SECOND PERIOD NOW ON IN "SALES" CAMPAIGN; ENDS NEXT SATURDAY

No Better Inducement To Be Made Later; Club Members Are Advised To Give Their Ambition Full Sway and Let Personal Ambition and Energy Pave the Way To One of Journal's Five Cars—Race Is Mighty Close And Impossible to Even Guess at Possible Winners; Paper Coupons Must Either Be in Office or in Mails By Nine O'clock Tonight.

RACE ENDS 1 WEEK FROM THURSDAY

With energy and enthusiasm undiminished in the salesmanship club, members are working overtime to secure the collections which will entitle them to the big prize of the SECOND PERIOD which ends one week from tomorrow—Saturday, December 17th, at 10 p. m.

The club members appreciate this BIG SECOND PERIOD, which allows them to secure as many $27.00 CLUBS as they can and from indications they do not intend to let the matter rest with just one CLUB.

This is surely the time to make a mark in the campaign and if club members and their friends fail to take advantage of the BIG SECOND PERIOD credits, the loss will be theirs.

You have only until Saturday night, December 17th, to secure campaign collections to apply on this offer and NOW is the time to get them.

They NEVER will be of more help to you than RIGHT NOW.

FIELD THE WIDE WORLD.

Club members may "make sales" and secure collections any place in the wide world. They are not limited to this state by any means—many former residents of New Mexico and Albuquerque and who are now residing elsewhere would be glad to give a subscription for a year to the old home state paper, if the matter were brought to their attention. Many a campaign has been won by an ingenious club member who appealed to friends away from home. Also the local state field has not been covered yet by any means—and although club members have secured many subscriptions to date, many and many a subscription, enough to earn several CLUBS of $27.00 each, each counting for a year to the club credits are lying almost at your very door, waiting for you to go after them.

EXTRA CREDIT OFFER.

REMEMBER—you can bring in as many CLUBS as it is possible for you to secure on this offer, and you get 100,000 EXTRA CREDITS on every CLUB. If you bring in $24.00 you get 200,000 EXTRA CREDITS. If you bring in $31.00 you get 300,000 EXTRA CREDITS, and so on.

KAMPAIGN KOMMENT.

Keep plugging all the time. Your competitors are and you must do the same if you hope to be successful in this race.

A split of OVER-CONFIDENCE is a mighty bad asset. Never get the idea that you have a WALK-AWAY in a race like this. Today will be yesterday tomorrow—HURRY.

Nothing is impossible for a real honest-to-goodness club member. And there are any number in this category enrolled in the salesmanship club.

Hoping and wishing never will put you at the wheel of any one of the FIVE gift cars.

Hustle and action, however, will turn the trick.

The campaign ends ONE WEEK FROM THURSDAY NIGHT.

And every one of the remaining days must be crammed to the brim with energy and hustle.

A dinner upside down never can be filled.

Hope isn't knee-high to a huckleberry.

A mighty, closely contested campaign has developed in this race.

Impossible to even guess at the car winners.

Keep your eye on those out-of-town club members—Out to win from all indications.

LESS CREDITS AFTER NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT AT 10 BELLS.

All outstanding 100 paper credit coupons MUST BE IN THIS OFFICE OR IN THE MAILS BY NINE O'CLOCK TONIGHT.

This goes all along the line. ESLASH.

"MATTY" GETS $24,573.

New York, Dec. 9.—A check for $24,573, representing additional proceeds from a benefit baseball game played September 29, for Christy Mathewson, former pitching star of the New York Giants, was mailed to him today at Saranac Lake, where he is ill of tuberculosis. Several weeks ago he was sent his first check for $50,000.

FALL ADDRESSES CONFERENCE OF LEAGUE OF S. W.

Secretary Reserves His Announcement of Policy Until After the San Diego Parley, to Be Held Soon.

(By The Associated Press.)

Riverside, Calif., Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—The delegates voted down a motion to invoke the unit rule by states and also voted down the suggestion of the Colorado delegation that the league take no action on any matter before it.

H. T. Jeffery, chief engineer of the hydro electric power commission of Ontario, Canada, explained the accomplishments of the international power developments in Ontario. He evoked considerable enthusiasm from the sponsors of municipal power development at the conference.

H. H. Baller, vice president of the Southern California Edison company, told the convention that his company had filed applications with the federal power commission for development of the Colorado river from Glen Canyon to the Gulf of California, the applications providing that development should be undertaken from the standpoint of flood control, irrigation and power development, in that order of importance. He said if authority was allowed, the work would be undertaken immediately and that the company was prepared to finance it.

Secretary Fall spoke at the afternoon session, but reserved his announcements of policy until after the San Diego conference scheduled to follow the convention. A. J. Davis, director of reclamation, also spoke at the afternoon session.

LIVESTOCK MEN WILL HOLD CONVENTION AT LAS VEGAS IN MARCH

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Roswell, N. M., Dec. 9.—The executive committee of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association, in session here this week, decided to hold the annual convention at Las Vegas, March 26 and 27.

The bill now before congress regulating grazing fees on the public domain was heartily endorsed by the meeting. It provides that where the rainfall exceeds ten inches the grazing fees shall not exceed 1 cent per acre, and where the precipitation is less than that shall not exceed one-half cent per acre.

The stockmen appointed a committee to confer with the assessors, relative to the valuation of livestock. This committee consists of Victor Culbertson, Silver City; T. T. Talle, Lamy; John H. Hiche, Guadalupe; B. F. Panky, Santa Fe; T. A. Spencer, Carrizozo; William Morley, Magdalena; and B. C. Messman, Roswell.

The stockmen also went on record as favoring the return to the retail business of the packers. All stockmen were urged to attend the American National Livestock association meeting, Colorado Springs, January 12, 13 and 14.

4-POWER TREATY AS AN ANGLO-JAP SUBSTITUTE HAS BEEN AGREED ON

ton negotiations, the separate parts of which have become intertwined as the time for momentous decision arrives, also has been advanced to point where the attitude of each interested delegation is well understood. This element involves future fortifications in the Pacific and official discussion of it has reached the status of an acceptable basis of agreement.

Problems of China. There remains only the chance of serious controversy over the problem of China as a possible barrier to a far-reaching understanding in which the national spokesmen can come together on all the major points at issue here. With the feeling of such an understanding, the rest would become a matter of detail. Most of the principal delegates believe they could go home with the feeling of a final action on the four-power treaty and the naval ratio until the devious problems of China and the Far East have reached a stage where they can be jumped into a general roundup agreement. Despite much talk and the addition of many resolutions, such questions as Shantung and the Japanese public utility of Kwantung, however, remain. Whether that circumstance is to delay the agreements now near consummation, is a question only Tokyo can answer. It is the belief of Washington that it will not.

"Strings" to All Decisions. Outcroppings of the old troubles of the Orient have been apparent since the start of the conference. A new deal for China came before the conference. At today's session of the Shantung negotiations, Japan agreed to give up the public utility of Kwantung, but made the concession conditional on reference of some points to Tokyo. A Chinese delegate pointed out that, although nominally, the negotiations have made much progress, "strings have been tied" to almost all the decisions.

Confronted thus by the claims of Japan and constantly conscious of the public utility of Kwantung, the Chinese people, the representatives of the Peking government have found themselves in a position of increasing delicacy. Their task was to make much easier by the presence here of representatives of the rival government of Canton.

Should Not Move Hastily. Another point of serious disagreement as yet practically untouched by the conference is Manchuria. Some of the Japanese, at last, are said to feel that the government should not move hastily to date as establishing the good faith of the other governments in attempting a just solution of the Far Eastern tangle. The Japanese cabinet would be willing to accept the results of the negotiations up to date as establishing the good faith of the other governments in attempting a just solution of the Far Eastern tangle. The Japanese cabinet would be willing to accept the results of the negotiations up to date as establishing the good faith of the other governments in attempting a just solution of the Far Eastern tangle.

The feeling here, nevertheless, was one of almost universal agreement tonight that the Japanese cabinet would be willing to accept the results of the negotiations up to date as establishing the good faith of the other governments in attempting a just solution of the Far Eastern tangle. The Japanese cabinet would be willing to accept the results of the negotiations up to date as establishing the good faith of the other governments in attempting a just solution of the Far Eastern tangle.

Shidehara Participates. The four-power proposal has now been accepted in principle by the four powers concerned, Great Britain, Japan, France and the United States. The heads of their respective delegations, it is understood, will formally declare their adherence to it at tomorrow's meeting. The negotiations tonight were participated in for the first time in several weeks by Baron Shidehara, the Japanese ambassador, who has been ill. He was sufficiently recovered, however, to leave the embassy tonight and confer with Secretary Hughes.

An official statement by the conference said: "The fourth plenary session of the conference on the limitation of armaments will be held on Saturday, December 10, at 11 a. m., in Continental Memorial hall."

HAVE TO GO EAST FOR EXCITEMENT NOW, SAYS N. M. CIRCUIT RIDER

Chicago, Dec. 9.—The "wild and woolly" east was decreed today by Gilbert B. Traveller, of Cimarron, New Mexico, a circuit rider for the Methodist Episcopal church for many years who is attending a church gathering here.

"There was a time," he said, "when our grandmothers used to tell us tales of the terrors of the west, but now you have to come east for excitement."

"Some whisky is drunk out there, but we don't have moonshine killings. Why, we haven't had a man in jail for six months."

Commenting on other things, he said: "The women on the streets here are a little different, too. Out west a child twelve months hands on its mother's skirt but here they have to be three or four years old before they can reach that high."

Mr. Traveller rides a circuit of 2,000 miles. He said he believed that conditions in the west are better because the family is the unit.

BRITISH PREMIER IS CONGRATULATED UPON IRISH SETTLEMENT

(By The Associated Press.)

London, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—George Harvey, the American ambassador, in a letter to Prime Minister Lloyd George made public today, congratulating him upon the Anglo-Irish agreement, said:

"My hearty congratulations. Yours is indeed a triumph of genius and patience such as the world has seldom if ever beheld. How much it may mean to both our countries and to all mankind."

"Mr. Lloyd George said in reply: 'Your letter of congratulations has touched me very much and I thank you warmly for it. I trust that this settlement will remove forever an old misunderstanding which has hampered all the great human causes which your people and ours have so closely at heart.'"

ROY GARDNER'S CASE MAY GO TO THE JURY TODAY

Expert Testifies That No Insane Delusion Prompted Action of Mail Bandit on November 3.

