CENTURIES-OLD ENGLISH-IRISH QUARREL ENDED TREATY SIGNED

Agreement is Reached in the Small Hours of Tuesday Morning in Cabinet Room of British Premier.

DOMINION STATUS IS GRANTED TO IRELAND

Approval By the British Parliament is Regarded as Certain; Position of Ulster is Less Certain.

(By The Associated Press.) London, Dec. 6. (By The Associated Press.)—The centuries-old quarrel between England and Ireland was ended in the small hours of Tuesday morning by the signature in the premier's cabinet room of a treaty between Great Britain and Ireland, consisting of eighteen articles, giving Ireland the title of the Irish Free State, and the same constitutional status as Canada, Australia and other over-seas dominions.

The question of allegiance, which had threatened to wreck the negotiations was surmounted by permitting members of the Irish parliament to swear allegiance to the constitution of the Irish free state and the faithful to his majesty the king.

The treaty has to run the gauntlet of the Ulster government and of the imperial parliament, which has been announced to remain in force for 14. Approval by parliament is a foregone conclusion. The position of Ulster is less certain. Evidence comes from Belfast that the treaty will be rejected by the most searching examination, and many modifications may be proposed.

Premier Congratulated. The king hastened to send the premier a telegram congratulating him on the success of the negotiations.

The treaty was signed by all members of the British and Irish parliaments participating in the negotiations. The treaty was signed by all members of the British and Irish parliaments participating in the negotiations.

Ireland is treated as a single entity in the treaty, with special clauses providing against the possibility that Ulster should refuse acquiescence in the settlement, in which case the government of Ireland would remain in force so far as the northern part of the island is concerned, but with the stipulation that a special commission shall determine new boundaries.

Provisions also are made for the co-operation of the two parliaments in providing certain safeguards in the event of Ulster remaining out of the free state. Neither parliament, however, will be permitted to make laws ending any particular religion, or to impose any religious disabilities.

Military Defense Force. The treaty looks to Ireland in the future of undertaking its own coastal defense and provides that Ireland shall during war give the British forces necessary facilities and other facilities. It further recognizes the Irish free state's right to maintain its own military defense force.

Premier Lloyd George is the recipient of universal congratulations for having successfully rescued the negotiations. The general belief is that the treaty will be approved by the House of Commons, and that it is responsible for the formula overcoming the allegiance difficulty.

Austen Chamberlain, leader of the government in the house of commons, and the Irish premier, Mr. Collins, who took place at 2:30 a. m., a messenger was started post haste for Belfast, as Lloyd George had promised Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, that new proposals would be in his hands by Tuesday or the negotiations would be finished.

The signing took place in the historic cabinet room of the premier and Arthur Griffith being the first to sign, after which all the members shook hands all around.

Today the atmosphere of Downing street was most cheerful. The Irish delegates are returning home fully satisfied with the result of the negotiations. The treaty, which took place at 2:30 a. m., a messenger was started post haste for Belfast, as Lloyd George had promised Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, that new proposals would be in his hands by Tuesday or the negotiations would be finished.

In the first place their free state is acknowledged by the government, which will go a long way with the rank and file among the Sinn Feiners.

In the next place, Mr. Lloyd George, Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith are given the greatest credit for the success of the conference, though the premier had the loyal support of Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead.

2 BROTHERS ARE SHOT, WOUNDED AT FORT WORTH

Are Said By Friends to Be Striking Packing House Employees; Negro, Alleged Assailant, Beaten.

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 6.—Two brothers, Tom and Tracy Macklin, said by friends to be striking packing house employees, were shot and seriously wounded late today in disorders growing out of the local packing house strike. Fred Rouse, a negro who is said to have been responsible for the disorders, was taken to a hospital following a severe beating he received at the hand of a large crowd.

The shooting occurred in front of the Armour and company plant. It was announced that the negro's condition was critical.

Rouse, who was said to be an employee of a packing plant, was stopped when he walked through a line of strike sympathizers. According to officials, he began firing. The Macklin brothers fell, wounded, and the negro fled. He was chased several blocks by the crowd and then was captured by nine policemen.

The crowd took the negro, following an unsuccessful effort by the officers to put him on a street car. Iron bars were torn from the car and the negro clubbed into insensibility, after which officers succeeded in regaining possession of him.

Rouse, it is said, remonstrated when he was urged by strike sympathizers not to return to work. Union officials declared none of their members was responsible for the trouble.

GUARDSMEN ARE CALLED OUT IN PACKER STRIKE

Packing Plant District in South St. Paul Will Be Patrolled by State Troops—Beginning Today.

(By The Associated Press.) St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 6.—An announcement that national guard troops have been called out tomorrow to patrol the packing plant district in South St. Paul, where close picketing by strike sympathizers has prevented use of strikebreakers, was made tonight.

The announcement was made at the adjutant general's office. After Adjutant General W. F. Rishow had conferred over the telephone with Gov. J. A. O. Press, who is in Washington. Calling out of the troops follows unsuccessful attempts of both the Swift and Armour companies to bring in men to take the place of strikers and after conferences with labor leaders had failed to effect an agreement for a discontinuance of the picketing.

CONVICT TAKES 'FRENCH LEAVE' OF CITY JAIL

Chas. Willingham, Escaped Convict From State Prison, Who Was Captured in Texas, Escapes Again.

Charles Willingham, who escaped from the state penitentiary July 19 in a penitentiary automobile and who was arrested a few days ago at Fort Worth, Texas, and brought here for keeping by P. J. Jamillio, state prisoner, escaped, escaped from the city jail yesterday morning.

Willingham had served one year of a two year sentence for auto robbery when he escaped. He is 22 years old, weighs 115 pounds, is 5 feet 6 1/2 inches tall; has brown eyes and light brown hair. When he escaped from the city prison yesterday morning he was wearing a blue jumpsuit and blue overalls. These were over a khaki shirt and blue trousers. He also wore a brown cap and tan shoes.

State Prison Warden P. J. Jamillio arrived here Sunday night with Willingham, who had been caught by Fort Worth officers at the home of his mother at Fort Worth, and Harold Applequist, who and old, were from Texas. Willingham, who had been sentenced to four years ago while serving a sentence for burglary, and was recently captured at Fort Madison, Ia. As the superintendent of the state penitentiary, Jamillio placed his two prisoners in the city jail.

Yesterday afternoon he called for them and when taken to the cells, found that Willingham was not there. Speedy inquiry was started by Chief of Police Galusha and it developed that Willingham had been dressed in overalls said to belong to George Berry, who was serving sentence at the state penitentiary, and that he had started out of the cell in company with the other "vags" when they were taken out to work on the "chain gang" by Jim Smith, who is in charge of the gang.

Charges of assisting a prisoner to escape will be placed against Berry this morning.

It is thought that Willingham took advantage of the fact that the "vags" are not closely watched while in the building and hid until the others of the crew had been released and taken to the workhouse. He then probably walked out of the building, making no attempt to conceal himself.

Another reward has been offered for the escaped convict and every citizen in the city is urged to report him if seen.

The escaped convict, who was described by Willingham, Superintendent Jamillio will probably remain in the city today to assist in the search.

UNION LEADERS AND EMPLOYERS ARE FAR APART ON STRIKE DATA

Between 90 and 95 Per Cent of the Men Are Working, Say Packers; Strikers' Places Filled.

Organization Chiefs Assert 6,000 More Workmen Quit Work in Chicago Tuesday; Threaten Police

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Dec. 6. (By The Associated Press.)—Union officials after the second day of the strike of packing house employees, asserted 6,000 more workmen had joined the strikers in Chicago, while the packers reported that between 90 and 95 per cent of their men were working and that the places of strikers had been filled from the hundreds of unemployed.

While speaking before the packers admitted that more employees had joined the walkout, they also asserted that part of those who went out Monday had returned and that there was no difficulty in hiring men. In other packing centers representatives of the "Big Five" packers reported the strikers returning to work, while officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America said the ranks of the strikers were being augmented.

Cornelius Hayes, president of the meat workers' union, said 12,000 workmen were on strike here. He said no definite figures were available for other sections but that more men were out than on Monday when the union estimated 23,000 workmen were on strike outside Chicago.

