Senator W. A. Clark's United Verde mine 500 smelter men struck, when a reduction of force was attempted.

The entire plant was necessarily closed, and 2,000 men are now idle. At the Congress mine 300 armed Mexicans have replaced the strikers. The union men are threatening and a riot may occur at any moment.

AN INGRATE.

Leaves Mother and Sister in Strange Land—Probably Goes to California.

W. E. Mitchell, whose mother is now in the hospital in El Paso, and whose sister, Miss Pauline Mitchell, is now in Denning, both having been injured in the wrecked train on the Gulf & Houston road, after an unsuccessful attempt to get the money $4,000 recently paid them for their injuries, left Monday for parts unknown, says the Denning Headlight.

Upon representations made to his sister that he needed some money with which to complete the house he has been building in this city and which was intended for the mother and sister to occupy, Miss Pauline gave him $500 in El Paso. He came at once to this place, packed his belongings, left a note for his sister saying that he had gone for good, took a diamond ring out of "bank" and went west.

None of the bills for material or work upon the building have been paid and A. W. Thompson, the owner of the house, reports that he fears they will be greatly in excess of what he contracted with Mitchell for.

While not by any means destitute, Mrs. Mitchell and her daughter are left among strangers, with no idea as to what they will do, or what has become of the runaway "saint."

This Mitchell is the fellow who has, in months past, attracted so much notoriety in this town by the salvation work he claimed to be doing in the tenderloin and is the same party that a newspaper of this town shrouded all over but a short time back in attempting to tell what good he was accomplishing in the above line, even going so far as to publish a lot of sickening letters which had been written to Mitchell from the "saved" doves. Those who knew the circumstances of this affair best were laughing in their sleeves all the time to think how easily Mitchell was being gulled.

Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, stings, sprains, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never safe without it.

Railroad Officials.

A general assembly of Santa Fe officials occurred in Albuquerque last night.

Third Vice President J. W. Kendrick General Superintendent A. G. Wells and Division Superintendent L. L. Hibbard came in from the west attached to No. 8. The officers with their families have been recreating at the Grand canyon. There was also some business connected with the visit. It is reported that the Grand Canyon road will be improved and that two new hotels will be built, one at Grand canyon and one at Williams. The officers also inspected the water supply at Williams General Superintendent J. E. Hurley and Division Superintendents F. C. Fox and J. F. McNally were here to swell the crowd.

Mr. Kendrick, accompanied by the last three named gentlemen, went south this morning their private cars being pulled by a special engine. They are on a general tour of inspection of the Rio Grande division.

Chief Engineer R. B. Burns is also with the party.

Good for Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured. Sallie Harris, Salem, N. J. For sale by all druggists.

FREE DELIVERY FOR SANTA FE

Assistant Superintendent of Free Delivery System Looking Over the Ground.

J. W. Erwin of San Francisco, assistant superintendent of the free delivery system, is in Santa Fe, says the New Mexican. He says that Santa Fe will get a free delivery system providing that streets are named, houses numbered, the streets lighted and pavements are put in a safe condition. He went over the city with Mayor-elect Sparks and upon the result of his observations will determine further action of the postoffice department. The plan is to establish a free delivery system of one mile in each direction from the capitol building.

JEMEZ.

Special Correspondence. Jemez Hot Springs, April 7.—Spring has come. Weather is delightfully warm. Peach and apricot trees are in bloom. The ranchers are all planting wheat, corn and oats, which most invariably yield a bountiful crop.

M. S. Otero came in from Albuquerque a few days ago and took several laborers to the sulphurs to erect works to refine sulphur. If the experiment proves satisfactory he intends placing a large force to work in the near future.

Our esteemed townsman, J. W. Miller, left for Albuquerque a few days ago to lay in a supply of merchandise for the summer tourists who have begun to invade the Jemez country. O. S. Brown is foreman of the ranch during his absence.

J. B. Block's stage line is making three trips a week and is always on time. He is giving us the best mail service we have enjoyed since this route has been established and we are happy to state that he has secured a contract for four years from July 1.

Hugh Murray, the contractor and builder, is kept busy nowadays.

M. Aboussleman is now batching. His better half has been visiting in Santa Fe for the last month.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Special Committee of the Council Report on Its Condition.

LET THE READERS PONDER.

Last night, at the regular meeting of the city council, the special committee appointed to investigate the water for the Albuquerque people for drinking and cooking purposes by the Water Supply company made its report, and The Citizen, published in the interest of the people, gives space to the report in full. It is good reading, should be read over carefully, and prompt action should be taken to abate the nuisance before an epidemic of sickness prevails in the city. The report as read was adopted by the city council and is as follows:

To the City Council of the City of Albuquerque: Gentlemen—Your committee, to whom was referred the question of the source and condition of the city's water supply beg leave to report as follows:

We have examined the premises and file herewith and make a part of our report a plat of the tract on which the water works proper is located, showing the location of the different buildings, wells, etc., and the boundaries of the tract. This tract as originally used by the water company is bounded on the north by Tijeras road, on the east by the Acapulco-San Pedro de Bernal and Broadway, on the south by Hahn's coal yards and on the west by the railroad grounds. This tract is about 200 feet wide on Broadway and 450 feet long on Tijeras road. Originally it was occupied by the water works alone, now the west portion is occupied by the Albuquerque Wool Scouring mills. The main building of the water works is located on the east portion of the tract near Broadway. Lying between the main building of the water works and the wool scouring mill is a ditch from fifteen to twenty feet deep, about fifteen feet wide at the top and six feet at the bottom and 185 feet long, extending on the west to within twenty-five or thirty feet of the wool scouring mills, and on the east about the same distance from the main building of the water works. The sides and ends of this ditch are protected from caving by heavy timbers and boards and is covered with boards. The covering, owing to shrinkage, leaves spaces between the boards from one-half to two inches wide from which the sand dirt and filth can readily sift into the ditch. The ditch, was originally dug, we are informed so as to allow ready access to the company's pipe lines, the purpose which it really serves we will refer to later.

The company has a well located about three or four feet from the southeast corner of the wool scouring mills, which is about twenty feet in diameter and from twenty to twenty-five feet deep, walled with stone, this we designate as well No. 1. It has another well about seventy-five feet from the wool scouring mill which is about twenty feet in diameter and from thirty to thirty-five feet deep, and which we designate as well No. 2. In each of the wells there are numerous pipes driven in the bottom which are said to reach the seventy foot strata. They open and empty into the wells. In the ditch are a number of pipes driven, as we are informed, to the seventy foot strata and are connected directly with the pumping plant and so far as these last mentioned pipes are concerned there is apparently no opportunity for the surface water to get in, but the pumping plant is also connected with well No. 2 by a pipe which reaches near the bottom of the open part, so it will be seen that the water supply is drawn principally from the open well thirty feet deep rather than from the seventy foot strata and whatever goes into the open well goes into our water supply. We are particular in drawing attention to this fact for the reason that it has been repeatedly asserted that we get no water in our water supply except from the seventy foot strata. That this is not so we have demonstrated by an actual investigation and call the attention of the council to the following sources of water supply other than the seventy foot strata.

In the first place the wells in question have pipes driven horizontally into the earth about half way between the top and bottom of the wells which were put in for the purpose of catching the surface waters and serve that purpose as they were pouring into the open wells streams of water at the time of our examination.

Well No. 1 furnishes but little water but is connected by an open pipe with well No. 2 and when the water rises sufficiently in well No. 1 and is sufficiently low in well No. 2 water from well No. 1 empties directly into well No. 2. Well No. 1, as we have already shown, is situated within three or four feet of the wool scouring mills and is covered with plank which are in the same condition as the plank covering the ditch so that whatever filth may be blown about can readily drop into this well.

Besides the surface water which runs into the well from the horizontal pipes above referred to the surface water runs into the big ditch from all sides and is conducted by it to well No. 2, where it is emptied into that well by an opening made through the wall and protected by wire netting, and thus the council will see that this furnishes not only a means of gathering the surface water in that vicinity but that it comes continually in contact with the decaying timbers which support the walls of the ditch and the filth which sifts through the openings in the plank covering.

We made our examination of the wells and ditch at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and at that time there was not more than a foot of water in the ditch and we could distinctly see the water running into the well from which the main water of the city is pumped. We were down in this well and know from our own observation the facts above stated. We are informed that during the night when the pumping plant is not operated to any great extent the water rises in the wells and in the ditch so as to make it about 8 or 10 feet deep in the ditch; by the constant use of the pumps during the day the water is drawn off so that the water in the main well is lower than the bottom of the ditch and the pipe from well No. 1.

The nature and business of the wool scouring mill is very well known. The wool as we are informed, is first cleaned by blowing out so much of the dirt as can in that way be detached from the wool. This is of a light and dry substance that can be readily blown about by the winds and finds ready access to the ditch in well No. 1 through the openings in the cover as above mentioned.

After as much dirt has been blown out as is possible the wool is washed and scoured and the filthy water is emptied in an open pool at the south-west corner of the wool scouring mills which is reported to be connected with the sewer.

This water plant is situated on a low tract of ground at the mouth of the Arroyo running down between East Copper avenue and Washington avenue, and at times of freshets the water company's tract is flooded with water. It is so situated as to furnish every facility for gathering all the surface water in the near vicinity into the big ditch which we have described.

Our conclusion is that a ditch so located as the one above described must necessarily draw the surface water from the whole tract above described, including that portion upon which the wool scouring mills are located and that the filthy water which seeps into the ground about the wool scouring mills must eventually find its way into our city water and we therefore conclude that the surface water not only enters into our water supply but that it is impregnated in the manner above mentioned and also from the dry ditch above referred to that finds its way into the ditch and well No. 1 as above explained.

In the second place the water is further contaminated by the large amount of timber used in walling the ditch and which for a portion of the twenty-four hours is completely saturated with water and for another portion the water is withdrawn by pumping and the wood goes through the process of decay.

Aside from the question of the healthfulness of the water the surroundings of the water plant are not calculated to make one relish the water. As the plant is now located and from the existing state of affairs the conditions of the franchise and the contract for its improvement, we are doubtful if it would be possible to have pure water taken from the present location.

We wish to say further that the reservoir situated east of the University and from which we draw a portion of our water supply is not sufficiently protected nor is there any means of adequately cleaning the reservoir.

We are not disposed to make any recommendations at the present time except that the water company be requested to take such steps as may be necessary to furnish pure water to the city. The conditions of the franchise and their contract, in our opinion, requires them to do this or forfeit the same. The city should not be in the position of telling them how they should accomplish that object.

It is for them to determine and to succeed at their peril. Nothing is so important as the health of the people and for this pure water is necessary and the council will be delinquent in its duties to the public if it does not take steps to compel the water company to furnish pure water and in case it fails to do so to declare its contract and charter forfeited and give the people an opportunity to furnish a water supply that shall be healthful and adequate to the needs of the city. Respectfully submitted,

A. B. McMillan,
FRANK McKEE,
H. E. ROGERS,
Special Committee.

Read in Missouri.