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 9.—Testimony regarding previous offenses of Roy Gardner, twice convicted of robbing United States mails, regarding his attempt to rob a mail car on the Phoenix and Salt Lake railroad on November 3, and regarding his mental condition, was introduced today by the prosecution in rebuttal of defense testimony. Gardner testified in the United States district court here today. Gardner is being tried for robbing a mail car at Maricopa, Ariz., on November 3. He admits having committed the robbery but claims he was not then mentally responsible for his act.

George L. North, assistant managing editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, testified that after Gardner escaped from the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, Wash., in September, he wrote to Mr. North asking a letter to President Harding.

The letter to the president, Mr. North said, contained an appeal for pardon in order that Gardner might "prove to the world that a criminal can reform and be an asset to society and a good husband and father." After Gardner's arrest here, Mr. North testified the defendant telegraphed to him that he had read a statement by Postmaster General Hays, declaring that there could be no compromise with mail bandits, that he had taken this as an answer to his appeal for a pardon, and that he had then "begun operations."

Dr. Thomas H. Haines, who is here to conduct a mental hygiene survey of Arizona, testified that on November 3 Gardner could distinguish right from wrong; that no insane delusion prompted his actions on that date, and that he did not believe Gardner then was actuated by an irresistible impulse produced by a brain disease.

Later under a cross examination by defense counsel, Dr. Haines said that Gardner might have a psychopathic personality, which, he explained, denoted a person with a mental constitution of an inferior sort, whose moral and social training had been neglected in youth.

Indications tonight were that the case would not reach the jury until late tomorrow and possibly not until Monday.

FORSAKES HER JOB IN A DEPARTMENT STORE TO SELL NEWSPAPERS

(By The Associated Press.)

Cleveland, O., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Minnie Josephine Ralph has forsaken her job as a saleslady in a department store to sell newspapers. Each day, hundreds of papers and magazines are carried to her door by the street car and she is found on a downtown street corner asking pedestrians to "buy a paper, if you please."

Mrs. Ralph is a widow of a former banker of England. He was transferred to a Canadian bank and later the couple came to America. He died six years ago.

"Really, I can see no difference between selling merchandise from a store and selling newspapers from the sidewalk," Mrs. Ralph explained. "It is all a matter of salesmanship."

"When I found the work in the department store was slow, I felt there must be some other way to earn more money than I was getting there."

"When I walked the streets and heard the newsboys yelling, it gave me an idea. They appeared to be the most independent persons about, so I decided I would try that work, too."

1,600 INTERNEED MEN IN IRELAND RELEASED

Belfast, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—The 1,600 interned men in the Ballinacorney camp were released today under the amnesty proclamation and left for their homes and scenes of enthusiasm. Soldiers' songs were chorused and the car windows of the trains bearing the released men were ablaze with the Irish tricolor.

Diverse opinions were expressed among the men on the new turn of the Irish situation given by Eamon de Valera's statement in opposition to the treaty. The leader had many supporters, some of whom had fought with him in the Dublin rebellion, who declared their implicit confidence in him, while others expressed themselves strongly for the agreement.

Sinn feiners who gathered to meet the train at Bridge, County Down, were attacked by a crowd and it was reported that three internees were wounded by revolver or rifle shots.

KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 9.—Chief Machinist Mate M. C. McLean, stationed at the North Island navy air station, was instantly killed today when an airplane in which he was a passenger, crashed to the ground on the field. Ensign J. C. Chino, the pilot, was seriously injured.

KENTUCKY ELECTS ITS FIRST WOMAN MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATURE

(By The Associated Press.)

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 9.—Kentucky's first woman legislator did not want the office. She said so today. But when Mrs. Mary Elliott Flannery found that the democrats of Boyd county had nominated her, over her protests, she wanted to win.

She did win, and in polling a majority of 250 votes, overturned a normal republican majority of 1,500 in her county.

Mrs. Flannery attributes her success to the polls on her first political venture to the fact that she "knew everybody" in her county. Born and reared in eastern Kentucky, in the county that bears her paternal grandfather's name, she has the interests of that section very much at heart, she says. Improved highways, better schools, including free text books in public schools, and a normal school in her section for training teachers, are the improvements favored by her.

The woman representative-elect is the daughter of the late Capt. John Lisle Elliott, a pioneer Kentuckian. Until ten years ago, when she moved her family to Catlettsburg, she lived in Elliott and Carter counties.

She is the wife of William Harvey Flannery, a practicing attorney, and is the mother of four children, three daughters and a son. One of the daughters is Mrs. Davis M. Howerton, of Ashland, Ky. Another, who formerly was Miss Dawn Flannery, is Mrs. H. Lisle Pankster of Denver, Colo., and the other is Miss Dew Flannery. The son, John Elliott Flannery, is 13 years old. He aspires to a partnership in the house of representatives.

CLOVIS HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE ON SATURDAY

Clovis, N. M., Dec. 9.—Clovis has had a number of fires recently. The last fire was that of Cal Byers' residence, 800 North Ross, Saturday evening. It seems that the family had gone to the picture show and before leaving home, made a good fire. The stove was closed tight and in doing so caused a gas explosion, which blew the stopper out of the fire in the next room and ignited some clothing that was hanging on the wall. The fire department arrived in time to save the lower part of the building. The roof and upper part of the house was burned. Mr. Byers carried a small insurance.

U. S. OIL MEN'S PLEA FOR A TAX SLASH REJECTED

President Obregon of Mexico
Informs Americans a Reduction Is Not Possible
at This Time.

(By The Associated Press.)
Mexico City, Dec. 9. (By the Associated Press.)—The American oil companies who recently visited Mexico have been in direct communication with President Obregon for several weeks, seeking reduction of taxes as provided in the decrees of last May and June, but have been told this was impossible at the present time. President Obregon made this known today in a talk to newspapermen.

He also disclosed that American oil companies owe the Mexican government more than 22,000,000 pesos in back taxes, dating from July, last, to the end of November. Of this sum more two and one-half million pesos was owed for July taxes and 6,000,000 for November. The information was given at the agreement of Secretary of the Treasury de la Huerta with the oil men was tentative and expires December 25, on which date a new understanding must be reached.

It was asserted by the newspapermen today that the American oil men will probably come to Mexico City the latter part of this month on matters concerning a new tax agreement.

ORDER FOR COUNTY SPEED COP TO BE SIGNED BY COURT

Upon application of Sheriff Tony Ortiz, the district court intimated yesterday that the sheriff would be granted the authority to appoint a motorcycle cop to enforce the traffic laws on the North Fourth street pike. The salary to be paid was also determined. The court was not issued yesterday, but will be signed by the court today, it is understood.

Sheriff Ortiz has been trying to obtain action from the court on his motions regarding the enforcement of the traffic laws on the pike and has already employed a "county cop" who has made many arrests and brought the pike driving down to a much safer point. The commissioners refused to appropriate a salary for the "cop," Chairman Simms being the only one favoring such an action. Following to succeed with the measure, the sheriff made the application to the district court.

2 BASKETBALL GAMES AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

Two classes of basketball will be seen at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tonight when the Albuquerque school squad plays the Bankers and the High school girls meet the Good Times club girls' basketball team. The first game between the Good Times and High school girls starts at 7 o'clock.

The Bankers, who will stack up against the High school boys, defeated Menaul school Tuesday night by a score of 27-6. They also defeated the Good Times club 19-15 the night before. They have been practicing as long as the High school and are made up partly of former High school men. Glenn O. Rose, the men's contest and Miss Switzer will officiate for the girls. There will be no spectators allowed on the floor, as there are four teams playing and the battery will be open to the public free of charge.

NEW MEXICO AUTO CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the New Mexico Auto club was held at the Chamber of Commerce last night. There was a large attendance and deep interest was displayed in the proceedings.

The president read his annual report and the secretary read a report of receipts and disbursements. Over 5,000 tourists secured road information from the club headquarters, also maps of the state, according to the club records.

POOL ROOM KEEPER IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

(By The Associated Press.)
Nevada City, Calif., Dec. 9.—Gus Branch, a pool room keeper, has been indicted by the Nevada county grand jury in connection with the death in Truckee, Calif., of Mrs. Annie Boyle, it became known here today. The indictment followed the examining and examination of Mrs. Boyle's body in Ogden, Utah, after her mother had asked the sheriff of that county to make an investigation.

The Truckee death certificate set forth that Mrs. Boyle died November 9 of poisoning. The Ogden doctors who examined the body after it was taken from the grave said there were traces of poison in the stomach, but that there were more than thirty severe bruises on the body, indicating that she might have been beaten to death.

Mrs. Boyle's mother notified the authorities that she had received a letter from a friend who lived close to Mrs. Boyle's apartment in Truckee, and on one occasion this friend had heard a woman cry out, evidently from the apartment, "Have mercy, you are killing me."

AN EARTHQUAKE STRIKES TOKIO; MANY INJURED

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 9.—The most severe earthquake in the past twenty years struck Tokyo Thursday, according to unofficial advice reaching the Japanese embassy here. No deaths were reported, the dispatches said, but a number of persons were injured and many houses were damaged.

Tokio Dec. 8 (By The Associated Press.)—A severe earthquake occurred at 9:25 o'clock this evening.

OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED RATE CUT WESTBOUND

(By The Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 9.—Opposition to intermountain territory and interior California business interests to a proposed reduction of west-bound transcontinental freight rates to Pacific coast terminals to meet Panama canal competition was shown at an interstate commerce commission hearing here today.

The carriers, acting through the transcontinental freight bureau, are seeking reduction of freight rates on goods, canned goods and other commodities effective from points east of the Missouri river to the Pacific coast. Such reductions would be disadvantageous to intermountain territory, according to J. F. Shaughnessy, of Reno, member of the Nevada public service commission and vice president of the Intermediate Rate association, which is opposing the carriers' application.

Hal M. Remington, representing the traffic bureau of the San Francisco chamber of commerce, said his organization favored the reductions because they would increase railroad tonnage, make the carriers more prosperous and enable them to distribute California products in the east more efficiently.

Asked by Examiner W. A. Dick if it seemed likely that the carriers would be given the terminal points, attorneys for the carriers declared that the intermediate points must suffer the penalty for being served by only one means of transportation instead of two.

The hearing will continue tomorrow. It followed an application by the Southern Pacific company for a reduction of east-bound rates on seven commodities to meet canal competition with the railroads from California to Galveston and from Galveston on by steamer.

DE VALERA TO ADDRESS THE DAIL EIREANN AT MEETING WEDNESDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
Dublin, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—Eamon de Valera, in announcing today the fact that the treaty between Great Britain and Ireland would come up next Wednesday in the dail eireann, the question of ratification, issued the following statement:

"To prevent misunderstanding, the public should realize first, the treaty signed by our plenipotentiaries and ratified by the dail eireann, no less than by the British parliament in order to take effect, and second, that the usual course would be for the cabinet to agree to a cabinet measure.

