TAOS.

From the Crescent.

Mrs. A. G. Stevens has returned from a several months' visit with her parents at McCook, Neb.

The county commissioners adjourned until their next meeting, the first Monday in June. On account of judgments against the general county fund and its crippled condition, nothing was paid out of it at that meeting.

The survey of the Manby addition to Taos has been completed to the extent of laying out about forty lots. A new street is to be opened up soon and, later, most of the lots have been spoken for.

Alex. Guedorf has completed the spring work in his orchard at Rancho. Mr. Guedorf has set out a hundred young trees, and as an experiment planted some peach trees, exposing them to the north. Formerly it was the custom to give them a location facing to the south, which had the disadvantage of an early budding of the trees, the late frost injuring the prospective fruit. We await with interest the outcome of this experiment. In about three weeks the orchard will be in bloom.

SILVER CITY.

From the Independent.

Miss Lida Taylor has taken a respite from her recent attack of pneumonia, and her friends are greatly concerned over her present condition, which is considered very serious.

The business men of the city have inaugurated a new street sprinkling system which makes the main streets free from dust during the day. A man has been employed each morning to water down the streets in the business portion of town with a large hose which was recently purchased by the city council.

C. W. Marriott, who recently was awarded the contract of carrying the mail between Silver City and Mogollon, states that as soon as he takes charge he will endeavor to get the Mogollon residents to petition the department to have the stage coming this way leave Mogollon an hour earlier so as to get to Silver City in time to make connection with the outgoing passenger train. As the schedule of the stage is at the present time it gets to Silver City just a little too late to catch the train, and passengers who are going out on the train have to lay over until the next evening, which makes it very inconvenient to some.

A large flock of grousebeaks made merry chatter in the orchard of George H. Cross on the south side. The birds are of rich plumage, resembling tiny parrots, and raise the Pacific coast from Patagonia to Alaska. It is rare that they take the Rocky mountain route in their spring migration trip northward, but they very often appear here on their flight southward in the fall.

If it be true that coming events cast their shadows before, the Sisters of Loreto may consider their bazaar a splendid success. About forty of Santa Fe's representative ladies honored the meeting held on Tuesday last, with their presence. Many matters of importance relative to the bazaar were discussed, chairman for various committees were appointed, and all passed off without any discordant incidents. This, however, is no subject for surprise as each one in attendance was the personification of amiability and good will. The time appointed for the opening of the bazaar is May 14.

With type-setting machines, a new and fast press, a complete linotype, the latest novelties in type, capable reporters, popular proprietors and editors and an outside man who generally gets "most" to the few people who are not subscribers to the paper, it is not such a difficult matter to understand why the dollars of the public flow into the coffers of The Citizen.

One of the saddest accidents on record and one which every member of our little village circle feels most keenly is the death of Mary, the bright little 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lohman. During the past year the child has been attending school at Visitation academy, where she was universally loved by both teachers and pupils. Last Tuesday morning little Mary complained of not feeling well and it was decided that she should spend the day at home. How soon, however, her innocence, she set fire to her clothing with the matches with which she was playing and before her mother could remove her from the flames the poor child's body was burned so badly that death relieved her of her sufferings in a few hours after.

On Wednesday night or early Thursday morning the Cash bargain store on First street, owned by S. I. Amurphy, was burglarized and goods amounting to about $200 stolen. The burglars entered from the rear, by forcing the panels of the back door. On the same night a private house was entered, but no thing was stolen.

Louis was thrown pretty hard, but not hurt, and got another horse at Trout springs on which to return home. The subject for debate was, "Resolved, That the United States Should Confer Independence Upon the Philippines." How the paper caught fire is a mystery which has not been solved.

Las Vegas has fallen down on getting outside parties to build a smelter, and will erect a copper smelter with home capital. When the New Mexico towns quit depending on foreign capital for home enterprises they will have more solid prosperity.

The manufacturers of "potheen," or ill-tasting whiskey in Ireland are apparently more numerous than the moonshiners of Kentucky, for during the year ending March 31, 1901, there were 2,000 illicit stills discovered in the provinces of Ulster, Connaught and Munster.

Heresy is a dangerous thing. Two New Jersey young men who were candidates for the ministry were turned down because they held that Adam and Eve were myths. It doesn't make so much difference about Adam, but with Eve and the apple story discredited where would man's excuse for wrong-doing come in?

A tree is a life. It is a wonderful creation from almost any standpoint. In this country, especially, a live tree in full foliage almost seems something abnormal. For one thing, its ability to withstand the sunshine is something remarkable. The fierce sun warms lumber, blisters paint off it, and burns the skin of the human visage, yet the trees of the valley hang out in it and seem happy.

It is no longer really necessary to urge city people to plant trees—they understand it and the long line of trees are extending on almost every street. But now we would propose that they plant more vines. Cover the side of the houses with a woodbine or a clematis and it will be at least a degree cooler in summer. Both these vines are hardy, healthy, easy of growth, cheap in price, and a perennial addition to the homelike features of a habitation.

Hon. Ringer Hermann, commissioner of the general land office, with the approval of Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, has made a report to congress against the passage of the bill to provide for leasing, for grazing purposes, unoccupied lands in the public domain, and in making his report, Mr. Hermann declares that the whole business is a huge "graft," being engineered by some wealthy cattle men, to get possession of the public domain in all western states, amounting to some 525,000,000 acres.

The Pueblo Chieftain in an editorial on trees, says: "As to varieties of trees, the elm, ash, ox elder, maple and Russian mulberry are the standards in the way of shade trees, and the Russian olive and hardy willow are pleasing variations. No poplar tree will do well for borers will riddle it. In apple trees the Ben Davis (Gano) is an improved Ben Davis is the only one that does best here, with Yellow Transparent, Duchesse and Wealthy as variations. The best fruit tree for Pueblo county is the plum. The trees mentioned grow splendidly in this section of New Mexico, and are the best known varieties."

TAX ON WHEAT.
England is about to depart from her traditional policy of free trade. She has provided for a tariff tax on corn and flour. A deficit of $225,000,000 confronts the British ministry. In the attempt to assassinate liberty in South Africa, and to destroy the Boer republic, Britain has not only sacrificed her best blood, but as well brought herself dangerously near bankruptcy. As a remedy she turns her back on the established policy of three-fourths of a century and proposes to tax every loaf of bread consumed by her people. It remains to be seen how the people of England will receive this measure.

EL PASO'S DAM SCHEME.
The international dam crowd at El Paso is making desperate efforts to get its bill through congress, raising the national treasury to the tune of $2,317,000, says the Denver News. Representative Stephens has had a bill pending for this purpose, and the committee on foreign affairs in the house was about ready to knock it on the head by an adverse report when Representative Burleson saved it by introducing a substitute. The substitute authorizes the secretary of state to negotiate a treaty with Mexico relative to the "equitable distribution" of the waters of the Rio Grande, and, when that is accomplished, an appropriation of $2,317,000 shall be made for the international dam at El Paso. The check of this international dam crowd is monumental. They are not only attempting to kill off a legitimate private enterprise—the Elephant Butte dam—and to raid the national treasury for the cash to construct a so called international dam at El Paso, but they are now proposing to divide with Mexico the waters of the Rio Grande in utter disregard of the welfare, rights and interests of the people of New Mexico and Colorado. A more villainous scheme was never planned, or one more subversive of the prosperity of nearly 1,000,000 people. It was bad enough to ruin a private enterprise and loot the national treasury, but to give to a foreign nation the water that belongs to the people of a state and of a territory, soon to become a state, is simply monstrous. The Burleson substitute is as bad, if not worse, than the original bill, and should be as vigorously fought.

KNOCKED OUT.
A special dispatch from Washington to the Denver News says:
The object of building an international dam between the United States and Mexico at El Paso will probably be given a quietus by the house committee on foreign relations in a few days. An opinion on the bill is now daily looked for from the state department and the attorney general's office to which place the matter has been referred by the committee. It is said that the attorney general will advise that congress should attempt nothing in this line of legislation until the case of the Elephant Butte Dam company is settled by the supreme court. He will state that it is no more than just that this company's right to a share of the waters of the Rio Grande should be settled before a treaty is entered into with Mexico which might affect their holdings.

Hills providing that the secretary of state shall enter into a treaty with Mexico with a view to having that country accept the building a dam at El Paso and half the waters thus conserved as settlement for all past and future claims against this country for violation of water rights have been introduced in both the senate and house. The house bill was introduced by Mr. Stephens, of Texas. It was referred to the committee on foreign affairs and that committee in turn referred it to the secretary of state. The attorney general was asked to pass upon the right of the state department to negotiate such a treaty. The attorney general has examined closely into the merits of the bill and will, without much doubt, make the recommendation that the state department be not asked to attempt a treaty with Mexico until present cases involving the water supply of the region in question are cleared up.

Delegate Rodney, of New Mexico, appeared before the attorney general in behalf of the territory, the people of which, he said, would be done a great injustice were the plans of the Stephens bill carried out, as by its terms would never be allowed to take any more water from the Rio Grande than they are taking at present.

PIONEER OF SIXTY-SIX.

H. H. Stanley, Who Came to Pinos Altos in 1866, Dies in That Camp.

Henry H. Stanley, one of the pioneers of one of the oldest American mining camps in the southwest, died at his home in Pinos Altos at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon of a complication of diseases, says the Silver City Enterprise. Mr. Stanley was 56 years of age, and came to Pinos Altos thirty-six years ago, during the rush of 1866. Of the many hundreds of miners who flocked to the newly discovered El Dorado in those strenuous days following the civil war, only three are left to tell the tale of those early struggles with poverty, cold and Indian arrows. They are Alvah Mason, John Wilson and Judge Houston. Mr. Stanley was considered one of the best mill men in the country and many years ago erected the Stanley mill, which still remains intact as the remnant of a departed glory. Mr. Stanley is survived by one son, H. S. Stanley, his wife having died last spring.

KILLED AT FIERRO.

Sipriano Negrette Struck and Instantly Killed by Falling Rock.

Last Thursday, during the noon hour, Sipriano Negrette, employed on Union Hill at Fierro by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, was struck by a falling rock from a blast and instantly killed. Negrette, hearing the shot, ran behind a tree leaning part of his body exposed. A stray piece of rock, weighing about twenty-five pounds, struck him on the back, breaking every rib on one side of his body and crushing the L-6. Death was almost instantaneous.

Negrette was a native of the state of Jalisco, Mexico, and was about 30 years of age.

A coroner's jury was held Thursday evening, at which a verdict of accidental death was rendered.

LEASERS BEATEN.

Bowersock Bill, Dealing With Public Domain, Will Not Be Reported.

ANTONIO SANDOVAL GRANT.

A special dispatch to the Denver News, from Washington, under date of April 16, says:

The house committee on public lands considered the Bowersock bill, which provides for the leasing for grazing purposes of vacant public domain. Although no action was taken by the committee it was practically decided that the bill will never be reported. The commissioner of the general land office, Ringer Hermann, was present and he gave his views on the leasing of public lands. He said such a bill would practically repeal the homestead law, the desert land law and the timber culture law. It would give preference to the large cattle holder and crowd out the smaller growers. The views of the commissioner were practically accepted by the members of the committee.

This action on the Bowersock bill, it was said after the committee meeting, would not necessarily end efforts to bring about legislation for the relief of the stock growers of the west. There are two other grazing bills in the hands of the committee and although both are in a measure similar to the Bowersock bill, they will be duly considered and hearings held. Then, too, there may be an attempt on the part of a committee to draw up a bill that will be suitable and stand a chance of passing. It is the general opinion that such a bill ought to permanently guarantee the rights of homesteaders in the stock districts. It is not likely that Mr. Lacey, of Iowa, the chairman of the public lands committee, will be the framer of such a bill.

Casa Grande Ruins.

The sundry civil bill as reported to the senate has a provision authorizing the expenditure of $2,400 for a survey of the eastern boundary of the Yellowstone park and an additional appropriation of $2,000 for repair of the Casa Grande ruins, and leaves undisturbed in the bill as passed by the house several items of considerable importance to Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho and New Mexico.

Antonio Sandoval Grant.

Delegate Rodney today introduced a bill granting lands in New Mexico to aid in the construction of the Santa Fe railway and the Albuquerque Eastern railway and the construction of telegraph lines in connection therewith. This line is to be constructed from Santa Fe southward to Torrance, a point on the El Paso & Northern railway about 120 miles, and from Albuquerque, Bernalillo county, eastward to a connection with the first mentioned railroad, a distance of about forty miles, share and share alike. The land is within the limits of a private land claim known as the Antonio Sandoval grant. The bill excludes mineral lands from its operation, with the exception that the word mineral shall not be held to include iron or coal.

Deaf Printer Killed.

Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock, engine 430, running light, struck and instantly killed a deaf mute printer named Orange J. Kennedy, at Cherokee siding, four miles west of Peach Springs. The man was walking on the track outside of the rails and although the engineer sounded a warning whistle he appeared not to hear it. The pilot beam struck him in the back knocking him off the track. When the engine was stopped and backed up the man was found to be dead. The body was taken onto the engine and taken to Kingman, where an inquest was held. From letters on his person his identity was learned. He has a brother, mother and sister living in Colorado Springs. He was apparently working his way to the coast and had worked for the Winslow Mail after the death of Colonel Wallace. Undertaker Emerson took charge of the remains, and the relatives have been notified.—Kingman (Ariz.) Miner.

PRECIOUS STONES.

Where They Are Found in the United States.

The principal states of interest concerning precious stones during the year 1901 are as follows:

The yield of sapphires in Fergus county, Mont., was greater this year than in 1900, and two companies are now mining in the region where the blue stone is found. Exploration for the many fancy-colored sapphires has been carried on still further in the Rock Creek region, Granite county, Mont.

The deposits of rhodolite garnet in the Coconino valley, Maricopa county, Ariz., was worked extensively. Mining for dark blue, green, and yellow beryls, for amethysts, and for emerald matrix was carried on in North Carolina.

The tourmaline deposits at Mea Grande, San Diego county, Cal., were actively worked, and a new nearby deposit was discovered. The localities described in previous reports of this survey as producing the golden green chrysoprase have been purchased, or a control of them for a stated period has been acquired, and more or less mining for this mineral has been carried on.

Several new turquoise companies have been formed, so that seven companies are now actively engaged in mining that material, and are placing it on the market, accompanied by their respective trademarks as a guarantee that such stones as may change in color will be exchanged for others. New Mexico is the chief source of the turquoise supply.

The finding of one diamond in Lee county, Ga., is of interest as coming from a new region.

Epidoite crystals, magnificent as regards size and crystallization, have been found in Prince of Wales island, Alaska.

STOCK NOTES

J. Weil, a cattle buyer from California, has been spending several weeks in Grant county looking after some purchases of stock cattle.

The Lyons & Campbell Cattle company of Grant and Luna counties, will, on or about the 15th of May, make a good shipment of cattle from Silver City to their Colorado ranges.

One of the largest cattle and ranch deals in a long time has just been closed. Ryan Brothers of Leavenworth, Kan., have sold to C. J. Hysam, of Wyoming, 25,000 head of cattle and their 300,000-acre Arizona ranch property. This makes Mr. Hysam one of the very largest range cattle and ranch owners in the world.

The majority of the stock on the ranges of southern New Mexico is looking very good at the present time, although in some places water is getting scarce. Most of the cattlemen are feeling very good, however, over the condition in which their stock has come through the winter. It is to be hoped that the rainy season will commence early this year, as it would be of great benefit to them.

Deil Holson, of Grant county, sold all his cattle to Joe Weil, of California, at $15 per head, this year's calf crop thrown in, cattle to be delivered at Goshen, Cal., by Mr. Holson, but the buyer pays all the expenses, including freight charges. The seller stands all losses above a certain per cent. W. H. Jack also sold about 300 head on substantially the same terms. The cattle are to be loaded out on the 22nd inst.