The Albuquerque N. M. Daily Citizen of March 15 contains an extended account of the New Mexico School of Mines, of its foundation, progress and now flourishing condition. The citizens of Rolla, especially those connected with the Missouri School of Mines, feel a deep interest in the New Mexico school, for the reason that so many graduates of the Missouri institution have been connected with their school, and now that institution in its most flourishing condition is being ably conducted by Prof. Fayette Jones, a distinguished son of old Missouri, who was born near Kansas City, and graduated from the School of Mines and metallurgy of this state. Professor Jones is assisted by Prof. E. A. Drake, who used to be connected with the Missouri school, and was regarded as one of its ablest educators. On behalf of the School of Mines and Metallurgy of Missouri we extend congratulations to the New Mexico school upon its era of progress and advancement, and with best wishes to Professor Jones and Professor Drake—Rolla, Mo., Herald-Democrat.

Deaths at Santa Fe.

The New Mexican reports the following deaths in its Monday's issue.

Dr. S. R. Jones, aged 76, died this morning at 6 o'clock at his residence on College street. He was a veteran of the civil war and fought in the battle of Valverde. He is survived by a son and a daughter.

Mrs. Jose Duran died yesterday of consumption. She is survived by her husband. The funeral took place this forenoon from the cathedral. Interment was made in Rosario cemetery. Charles Wagner was the funeral director.

Canuta Lucero, the 14-year-old daughter of Hilario Lucero and his wife, Ascupalla Montoya de Lucero, died yesterday of paralysis. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 3 o'clock from the cathedral. Interment will be made in Rosario cemetery.

Gabriel Romero died on Saturday last at Lamy of old age. It is supposed that he was over 90 years old.

Early yesterday morning "Jumbo" left the city with a merry crowd bound for Bear canyon. After spending a pleasant day in the mountains they returned to the city at a late hour. Leigh Hutchinson gave the picnic. Those who attended were the Messrs. Adels and Barbara Hubbard, Gertie Rescher, Gardin Wincheck, Thorne, Edna Gibbon, Eakin, Barrington, Gleason and Lena Selmdridge, Messrs. Bearup, Hutchinson, Powell, Maloy, Zilbut, Hughes, Fluke, Porter, Peltier and Dehn.

The New Mexican says: Frank W. Clancy, the efficient district attorney for the Second judicial district, who has been in the city several days on legal business before the United States court of private land claims, will leave this evening for Albuquerque.

JOHN JAMES.

Assistant Superintendent of the Penitentiary Dies at Santa Monica.

BURIAL AT CARTHAGE TODAY.

John James, assistant superintendent of the New Mexico penitentiary at Santa Fe, died at Santa Monica, Cal., last Friday evening of heart trouble and other complications which set in on account of a severe cold contracted some few months ago. The deceased had been sick in bed at the penitentiary for something over four months and upon advice of his physicians he was taken to California a few days ago in order to seek a lower altitude with the hopes that he might obtain relief. He stood the trip well considering his weakened condition and it was thought at the start that he was on the way to recovery. He afterwards had a relapse from which he was unable to rally and gradually became worse until the end came. At his bedside during the last hours were his wife Mrs. Agnes James, and son, John James, Jr. All that medical skill and faithful nursing could do was done, but without avail. Dr. David Knapp, the penitentiary physician, accompanied the deceased to the coast and attended him until the last.

Mr. James was an old resident of this territory, having located here in 1882, when he came from Braidwood, Ill., and assumed charge of the Carthage coal mines then operated by the San Pedro Coal & Coke company which property he successfully managed for several years. He afterwards assumed the general management of the Santa Fe coal properties at Rockdale, Colo., and later on acted as superintendent for the Atter Coal company at Gallup. After leaving Gallup he retired from active coal mining and took up his residence at Albuquerque and engaged in the hotel business, running the Highland house for a number of years. He was elected and served with credit as member of the school board at Albuquerque. In 1899 he was appointed assistant superintendent of the New Mexico penitentiary by Superintendent H. O. Bursum, a place which he has successfully and faithfully filled up to the time of his death. He was at one time a prominent member of the National Federation of Miners' unions, being the first secretary of the organization in the early 90's and rendered valuable service to the cause of union labor.

He had exceptional talent as an organizer of men, was thoroughly familiar with the needs of the miners and his ability and efforts in behalf of the miners were recognized throughout the United States. He was always true to his friends and his motto through life was honesty and fidelity to the trust reposed in him. By his death the territory loses a valuable citizen. Mr. James was about 64 years of age. He was born in Scotland. He leaves a widow and two children, Mrs. Mary L. Scruggs and a daughter, Mrs. John James, Jr., of East Las Vegas; also a brother, Harry James, of San Antonio, Socorro county.

Notes—Mrs. Scruggs received the sad news of the death of her father last Saturday. She left last night for San Antonio, and from there went over to Carthage, where the funeral occurred this afternoon. Mrs. K. B. Clark, wife of the depot agent and operator at Wingate, who is a niece of the deceased, came in from the west and accompanied Mrs. Scruggs on her sad mission. Mrs. Robert McKinley, a sister of Mr. James, arrived here from Madras Saturday and continued south to San Antonio that evening. John McIntire, a young business gentleman of San Antonio, is also a relative of the deceased.

Anti-Expectation Detective.

The health department of the city of Baltimore, Md., has found a new and rather unique service for a member of the local detective bureau. This official is required to ride all day in the street cars and when he finds a passenger violating the city ordinance against spitting in public places he promptly warns the offender to refrain or the fine exacted for such a breach of good manners will be promptly imposed. Now to make this work really up to date the detective should be armed with a microscope and staining reagents so that he could examine the expectation on the spot, so to speak. Then if his findings show the spit to contain germs dangerous to the health of the public, the fine might be regulated according to the virility of the particular germ and the coffers of the municipality correspondingly enriched. That the "word do move" is really more than a half truth.

Death of Mrs. Harding.

The community was shocked last Sunday morning to hear of the death of one of the oldest residents of Gallup, Mrs. Nellie Harding Jones. Her death was caused by a hemorrhage from lung and stomach troubles. She was ill but a few days and many of her friends were not aware that she was in danger of death.

She left three children, her mother, one sister and one brother, and many friends to mourn her loss.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Robert Hodgson on Monday from the Methodist church, which was filled to overflowing by the many sympathizing friends of the family. Ten of the most prominent citizens of the town acted as pall bearers.—Gallup Republican.

Robert Appleton, a business gentleman of El Paso, is in the city on a visit to his family.

The Woman's Relief Corps will meet at Knights of Pythias hall tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. F. A. Jones and Mrs. H. A. Sims of Winslow, spent Sunday in the city, returning home this morning.

Harry Gleason, who is the deputy tax collector for Valencia county, is in the city on a visit to his family.

Miss Isabel Spencer was at the depot this morning to meet J. A. Silkwood, a friend, who arrived from Hutchinson, Kas.

A. B. McGaffey and C. O. Cushman have made Master Masons at a special meeting of Temple lodge last Saturday evening.

Tonight at Grant's hall will occur Mrs. Walton's regular weekly class dance. Miss Hanthorn will furnish the music and a good time is expected.

CATARRH

Catarrh has become such a common disease that a person entirely free from this disgusting complaint is seldom met with. It is customary to speak of Catarrh as nothing more serious than a bad cold, a simple inflammation of the nose and throat. It is, in fact, a complicated and very dangerous disease; if not at first, it very soon becomes so.

The blood is quickly contaminated by the foul secretions, and the poison through the general circulation is carried to all parts of the system.

Salves, washes and sprays are unsatisfactory and disappointing, because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does. It cleanses the blood of the poison and eliminates from the system all catarrhal secretions, and thus cures thoroughly and permanently the worst cases.

Mr. T. A. Williams, a leading dry goods merchant of Spartanburg, S. C., writes: "I have suffered from Catarrh, with all the disagreeable effects which belong to that disease, and which make life painful and unendurable. I used medicine prescribed by leading physicians and suggested by my friends, but without getting any better. I then began to take S. S. S. and the desired effect was produced. After taking eighteen bottles, I am now a well man. S. S. S. is the only medicine now in use that will effect a permanent cure of Catarrh."

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the greatest of all blood medicines and tonics.

If you have Catarrh don't wait until it becomes deep-seated and chronic, but begin at once the use of S. S. S., and send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases and write our physicians about your case. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

VETERANS HERE.

Nineteenth Annual Encampment in Session.

Many Old Soldiers are in Attendance.

Parade and Camp Fire Will be Held This Evening.

OLD SOLDIERS LIVING HERE.

(From Thursday's Citizen.)
Perfect weather greeted the veterans for the nineteenth annual encampment which opened this morning and will close tomorrow. The White Oaks delegation came in after a three days' trip overland.

The department of New Mexico was organized at Santa Fe, July 14, 1882. Department Commander McFie, and other department officers are here. The delegates and alternates are:

J. R. McFie, department commander, company E, Thirtieth Illinois infantry.
J. W. Edwards, senior department commander, company G, K. Warren post, company P, Fortieth Indiana.
Col. J. Franco Chavez, junior vice department commander.

F. P. Clayton, assistant adjutant general, first lieutenant, company M, Sixth Iowa infantry.

Jacob Weltner, assistant department quartermaster general.

Col. L. H. Radcliffe, council of administration, company H, Thirtieth Ohio Volunteer infantry.

J. M. Moore, council of administration, past commander.

Rev. Thomas Harwood, department chaplain, company G, Twenty-fifth Wisconsin infantry, chaplain of regiment, also chaplain of G. K. Warren post.

T. W. Heman, Kearney post, lieutenant colonel, Forty-eighth Missouri State, White Oaks.

G. W. Bowman, company G, Seventeenth Ohio Volunteer infantry, past post commander, delegate.

A. B. Stanton, G. K. Warren post, Albuquerque, N. M., company B, First Colorado infantry.

J. L. Morris, Thornton, N. M., company C and B, First United States cavalry and Eighth United States cavalry.

A. M. Whitcomb, regimental band, Third Vermont volunteers.

John R. Patton, company K, One Hundred and Ninth Pennsylvania volunteers, company B, One Hundred and Eleventh, Pennsylvania volunteers, White Oaks, N. M.

Smith H. Simpson, First Infantry, New Mexico volunteers, Carleton post, Santa Fe; residence, Taos, N. M.

H. R. Whiting, captain Twenty-fourth Michigan volunteers and brevet major, Albuquerque.

Aaron Peckly, G. K. Warren post, Indiana cavalry, G. K. Warren post, Albuquerque.