Figures made public by the packers showed that they admitted only about 2,500 men were on strike here, about 1,200 of this number being from the Wilson, Swift, Armour and Morris plants, while the rest were from independent packers. The crowd at the city hall reported practically suspended.

Policemen on strike duty were threatened by about 300 strike sympathizers following arrests after a worker had been seized. They then the crowd at bay with drawn revolvers until reserves arrived. A man and his daughter, both packing house workers, were attacked by strike sympathizers tonight but were not seriously hurt.

There was discussion of calling out troops to patrol the strike area in both South St. Paul and in Chicago. It was indicated, however, that they would not be needed at present.

55 PER CENT OF MEN IN OMAHA ON STRIKE

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 6.—Claims that 55 per cent of Omaha packing workers were on strike and that pickets guarded four plants, practically closed were made by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union, while company heads said the situation was not so serious.

Today's work was practically unchanged from yesterday. E. M. Schaefer, manager of Morris and company, estimating 50 per cent were not working.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR NEW YORKER'S ARREST ON A LIQUOR CHARGE

(By The Associated Press.) San Francisco, Dec. 6.—A warrant was issued here today for the arrest of James Sheehan, wealthy New York shipbuilder, on charge of illegally transporting 30 cases of wine and other liquors from New York to Monterey, Calif., in his yacht, the Patricia. The liquor was seized by the United States marshal.

According to Sheehan's attorney, Sheehan bought the yacht from a member of the Armour company of Chicago, and the liquor supply was aboard at the time. Sheehan, on the advice of counsel in New York, had the yacht placed under British registry and made arrangements to have the liquor loaded whenever he entered an American port.

The plan worked all right, according to the attorney, until Sheehan reached Monterey.

TOWN OF HATCH, N. M., REBUILDING RAPIDLY

(By The Associated Press.) El Paso, Texas, Dec. 6.—The town of Hatch, N. M., which was swept by a flood last July, is being rebuilt rapidly, according to T. H. Clasen, of the reclamation service, who is here after an inspection trip.

Houses are being rebuilt and the business district is almost entirely rebuilt, he said.

An proof of the rebuilding was again on its feet in the Hatch locality. Clasen brought with him a 12-pound stock beet which measured 22 inches in circumference which was grown near the city.

MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT IN CANADA DEFEATED

(By The Associated Press.) Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Premier Meighen was defeated in his home constituency, Portage la Prairie, Man., in the Canadian general election today. His opponent was Harry Leader, progressive.

Returns received tonight indicated defeat of the Meighen government and a landslide for the liberals, led by W. L. Mackenzie King. Seven members of the cabinet were defeated.

THREE MEN KILLED.

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 6.—Two striking packer employees were shot and a negro who did the shooting, a strike breaker, was killed late today by a mob in front of the Swift packing plant.

WAGE COURT PLAN OF HARDING IS OPPOSED BY SAMUEL GOMPERS

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Harding's suggestion, made in his message today, for a court to decide wages and conditions of employment, was decidedly to be a "reversion to conditions obtaining more than 100 years ago," in a statement issued tonight by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The president's message in most respects an admirable document, the statement said, "but he, like too many men, fails in his understanding of the relations between workers and employers, of the aspirations which are in the hearts and minds of the great mass of our people."

"Indeed the president's proposal for the establishment of a court with legal powers to decide as to wages and conditions of employment, is nothing more nor less than a reversion back to the conditions obtaining more than 400 years ago when the court of quarter sessions determined the wages of the workers and prohibited them from asking for more or from striking from having more than the court's decision and to condemn men to compulsory servitude and slavery if they resented in any way the decisions of those courts."

While speaking before the packers admitted that more employees had joined the walkout, they also asserted that part of those who went out Monday had returned and that there was no difficulty in hiring men. IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Charles W. Morse.

The U. S. shipping board has announced it will seek an indictment of Charles W. Morse, the shipbuilder, and he will be brought back immediately from France, whether he went last week, traveling as "C. Morris." Mr. Morse built ships for the government during the war, and it is these contracts the grand jury will investigate. He was indicted last year in connection with the sale of an American ship to the government of Tunis, but the indictment was dismissed.

GEN. PERSHING ORDERS A MUSIC SCHOOL OPENED

Popular Airs Will Be Supplemented By Classical Masterpieces; to Create New Band and Orchestra

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 6.—A music school will compare with that of the best orchestras and bands of the country. Popular music will be supplemented by the classical masterpieces and a superb band and orchestra will be created from army musicians.

General Pershing already has ordered the establishment here of the army music school and Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York symphony orchestra, has pledged his assistance in work of organization. Both are determined through the school to elevate music in the army.

The object of the school, as outlined in the orders by General Pershing, "is to give courses of instruction in music, both practical and theoretical, elementary and advanced, to student-bandmen, to advanced instrumentalists (soloists), and to student-band leaders, to stimulate and perfect the music, and to supply trained personnel therein to meet, as fully as possible, the needs of the service."

The first move to better army music was made by General Pershing when he took over the office of chief of staff. One of his first actions was to transfer the school from Fort Jay, New York, to Washington and to reorganize it as a "super-band," comparable only to the splendid band which was organized in France.

"Washington, of course," he said, "would be the only place suitable for its organization."
These statements were contained in an exchange of correspondence between the general and Mr. Damrosch. The latter first was opposed to the removal of the school from New York, believing students would have better advantage to study good music and to be reorganized as a "super-band," comparable only to the splendid band which was organized in France.

The movement to improve music in the army has as its objective the ultimate graduation from the school of enough men to give each regiment a highly trained musical organization able to compete with the best of the civilian orchestras in concert, for the public's entertainment as well as that of the army. Thus General Pershing hopes to find another way to make the army the people of the country, to give each a better and more intimate understanding of the other and to blot out any impression that the military and the citizen must move in different circles.

First evidences of the success of the school were exhibited recently when the students were used to welcome the general and the British government delegations. The school band was called upon to furnish music for the reception at the Union station and which attracted attention in every instance by the perfection with which it played.

A NEW 30-PASSENGER TRIPLANE IS TESTED

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 6.—A new 30-passenger triplane, recently tried out with success in Italy, and said to be capable of making a 24-hour, non-stop flight from New York to San Francisco, will be brought here within two months, Captain Mario Coblentz, of the Italian air service, declared today on his arrival from Italy. The plane, he said, has a speed of 150 miles an hour and a wing spread of 135 feet. It is driven by five 300-horse power motors.

ENVOYS DISCUSS SUBSTITUTE FOR ANGLO-JAP PACT

Question of the Naval Ratio Is Thrown Temporarily Into the Background at the Arms Conference.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 6 (By The Associated Press.)—The effort to find an acceptable substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance has so diverted attention of many arms delegates as to throw even the question of the naval ratio temporarily into the background.

Both the Japanese and the British have shown a desire to include the United States in any entente that may replace the alliance and a tentative treaty draft under consideration by some governments concerned would provide a quadruple arrangement, also including France.

What may have been the attitude of the American delegations in the behind-the-scenes developments, remains a mystery. Taking the position that no entente suggestion is "formally" before them, the Americans refuse to discuss publicly the policy of American participation in a political Far East agreement.

Feeling Their Way
In the absence of an authoritative indication of the American viewpoint the impression is gained by the other delegates that the Americans are feeling their way cautiously, as they seek to ascertain what course would be in accord with American opinion.

Recognizing the senate's claim to partnership in the shaping of international agreements, Secretary Hughes and his colleagues are said to be solicitous that the sentiment of the treaty-ratifying branch, as well as that of the executive shall be taken into account.

These considerations are being weighed carefully by the foreign delegates, who desire to have the United States a party to the most far-reaching concert of nations. Meantime some clue to help solve the riddle may be given by the senate. Speculation as to what course the negotiations may take is going on among senators and several have indicated they might seek in a senate debate to bring the question of an entente more conspicuously before the public.

Awake From Tokio
Naval ratio negotiations still are at a standstill while the Japanese delegates await word from Tokio. The full committee of the whole on the Far East will meet again tomorrow after a recess of five days.

In the five-day interim the formal activities of the conference have been confined to meetings of the sub-committee on drafting of resolutions and to conversations of the Japanese and Chinese regarding Shantung. Both the drafting committee and the Shantung group met today but neither reported material progress.