The stock yards at Silver City have recently been put in excellent shape by the railroad officials in anticipation of heavy spring cattle shipments from Silver City. Formerly the cattlemen shipping from that town were unable to secure sufficient water for their cattle while loading, but the company has dug a good well which has an exceedingly large flow of water and which will be ample for all purposes. The yards otherwise have been greatly repaired, the cattle shippers using the yards at Silver City in the future will be sure of the best facilities to be obtained in this section of the country.

Probably the largest wool shearing here that has ever occurred at one place in the mountain states will be pulled off within the next thirty days at the shearing pens of Walter James at Black Rock station in Millard county, Utah, during which 150 men will be employed. There will be 170,000 head of sheep to clip, the fifty flocks, owned by as many individuals and companies, ranging in number from 2,500 to 13,000 head in each flock. From these will be sheared more than 1,000,000 pounds of wool, worth at least $125,000. Each sheep ought to yield an average of six pounds of wool. In order to accomplish the task it will be necessary to shear 1,133 sheep daily.

The faithfulness of two shepherd dogs who watched over the lifeless body of their master during two weeks of a great blizzard in western Wyoming is given as an incident of canine integrity. H. W. Moody, a herder for the Pacific sheep company, disappeared on the 13th of December and his frozen body was found in a ravine near Lost creek on the 29th. The dogs were keeping coyotes and other dogs away from the body and were subsisting on the meat of sheep that had succumbed to the blizzard. While relatives of the herder took charge of his body, other humanitarians looked after the two intelligent dogs and have given them the best to be had since that time. The dogs were photographed and were expressed to the family of the deceased herder residing at Decatur, Ark.

SANTA FE SURVEYING.

Proposed Southern Cut Off Is Being Investigated by Management.

F. Meredith Jones, the well known civil engineer who for so many years has been in the employ of the Santa Fe railroad, is paying a brief visit to his family, they being residents of Las Vegas, says the Optic.

Mr. Jones for some weeks has been at Portales, in the Pecos valley, but is now on his way to Belen, or rather to the section of country a little south of that place. His headquarters, however, will be at Belen. He is engaged upon the survey of what has been called the Santa Fe cut-off—a line to leave the Pecos valley system at Portales, run a little north of west till it crosses the Santa Fe a few miles south of Belen and ultimately connects with the Santa Fe Pacific about fifty miles west of Albuquerque.

The object of this cut off is to shorten the Santa Fe route between Chicago and California, it being claimed that such a line will make the Santa Fe fully fifty miles shorter than the present Rock Island line. At present the Rock Island is so much shorter than the Santa Fe that it has been able to secure from the government the California mail, which the Santa Fe so long carried.

Of course, Mr. Jones cannot say whether the cut off line will be built or not. He knows that it is being carefully surveyed, with estimates and that the proposed line will be quite feasible both as to directness of route and cost of construction.

Much conjecture has been engaged in concerning the effect such a cut off would have in north central New Mexico, the section through which now runs the Santa Fe's main line. The Optic does not believe that this section would be at all damaged by the cut off. Of course, the portion of the territory through which it may run will be largely benefitted thereby, but this will be a benefit to the entire territory instead of damage to any part of it.

On the other hand, only fast freight and fast through passengers and fast through mails, would use the cut off.

All other travel and traffic would seek the old route through the more desirable, healthful and picturesque portions of the territory. In fact, the Optic doubts should the cut off be constructed, whether the ordinary traveler or citizen would see any difference along the old line.

CONDEMNED.

In Missouri and Confiscated in New York.

Judge Clarke, of St. Louis, has convicted and fined heavily a number of grocers for selling baking powders containing alum.

The week before the health department of New York seized a quantity of stuff being sold for baking powder, which they found was alum mixed with ground rock, and dumped it into the river.

The health authorities are thus taking effective means to prevent the introduction into our markets of injurious substitutes in place of wholesome baking powders.

Alum costs only 2 cents a pound, there is a great temptation for those manufacturers who make substitutes and imitation goods, to use it. Alum baking powders can be detected by the health authorities by chemical analysis, but the ordinary housekeeper, whose assistance in protecting the health of the people is important, cannot make a chemical examination. She may easily know the alum powders, however, from the fact that they are sold at from 10 to 20 cents for a pound can, or that some prize—like a spoon, or glass, or piece of crockery, or wooden ware—is given with the powder as an inducement.

As the people continue to realize the importance of this subject and consumers insist on having baking powder of established name and character, and as the health authorities continue their vigorous crusades, the alum danger will, it is hoped, finally be driven from our homes.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

The Misses Caldwell, of Indiana, visited the school the early part of the week.

The Mirage came out Wednesday and was an excellent issue. There were many funny and apt local and a number of original stories. This issue might be called a story number, as it consisted almost entirely of excellent articles. Miss Brewer did good work in the exchange column and Miss Cunningham's "Facts" and business items were creditable.

Red is the fashion on the hill just now, although the trees are coming out very fast. "There is a cause for all things," and undoubtedly the fact of red being so popular just now is the following story: "One morning a young man appeared with a very fiery red tie and the young ladies made so many remarks that the tie disappeared. However, the next morning the girls came trooping up the hill with red neckties, red belts and large red bows in their hair. The young man had donned a very 'mexican' tie, but when he saw the red bedecked brigade he very mysteriously appeared in a short time with the old much laughed at specimen and there were many looks as he walked into assembly, but little said as the far seeing 'deep blue' eyes of the president were very wide open and very much dazzled. Red will be worn on the hill until some other daring youth dons some softer hue in the shape of a cravat.

Prof. Tight has given a series of very interesting and instructive lectures.

ONE WORD IN TIME

Is Better Than Two Afterwards—A Chance to Profit by a Kansas City Man's Experience.

It is a strange thing how people will put away an opportunity until too late; it's only little things that go to make up our everyday existence; the trouble is we don't pay sufficient attention to them. Backache is a little thing. Sometimes it comes after a hard day's work, or a slight cold. It will pass off, you say. It's only the result of overtaking my back. It isn't the fault of your back, but your kidneys. The exertion or straining has interfered with their delicate mechanism. You call it backache, but it really is kidney ache. If the kidneys are not relieved, chronic disorders set in, and this is where the "little thing" should not be passed over. A Kansas City man has learned to appreciate what delay means.

Mr. James Egan, of 1612 St. Louis avenue, Kansas City, Mo., employed by the Abernathy Furniture Co., says: "I first felt kidney complaint six or seven years ago. I paid little attention to it, but it kept growing worse, and any slight cold caused severe pain across my back. In my work it greatly inconvenienced me and I could not rest at night, but rolled and tossed about so that when morning came I was as tired and unrefreshed as the night before. I took every kind of medicine I knew of, or that was recommended to me, but without relief, until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I soon noticed a decided improvement and continued the treatment until the backache disappeared; my general health improved and I felt better than for years."

RETRIBUTION IS RENDERED.

Man Slayer Meets the Fate He Had Inflicted Years Ago.

Joe Richley, a former Santa Fe passenger conductor whom every one in Las Vegas perfectly remembers, in writing to a friend here sends a slip from a Mexican paper published in English, says the Optic.

The account tells how Al Harris, a conductor, was attacked by people on his train whom he wished to put off because they had not paid their fares. Harris was stabbed a number of times and so seriously injured that he died in a short while.

It will be remembered that some years ago Harris attacked and killed Jack King, a popular bar tender, in a saloon where Phil Doll's curio store now is. It was generally considered that Harris had committed a cold blooded murder, the provocation in the first place not having been worthy of death, while sufficient time had elapsed between the provocation, such as it was, and the killing, to enable Harris to become calm and collected.

Harris was given fifteen years in the pen, greatly to the surprise of all, who thought he should have received a death sentence. He served out a part of his time, was pardoned, went to Mexico, and now has illustrated the statement that "Who so sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed."

Mr. Edwards Happy.

Department Commander J. W. Edwards says he is fully repaid for the work in connection with the encampment of the Grand Army. This morning C. E. Burg walked into Mr. Edwards' parlors and said: "Mr. Edwards, this is my friend, Mr. F. S. Van Volkenburgh, of Los Placitas. Perhaps if you will think awhile you may remember the name."

"My God, Van, is this you of company F. Fourteenth Indiana?" was Mr. Edwards amazed question.

The two men were in the same company and had not seen each other since 1862. The publication of the sketch of Mr. Edwards in The Citizen brought about the meeting.

A Good Fruit Year.

The farmers of central and southern New Mexico say that as far as their section is concerned all danger of frost is now over and that indications point to the finest fruit crop produced for many years. All sorts of vegetation are now growing apace. It is said that garden truck is more than two weeks farther advanced than it was at this time last year. There is, however, urgent need for a good soaking rain.

THINGS TO EAT

Are Going Up Higher in Prices All the Time.

POINTERS FOR POOR.

The only safe course for the economical man since the beef trust put all its prices in the balloon is to live on a light diet of water and air, with sunshine for dessert. Why? Because hanging out the beef trust balloon is a string including even poultry, butter and eggs. All these things have, or are going up because beef went up. When beef went up the people turned it down, so to speak, and made a voracious attack upon poultry, butter and eggs. The men who had control of these things saw it was harvest time and they made haste to reap advanced prices, their granaries now bulging with the golden garnering.

Soaring in Gotham.

A dispatch from New York tells of the way it strikes the Gothamites as follows:

"New York, April 17.—Popular price restaurants at this city have advanced prices of steaks and roasts of beef an average of 5 cents, owing to the continued rise in the price of beef.

"High-priced restaurants have made no change, as their margin of profit is larger.

"Retail prices for fresh vegetables, butter, eggs, poultry, beans and even canned goods are now quoted at the markets from 10 to 40 per cent higher than a year ago."

A Few Figures.

A New York paper, now engaged in a bitter war against the mighty beef trust, presents the following interesting figures, showing how food prices have gone up within a year:

	1902.	1901.
Butter	32 cts.	22 cts.
Porterhouse steaks	30 cts.	24 cts.
Sirloin	22 cts.	16 cts.
Rib roasts	22 cts.	16 cts.
Round steaks	20 cts.	13 cts.
"Chuck" steaks	14 cts.	8 cts.
Log of lamb	21 cts.	16 cts.
Lamb chops	28 cts.	20 cts.
Poultry	15 cts.	10 cts.
Potatoes (per bbl.)	$2.25	$1.50
Dried fruits	11 cts.	6 1/2 cts.

At Chicago.

A recent dispatch from Chicago tells of the marked decrease in the visible supply of beef and provisions to such an extent as to lead to the suspicion that the beef trust is engineering a corner. This is claimed by traffic officials, who say that it has only been necessary to lower rates on shipping to start beef and provisions scurrying across the country in large quantities. The transportation rates have been lowered, going down 20 per cent March 26, but nobody has seen any beef moving. It is suspected that the big packers have cornered it and will hold the consumer for a while to line the coffers of the trust.

Here in Albuquerque.

The high prices for vegetables have not struck the territorial metropolis, according to trustworthy statements of produce men and other local dealers, and they are not likely to come this way unless there is a perfect famine elsewhere, and the local gardeners and truck raisers are called upon for supplies. No one article in the vegetable line is higher this year than last season, but with eggs and poultry it is a different proposition. The beef-eaters no sooner learned of the increased tax on their favorite steaks and roasts than they turned to eggs and poultry. This has made eggs 5 cents a dozen higher all over the country than last year, the present local retail price being 30 cents for shipped in eggs and 35 cents per dozen for ranch eggs.

It is the same way with butter. The cows are being fattened for this high beef market back east and elsewhere instead of being allowed to furnish a butter supply, and the result is a scarcity in butter that makes a difference of from 5 to 10 cents a pound on the retail price. Albuquerque dealers declare that good creamery butter is that much higher than it was last year at that time. Of course, there is plenty of oleomargarine and other butter stuffs in the market.

Poultry is comparatively scarce because the raisers sold off their stock largely and because they want to keep what they have to lay eggs to catch the high egg prices.

It really doesn't make much difference what you like—it is bound to go up, for the beef trust catches you coming and it catches you going, and the only way for a man to live within his income is to subsist on hot water roasts, hot air chops and Rio Grande valley sunshine pudding.

SOUP FROM ASPARAGUS ENDS.

Various Ways of Serving This Most Succulent Vegetable.

Asparagus is usually served on toast with a dressing of butter or of cream sauce, but there are a multitude of other delicious ways in which to cook it, so that even a prolonged use of it need not weary the palate.

In many households the tough lower portions of the stalk are always wasted, but these may be utilized in making a most delicious soup. Save the water in which the tender portions of the vegetable have been cooked and cook the tough ends in it until they are soft, then mash and rub them through a coarse sieve. Add to this pulp and a pint of the water in which it was cooked one pint of scalding hot milk which has been thickened with two tablespoonfuls of flour rubbed smoothly in two tablespoonfuls of butter.

ter. Season to taste, add half a cupful of sweet cream and a few of the tender tips. The recipe makes a most delicate, healthful and economical soup. Asparagus on toast or in cases of baking powder blacuit served with cream sauce is always a favorite way of preparing it. Served with a Hollandaise sauce it is even more delicious. As an omelet or simply served with eggs it is also very pleasing. Combined with cold chicken, a little bit of pate de foie gras and mayonnaise, very appetizing canapes may be made with it.

As a salad, asparagus is considered by many in its best guise. In this way it may either be simply served with a French dressing or combined with shrimps, with green peas or potatoes. As it is not particularly nice when warmed over, any that is left from a meal should be utilized in this way.

Medicated while still warm with a simple French dressing, and when cold packed in ice and salt and frozen, it will be found very cooling and delightful on a hot day.

Irish Great People.

J. H. O'Reilly has been chosen president of the New Mexico Territorial Fair association. The Irish are great people where fairs are concerned, and President O'Reilly will very likely prove the truth of this saying when the trial balance of the 1902 affair is given to the public.—San Marcial Bee.

DEMING.

Special Correspondence.

Deming, N. M., April 19, 1902.—Col. P. R. Smith is expected home the latter part of next week with a number of capitalists and engineers from the east, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, who are visiting this country to consummate a large mining and smelting proposition on which Colonel Smith has been engaged for some weeks past. Everything looks favorable, and it is thought that there will not even be any delay in putting the matter through.

Early Wednesday morning some Mexicans going home from a baile raised a rough house, with the result that one or two of them were pretty badly cut up.

Mr. Jastro, the president and manager of the Victoria Land and Cattle company, arrived in Deming yesterday, for a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Grier.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Byron entertained her friends with cards, and an excellent supper, given to speed the parting guest, her sister, Mrs. Meredith. In spite of the regret with which they contemplated Mrs. Meredith's departure the ladies enjoyed the afternoon immensely, and are still talking of it.

Last night the Deming Social club gave another of their delightful dances at which all the young people who could absent themselves from preaching were present and enjoyed themselves.

Rev. Merton Smith, evangelist, has been holding tent meetings in Deming for the past week or more and last night made so eloquent a plea that a number responded and stood up. He seems to be doing his work, for the hearers of the west and announced himself as highly pleased with his efforts in Deming. He has part of the entertainment, however, is Miss Augustine's singing, which is fine and very sweet.

The Electric light company now say that they will have the electric lights running about the first of the month. Let us hope so.

Mrs. A. B. Walton and daughter, mother and sister of W. B. Walton, of Silver City, passed through Deming Tuesday evening on route to Los Angeles for festival season.

A Good Association.

N. E. Stevens, general agent for the Montezuma Savings, Loan & Building association, has arranged to meet with our business men and property owners, Monday evening at 7 o'clock, in the Hyde bank room. Many towns and cities owe their growth greatly to associations of this kind, but like every business enterprise, while many are very good, some are very bad. However, the Albuquerque organization is of the highest standing and has done much for that city.—Farmington Hustler.

Horse Thief Captured.

Sheriff Goodell came in from Solomonsville Monday with the thief who stole J. S. Antonello's horse, when he was working on the grade of the Blue road. He stopped over here, took the man before Judge McGrath, who bound him over to appear before the grand jury, and then took him to Silver City, where, if he does not escape, he will stay in jail until court meets in the fall.—Lordsburg Liberal.