M. C. Castillo, company A, Thirtieth Indiana volunteer infantry, G. K. Warren post.

Valentine Herbert, company H, Second Michigan infantry, company C, Nineteenth United States army volunteers, company C, Thirtieth seventh, United States army infantry.

J. C. Klepinger, company E, Nineteenth Indiana volunteer infantry, White Oaks.

Major Whiteman, Santa Fe.

This morning at 10 o'clock the council of administration met at Grant hall and checked over the accounts. The first session of the encampment was held at the same place this afternoon when the reports were submitted.

It was 2:20 when Department Commander McFie rapped for order; Department Chaplain Harwood offered prayer. After the roll of officers was called a report of the committee on credentials was received. Department Commander McFie made his report and a council address. The report of the assistant quartermaster general, assistant adjutant general, of the council of administration and of the chaplain were read and approved. A telegram of greeting was sent to President Roosevelt and committees were appointed for the next encampment.

This evening the campfire and banquet will be held at Grant hall. The parade will form at 7 and move at 7:30. While 8 o'clock is the hour set for the exercises, it will probably be 8:30 before the program is commenced.

Governor Otero will not be present and he has sent the following letter of regret:

Santa Fe, April 8, 1902.

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your very kind letter of the 5th inst., extending an invitation to myself, staff and ladies to attend the campfire of the nineteenth annual encampment of the G. A. R. to be held at Albuquerque on April 19. I regret to say that my official duties will prevent me from being present on that occasion. I will, however, communicate with Adjutant General Whiteman and endeavor to have him and as many of my staff present as can attend.

Thanking you for the very kind invitation, believe me to be as always, very sincerely yours,

MICHAEL A. OTERO,
J. W. Edwards, Esq., Post Commander,
G. K. Warren Post, No. 5, G. A. R., Albuquerque, N. M.

Among the visitors here is T. B. Risk, a veteran of Lexington, Ky. He was passing through Albuquerque this morning and on learning of the encampment, stopped over.

G. K. Warren Post, No. 5, G. A. R.

From Friday's Citizen.

The nineteenth annual encampment of the Department of New Mexico finished its work and adjourned this noon. A delightful feature of the morning was the introduction by Mrs. J. W. Edwards of Mrs. Laura B. Hart, most worthy grand matron of the order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Hart delivered a brief address.

The encampment adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved: By this department, that the thanks of the nineteenth annual encampment be and are hereby tendered to Post Department Commander J. R. McFie for his very efficient services for the past two years as commander of this department.

Resolved: That the most sincere thanks of this department are due and are hereby tendered to G. K. Warren, Woman's Relief Corps, No. 1, of the city of Albuquerque for the splendid reception and banquet given our comrades and friends on the evening of April 19, 1902; and we heartily congratulate the noble ladies of the corps for their most generous hospitality.

Resolved: That this department tenders its most sincere thanks to G. K. Warren, post, No. 5, to Adjutant General Comrade Whiteman; to company G, of the National Guard; to the Spanish war soldiers; to the First Regiment, Albuquerque, and to the daily press of this city for their kindness to us during the session of our encampment, and during the parade of last evening.

A letter of regret was received by Commander Edwards from Joan A. Brown, of White Oaks.

The new council of administration consists of E. S. Stover, J. M. Moore and Levett Clark, of this city; F. P. Clifton, of Santa Fe and Lee H. Rudisill, of White Oaks. The time and place of the next encampment was left to the council of administration. Final adjournment was then taken.

Parade and Campfire.

The social event of the encampment was held last evening at Grant hall. The First Regiment band, company G, of the National Guard, Spanish war veterans and the fire department acted as escort for the civil war veterans. Just as the parade was ready to start a heavy wind and sand storm came up, but it did not daunt the veterans or the escort and to lively music the start to the hall was made. The ladies of the Relief Corps went direct to the hall.

Grant hall had been prettily decorated for the evening with flags, bunting, stacked arms here and there, canteens and other reminders of military days. The event was purely an invitation affair and while the guests were assembling, the First Regiment band played several selections.

After a prayer by Department Chaplain Harwood, the audience, standing, sang "America." The public installation of the newly elected department officers followed, the impressive ceremony being given in full. Professor D. Mauro, with Miss Hawthorn as accompanist, gave one number and Department Commander J. W. Edwards of this city welcomed the delegates and visitors. Mr. Edwards said:

"Department officers of, and delegates to the nineteenth annual encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, and honored guests—A duty has been placed upon me, one which I feel wholly incompetent to perform in a manner which it should be done, but a soldier should never shrink any duty imposed upon him. So I will endeavor to obey the orders of my superiors."

Comrades, the order has been given by our commander to you who came beyond the hills to pack your knapsacks, strike tents, forward march and pitch your tents in our camp. And I have been detailed as the detail or camp guard to receive and conduct you within our lines. You are here. Our flag will be your flag. Comrades and friends, I can only give you a soldier's greeting, and the glad-hand shake of a comrade and a friend."

In behalf of G. K. Warren post, No. 5, Grand Army of the Republic and the noble ladies of our grand auxiliary, the Woman's Relief Corps, of Albuquerque, and our whole community, I welcome you in fraternity, I welcome you in charity. I welcome you in loyalty."

"There are bonds of all sorts in this world of ours, letters of friendship and ties of flowers, and true love's knots I mean. The boy and the girl are bound by a kiss. But there is never a bond, old friend, like this, we have drunk from the same canteen."

"Comrades and friends, come into our tent, rest and refresh yourselves. Silver and gold have we none, but of steel as we have, give us freely unto you. Our tents will be yours, our rations we divide with you and we will drink from the same old canteen as we did of yore."

"Again, comrades and friends, once, twice, thrice, we welcome you. Eat, drink and be merry, and when you return to your camp and homes, either here or beyond the hills, may the remembrance of your bivouac with us be a pleasant one."

"Finally, my comrades, the bugle will soon sound to strike tents for that last march across the river to the other shore. May we so conduct ourselves that we can pass a suitable inspection before the great commander, and our comrades who have gone before."

A brilliant recitation by Mrs. Nothumb, of Chicago, captured the veterans and then Judge McFie responded to Mr. Edwards' welcome. He referred to but about 300,000 being left of an army of 2,000,000 men, and to how rapidly they are passing away."

"Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds" was sung and Mr. Edwards closed the program with these words to the members of the National Guard.

"To the National Guard, company G, in particular, I wish to say a word. As commander of G. K. Warren post, I want to say to you, young gentlemen, No, I don't like that expression; I will say boys. Yes, I will say comrades. You do not know, nor do you realize now we appreciate your kindness to us. To say we thank you seems a feeble attempt to express our feelings. Boys, you will soon have to take our place. One by one these old comrades are being mustered out. Soon you will have to keep those little mounds in yonder cemetery marked with flags and flowers; do not forget them; do not pass one by, not for the remains of a man himself, but for the principles for which he upheld when a living soldier. The moldering remains in that unknown grave may be those of one who saved the day at some great battle for the preservation of this, the best government on God's footstool. Never let our flag be lowered where it has once been raised. Pass not by that old soldier with the tottering step and wrinkled brow. Give him the glad salute, not for the man himself, but for the principles he upheld."

"Now, boys, a little bouquet I would throw of taffy. Let me congratulate you on your fine appearance and soldierly bearing. Oh, I know it makes you blush and swell up (I know how it is myself) but the girls, I tell you, will like you all the better for it."

"Now one word more to the good friends, one and all, who have made it possible for us to entertain you and have honored us with your presence. I want to say to you do not forget those boys, when they have an entertainment, help them out. Take out a social membership in the company. Help make them the crack company in New Mexico. I thank you."

Long tables had been spread in the rear of the hall and the guests were invited to partake of the banquet. A short table at right angles to the others was for the officers and speakers.

Department Commander Edwards acted as toastmaster, with Judge Baker on one side and Judge McFie on the other. Grace was said by Rev. C. A. Bunker and a fierce attack was made on the good things provided by the Relief Corps. During the banquet Mrs. Berry played several selections on the piano.

The first response to a toast was by Governor E. S. Stover, who replied to the sentiment, "Lincoln and the Soldiers of the Civil War." He gave a number of characteristic Lincoln stories and paid the great president a high tribute. Judge McFie paid a high tribute to President Roosevelt and to the Spanish war veterans. He urged all young men to take the life of Roosevelt as an example. Mrs. E. C. Whittson, president of the Woman's Relief Corps, briefly responded on the work of that organization and she urged all loyal and patriotic women to join the organization. Adjutant General Whiteman and Captain Elder were called for in vain to respond to "The National Guard," but both had gone home. Col. John Borradaile, in a witty response, toasted the "Soldiers of the Spanish War," and kept his hearers laughing over his stories. Judge B. S. Baker's response was witty, full of good stories, highly entertaining, amusing and eloquent and in concluding he said he had followed the saying of the wise man, "When You Respond to a Toast, Never Refer to Your Subject."

Superintendent Hickey spoke of the "Relations of the G. A. R. to the Public Schools." He referred to the lessons of patriotism and the participation by school children in patriotic exercises. The hour was late and Professor Hodgins yielded his time to Lee H. Rudisill, of White Oaks, who responded to "Our Friends and Comrades." Rev. Herman J. Powell extended the greeting of the Ministers' association.

It was after midnight when taps was sounded.

The New Officers.

The officers elected were: Department commander, J. W. Edwards, of Albuquerque; senior vice commander, Jacob Weltner, of Santa Fe; junior vice commander, J. C. Klepinger, of White Oaks; chaplain, Rev. Thomas Harwood, of Albuquerque; medical director, Smith Simpson, of Taos; delegate to national encampment, J. M. Moore, of Albuquerque; alternate, J. W. Randall, of Boston, a member of G. K. Warren post.

Commander Edwards has announced the appointment of W. W. McDonald as his adjutant and A. Harsch, quartermaster.

The annual address of the retiring department commander, Judge McFie, reviewed the year. The deaths during the year numbered seven, four in Arizona post and three in Kearney post. There has been no death in Warren, Carleton or Sedgwick posts. In reviewing the work of the posts he first took up Arter post. He spoke of the difficulties of a delegate getting here and said the post could not be expected to be represented. He praised Warren post for its work and its entertainment; Kearney post, of White Oaks, for having four delegates present, three of whom had to travel overland three days; and Carleton post, of Santa Fe, for its gains during the year. The Relief Corps of Santa Fe and Albuquerque were highly praised. Judge McFie related his experiences at the national encampment last year at Cleveland, where he was the only representative of New Mexico, carried the banner, occupied all the space of a delegation and was assigned a band. He closed by referring to the resignation of Pension Commissioner Evans as an evidence of the power of the Grand Army and said the president has given instructions that veterans are to be given the preference in appointments.

ALAMOGORDO.

From the News.

Two children of Jas. Hancock have had a long tussle with slow fever, but are on the road to recovery.