HARDING SPEECH IS 'RAPPED' BY HIS OPPONENTS

House Democrats Criticize It During Debate; Representative Mondell Defends the Message.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 6.—A quick reaction to President Harding's message was evidenced today in the house during an afternoon of lambasting debate.

Urging prompt passage of soldier bonus legislation Representative Gallivan, democrat, Massachusetts, declared the "men who won the war" but scant attention in the message.

Representative Huddleston, democrat, Alabama, asserted that the president, in his attitude toward labor had gone out of his way to exhort the "past" but "proposes to hold onto the old system, the old struggle between the employer and the man who works for him."

Representative Mondell, republican leader, was quick to reply, asserting that he had never heard so many "extraneous and misleading statements."

Mr. Mondell charged that the Alabama member had misrepresented the president's position and had made it appear that Mr. Harding had gone out of his way to exhort the "past" but "proposes to hold onto the old system, the old struggle between the employer and the man who works for him."

While Representative Garrett, Tennessee, asked democratic leaders to discuss the message on the floor, in a formal statement he declared it was "wholly lacking in force" and that there was nothing of leadership or in the nature of an appealing call in it.

"The president's attitude upon the question of giving the notice as to abrogation of commercial treaties requires," he said, "as a senator, he twice voted for those provisions. As a candidate for president he did not hesitate to make insinuating criticism against Mr. Wilson because the latter stated he would not give the notice. As president he acknowledges he was wrong in his action as senator and is content to let the mark of Mr. Wilson's tracks."

ECHO OF THE IRISH AGREEMENT HEARD IN FINANCIAL MARKETS

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 6.—An echo of the Irish agreement was heard in financial markets here today. Sterling or British exchange rose to $4.68 1/2 for demand bills and a slight fraction was added after the close of the market. These quotations are the highest for London remittances in almost two years.

German remittances also showed decided strength, marks rising to 96.52 or 20 points over their low record of last month.

INTEREST ISN'T STIMULATED BY PROFIT SHARING

Application of "Animal Standards" to Labor Must Be Discontinued, Consulting Engineer Says

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 6.—The widespread application of "animal standards" to labor must be discontinued and means devised to make work more fascinating before any great increase in industrial production can be brought about, W. N. Polakov, consulting engineer, declared in an address before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers today.

Increased productivity sought through installation of automatic high speed machinery has been largely lost, he declared, because of the deadening effect produced in operatives by elimination of mental element.

Financial incentives such as profit sharing and differential piece rates, are "obviously unfit" for stimulating true interest, he declared, as they merely create interest in obtaining higher pay without releasing any of the creative self expression which makes work tolerable for thinking workers.

Methods of improving locomotive combustion which, he declared, would reduce the railroad's annual coal bill $315,000,000, were outlined by P. H. C. Coppus, of Worcester, Mass. Such a saving, he said, would release for use of the general public more than fifty millions tons of coal; reduce the price for industrial consumption and would tend to influence general freight rate reductions. Tests by the Santa Fe system, he said, substantiated his statements.

END FIGHT OVER THE PATERNITY OF 'BABY' GUY

Will Be Several Weeks,
However, Before Judge Decides Whether Stillman Child Is Legitimate.

(By The Associated Press.)
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 6.—The fight over the paternity of Baby Guy Stillman ended here today but it will be several weeks before Supreme Court Justice Morschauser decides whether or not the child is legitimate.

John E. Mack, appointed guardian-at-law for the youngster when James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, impugned his paternity upon suing Mrs. Anne U. Stillman for divorce, announced that he had treated his case in defense of Guy's good name. He reserved the right, however, to question any witness who might be called by Mrs. Stillman's counsel at a hearing here January 15.

Meanwhile, the divorce issue still will be contested. Counsel have agreed to go to Montreal January 11 to hear testimony of witnesses called by Mrs. Stillman to defend her against the banker's charges that she was guilty of misconduct in Canada, with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide named as co-respondent. After the hearing here in January the case will go to Justice J. Gleason and Justice Morschauser for decision.

The only testimony in opposition to Mr. Stillman's indictment of Guy's paternity was that of Mary J. Sullivan, employed on the banker's country estate from December 1917, until March, 1918. She told of Mr. Stillman's visit to his wife during January and February, Guy was born the next November.

The other witnesses supported Mrs. Stillman's counter charges that her husband was intimate with Florence H. Leeds, former show girl, and was the father of her son, Jay Ward Leeds, born in September, 1918. Mary Farney related her experiences as nurse to Mrs. Leeds from June, 1918, until after the birth of Jay, at which, she was reported to have said, Mr. Stillman was in "excited, nervous" attendance. Afterward, he frequently telephoned to the hospital to inquire as to the condition of "his wife," she added. The banker was known to the nurse as Franklin Harold Leeds, she testified.

Mabel Young, who said Florence Leeds employed her as maid for three weeks in November, 1917, recounted how he and the former show girl took up light housekeeping in New York.

WE CORRECT

The Journal wishes to correct a mis-statement contained in a story printed yesterday morning with reference to a letter from Eugene Meyer, Jr. chairman of the war finance corporation.

The Journal stated that "J. B. Herndon, president of the New Mexico Bankers' association, is in receipt of a letter from Eugene Meyer, Jr."

Mr. Herndon is not president of the bankers' association. The letter came into his possession due to his position as chairman of the agricultural loan agency now serving New Mexico. It was addressed to the president of the State Bankers' association, C. W. Harrison, of Clovis, being that officer.

The address on the letter, coupled with the fact that Mr. Herndon released it to the press, caused confusion in the mind of the reporter handling the story.

The error was not due to any statement made by Mr. Herndon or anyone in his employ. The Journal wishes to correct the item out of justice to Mr. Herndon and Mr. Harrison.

"MYSTERY MAN" HOLDS CAPTIVE HEARTS OF FAMOUS DOLLY SISTERS

Who is the "mystery man" who has captured the hearts of the famous Dolly twins? They admit that they have been enraptured by a millionaire whose intentions are serious. Yansel Dolly, on the verge, she thinks, of obtaining a decree of divorce from her comedian husband, Harry Fox, and her sister, Roszika, who recently obtained her final decree of divorce from Jean Schwartz, the popular song writer, are engaging in a sort of friendly rivalry for the millionaire's heart and hand, according to those who know.

BENNY CORDOVA WILL MEET MIKE BACA HERE SOON

Fifteen Round Head-Liner
Between These Lads Has Been Signed Up By Padilla for December 16.

Benny Cordova will meet Mike Baca of Santa Fe in the main 15 round bout of the boxing program Dan Padilla has booked for the Crystal opera house on December 16.

This is the third time the two boys have been matched during the past few months. They have not met, due to the fact that on each of the occasions the examining physician has decided that Benny was not in physical condition for the bout. On both occasions he has been seriously ill, but ready to step into the ring anyway.

Since their last bout was scheduled in Santa Fe, and called off, 1,500 fans getting their money back, Benny has entirely recovered and has been in constant training. Dr. J. P. Pearce of the city hospital commission, examined Benny the other day and pronounced him in perfect condition.

Baca has been fidetly for the past few months for a chance to plant the K. O. he believes he has the ability to deliver if he has the chance. He was a big favorite with the Santa Fe fans when the last bout was booked at Santa Fe. He appeared here some time ago against Alger and received the referee's decision. The decision was not a popular one, but the fact that the referee felt he could get away with it shows that the Santa Fe lad can do against such a boxer as Alger.

Since that bout, the city commission has been formed and has resolved itself into a committee of judges, the referee only acting in the ring and leaving the decision to the commission.

Benny has established training quarters at Moose hall and has gathered together a number of boys to work out with, among them are Eddy Lewis and Jim Lynn, who will meet some boy of his class in the 15 round bout which will share honors with the Cordova-Baca go December 16. All of the boys can be seen in action each evening at 7 o'clock, starting tonight.

Promoter Dan Padilla had a match scheduled for the sixteenth here with Eddy Lewis and Caldwell, but Caldwell has turned down the contract and has left for the coast where he will box the winter in a number of exhibitions.

PLENTY OF SEATS IN ARMORY FOR CONCERT BY SCHUMANN-HEINK

Ernest Landolf, treasurer of the Apollo club, in charge of the ticket sale for the Schumann-Heink concert to be held in the armory here December 26, reports that there is a rumor about town to the effect that the entire house has been sold out, and that no more tickets are available.