A Cold Storage Plant for Roswell.

H. P. Hobson has decided to build a cold storage plant at Roswell. The building is to be of red sandstone, two stories high and will have a front of 27 feet and a depth of 75 feet. It will be a handsome structure. On the second floor is to be a hall for fraternity uses.

The plant is to be used for storing meats only.

Killed Two Big Wolves.

The largest bounty ever given for gray wolf scalps in northern New Mexico was paid a few days ago by the citizens of the Pont district, Colfax county, to Pete Gibson, for the capture of two wolves which have created havoc among their herds. A spring Gibson put in two weeks killing the two wolves and received therefor $250.

Dr. John Roger Haynes, well known here, has gone to Park View, Rio Arriba county, where he will probably locate and practice his profession.

The government is investigating several complaints of unlawful seizure of mining claims on the In an reservation in the Gila river district, Arizona.

One of the very worst days of the past twelve months is today, but those who have braved such weather in past years paid no attention whatever to the wind.

Dr. E. D. Harper, T. N. Hinch, Emil Wilmann, John R. Brown, John Kennedy and Stephen Canavan are here to attend court. They came in this morning from Gallup.

The work of papering, painting and repairing has been commenced on the Barnett building next to the postoffice, which is soon to be occupied by S. Vann & Son, jewelers.

Word comes from Denver that Bert Jones, the ball pitcher now with Colorado Springs in the Western league, has wrenched his back and will be out of the game for several weeks.

Gallup, the prosperous town out west in McKinley county, is well represented in the metropolis. Quite a crowd of first-class people of that town are now here attending court.

It is reported in Kingman, Arizona, that the C. O. D. Mines company is preparing to sink a new deep working shaft on the C. O. D. mine. The old shaft is not in shape for extensive work, and it would require as great an expenditure to put it in shape as it would to sink a big working shaft.

Mannette oil stock in Albuquerque is now held at 25 cents instead of 10 cents. R. J. Turnbull, president of the company, has taken his family to Alabama and will return immediately to take charge of the work. In the meantime a California expert is looking out for matters on the ground.

Andy Vittiger, who owns a ranch near the Mannette Oil company's oil well, commenced drilling a three-inch well some time ago for water. He is now down the foot with plenty of water so impregnated with oil that it cannot be used. He claims that he went through the oil near the surface, about sixty feet before he struck the water.

The other night R. Green was taken with a severe cramp in the leg which spread over the entire right side, causing a numbness almost like paralysis, from which he has not entirely recovered.

The work at the smelter is making a good showing now and our people are taking a great interest in its progress. A few days ago a strong flow of water was opened in the big well so that the water question is practically settled. Ore is being received regularly and the outlook for a plentiful supply is good. In a talk with the writer a few days ago, a business man who has been traveling in the southern part of the territory, said that the mining men in that region are watching with great anxiety for the works here to start up, and that large quantities of ore will be shipped here by them, reasonable freight rates can be secured.

BLAND.

From the Herald.

Mrs. Joseph Routledge was quite ill. Wild turkeys are reported to be plentiful hereabouts and local hunters are preparing to go north and kill.

A log cabin near the compressor, belonging to the Navajo company, was destroyed by fire last Friday night.

It was evidently the work of an incendiary, as the cabin had been vacant for a long time. This makes the second fire in that neighborhood within the past three weeks, and the people of this camp are justly indignant over the outrages. Someone in this community is responsible for these fires and the culprit will be caught sooner or later if he persists in the notorious practice.

A report came to town that William Jones had been seriously injured at P. S. Blake's ranch, while riding a bronco. As near as we can learn, the horse fell, entangling Mr. Jones underneath and crushing his leg in a horrible manner, the bone protruding through the flesh. Amputation may be necessary. Dr. E. G. Condit and family departed for Eureka, Colo., where he will go into the mining business with his father, E. C. Condit. Dr. and Mrs. Condit made many friends during their residence here, who will wish them the greatest measure of success in their new home.

The Animas river is getting higher and higher each day. Not much water is taken out as yet this season for irrigation purposes, as the ditches are not yet cleaned and the farmer must wait for this before commencing to irrigate, even then, however, the difference will not be perceptible. The Animas, you know, is a river, not a rivulet, and the water that is taken out for irrigation purposes in this county cuts a very small figure in proportion to its total flow.

Died, last Sunday, Oduis, the little son of Mrs. James Tomerlin, of typhoid fever. The recording of this call is particularly sad, as it was only two weeks ago that the Headlight was called to speak of the death of the father of little Oduis.

A rather serious cutting affray between a lot of drunken Mexicans occurred in front of the Cabinet saloon. When it was over, one homicide was found with his entrails ripped open, another cut in the breast just below the heart and several other cuts and scratches in various places. One man is in jail awaiting results, one or two in the hospital and probably some on the dodge to keep from being known in the affair.

Russell—Brusoe.

Yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception Harry E. Russell and Miss Jennie Brusoe, well known and popular young people of this city, were united in the sacred bonds of matrimony. Rev. A Pleasant Surprise.

Miss Lena Fisher was royally assisted by her friends in celebrating her 16th birthday last evening. About 7:30 many of her schoolmates invaded her home at the corner of New York avenue and Sixth street and spent a most enjoyable evening. Those who joined in the surprise were Misses Edick, McClure, Hayden, Stanford, Rankin, Gonzales, Harsch, Kike, Faber, Messers White, Stamm, Adelson, Sturges, Hayden, Clancy, Hopkins, Johnson, Rankin, Staub, McClure, Faber.

SAN MARCIAL.

Special Correspondence.

San Marcial, N. M., April 23.—L. M. Laidley has returned from Rosado, where he has been on special business.

A. J. Hilton, of San Antonio, passed through here today for the south.

E. W. Brown and some other parties sold quite a number of fine horses to the British government at a fair price.

The passenger train for the north was about six hours late this morning.

The crops around San Marcial seem to be smiling very lively as the 365 days in the year run lively on them.

A Euchre Party.

Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Chamberlin entertained last evening with progressive euchre. The first prize, a bouquet of forget-me-nots, was captured by Mrs. S. S. Baker, and the consolation prize of a pretty bunch of marguerites was awarded to Mr. Kooey of Omaha.

Those present were Judge and Mrs. R. S. Baker and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, of Omaha, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stingle, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Spencer, Miss Stingle and Miss Titus.

Will Not Dance.

An aggravated case of spring fever and its consequent mental derangement caused the announcement to appear in this paper last evening that the Vivace club would give a dance at the Congregational church on Saturday evening. It will not be a dance but a concert. The dancing was done today in this office.

Family Skipped Out.

H. W. Way and family of Las Vegas, have skipped and left the furnishings in their apartments for the creditors to sell. H. C. Coleman, a nephew who was driver at Grant & Hayward's, left with them. Their destination is unknown, but it is supposed that they went to greener fields—Reno.

A New Newspaper.

G. E. Ellis has established a news paper office at Portales, Chaves county, which will publish the Portales Herald. The first issue will appear on May 1. Portales now has 700 people, while in the immediate vicinity live 700 people more.

Caught in the Machinery.

Francisco Martinez was badly hurt in mill at Brazos, Rio Arriba county, by being caught in the machinery. His clothes were torn completely from his body by the belting, two of his fingers were torn out and he was badly bruised and shocked.

A Track Meet.

Prof. A. M. Suberland, of the college at Las Cruces, is in the city today trying to arrange for a track meet to be held here before June 1. It is his desire to have teams representing the different educational institutions meet here.

Superintendent of Santa Fe.

C. H. Gaunt, was in the city on inspection.

J. H. Booth will return to Kansas City. He was a passenger brakeman north of this city.

Dr. J. P. Kaster, surgeon-in-chief for the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Topeka, is in the city on official business.

Fred Schultz, fireman on the Santa Fe branch, in place of the regular fireman, is laying off on account of a mangled finger.

Joe Brown, the janitor at the Las Vegas depot, has been in the employ of the Santa Fe for more than sixteen years, and he looks but little older today than when he began that service.

The No. 2 went north this morning in one section, and every coach was loaded with passengers, who are returning to their eastern homes after a winter's sojourn in the southwest and on the Pacific coast.

The Santa Fe railway company has granted a franchise to an advertising company for the placing of advertising matter on the cars of this railroad. In the past it has been possible to secure an advertisement on a car only where the car itself was leased by the firm using it.

The Fort Smith & Western and the Ozark & Cherokee railway construction corps are racing for the most available route into and from Okmulgee, I. T., where the two roads will cross. Both are routed through portions of Indian Territory not traversed by other roads.

The Topeka State Journal says: George Grout, who learned the trade of blacksmith at Topeka and who was on the payroll of this company at San Bernardino, Cal., about a year ago, has returned to the west, leaving recently for Albuquerque. He has been stopping in Topeka two months.

Three hundred axes for the 75 logging cars which the Santa Fe is to build in its shops at Cleburne, Tex., are being turned out by the blacksmith department of Topeka. This equipment is to be used on the southern lines of the company in handling the output of the pineries, and each will have a capacity of 60,000 pounds.

Boilermaker Jameson, who recently left the Gulf & Houston shops at El Paso to go to Alamogordo to work in the Rock Island shops at that place, sustained a painful injury by falling in front of the New Commercial barber shop, says the El Paso Herald.

The fall was caused by stepping on a round rock which turned and threw him forward on his face. Besides spraining an ankle his nose was mashed also. He has been in El Paso a day or two visiting Pete Broom, a machinist in the Gulf & Houston shops.

The Topeka State Journal says: There is a call for boilermakers at Needles, Cal., and some of the boys here have been indulging in threats to go there. Needles, according to common report, has been one of the most unfavorable places on the whole system to work, partly because of the excessive heat in summer, and also on account of the comparatively poor way in which the point was equipped with machinery and apparatus for tradesmen. But plans are being made to bring it up to the equal of all the other places on the road so far as is in the power of the management.

The Kansas City Journal says: The Santa Fe has scheduled seven special trains out of Kansas City to California for the Federation of Women's clubs, and, in addition, has ordered twenty extra sleepers to be run out of Kansas City on regular trains for that convention.

Next Thursday the Forerunner train will leave Kansas City at 7:30 a. m. with nine sleepers, composite car and two dining cars. On the same day the Kansas club women's train will leave Kansas City at 2:45 p. m., this train consisting of observation sleeper, four Pullman sleeping cars, diner and composite car.

Friday, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska parties will leave Kansas City at 11 a. m. in seven sleepers, as second section of train No. 1. Saturday Pennsylvania, Delaware and Washington, D. C., people will leave here about 8:45 a. m. This train will have four standard sleepers, observation sleeper, diner and composite car.

Engines 694 and 674, two oil burners, came in from the west today, and will be sent north for service on the Gulf line of the Santa Fe system.

The News says: Mrs. Thomas Wier arrived in Alamogordo from Albuquerque to join her husband, who is employed in the railroad shops here.

J. A. Harlan, superintendent of bridges and buildings on this division, was here yesterday overlooking some work in progress in the local yards.

Lee Shallenberger, a well-known engineer with home at San Marcial, is enjoying a short vacation of a few days among his Albuquerque friends.

George Hoffman, of Indiana, who runs an engine on the Raton division up to the time of the A. R. U. strike, was in town several days the past week.

Hon. W. S. Hopewell, A. G. Kennedy, W. A. Bayer and J. E. Saint of the Santa Fe Central railway, left for Torrance, the terminus of the proposed railway.

On May 1, at the Grant hall, the Santa Fe Pacific base ball team will give a benefit dance. The boys owe a small balance on their suits, and it must be paid.

Work on the double track on the south side of the mountain between Raton and the tunnel will commence May 1. M. Keicher has the contract from Raton to Raton.

L. A. Gogin left yesterday for Topeka. He expects to return in a few days, and finish up his work testing the electric plant which he recently installed at the local shops.

Ex-Policeman Mike Martinez went to work Monday in the boiler department of the local shops. Mike made an excellent policeman, and many regret to see him off the force.

The Ladies auxiliary of Railway Trainmen, of Raton, are making arrangements to give a picnic, apron sale and strawberry social in that town on the afternoon and evening of May 17.

John Joerns, chief clerk of the mechanical department of the New Mexico division, has resigned and will accept the position of head bookkeeper for the Remsburg Mercantile company, of Raton.

Engineer J. W. Johnson and wife, who formerly resided at Raton, but are now residents of Needasha, Kan., are in Raton for a few days, visiting friends and disposing of the remainder of their property there.

Joe Brick, of the El Paso-Rock Island, general office at Alamogordo, visited the family of R. H. Hallock, at Santa Rosa, and was very favorably impressed with the new town and surrounding country.

C. W. Partridge and family of Alamogordo, left for Los Angeles. Mr. Partridge was chief clerk for Chief Engineer H. A. Summer, of the El Paso-Rock Island road for some time prior to his late sickness.

B. S. Harmon, general counsel for the Rock Island system, who had been visiting California with his wife, occupying President Eddy's special car, arrived in Alamogordo. They returned on the next morning's train en route for Mexico.

The El Paso Herald, the other day, stated that George W. Smith had been offered a position with the Mexican Central. Mr. Smith was until recently the superintendent of motive power and master mechanic of Santa Fe coast lines. He has gone east on business, and the report that he will soon be connected with the Mexican Central cannot be officially confirmed.

Engineer Marion Stewart stated that in all the years of his service on the Santa Fe, he had never seen such a storm as beset his train near Lamy, in Santa Fe county, Monday. The sand and pelting heat against the cab windows like hail.

The Roswell Record has it that a local company is being organized to build a railroad from Roswell to Torrance to connect them with the Rock Island and the Santa Fe Central railways. It is to be known as the Roswell and Rio Grande railway.

The "south side" of El Paso, it is expected, will experience a boom when it becomes generally known that the El Paso & Rock Island road has purchased the land, secured trackage rights and will proceed at once to erect a magnificent system of stock yards, modeled somewhat on the idea of the well-known stock yards at Kansas City.

W. C. Thompson and Billy Hall have taken a lease on a piece of ground owned by the Mines company at Lake Valley.

LEARNING THE LESSON.

The Wise Sheep Owners of Rio Arriba County Prepared to Feed Their Sheep.

A recent dispatch sent from Tierra Amarilla, Rio Arriba county, to the Denver papers, speaks pessimistically of the condition of the range in what was at one time considered the best grazing country in New Mexico.

The dispatch says that this is the serious time of the year for the stockmen in New Mexico. Although the past winter was mild and grass on the ranges good, and the stock got through in good shape, yet many sheep are now dying for want of feed. The new grass is just springing up and stock ranges far and wide after it. This new grass is practically worthless, stock weakens on it, and after traveling a long distance for range, cattle feeding on it often lie down never to get up again.

Rio Arriba county is a great sheep region, but it is greatly overstocked. Sheepmen who did not prepare to feed for a few weeks in the spring are losing animals by the hundreds. One man here with a flock of 3,000 sheep, has lost 400 head in the past three days. Another lost 400 out of 2,000. These sheep went through the mild winter all right and came out in the early spring strong and well, but the owners had no hay. Owners whose flocks number up in the tens of thousands can stand this loss for they figure on a certain per cent of loss every year. Besides they save the pelts, which probably bring as much as the original cost of the animal. But this system is ruin to the owners of small flocks. When the owner of 50,000 head of sheep can make money even though he lose 25 per cent of the stock by starvation, the owner of 2,000 or 3,000 is ruined by the same percentage of loss. But many of the smaller owners have learned a lesson by experience and are now feeding alfalfa, which they raised last year. This will keep the sheep fat and those who have adopted this system report very little or no loss. Thousands of dead sheep are now lying on the bare ranges and thousands more are doomed by the short sighted policy pursued by many owners. This it has been for many years and it is hard to get the people out of the old ruts. They believe one cannot have too many sheep.

PERRESSES ARE PIQUED.

Some Refuse to Sit Next to Certain Others.

Some of the perresses are debating whether or not to attend the coronation, owing to the way they would be paired according to precedence, says a London cablegram to the New York World.