Several property owners have commenced planting hedges. There is no reason why cypress will not grow in this city and it makes by far the prettiest and most attractive inclosure that can be placed around cottage or garden.

Sheriff Lucero, of Dona Ana county, New Mexico, has received about half the amount due on the judgment obtained in the district court against the Otero county commissioners. The balance is to be paid when sufficient money has been collected from a tax levy, made for the purpose. The judgment was for about $1,500 for services rendered by Mr. Lucero in preparing county records for the new county when it was cut off from Dona Ana county at the time when he was probate clerk at Las Cruces.

Building steadily goes on and still there is not a vacant house to be had in Alamogordo.

The postoffice at Pine Springs, Otero county, is to be discontinued, the mail to go to Clondroft.

The court house is finished and will be turned over to the commissioners at their next meeting.

Alamogordo is now included in the "itinerary of the circus companies and the small boy will see the elephant and revel in popcorn and red lemonade this season."

James Sutherland and James Ferrell have sold their ranch on the Penasco to Royd Williams and H. Hollingsworth for $12,000. This deal includes 480 acres of land and about 300 head of cattle.

The engineering department of the El Paso-Rock Island railway company are now engaged in running levels for a canal around the foothills of the Sacramento mountains to the east of Alamogordo to carry off the rain and flood waters. The canal will be about three miles long, twenty feet deep at the top, sixteen feet at the bottom and four feet deep. The amount to be expended in this improvement will be at least $5,000.

From the Advertiser.

The contract was let this week to J. Quinliven and son for the addition of another story to the building occu-ped by the Improvement company's offices and the engineering department of the El Paso & Northeastern. Work on the same will commence at once.

Six new compound cylinder freight engines arrived this week for use on the El Paso & Rock Island.

Lon Greenwood sold a car of goats this week to a goat buyer named Owen who is shipping goats to Minnesota.

Manager Hopper states that there are now 25,000 logs in the mountains awaiting transportation to the mills at Alamogordo.

Twenty-two hundred cars of stock have been contracted for shipment over the El Paso & Rock Island through here for points northeast.

Owing to being crippled by broken shay engines the Alamogordo Lumber company have orders beyond their capacity to fill at present.

School district No. 11, Clondroft, has voted $2,500 bonds and a tax of 5 mills on the dollar for the purpose of erecting a new school building in that district.

The Best Prescription for Malaria.

Chills and fever is a bottle of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure; no pay. Price, 50c.

The Webb special train, after a tour of Mexico, passed through the city last night.

Editor Kehoe, from Tularosa, was in town yesterday and reports that the recent gold find north of that place is "looking well."

Quinliven & Norton have been awarded the contract for furnishing ties for the Santa Fe Central which is building from Santa Fe to Torrance.

Miss Edith Nichols left last night for Riverside, Cal., where she will remain indefinitely. The lady has been attached to the Harwood Industrial home for many years.

While Jack Donahue is attending court as a witness in the old town, Joseph Harrison, a freight conductor, is temporarily handling Donahue's passenger run between this city and El Paso.

J. E. Saint, secretary of the Albuquerque Eastern and Santa Fe Central railways, passed through the city last night on his way to El Paso, and thence to Torrance, the junction of the Santa Fe Central with the El Paso-Rock Island road.

The usual spring shipments of stock over the Mexican Central road will probably start in on the 15th, at the rate of about a train load a day. The Santa Fe company is making elaborate preparations for the lively movement of these cattle.

At the annual election of the Houston & Texas Central, C. H. Tweed of New York was elected president and C. C. Markham vice president and executive. The old directors headed by E. H. Harriman were re-elected with the exception of J. H. Locke, who was replaced by W. J. Chew.

The supreme court of Colorado has decided that the Postal Telegraph company may construct lines along the right of way of the Union Pacific railroad. The Union Pacific company and the Western Union Telegraph company had resisted the application of the Postal company for right of way.

The San Francisco Examiner says that before the end of the present week, deeds will be placed on record at Matinez, Contra Costa county, conveying to the Southern Pacific company a right of way to the water front at Point Richmond, which is the present terminus of the Santa Fe road.

F. T. Dolan, brother of the day ticket agent at the local depot, G. B. Dolan, arrived here last night, accompanied by his wife and son. His mother and sister have been in this city for some time, and they will return to Chicago with Mr. Dolan. The gentleman is the popular superintendent of the Chicago division of the Santa Fe.

American methods are illustrated by the fact that while 100 tons is a load for an English freight train, an average load on one of our railroads last year was 540 tons. On two British railroads it costs from 48c. cents to $1.38 to move a ton of freight one mile, while the cost on a leading New York road is 23c. cents a mile.

It is announced at Guthrie, Oklahoma, that the Rock Island will extend the road at once with an extension of its line from Enid to Guthrie, thus winning out over the Frisco, Choctaw and Fort Smith & Western in their proposed extensions from Guthrie to Enid, which is considered the most important gap yet unconnected in Oklahoma.

Looking for a Relative.

The Citizen has been asked to publish a notice asking for the whereabouts of Frank Zimmerman, of Blue Hall, East Earl Township, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. Zimmerman had gone west in the summer of 1893, and has not been heard from since January, 1895. He has a considerable legacy awaiting him upon his return home. He was stoutly built, robust looking man, weighing about 185 pounds. He was about five feet six inches high, had dark hair and a moustache. His eyes were grayish blue, and the left eye was slightly crossed or turned inward. He had a slight impediment in his speech and was somewhat eccentric in some respects.

SMALL RETURNS.

Bisbee, A. T., Gets $61.50 by Expanding $600 for Police Officers.

Police protection for this city is an expensive luxury as made evident at the meeting of the city council held Tuesday evening.

City Marshal Graham presented a report which was adopted that shows the amount of money taken in by the justice courts from February 12 to April 1. His report shows that $61.50 is all the money the city gets.

On the 12th of February the city appointed three night police officers at a salary of $100 per month, who were to act as peace officers in addition to the services of the city marshal, whose salary is $150 per month.

At the end of February the city decided to dispense with the services of one of the officers, leaving two night police. It was said at the time that the move was made on account of economy.

UNDER TWO FLAGS.

William H. Norris Served the United States and France.

SAW MAXAMILLIAN SHOT.

A most remarkable and picturesque military career, including hard service and many fights under the flags of the United States and France, winning two medals for bravery from the empire of Mexico and witnessing the execution of Maximilian, is that of William H. Norris, a Santa Fe engineer, who lives at 309 South Broadway. Mr. Norris' life story reads like a novel.

He entered service in the civil war as a private in the First New York volunteer infantry from New York city on April 22, 1861. His first fight was the battle of Big Bethel under General Butler and the second fight was when the Merrimack sunk the Cumberland and the Congress at Newport News. Mr. Norris distinguished himself at this famous fight. When the Cumberland was sunk, Lieutenant Murray and a part of the crew ran up the rigging, which was projecting above the water. Mr. Norris secured a latrine and, rowing out, rescued Lieutenant Murray and eight sailors. Others then followed the example and the rest of the crew was rescued.

Mr. Norris next took part in the siege of Yorktown under General McClellan, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks or Seven Pines, Gaines Mills, battle of Peach Orchard, the seven days' retreat and Malvern Hill. After leaving Harrison's landing he was in the second battle of Bull Run. He was then in the fight at Chantilly on September 1, 1862, where General Stevens and General Kearney were killed. The loss in this fight was unusually heavy and Mr. Norris' company lost fifty-five men.

At the battle of Antietam on September 17, Mr. Norris was wounded. He was next at Fredericksburg under General Burnside on December 13 and 14, 1862, and at Chancellorsville on May 1, 2 and 3 he was badly wounded and taken prisoner.

This ended the civil war experience and in February, 1864, he went to Mexico and joined the French service. He saw much service and was in many fights. Mr. Norris entered the service as private and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

In September, 1865, the army needed cavalry horses and Mr. Norris was sent about five miles from Matamoros to capture horses which came down to a lake for water. Mr. Norris left three companies back, while he went on ahead to view the ground. He saw the horses he wanted on the opposite side of the lake and started back for his men. As he was riding back, twenty-seven Mexicans lined up in the road ahead of him and demanded his surrender. He put spurs to his horse, shot two with his revolver and rode through them. The sound of firing brought up his own men and eleven of the Mexicans were captured. Mr. Norris escaped unhurt. John A. Lee of this city was there at the time.

At Queretaro Mr. Norris was taken prisoner where Maximilian was captured. This was on June 15, 1867, and General Lopez, a Mexican general, had trapped them for $15,000. He was in command of the guards that night and replaced his own men with those of the enemy who admitted the army. The surprise was complete and Maximilian was shot on the July 19 following.

The execution was witnessed by Mr. Norris. All prisoners were marched out and compelled to witness the scene. At the same time General Tomas Mejia, under whom Mr. Norris served, and General Maron, were shot. One of Mr. Norris' most valued possessions is an autograph letter from General Mejia.

Mr. Norris left Mexico in September, 1867, and walked from Cordova to Chihuahua where he crossed the river and went to Brownsville, Texas. He secured a position in the customs house and was then made city marshal. He came to Albuquerque in 1880 and has since been on the Santa Fe Pacific and is a wonderfully robust man for one who has had such experiences. Mr. Norris was the first engineer on the Atlanta & Pacific that train robbers held up. On January 17, 1888, his train was ditched by robbers and Mr. Norris went back eleven miles to secure help.

Mr. Norris has two medals of which he is very proud. One is a bronze medal of the empire of Mexico awarded him for bravery at the siege of Matamoros in holding a fort against heavy cannon and on the other "Al Merito Militar." The medal of greatest value and one which is elaborate in design and was rarely given, is the cross of Guadalupe. It is of gold and is inscribed with the words "This was given for exceptional bravery in the capture of Sol de Rito."

New Masonic Organization.

Tomorrow, in this city, there will be a grand chapter of the Eastern Star lodges in New Mexico organized. Mrs. M. C. Hart, of San Antonio, Texas, grand worthy matron of the United States, will be present to superintend the organization. This will give New Mexico four grand Masonic lodges, namely, the grand lodge, the grand chapter of the Royal Arch, the grand commandery of Knights Templar, and the grand chapter of Eastern Star.

The Optic says quite a number of members of the Las Vegas lodge of the Eastern Star will attend the organization of the grand chapter here. Rev. Selby, Mrs. I. D. Webb, Mrs. M. R. Williams, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Benedit are scheduled to attend from Las Vegas.

PUSHING AHEAD.

Prospects Bright for the Silver City Reduction Plant.

Special to The Citizen.

Silver City, N. M., April 10.—The company which is being organized of the prominent business men and mining men of Silver City and the adjoining territory to erect a reduction plant here, is being rapidly pushed ahead. The committee of eleven of the well-known business and mining men of this section which were appointed as a committee at the mass meeting the other day, are working hard in getting the project in definite shape. They are at the present time busy gathering data in regard to the cost of the erection of a smelting, concentrating and leaching plant in this city; railroad transportation; mill sites; water supply; sale of products; ores and cost of transportation of the products of the mills; and also into some definite arrangement to organize on a good solid financial footing.