This, he says, is totally erroneous. Although Albuquerque is showing its appreciation of the opportunity to hear the great artist by a general response to the ticket sale, he says all the seats are by no means sold.

There will be places for everyone holding a ticket. Only one or two people as can be seated comfortably in the armory will be sold tickets.

HATS TO SLASH 'RED TAPE' IN P. O. DEPARTMENT

New Organization Plans
Contemplate the Elimination of Delay and Waste in Handling the Mails.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)

Washington, Dec. 6.—Postmaster General Hays today issued an announcement outlining important new organization plans, which contemplate the elimination of red tape, delay and waste in connection with departmental affairs.

Mr. Hays holds that one little word "redtape," with all it conveys, has done more to create a lack of confidence and respect for governmental operation than all the disloyally propaganda ever issued.

The postoffice department proposes to eliminate it by the adoption of the principle of decentralization and the distribution of detail under the direction of department heads.

The large postoffices which are now central accounting offices are in a sense miniature departments now organized. They have sections and divisions already performing in measure work which is contemplated to divert to them. All that is necessary is to enlarge the scope of these several departments in the postoffices and have them absorb work now being done in the department in Washington.

In no sense would any postmaster's contact or responsibility to the department be interfered with. It would simply mean that the smaller offices and the department could be relieved of much detail in accounting etc., with the result that both could function with less expense, less delay to governmental business and with more time to working out real problems of service.

State Will Be the Unit.
The states will be the unit and everything of a postal nature that can be done for the state will be done within the state.

A complete survey of the entire department will determine where there is congestion, delay, duplication, and lost motion. Following this, where it can be expedited and handled with greater convenience to the public and less expense to the government, work will be diverted to central accounting postoffices in each state.

The possibilities are unlimited. A few things contemplated which it is expected will be put into execution as conditions will permit are:

Quick settlement of claims through local postoffices, eliminating delay attendant upon submission to Washington.

Simplifying accounting systems, the states will be equipped with in accounting divisions of central accounting postoffices, eliminating duplication and delay at Washington and opportunities for errors and shortages.

Schools of Instruction.
Schools of instruction for postmasters and other employees.

Frequent conferences in Washington between department officials and those charged with work in states.

Money orders cleared, listed, and filed in a large postoffice of each state, which will be equipped with modern appliances for the purpose.

This one operation now being worked out will effect a net saving of scores of clerks in one division of the department and render more efficient service.

Supplies contracted for and purchased in Washington to be distributed from regional depots, saving delay.

Using central accounting offices in each state as centers from which to quickly disseminate information of postmaster's A recent order has been issued which makes it possible to announce information concerning exchange rates in a few hours notice. Quick information in regard to money orders stolen in different parts of the country to prevent their being passed on business men is another possibility of the near future.

Giving more discretion to postmasters in meeting requirements of the public by placing greater responsibility upon them, and adding them to it. Doing away as far as possible with the stock phrase, which drives the public wild—"I will submit it to Washington."

Consolidated state printing plants—further elimination of waste.

Dead letters and packages to be disposed of in the state. Saving congestion and delay in the disposition of this matter when it all comes to Washington.

The elimination of hundreds of unnecessary forms, which cost thousands of dollars to print and more thousands to complete and file, slowing up the whole institution.

VIOLENCE MARKS SECOND DAY OF PACKER STRIKE

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 6 (By the Associated Press).—Violence marked the second day of the strike of packing house workers in several cities and resulted in the calling out of national guard troops to-night in South St. Paul.

At Port Worth, Tex., two strike sympathizers were shot and wounded and a negro who, it is said, did the shooting, was severely beaten. At Omaha, Neb., missiles were thrown by various persons, including women, in clashes between strike sympathizers and workmen. Policemen with drawn revolvers held a crowd of 300 persons at bay here today until reserves arrived after arresting strike sympathizers said to have beaten a workman. A man and his daughter, packing plant employees, were twice attacked by strike sympathizers as they started to leave a packing plant and several arrests were made for minor disturbances.

WOMEN TO HELP WITH ELKS'S BIG CHRISTMAS TREE

Plans Made for Making
Kiddies' Clothing and for Filling Stockings for the Christmas Celebration.

Not to be outdone by the men, the wives, sisters and women friends of the Elks met yesterday afternoon at the Elks' home and decided to take an active part in distributing cheer to Albuquerque's needy kiddies when the big Christmas tree celebration is held Christmas afternoon at the Elks' club.

Thirty-six women attended the meeting and in forming an active organization to help in the Elks' Christmas work, named the following officers: Mrs. N. J. Strumquist, chairman; Mrs. Frank Mindlin, vice chairman; Mrs. Leopold Meyer, secretary. Each of the 36 women who attended the meeting agreed to assist in at least four other women in the work.

The greater part of the Christmas tree activities to be undertaken by the women will be the making of garments for the kiddies. Each woman will make at least one article of clothing. Some will make more. The clothing is to be for both girls and boys.

Aside from making the clothing, the women will meet at the Elks' club and fill the stockings for the Christmas tree, which promises to be the community center for the day. The tree, one of the largest ever brought into the city, will be erected soon and although the celebration will not be held until Christmas afternoon, the tree will be lighted several nights before Christmas.

TEXT OF MESSAGE OF HARDING DELIVERED TO 67TH CONGRESS

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Dec. 6.—The text of President Harding's message to Congress in part follows:

It is my privilege to bring to you a very gratifying privilege to come to the Congress with the Republic at peace with all the nations of the world. More, it is equally gratifying to report that our country is not only free from every impending menace of war but there are growing assurances of the permanency of the peace which we so deeply cherish.

It is not my purpose to bring to you a program of world restoration. In the main, such a program must be worked out by the nations most directly concerned. They must themselves turn to the herculean task of the menacing conditions under which they are struggling, then we can help, and we mean to help. We shall do so unselfishly because there is compensation in the consciousness of assisting, selflessly because the commerce and international exchanges in trade which marked our high tide of fortune advancement are possible only when the nations of all continents are restored to stable order and normal relationship.

Merchant Marine.
The previous Congress, deeply concerned on behalf of our merchant marine, in 1920 enacted the existing shipping law, designed for the rebuilding of the American merchant marine. Among other things we provided to encourage our shipping on the world seas, the executive was directed to give notice of the termination of all existing commercial treaties in order to admit of reduced duties on imports carried in American bottoms during the life of the act; no executive has complied with this order of Congress. When the present administration came into responsibility it I can an early inquiry into the failure to execute the expressed purpose of the Jones act. Only one conclusion is possible. Frankly, members of house and senate, eager as I am to join you in the making of an American merchant marine, I believe that the failure of our commercial treaties would involve us in a chaos of trade relationships and add to the confusion of the already disordered commercial world. Our power to do so is not disputed, but power and ships, without comity of relationship, will not give us the expanded trade which is inseparable from peace with a great merchant marine. Moreover, the applied reduction of duty for which the treaty denunciations were necessary, encouraged only the carrying of dutiable imports to our shores, while the tonnage which unfurls the flag on the seas is both free and dutiable, and the cargoes which make a nation eminent in trade are outgoing rather than incoming.

It is not my thought to lay the problem in detail before you today. It is detailed only to say that the executive branch of the government, uninfluenced by the protest of any nation, for none has been made, is well convinced that the carrying of dutiable imports to our shores, while the tonnage which unfurls the flag on the seas is both free and dutiable, and the cargoes which make a nation eminent in trade are outgoing rather than incoming.

Permanent Tariff Law.
There is before you the completing of the enactment of what has been termed a "permanent" tariff law, the word "permanent" being used to distinguish it from the emergency act which the Congress expedited early in the extraordinary session and which is the law today. I cannot too strongly urge an early completion of this legislation. It is needed to stabilize our industry at home; it is essential to make more definite our trade relations abroad. More, it is vital to the preservation of many of our own industries, which contribute so notably to the very life blood of our nation.

BETTER TIMES
IF YOU HUSTLE

"Better times are coming; work will soon be more plentiful, and the wide-awake man in business will again enjoy the fruits of prosperity." That is what the students of economics tell us, and that is what men of big affairs are saying. They know because they can read the signs. We believe them.