"In the present case, owing to the fact that in the later stages of the negotiations, the views of the plenipotentiaries differed from those of certain members of the cabinet, this course cannot be taken. The motion for ratification will now be introduced by Arthur Griffith as chairman of the delegates."

ORELANNA IS ELEGED HERRERA'S SUCCESSOR

(By The Associated Press.)
Guatemala City, Guatemala, Dec. 8 (By the Associated Press.)—General Orellana, chief of staff of the Guatemalan army, today was elected provisional president of the republic to take the place of Carlos Herrera, who was overthrown early in the week.

The national assembly convened today despite the protest of Representative Silva Pena against the constitutionality of such action.

The French, Spanish and Mexican ministers today paid a visit to the de facto government officials who have taken charge of affairs since the overthrow of the government of President Carlos Herrera, who is under detention.

Benton McMillin, the American minister, in an interview today declared that he had declined to join the de facto government. He added that he would take no action toward recognition of the de facto government until he was instructed so to do by the government at Washington.

MAN IS RUN DOWN BY T. & P. FREIGHT TRAIN

(By The Associated Press.)
El Paso, Texas, Dec. 8.—Held up and robbed by highwaymen Thursday night, Jose Villalobos early today told his friend, Deputy Sheriff Frank Muniz, he was tired of living.

"I wish you would draw your gun and shoot me dead," he exclaimed.

"If you want to die, why don't you go and sit on the railroad track and let a train run over you?" Muniz replied.

Shortly thereafter, dark Villalobos' body was found on the track, badly mutilated. He had been run down by a Texas and Pacific freight train.

LYNCH GIVEN DECISION.
New York, Dec. 9.—Joe Lynch, a former bantamweight title holder, was given a decision over Maxey Williams tonight after the latter's seconds tossed a sponge into the ring in the eighth round of a ten-round bout. Williams appeared to be on the verge of a knockout when the bout ended.

CRITICAL STAGE IS REACHED IN SHANTUNG ROW

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—The critical stage of the Shantung conversations between the Chinese and Japanese delegations was reached late today when it was agreed to take up tomorrow the question of the Kiao Chow-Tainan railway now under Japanese control.

On the question of whether Japan will agree to China's having complete, undivided authority over the railroad, depends the success or failure of the Washington conference, so far as China is concerned, according to the Chinese delegation.

After the entire day had been spent by two delegations in disposing of the question of public properties in the former German leasehold, which ended in a promise by Japan of their return, subject to confirmation by Tokyo, Dr. Koo of the Chinese delegation said that other questions involved in the Shantung controversy had temporarily put aside so that the all-important question of the railroad would come up tomorrow.

If the railroad question was not settled satisfactorily, the Chinese, Dr. Koo said, then agreements thus far reached during the conversations would collapse and further discussion of other points still in dispute would be of no avail.

Under the agreement reached tonight concerning the disposition of public properties, China would receive all public properties in the leasehold with the exception of certain schools, shrines, cemeteries and other institutions strictly Japanese in character.

China would on her part agree to refund to Japan all money spent by Japan on public properties during Japanese occupation. Subject to approval of the Tokyo government, the Japanese delegation agreed that China should not compensate Japan for the properties developed under the German regime.

WAGE CUTS OF 10 TO 30 PER CENT PLANNED BY EASTERN CARRIERS

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 9.—Chief operating officials of eastern railroads, meeting today to consider wage cuts for train service, shop and maintenance of way employees, agreed upon new schedules calling for reductions of from 10 to 30 per cent. The proposals must be submitted to the railroad labor board for rejection or approval.

"The railroads propose to request the employees to agree to a reduction in the wage scale so as to establish them practically upon the basis in effect prior to the increase granted by the United States railroad labor board, effective May first, 1920," said a statement issued by the executives.

FORMER CITY CLERK IS TAKEN TO PRISON AFTER CONVICTION

(By The Associated Press.)
Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 9.—W. H. Smith, former city clerk of this city, who recently was sentenced to six to ten years in the state prison on a charge of embezzlement, was taken to Florence today to begin serving his sentence. Smith said he would not ask for a new trial.

"I am going to take my medicine and not appeal my case," he told Deputy Sheriff W. O. Palmer just before he left the county jail here.

COLORADO IS "BROKE" BUT HAS $4,081,410 IN CASH IN BANKS

(By The Associated Press.)
Denver, Colo., Dec. 9.—The state of Colorado is in the anomalous position of being "broke" and having $4,081,410 in cash in the banks. The state hasn't funds to pay general revenue warrants. Auditor Mulnix announced today in making public a report on state finances for the fiscal year ending November 30.

Of the money now in banks, $1,550,000 was derived from the sale of state highway bonds. Approximately $255,000 collected from the gasoline tax will be distributed next month to counties for road building. More than $120,000 belongs to the military fund. Public school income of $270,000 will be apportioned next month and the industrial commission has more than $200,000 in state compensation insurance funds.

The state treasurer paid out during the twelve months just ended $12,874,000 for all purposes. Collections from all sources aggregated $14,824,007. A balance of $2,121,493 was carried over from last year.

MINISTER OF WAR TO SUCCEED VILLAREAL

(By The Associated Press.)
Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 9.—Gen. Enrique Estrada, minister of war in President Obregon's cabinet in Mexico, has resigned and will be appointed minister of agriculture to succeed Gen. Antonio Villareal, who recently resigned, according to word received today from Mexico City.

The reports here added that General Villareal had put himself at the head of the liberal constitutional party and would commence a campaign as a candidate for president at the next election, to be held in 1924.

K. C. PACKING HOUSE DISTRICT IS QUIET

(By The Associated Press.)
Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press.)—A day which officials of Kansas City, Kansas, and members of the industrial court feared might develop disorders passed peacefully in the local packing house district.

Several thousand workers, including many women, some carrying babies, paraded through the streets but no disorders resulted.

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR RESIGNS

(By The Associated Press.)
Waco, Tex., Dec. 9.—Because of charges that certain parts of a book of which he is author are not in line with teachings of the Bible, Prof. Grove Samuel Dow, head of the department of sociology at Baylor university, a Baptist institution here, has tendered his resignation and it has been accepted. The book, "Introduction to the Principles of Sociology," was published by the Baylor University Press in September, 1920. Since that time it is said to have been adopted as the official text in forty-two colleges over the United States.

$200,000 DAMAGE BY FIRE IN NEW ORLEANS

(By The Associated Press.)
New Orleans, La., Dec. 10.—Fire early this morning destroyed a large portion of a block in the heart of the business and financial district. The flames, said to have started in a film shop, spread to the plant of the General Automobile company and a number of other structures. Early estimates placed the loss at $200,000.

FALL ADDRESSES CONVENTION OF LEAGUE OF S. W.

U. S. is the Only Instrumentality Which Can Protect Properly The Seven States Interested, Says.

(By The Associated Press.)
Riverside, Calif., Dec. 9.—The United States is the only instrumentality which can protect properly the seven states interested in development of the Colorado river, it was declared before the League of the Southwest here today by Secretary of Interior Fall.

The secretary made his statement as a means of resolving discussion which had arisen in the league over the question of equality of vote for the different states represented, which in turn arose from differences over whether public or private development of the stream's potentialities should be favored.

The question of federal control of the stream the secretary answered by declaring that from any viewpoint rested with the federal government.

The ultimate power to deal with the waters of the Rio Colorado is the United States, he said. "There are by individual views. There has been no cabinet discussion or administrative discussion. The question of irrigation, reservation of water, flood control, all must be taken into consideration and until these are determined, the United States will continue to exercise its power."

PETE HERMAN KNOCKS OUT PACKY O'GATTY

New York, Dec. 9.—Pete Herman of New Orleans, former bantamweight champion, knocked out Packy O'Gatty of New York in the first round of a fifteen-round bout tonight. O'Gatty was felled by a left hook to the jaw after two minutes and forty seconds of boxing.

Herman weighed 120 3-4 and O'Gatty 120 1-4.

CONVICT UNDER DEATH SENTENCE MAKES GET-AWAY

Tom Slaughter Locks Warden, Family and Guards in Cells, Opens Prison Doors, Escapes in Auto.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 9. (By the Associated Press.)—Tom Slaughter, desperado, came to the end of his long career of crime tonight in the fastness of the Saline county jail. He was shot from behind by one of the white men whom he led to liberty from the state penitentiary here this morning.

The report of Slaughter's death was confirmed late tonight by Sheriff J. J. Crowe, Saline county, leader of one of the posses on the killer's trail. Not only was Slaughter dead, but one of the five negroes who fled the prison with him in the spectacular escape this morning, is dying in the hills beside the land's body while the white companion who shot him down from behind and the three other negroes are in custody.

(By The Associated Press.) Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 9. (By the Associated Press.)—Tom Slaughter, convicted slayer and bank robber, wanted in Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky and Pennsylvania, last night took charge of the prison here, locked the warden, his family and guards in cells, opened the gates and doors of the prison, opened freedom to all prisoners and after ruling the place for five hours, escaped in an automobile at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Slaughter, under sentence of death for the killing of a trusty guard at the state prison farm at Tucker, Ark., where he was serving a life sentence for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Row Brown, of Hot Springs, took six convicts with him, four of whom were negroes under sentence of death. Six negroes under death sentence in connection with the riots at Elaine, Ark., in 1919, refused the opportunity and remained in their cells.

Reports early today said Slaughter had engaged in a gun fight with officers at Benton, twenty-five miles southwest, but that no one was injured and that Slaughter and his party had turned northwest from there.

Four armed posses and sheriffs in several counties today were securing their sections for the escaped convicts. An unconfirmed report was received here that the car had been abandoned near Benton.

After the escape it developed that a revolver had been smuggled to Slaughter in the death cell where he had been closely guarded since his conviction at Pinebluff, of killing the convict guard. Feeling ill, Slaughter succeeded in getting a guard to open his cell door about 9:30 o'clock last night. He held up this guard and another standing nearby, took their pistols and then forced them to go ahead of him to the stockade, where their presence admitted them and permitted him to overpower the one guard on duty there.

Opens the Cells. Slaughter then opened the cells and offered all the prisoners liberty. Only six took advantage of the offer and two of the guards were locked up.

He next took one guard to the office of the penitentiary with him and took possession of it, turning the guards on duty there over to the men who elected to escape with him. Next, he went to the hospital and forced a nurse to precede him outside the walls to the apartments occupied by Warden E. J. Dempsey and his family. The nurse awakened them and Slaughter then forced them to accompany him to the death cell where they were locked up. He told them he would not harm them and later brought them a pot of coffee with cream, sugar and cups.