For instance, the Marchioness of Headfort, Rosie Boote, of Gayety fame, would go with the Marchioness of Bath, a Christian Scientist, and the very cream of exclusiveness.

The Countess of Orkney, Connie Gilchrist, also from the gayety boards, would be linked with the countess of Seafeld, a rigid Presbyterian, and very devout.

The Countess of Clancarty, better known under various trying circumstances as Nell Hilton, is entitled to foot it with the Countess of Erol, a lady of Norman lineage, and among the proudest of Great Britain's aristocrats. Every daily wedding perress, whether she has been presented at court or not, is entitled to attend the coronation, and these three ennobled ex-soubrettes have all applied for cards.

Each perress is allowed only a six-ton inch seat in Westminster Abbey, two inches less than at Queen Victoria's coronation, so speculation is rife as to how some of the party-ones will squeeze into that space.

Lucky Star Mines.

C. Meyer, of La Luz, purchased Frank Clark's interest in the Lucky Star mines last Monday, the owners now being Messrs. Gohlan, Gritzmacher and Meyer. These gentlemen have put a force of men at work and will develop the claims until they become the best paying properties in the county. They have struck the lead and indications are that it will run from $25 to $50 in gold. In cutting a tunnel through to the lead, forty feet under the ledge, the ore run $17 and at the lead $25 to $30. They will sink a shaft on the lead 75 or 100 feet and then, crosscut—Alamogordo News.

A. F. Wuensch, a well-known mining expert, is at Santa Fe from Colorado to look over certain mining propositions. He is seeing the city under the guidance of his old friend, George H. Cross.

It is said that $9,000,000 was paid in dividends by the various mines of Arizona during the last twelve months.

What are we cattlemen thinking

The following letter has been sent to the Deming Headlight with the request that it be published:

Sir:—The order for the pulling down of the drift fences on government land will certainly be carried out, unless those interested, especially small cattlemen, will act together, and appeal strenuously to the owners that be for delay, at least until the land leasing bill shall have full consideration during the next session of congress.

What are we cattlemen thinking

The Fence Question.

MAXWELL CITY TOEMBUDO

An Account of a Railroad Survey Made Over a Feasible Route in the Year 1893.

F. A. JONES, THE SURVEYOR.

In view of the fact that the Maxwell City, Cimarron, Elizabethtown & Taos Valley Railway company was recently incorporated to build a railroad from Maxwell City to Taos by way of Elizabethtown and that a railway project to build from Fort Garland, Colorado, to the Rio Grande valley by way of Embudo and Taos is being discussed the following account of the survey over the proposed route, made in 1893, by Prof. F. A. Jones, at present director of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro, will be of great interest.

"Perhaps no route in New Mexico offers such scenic charms or more enraptures the admirer of nature, than does the trail leading from Maxwell City westward to the Cimarron canyon to Elizabethtown, over the giddy heights of the Taos pass, through the ancient pueblos of Taos and thence to the valley of the Rio Grande.

"It was on the 11th day of September, 1893, that the writer with a sturdy corps of engineers, turned the object glass of his transit westward and gave the peremptory order to advance. The blue outline of mountains about seventy miles distant, marked the great elevation of the Rockies in New Mexico.

"To the center of grandeur 'Old Baldy' lifted its head to the clouds at the towering height of 14,176 feet. From Maxwell City to the quiet town of Cimarron stretches a vast plain, through which flows the Vermejo and winds its tortuous way towards the town of Springer. This plain is also traversed by ditches, being improvements of the Maxwell Land Grant company. The ranges in this section of the country are the best for grazing that can be found in New Mexico. Farther west toward the town of Cimarron two other streams flow toward the southeast; they are the Cerecose and the Ponil, not so large as the Vermejo.

"About three miles east of the little town of Cimarron our line of survey crossed the famous Santa Fe trail, running from the nation pass to Fort Union. On the line of this historic trail, there still remained in evidence broken pieces of wagon, the old red now worn to a deep gully, the disintegrated jaw bone of some faithful ox, all of which reminded us of the hardships of the past.

"In setting up my transit by this renowned trail, I was almost overcome with emotion, when I thought of my father who had made the survey of a trail a century before from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Union, for the purpose of checking the distance of freight hauled for the government.

"The town of Cimarron is situated just below the mouth of the canyon which gave it its name. This point is regarded as a very favorable place for the location of a smelter. To the west and northwest are virgin beds of coal, untouched by the hand of commerce. Also the coal fields of Blossburg and Dawson are near at hand, which would furnish fuel for smelting purposes at a nominal price. Cimarron is the only gateway through which the wealth of western Colfax county in its timber and mining production can pass.

"When a railway tapping the vast resources of mineral from the mines in the adjacent camps of Baldy, Elizabethtown, Ardeno and Red River, Cimarron would soon take rank with the largest cities of the territory. In passing up the Cimarron canyon one is awed with the grandeur of nature. Here tall trees, rushing water and palisades of columnar basalt, rising perpendicularly over a thousand feet, greet the appreciative eye.

"About ten miles up from the mouth of the canyon the country opens out in what is known as Ponil park. This is truly a delightful spot of growing grass and waving pines. Should a railroad ever be built through this section, which there will be before many years, Ponil park will be an important point in the shipping of ore and lumber. All of the wealth from the mines on the east side of Baldy mountains will be loaded here.

"On this side of the mountain is the famous Aztec mine which has produced in free milling gold upward of $3,000,000.

"The canyon at Ponil park turns somewhat more to the southwest, though the grade is lighter and the valley broader.

"In entering the Moreno valley the pass is very narrow, with perpendicular walls of porphyry hundreds of feet in height.

"This is by far the best place to build a dam for the storage of water of any place in the west. The Moreno valley at one time was a vast lake, about twenty miles north and south, by five miles east and west.

"Through the lapse of ages the water has worn through the porphyry and granite at this narrow entrance and drained the lake.

"In this valley are, perhaps, the richest and most extensive deposits of placer gold in the United States. The floor of the entire valley is literally strewn with nuggets and gold dust. The truth of this statement is verified in every case where bed rock has been reached. About six miles to the north of the gateway of the Moreno valley is the picturesque camp of Elizabethtown. This town lies in the lap between two mountains, Baldy mountain on the east and the Taos mountains on the west.

"Elizabethtown in the early days was the scene of great mining activity. It is claimed at one time the population reached 5,000. The early mining was mostly that of placer. The Lynch brothers who have been operating the large hydraulic plant for many years, have amassed a vast fortune. Their success dates back to the early 60s, when a brother, who was afterwards killed by a tree falling upon him, purchased the famous Elizabethtown and Red River ditch at a receiver's sale, which bankrupted the original owner and builder. The purchase was made for $10,000 and virtually controls the water in the district. The ditch discharges about 1,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours, and is over forty miles in length, and is known as the Lynch ditch.

"Elizabethtown district and the Red River district have many mines and prospects; the value of these districts does not lie wholly in their placer deposits, but in the ledges and veins from whence these placers came.

"A short distance southwest of Elizabethtown stands a mountain of iron, a solid mass of hematite of superior quality and carrying several dollars in gold to the ton.

"Across the range, about ten miles west of Elizabethtown, is the Amizet mining district, which shows many mines of high grade ores, rich in copper, gold, silver and lead.

"From the gateway of the Moreno valley, our projected line of railway reached south and west, crossing the main range at an elevation of exactly 5,000 feet, at a point known as the Taos pass.

"Before proceeding further it would be of interest, perhaps, to relate briefly a bit of gruesome history. Our camp for many days, when surveying to get across the range, was on the east side of the pass at the foot of the mountain.

"Here were standing an old cabin and an outbuilding which afforded partial protection. It was learned that this building was kept by a man named Kennedy, who pretended to keep a lodging house. After about two years in the lodging house business it was noticed that no person was ever afterward seen or heard of after taking a night's lodging with the landlady. It was also noticed that Kennedy was very attentive to gardening and digging about in his little truck patch. Suspicious of his person, persons acquainted with the surroundings, and a vigilante committee waited on Mr. Kennedy early one morning. He was found afterwards by others hanging from the limb of a pine. The garrot was his chisel yard; the writer pulled out a femur bone, where it had been exposed by a wash in the garden soil. There is scarcely a doubt that this gruesome relic of the survey was a bone was one of the unfortunate victims. Dr. J. J. Shuiger, of Raton, has this bone.

"The grade in going down the mountain on the Taos side is gradual and easy.

"The Taos valley is the most beautiful part of New Mexico. The soil is fertile, producing wheat, rye, corn, alfalfa, vegetables and fruits of all kinds. This valley was formerly the Egypt of New Mexico; it was the Mecca to which the whole southwest journeyed, as Benjamin of old to buy corn in years of drought and famine.

"It is not at all surprising that the Pueblo Indians located in this beautiful valley. Every stream on this side of the range is sparkling with abundance of water.

"The old town of Taos is practically today as it was centuries ago; to see the inhabitants toiling in the gardens and fields, carries us back to the time of Moses, as did the children toiling upon the plains of Shinar.

"Some very old ruins, presumably Pueblos, are to be seen to the right when nearing the main town. There are no legends as to whom these ruins were inhabited.

"An interesting feature is one of the old churches of the Pueblo Indians at Taos. It appears that these Indians rebelled against the United States government once and but only once, in the earlier part of the 1600s, and took refuge in the old church. Whereupon Gen. Sterling Price bombarded them with cannon from a distant point, until the Indians hoisted a flag of truce from the top of the old church. The effect of that bombardment was in evidence at the time of the survey in 1893; the holes made by the shells were never repaired.

"The writer shall never regret the time when the corps of surveyors entered the suburbs of the town. They were met by all the prominent people of Taos, with music, song and general welcome. We were feasted and toasted, given receptions or entertainments every night while there. This act of appreciation in welcoming us into their homes and places of amusement was entirely due to the native people of Taos, for there was but one American family living there at that time. It is in one of the cemeteries of Taos where lies all that is mortal of America's greatest hunter, trapper, scout and guide, Kit Carson.

"From Taos the line of survey ran in a southwesterly course down the boxed canyon of the Taos river to the Rio Grande.

"A line of railway built over this route will open up the garden spots and store houses of New Mexico's choicest possessions.

"The entire line could be constructed at comparatively small cost, and on a grade not to exceed two and one-half per cent.

Penitentiary Birds.

Sheriff Thomas S. Hubbell and Deputy C. E. Newcomer, have returned to the city from Santa Fe, where they landed the following prisoners in the penitentiary: Jose Dominguez, for two and a half years for burglary; this being his third term in the penitentiary; J. T. Wallace, alias 'Goo-Goo Eyes,' colored, two years for burglary; Scott Connolly, alias 'Sugar Foot,' colored, eighteen months for larceny; both of these men being college graduates; Luis Rodriguez, one year for passing a forged endorsement; and Alexander Watt, one year for burglary.

Salvation Army Hall.

The local members of the Salvation Army are going to make an effort to secure a hall. Since last February the army has been without a hall on account of financial support being lacking and has had to content itself with street meetings. This has been a serious handicap to effective work and the members will try within a few days to raise enough money for hall rent.

The Clayton Disaster.

A dispatch to Rev. Mr. Harwood yesterday from Clayton informed him that the Methodist Episcopal church at that place blew down and was entirely destroyed. The dispatch stated that the parsonage was all right, and asked to be advised what to do. Mr. Harwood answered: "Sing a eulogy, praise God from whom all blessings flow, and the church building did not fall on the little parsonage and crush that with the preceding elder, the pastor, the pastor's wife and their precious little babe. Respectfully,"

"THOS. HARWOOD."

FIRE CHIEF HUBBS.

The Alderman of the Third Ward is Now Acting.

When the friends of Jay A. Hubbs, at the Third ward republican primary, insisted on his candidacy for aldermanic honors, and saw that he was elected, little did they think that more honors, except those that usually fall to the lot of an alderman, would be showered upon him. Such is the case, and today, by virtue of the action of the city council at last night's meeting, he is the chief of the Albuquerque fire department, and on his new position he is being congratulated on all sides by friends today. It has been a long time since Alderman Jay A. Hubbs, then plain Jay, fought the fiery elements and saved property in Albuquerque, and he is acting to get out and show the good people who voted for him that he is still a crackjack fire fighter. In case of emergencies, his day driving horse will be kept standing hitched to his pneumatic tire buggy in front of his laundry on South Second street, and at the first sound from Albuquerque's famous morning bird whistle, Chief Hubbs will be notified going to the fire like a whirl. It is stated, however, with all these honors which have come to him unsolicited, Alderman Hubbs prefers not to be Fire Chief Hubbs, and is hoping that Mayor Myers and the council, at the next meeting, will conclude to dispense with his services as chief.

The Real King is Crowned.

I admire a miner's wealth. It is clean, there is no blood nor tears in it. It is acquired away from the scheming and cut throat competition that characterizes ordinary ventures, where the success of one man often means the disaster and downfall of some other man, or perhaps a number of men. Nobody has been pinched; nobody has been wronged. The miner who digs a fortune out of the ground has the satisfaction of knowing that he hasn't robbed a soul even though he becomes a thousand times a millionaire. Then, too, there is another factor to take into consideration. The man who makes a fortune on the board of trade or the stock exchange, or in building up a gigantic business house, adds nothing to the world's store of available wealth. The world, in other words, is no richer because he is richer. He is richer rather because some one is poorer. The miner, on the other hand, whether he digs out $10 or $100,000, adds that much to the world's wealth, and with the added wealth he contributes just that much to the possible amount of the world's comforts and pleasures.

As I look at the matter there are few producers of wealth. The many live on the few. The only man comparable with the miner is the farmer. He gets what he has direct from nature, but he produces perishable wealth. While he meets a want his contribution to the world's wealth, therefore, is not a permanent one, like the miner's. The gold miner is today the king of wealth producers of the country, and I honor him above all others. It is no dishonor; it needs no apology to emulate his example or assist him in his efforts. There is the whole question in a nutshell.—Rev. Robert McIntyre.

The Organ District.

R. Horton Batcheller, a prominent mining man and capitalist of New York, left the east after an extended visit to Lordsburg, Clifton and other mining centers, south of Albuquerque. He was accompanied by M. E. Naegele, of Shamokin, Pa., and both of them are largely interested in the Aberdeen Copper company, of Lordsburg, and also at Clifton.

In speaking of the Organ district to an El Paso Herald reporter he said: "I have traveled over many other mining sections in Arizona and New Mexico, but I wish to speak of the Organ mountains. Here is a well mineralized district and indications are most excellent and I wonder that there is not more attention paid to it. They have an iron capping on the dykes and veins there over which if it were in Butte, Montana, people would go stark, staring mad. There is some activity in this section now, and I feel certain that it will be fruitful of good results. The principal mines operating are the Madoc and the Torpedo. The former mine has 5,000 tons of ore on the dump. This mine sampled 19 1/2 per cent lead and on this report the mine was bought by the present owners. The seventy-five ton concentrating plant on this mine has just been completed. On the Torpedo mine at Organ a double compartment shaft is being sunk and the work is being pushed energetically. The mine has a record of having produced $50,000 worth of ore and it is certain to become a good producer."

A Great Newspaper. (?)

It is rumored that Yardmaster Frank Mudge of San Marcial will be transferred to Deming, and that W. A. Greenwood, a former yardmaster at San Marcial, will succeed Mr. Mudge at that place.

The above article appeared in the Journal-Democrat of Albuquerque of the 17th inst. as an article of news. The fact is, Mr. Mudge and wife came here on Monday the 13th, four days before the article appeared in the Journal-Democrat. Truly that paper is a great news disseminator.—Deming Headlight.

Dr. M. C. Sinclair left Lordsburg for El Paso, taking along a sack of the high grade ore from Malone, looking for expert knowledge as to the best method of treating it. Dr. Sinclair expects to go from El Paso to his old home at Grand Rapids, Mich., to attend to some business of the International Gold Mining & Milling company, which has been organized to work the Malone mines.

Board of Education.