Mayor J. W. Fleming, who was selected as chairman of the committee, states that at the meeting the other day there were over 200 of the most influential men of the section of the territory in attendance, who were all very enthusiastic in the enterprise. From the present indication there is no doubt that the amount of capital which would be required to erect the mills can be readily raised in Silver City and surrounding mining country. While the amount that would be required would be very large, the reputation of the vast mineral resources of Grant county and available mineral supply for mills located in Silver City will greatly increase the chances of raising the capital.

Mining men who have visited this section from the east in recent years are well informed of the vast deposits of mineral wealth of all kinds of metals which lies around Silver City, which will greatly encourage the undertaking.

The committee who have the enterprise in charge have designated the compact as the Silver City Co-operative Smelting and Refining company until organization can be duly effected.

WATT FOUND GUILTY.

Charged With Stealing a Coat From Grant Hall.

This afternoon the five men charged with the murder of Placido Salazar were taken before Judge Baker as examining magistrate for preliminary examination.

Alexander Watt was on trial all morning charged with stealing a coat and scarf which belonged to Miss Sadie Jaffa, of Trinidad, from Grant hall during a dance. Watt and a companion named Green were drinking heavily about the time the goods were stolen but they claim they found the goods in an uncompleted house on Fourth street. They acknowledged pawned it at a saloon for $2. This afternoon Watt was found guilty.

Ramon and Luis Rodriguez were convicted of uttering false checks. Luis found a bunch of checks belonging to M. T. Anderson which he returned to him. Anderson lost three in addition and months later Luis made two unsuccessful attempts to pass a check purporting to have been signed by Anderson. The defendants claimed to have cashed the checks for an Arabian peddler.

RABBI JACOBS.

He Is Called to Larger Field of Usefulness.

Tomorrow evening Rabbi Jacobs, of Temple Albert, will preach his farewell sermon in Albuquerque. He will take charge of a large congregation in Huntsville, Alabama.

The leaving of Rabbi Jacobs is a matter of regret to the people of this city. He came to Albuquerque on September 3, 1890, and has helped build up a membership of fifty in his congregation. The Jewish temple on West Gold avenue has been embellished within under his faithful care. During these two years Rabbi Jacobs has tried to broaden the souls of men in to higher things in life and to bring them closer together despite differences of creed, preaching the doctrine of the universal brotherhood of man. The members of his congregation were brought nearer to a true understanding of their religion and their God.

Rabbi Jacobs was born in London, December 31, 1876. He came to Chicago a child and there received his earlier public school education. At the age of 15 he left Chicago for Cincinnati, Ohio, and entered the Hebrew Theological seminary there, to take up the study of the ministry. During the time he attended the Hebrew college, a period of eight years, he also attended the high school and then the University of Cincinnati, from which he graduated in June, 1890, with the B. A. degree, and also took the Jones prize for oratory. After graduating from the Hebrew college with the degree of rabbi and from the Cincinnati university he was elected rabbi of Temple Albert of Albuquerque.

And now, after a very pleasant stay of nearly two years, he leaves to take charge of a large congregation in Huntsville, Alabama. On Friday night will be his last service here and he would like very much to see all his friends in Albuquerque turn out so he can bid them farewell.

The people of Huntsville will find in Rabbi Jacobs a cultured gentleman, an orator and a man with a heart kind as a woman's for the sorrows and frailties of mankind.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Back From Oil Fields.

R. J. Turnbull, one of the directors of the Manuella Oil company, operating near Gallup, came in from the west this morning, and he confirms the recent report to the effect that a fair flow of oil had been encountered. He says the drill has now gone through the oil sand to a depth of sixteen feet, and he predicts the next strata will produce a greater flow of oil. There is considerable excitement at Gallup on account of the oil strike, and Mr. Turnbull has been convinced, after the ground had been looked over by several well known oil experts, that a genuine gusher will be brought in before the drill goes 200 feet more through the shale.

DEMING.

Special Correspondence.

Deming, N. M., April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Howell, of New York, who have been visiting Mrs. P. R. Smith for the past week, left last Saturday for California to complete a tour of the western coast before returning to New York.

Eben Burnside was in our city for a few days last week.

Dr. Pollard, our dentist, spent a few days last week in El Paso, and says he is glad to be back in Deming.

W. H. Grier went up to Santa Fe Sunday night and returned this morning. He says things are looking fine up there.

The dance given by Mr. Irvine last Friday evening to top off his home talent entertainment of the preceding Wednesday was a most enjoyable affair. It is said to have been about the best this year.

There is a rumor that the Rock Island will shortly run some of the finest trains in the country straight through to California over the Southern Pacific railroad. This will give two daily trains each way through Deming.

Mr. Lindauer has completely recovered from the severe attack of grip from which he was suffering last week, and is now about attending to his business as usual.

Deming will probably have a fine new hotel, first class in every particular, in a short time now.

Colonel Smith writes that the attention of eastern capital is being very smartly drawn to this section of the country, and that he is everywhere beset with inquiries about the country and its prospects.

SILVER CITY.

Special Correspondence.

Silver City, April 8.—Miss Lillian Sheridan left last evening for a trip to California for the benefit of her health.

Mayor J. W. Fleming has just returned from a several days' visit to El Paso on business matters.

The recent closing down of the Silver City reduction works has not seemed to have any decided effect on the business of this city. The merchants state that they are doing a very nice business for this season of the year.

John Wiley and D. C. Hobert left on the passenger last evening for Las Cruces, where they have business before the United States court.

The quarterly meeting of the Grant county commissioners was held today and all business awaiting the action of the board was attended to.

The business and mining men of this county who are interested in the erection of a smelter in this city, held a meeting in Newcomb's hall this afternoon which was largely attended. The enterprise was discussed from all points of view and active steps were taken toward pushing the proposition to completion. A committee of prominent men of the city were appointed to take charge of the enterprise and it is expected that they will at once commence active work.

The much-talked of telephone to the Burro mountains, it is said, will in a very short time be commenced. The men behind the work have been holding back to some extent to wait until the copper market was more settled. Summer weather has shown up in Silver City with the intention of staying. Straw hats and other summer wearing apparel is very prominent on the streets.

The final game of the Crescents is the finest by far. The Crescents now lead by a fine majority.

Michigan Capitalists.

Dr. Sawyer and a party of Michigan men are at the Highland hotel. They are interested in the Mitchell timber land and will construct mills here. The officers will come out in about a month when the mills will be located and definite steps taken. The present party is merely looking over the ground.

Mrs. R. M. Bacheller, of St. Joseph, Mo., is here on a visit to her parents, Col. and Mrs. John M. Moore. The lady will remain here until next week, when she will leave on a visit to relatives and friends in Mexico. After her visit in the stable republic, she will return to this city and remain a few days longer with her parents.

BAD CHARACTER MURDERED.

Porfirio Trujillo Found Dead With His Head Crushed By an Axe.

Word was received in the city this morning that Porfirio Trujillo had been murdered at Lower Rociada, says the Las Vegas Optic. Inquiry brought out the following facts: Porfirio had been heavily drinking for some days and lying around Rociada. Two days ago he quarreled with his wife, who fled from her home, through fear of him, and took refuge with the family of her father, one Ortiz, at Lower Rociada. Trujillo hunted for her and yesterday afternoon learned of her whereabouts. Late in the day he was seen entering Ortiz's house, which was the last time he was seen alive, except by those who killed him.

This morning early a laborer going to his work, saw Trujillo lying in the middle of the plaza of Lower Rociada, but supposed him to be drunk, and so reported to a relative of Trujillo's, telling him that Porfirio was lying in the plaza, without a hat, and evidently very much under the influence of liquor. When the relative went to take Trujillo in charge it was at once seen that he was dead and had been so for some hours. Death had come from the crushing of the head by some blunt instrument, such as the end of an axe. Sheriff Cleofes Romero was telephoned to come to Rociada, and left for that place about 10 o'clock this morning. At this writing he has not returned.

Thus has passed away one of the worst characters and one of the most all round criminals San Miguel county ever knew. He was suspected of participating in the murder of Henry Goke's freighters, he turned state's evidence against the other murderers of old man Stutzman. He was notorious for his thieving, and at the time of his death was under bond on the charge of horse stealing. He was about 30 years of age, and fully fifteen of those years were spent in crimes of diversified character.

There is little regret at his taking off, but still a cold-blooded murder such as his killing seems to have been, should be traced down and the perpetrators brought to justice.

TERRITORIAL FAIR.

Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night When Directors Were Elected.

A large crowd was present over Zelger's Cafe last night to organize for the fair carnival. P. F. McCanna, who was secretary, reported a balance on hand of $40.45, the sum left after paying subscribers a dividend of 15 per cent. The old officers were endorsed for another term but Mayor Marron declined to serve for another term as president. The directors met at 4 o'clock this afternoon to elect officers. The directors elected were: O. N. Maron, P. F. McCanna, E. L. Washburn, Ivan Grunfeldt, Jacob A. Weinmann, A. B. McGaffey, W. L. Trimble, George K. Neher, M. Mandell, G. A. Campbell, Simon Stern, C. K. Newhall, T. S. Hubbard, Don J. Hankin, C. C. Hall, E. E. Sturges, Joe Barnett, A. W. Flournoy, J. F. Pearce, A. Borders and A. H. Bear.

Died From His Wound.

Charles Burns, who was shot yesterday by George Cole, died at midnight last night. Burns was a soldier in the Spanish-American war, enlisted in the Tucson. He was an investigator of the A. C. U. which sought the railroad company so strongly.—El Paso News.

Never Satisfied.

Here's a new kick on luck: An Atchison man was killed by being thrown from a horse, and the neighbors who went in to condole with the widow had to listen to her complaints that he wasn't killed on the railroad, where she could at least have sued for damages. Atchison Globe.

Pleaded Guilty.

Jose Dominguez, charged with burglary in entering Hall & Leonard's, pleaded guilty today and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

There will probably be a change of time on the Santa Fe railway on June 1. Train No. 1 from the east will stop for dinner at Albuquerque. Breakfast is to be taken at Las Vegas. Mail train No. 7 from the east will be at Albuquerque for supper and at Las Vegas for dinner. The California flyer is to run twice a week instead of daily. By next fall a train is to be put on between Chicago and Los Angeles that will be the most luxuriously equipped train in the world. The fare to be charged is to be double first class, and only fifty persons will be taken on each train. If these changes go into effect it will make considerable change in the arrival and departure of mails in this city. The Harvey eating station at Lamy may be discontinued. Meetings of the division superintendents of all the divisions of the Santa Fe proper will be held in Topeka from day to day beginning May 12, for the purpose of stringing the new card. At the same time the division superintendents of the coast lines will be meeting at Los Angeles, Cal. for the purpose of making a new time card for the lines west of Albuquerque.