Slaughter then threw the gates of the penitentiary wide and leisurely set about outfitting himself with arms and commodities with civilian clothes from the commissary.

At 2:30 a. m. Warden Dempsey said he heard an automobile leaving and with the aid of prisoners above, who cut a hole through the floor at his direction, he escaped from the death cell and spread the alarm.

Slaughter had taken an automobile belonging to Mrs. Dempsey and stripped all the tires from a roadster belonging to Edward Dempsey, son of the warden.

Slaughter is 26 years old. He told an Associated Press correspondent at the time of his first incarceration in the penitentiary here that he was reared in southern Arkansas and when 14 years old was convicted of a charge of grand larceny and sent to the reform school. He served his term

CAN'T REMEMBER FEELING BETTER SAYS VIOLENCE MAN

"I have picked up twelve pounds by taking Tanlac and can't remember when I felt better than I do now," said J. S. Wash, 2476 Glenwood St., Venice, Cal.

"For two years before I got Tanlac I was just miserable all the time with my stomach. After meals gas formed and I had indigestion so bad I got in an awfully run down condition. My sleep was poor and I was so weak and nervous I could hardly keep going.

"Not until I began taking Tanlac did I find any relief and soon my appetite became so keen I could hardly satisfy it. Since finishing my fourth bottle I feel like a brand new man, eat anything I want and it doesn't hurt me a particle, sleep better than I have in years, and have strength to do my work with perfect ease. I have a brother in St. Louis who has the same trouble I suffered with, and I have written him about Tanlac and urged him to take it, for I believe it will do as much for him as it has for me."

Tanlac is sold in Albuquerque by the Alvarado Pharmacy and all other leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

ANGLO-IRISH PACT IS "MAGNIFICENT" COHALAN DECLARES

Cork, Dec. 9. (By the Associated Press.)—Bishop Daniel Cohalan, in an interview today on the subject of the Anglo-Irish agreement, said: "I think it is a magnificent settlement and that our negotiators had a great triumph to secure such a peace. Ireland has now secured a system under which she can develop her full powers."

If the Irish people are disappointed at not getting a republic, Bishop Cohalan said, he thought that only after thirty years under the present system would the people of Ireland be in a position to form a well-grounded opinion as to whether it was better to be an independent republic or a free state in the British commonwealth.

and then drifted into Oklahoma. Since that time he has participated in numerous bank robberies in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and elsewhere. He escaped from the Texas penitentiary and his term in Texas was unexpired when he killed Deputy Sheriff Brown in Hot Springs a little over a year ago.

Slaughter denied a killing credited to him in Pennsylvania but admitted that he had taken part in many robberies.

Killed Trusty Guard. Slaughter made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the prison farm at Tucker when he killed the trusty guard in September. Slaughter had obtained a rifle and on Sunday when the men were gathered in a bath house, he opened fire on the guards outside. He killed Bliss Addison, a trusty guard and wounded other guards. Finally he was forced to surrender when a guard in hiding took him unawares.

Slaughter often boasted he would never go to the electric chair. At Hot Springs, his cell mate, after a jury returned a verdict of life imprisonment he turned over to the guards a handful of back saws, remarking that if the sentence was changed to death, he would stay in jail overnight.

The state guard was called out on another occasion just about a year ago to guard the penitentiary here when a plot was being hatched for a wholesale delivery of prisoners was uncovered.

Governor McRae offered $500 for the return of Slaughter dead or alive.

HAVE TAKEN REFUGE IN THE HILLS, IS BELIEVED

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 9.—Tom Slaughter, escaped convict, among the most daring desperadoes in the history of the southwest, is at liberty tonight after directing a most spectacular escape in the early morning hours from the Arkansas state prison, which he ruled like a "czar" for five hours. Slaughter summoned a guard, feigning illness, and when offered an extra blanket to warm him in his death cell, he covered the guard with a gun, disarmed him, then canvassed the prison, disarming and jailing the guards as he met them. Before leaving the prison Slaughter went to the guard's home and hid in a den and aroused him from his bed, and forced the warden and his family to return to the prison where they were also locked in the cells.

It was believed Slaughter and the white man and four of the five negroes who escaped under his leadership are in the wild hills of Saline county, thirty miles west of here. The fifth negro is believed to be dead, killed, officers say, by Slaughter or one of the men with him, after being wounded in a gun battle staged in the main street of Benton, Saline county, sent early today.

Many posses are in pursuit of the fugitives.

The car in which the men escaped was found thirteen miles north of Benton, where the bandits abandoned it when stopped by an open ditch.

Investigations of Slaughter's possession of the gun which made the escape possible have been begun by Warden Dempsey, the state penitentiary commission and the governor, Herman Vezelle, trusty guard, is in the death cell, pending developments.

Officials of the state attorney general's office tonight said Slaughter will forfeit his right to appeal from the death sentence now hanging over him if he does not surrender before January 11 or is not recaptured before then.

Slaughter was convicted of murder in Jefferson circuit court on November 11 and his date of execution set for December 16.

HARRINGTON TO HAVE HEARING AT LOS LUNAS

Many Witnesses Are Called to Testify at Preliminary Hearing at 10 O'clock This Morning.

Between thirty and forty witnesses are expected to testify at the preliminary hearing to be given Lucy Harrington, arrested a few days ago in connection with the mysterious death of State Highway Commissioner Eugene Kempenich. Mr. Kempenich was found dead on the floor in a bedroom of his Peralta home with a bullet wound in his chest.

Sheriff Tondre of Los Lunas has been investigating the case, as has also the Williams detective agency. The arrest of Harrington was at first thought to be preliminary to additional arrests which, however, have not followed. Charges were placed against Harrington a few days after his arrest and he was released on a $2,500 bond to await the preliminary hearing today.

FOREST SERVICE OFFICIALS HERE FOR CONFERENCE

The three day forest service grazing conference opened yesterday in Albuquerque with many forest service officials from other states in attendance. The general purpose of the conference is to review the results obtained on the two experimental range reserves in New Mexico and Arizona.

In addition to members of the local office of the forest service, those who are taking part in the conference are: L. H. Douglas of Denver, inspector of grazing for district 2; D. A. Shemmaker of Ogden, Utah, grazing examiner for district 4; E. W. Nelson, grazing examiner, and Robert T. Copple, ranger, from the Jornada range reserve, near Las Cruces; R. R. Hill, grazing examiner, and Matt J. Culley, grazing assistant, from the Santa Rita range reserve, near Tucson, and William R. Chapline, inspector of grazing from the Washington, D. C., office of the forest service.

FUND IS BEING RAISED TO HELP DISABLED VETS

Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion in New Mexico Is Looking After the Former Soldiers.

Mrs. Belle Nye, state president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, yesterday received a check for $25 from Miss Bess B. Wetherholt, secretary of the Ohio branch of the auxiliary, to be used in hospital work in the state of New Mexico. This work is being carried on by the women's auxiliary and former service men, who are disabled and confined in hospitals, are looked after.

"We feel that the check enclosed is very small and only wish we could make it a hundred times that," Miss Wetherholt's letter said. "We have had such a time getting a contribution of ten cents per member from the units throughout this state and only about one-third of them have responded to this appeal for the hospital work."

Part of the money is being used to purchase sleeping garments and planning for boxes, etc., to be sent to the various hospitals in this state. You know we have approximately 2,500 disabled boys in this state alone.

"It makes me cynical and rebellious to see gay, happy throngs of people shopping and spending money for foolish gimcracks and so money for the suffering that we know is among our splendid boys who so willingly sacrificed their strength and health and now are living in hospitals coughing their lives away, forgotten by the public, who promised them everything when they left."

There are between 4,000 and 5,000 disabled service men in New Mexico, Mrs. Nye said yesterday, probably more than any other state in the union, drawn here by the climate. There were about 775 disabled veterans in Albuquerque alone when the last check was made, according to Mrs. Nye.

Anyone desiring to contribute to this hospital fund is welcome to do so. Contributions will be received by Mrs. Belle Nye, 1116 South Broadway.

MARKED GROWTH FOR CHRISTIAN CHURCH SHOWN

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting; All Day Program at Church Is Planned for Tomorrow.

A marked increase in church and Sunday school attendance, and in missionary offerings and general improvement of church conditions are noted after the first sixteen months term of the Rev. W. A. Guy, pastor of the Broadway Christian church, according to reports made at the annual business meeting of the church on Wednesday evening. The election of church officers for the year took place at the meeting and the pastor's salary was raised by vote of the congregation.

The result of the election follows: George Gorbett, W. P. McDowell, elders; L. D. Brown, U. L. Hayes, A. D. Campbell, I. J. Mize, C. R. McVay, deacons; Mrs. J. H. Wear, Mrs. E. Van Clancy, Mrs. J. W. Rice, Mrs. P. E. Shelley, Mrs. C. R. McVay, deaconesses; George L. Zearling, trustee; O. T. Blount, financial secretary; L. G. Dearing, treasurer; James Dearing, clerk; Mrs. C. R. Croson, missionary secretary; and James Dearing, Bible school superintendent.

An all-day program has been arranged for tomorrow, which will be the annual "Volunteer Day." Instead of visiting each church member at his home as usual in the "very member canvass," all churchmen are urged to visit the church sometime during the day and voluntarily make their pledge for the coming year's work. A basket lunch will be served in the basement at noon.

The afternoon services will begin at 2:30 o'clock with music by the Baptist church orchestra led by O. C. Biddle. This will be followed by five minute talks by visiting ministers of the city. Those who will make addresses are Rev. J. E. McGuire, Rev. H. S. Davidson, Rev. C. C. Hiebee, Rev. C. R. McKean, and Rev. A. M. Knudson. At 3:30 o'clock there will be a musical program by a male quartet assisted by Mrs. R. D. Jones and Virgil Barker.

Other five-minute talks on Bible school problems will be given by five school superintendents from other churches in the city: J. E. Major, D. A. Porterfield, J. D. Jones, C. A. Barnhart and E. B. Cristy will speak. A song service will follow at 4:30 o'clock with the regular evening services held as usual.

DR. EXNER DELIVERS HYGIENE TALKS TO SCHOOL BOYS HERE

Due to a misunderstanding in the program at the university yesterday afternoon, Dr. M. J. Exner, director of the department of education of the American Social Hygiene association, did not deliver the address to the boys which had been expected. He gave short talks to the boys at the high school yesterday morning and addressed the H-Y boys at their noon luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. The boys of the Indian school were given a talk on hygiene last night. Dr. Exner was in the city under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

HIGH SCHOOL FROSH BEAT CENTRAL TEAM

The high school freshman team defeated the central school quintet by a score of 37 to 4 in a practice game played on the Central grounds yesterday afternoon. The freshman team of this year seems to be holding up the standards set by the class team last year. Both teams played good basketball. Roybal and Koller starred for the freshmen and Lucero and Kelly for the Central.