The wide-awake man! Is that you? The hustler is going to get the best of it, because it is not going to be as easy as it was two years ago. Everything came too easy then and most people were spoiled. Now we have to rustle as we did in 1916.

do so in many instances where it is to be encouraged. I believe Congress ought well to consider the desirability of only promising alternative, namely, a provision authorizing the release of the mass of people. Our has been a highly productive social organization. On the way up from the elemental stages of society we have reached a very and serene, and are now far on the way to the elimination of poverty.

Diffusion of Education.
Through the eradication of illiteracy, and the diffusion of education, mankind has reached a stage where we may fairly say that in the United States equality of opportunity has been attained, though all are not yet equal in the use of it. There is, indeed, a too great divergence between the economic conditions of the most favored classes in the community. This divergence has now come to the point where we bracket the very poor and the very rich together as the unfortunate classes. Our efforts may well be directed to improving the status of both.

Signs of Business Revival.
I am sure about public opinion favoring the early determination of our tariff policy. There have been reassuring signs of a business revival, though the deep depression which all the world has been experiencing. Our unemployment, which gave us deep concern only a few weeks ago, has grown even more serious. The signs of recovery and renewed confidence will attend the congressional declaration that American industry will be made secure.

Madness in Finance.
Everything relating to trade among ourselves and among nations has been expanded, except in the case of the United States, which is a madness in finance which no American policy alone can cure. We are a creditor nation, not by normal processes, but by the fact that we have expanded our credit to the point where we are unable to pay our debts. We are a creditor nation, not by normal processes, but by the fact that we have expanded our credit to the point where we are unable to pay our debts.

American Agriculture.
Something more than tariff protection is required by American agriculture. To the farm has come the earlier and the heavier burdens of readjustment. There is actual depression in agriculture, while agriculture is absolutely essential to the general prosperity of the country.

Cooperating Communities.
In the main the remedy lies in distribution and marketing. Every proper encouragement should be given to the cooperative marketing programs. These have proven very helpful to the cooperating communities in Europe. In Russia the cooperative community has become a recognized bulwark of law and order, and saved individualism from engulfment in social chaos. Ultimately they will be accredited with the salvation of the Russian state.

Strikes and Lockouts.
In an industry such as ours, where the strike and the lockout are as much out of place and as disastrous in their results as is war or armed revolution in the domain of politics, the same disposition to reasonableness, to conciliation, to recognition of the other side's point of view, the same provision of fair and recognized tribunals and processes, ought to make it possible to solve the one set of questions as easy as the other. I believe solution is possible.

Public Domain.
There is yet unreserved approximately 200,000,000 acres in the public domain, 20,000,000 acres of which are known to be susceptible of reclamation and made fit for homes by provision for irrigation. The government has been assisting in the development of its remaining lands, until the estimated increase in land value in the irrigated sections is fully $500,000,000, and the crops of 1920 alone on these lands are estimated to exceed $100,000,000.

lands by irrigation and 40 per centum is to be paid to the states in which the operations are located, to be used by them for school and road purposes.

Reclaiming Lands.
Contemplating the inequitable and desirable increase of population, there is another phase of reclamation full worthy of consideration. There are 70,000,000 acres of swamp and cutover lands which may be reclaimed and made as valuable as any farm lands we possess. These acres are largely located in southern states, and the greater proportion is owned by the states or by private citizens. Congress has a report of the survey of this field for reclamation, and the feasibility is established. I gladly commend federal aid by way of advances where state and private participation is assured.

Home Making.
Home making is one of the greater benefits which government can bestow. Measures are pending embodying these sound policies to which we may well adhere. It is easily possible to make available permanent homes which will provide in turn, for prosperous American families without injurious competition with established activities or impeding on wealth already acquired.

Call of the Dying.
We do not recognize the government of Russia nor tolerate the propaganda which emanates therefrom, but we do not forget the traditions of Russian friendship. We may put aside our consideration of all international politics and fundamental differences in government. The big thing is the call of the suffering and the dying. Unreservedly I recommend the appropriation necessary to supply the American relief administration with 10,000,000 bushels of corn and 1,000,000 bushels of sorghum, not alone to halt the wave of death through starvation, but to enable spring planting in areas where the seed grains have been exhausted temporarily to stem starvation.

MAJOR LEAGUE CHIEFS MEETING IN BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Scouts for the major leagues, hovering about the wide lines as the 25 minor leagues got down to business today, apparently found the picking and choosing of material very poor. A day of dictating and rumors brought no definite announcement of the acquisition of a single player either by purchase from the minors or trades among the major leagues.

The opening session of the minors was late in convening and adjournment was taken until tomorrow after President M. T. Sexton delivered his annual address and Secretary J. H. Farrell submitted his report.

The secretary's report showed that all of the 25 minor leagues launched last spring completed their respective seasons. Twenty-eight league organizations qualified for membership in 1921 and only two failed to get a start. These were the Kentucky State League and the Inter-Provincial league.

Richard Barthelmess will probably be the next eastern star to go to California to make his pictures. Alice Calhoun, Vitagraph luminary has just arrived in Los Angeles to work there permanently.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS.

Kitty B.: The dark circles around the eyes come from some irregularity which is also causing the cramps. Consult the doctor about it.

George W.: You will probably overcome this tendency to the ingrowing hair, if you do not shave as often or so close to the skin. In treating these always sterilize the needle before you use it in the skin.

A. T. R.: Consult a good chiropodist about this pain when standing for hours. You may need arch supports or some simple treatment which will relieve this strain on the nerves.

Reader: Lemon juice and baking soda in the last rinse after a shampoo will help to keep blonde hair from turning into that ashen shade. The proportions are a tablespoonful of juice and a third of a tablespoonful of soda to each quart of water.

Blue Eyes: The yeast cakes that are made up with chocolate have the same properties as the plain cakes. To refine a skin which has been coarsened through enlarged pores it requires special care for weeks before there is any great change in it. This means a daily warm bath all over and for the face and throat there should be cleansing every day with cream, followed by an ice rub to close the pores. In taking this treatment remove the cleansing cream with heated wet cloths after it has been massaged into the skin to dissolve the dirt that has accumulated in the pores. This leaves the skin clean but robbed of its secretions, which requires another application of a good cream. Remove surplus with dry cloth and the ice tonus up the skin and ends the treatment.

Louise: Massage cream into the nails each night, which will keep them from being so brittle. If you care for a cream that is made up especially for the nails, send a stamped addressed envelope and I will be glad to mail you the formula. You probably overheated the oils when making the cold cream and the water you find in it is only some of the rose water which did not mix with the oils entirely. This, however, does not lessen the quality of the cream.

Brownie: A girl of 17, five feet seven inches, should weigh about 130 pounds.

Dolly: I will be glad to mail you the formula for eyelash tonic if you send a stamped addressed envelope.

Priscilla: Walking is only one form of exercise, which accounts for it not keeping down your weight. If, however, you supplement your walks with deep breathing exercises of the chest and back, but will be oxygenizing the whole system, which burns up the excessive fat. By all means join the gymnasium as you will be taking all the exercises that are suited to your needs. There is no way to make the hair coarse, but you can keep it from thinning to the head, if you improve the circulation in the scalp. Massage the scalp every day or use the vibrator.

THE NEW GENERATION

OFF TO THE SEASHORE.

CHAPTER 32.

Their trunks were all packed, strapped and ready. Joan was in a state of excitement natural to one so young who never had been to the seashore for any length of time. Margaret, too, felt unusually excited. She had for so long practiced self-elimination that it amounted almost to that, that the thought of this summer's pleasure almost overwhelmed her. In everything she had done, all pleasures she had planned for nearly 15 years, she had thought solely of Joan. But in her plans for this summer her own desires had crept in, her own pleasure had taken on an importance which before had been realized. She had, in her own mind, put herself in the background for so long that she felt almost like a debutant going to her first party.

She tried desperately to hide this from Joan. But in spite of her efforts she was more self-conscious than usual, so attracting the very attention she wished to avoid. On the train, and while they were getting settled in the quiet hotel Margaret had chosen in which to pass their summer, Joan was too interested in what she saw, too much intrigued with the strangeness of scenery and outlook to be critical. They never had occupied the same room, but Margaret had felt it extravagant to have two rooms in a hotel, so had two single beds put in the one. Joan was delighted with the arrangement, but after the first day, Margaret realized she had blundered. It gave Joan too much opportunity to criticize, to look disapproval. There was an intimacy that Margaret, in her new mood, did not desire. But the hotel was full, so she could make no change, even could she have thought of an excuse for doing so, after telling Joan she could not afford separate rooms.