Messrs. Perkins & Stevenson have located a claim on the extreme western line of the mineral belt in the Jarillas, where no ore was supposed to exist. At a depth of thirty-seven feet a vein has been uncovered carrying copper values. Specimens of fine quality of jade were also found.

At the El Porvenir coal mine San Miguel county, things are developing nicely. They have struck a 12½-inch vein of soft coal and a vein of 18-inch hard coal. Those who have stock in the company are quite jubilant.

The Las Vegas Record says: The Mexican that was struck by train No. 2 says that he will enter suit against the railroad company. He claims that his wagon was broken down on the track at a private crossing, and that he flagged the train the necessary 200 yards, but it did not stop.

MISMATED COUPLES.

The Colfax County Court Severed Ties by the Wholesale.

DESERTION, DRUNKENNESS, ETC.

There was no lack of grist for the divorce mill at Raton last session of the county of Colfax county. There were a number of divorces granted and a still larger number of applications on file. Most of the complaints were for abandonment and desertion and not for more serious and sensational charges. Following are a number of those released from the bonds of matrimony.

Elizabeth C. Seok asked that the court release her from the tie-up with James R. Seok, on account of defendant being a confirmed drunkard most of the time since their wedding day, and also on account of desertion. The court thought Edna was asking for nothing more than she deserved, and the tie that binds was torn asunder.

Ida Allen Dickinson was released from W. B. Dickinson, on the grounds of perpetual desertion, and because the court thought that if a living had to be made by taking in washing, it was easier for her to support one than two. Mrs. Dickinson testified that her husband left her the last time with nothing to eat in the house but two potatoes. Lacey Everett, the attorney who was on the docket for rape, was her attorney and skipped town the day after he got the decree.

Charles P. Miller got sympathy and release from Abbie E. Miller, on the grounds that she had ceased to care for him, the "fire" having burned out, and because Abbie insisted on chasing about with other men. Abbie is now free to her other lovers and Charlie is saved an extra board bill.

Martin R. Baker, an attorney in this district, was married in Arkansas in 1873 and they have two children, 16 and 13 years of age respectively. His wife abandoned him in 1896 and went back to Arkansas, and he since has had to live alone. The court thought this sufficient grounds to break the matrimonial tie and now Martin is in the list of eligibles. Mrs. Baker is fairly well fixed with this world's goods and will take care of the children.

Mary Patterson said she had been a true, kind and loving wife of John, her husband, but notwithstanding, he, without any fault whatever on her part, left, deserted and abandoned her in 1896 and had also been cruel to her in many ways, such as throwing his shoes at her and really striking her. Mary can marry again now.

May Ward was given a divorce from W. E. Ward, and Adelaide Mayotte will have to padle her own canoe in the future without any assistance whatever from Frank X. Mayotte.

ALMOST MURDERED.

Chinaman Attacked For His Money Barely Escapes With Life.

Saturday night three men entered the house of Quong Fang, the aged Chinese gardener on the west side, and attempted to murder him for the money he was supposed to have in his house, says the Las Vegas Optic.

As soon as he was able to get away from his assailants he dragged himself to the house of A. Menne, where he had been befriended many times and there told his story. On reaching the porch he rang the bell and said: "Men kill me, let me in." He then became too weak to talk and Mrs. Menne telephoned for neighbors and the sheriff and doctor, and on their arrival the wounded man was taken to a comfortable resting place, where he was kindly treated.

From the wound it was evident that he had been struck with a heavy, blunt instrument, for there was a terrible rash over the eye, which was meant to kill him.

The sheriff and others searched the house of the Celestial and found that everything had been turned over and rumaged in an evident search for money supposed to be hidden there. A fellow countryman, Han Wa Lung, the laundryman at the end of Eleventh street, was called and sat up with the man all night, and yesterday morning moved him to his own quarters. He is now getting along as well as might be expected.

When the sheriff and his party went to search the house, two men were found in the yard who were chased but escaped by running toward the river. It is thought they were hooligans. The poor Celestial is 72 years old and for the past fourteen years has been gardening on the property owned by A. Menne, close to the Hefed residence on the west side. He has always lived alone. The money which was supposed to be in the house was safely deposited in the bank.

SHEEP MAN ARRESTED.

He Is Accused of Importing Contract Labor from Mexico to Work on His Ranch.

Fritz Brinz, a sheepman of Roswell, Chaves county, was arrested the other morning at the Texas & Pacific depot at El Paso by federal officers, as he was boarding the train with eighteen Mexicans whom he was taking to Roswell to work on his ranch.

The charge is importing alien labor and it is alleged that he hired the men in Juarez in violation of the law. The case is being investigated by the customs authorities, who are taking the statements of the men. Should they prove to have come from Mexico unlawfully they will be sent back, and it can be proved that Mr. Brinz was responsible for their coming in, the case will go to the federal grand jury.

"The charge is false," said Mr. Brinz at the custom house. "I want about fifty men to work on my ranch near Roswell and came here to hire them. I employed a man to get me a lot, and he brought me these eighteen. They were all hired on this side of the border and have been here some time. I don't know where they came from before that."

That Algodones Smelter.

A. J. Frank and Chapin Gard, of Denver, who were at Algodones last few days, have returned to Denver. They represent an incorporation with $1,000,000 capital that intends to build a customs smelter at Algodones.

The company has laid out a model townsite and contemplates building a railroad into the Cochiti district and to the Sulphur Springs in the Jemez mountains. It also figures upon erecting a 1,000 tons a day mill on the Rio Grande to treat the ores of the Cochiti district.

COURT AT CARLSBAD.

The Manning Murder Case on Trial—A Young Man Sentenced for Robbing a Railroad Car.

The case of the territory vs. James M. Manning for the murder of Walter Meeks, at the Eight Four ranch, in the eastern part of Eddy county, on the 18th of January, 1901, came up for trial Saturday morning at Carlsbad. By noon the regular venire was issued. At 7:30 p. m. the special venire was returned. The defendant's attorney made a motion to quash the special venire issued on March 31 to fill out the regular panel, and another to quash the panel issued in the trial of the case on the ground that three venires are not in accordance with the law. So far six jurors have been finally accepted. A second special venire had to be issued returnable at 7:30 o'clock. A plea of self defense will be made by the defendant.

Three indictments were returned by the grand jury yesterday forenoon, two for larceny of sheep and one for carrying a deadly weapon at a dance.

The grand jury made its final report Saturday evening, and was discharged. Nine indictments were returned, all for minor offenses.

Willis Caldwell of Carlsbad was robbed this week, the culprits getting $400 in cash, a suit of clothes and a watch. The grand jury is investigating the case.

Harty English, a young adventurer with quite a history, pleaded guilty to burglarizing a car on the Pecos Valley & Northwestern railway, and was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

W. C. NIXON'S ADVANCE.

Was a Bridge Carpenter, Now General Manager on Santa Fe.

The Railway Journal published at St. Louis says: Because a man is a railway bridge carpenter is no reason why he shall not have an unlimited ambition. In 1878 an active man of 20 entered the service of the Burlington & Missouri River Road as bridge carpenter, but he held that position only nine months, when he quit and went with the Santa Fe at Emporia Junction, Kas., as watchman. He is now popularly known in railway circles as General Manager W. C. Nixon, of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, with headquarters at Galveston, Texas. Mr. Nixon went into the traffic department of the Santa Fe as station clerk at Albuquerque, N. M., and was later made cashier and agent at that point. Since then his promotions on that road have been gratifying. From the position of station agent at Albuquerque he has been promoted to chief clerk in the division superintendent's office, trainmaster, superintendent of terminals at Kansas City, trainmaster at Streator, Ill., division superintendent, superintendent of terminals at Chicago, general agent, Chicago, superintendent of Chicago division, and on January 1, 1900, was made general superintendent of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, which position he held only two years, when he was made general manager. Mr. Nixon's experience in the various positions of railway service has even of the most practical kind, and was such that he had the best opportunities to study the needs of the public, the disposition of his fellow employees to understand what is the best interests of his company. He is a native of Illinois and has spent all his railroad life in the west and south.

El Paso Women Criticized.

Bishop Hamilton, who was in El Paso recently, in the course of a lecture on Mexico, delivered at the Simpson auditorium for the benefit of the Industrial School of Los Angeles, according to a newspaper of that city, said in part: "When I entered the country someone said to me: 'The flowers of Mexico have no fragrance, the women no virtue and the men no honor.' I have lived there for some time, but nowhere in Mexico did I see women who had the brazen effrontery of the women on the streets of El Paso, the last American city that I left. As for the Mexican men, Americans of every class say they have as much honor as the majority of men in other countries with whom they have had dealings."

Reports received at the general offices of the Rock Island show a flattering regard for the new El Paso short line express for the first month of its existence. East bound the train was late

Notes from Correspondents

ITEMS FROM DEMING.

Col. Smith in New York.—John Cain's Scheme.—Local Notes.

Special Correspondence.
Deming, April 4.—The spring seems to have set in in earnest here at Deming, and it is a joy to live. Birds and blossoms are everywhere and the balmy breezes have tamed down so that no sand blows.

Col. P. R. Smith writes from New York that he has about completed a big transaction in copper properties, the details of which we are as yet unable to give. It may, however, be said that there is an independent smelter in the deal which is backed by prominent Philadelphia and New York capitalists, and this should be interesting news to the various mining communities around Deming.

Mr. Irvine, manager of the Deming opera-house, gave a home talent entertainment last Wednesday evening which was well attended and well worth attendance. Every thing went off well and the crowded house enjoyed the whole performance to the utmost. This is to be followed by a dance to-night to be given free to holders of reserved seat coupons for last Wednesday's entertainment.

Mr. Choate, manager of the El Paso & Southwestern, was in town Wednesday on business relating to the new depot contemplated by the El Paso road at Deming.

A. J. Clark will begin the erection of a large new building on the corner of Gold avenue and Pine street, next to his grocery, in a very short time now. From what Mr. Clark says you would think he had no faith in the future of this town, but actions speak louder than words.

John M. Cain is thinking of moving the Kingston Mountain View hotel to Deming and setting it up near the Herold printing office. Mr. Cain is a progressive business man and knows a good thing when he sees it. He has seen Deming and has decided to throw in his fortune with those of the best little town in New Mexico and with confidence in the result of his venture, too. When news of his kind from the immediate neighborhood begin to take stock in the town and put their money into it, it is a pretty good indication of what is there.

Mrs. Margaret Thwaites, of White Signal, Garro, mountains, has returned from the Mimbres springs where he has been recuperating for several weeks and his genial countenance now smiles again over his barber chair.