THE NEW GENERATION

THE ROSE GOWN AGAIN.

CHAPTER 35.
A night or two after Forrester's appearance at the hotel a ball was given.
"I think the management is horrible," Joan grumbled. It had been distinctly given out that children under 16 were neither expected nor wanted. "I'd just love to go," her mother quietly returned.
"Are you going?"
"Yes."
"But it will be horrid to go alone," Joan paused. Her words hung in the air. Margaret read her thought.
"I shall not be alone. Mr. Forrester has asked me to go with him."
"I hate that man!"
One would not believe so much venom could be put into four words; especially by a girl who looked like a blonde angel.
"Why do you hate him, Joan? We do not hate people without a reason."
"He's trying to get you away from me, and I hate him!"
"Don't talk that way, Joan. No one on earth can get me away from you. If we are separated it will be by you who leave me. In a few years I shall begin to worry about that. I wish I could keep you a little girl always!"
Margaret was begging the question, and Joan knew it.
"You mean that I will get married?"
"Yes, sometime I hope—yet I dread to see you grow up."
"It wouldn't make any difference to you if I did get married, you would live with me always. But if you got married, could a strange man in the house with me, I'd run away. I couldn't bear to be laughed at by the boys and girls because my mother was so silly."
"It isn't silly, dear, to want society, or to long for entertainment. You aren't naturally selfish, Joan; she added very seriously, "but with me you are very selfish. You begrudge me any sort of pleasure that is apart from you. Have you ever stopped to think, dear, that you have many pleasures I do not, cannot share? Why, if I adopted your tactics I would be cross and envious every time you have a pleasure I did not participate in. I enjoyed seeing you bathe the other day, enjoyed your fun with that good looking, dark-haired boy just as much as you did. But because Mr. Forrester talked to me for half an hour you resented it. I thought you were fair, always, dear."

"It isn't fair in you to have him around when you know I hate him!" Joan exploded.
"If I should dislike one of your playmates you would resent it if I said I hated him or her, and that it was unfair for you to have them there."
"It's different! They don't want to marry me and make you miserable for always."
Margaret laughed, she couldn't help it. She would stop discussing things of the sort with Joan. She would go ahead, assert herself gradually, as she thought best, and say nothing. The few times she had done so had worked out far better than when she had talked things over with Joan.
The night of the ball, Joan—evidently she had forgotten that her mother was going—said she was going down to the beach. Some of the children were going to have a beach fire and had invited her.
"That will be nice," Margaret said, but she was thinking of what she should wear. Had Craig Forrester not been there she would have donned one of her simple white or black gowns. But the thought of his admiration when he saw her in the rose and gray intrigued her, and she decided to wear it in spite of Joan's dislike to her dressing in colors. She always felt a bit ashamed of herself when she thought of how Joan dominated her.
"Is any older person going with you?" Margaret asked as she buttoned a warmer gown Joan was to wear.
"Of course! I wouldn't go if there wasn't!"
Margaret said nothing, but she thought happily. "She is full of right impulses. Some day she will understand."

BEAUTY CHATS

NEW HAIRDRESSING STYLES.

I should like to be able to say that hairdressing styles are becoming simpler, but unfortunately it isn't so. More and more young girls and women are adopting the bobbed hair fashion so that most of the beauty parlor which do permanent waving now make a specialty for permanently waving short hair. The unfortunate part of this is that short hair has to be cut about once a month so that the wave is constantly being clipped off.

Otherwise the tendency is toward a very sophisticated type of hairdressing; for instance, the hair pulled back from the face as much as is becoming and drawn to a knot that is quite high in back. This is a style that looks very well on young girls and is almost the only style that looks well on the women with a weak or undeveloped chin. Unfortunately, it is a style that makes a woman look a little older.

Hair is being waved more this season than ever before. This too is unfortunate because waved hair makes a woman look older than straight hair. But the waving this year is done very lightly, that is, instead of short, stiff and artificial waves, the hair is done very loosely indeed. It is far more becoming and far more natural than the old method. If a woman wants to imitate this at home, she can do so best by moistening the hair and rolling strands of it around very soft, thick kid curlers.

Fortunately no artificial hair is used. Hairdressers tell me it is the position of the knot, rather than its size, which makes it fashionable.

Pinkie:—It is possible to grow taller after 18 years of age. At that age with height of five feet one inch you have the correct weight at 115 pounds.

Shorty:—If you choose a shoe with a long vamp, it will make your foot appear to be larger and more in proportion with your size.

Durkie:—Your colors will be all of those found in the Autumn shades. Butter milk, or the juice from cucumbers, will bleach the skin.

Mary:—At 24 years any lines you may have should only be temporary, build up your health and nourish the tissues with a good cream and use an astringent on the skin about twice each week, until the muscles of the face become firm, when these lines will disappear.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE LONG WINTER.

"The winter will be long and cold," observed the prophets, bent and old, who know the gooseneb on fore; "the signs and tokens all agree; that there'll be weather fierce to see, and stormy winds will roar. The little creatures of the woods have stored up nuts and other goods in quantities immense; in hunting deep and storm-proof lairs the groundhogs and the grizzly bears have manifested sense. The bark is thicker on the trees, the prophets say; "much signs as these were never known to fail; we'll have a winter long and stern, and he who'd have some coal to burn should stow away his kale." The signs and tokens all agree, and yet the seers don't worry me; for always they are wrong; I never knew a prophet yet on whom a man might safely bet; the winter won't be long. The winter won't be long or cold, since length and fierceness are foretold by these prophetic boys; the skies will be serene and clear, and gentle Annie will appear, and raise a cheerful noise. There may be sundry puffs of snow, and now and then cold winds may blow, but they will wink out soon; when all the prophets are agreed that winter will be fierce indeed, it's sure to be like June. When prophets differ we can't guess what sort of elemental stress is scheduled to appear; but when they're all agreed we know that nothing they predict is so, and thus our course is clear.

THIS COAT LOOKS LIKE STREET GOWN

By ELOISE.

East season has brought forth its coat dress, but it has been left for the 1921 winter to bring out its opposite, the dress-coat. The first coats modeled to look like dresses were for modes shown last August. Then there was a hint of the frock idea in the blouse, but now a coat which looks exactly like a street frock has been displayed by a Paris designer.

It is shown here made up in a heavy tweed material. The coat is fashioned of extremely simple lines, the only trimming being a collar of monkey fur, unique cuff effects and a such belt. Such a coat is just the thing for the woman who wants something smart for morning or street wear. It is excellent for shopping, the morning or early afternoon promenade or for wear in the enclosed car. There is an "altogether look" about it which will appeal to the woman who does not care for two-piece suits, large cumbersome coats or furs.

Me and Sid Hunt wanted to take a walk to the park last Saturday.

Sid had to mind his little brother Bert, saying to him, Hay Bert, me and Benny wants to take a little walk, and you wouldn't have any fun going, so will you wait here till we come back?

No, I'll go with you, said Bert. Wich Sid looked at me disliking and I winked at him saying, Wy wats the matter with you Sid, certynly Bert will stay here if we ask him, he's one of the most obliging little fellows I ever saw. If other people was only as obliging as wat Bert is they'd be all rite, I sed.

G the rite sed Sid winking back at me, Bert always wants to do people favors, G wize the trouble is you cant keep him from doing you favors, he certynly is obliging no matter wat you ask him to do he's so glad to do it its almost a shame to ask him and take advantage of his good nature. I've saw some obliging little kids before, but I never saw any half as obliging as our Bert. If I do say so myself, and I sed, Wy I bet for instants if we asked him jest as a favor to wait here till we came back I bet a hundred dollars he'd say Yes, certynly, I bet he'd say, Wy sure, go ahead, wat do I care, certynly.

I bet he would too, thats jest by obliging he is, I got a good mind to ask him jest to prov it, sed Sid, and I sed, Go ahead, ask him, and Sid sed, Hay Bert, do us a little favor will you?

No, sed Bert.

And we started to wawk to the park and Bert started to wawk with us and we kept telling him the most insulting things about himself we could think of to keep him from enjoying himself. Wich he did enyways.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

RECIPES FOR THOSE WITH DIABETIC SYMPTOMS.

I receive so many requests for recipes for a diabetic diet, that I believe the following will be welcome to many of my readers. A physician's advice however is presupposed before using these recipes.
Almond Meal Gems: To make the almond meal at home blanch a quarter of a pound of almonds and roast them until lightly browned. Then grind them through the food chopper and steep, but not boil, them for 10 minutes in water just off the boil and to which a drop or two of vinegar has been added; this is to remove all bitterness from the nuts. Drain, dry the nuts well and once more put them through the food chopper. Add to this amount of almond meal 2 tablespoons of fresh beef marrow. The yolks of 3 eggs beaten until lemon colored. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the 3 eggs and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Pour this batter into hot, buttered gem pans and bake in a moderately hot oven.

Marrow Balls: These are nice used instead of crackers to eat with soup. Melt and strain three tablespoons of fresh beef marrow. Add salt to taste, a few grains of paprika, one well-beaten egg and enough almond meal (made as above described) to make a paste that can be molded into tiny balls. Pouch these balls in the hot soup that is kept just below the boiling point—otherwise the rapid motion of the boiling soup would tear the balls apart. Add 1-2 yeast cake in 1-2 cup of tepid water and add 1-2 teaspoon of salt, 3 cups of gluten flour, 1-2 cup of bran and enough additional water to form a dough that can be handled (about 1 cup). Knead well and add more gluten if necessary to prevent dough from sticking to board. Cover and let rise double in bulk; then form into a loaf, put this in a greased pan, let rise again for one hour. Bake as any bread.

Grapefruit Salad: (As sugar, like starches, must be excluded from the menu of a diabetic, most physicians forbid the sweet vegetables and fruits). Sour oranges and grapefruit served without sugar, are permissible, however, and these are more palatable if served in the form of a salad with a cheese or French dressing as follows: Remove the sections from one large grapefruit and one orange and cut each section in two. Add 1-2 cup of skinned and seeded Malaga grapes and 1-3 cup of chopped pecan nuts. Mix the ingredients together and heap them on lettuce, pouring over them the following cheese dressing: Roquefort Dressing: Mash to a paste one tablespoon of Roquefort cheese and add to it 4 tablespoons salad oil, one tablespoon lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt and a dash of paprika.