Margaret's first quick instinct told her to ignore Joan's reluctance to recognize the call of youth so suddenly felt. To go on her way without any inhibitions. But her knowledge of her feeling, added to Joan's dislike of anything youthful in her, added to her self-consciousness, made it hard for her to appear natural while pretending not to see Joan's disapproval. Margaret was thinking of all this as she sat alone in a secluded corner of the wide piazza which almost surrounded the hotel. It had been this piazza that had decided her on the place, when she had studied pictured advertisements of summer hotels.

As she sat there thinking of Joan, of herself, she heard a step, and turning, almost started, so deeply had she buried herself in her problem, she saw Craig Forrester coming toward her, hat in hand, a smile of welcoming gladness upon his lips.

"This is indeed a surprise—and a pleasure," he said, as he took her hand in his. Asking permission in his gallant way he moved a chair closer, and soon they were engrossed in conversation, light and a bit frothy, perhaps, for two people of their age, but fascinating to Margaret because of his lightness. It was so nice to have a reprieve with such a man, so delightful to be so deferred to. She had felt a little rush of happiness at his eagerness when he saw her. Realizing this she tried to recall her dignity, but she could not do it. She knew how tremendously pleased Forrester had been to see her and it reacted upon her so that she could not speak the formal words she felt incumbent upon Joan's mother.

Forrester called a passing waiter. He ordered lemonade in tall glasses with plenty of cracked ice. The tiny table between them, the glistening glasses with their cooling contents, gave just the air of intimacy which compelled other guests to smile comprehendingly as they passed. A smile that made Margaret blush like a girl only added to her attractiveness, and to the interest of the onlookers.

Margaret almost prayed that Joan would return from the beach where she had gone with some of the children staying at the hotel.

Interested, forgetting, she was laughing heartily with Craig Forrester at a story he told, when she heard the patter of running feet, and Joan appeared. When she saw who was with her mother, her impetuosity was immediately checked. She slowly moved toward them.

THE FIVE-FOOT SLEEVE IS HERE

By LOUISE.

The modern young woman may not be much interested in the five-foot sleeve, but she will study with much enthusiasm the new five-foot sleeve. As one cannot help but notice sleeves are becoming more and more important as each day goes by. They started out the season by being very short and tight and gradually they have blossomed out first in the matter of unusual color and trimming until now they are things of great magnitude as well as of fanciful color and design.

The newest sleeve idea is the five-foot sleeve as illustrated in the stunning gown designed for the more formal afternoon affairs or small dinners. It is developed in brown satin veiled in gold lace and silk net. The sleeves are gossamer like affairs made of the net banded in the lace and they measure all of five feet around. The gown is girdled in a band of gold sequins.

THE FAIRBANKS TO RETURN SOON FROM EUROPEAN TRIUMPH

Our Doug and Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, "Doug" and "Mary Pickford," don't you know, have just returned to "dear old Lannon" from their vacation trip about Europe. Of course there were the usual crowds to meet them and they are shown here smiling upon the mobs who waited outside the motion picture offices for a glimpse of them.

My word, you know, they are getting rawhaw nobly, too. The Duchess of Sutherland, no less, was hostess to the king and queen of Movieland at a dance given in Rector's, London. The proceeds of the dance were given to the disabled soldiers' and sailors' workshop.

The couple are expected home within the month.

Three plays, two of them celebrated successes of the stage, by Richard Walton Tully, are now in sight for production in the films in California. In the order in which they will be made, they are: "The Masquerade," which will star Jay Bates Post; "Omar the Tentmaker," and "The Flame." The productions probably will be released as Associated First National.

An inventor has just produced a gun from which a stout line can, from the shoulder, be shot a distance of one hundred and ten yards.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

BUY AT HOME.

From Jinks, the tinsmith, honest man, I bought my super-three sedan. I might have bought a car by mail, and got good value for my kaler; but we have lived next door for years, and we have mingled smiles and tears; when Jinks would grind a snickermer, I turned to the grindstone cheerily, and when my cow is sick he's there, to take the edge off my despair. And when he wished a noble ode to advertise his new abode, he came and offered me the chance, and paid five kopecks in advance. We stand together in our towns, we do not turn each other down. Now I might go to some big place and have a barber mow my face, and get some frills I do not know in Punktown, where my whiskers grow. Our barber shaves me with a saw, and now and then the blood he'll draw, but he's a good and thrifty lad and helps to boost our little grad; he's built himself a handsome shack, with roses climbing on the back, at home he bought the joints and rails, and local workmen drove the nails. And when he wants a stirring song to help his growing trade along, he comes to me, the home town bard, and bugs the hot stuff by the yard; he does he huckle at the price—he's handed me a rouble twice. We stand together for the town, and no one turns a neighbor down; thus Punktown grows, thus she expands, and she'll be famed in many lands.

DAY NURSERY BEING FURNISHED BY CLUB WOMEN'S DONATIONS

The upper floor of the Albuquerque day nursery which was formerly an uninhabitable and unprofitable space will soon be ready for occupancy through the efforts of the Business and Professional Women's club which undertook the decoration and furnishing of two bed rooms in the building.

The work of refurbishing the walls and woodwork was completed yesterday. Paint for the floor and woodwork and calcimine for the walls was donated by local paint companies and the labor of applying the paint was contributed by the workmen. The rooms are all fresh and clean now.

The furniture for the two rooms is not yet assembled, several other donations being required to complete the furnishing. Two mattresses, two stoves, rug, electric light fixtures and some bedding has been donated by local stores and by private individuals.

Relations of other pieces of furniture will be welcomed from any one who is interested in the project. When furnished the rooms will be rented to employed women and the profit will go toward the maintenance of the day nursery.

AN OKLAHOMA WOMAN MAKES GOOD LIVING ON A 30-ACRE FARM

(By The Associated Press.)

Stillwater, Okla., Dec. 6.—That a living can be made on the farm even in years of low prices, has been shown by Mrs. Laura Leatherwood, a widow of the Starr community, Adair county, according to George E. Davis, farm demonstration agent for that county.

Mrs. Leatherwood has a 30-acre farm, six cows, a cream separator and 150 chickens, Davis says. Her income this year has been: Butter, $40.95; milk, $98; cream, $26.45; chickens sold, $28.76; eggs, $28.29; vegetables, $36.74; strawberries, $11.90; calves, $15; hogs, $59.97; total, $806.45. She has bought concentrated feeds to the extent of $221, leaving a net profit of $585.45.

The record doesn't include the vegetables, milk, butter and meat she produced and used herself.

CHANCE SHOT BRINGS FORTUNE TO A MINER

(By The Associated Press.)

Tonopah, Nev., Dec. 6.—A chance shot and a grubsake of $1,000 a day recently led Ed Dyer, a local miner, to a fortune estimated at between $60,000 and $80,000.

Dyer, who has been working a lease here, fired a chance shot in a side wall of the mine the other day and uncovered a vein of high grade ore three and a half feet wide, which assures him a worth from $50 a ton up. Dyer immediately began stripping the vein and soon had $10,000 worth of ore in sight. Mining men say he can take out four carloads worth $20,000 each within the next few weeks.

The dollar-a-day grubstake was furnished by a partner of Dyer's who "went broke" on the lease and went to work in a marble quarry at $4.00 a day. Out of his wages he sent $20 a month to Dyer.

The world's daily consumption of coal has been reckoned at 1,200,000 tons.

DEMAND FOR LIBRARY BOOKS HAS TAKEN BIG JUMP IN WINDY CITY

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Demand for library books has taken a tremendous jump in Chicago this fall, according to Carl B. Roden, librarian of the Chicago public library.

"The increase has been tremendous and has almost swamped us," Mr. Roden said. "Unemployment has contributed but I am convinced this does not account for all of the increase."

"The demand is in great part for good stuff. Not all the people out of jobs are doing the reading—the character of books demanded certainly does not point to the unemployed type."

"My idea is that interest in reading is growing very rapidly in Chicago."

"We had to buy 300 copies of one recent book which was not of the so-called 'popular' kind to make any impression on the demand."