MASS MEETING.

To be Held in Silver City on Local Smelter Proposition.

Special Correspondence.

Silver City, N. M., April 4.—A mass meeting of the business men and mining men of Grant county and everyone interested in the enterprise of erecting a smelter and concentrating plant in this city has been called by Mayor J. W. Fleming for next Tuesday afternoon. Ever since the closing down of the trust smelter here a short time ago the leading business men of the city and others have been agitating the project of erecting a smelter and concentrator owned and operated by local men. It is the idea of the men interested in the project if the mills are erected to treat the vast bodies of all kinds of ores in this section at a very small milling rate, thereby enabling the operators of mines who have a low grade proposition to mine and hold their ores at a profit and thereby hold all kinds of business in this county. The treatment rates charged by the trust smelter at this point were so high that it made it impossible for operators of mines which were a low grade proposition to ship their ores to the smelter and have them milled at the high rate charged paid the biggest part of the profit to the trust.

Most of the prominent business men of Silver City have signed their willingness to take up considerable stock in the erection of the local mills and the mining men of the county will cut up the balance of the stock. From the present indications the enterprise will be carried through and will greatly improve the local mining and business conditions of this city and surrounding country.

The city council at their last meeting ordered the erection of a steel bridge across Main street on Broadway and gave the contract to the American Bridge company at a figure of $681. It will be a seventy foot span steel bridge and have a sixteen foot roadway.

The Santa Fe has granted a rate of one fare and one-fifth from this city to Albuquerque during the Grand Army of the Republic encampment in this city on April 10.

Ernest Harmon and wife left last evening for El Paso. Mr. Harmon for some time past has been superintendent of the smelter located here and on account of its close down was transferred to the El Paso works.

FLAGSTAFF FLASHES.

Interesting Topics From the Skylight City of Arizona.

Special Correspondence.
Flagstaff, April 3.—The municipal office of this city are pretty busy these days. Although there is only one ticket in the field, the strife is as great as if there were three. T. E. Pollock, the present mayor will probably be re-elected. The councilmen on the ticket are T. E. Pollock, David Rabbitt, E. S. Gooney, J. C. Lake and J. A. Vail. The votes will be cast next Monday, April 7.

The Arizona Lumber company has 18,000,000 feet of lumber in their yards and has not yet enough to meet the demand.

The Albuquerque Daily Citizen is now to be found at C. A. Keller's news stand, next to the postoffice.

Flagstaff has an organization, named the Cocoon Commercial club, which is a pretty lively institution. The two-story building opposite Rabbitt Bros. general store, has been used up into quite a lovely club room. Bowling alley, bathrooms, billiard parlor, reading room and reception room, and all the conveniences necessary for the entertainment of the members and their guests. The membership is now about eighty.

RATON HAPPENINGS.

Many Social Events in the Lively Little City.

Special Correspondence.

Raton, N. M., April 5.—Mr. A. A. Jones, of Las Vegas, gave a champagne supper last Friday night at the Harney house. Covers were laid for eight and the guests included Judge Mills, Mr. Gortner, C. N. Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gavin, Messrs. Hamlin and an unknown. Afterward Mr. Jones and guests went to the court room to attend an interesting evening session of the court.

Court adjourned at noon on Thursday, when the court and its officials, as well as all out of town lawyers took their departure.

Mrs. Van Houten was called to Las Vegas Tuesday, by the illness of her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wolgast. She will be absent a week or ten days.

The Seven Hand Euchre club met with Mrs. A. R. Streicher last Wednesday afternoon. A pleasant meeting was held. Mrs. Hobbs and Mrs. Price out for the prize. Mrs. Price winning.

Mr. and Mrs. Streicher entertained a few friends at cards last Monday evening. Carnations were used to trim the rooms and a Dutch lunch was served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Van Houten, Mrs. Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Leahy.

Mrs. H. P. Roseberry gave a party in honor of Miss Nina Anderson of Trinidad, who is the guest of Mrs. Whigham Friday afternoon. Besides Miss Anderson there were present Miss Blackwell, Miss Marion Blackwell, Miss O'Brien, Miss Alice Thomas and Miss Ruby Gray. After playing some jolly games, the young ladies partook of a delicious supper.

Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Dwyer gave a sewing party to a large number of ladies this afternoon.

The ladies of the Baptist church gave a supper in the investment hall Thursday evening, which was very liberally patronized. About $50 was cleared. Everyone speaks highly of the supper and it was evident from the variety of good things to eat that the ladies had done their best to cater to the taste of their patrons.

Thursday night was a night of church socials. At Blackwell's the Christian Endeavors held forth and with serving ice cream and cake made $1.40 for the society. The young people made merry playing games and having music, besides partaking of refreshments.

At the residence of Mrs. Maudie Howells was held a Methodist social, which was generally patronized and a goodly sum realized.

Dr. Taney, a prominent Chicago physician, is here visiting his wife, who is here for health reasons.

"CAPT. JACK."

The Poet Scout, "Capt. Jack" Crawford, Writes About Horse Market.

Special Correspondence.

San Marcel, N. M., April 2.—Just returned from Denver, where I took a car load of as good horses as was ever loaded from a New Mexico range, but was misled, inasmuch as I was informed that the horses only needed to be rode once or twice and broke to lead, with the result that I had to wait three days for inspection and then only seven head out of the twenty-six was acceptable at $15 per head. I refused this and tried to find riders to break and ride them, and after waiting a week finally took $37 for every head. I then seeing that I was going to cost considerably to get the balance, I traded for a thoroughbred Kentucky jack, 7 years old and fifteen hands high, to go with a thoroughbred combination saddle and buggy horse. The jack is valued at $1,000 and I refused $150 for the horse, and I want you to say in The Citizen that anyone contemplating shipping horses must have them perfectly gentle, blocky built and serviceable, fourteen hands one inch to fifteen hands high, 5 to 8 years old, and without a blemish of any kind. I had one fine horse turned down because a little hair had been rubbed off with the hobbles. Every inducement is made to ship and when they get you there under heavy expense you are compelled to take what they offer or ship back, which I should have done, had I had a bank account. I am going to ship two or three more loads, but I know just what is wanted and have a guarantee.

"CAPT. JACK."

WILLIAMS WAIFS.

A Batch of Interesting Local Happenings.

Special Correspondence.

Williams, A. T., April 5.—Business in Williams is looking up a little these days. The merchants of the thriving little mountain town are to support and build up the substantial city that Williams is getting to be. Less than a year ago more than half the town lay a bed of smoldering ashes. The buildings destroyed were frail frame structures and were valued at about $75,000. The new buildings which have taken the place of the old fire traps are constructed of stone and brick. Although they are not one-third as many in numbers their cost is more than three times as much. Indications tend to show that the work of building and improving has just begun.

A rumor is afloat that the railroad or eastern capital is preparing to erect a fine hotel to accommodate the tourist travel to Grand Canyon.

Work has been begun on a two-story sixteen room brick hotel, which is being built for R. B. Powers at the corner of Railroad avenue and Williams street. Messrs. M. J. Kennedy and J. A. Carlton have the contract for the construction.

George Barney, the industrious proprietor of the Williams brewery, is having a nice, neat one-story residence built, which he intends to occupy himself as soon as finished.

J. C. Phelan, the Williams butcher has plans for a fine seven room brick cottage which he intends to erect on his ranch just north of town. This will be one of the finest and most convenient residences in this section of the country. It will be heated by a hot water system and have all the conveniences of a modern residence.

The Saginaw & Manistee Lumber company's mills are now working 500 men and getting out about 1,000,000 feet of lumber a week. Wm. F. Dornmont, general manager for the company, says that if the demand for log product continues to increase as it has been during the past few weeks, a night force will be put on in some of the now over-worked departments.

The tourist traffic to the Grand canyon has been granted this year than usual and the prospects for a good summer business for the deserving merchants of the city are exceedingly bright.

Ernest Meyers, of the Meyers-Abel company, wholesale liquor dealers of Albuquerque, spent Friday in the city. Sixteen tourists from Philadelphia, Pa., were registered at C. E. Boyce's Grand canyon hotel on Friday.

GALLUP NOTES.

What Has Been Going on in the Busy Town.

Special Correspondence.

Gallup, N. M., April 7.—On dit: That since the "six weeks" are over we have been having the typical weather of the "Land of Sunshine."

That D. C. Russell, of the firm of Russell & Elsie, has gone to San Francisco on business, and some hint to look up a favorable location.

That the "Hey Rones" were in the base ball game on Sunday afternoon. That the entire regular ticket got left, except K. B. Lannigan, member of school board.

That the entire democratic ticket got there, except A. T. Reis, candidate for school board.

That the school board will now consist of Wm. Stewart, R. B. Langham and A. Brown, Sr.

That Gallup as a whole is sorry to lose Dr. Edmundson and wife from among us.

That a farewell reception was given at the residence of the Episcopal pastor on the afternoon of the 5th—a farewell to Dr. Edmundson and wife.

That the Guild met at Mrs. Ed Hart's on Thursday afternoon and was delightfully entertained.

That Miss Marcella Bladen entertained the Mission club on Saturday afternoon, the 29th of March. Mrs. Bladen, assisted by Miss McIntire served lunch to the fourteen girls present. Mrs. Bladen is the promoter of the club and her girls are enthusiastic over the work.

That for three months ago B. T. L. dancing class has met on Thursday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall, and although the management met with some criticism in regard to its exclusiveness the results have justified the measures adopted, for the Thursday evening sessions are counted the most interesting feature of the week. The members are doing finely and the class is self-supporting, without any of the contributions offered to maintain its success.

That the entertainment given under the auspices of the Catholic church on Tuesday evening was a pleasant affair, the best home talent production for a long time. The first part of the evening was devoted to musical numbers and recitations, followed by a one act comedy, "Who's to Win Him?" Characters, Messrs. McNallin, Ortiz, Murphy, Brocklett and Smith, Messrs. Lorin Smith, Lawrence Smith and Wm. McSparrow. Lorin Smith is too well known as a singer and actor to need comment of ours. Miss Brocklett did the "shy lassie," Miss Smith the "society" part, Miss Murphy the sentimental one, Miss McNallin was it as "the sporty, up to date" type and Miss Ortiz is at home on the stage, easy graceful and a fine singer as well. Lawrence Smith was himself, and Wm. McSparrow—well, Willie made another hit, and in an altogether different role from his former successes. But very few professionals could excel his rendition of the character of "Mr. Prattle" Primrose. That a large percentage of the audience remained for the dance. Father Jourdain is to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

That Messrs. Risdon and Wysser have built a boat and when the paint is dry its carrying powers will be tested in the waters of Lake Marano by William Stewart and a party of duck hunters.

That the night school of Prof. Larkin is well attended.

That the criticism of our public schools, though merited in some instances, should not be taken as including all our teachers. Nor do I think it was so intended.