In the above recipes I have mentioned Gluten Flour, Roquefort cheese and diabetic bran. It often happens that a person is not able to buy these commodities in their local stores, so for this reason I will be glad to send any reader, upon receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope, the address of a firm that will sell them these things by mail. I will also be glad to send the address of a publishing house which has brought out a book on diabetic cookery, containing menus and recipes.

ELK AUXILIARY DOUBLES XMAS PREPARATIONS

The promise of 234 gifts of clothing and the agreement to double the number by solicitations for the big Christmas tree celebration of the Elks for the poor children of the city resulted from the second meeting of the woman's auxiliary at the club rooms yesterday afternoon. A large number of women are going into the Christmas cheer enterprise with an admirable whole hearted spirit.

The gifts for the children are all to be of a practical nature. Some of the women are making dresses for little girls and suits for boys, others are giving heavy underwear, shoes and stockings and wraps. Some are dressing dolls which will be put on the Christmas tree for the girls. The garments are all being made for children of 12 years and under.

A thousand colored balloons have been donated by the First Savings Bank and Trust company for the Santa Claus distribution around the big tree. The Elks have promised to donate 300 "scooters" for boys and the Golden Rule store has promised 100 dolls for the girls. The Elks are providing the candy, fruit and nuts for the stockings which will be distributed to approximately a thousand children.

The big tree will be brought down from the mountains a few days before Christmas, when it will be set up on the street at the corner of Sixth and Gold avenue. Four smaller trees will be brought to the city also. These will be distributed to the Sacred Heart school, the day nursery, the St. Anthony orphanage and the Children's Home and Hospital.

The woman's auxiliary will meet again at the Elks' club on December 20 to fill the Christmas stockings. The workers are asked to come at 1:30 o'clock in order that the work may be completed in one afternoon. All Christmas gifts must be completed and delivered at the Elks club by December 15, it was announced.

OHIO WOMAN IS CANDY SCULPTOR

Mrs. Louis Schultz.

Mrs. Louis Schultz, of Cincinnati, is perhaps the only woman in the United States who models in candy. She has been a candy artist for the past fifteen years and during that time has made every kind of flower, fruit and other forms in candy. She holds a lucrative position with a confectioner and her unique work makes it possible for her employer to obtain from $5 up for one pound of her dainties.
A customer brings in flowers of the kind she is going to use for decorations for stated occasions. She wishes to serve some fine candies and wants the flower scheme carried out even in the candies. It is then that Mrs. Schultz is called in and with her peculiar talent she copies the flowers, be they pansies, roses, violets, "mums, lilies or any other flower, and molds their true form in candy. So perfect are they in color and form that they are often taken for real flowers which have been preserved in some mysterious way. Mrs. Schultz does not need to have the real flower from which to copy either, for she carries in her mind a perfect knowledge of every flower known to the city florist. She knows exactly how many petals a bloom has and never gives it one too many or too few. She is shown here making some chocolate into flower shapes.

In the early days of baseball there were two umpires—one chosen by each club—and a referee. As the umpires in a majority of cases decided in favor of their own clubs, the decision had ultimately to be left to the referee.

EMMA LEAVES MOSCOW.
Riga, Latvia, Dec. 9 (by the Associated Press).—Emma Goldman, who was deported to Russia from the United States in 1919, as a result of her alleged anarchistic activities, has left Moscow. It was learned here today, she is believed to be in Riga with the intention of seeking permission to return to the United States.

Who Will Win?

Who will be the winners in The Journal's big gift-giving campaign? Who will ride in the handsome motor cars? Who will be presented with the beautiful Studebaker Sedan? These questions are the principal topic of interest in Albuquerque and vicinity. Only a few more days and the questions will be answered.

Scores of predictions have been offered—palmists and exponents of the occult science have been consulted by some in an endeavor to obtain some inkling of what the outcome will be. But the final result is as much in doubt as ever.

In frenzied effort to eliminate as much of this doubt as possible, candidates all over the Journal territory are scouring the communities ceaselessly. From the waking hours of morning until the day is done, these ambitious candidates are fighting the battle courageously, never pausing but keeping busily at it so that the tide will sweep toward them.

Such stirring scenes as this, with such eager candidates filled with the spirit of conquest, have never had their equal in this section. The race for supremacy is rushing forward nip and tuck.

Many of those who apparently have little chance, if they are to be judged by their present vote standing, promise to spring such surprises at the end, as will send the too confident ones down to defeat. Over-confidence is the biggest handicap under which a candidate can work. This unwelcome handicap causes more regret than anything else in a campaign of this kind. The only way to be sure of winning is to spend every minute scouring for subscriptions. Perseverance is the only winning quality. And see what there is at the top of the "ladder of success" for the plucky ones—luxurious automobiles worth as much as $2,295 and hundreds of dollars in gold and silver. These prizes will make their owners proud. No luxury compares with the delight of a really fine and costly automobile and these dandy cars that will be given away stand out with radiant splendor.

The big schedule of credits in effect until Saturday night, Dec. 17, and the 100,000 EXTRA FREE VOTES offer coupled with the second payment schedule, makes a rapid rise in votes easily possible. One candidate said yesterday that she was making a thorough canvass of every subscriber she had previously secured and thus far her returns averaged better than fifty percent.

Determined methods are being brought into play to make an exhaustive "clean-up" of the territory. Candidates are darting hither and yon, ever in quest of votes. Make these days the most active of any that have gone before, that VICTORY may crown your efforts. The BIG CREDIT SCHEDULE points the way—to delay is to lose the splendid chances that are now yours. The time is short—only eight working days until the end of the "second period"—any candidate can make himself a sure winner in that time. Get started early tomorrow morning and when the sun sets on the final day you will be able to say that your work was a mighty effort, well put forth.

FRANCE IS NOT EXPANDING NAVY

VIVIANA CLAIMS

Nation Is Doing Nothing Which Is In Opposition to the Principles Proposed By Washington Parley.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 9. (By The Associated Press.)—France is doing nothing in the matter of increasing her navy which is in opposition to the principles proposed by the Washington conference, Viviana, head of the French delegation, said tonight. Parliament a year ago, he added, made provision for replacement and repair work after the war but there was no expansion, as such, provided for. In an interview he said:

"Certain American newspapers have expressed some surprise at the information which from Paris respecting the vote for the French navy. Public attention has been particularly called to the fact that the personnel of the navy will be increased from 51,000 to 57,000 men."

"This increase is even pointed out as appearing to be in opposition with the views generally set forth at the Washington conference by its chairman, Mr. Hughes, and which M. Briand, the French premier, has adhered to substantially on behalf of France. This has served as a reason for starting a new debate on the naval claims of France. It seems useful not to allow public opinion in America to be led astray in this respect."

"It may be first permissible to say that no definite data has as yet been communicated to the press as to the intention of France regarding her navy."

"It is to be observed that the normal budget estimates for 1922 actually provide for an increase of 1,507 men above the effective strength provided for in 1921, the actual figures being for 1921, 55,414 and for 1922, 56,921. The difference, therefore, is not significant."

"The increase does not relate to capital ships," he said, "nor to submarines, nor does the construction of small units which has just been approved by the French parliament constitute an actual increase of the fleet."

"France has not built anything during the war but all units which have taken part in the war have suffered considerably from wear and tear. They must be replaced unless the flag of the French navy is to disappear from the seas."

"This program was submitted to parliament more than a year ago. There is, therefore, absolutely nothing in what is being done at present that is in opposition to the principles proposed to the Washington conference."

ALBUQUERQUE BECOMES CENTRAL POSTAL CITY FOR ACCOUNTING WORK

According to orders received recently by Postmaster Berthold Spitz, the Albuquerque postoffice will become a central accounting office for the entire state, and will assume the position of state headquarters for all postal work.

The new system ordered in the postal department's dispatch will be installed shortly after the first of the year.

Postmaster General Will H. Hays issued the order from his department, and it is intended to eliminate much "red tape."

Spitz said he meant that the Albuquerque postoffice will pay claims on lost or damaged mail and money orders, settle difficulties of other postoffices in the state, establish a dead letter office and serve as a headquarters for all postoffice supplies.

The new ruling will mean a tremendous amount of extra work for the local force, Postmaster Spitz said. The local office is now a central point in the state for stamps, but the new ruling will mean that it will be a central accounting station for all divisions of the department.

At present claims presented in the various postoffices in the state have to be taken up with the office at Washington, thus causing delay.

The local office, after the order becomes effective, will need to refer questions to Washington only when there is a doubt as to what course to pursue.

Spitz said that he believed that the new step would greatly improve the efficiency and accuracy of the postal work in the city and state.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS WILL OPEN "SLIPPERY GULCH" MONDAY NIGHT

The opening of the show, "Slippery Gulch," which is being staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for charity, will take place Monday evening at 7:30 in the armory.

There will be dancing all during the carnival, and a variety of little known old-fashioned sports will be held. The show will run from Monday to Friday, December 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, from 7:30 to 12 o'clock.

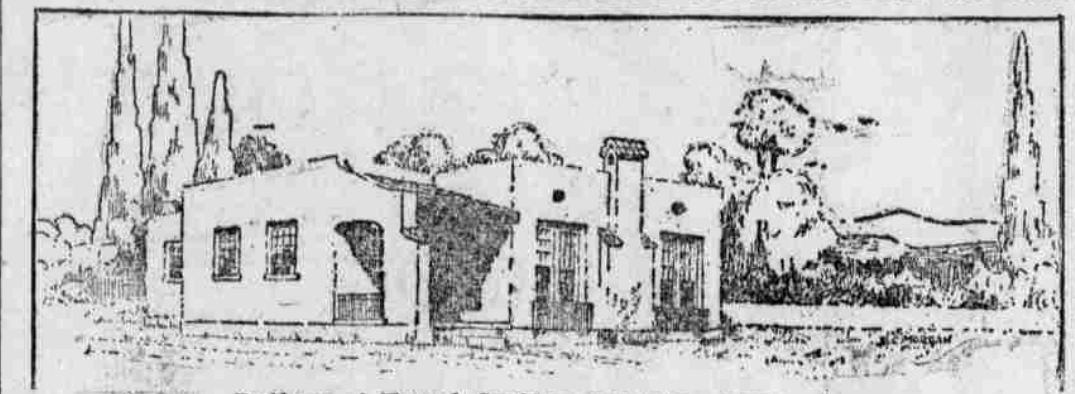

The committee on arrangements held a meeting last night at the hotel and all plans were then completed.

ATTRACTIVE NEW HOME OF HOWARD GRUEHL ON EAST SILVER AVENUE IS EXCELLENT TYPE OF SPANISH ARCHITECTURE FOR A LITTLE HOUSE

Residence of Howard Gruhl on East Silver Avenue

On the crest of the hill of East Silver avenue which commands a sweeping view of the Rio Grande valley is a little Spanish adobe "casa" of red tiled roof, cream adobe walls and iron balustrades that should be the inspiration of every home builder in Albuquerque.