The board of education last night instructed the clerk to send copies of the advertisement for bonds to firms interested. Progress is being made on the plans for the new buildings. At the next meeting a complete financial statement will be made.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY.

The Remains of Harrison Onderdonk Were Taken to New Jersey.

The funeral of Harrison Onderdonk, conducted by Rev. Norman Skinner, took place at the family residence in Las Vegas yesterday morning, and in the afternoon the remains were taken to New Brunswick, N. J., for burial.

More of the particulars concerning the death of Harrison Onderdonk were gathered after the paper went to press Saturday evening, says the Oracle. It seems that he with playmates went to the Tremblay mill and finding the premises vacated began playing in the water wheel, which is an old fashioned overshot wheel about ten feet in diameter. Here the boys got to tramping and so made the wheel start, which was great sport for them. While the wheel was moving Harrison tried to climb out on a heavy rail which supports the wheel, and was caught by a heavy iron spoke which pulled him to the mill, breaking his neck and crushing the skull. Dr. Black was passing the road in front of the house and Dr. Rice was in the neighborhood. Both were called, but on reaching him it was found that life had already become extinct, and that he had died instantly.

Harrison Onderdonk was the youngest of a family of four children, two boys and two girls. He was a bright, heavy set little fellow of 8 years, a favorite with all who knew him. The sorrowing parents have the deep sympathy of a large number of friends whose hearts are deeply touched by the sad accident.

GONE TO LAS CRUCES.

Over Fifty Silver City People Attending the Childers Murder Trial.

Silver City, N. M., April 23.—Over fifty persons who are witnesses and otherwise interested in the Childers murder trial, which was taken from Silver City to Las Cruces, left this city the other evening for Las Cruces where the trial is in progress. Childers shot and killed Thomas S. Hefflin in the city last December. On both sides of the case are employed the best attorneys that can be secured in this section. The prosecution will be conducted by Albert B. Fall, of Las Cruces; S. M. Ashenfelter and Percy Wilson, of Silver City, and District Attorney W. H. H. Lewellyn. The defense is represented by Charles Patterson, of El Paso, and E. C. Wade, of Las Cruces. The old trial jury which has been serving at the present term of court at Las Cruces was discharged by Judge Parker upon the current talk of parties interested on the Childers side that improper influences had been used with the jury. The judge then gave instruction to secure an entire new jury, which was secured yesterday. Different opinions are expressed in this city by those who are familiar with the facts in the murder, but it is the common opinion that Childers should receive the full limit of the law for the crime.

RICH IN RESOURCES.

Western New Mexico a Country of Vast Undeveloped Resources.

Judge McMillan informed the El Paso News that the projected railroad from Durango, Colo., south of Clifton, Ariz., will develop one of the most resourceful regions in the United States—that part of New Mexico through which it is proposed to construct the road.

"On the route of the projected railway is an extinct volcano, save that an emission of water still comes forth," said Judge McMillan.

"Advancing to this volcano are immense deposits of salt, the accumulation of perhaps almost innumerable years of continuous eruption. One of the professors of the school of mines viewed the salt beds and estimated that the mass aggregated, approximately, 750,000 tons.

"Naturally, the region all about this mountain contains salt in unlimited quantities. Throughout all this vast and practically undeveloped territory, are great forests of timber, especially the finest pine; coal in unlimited quantities and hematite iron in great ledges, sometimes found sixty feet in thickness.

"Mexicans drive under a big ledge of coal" continued the judge, "and dig out with a pick in a few minutes a sufficient amount to last them for days."

GLASGOW'S NEW PLACE.

Leaves the Santa Fe to Go Into Transit Inspection Bureau.

Walter G. Glasgow, interstate clerk in the office of Auditor of Freight Receipts, V. J. Healey, has accepted a position as traveling auditor for the Transit Inspection Bureau, a bureau maintained by the joint support of western roads which has for its business the inspection of the milling in transit business, says the Topeka State Journal. The work is with reference to the privileges allowed by railroads to millers to delay wheat in shipment and mill it before shipping on to its destination.

Mr. Glasgow will begin work in his new position on May 1. His headquarters will be in Topeka, but the headquarters of the bureau are Kansas City.

Mr. Glasgow's rise in railroad work has been very rapid. He entered the service of the Santa Fe road in the auditor of freight receipts office eighteen months ago as a $40 clerk. He has been rapidly promoted. When Mr. Glasgow was asked about his rapid advancement he said with modesty: "Oh, it isn't any more than anybody could do who works hard."

Mr. Glasgow served in the 22nd Kansas, and was also for a time engaged in running a newspaper in Oklahoma.

Bad Men Disappeared.

Billy Smith, special officer of the El Paso-San Marcial route, has returned from a two weeks' trip to the towns along the Rock Island and says the bad men that operated so freely up there several months ago are gone, says the El Paso Herald. The reign of lawlessness that characterized the building of the new road has ceased and in most towns every thing is serene itself. "This is caused by the brave efforts of the officers," said Billy today. "You see, when the governor ordered the sheriffs to drive out the toughs at whatever cost, they set about it and have not been very long accomplishing this object. There is no doubt that several very tough gangs operated along the Rock Island route and for quite awhile had things their own way, but it is all over now. Most of them are either killed or captured and the balance have consented to run for congress," and Billy ended the talk with that remark.

WANTED IN WALSBURG.

What a Trinidad Paper Says of the Jap Held Here.

In regard to Koo Kanoff, the Jap who is held here awaiting an officer from Colorado, the Trinidad Chronicle, News says:

"Thursday night of last week the Colorado Supply company's store at Walsburg was burglarized and several revolvers, pocket knives, razors, shears and other articles were carried off. Monday evening Marshal Dailson received a letter from Thos. McMillan, chief of police at Albuquerque, N. M., saying he had run in a 'Jap' who was trying to dispose of some articles as described above and aside from being new, the blades of the pocket knives, shears and razor cases had Colorado Supply company on them in gilt letters. The marshal wired the Albuquerque officer to hold the man until he could investigate. Further inquiry brought out the late robbery of the Walsburg store. An officer will probably be sent to New Mexico for the man today. It is remarkable to say the least, that the Walsburg officers did not notify the Trinidad police of the robbery when it occurred, and not wait for an officer in Albuquerque to run a man in on suspicion and then inquire all over the west to see if he was wanted, before the Trinidad police knew about it.

"Our city officers were given timely notice of depredations committed by law breakers might be apprehended at once or shortly thereafter, and would result in their becoming less frequent."

ESTEE CITY.

A Lively Mining Town in Socorro County.

The growth and development of Estee City, Socorro county, has been remarkable even among mining camps, some of which spring up almost in a night.

Toward the close of April, 1891, D. M. Estey, with workmen, tools, lumber, tents and provisions, arrived at the town and mill site of Estee City. All material had been hauled sixteen miles from the railroad at Socorro. Today the reduction works, boiler and engine rooms, ore bins, two-story store and office building, commodious boarding house and dormitories, blacksmith shop, laboratory, magazine, stables, carpenter shop and dwellings for employees and their families are complete. The reduction works have a capacity of 300 tons of ore per day. One-half of the reduction mill is of stone, weighing in thickness from 20 to 42 inches. Above these walls is the frame structure that required 25,000 feet of timber and lumber. One of the walls is 200 feet long and 15 feet high. The boiler house, engine room, laboratory and powder magazines are entirely of stone, and the foundations of all the other buildings are of the same material. The engine room and the main mill are separated by a massive stone fire wall. It requires 300-horse power to drive the reduction and electric machinery. The engine of the first, the crusher, is a massive machine, built according to special design, and weighs thirteen tons. All the motive power, electric lighting and other machinery is installed, and in a few days the are lights will shine like stars at night, and will be visible a long distance.

SANTA FE VS. BROWNS.

Manager Martin, of the Santa Fe Central Ball Team, Writes for Dates.

The following letter was received this morning from W. E. Martin, manager of the Santa Fe Central base ball team:

Harman Wynkoop, Esq., Albuquerque, N. M.
Friend Harman:—The boys have pressed me into service again and we have a good team. I am working hard to secure rates all around. When can we have a game from you? We will start off a little different and with better feeling, I know. You can bring your own umpire, or if you would rather we can have two umpires. All we should strive for is harmony and good ball and make our visits mutually agreeable. Can't you come up a week from Sunday. That will be June 4. We can advertise it in good shape. We will pay your expenses and then go down and make you a visit on the same basis. From your line up published you have a splendid team. Give my best to the boys.

Truly yours,

W. E. MARTIN.

After the receipt of the letter word was wired Mr. Martin asking if the game could not be arranged for next Sunday, as some of the best players on the Browns would be absent from the city on June 4, and it would be useless to go up against a team such as Santa Fe has this year with a weakened team. In the event the game is arranged the Santa Fe team will probably appear here on June 11. The fans of both cities would hail with delight an announcement of dates.

Organization.

The following comment from Harper's Weekly was written by one whose vision covers the field and sees the tendency of the age:
"There is something about organization that seems to be in conflict with morality. Gather ten honest, reputable men and form them into a gas company, and the chances are that within a month they will try to buy the common council; gather a hundred God-fearing people and form a church, and in proportion to its size an organization will be the need of a restriction of its power; gather a multitude of people and forth a nation and bigger the nation grows, the more its government will tend to a course of conduct regulated by consideration of the main chance. Government, even when conducted by decent men for well intentioned people, seems to care not much more for morality than dynamite does for municipal ordinance. Governments tend to do what the times seem to prescribe, and to let history make their explanations. And yet nothing much can be accomplished without organization, and gas companies, churches and governments, needful as it is to watch them, are indispensable."

WILL BUY A DRILL.

El Porvenir Coal Field—Veins to Be Located by Modern Diamond Machine.

An order will be sent east for a diamond drill to locate the veins of coal in the El Porvenir fields, says the Las Vegas Optic. The El Porvenir Coal and Fuel company will invest $1,500 or more in this machine. It will have a capacity of ten feet or more per day. As soon as all the company's properties have been tested the drill will be sent to the San Paulo and Tecondote copper districts for use in the copper mines. This drill is the greatest of prospecting machines. It brings up from the hidden recesses of the earth whatever is hidden there, registering quantity and quality. It is absolutely necessary to have the machine in the coal fields of this company because it is too expensive and uncertain to sink a big shaft in each place that promises well. After the drill locates the beds of coal then the regular mining shafts will be sunk.

The El Porvenir coal is a fine coking coal. A wagon load of fine coking coal as was ever brought to this city was brought to Winters' drug store from El Porvenir this morning and is now on exhibition. Samples of excellent coke produced by this coal are also to be seen.

ORIENT BUYS LAND.

Acquires 90 Acres in Kaw Valley Near Armourdale.

The promoters of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway purchased ninety acres of land in the Kaw valley west of Armourdale from Henry McGraw of the Home Real Estate company, of Kansas City, Saturday afternoon. The land was purchased for the terminals of the railway on the Kansas side of the state line. It has connection with the Kansas City Belt railway and also with the Union Terminal railway and also adjoins the Rock Island lands. The purchase price agreed on was not made public, however. The Post Brothers Manufacturing company on Monday purchased twelve acres adjoining the tract for $12,000 cash.

Stopped His Paper.

Nowadays when a subscriber gets so mad because the editor differs with him on some trivial question that he discontinues his paper, we remind him of a good anecdote of the late Horace Greeley, the well known editor of the New York Tribune. Passing down Newspaper Row in New York City one morning he met one of his readers, who exclaimed:

"Mr. Greeley, after the article you published this morning I intend to stop your paper."

"Oh, no," said Mr. Greeley, "don't do that."

"Yes, sir, my mind is made up. I intend to stop the paper."

The angry subscriber was not to be appeased and they separated. Late in the afternoon the two met again, when Mr. Greeley remarked:

"Mr. Thompson, I am very glad you did not carry out your threat this morning."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, you said you were going to stop my paper, didn't you?"

"And so I did. I went to the office and had your paper stopped."

"You are surely mistaken; I have just come from there and the press was running and business booming."

"Sir," said Thompson, very pompously, "I meant I intended to stop my subscription to your paper."

"Oh, thunder!" rejoined Greeley, "I thought you were going to stop the running of my paper and knock me out of a living. My friend, let me tell you something: One man is just one drop of water in the ocean. You didn't set the machinery of this world in motion and you can't stop it, and when you are underneath the ground things will wag on the same as ever."

For Home People.

Those who go off to foreign cities to buy their wearing apparel and spend their money for the necessities and luxuries of life, or send their mail orders to foreign dealers, should ask themselves first: Who sympathized with you in your times of sickness or trials or dropped tears with you in your bereavements? Was it the home merchants and their families or the foreign merchants? Who carries you through on credit during hard times? Is it the dealer of Denver, Kansas City or Chicago? When you want to raise money for the church or other worthy object do you beg of the foreign merchant? When sick did the foreign merchant sit up with you or manifest any interest in your welfare, or care whether you died or not? Do the foreign dealers aid in the building of your sidewalk or help in any way to enrich the town? If not, why do you not trade with your home merchants and thereby do good by them that are of such inestimable value to your town? Glance over the advertisements in The Citizen and you will find just what you want right here at home in any line of business. Don't take or send your money away and help to enrich railroads, express companies and foreign merchants, who care not whether you or your town and people thrive so long as they get your money; and while on this subject the home merchants, schools, churches and all societies should remember and give their job printing to newspapers who are constantly giving them annually several hundred dollars worth of free puff.

World's Congress of Editors.

There will be a world's congress of editors at the St. Louis exposition. It is the intention of the exposition company to provide a special building on the fair grounds at no expense to the editors, to be devoted to the uses of the members of the press and their families. It is in this building that the world's congress of editors will meet and be entertained during the progress of the great international exposition. It is the purpose to have the building supplied with billiard and pool tables, a restaurant and reception rooms, cosy corners with couches where the tired and weary sight seeing editor, his wife and daughter can rest in a cool and quiet place.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Missionary societies just closing their financial years are a half dozen of the largest in America. The Missionary union, which supervises the expenditures of $600,000 a year given by the Baptists of the north, closes without an increase of its debt, which shows it accounts fortunate, in view of the fact that it was compelled during the year to increase its budget by $50,000. The causes for this increase were the return of the workers into China, forward strikes in Burma and Siam, and the phenomenal advance in the Philippines. Just before the outbreak between Spain and her colony in the east there went from Samar to Spain a young Manilaan, to be educated for the Roman Catholic priesthood. He met in Spain one Rev. Eric Lund, a Swede, who was laboring there under an American society. A fast friendship grew and immediately Admiral Dewey defeated the Spanish ships in Manila harbor the two men set about, at their home in Spain, the translation of the New Testament into Visayan. When peace came they went to Samar and their work went into print and went to work. Not long since a petition signed by 8,000 adult Visayans was presented to them asking for teachers, for schools, and for churches. The Rev. C. W. Briggs, of Colgate university, later went out, and he reports the Pentecost of modern times so great that literally thousands are asking baptism. The fostering of this and other work increased, as has been said, the Union's budget, but it is able to close the year without increasing its last year's debt of $25,000.

American Baptist Missions.
The American Baptist Home Mission society, which administers $450,000 a year, closes with a debt of $13,000, but its work for the year has been phenomenal. Expansion work in Cuba and Porto Rico, in the former of which it has ten missions and in the latter twelve, has taken $50,000 in mission work in Oklahoma and New Mexico has greatly advanced. In educational work the largest enrollment ever known was the record of the year, the number of students reaching 6,000. There was $100,000 put into new buildings and plans are now in hand to put in $50,000 more. The new church at Ponce cost $12,000, and the new one at Santiago $15,000. The latter justifies itself for it supports six missions without help from the parent society. Plans are now under consideration for the unification and possible consolidation of the Woman's Baptist Home Mission society of Chicago and the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission society of Boston, with the American Baptist Home mission society, which latter has for seventy-five years been recognized as the benevolent agency of the Baptist churches of the north. There are now 23,000 German Baptists in America and 55,000 foreign speaking Baptists. The women's societies raise and disburse about $100,000 a year. Incidentally it may be added that Baptists South have, through their home board, suspended Rev. A. J. Diaz from the ministry of their church in Havana.