"A week ago Saturday, for instance, we gave out 65,000 books at the downtown library. In October, with 14 branches working on a short schedule and a short staff, we ran 50,000 higher than 1920 with a full staff and all branches open full time."

"Our total circulation for the year will fall below that of 1920, which totalled 8,000,000, due to restrictions forced by economies, but I think the big increase of the last few months will show us circulation of not much below 7,000,000 for the year."

FIRST TRAIN OVER THE GALLUP-SAN JUAN R. R.

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Gallup, Dec. 6.—One of the novel features of the Kiwanis luncheon Thursday at the Harvey house was the presentation of the attendance prize which was given by Sam Bushman, vice president of the McKinley County bank. It was a miniature train, locomotive and two passenger coaches, which were labeled the "Gallup-San Juan Railroad." It was presented as the first train over the Gallup-San Juan Railroad, at the luncheon. The winner of the attendance prize on this day was Walter V. Belding, manager of the local Harvey house.

The Kiwanis club of Gallup has been very active all summer in helping the people of Durango and the San Juan basin in New Mexico with the railroad problem which they have so ardently been trying to solve, and which now appears to be about to come to a satisfactory solution, with the proposition laid down by a group of capitalists with headquarters in Los Angeles.

One of the other local questions taken up by the club at the Thursday luncheon was that of having a community Christmas tree, which Gallup has never yet had. The club decided to go ahead with the preparations for the tree, and has invited the cooperation of all citizens. A twenty foot tree will be procured from the nearby pine groves, and will be erected in the court owned by the Santa Fe adjoining the Harvey house.

McMillan and J. M. Raynolds in their libel suits against Mr. Mager and the Journal. He overruled the motion on the ground that it was not new, a previous motion having covered nearly the same subject.

Y MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTS WITH A RUSH

Rapid Work in Selling Memberships Develops in the "200 Members in 200 Minutes" Campaign.

With no report from the "industrial" division of the Y. M. C. A. "200 members in 200 minutes" drive, the other division reports that the works division last night showed that fifty-four new members had been secured in the 100 minutes of the drive yesterday.

Some few workers reported that they had not used their entire 100 minutes and asked that they be allowed to use them in addition to the 100 today. The request was granted.

The "wholesale" division, under the direction of Lauderbaugh and Stamp, heads the list with twenty-one new members. The retail division, under the leadership of H. Anderson, reported eleven new members. The boys have fifteen memberships and eight professional men were added to the rolls during the first 100 minutes.

Dr. Eller, sales manager of the professional division, reported that he had obtained three members in eleven minutes and asked to be allowed the extra time today.

Rumors from the "industrial" division, which did not report last night, indicate that the first 100 minutes of the campaign may have netted about 100 members. One of the features of the first 100 minutes of the drive was the number of memberships taken out by business and professional men for boys who could not afford memberships.

In several cases the boys were named and in others, the selection was left to School Superintendent John Milne or the Y. M. C. A. officials.

Regardless of the number of memberships secured today, the drive will close at the get-together dinner at the "Y" this evening by 8 o'clock. Every person who has taken an active part in the drive is urged to attend.

HERMOSA DISTRICT SILVER MINES MAY BE WORKED AGAIN

The possibility that large deposits of low grade silver ore may be located in the old Hermosa mining district about sixty miles from Engle, N. M., was intimated by Prof. Fayette A. Jones, yesterday following an exhaustive research which he has recently completed in that district. The Hermosa district was first opened up in 1878 when the American Flag mine was located by Harry Elliott.

The American Flag and numerous other mines operated since its location, were high grade ore. These have been abandoned for many years, but the prospect of locating other high grade deposits or large quantities of low grade ore is now occupying the attention of a number of operators.

BULLET MIXED IN COAL EXPLODES AND STRIKES BERT REILY OVER EYE

Bert Reilly, of Ontario, Canada, was struck by a bullet for a .33 caliber revolver in the Dallas hotel on South First street Monday afternoon when the bullet, which was in the coal in the stove before which he was sitting, exploded. Following the explosion, which sounded like a revolver shot, the bullet crashed through the glass in the stove door and struck Reilly below the left eye, grazing upward, skimming his forehead, and bouncing to the face of another man sitting near him. The latter was unhurt.

Reilly is here for rheumatism. He is saving the shell of the bullet as souvenir.

BAPTIST CHURCH MISSION BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Routine Business of Convention Is Transacted; Secretary Bruner's Recommendations Considered

The state mission board of the Baptist convention of New Mexico convened in annual session at the Baptist headquarters in Barnett building last night at 7:30. This board is composed of 29 men from the various sections of the state and most of them were present in this important meeting. The board of trustees of Montezuma college is to hold a joint meeting with the state mission board today.

All except two of the trustees have already arrived in the city. President J. M. Cook is here to confer with the trustees.

Many important denominational affairs will be considered in this annual meeting, including the appropriations to 75 missionary pastors; the election of general evangelists, Sunday school and Y. Y. P. U. secretary, W. M. U. field worker, editor for the Baptist New Mexican, state colporteur; approval of applications from churches requesting aid for building; plans for carrying out the recommendations of the state convention to open Montezuma college in 1922, and methods of continuing collections on pledges to the 75 million campaign.

The first session of the board last evening was devoted to general statement of financial conditions and recommendations from the secretary J. W. Bruner. In his opening address Secretary Bruner tendered his resignation, assigning as his reason, critical condition of health. The state mission board unanimously refused to accept the resignation, but granted Secretary Bruner leave of absence for a sufficient time to undergo an operation and recover his health. In this connection Rev. S. Bussell was chosen as assistant and will have charge of official matters during the absence of Secretary Bruner.

Rev. State Evangelist A. L. Madrox of Tucuman, was re-elected for the ensuing year.

FORD RUN 34 MILES ON GALLON GASOLINE

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—Other Cars Show Proportionate Savings.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor company, 115 Madison street, Dayton, O. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of motors from 30 to 50 per cent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. All Ford owners can get as high as thirty-four miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carburetor makes that they offer to send it on thirty days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to who they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.

ULSTER NONPLUSSED WHEN INFORMED OF IRISH SETTLEMENT

(By The Associated Press.) Belfast, Dec. 6 (by the Associated Press).—A statement from the Ulster premier on the Irish settlement will be delayed some days. News that a treaty between England and Ireland had been concluded has nonplussed Belfast.

Sir James Craig announced to the house today that the treaty had been received, but he had not read it, and the house adjourned after transacting routine business. The cabinet then assembled and later Colonel Spender, secretary of the cabinet, announced another cabinet council would be held tomorrow. He pointed out that there were many points requiring elucidation which might necessitate further correspondence.

He declared that if the south would be better to have it out now, but if the south really intended to act with friendliness, that would put a different complexion on affairs. He admitted that the first impression of the Ulster government as one of "puzzlement" Ulster disliked the form of the oath proposed, but if it was acceptable to the British people, Ulster would not object.

The general feeling here today was rather of doubt and distrust.

(By The Associated Press.) Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 6.—Jesus Lopez, Francisco Sabalia and Jose Flores waived preliminary examination today when they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace M. Marsteller on charges of attempting to break out of the Santa Cruz county jail last night.

Night Jailor William Simonton reported that he found the three men trying to dig out of the jail last night with a chisel made from a spoon.

Lopez and Flores recently were sentenced to serve sentences of three to five years in the state prison for stealing automobile tires from a local garage. Sabalia was waiting trial on a charge of having stolen two overcoats.

AMERICANS ARRESTED; FISHING BOAT SEIZED

The arrest and seizure took place last Sunday and was a result of contentions by Mexican officials that American fishing boats are illegally operating off the coast of Mexico. It was said by Captain Petrich.

11 INDEPENDENT COAL MINES IN COLORADO IDLE

Nearly 1,000 Men Have Been Thrown Out of Employment; No Date Has Been Set for Reopening.

(By The Associated Press.) Walsenburg, Colo., Dec. 6 (by the Associated Press).—Closing down of the larger independent coal mines in the southern Colorado field continued today. Six mines were shut down upon company orders during the day.

The Brennan, employing about 65 men, the Gordon with about 95, and the Oakdale with a nominal force of about 200, were idle this afternoon and company officials said they would remain so indefinitely. The Delagua, Casa and Thor mines, in Las Animas county, employing a combined force of about 700 men, closed this morning on account of lack of orders according to their owners.