Howard Gruhl, the owner, and Clyde Morgan, the architect, have achieved a model small house of type and material appropriate to the country, having at the same time an exceptionally artistic appearance both within and without.

The house has a southern exposure which allows the winter sun to stream across the floor of the living room through the low French doors which open on the balustrade on the front of the house. The sleeping porch is on the north in the west corner of the house, so that the early summer sun cannot disturb the most delectable hours of rest.

The Spanish style of architecture is carried out in the interior of the house as well as the exterior. The big living room which extends across the entire breadth of the house, has a beamed ceiling, high arched fireplace and round arched alcove and curtained casement windows on the east. The dining alcove opens off the living room on the east side of the house. It also has an arched china alcove and ceiling beams to match those of the living room.

The woodwork is finished in a soft grey green of antiquated tone which is obtained by an acid stain on soft pine. The ceiling beams are square with carved ends. The walls of rough finish plaster are tinted with a warm lavender gray with ceilings of the same color. Curtains of natural colored pongee hang at the windows. The floors are of natural oak stain with Navajo rugs.

The fireplace with its high plastered arch reaching nearly to the ceiling is the most distinctive feature of the living room. The fireplace is comparatively small, its curved arch faced with red brick. In place of the usual andirons there is a circle of wrought iron on three legs which holds a beautiful Indian vase flanking the arch on either side.

The book alcove just deep enough for the shelves, is set in the inner wall opposite the fireplace. A tall wrought iron floor lamp with parchment shade painted with Indian motifs, stands near by an overstuffed chair. The only other light in the room comes from iron wall brackets with parchment shades. A light hangs from the ceiling over the dining table in the alcove. The shallow arched china closet is over the radiator in the alcove.

The kitchen, finished throughout in an imitation white tile, contains white sink and cupboards, an electric range and the furnace of an Arco heating plant. The small enclosed back porch holds the refrigerator. The bath room is likewise finished in white tile with yellow ceiling and walls above the tiling. The room on the north side of the house is used as a combination dressing room and studio by Mrs. Gruhl, who is an artist. An enormous clothes and trunk closet opens from this room and a linen closet connects the kitchen, bath room and a sleeping porch.

The Gruhl house, although of actually small dimensions, is large enough to hold everything that is so arranged and furnished as to give the appearance of roominess. Its style is admirably suited to the southwest and is one that should be adapted to more of the new homes being erected. Because a house is small and of inexpensive construction is no reason for lack of taste and distinction in its style or architecture.

They called me "Mother." I would do anything for them. "That experience taught me a lot of things. Young sinners think that they must carefully protect themselves from the weather in order to make the most of their voices. I don't know. I believe now that one can stand a lot of exposure without affecting the voice. Snowflakes used to drop into my throat and they didn't bother me."

Thus speaks the great, sacrificing mother heart of Ernestine Schumann-Heink for whom no war duty was a duty but a supreme pleasure into which she threw herself on all occasions without reserve—and her noble offering was one of the most wonderful singing voices that has ever delighted the world.

Funeral services for Mrs. Christina Kent, who died Tuesday, were held yesterday afternoon at the family residence at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Hugh A. Cooper was the officiating clergyman.

The members of the Woman's club, of which Mrs. Kent was founder, adjourned their regular meeting to attend the funeral in a body.

Burial took place in Fairview cemetery, where Mrs. Kent was laid to rest beside her husband. The funeral was attended by a host of friends, whose devotion to Mrs. Kent was manifested in many large and beautiful floral pieces.

The active pall bearers were George S. Klock, Frank A. Hubbell, George Simms, Ivan Grunfeld, J. T. McLaughlin and Louis Ifield. The honorary pall bearers were E. S. Stover, A. J. Maloy, A. A. Keen, G. L. Brooks and W. T. McCright. Interment was in Fairview cemetery. Strong Brothers were in charge of arrangements.

"Why, during the war, when I sang in St. Louis for a soldiers' bazaar fund, I received hundreds of letters from women. Some of them said I would roast in hell. And it was then that our soldiers were standing shoulder to shoulder deep in muddy trenches, their only solace—their only comfort—the tobacco that was sent them from home."

"Oh, but those were the happy days, when I was singing to the soldiers. They used to slap me on the back—like a 'regular fellow'."

County prisoners vaccinated by the health department.

County health officials vaccinated all twelve of the county prisoners at the jail yesterday. The precaution was taken due to the fact that there are several suspected cases of smallpox in this vicinity and a large number in some of the neighboring states.

MME. HARA, WIDOW OF SLAIN PREMIER, CALM AT HIS DEATH; PHOTO AT FUNERAL

The opening of the show, "Slippery Gulch," which is being staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for charity, will take place Monday evening at 7:30 in the armory.

There will be dancing all during the carnival, and a variety of little known old-fashioned sports will be held. The show will run from Monday to Friday, December 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, from 7:30 to 12 o'clock.

The committee on arrangements held a meeting last night at the hotel and all plans were then completed.

Mme. Asako Hara, widow of the Japanese premier, proceeding to the temple for the funeral of her assassinated husband.

The detailed story of the assassination of Premier Asako Hara of Japan, which has just reached the U. S. places Mrs. Hara, wife of the slain premier as the heroic figure of the tragedy. She was summoned to her husband's side immediately after the young assassin had stabbed the first commoner premier of the land. Calm and dry-eyed, she bathed her husband's wound and bravely ordered him taken to his home. The photo above shows the widow at the funeral.

A NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BUDGET.

The speech of John T. Pratt, chairman of the National Budget Committee, delivered at the High school auditorium Thursday evening, was interesting but not wholly convincing. Mr. Pratt's audience went with him quite unanimously a part of the way, but met with a sharp division of opinion on a part of his proposal.

The need of a national executive budget and a departmental "co-ordinator" is readily apparent and generally conceded. Heretofore each department has made its estimates of needed appropriations and has sent these estimates to the Secretary of the Treasury, who has compiled them and sent them to congress. The Secretary's power has been confined to a compilation. He has had no power of revision or reduction.

The practice of asking for more money than is actually needed has been universal in the departments, as it has come to be presumed that congress will cut down the appropriation requested. Congress, presuming that the estimate has been padded, proceeds to cut it down. So an unsatisfactory system has grown up which makes extravagance the rule.

That there should be a budget executive, directly responsible to the president, who will learn the facts concerning actual departmental needs and then tell congress precisely what amount of money actually is needed, is quite apparent.

Further than that, a "co-ordinator" whose duty it shall be to bring about co-operation and co-ordination in the bureau of various departments where duplications now occur, or failure to co-operate adds to the expense, is an imperative necessity. For instance, coal purchases for every department should be under a single head and the contract should be standardized. Another instance: If the treasury department needs the use of a fleet of trucks for a day or a week and the war department has such a fleet lying idle, the treasury department should not spend public money in hiring private trucks.

In all these respects there is little room for a difference of opinion on the budget system. Nor is there, on the proposal that congress amend its rules as to have but a single committee on appropriations in each body of congress. In no other way can duplication be prevented. It also can be quite unanimously agreed that congress should pass "self-denying" rules which will prevent the discussion of independent appropriation bills until after the budget submitted has been discussed and acted upon.

The sharp difference between Mr. Pratt and some of his hearers occurred on the question of whether or not congress should surrender its prerogative of determining a public policy. Mr. Pratt would have those seeking an appropriation to reclaim the upper Rio Grande valley or the San Juan Basin, go to the executive department having such matters under consideration, instead of taking the matter to congress. He would have the reclamation service decide the policy and congress merely act upon the appropriation.

Much can be said both for and against such a plan. That ability in vote-getting and skill in lobbying determines which public projects will receive appropriations is true beyond doubt. To "get something" for his state or district is the criterion of success for a senator or congressman under the present system. We do not allow these public servants to think in terms of the nation. They must confine their thought and activity largely to matters affecting their states. Theoretically this is bad. Our national representatives should be presumed to think and act in terms of the national welfare. Under our present system this would be a rather violent presumption.

On the other hand, our bureaucratic executive system, as at present organized, does not command the confidence of the public to a degree which leads the people to willingly submit their problems to its judgment. A very radical revision of our present executive system will be necessary before the public will feel that a scientific, well-balanced and impartial scheme of national development is the dominating motive. The departments, as now organized, are too susceptible to unseen political pressure. The people feel that action by congress is more open to public gaze. This may, or may not, be true.

Both state and nation certainly are in need of an executive budget system. We should move steadily in the direction of perfecting this method of handling public finances.

It seems to the Journal that Mr. Pratt should meet with a popular response in his request that the people urge upon congress the taking of the next step essential to a budget system; that is, that each body of congress revise its rules so as to have but one appropriation committee, and that the executive budget be discussed and disposed of before other appropriation bills are taken up.

General Dawes, director of the budget, has pointed the way to a $600,000,000 saving in the executive department. Congress should not be permitted to obstruct the gradual coming of a better day in national financial management.

YOU AND YOUR WIFE.

Let's suppose you are a business man. You have something to sell. You do not think it is fair for your neighbors, who want what you have to sell, to send to distant cities for these things. And you are right. You know that it pays to buy at home. Does your wife do all her buying in the home town? Does she help home business and therefore your business by buying what she needs at home?

Let's suppose you are an employed man. You know that employment is increased as the business of local banks, stores, factories is increased. If you and your wife buy at home everything, both of you and your children's need, the tendency is to increase the business of the home city and therefore to increase the number of employers who look for your services.

Let's suppose you are a stockholder, officer or employee of a bank. You know that the more money that is put into circulation in your town the more money spent there after being made there, the more business the banks will do. Do you and your family buy what you need in your home city?

Whatever you are, whether it be minister, doctor, lawyer, laboring man, clerk, investor, capitalist, it makes no difference, if your interest is in your home town it is to your benefit that all local people do their buying in your own stores. This is merely simple arithmetic. If we all buy out of town the town dies. If half of us buy out of town we have a half-town. If one-tenth of us buy out of town, we lack 10 per cent of being the town we ought to be.

All of this comes with special force right at this time because this is the very time when doing your spending at home is most needed. A man or woman in Clovis, for instance, who thinks business conditions could be improved and then buys several hundred miles away what could just as well be bought right there at home is not helping Clovis at all. The money that could increase the circulation of money locally, that could pump the life-blood of business faster, is sent away and is gone for good. Spent at home it is turned over and over, getting into many pockets, making things easier for everybody. Spent away from home it does no good in Gallup or Las Vegas or Albuquerque; spent at home it does not stop its usefulness with that one spending.