Presbyterian Missions.
The Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, which is to celebrate the centennial of Presbyterian home mission effort during the approaching general assembly, ends its year without debt. It will, however, have a little balance left over. Its annual receipts are about $750,000, although Presbyterians spend, through all of their home missionary agencies, $1,252,000 a year. The board's own receipts last year reached $735,000, a high water mark, and $40,000 in advance of the previous year. The board's portion of the indebtedness in the Presbyterian building, the New York headquarters, is still $23,000. The part of the foreign board in the indebtedness on the same building, is $200,000, but the latter expects to reduce its share to $150,000 before the meeting of the general assembly. The home board has undertaken work in Cuba during the year, and has sent large sums to Porto Rico, where it leads most Protestant bodies in the number of its stations. Its place of worship in San Juan is the finest Protestant one on the island.

Roman Catholic Jubilee.
Roman Catholics are making special efforts this jubilee year to make the Pope's Pence large. The aim is to send more from America this year than the entire Pence has amounted to in late years. This aim will mean a remittance of at least $450,000. This is exclusive of other sums sent for other purposes, although most such sums are wrongly included by the general public in the Pence fund. The fund is for the personal use of the Pope, and for the present it is used largely for the maintenance of the contention for temporal power. Catholics of America send little to Rome for missions, the United States itself being a mission field. To date Catholics in several dioceses report receipts far in advance of their anticipations. Those who are saying, and they are not few, that people do not give money to church causes as they once did, ought to consider that the total missionary contributions from every missionary body in America in 1902 did not reach 2,000,000. In 1902 they amount to $14,500,000, or possibly a little more. And this figure is larger in gross and per member than ever before in the history of missions.

Large Sums Expended.
The Presbyterian board of foreign missions does not close its books until May 1. Its receipts thus far this year are smaller than last while its expenditures are $75,000 larger. During the next fortnight it must get in $250,000 in order to close without debt. This is a larger sum than it has usually been able to secure in its final fortnight, its falling off is in part caused by fewer individual gifts by $20,000 than last year. Curiously, when funds are being raised for famine relief, as last year in India, or for relief as in China, the general receipts increase from sympathy. One would suppose they would fall off. The board always handles large sums, without charge for trouble and exchange, when relief is to be sent to the east, and in so handling it increases the receipts for its own undertakings. The cost of the return to China has been considerable in way of missionaries' personal expenses, but $15,000 damage done to property by the rioters has been made good by the victors. In Japan and India expenses have been of necessity increased, while in the Philippines the board has borne the brunt of pioneer work. Presbyterians were among the very first of Protestant bodies to get into the islands along with the Young Men's Christian association, which went with the troops. The work there has developed rapidly, and has called for augmented outlays.

Congregational Missions.
The Congregational Home Missionary society, which holds its annual meeting in Syracuse early in June, finds itself able to reduce its debt this year by the amount of $63,000, which is 50 per cent of the whole debt. Even more may be done. The receipts will be slightly ahead of last year, when they were, including supplies, $584,000. The high water mark of home missionary society receipts was reached in 1898, when they were $777,000, but in 1899 there was a fall off to $516,000. The society is especially active in Cuba, where its work ranks among the largest of Protestant bodies. The American board and the American Missionary association, both Congregational, do not close their years until the fall, but the former, which cleared its debt last year, finds its receipts $25,000 ahead of last year, but to have realized several disappointing months, notably February, when instead of increased receipts it had decreased ones. Pledges on the debt are coming in satisfactorily, but the officers say the condition of the venerable board is not satisfactory. The American Missionary association, which has managed to keep out of debt for some years, finds its receipts $16,700 ahead of last year, the half year being just completed. The association's usual income is about $40,000 a year. That of the American board varies greatly. Last year it was $737,000.

Methodist Missions.
The missionary society of Methodists North has gotten its open door emergency committee into working shape, and it is making progress towards the $1,500,000 goal which it set for high water mark this year. Assistance in the form of additional secretaries to prosecute the emergency fund have been named. The society was compelled last year to make a cut of 8 per cent in the appropriations, owing to inadequate support from the churches. Yet the facts are that receipts of the missionary society slowly but steadily increase, and the average per Methodist member rises. It was in 1920 that the total income of this missionary society was $823. In 1929 it reached the $1,000,000 mark and in 1887 the $1,000,000 mark. And it has never gone backward. It has now permanently passed the $1,300,000 limit. Its annual report is just out, and last year's income, the one over which it bewails its inability to go forward and organize an open door committee, was $1,340,000, an amount never reached before save in 1899, when the income was $1,376,000. The average gift per member is 45 cents—very low when compared with most other religious bodies, but an average that grows steadily. Back in the 80s the average was below 40. Since 1885 it has grown above that figure, several times above 50. The debt of the society is $90,000.

Apportionment Plans.
Episcopalians adopted last year after agitation that had covered a decade or more, the apportionment plan of asking the different dioceses for definite sums. It is explained in the plan that apportionment is not a tax nor an assessment, but merely an opinion, based on percentages of sums spent for parochial support, of what ought to be contributed for general work. There was complaint because the American Church Missionary society, a small auxiliary, was omitted, but the omission has been corrected. Several dioceses said promptly the apportionment was too low, and asked permission to give more. Whether by accident or otherwise, all dioceses do so to some extent. Loudest complaints about excessive demands came from the advanced dioceses of the middle west. During the first six months, only a part of which were under the apportionment, the increase, just announced, is large to realize the entire increase of the new apportionment, but it is regarded as large enough to prove the wisdom of the new plan. The amount is exclusive of most of the sums collected for special work in the Philippines. The total Protestant Episcopal general mission receipts last year were $400,000. The amount apportioned was $524,500, and the amount spent by this religious body upon its home causes last year was $1,164,000.

EUGENE WARE.
A Good Story Told on New Pension Commissioner.
A special dispatch to the Los Angeles Times from Kansas City, says: Eugene Ware, the lawyer and poet, who is to succeed H. Clay Evans as commissioner of pensions, once played a game of poker for a seat in congress. This game was played in the Cape and hotel, Topeka, in the early 80s, during a session of the Kansas legislature. A bill to redistrict the state into congressional districts was to be framed and passed in the senate where were several members who aspired to congressional honors. Included in the list of would be congressmen was every one of the senators on the committee whose duty it was to frame a bill redistricting the state. They wrangled over the bill, each member of the committee striving to secure a bill that would forward his ambition. The session was drawing to a close and there seemed no chance of an agreement. Finally, it was agreed to play a game of freeze out the winner to report a bill that would suit him. E. H. Fenton, W. J. Buchanan, W. P. Hackney and Mr. Ware and one or two other members of the committee sat down to a table in an upstairs room of the Capitol hotel. It was hours before the game seemed near an end. One by one they dropped out until Buchanan and Ware were the only ones in the game. Finally Ware won all the chips. He reported a bill, forming the Second congressional district, practically as it is today.

But following the death of Dudley C. Haskell, congressman from the Second district, Fenton entered the race for the nomination and was elected. The game was a ten to five agreement to let the winner go to congress. Fenton would not stand for the bill and had it amended so that the Second district included his county. In this way he was elected.

A New Irrigation Plant.
C. P. Sherman has installed a Wood gasoline pump on his ranch north of the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell. It is the first of the kind in the Pecos valley and as it is far above the range of the arid winds and acquires it marks the advance of a new development in reclaiming the lands of the arid west. The pump has a lift of 28 feet and is propelled by a three and a half horse power gasoline engine. It raises 3.2 gallons per minute with a possibility of 800 gallons per minute when the main shaft reaches the desired speed of 2,000 revolutions. The cost of lifting the water is 25 cents per 80,000 gallons, sufficient to irrigate ten acres of ground.

These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, aches in the bones and muscles, and may induce dangerous maladies. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and malaria troubles. Hens From Ohio.
D. J. Osborne, the egg fruit man, says that T. A. Ackers, an old experienced man from Tiffin, Ohio, has telegraphed that he will leave with his charge of 3,000 hens at once and he expects to get the hens to manufacturing for the local market some time next week. Mr. Ackers ought to be able to pay the freight on his birds with the eggs that are laid en route, for certainly a large number of hens will get busy while on the way to their new home here. Mr. Osborne will raise nothing but eggs this year, but next year he will probably add a hatchery and Las Vegas can have real spring chickens the year around.—Record.

Acquitted of Smuggling Chinamen.
William M. Hoey, ex-collector of customs at Nogales, Ariz., was found not guilty of the charge of smuggling Chinese across the border from Mexico. This was the second trial of the case and attracted a great crowd, owing to Hoey's prominence. Hoey was appointed collector by President McKinley, his home being in Muncie, Ind., where he is prominently connected. The verdict of the jury meets with general approval in southern Arizona.

Check Was Bogus.
A man by the name of Tom Smith tried to pass a check for $45 at several business houses in Trinidad and signed Higgins & Higgins. The police finally took him in. Smith has been working at a saw mill near Segundo. It was learned afterwards that Smith had borrowed the blank check from a merchant in Trinidad and made it out himself. He is in jail and will have a hearing.

Reform M. Paul in a Scandal.
Roland M. Paul, of Denver, who sang at the Vegas in the Oratorio society entertainment a few months ago, is one of the principals in a huge divorce scandal, says the Record. His wife, to whom he was married only last July, has applied for a divorce, and she charges Roland with a job lot of meanness. She is rich, and she intimates that she "took him up" when he was singing in an opera chorus in New York and sent him money to feed him and purchase shoes to wear. Subsequently she sent him a ticket to come to Denver, and after his arrival, furnished him money to start him in business. After marriage Paul showed his gratitude by getting as full as a cat, beating his wife and otherwise abusing her when in that condition. Further, Mrs. Paul says her divorce case will involve some of the prominent married women of Denver in its meshes.

Paul denies his wife's soft impeachment, maintains that he is as innocent as a lamb, charges that his wife conspired to ruin him and wants the court to grant him alimony out of his wife's estate. And so endeth the second chapter.

S.S.S. SKIN DISEASES

The skin is provided with millions of little pores and glands invisible to the natural eye, yet through these tiny outlets the larger part of the deadly matter that daily collects in the body is carried off. But nature never intended that poisons of an irritating or acid character should be eliminated through the skin, the Liver and Kidneys being their natural outlets, and it is when these important organs fail to perform their functions that these acid poisons are absorbed into the blood and find their way to the surface of the body through the pores and glands of the skin, producing intense itching and burning, inflammation and swelling, and eruptions of every conceivable size, shape and character.

Skin Diseases differ greatly in their general characteristics and degrees of intensity. Red and angry looking spots break out upon some part of the body with a mass of small pustules or blisters, from which is discharged a clear or straw colored fluid, which dries and flakes off in bran-like particles and scales, or forms into hard and painful sores and scabs. The skin often hardens and dries, cracks and bleeds from the effects of the fiery acids, which the blood is continually throwing off. Pimples, blackheads and blotches are evidences of a too acid blood, which has inflamed and clogged the pores.

Skin Diseases being dependent upon the same causes require the same treatment, which must be constitutional and not external. Nothing applied locally to the inflamed surface can bring much relief. The disfiguring eruptions will continue to annoy and pain you in spite of soaps, washes or powders. There is no hope of getting rid of a skin disease except through the purification of the depreciated blood and neutralizing and filtering out of the circulation all poisonous substances and acids.

The purifying and tonic properties of S. S. S. soon manifest their influence in skin ailments; the debilitated system is invigorated and toned up, and the gradual disappearance of the eruptions show that the polluted blood is being brought back to its natural purity and strength. SUCCOR TOO LATE.

Pathetic Account of the Wanderings of a Little Boy Who Was Lost.

STORY TOLD BY FATHER.

Little Emerson Hughes, 6 years of age, died from hunger and exhaustion after wandering aimlessly among the deep canyons and rugged foothills near Bernalillo, north of this city, three days and three nights without food.

The little fellow was visiting at a ranch near by, with his mother, and wandered away from home last Saturday afternoon.

Godfrey Hughes, the well known assayer of El Paso, father of the lad, has returned to El Paso, after the long search for the lost child was ended and the little bruised and weary body had been found.

The story he tells to the El Paso News of his boy's sufferings in the desert and the pluck displayed by the sturdy little fellow alone in the wilderness, is pathetic in the extreme.

"The child left home Saturday afternoon," said Mr. Hughes. "Within a half hour he was missed and the search was begun. He was found Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, seven miles from home. A Mexican trailer found him on top of a hill walking along with his hat in his hand. The little fellow had climbed up there evidently with the thought that some one might see him from a distance and come after him.

"When found he was thoroughly exhausted and almost famished. He was taken to a Mexican home in the vicinity, nourishment was administered and he was permitted to sleep. Three hours later he awoke, was troubled with violent nausea and in a few minutes expired. I did not see him until he had died.

"I am satisfied that the boy walked day and night until found and that he had not slept since leaving the ranch. His little body was bruised in many places as if he had fallen upon the rocks during the night.

"Many Indian traders as well as Mexicans aided in the search, but all took the wrong direction, owing to misinformation given to my wife by a man who claimed to have seen the boy above the house a short time after he left home.

"As a matter of fact the little fellow wandered down the canyon in the opposite direction. He was trailed miles before the trace of him was lost at a spot where a warden and a man's tracks were visible. We had hoped that a man had picked him up there and was caring for him somewhere in the vicinity, but such proved not to have been the case.

"Water was plentiful, but the child had no food. We found several places where he had knelt down at springs or little rivulets to drink and as an evidence of his hunger we found several bunches of grass he had plucked and chewed for nourishment, but had spit out.

"Our search was systematic and thorough, but useless. We first searched through all the neighboring villages, then back toward, and above the house. Then the searching parties covered the hills and canyons. The trouble was that the little boy walked straight down the canyon and was seven miles away while we were searching near the house.

"A Mexican living in the vicinity where he was found saw him trucking bravely along on top of a hill in the moonlight with his hat in his hand. And then came quickly, but it came too late."

THE ALVARADO.

Making Final Arrangements for the Opening on May 10.

The measurements and specifications for the new fire alarm boxes for the Santa Fe property have been completed by Chief Runge and the Santa Fe officers and forwarded to headquarters. The specifications call for six boxes, one each for the Alvarado hotel, the freight depot, the passenger station and express office, and three for the shops. In the Alvarado eight auxiliary boxes will be placed, all connecting with the hotel box. One of these will be in the kitchen, one in the laundry and six scattered through the house so an alarm can be turned in direct from every part of the house. The hotel will open May 10, absolutely, but no arrangements have been made for a formal opening. The furniture is being rapidly placed in position and is very handsome.

From Los Placitas.

F. S. Van Volkenburgh, the general merchant at Los Placitas, and I. Freudenberg, the merchant of Bernalillo, are in the city today, and the former was a pleasant caller at this office this afternoon. He left for publication the following interesting items about the Los Placitas district:

"Los Placitas, N. M., April 19.—A Mr. Gard, from Denver, has been here to examine some prospects and is so favorably impressed that he promises to return and secure by purchase as many prospects that are promising as is possible.

"Pedro Gurule & Co. have a contract to deliver a large quantity of coal in Bernalillo.

"This plaza is considerably excited over the reported death of the lost child (chronicled in these columns). As yet it lacks confirmation. Parties from the east are daily expected to do development work on their claims in this district."

Ottumwa, Iowa, April 10, 1901.

In 1893 I broke out with Eczema on my head, legs and arms. The Doctors treated me for about two years without giving relief. I next tried various ointments, soaps and washes, but these did me no good. I finally quit taking medicine, as the physician said the disease had become chronic and incurable. Having endured this tormenting malady for about 16 years, I determined to make another effort to get rid of it and began S. S. S. in July, 1900, and continued it until November, when I discovered, to my surprise and joy, that not a spot could be found on my body, which before had been almost covered with the eruption.