That Mrs. Nella Harding-Jones' death came as a shock to her friends. She left three little boys, who have the sympathy of the community.

That there are rumors of the opening of some of the closed mines in the near future.

"Little colds." Thousands of lives sacrificed every year. Dr. Norway's Pine Syrup cures little colds, cures big colds too, down to the very verge of consumption.

Last Night's Lecture.

A very large crowd was present at Odd Fellows hall last night to hear the lecture on "Modern Miracles." The lecturer held that the definition of miracles as given by modern orthodox religion is being exploded. The latter part of the lecture was a citation of facts from scientific sources and corroborated by similar facts from personal experiences. The audience was in hearty sympathy with the speaker.

K. K. Scott, attorney and town clerk of Gallup, is in the city today on legal matters.

HISTORY OF LAS CRUCES.

Wholesale Slaughter of Forty Mexicans in 1840.

ORIGIN OF NAME.

Our village aggregating about 4,000 inhabitants, including its environment, is called Las Cruces. The name originated from an appalling tragedy that took place on the ground six years before the town was built. The revolting story handed down from the oldest inhabitants runs in about this way:

In 1840 a party of New Mexicans who lived north of Santa Fe, party in number, were on a journey south to the state of Chihuahua with a train of pack mules laden with blankets such as the New Mexicans make by hand loom in their section of the territory. It was their custom to make these trips every year to barter their goods for such fabrics as they needed at home. For a series of years they were accustomed to make these excursions south for trading purposes. Hitherto nothing had occurred to mar the serenity of their travels, until they arrived at this point which was nothing more than a dry, dusty, mesquite jungle, well adapted for an Indian ambush. The number of Indians in the party making the onslaught will never be known. The dash was sudden and overwhelming like the General Custer massacre, in as much as none escaped to tell the bloody story. It took some time in those days of crude civilization for the heartrending news to reach their homes in the north part of the territory.

The scene of the bloody struggle was in a desert, far from human habitation. The delay of the relief party. Kind friends and kindred came as soon as possible to raise their bloody bodies to carry them home for burial. Their friends marked the place where each body was found in death and returned again with little boards fashioned into crosses, and planted one cross at each place where the life-blood of their friends ebbed away on the desert sands. Far from home and friends these forty men died at the hands of a savage horde with no eye to witness their horrible fate, or shed a tear over them in the last struggles of death. When I came to the territory in 1846 the "crosses" were still standing on the present site of the town which was built in 1848, two years after I came. The town was laid out and built jointly by Americans and Mexicans. The Mexicans being in the majority, the Americans left the naming of the town to them. They said we will name it Las Cruces, the Crosses, having reference to the great tragedy of 1840 and in remembrance of their countrymen who shed their blood on the ground. Las Cruces is the largest town in the Mesilla valley, which produces corn, wheat, alfalfa, beans and every variety of vegetables, with apples and peaches and grapes in abundance.

SAMUEL G. BEAN.

A VENERABLE LADY.

Mrs. B. Sleyester Celebrated Her Seventy-Ninth Birthday yesterday.

Yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Weed, No. 215 West Silver avenue, there was a small gathering of friends, and they were there to extend congratulations to Mrs. B. Sleyester, mother of Mrs. Weed, on her 79th birthday.

Bernard A. Sleyester, the well known real estate and insurance agent, who is the only son, was also present, and joined those congregated in making the day one of the brightest for his venerable mother.

A citizen representative called to offer his congratulations, and the old lady stated that had Mr. Sleyester lived until tomorrow (Tuesday) there would have been another celebration—that of their golden wedding, but he was called away in death in southern California about five years ago. Mrs. Sleyester was born in Nynecon, Holland, and with her husband and children, came to the United States twenty-seven years ago, nineteen of which have been spent in this city. She took a great interest in the South African war, and offers up a prayer occasional for her native Hollanders (the Boers) will yet be victorious in the unequalled war now raging in that dark continent.

Mrs. E. W. Davis, wife of a well known engineer, and Mrs. R. S. Platt, of Beaumont, Texas, two daughters, were not present yesterday. It is understood, however, that Mrs. Platt and husband are expected here in a few days from Beaumont, and will make this city their home in the future.

SANTA ROSA FIRE.

The "Mushroom Town" Suffers Serious Loss By Fire.

A special telegram sent to the Denver News, under date of last Friday, April 4, gives these facts about a fire which raged at Santa Rosa that night: Santa Rosa was in flames at 8 o'clock tonight. The fire started in the Shane building at this place, and in a few minutes almost the entire town was in flames. From the Shane building the fire spread to the hotel, to the Bacon meat market and the butcher shop, thence to the Coleman & Walsh saloon building. Both of these buildings were entirely destroyed.

In the east the fire spread to the Peterson saloon and restaurant, then to the Clannish general merchandise store and postoffice.

On account of the scarcity of water it was almost impossible to check the flames. The fire spread to the Marshall warehouse, then to the Gillespie place on the left of the Gillespie building, several small buildings and tents which burned up.

The last building to burn was a saloon owned by Mexicans. The men succeeded in checking the fire by going down the street and tearing down and dragging the buildings away, also the stores were stripped of the goods before the fire reached them and those which were not burned were stolen by the Mexicans. C. L. Marsh is the heaviest loser, his stock of merchandise was valued at $10,000 with very little insurance.

The entire loss will reach $30,000.

The fire is supposed to have been the work of thieves. Although there was a large force of men at work for the merchandise firms, no one was hurt. If the wind had raised during the progress of the fire, not a building in Santa Rosa would have been left. The fire will bring the entire town to the new town.

We offer subject to prior sale $50,000 5 per cent, 20-year first mortgage electric bonds. For further particulars, address Stephen D. Demmon & Co., 190 Washington street, Chicago, Ill., or Moscow E. L. & P. Co., Moscow, Idaho.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Monday opened school again with most of the students back. They were all rested by the spring vacation and ready for the remaining work of the year.

At the opening assembly after so pleasant a vacation, we were glad to have so noted a speaker as Rev. Stitt Wilson, who addressed us on "The Philosophical Basis of Education of the Twentieth Century." After his address many of the students met Mr. Wilson and at noon he took lunch with Professor and Mrs. Hodgkin.

Tuesday morning, Dr. Bunker spoke on "Petra" and "The Tabernacle of the Wilderness."

Tuesday being All Fool's Day even the wise people on the hill suffered and some of the professors were made to realize the fact that we are not always as sane as we might be.

In the evening the Normal girls and their gentlemen friends and the Freshmen class gave a surprise party on Professor Hodgkin in the form of a Mother Goose congress where every one came dressed as a Mother Goose character. The students arrived at Casa del Mesa just as the professor was retiring, which act caused a great deal of excitement. Many busy hands soon decorated the rooms with Mother Goose pictures and university pennants and the fun of the evening began immediately by numerous games skillfully planned from Mother Goose lore. One game consisted of coming as many words as possible from the two words, Mother Goose, in which Mr. Blittner was successful in obtaining the prize, some very prettily mounted pictures of U. S. N. buildings. Another game was the writing of Mother Goose rhymes to describe pictures which had been placed about the rooms. Dainty Mother Goose refreshments were served during the evening, consisting of tarts, animal cookies, orangeade and lettuce sandwiches.

At the close of the evening each one went fishing in a tub of bran and obtained a unique and personal souvenir of the occasion. As the guests left the party all were presented with Mother Goose dolls to remember the jolly evening by.

The merry company left at a late hour with many cheers for the professor and rolled away down the hill.

The Mirage was out the first of next week and will be a very good number twice its usual size. The staff has been at work hard and feel that this number should be a credit to the institution.

The senior class of 1902 met Wednesday and decided to have the commencement pictures taken by Mr. Bertman. The class day program was amended and will soon be announced. Next week a class in descriptive astronomy will be organized under Professor Haggin to meet from 10:30 to 12.

Neglect Means Danger. Don't neglect biliousness and constipation. Your health will suffer permanently if you do. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cure such cases. M. B. Smith, Butternut, Mich., says "DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the most satisfactory pills I ever took. Never gripes or causes nausea." J. H. O'Reilly & Co., B. H. Briggs & Co.

Election of Officers. At the regular meeting of Albuquerque Typographical union No. 304 the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

resident—James S. Black. Vice President—D. W. Parkinson. Secretary—Treasurer—Coral F. Roberts.

Executive Committee—Harman H. Wynkoop, John Stewart, Miss Emma Burgess. Sergeant at Arms—P. A. Skinner.

most satisfactory and the members of the choir cannot but praise Miss Boatright for her services as organist.

A Chattanooga Druggist's Statement. Robert J. Miller, proprietor of the Read House Drug Store of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "There is more merit in Foley's Honey and Tar than in any other cough syrup. The calls for it multiply wonderfully and we sell more of it than all other cough syrups combined." Alvarado Pharmacy.

Lost an Eye.

One of the hoboes ordered out of town by Judge Crawford on Saturday morning returned Saturday night, but he did not bring back with him as much as he took away. He got as far as Isleta, when he saw several peculiar looking brown discs at the side of the track. He began an investigation, tried to pull one to pieces and finally put it on a rail and hit it a blow. It was a torpedo and the investigator was thrown over backward. One of his eyes is injured and he was brought to this city. Dr. Pierce turned him over to Dr. Groves, the oculist, who has little hopes of saving the eye. The injured man gives his name as that of William Smith and says that his mother resides in Chicago.

Could Fill the Paper With Them. This paper might be filled with items like the following, and everyone be the absolute truth. I had rheumatism for years and tried almost everything, but got no permanent relief until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm, three bottles of which have cured me. It is the best medicine I ever used.—Philip E. Rhoads, Pennville, Mo. Pain Balm is for sale by all druggists.

Investigating Perkins' Scheme. S. L. Swartz and B. F. Jones, Jr., capitalists of Chicago, who arrived in the city on Saturday and have since been quartered at Sturges' European hotel, went down to Paul B. Perkins' pumping plant this morning to look over the ground. These gentlemen are backing the Perkins proposition and its future will be definitely known tonight. If the visiting capitalists think the scheme favorable the work will be pushed and 300 acres will immediately be put under irrigation.

The gentlemen, accompanied by Mr. Perkins, expect to return to Albuquerque this evening.

Chronic Bronchitis Cured. "For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Joseph Coffman, of Montmorenci, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar, and all say with satisfaction." Alvarado Pharmacy.

Chinese Exclusion Bill. Washington, April 7.—The house continued consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill, the bill being read for amendment. Mr. Kloburg, of Texas, spoke against the measure, under the five-minute rule.

Hon. Solomon Luna left this morning for the Magdalena country, where he will spend a few weeks looking after affairs connected with his sheep ranch. Sheep shearing is going on in that district these days.

Mrs. E. W. Spencer, who has been spending the winter at different places in Kansas, returned home this morning.