A GUARD ABOUT OUR LIPS.

Albuquerque has witnessed, during the past three weeks, the tremendous community benefits to come from teamwork among its citizens. That public opinion will countenance a return to the old system of pulling and hauling and back-biting seems unbelievable. Such a state of the public mind is suicidal.

We have worked shoulder to shoulder in public enterprises of late, despite private, personal or business differences. This is the only sensible course. However, private and whispered criticisms of our antagonists have not stopped altogether. These, when communicated to the one criticized, tend toward a breach of the community spirit.

To work together is what is needed. To do it in cordial spirit is essential. Evil words destroy that cordial spirit.

Shall we not, as a community, make gossip and criticism about others unpopular? When necessity or duty command us to speak will be soon enough to criticize others.

Let us put a guard about our community lips that we sin not with our community tongues.

HIS TALENT.

He was only a common workman
Who no splendid thing had done,
But he noticed a weakly, struggling plant
And moved it into the sun.

He had made no famous record
He had won no laurel crown,
But showed a weary traveler
The safe, short way to town.

He was quite unknown and humble,
Few people heard his name;

THEATER DISASTERS.

(From the Boston Transcript.)
Other disasters of the same kind have taken greater toll of human life than the recent fire in the Rialto moving picture theater in New Haven, yet seldom has the general public been more profoundly shocked, not only in Connecticut but in her sister states as well. Today's reports bring to seven the total number of deaths, and many other victims are still in the care of the New Haven hospitals. The disaster is all the more distressing because so many of the victims were children, who went to the theater in quest of innocent amusement, little suspecting that so terrible a horror lay in store for them. One of the dead, Allan Keith, a sophomore at Yale college—nobly met his death in rescuing women and children caught within the theater, and the story of his heroism will take equal rank with the heroic deeds performed by American youth on the battlefields of the late war.

Though the city officials of New Haven have not yet completed their investigation of the causes of the disaster, it appears from the data on hand that inadequate provision had been made for the safety of the patrons. The building quite evidently was not fireproof, else the fire, once started, would not have spread with so deadly a swiftness. Fire-fighting appliances, according to the investigators, seem to have been wanting, and the weight of evidence goes to show that, at the time of the disaster, the theater's capacity had been exceeded.

The burning of the New Haven theater and its tragic consequences should serve both as a warning and a lesson to the authorities of every city and town in the United States. Only ceaseless vigilance on the part of municipal authorities, and the loyal co-operation of the moving picture theater owners and managers, can prevent similar disasters elsewhere. Moving picture theaters have come to stay, and they have a permanent place in providing recreation and instruction for the American people. It becomes all the more important, therefore, that the vast army of moving-picture patrons be guarded against a catastrophe such as that which has brought grief to so many New Haven homes.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOLLIE'S CHEESE.

"Bat-a-tat-tat!" came a knock on the door of the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily, late one afternoon.
"Some one is there," spoke Nurse Jane. "Will you please see who it is, Wiggily? My paws are all flour!"

This was true, for the muskrat lady housekeeper was making some biscuits for supper.
"Better look through the side window first and see who it is," went on Miss Fanny Wuzzey. "It may be the Skilly Scallery Alligator with humps on his tail."
"Oh, I think he is taking his long winter sleep, deep in the mud of the slimy pool," said the rabbit gentleman. "I'm not afraid."

He opened the door and on the step stood Jollie Longtail, the little mouse girl.
"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, is my brother Jollie here?" asked Jollie, sort of clasping his paws together.
"Why, no, Jollie isn't here," said the rabbit gentleman. "What has happened? You look frightened."

"I am frightened," squeaked Jollie, "and so is my mother. Jollie hasn't come home from school and it's getting late. I thought maybe he had stopped at your house and forgot to come home."
"No, Jollie isn't here," remarked Nurse Jane. "Come here, I had better go out and see if you can find him. Maybe he is caught by his tail in some trap. I'll keep supper for you. Go look before it gets too dark to see."

"Come on, Jollie," kindly spoke the bunny uncle to the little mouse girl. "We'll find Brother Jollie for you."
Together Uncle Wiggily and Jollie set out over the fields and through the woods. But they did not see Jollie. They called, but the mouse boy did not answer. Then a shouting was heard in a clump of trees.

"Maybe that's Jollie," said Uncle Wiggily.
"It doesn't sound like his voice," said Jollie. "And it wasn't Jollie. It was Jackie How Wow, the puppy dog boy who was laughing, barking and singing to keep himself company as he came through the dark woods."

"Have you seen Jollie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.
"Yes," answered Jackie. "He and I came out of school together. We stayed in to help the lady mouse teacher clean the blackboards."

"But where's Jollie now?" Jollie wanted to know.
"I can't tell you," barked Jackie. "He came along with me a little way, and then he ran back. He said he smelled a cheese, and he was going to find it and bring it home."

"Cheese!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.
"Yeppie, cheese," went on the doggie boy. "There was a wagon load of cheese going along just before that, and maybe one rolled off and the man didn't care, and Jollie went to get that cheese."

"Oh, maybe!" cried Jollie. "Let's go look, Uncle Wiggily."
"All right," said Mr. Longears. "Which way did Jollie go, Jackie?"
The doggie boy pointed out the path and said:

"I'll come with you and help hunt for poor Jollie." Uncle Wiggily and Jollie were glad of this, for Jackie had a good nose for smelling.

On and on through the woods went the three friends, and soon they came to a road along which wagons had passed. Jackie stopped and began to sniff the air.

"I can tell by the smell that Jollie has been here," said the doggie boy. "But I can't see him." Jollie ran a little way ahead. Suddenly she gave a squeak.

"Oh, here's a big cheese," she said, "and it's a bit flat, as if it had fallen from a wagon. Maybe this is the one Jollie found."

"Yes, it is," said Uncle Wiggily. "I can see his paw marks in the dust around the cheese. But where is Jollie?" That was the question—where was the mouse boy? Suddenly Jollie began to cry.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.
"Oh! Oh!" exclaimed the mouse girl. "I just know my poor brother Jollie is under that big cheese, and he'll be squashed flat like a pancake! Oh, I know he's under there!"
"Nonsense!" said Uncle Wiggily. "But to make sure we'll lift the

"Nonsense!" said Uncle Wiggily. "But to make sure we'll lift the thought!" So they lifted the cheese, though it was hard work, but no Jollie was underneath.

"Where can he be?" asked Jollie, with tears in her eyes.
"Maybe the man on the cheese wagon saw him and carried Jollie away," whined Jackie.

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I think—"
But just then there was a little squeak and out of a hole he had gnawed in the cheese crept Jollie himself. Right out of a hole on the far side of the cheese crawled the mouse boy.

"Oh, Jollie!" cried his sister. "Where were you?"
"In the cheese," answered her brother. "I smelled the cheese as I was going home with Jackie. I ate a hole in it, and then I ate a little, and then a little more, until I had eaten a hole in as big as a hole as I could. Oh-er-ah!"

And the mouse stretched himself, and should say you did go to sleep!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "And please don't scare us again like that. Now we'll all carry this cheese to the mouse house, since they like it better than any one else."

The big cheese was carried home and every one laughed when they heard about Jollie eating his way inside and going to sleep. But everything came out all right—even Jollie came out of the cheese, and the chimney doesn't try to hide in the coal bin when the rain wants to wash its face. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Christmas star.

wanted to know.
"I can't tell you," barked Jackie. "He came along with me a little way, and then he ran back. He said he smelled a cheese, and he was going to find it and bring it home."

"Cheese!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.
"Yeppie, cheese," went on the doggie boy. "There was a wagon load of cheese going along just before that, and maybe one rolled off and the man didn't care, and Jollie went to get that cheese."

"Oh, maybe!" cried Jollie. "Let's go look, Uncle Wiggily."
"All right," said Mr. Longears. "Which way did Jollie go, Jackie?"
The doggie boy pointed out the path and said:

"I'll come with you and help hunt for poor Jollie." Uncle Wiggily and Jollie were glad of this, for Jackie had a good nose for smelling.

On and on through the woods went the three friends, and soon they came to a road along which wagons had passed. Jackie stopped and began to sniff the air.

"I can tell by the smell that Jollie has been here," said the doggie boy. "But I can't see him." Jollie ran a little way ahead. Suddenly she gave a squeak.

"Oh, here's a big cheese," she said, "and it's a bit flat, as if it had fallen from a wagon. Maybe this is the one Jollie found."

"Yes, it is," said Uncle Wiggily. "I can see his paw marks in the dust around the cheese. But where is Jollie?" That was the question—where was the mouse boy? Suddenly Jollie began to cry.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.
"Oh! Oh!" exclaimed the mouse girl. "I just know my poor brother Jollie is under that big cheese, and he'll be squashed flat like a pancake! Oh, I know he's under there!"
"Nonsense!" said Uncle Wiggily. "But to make sure we'll lift the thought!" So they lifted the cheese, though it was hard work, but no Jollie was underneath.

"Where can he be?" asked Jollie, with tears in her eyes.
"Maybe the man on the cheese wagon saw him and carried Jollie away," whined Jackie.

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I think—"
But just then there was a little squeak and out of a hole he had gnawed in the cheese crept Jollie himself. Right out of a hole on the far side of the cheese crawled the mouse boy.

"Oh, Jollie!" cried his sister. "Where were you?"
"In the cheese," answered her brother. "I smelled the cheese as I was going home with Jackie. I ate a hole in it, and then I ate a little, and then a little more, until I had eaten a hole in as big as a hole as I could. Oh-er-ah!"

Time funds also relaxed, more thirty and sixty-day loans being made at 4½ per cent. Foreign exchanges forfeited part of their buoyant advance, sterling reacting almost 1 cent from yesterday's high, with declines of three to ten points in most other allied remittances. The German rate was steady but quotations to central European countries and the Far East were irregularly lower.

Victory notes were the only United States war flotations to show gains at the close of the session, all Liberty issues giving way to further profit taking. Foreign bonds also were moderately lower, United Kingdoms reacting to the uncertain developments in the Irish situation. Gains among domestic rails were balanced by renewals, especially in convertible issues. Total sales, par value, $16,850,000.

Taking Desperate Chances.

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand such succeeding attacks and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle?

Footwear for Christmas Gifts

Our showing of Christmas footwear is the most attractive display we have ever made. We have something just right for every foot in the family. What would make a more acceptable Christmas remembrance for the older members of the family than a pair of Comfort Shoe or Cozy Slippers? What would please the younger people more than a pair of our stylish shoes, a pair of Dancing Pumps, or Dress Slippers?

Remember Baby too, with a pair of our cunning little Slippers, Booties, or Shoes.