It has now been nearly a year since the disease disappeared, but not a sign of it has ever returned, and I am satisfied the cure is permanent. F. C. NORFOLK, 1017 Hackberry Street.

If the speaker declines or fails to act within that time, the delegates will take advantage of their rights and call the bill up as a privileged measure. A Valuable Doctor.
It was only last Thursday, the Hustler suggested small boys and girls desiring a little sister or brother, should correspond with Dr. Rosenthal. The same evening the doctor received the following epistle:

Farmington, N. M., April 19, 1902.
Dear Doctor: Bring me a little sister, just like the one you picked out yesterday for yourself.

WILLIE WALKER.
And within twelve hours the doctor brought his papa and mama, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Walker, a fine baby girl. Other little boys and girls should write the doctor.—Farmington Hustler.

An exchange says: A railroad man in any capacity who is not polite even to an inquisitive, though gentlemanly, reporter, trying to earn his salt, seldom rises to a place of responsibility and emoluments with the company employing him.

Railroads of Chicago have voluntarily increased the wages of freight handlers. The advance varies in the different departments, but the total increase is $25,000 per month, and affects 8,000 men employed in freight depots of Chicago.

Out of a total of 1,000 or 1,500 goats shipped into Emporia, Kansas, from New Mexico, a day or two ago, when they were unloaded it was found that 240 were dead. They were in poor condition for moving and that is largely accountable for the heavy loss.

The rush of eastern travel is more than present train service of the Santa Fe can handle, and arrangements are being made to run the California Limited in two sections. On the eastern trip April 29, and again May 3, the Limited will leave Los Angeles in two trains, a service that it probably will be necessary to continue for several weeks.

American railroad methods are illustrated by the fact that while 1.0 tons is a load for an English freight train, an average load on one of our railroads last year was 540 tons. On two British railroads it costs from 48¢ to $1.28 to move a ton of freight one mile, while the cost on a leading American road is 23¢ cents a mile.

Locomotive 1953, one of the new prairie freight engines which the Santa Fe is having built at the Baldwin works in Philadelphia, went west on Tuesday for service on the Santa Fe Pacific, says the Topeka State Journal. By way of giving it an impromptu test as to tractive test it was sent up Pauline hill with 1,000 tons behind it and did the performance was easy.

Telephones will supplant the telegraph lines for practically all of the commercial business of the Burlington railroad within a short time. Wires are now being strung connecting the principal division points of the system, and as soon as the lines are finished all of the communication between the offices and all directions, with the possible exception of the train orders, will be thus transmitted.

R. H. Ingram, executive secretary to President Julius Kruttschnitt, of the Southern Pacific company, has been appointed superintendent of the Los Angeles division of the Southern Pacific to succeed John A. Muir. Mr. Ingram was formerly in the executive department of the Louisville & Nashville Railway company. E. L. Swaine will continue as assistant division superintendent at Los Angeles.

On Tuesday the Pintsch gas plant was blown in and the Santa Fe trains supplied with gas. The plant has been in way of construction for several months. Pipes are being laid to all the depots in town, and before the week is ended all the trains out of El Paso will be supplied with Pintsch gas manufactured in the neighborhood of $25,000, and adds another industry to that city.

The Rock Island wires, now being strung along the line of the El Paso-Rock Island, will reach El Paso in a very few days, and will be run into the Western Union office immediately. This will necessitate an increase in the force of operators, and will afford additional facilities for east bound business. A complete plant for a storage battery is also expected at the Western Union office this week.—El Paso News.

The executive officers of the western roads met in Chicago and considered a proposition to charge full rates on material and supplies for railroads. At present a half cent a ton a mile is charged for transportation of such supplies if used on railroads, while individuals who have to use such articles are charged full rates. An agreement could not be reached because the Wisconsin Central had just published a tariff making the rate on such supplies a half cent a ton a mile, and it is not willing to rescind this tariff.

Cal Hayes, for many years previous to a few months ago foreman of a gang in the tank room at Topeka, and since then in the employ of the company at Albuquerque, N. M., and at San Bernardino, Cal., in the capacity of a machinist, is now in charge of the round house at National City, Cal. He took the place last Friday and it is expected that Mrs. Hayes, who has been in Topeka since his departure for the west, will join him soon.

At a meeting of the grand council of the United Travelers of America, an organization of commercial travelers of the United States, a resolution was adopted opposing the bill of Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, to enlarge a jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission, and which is designed to permit the pooling of railroads so far as it effects the rates on passenger and freight traffic. The resolution declared the bill to be unconstitutional and an infringement upon the rights of commercial men.

The Topeka State Journal says: Jas. Sheets, in the service of the car company here as a millwright for twenty years, before three years ago, when he went to Albuquerque, N. M., because of poor health, has returned to his place and will remain here. He began working in the water service this morning and his time will be occupied a good many months setting up the machinery for the new shops, that being the business of a tradesman of his class. His wife and two children are here and the goods have been shipped from Albuquerque.

Recently John A. Muir, who was Southern Pacific superintendent at Los Angeles, resigned to accept a better position in the street car service under H. E. Huntington. R. H. Ingram has been appointed superintendent to succeed Mr. Muir. Mr. Ingram has been appointed superintendent to succeed Mr. Muir. Mr. Ingram was one of the men brought from the east by President Hayes, and is about the only one left. He made an excellent impression and was able to do good railroad work. He probably will remain permanently with the Southern Pacific.

The stockholders in the Choctaw who are objecting to the basis upon which the Rock Island secured the road—$80 for the common and $60 for the preferred—are not without reasonable grounds for such contention. Last year the increase in Choctaw's gross earnings was 52 per cent. Since November 1 the increase has been at the rate of 20 per cent. The preferred has been receiving its 5 per cent dividend for four years. The common received 2 per cent in 1899, 4 per cent in 1900, 5 per cent in 1901 and a 10 per cent dividend in common stock. But a few days ago the common was advanced to a 6 per cent rate.

Winslow, Ariz., has been made a station for the icing of refrigerator cars used in conveying fruits, vegetables and other perishables across the continent to its destination on the eastern markets. Previously it has been the scheme to ice at Needles and run from there to Albuquerque before replenishing the supply. According to the present schedule a quantity will be taken on before leaving San Bernardino at the second at Winslow, the next at Las Vegas and then at Argentine. At Winslow a new 3,000 ton house has been built and as soon as that is exhausted more will be drawn from what was harvested last winter at the Hot Springs canyon.

Charles Lantry, of the firm of B. Lantry & Sons, who have the contract for some ballasting on the roadbed of the Santa Fe, has arrived at Watrous and gone to work. It is understood the road bed will be ballasted from Raton to Albuquerque and beyond, with Watrous stone. Mr. Lantry has some six or seven cars of machinery and tools, needed in his work at Watrous, and already has begun to employ men from Las Vegas. The action of the Santa Fe management in ballasting the road bed of the present line indicates very clearly that they do not apprehend any great difference will be made in the use of the present road bed, even should the proposed cut-off be made.

A deal is now pending to transfer 115 more miles of the Choctaw railroad system to the Rock Island. This is the extension into Guthrie from Halleyville, I. T., and the right of way for which has been secured by the Choctaw. Active construction has been in progress at Guthrie for past two months and the Choctaw owns in Guthrie alone over $300,000 worth of property, including terminal grounds. An official of the Rock Island stated that if the transfer is made the line will be extended from Enid to the main line of the Rock Island and that the Rock Island will have extended on west to Watonga to a connection with the Western Oklahoma branch of the same company.

The Topeka State Journal says: A. T. Parfitt, foreman of the boiler shop, has returned from Philadelphia, Pa., where he has been a little more than two weeks getting the work of inspecting boilers at the Baldwin locomotive works started. William Reddy, a member of Mr. Parfitt's force here, was taken there and will remain probably five months to look over the entire output of 123 engines which these people are constructing for the Santa Fe. Heretofore it has been the custom to send a man to inspect the machinery of the locomotives as they were put together, but it is understood that the Guthrie have extended on west to Watonga to a connection with the Western Oklahoma branch of the same company.

LINE OF THE NEW RAILROAD.

Alamogordo and Santa Rosa Busting Towns—Water Supply for Railroad Purposes.

Col. J. Francisco Chavez, superintendent of public instruction, returned to Santa Fe Thursday from a trip along the El Paso & Nor-eastern and El Paso-Rock Island railroads. He found the town of Alamogordo, the county seat of Otero county, to be a very pretty little city, seemingly very prosperous and increasing in population. A good deal of building was in progress. The town of Santa Rosa in Guadalupe county was a very busy place and much building was going on. A good deal of it is of a very substantial character and Colonel Chavez believes that Santa Rosa is destined to be a very good town and that it will grow very rapidly. The question of a plentiful supply of good water is serious at present, but he thinks it will be solved satisfactorily in a few months by conducting water from several springs within a few miles of Santa Rosa to the town. The roadbed of the two roads named has been vastly improved since construction was finished and trains now run at the rate of 30 miles and over per hour. The question of water supply for railroad purposes is also a serious one, as north of Alamogordo good water for engine use is very scarce. The El Paso-Rock Island company, however, is boring for water at several places along the line and hopes to find an abundant supply within the next few weeks.

While the range is somewhat dry, live stock is still in good condition and should some rain fall in that section in the next ten days the lambing of sheep will prove satisfactory and not many losses will occur. Colonel Chavez found public school matters in satisfactory condition in Otero county and improving in Guadalupe county.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Ellen Harrison, of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives." Refuse substitutes. Alvarado Pharmacy.

ARIZONA BOARD.

Special Work to Be Done on World's Fair Mineral Exhibit.

The board of managers of the Arizona department of the St. Louis International Exposition met in Phoenix and organized by the election of C. E. Taylor, of Globe, as chairman and Thomas E. Dalton, of Phoenix, as secretary. Representation on the board is fixed by territorial statute, a single member from each of the four territory's judicial districts.

The most important work done at the initial meeting was the preparation of an advertisement offering for sale of the department of $500 and $1,000 each. Bids will be opened in Phoenix May 13.

The commission appreciates that the amount at its disposal is insufficient to properly set forth the attractive features of the territory, but hopes to enlist county support and individual pride as to secure an exhibit that might otherwise have cost $100,000. The members believe the mining industry the most important, and will probably arrange for an elaborate and beautiful exhibit of ores from all parts of Arizona. Many plans are being outlined for the proper presentation of the agricultural, pastoral and lumbering industries, and as well for elaborate displays, mainly at private or governmental cost, of the scenic attractions of the southwest and of the aboriginal and prehistoric features.

MUDGE-SOMMERS.

Burton Mudge, Son of General Manager Mudge, Is Married.

On Santa Fe passenger train No. 6, leaving for the south last evening at 8 o'clock, was a bridal car, with shades of electric lights, festoons of smiles and roses, jardiniere filled with flowers and everything imaginable to make the bridal day beautiful. It was the price car of General Manager H. U. Mudge, of the Santa Fe, and the bride couple were his son, Burton W. Mudge, and Mrs. Mudge, who was Miss Mary Sebastian Sommers, the niece of General Passenger Agent John Sebastian, of the Rock Island. Miss Sommers and Mr. Mudge were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a private parlor at the Brown Palace hotel, by Rev. John Houghton, of St. Mark's Episcopal church.

Miss Sommers' stepfather, A. C. Baldwin, is engaged in mining at Deadwood, S. D., and having a very important piece of work on hand could only plan a flying trip to some point near Deadwood. It was originally intended to have the wedding at Topeka, the home of the bride and groom, but this would require too long a trip for Mr. Baldwin too spend, but Chicago was suggested, but the same objection applied.

"I think I can make Denver if you will be married there," wrote Mr. Baldwin.

The Brown Palace hotel management was telegraphed to, an order was placed over the wire with a florist and a bower of floral decorations was prepared. The special train arrived yesterday morning. Accompanying Burton Mudge and Miss Sommers were: Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Mudge, parents of the bridegroom to be; Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, mother of the bride; Miss Jeanne Lord, of Topeka, and Miss Torington, of Wichita, friends of Miss Sommers, who acted as bridesmaids. The party were driven to the hotel.

Shortly before 4 o'clock a telegram came from Mr. Baldwin from Dead-

STRENGTH

Is an attribute of manhood universally desired. Few people understand that the only source of physical strength is food, and that every one who has sufficient nourishing food should be strong. But there are thousands of puny people who have plenty of good food. How is that explained? The explanation is simple. Food does not nourish the body unless it is properly digested and assimilated. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion hinder the proper digestion and assimilation of the nutrition contained in the food eaten. Thus the strength of food is lost, wasted.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs. It causes the perfect digestion and assimilation of food and thus it makes men and women strong.

"I had been suffering from indigestion so badly that I could not work more than half the time, but now I can work every day and eat anything I want," writes Mr. Victor L. Hayden, of Blackstone, Nottoway Co., Va. "Why Because I took Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has put new life and energy in me, restored my health and made a man of me once more. I used to weigh 120 lbs. and had gotten down to 100 lbs. now I am back to 120 and will soon be back at my old weight if nothing happens. Your medicine has done it all."

LAS VEGAS ELKS.

This Organization Is Thinking of Establishing a Building of Its Own.

Probably there are few social or fraternal organizations in the southwest, the financial condition of which is as favorable as that of the local lodge of Elks, No. 408.

The body has been foremost for deeds of charity, and yet it has some $2,500 in its treasury. By a small assessment it could add $2,000 to the reserve fund, or even double it. With this amount as a basis, ground could be bought on any street, say Central for illustration, while capital could be borrowed for the completion of the building.

A three story house could be constructed, the ground floor for stores; the second story as bed rooms for visiting Elks, who come here by hundreds every month; and the third story for lodge rooms, reading rooms, and club rooms for the order. The rent of the rooms would pay the interest for borrowed money and supply a sinking fund to liquidate the indebtedness at last.

The Masonic Temple is proof of what can be done along this line in Las Vegas. There was a little early embarrassment, but all that has been arranged and now the Masonic Temple is more than paying all expenses, while it is an ornament to the town and would be an ornament to any town ten times the size of Las Vegas. The Elks might, should, would and could, go and do likewise.—Optic.

Chronic Bronchitis Cured.

"For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Joseph Coffman, of Montmorency, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar, and always with satisfaction." Alvarado Pharmacy.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. MACDALENA.

Special Correspondence.

Magdalena, N. M., April 18.—Magdalena has a lead pipe cink on busy times during the coming summer. The mines are beginning operations in earnest, and some of them have good bodies of rich ores in sight.

The Fitch smelter will blow in the first of May. Enough ore is in sight to keep it running during the summer. Some building and improving is going on, and work is more plentiful than it has been during the last year.

A. E. Fitch is having a neat cottage arranged and furnished for the reception of his son, Max, and bride, who will return from California some time during the coming week. H. D. Rice is doing the work.

C. F. Brown, accompanied by M. K. Bullard, C. Hazlett and H. A. True, of Boston, spent Wednesday night in Magdalena. The gentlemen were on their return trip from the Black range, where they were working the New York group of mines. This is the first trip the trustees of the Black range properties have made to their valuable mines and they are highly pleased with the prospect. The company is now working a large force of men and will put on more, so as to push the work.

The ore they are taking out now runs a little better than 1,000 ounces in silver with a little color of gold. It is being hauled to Magdalena and shipped to El Paso to be worked.

This company also has control of some promising lead properties in the Magdalena mountains. The polished eastern business men had the appearance of old timers when they arrived at Magdalena and they recount their first mountain hardships as pleasant experiences.

Mr. Bullard, who is president of the Mine Development company, accompanied by Secretary Hazlett and Mr. True, will leave for their eastern homes the first of the week. They expect to spend a day or two in Albuquerque before returning.

Max B. Fitch, superintendent of the Fitch smelter at Magdalena, and Miss Estelle Boyette Lewis will be married at the bride's home in Los Angeles on April 19. Mr. Fitch and wife will immediately return to New Mexico and after spending a few days in Albuquerque will go to their future home in Magdalena.

Albuquerque All Right.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Albuquerque, April 8, 1902.

George H. Browne, Farmington, New Mexico.