The Hezron mine, employing about 50 miners, closed yesterday. It became known today.

Notices of wage reductions approximating 50 per cent have been posted at all of these mines, company officials said. The reductions were announced to enable the companies to compete with the Colorado Fuel and Iron company since they cut the price of coal $1 a ton following a 30 per cent reduction in wages of its employees.

Of 12 independent mines in the Walsenburg district which employ 50 men or more, the Turner was the only one in operation today.

The 11 closed with the normal working forces of each are: Oakdale, 200; Munial, 165; Sunnyside, 38; Ravenwood, 125; Reliance, 80; Toltec, 59; Maitland, 60; Brennan, 65; Gordon, 95; Hezron, 50, and Pryor, 84.

The Pryor mine was closed today because of lack of orders, company officials said, adding that the mine would be reopened tomorrow.

Miners employed at the Pryor accepted a 40 per cent wage reduction December 1 and have been working since at the reduced scale, company officials said.

Based on reports of the state inspector of mines by the closing down of large independent mines in the district which have not set a date for reopening, nearly 1,000 men have been thrown out of employment.

EXHORTS STRIKERS TO IGNORE ORDERS OF INDUSTRY COURT

(By The Associated Press.) Kansas City, Dec. 6 (by the Associated Press).—Addressing a meeting of 2,500 packing plant strike sympathizers today, E. W. Jimmerson, an international district president of the packing employees' union, exhorted the men to ignore any orders issued by the Kansas court of industrial relations and declared that he would go to jail before he would obey any order by the court to call off the strike.

Jimmerson's speech came after a day marked by quiet in the strike situation. Plants operated with some percentage of workmen as yesterday, packers officials said, and members of the industrial court, here in an effort to bring the strike to an amicable close, expressed themselves pleased over the cooperation shown by union leaders in keeping the strike situation in hand.

The work will be started as soon as George Roslington, owner of the building, returns to the city.

Our Conception of Service

A corporation that grows up with a community owes the latter a distinct measure of service in return for the patronage that it receives. It is the aim of this company to render the highest possible calibre of service to each of the six states in which it operates.

This service, we feel, should be and is absolutely impartial, with favoritism toward none and courteous, above-board methods of fair dealing for all.

Experience has shown time and again that the mere size of a concern is no insurance against failure. Large and small organizations alike are affected by the stern law of supply and demand; there are no exceptions. The status of any company depends in the long run upon the value of its products to the community and the attitude of the public toward the company.

The deciding factor in the success of any corporation catering to a restricted territory is public opinion. And public opinion, this company realizes, is moulded largely by service. The Continental Oil Company—and we believe all persons who think for themselves—attributes its success to the high standard of quality of all its products and their indispensable value to every community.

The directors of this company are always striving to improve, if possible, the measure of Continental service. They have co-operated liberally in making possible many projects of local and interstate importance. By installing Conoco Service Stations wherever the demand for them exists, the company has endeavored to make motoring increasingly convenient and pleasant.

Thousands buy their supplies of Conoco Gasoline and Polarine with Conoco Coupon Books. Are you one of them?

The Influence of Hotels in City Building

Those who travel and those who study successful methods of city building know that the first step in the program that wins is provision of adequate hotel facilities.

Cities which advertise themselves as progressive, alive and growing, are expected to provide comfortable accommodations for those who respond to the advertising. When such provision is not made the conclusion is that the advertising is untruthful. Such advertising never fails to produce its disastrous reaction.

Adequate, efficiently managed, modern hotels extend the kind of invitation that is difficult to resist. Men who manage such hotels are business producers; creators of patronage. They must be to succeed. They operate a continuous advertisement of cumulative value; because every patron goes on his way singing the praises, not alone of the good hotel service, but of the city which provides it.

Adequate, modern hotels furnish the right start and sure footing for a successful city building. Their influence is obvious in every town and city that has gained materially in business and population during the past twenty years. Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, Phoenix, El Paso, Tulsa, Joplin, St. Joseph—the list might be extended to thirty or forty of the smaller cities which have built themselves from stagnation or mediocrity into the limelight of progress. El Paso started its real growth when the foundations of the Del Norte were laid; Salt Lake City became the convention city of the Rocky Mountain region when Hotel Utah was opened. The same result can be pointed out in every striving, thriving city. The foundation was laid in adequate hotel facilities.

How Growing Cities Provide Needed Hotel Equipment

A modern hotel, adequate for a large town or city is a public utility in every sense of the word. It is too large to be financed by individual investment from a single source. It calls for capital investment just as does electric power, street car service or a railroad. Such capital always comes from public subscription. Large hotels built by individuals are rare. In the cities named above and in many others the necessary hotel buildings have been built through community cooperation in subscribing the funds.

Even in the great cities where every modern hotel venture proves profitable the funds are sought from community subscriptions. In Los Angeles right now a committee of business men are leading a public subscription to $4,000,000 of stock of the proposed new Los Angeles Biltmore. "We want the money quickly for this needed hotel," they say, and the citizens of Los Angeles are subscribing it. It is an instance duplicated in Chicago, Cleveland, Kansas City, San Francisco, Cincinnati and even in New York. Communities which propose to continue to grow recognize at once the necessity for plenty of modern hotel equipment; and provide the money with which to secure it. It is the customary plan and the successful one.

The Record of Hotel Investment Is One of Substantial Profit

Investment in modern hotel construction pays the individual investor in two ways: It pays in direct dividends on the stock and in indirect dividends in community growth and increased business.

Out of all the wonderful group of modern hotels that have been built by community stock subscriptions during the past ten years, practically every one has paid substantial returns to the stockholders in direct dividends. These direct returns are not large and are not expected to be. They are not sources of sudden wealth. They take rank in the class of conservative investments and as such will stand the closest scrutiny. That is why bankers and business men of Albuquerque have not hesitated to pronounce the stock of the Albuquerque Hotel company a sound investment.

IN DIVIDENDS OF INCREASED BUSINESS, POPULATION AND CITY BUILDING THE HOTEL INVESTMENT HOLDS THE RECORD FOR LARGE AND SURE PRODUCTION.

ONE OF CITY'S PIONEER WOMEN IS DEAD HERE

Mrs. Christina Kent, Who Came Here in 1878, Dies at Her Home Tuesday Morning.

With the death of Mrs. Christina Kent at her home at 923 West Copper avenue, yesterday morning, Albuquerque lost one of its oldest and most active residents.

Mrs. Kent came here in 1878, driving overland from Junction City, Kan., when there was no town, and she and her husband were among the earliest settlers in old Albuquerque. Mr. Kent, who died here in 1913, was one of the original residents who planned the city, and in 1881, soon after the founding of the present town, he established himself in the drug business on the east side of Third street, south of Railroad avenue, this enterprise being the first drug store in the new town.

In 1882 he succeeded Major Harry R. Whiting as agent for the New Mexican land company, looking after the interests of that important promotion company until 1892. This company, of which Henry L. Waldo was president, and Colonel William Breese, secretary, owned not only the Albuquerque town site, but also the town sites of Raton, Springer, Lamy, Socorro and Las Cruces.

E. R. Stover, W. E. Talbert, Mariano Armijo, Judge W. C. Hazledine and Franz Huning were also among the stockholders.

When the Albuquerque postoffice was established in the new town of Albuquerque in 1881, Mr. Kent became the first postmaster, his commission bearing the date February 19, 1881. When he closed out his drug business, he opened a real estate and insurance office, which was the oldest in the city.

In 1884 Mr. Kent was elected probate clerk of Bernalillo county, holding the office two years. He was also prominent in Masonic circles.

Mrs. Kent was an executive spirit in many of the organizations and movements in this city. She was one of the founders of the Women's club, she was instrumental in making Robinson park a success and just a few years ago, she worked for the donation of cemetery space for the poor.

Throughout her life and long illness which preceded her death here, Mrs. Kent was possessed of a large and friendly circle of friends and acquaintances. She is survived by her daughter, Margaret Kent Modler.

The funeral will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with the Reverend Hugh Cooper officiating. Mrs. Kent will be buried by the side of her husband in Fairview cemetery. Strong brothers are in charge.