Dear Sir:—As you will notice from the shipping receipt, I succeeded in getting the hose cart for you. As you know, this cart used to be pulled by some very swift runners, and I hope you people will keep up its reputation as a very fast hose cart. I think you will recognize this hose cart when it gets to Farmington.

Yours very truly,

L. B. PUTNEY.

As will be noted, before securing a paid fire department, the Albuquerque boys were very proud of their hose team, and were the winners of many hotly contested races; and in transferring this cart to Farmington, hope its reputation may be preserved and that it may continue to be hauled by the fastest team in the territory.

A vote of thanks is due Mr. Putney, Richard Wetherell and the people of Albuquerque for this splendid gift, and preparation at once made for securing more hose and a place to house the reel.—Farmington Hustler.

Millions marvel at the multitude of maladies cut off by Dr. King's New Life Pills—the most distressing too. Stomach, liver and bowel troubles—dyspepsia, loss of appetite, jaundice, biliousness, fever, malaria, all fall before these wonder workers. 25 cents at all drug stores.

Lumber Owners Coming.

John A. Lee, who is one of the local members of the American Lumber company, owners of extensive tracts of timber lands in Valencia and McKinley counties, received a telegram this morning, giving him the information that the principal officials of the company are coming to this city, and will leave Chicago on April 26 in a special car. They will remain a day here and then go west over the Santa Fe Pacific to Thorau, where teams will be in waiting for the party to take them over the lands. Mr. Lee says after the trip to Thorau the gentlemen, probably twelve in number, will return to this city and remain here several days before returning to the east.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more gentle and mild in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. THE INTERVENER.

Petition Against the Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation Company.

SOLICITOR GENERAL BARTLETT.

That New Mexico has great interests of a general nature at stake in the fight being made upon the elephant Butte dam project is generally admitted. But its interests as a territory are also of a very specific nature and are so vital that Solicitor General E. L. Bartlett yesterday, on behalf of the territory, filed a petition of intervention in the territorial supreme court, asking that the territory be made a party defendant with the Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation company in the pending suit of the United States against the latter, and which has again been sent back to the territorial supreme court by the United States supreme court for the taking of additional testimony and review. As is well known, the main point of objection of the United States against the construction of the Elephant Butte dam is the absurd allegation that it would interfere with the navigation of the Rio Grande about 1,200 miles below the proposed dam site. The real purpose, however, of those pushing the dam is to clear the way for the construction of a so-called international dam at El Paso, with which it is proposed to rob the people of New Mexico of the use of any new appropriation of water from the Rio Grande river and its tributaries. The interests of New Mexico in this matter are well illustrated in the following petition asking that New Mexico be permitted to become party to the suit against the Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation company:

In the supreme court of the territory of New Mexico, January term, 1902.

United States of America,) Plaintiff,) vs.) No.)

The Rio Grande Dam and) Irrigation Company.)

Petition for Intervention.
New Mexico, the territory of New Mexico, by Edward L. Bartlett, her solicitor general, and on behalf of the said territory moves the court for an order allowing the said territory to intervene in this cause and be joined as a defendant herein, and be heard in opposition to the bill of complaint filed herein and for the grounds of such motion alleges that it has an interest in said litigation in the success of the defendant herein and desires to unite with it in resisting the claim of the plaintiff in this suit, and sets forth the following facts as grounds for such intervention:

1. That the construction of the defendant company's proposed storage dam at Elephant Butte and of its proposed distributing dams and other irrigation works below, in Sierra and Dona Ana counties of this territory, would be of great benefit to the people of the territory generally and especially to the land owners, farmers and others in the valleys below Elephant Butte.

2. The congress of the United States by its act approved June 21, 1898, granting lands to the territory of New Mexico in section 6 thereof, provided as follows: "For the establishment of permanent water reservoirs for irrigating purposes, 500,000 acres; for the improvement of the Rio Grande in New Mexico and the increasing of the surface flow of water in the bed of said river, 100,000 acres." That under said act there has been a large amount of land selected and located for the benefit of the purposes named. The territorial legislature has appointed and provided for an irrigation commission for the purpose of disposing of such lands and that a large amount of the same have already been contracted for by the said commission and the territory for sale or lease, and a considerable amount of money has been received by the territory on account and that if the contention of the plaintiff in this case should prevail it would render such a grant of 600,000 acres of land utterly valueless, and of no use or benefit to said territory or any of its inhabitants, and would produce great complications and hardships upon those who have already paid money for the purchase and lease of said land.

3. That in seeking to enjoin the said defendant company from building its proposed storage dam and other irrigation works as above mentioned, on the ground that to impound the flood waters of the Rio Grande at Elephant Butte for irrigation in the valleys below would substantially diminish the navigable capacity of the Rio Grande within the limits of present navigation, i. e. between Brownsville and Rio Grande City, Texas, about 1,200 miles below Elephant Butte, measured by the sinuosity of the stream, the plaintiff seeks to draw an invidious distinction between the right of the people of New Mexico, and those of the other states and territories of the Union.

4. That if the storage of the flood waters of the Rio Grande at Elephant Butte be inhibited on the ground that such storage would substantially diminish the navigable capacity of that stream below Rio Grande City, Texas, then also the storage of flood waters at other points on the Rio Grande and its tributaries in New Mexico may likewise be inhibited.

5. That in New Mexico the annual rainfall is so light that successful cultivation of the soil is practically impossible without water for irrigation, and that therefore the right to impound and utilize for irrigation the flood waters of the Rio Grande and its tributaries is essential to the welfare and prosperity of our people; for if denied such right there can be no substantial increase of the area of the territory's cultivated lands, which at present does not exceed 200,000 acres and consequently our people would forever remain dependent upon neighboring states for the bulk of their food supplies.

6. That "the reclamation and settlement of the arid lands" of New Mexico will tend to "enrich every portion" of the territory, "as the products of irrigation will be consumed chiefly in up-building local centers of mining and other industries, which would otherwise not come into existence at all."

New Mexico, as such, and the entire people thereof, have a vital interest at stake in this cause and are therefore entitled to intervene.

7. That prior to the inception of this suit the general government had, by the survey and reservation of reservoir sites in the valley of the Rio Grande in New Mexico, clearly indicated its purpose to treat the waters of the Rio Grande and its tributaries as suitable for irrigation only.

8. That the general government has never attempted to inhibit the use of the flood waters of the Rio Grande for irrigation in Colorado, and that until the inception of this suit, no attempt had been made to restrain the citizens of New Mexico from appropriating and using the flood waters of the stream for irrigation and other beneficial purposes.

9. That the non-representation of the territory at the inception and during the progress of this suit has been detrimental to the clear presentation to the courts of the great interests of the people of New Mexico in the premises, and that it is essential to the safeguarding of the territory's best interests that it be properly represented, and be allowed to present arguments and evidence as to the true purpose of the defendant company (which counsel for the plaintiff has incorrectly stated) to the end that the real facts of the case may be placed clearly before all courts in which the cause may be heard hereafter.

10. That this honorable court should take judicial notice of the fact that from certain of the affidavits and reports presented in support of the plaintiff's contention in the premises—notably from the affidavit of General Anson Mills, of the international boundary commission, as subscribed and sworn to by him on the 23d day of June, A. D. 1897; from a letter of the said Anson Mills, dated El Paso, November 17, 1896, addressed to the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.; from a letter to the Hon. Richard Olney, secretary of state, dated Washington, November 30, 1896, to the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, and from a letter of the said secretary of state dated Washington, January 29, 1897, to the said secretary of the interior, it is patent that "the objection to the building of the said defendant company's proposed dam and reservoir at El Paso, Texas, thus evidencing the deliberate intention of the general government by its political department to take measures, not for the purpose of improving the navigability of the Rio Grande, but for the purpose of appropriating the flood waters of the river for the irrigation of certain lands lying below the southern boundary of the territory of New Mexico in the Republic of Mexico and in the state of Texas, and that in maintaining this suit against the defendant company the plaintiff seeks under the guise of a question of the navigability of the stream, to obtain an adjudication of the interests of rival irrigation projects," in the permanent injury of the territory of New Mexico.

Wherefore, as New Mexico's right to appropriate and utilize for beneficial purposes the waters of her catchment area is of paramount importance to her people, the said territory, by its solicitor general, prays this honorable court to grant to the territory permission to intervene as aforesaid in this cause.

EDWARD L. BARTLETT,
Solicitor General of New Mexico.

GOVERNOR MURPHY.

He Visits Deming, the Capital of Luna County.

Last Tuesday word came that Governor Oakes Murphy, Arizona's popular governor, would be in Deming on the late train from the west, and it did not require any great length of time for the Adelphi club to prepare an impromptu reception for his excellency, says the Headlight.

On the arrival of the train, which did not come until 9 o'clock p. m., Governor Murphy was met at the depot by N. A. Bolich and other members of the Adelphi club. The party at once drove to the residence of Mr. Bolich, whose mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Smith was at one time a school mate of Arizona's executive. After a pleasant hour spent with Mr. Bolich's family the party adjourned to the club rooms and Governor Murphy was made to feel that in Deming, the southwestern gateway of New Mexico, he had a host of friends who ever stood ready to welcome him within our borders.

Frank Murphy, brother of the Governor, arrived with the first vice president of the Santa Fe, George G. Kenna, over the Santa Fe in Mr. Kenna's private car, at 11 o'clock and these gentlemen were also warmly received by our citizens.

The next morning Governor Murphy joined the last named party and all went west over the new Bisbee road.

THREE BALLS A BASE.

Change in Rules Contemplated to Handicap the Pitchers.

The pitchers who welcomed the innovation in the baseball rules this year as regards the calling of a foul strike are likely to find a handicap put on them as a result of that change. The scheme now is to have a batsman take his base on three balls, while three strikes, as at present, will constitute a strike out. The three-ball three-strike idea has been agitated among the National league magnates and it would probably have been tried this year as an experiment had it not been for the row among the magnates last winter. It is said, on good authority, that if the change is not tried this season it is almost certainly to be tried next year.

The Future of the Horse.

The department of agriculture's bureau of animal industry publishes an interesting monograph by George M. Rommell, expert in animal husbandry, on "The American Horse Market at the Present Time."

After reviewing the conditions of the horse market for the last decade and noting the improvement for the past few years, Mr. Rommell gives a very encouraging view of the present and hopeful indications for the future in this branch of the live stock industry. Horses, especially of the better grades, are now actually scarce, and the demands for the future, he thinks, are likely to be greater than at present. The fact is that, having survived the bicycle, trolley and automobile panic, the horse has come into existence at all.

involving during the last two years 40,000 animals for the British army in South Africa, the horse is here to stay, and those who feared the noble animal would soon become extinct may take heart and trust again in the survival of the fittest. Mr. Rommell's conclusion, which is amply sustained by the facts, is that there is pros. in raising horses for the market, particularly the better grade of horses.

Mexican on a Rampage.

Last Tuesday evening while a party of Mexicans were partaking of the evening meal in a shack near the railroad a stranger called and asked if any member of the company could inform him as to the whereabouts of an acquaintance whom he believed to be in that neighborhood. He was politely told that no one answering the description had been there. The stranger left, but immediately returned and began performing the shaka with cold lead from a forty-five calibre revolver. One of the bullets took effect in the body of Arculano Fuentes, entering the thigh and ranged downward passing out at the calf of the leg. The wound is not dangerous. Constable J. Bowie in Washington.

Alexander Bowie, a mine owner of Gallup, is in Washington in relation to a bill now pending in conference committee for protection of lives of coal miners in the territories. The mine owners and miners of Indian Territory mines desire that the bill shall contain a provision requiring mine owners to retain professional shot-firers. The New Mexico mine owners object to this provision, contending that it is unnecessary in mines of the character of those in their territory. The conference committee will defer action until testimony can be had from both the territories.

DAMAGES ASKED.

Jury Now Has the Noted Gallup Assault Case.

The case of Dave Strachan against Gregory Page, both of Gallup, for $2,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received in an assault, is in the hands of the jury. The testimony of the plaintiff was in the line of tending to show the defendant assaulted and kicked him in the ribs, breaking two of them. He claimed the assault was wanton, malicious and entirely without provocation and he was unable thereafter to perform his customary labor and he lost on an average of $60 a month.

The defendant said he forlode the plaintiff to come on his premises because he believed he had levied blackmail on saloon men by charging them with selling liquor to Indians and because he believed him to be dishonest. When he found him in his hotel he called him out and so accused him and the plaintiff called him vile names. He then slapped him in the face twice, but did no further injury.

Judge Baker instructed the jury that words were no provocation and the jury was directed to bring in a verdict of nominal damages, unless they further believed that physical injury had been done the plaintiff by Page kicking him in the ribs, when they should return a verdict for whatever sum they believed he should be damaged. If the defendant was found to have acted wantonly and maliciously, Judge Baker said punitive damages not to exceed $3,000 should be returned.

HISTORY OF MAGGIO.

Why He Was Arrested on the Charge of Anarchy.

The Silver City Enterprise says: Antonio Maggio was released from the county jail at Albuquerque last week upon an order from Judge Frank Parker of the judicial district. Maggio has been in confinement ever since the week following McKinley's assassination, which said calmly led to his arrest in Santa Rita where he was employed as a barber. Maggio who is an Italian and a former member of Andrews opera company, decided when that company visited this town last spring that Silver City was good enough for him. He gained employment as a barber and being a good musician, soon became a favorite round the saloons. However his popularity began to wane, when becoming better acquainted, he ventured to air his anarchistic views to his newly found friends. Later he was regarded as a harmless crank. When the terrible Buffalo tragedy was enacted, people began to recall Maggio's utterances and the officers were informed of them. Telegraphic communications with the Buffalo chief of police was soon followed by an order for arrest. He was confined in the county jail a short while when United States Marshal Foraker took him to Albuquerque. His release last week draws the curtain upon an incident connected with one of the saddest tragedies in the history of the country. Maggio it is said, will reside in Albuquerque and will join the Italian band in that city.

Liberal Proposition to the Citizens by a Capitalist.

The Silver City Enterprise says that it is in position to announce that a firm of prominent eastern capitalists has taken hold of the smelter proposition and stand ready to help it along by encouraging words but not alone by good gold eagles. The proposition made by this firm through their territorial representative is substantially as follows: In case a 60 or 100 ton smelter is built in Silver City, they will also build a refinery for converting the matte into copper bars.

In other words, Silver City need raise only enough money to erect a 60-ton plant, which surely should not exceed $10,000 and they will have at their disposal a working capital of $100,000 and a refinery to be built as soon as the smelter is started.

A New Mexico Boy.

The El Paso Herald tells of a debate on last Friday evening in the high school literary society of that city. The subject was: "Affirmed, That United States senators should be elected by popular vote." The negative was led by Raif Gould. Says the Herald:

"All the debaters showed that they were well informed on the theory of our government and were well able to think on their feet. The affirmative laid special stress on the corruption that is claimed to have crept into our present system of election of senators, and the necessity of making the officials more directly responsible to the people. The negative maintained the right of the question by arguing the necessity of conservatism in the legislative branch of the government. The debate was decided in favor of the negative.

SHERIFF FARR COMING.

Is a Brother of the Murdered Sheriff Farr.

Sheriff Farr is expected to arrive from Walsenburg, Colo., tonight for Kee Kunoof, the Jap now under arrest here who is wanted there for robbing the Colorado Supply company store. He is the second sheriff of the name and family. His brother was the Sheriff Farr who was shot and killed in the fight with outlaws, as the result of which "Black Jack" was hanged at Clayton. The then Sheriff Farr was standing behind a tree and the bullet passed through the tree and his breast. His brother, the present sheriff, was elected to succeed him.

Terrible in San Miguel.

The sheep are dying very fast in the lower part of the county. One man says he lost 1,600. If rain does not relieve the situation before long there are going to be some bad failures in the stock business.

Las Vegas has a regular sandstorm today and business was practically suspended. There were few, if any, people in from neighboring towns. It is very seldom Las Vegas has such disagreeable weather.—Record.
