THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

Faculty Meeting
November 19, 1963

(Summarized Minutes)

The November 19, 1963, meeting of the University Faculty was called to order by President Popejoy at 4:00 p.m., with a quorum present.

Professor Swihart, for the Policy Committee, nominated the following members as replacements on standing committees: Professor Seed for Acting Dean Clark on the Retirement and Insurance Committee; and Professor Florence Ellis for Assistant Dean Rosenblum on the Scholarships and Prizes Committee. These nominations were approved.

It was announced by President Popejoy that the annual report of the Athletic Council would be postponed until the next meeting.

Professor Prouse outlined plans for the University's 75th Anniversary Year --the calendar year of 1964-- and described the administrative organization which has been established to carry out these plans.

Dean Parish, for the Graduate Committee, recommended the awarding of honorary degrees during the 75th Anniversary Year to the following persons: It was understood that these awards would probably be made at the opening convocation on February 25, 1964, and that later nominations would be made for Commencement. The nominees: Felix Candela, Doctor of Fine Arts; J. Frank Dobie, Doctor of Letters; Robert M. McKinney, Doctor of Laws; Mario Moreno, Doctor of Humane Letters; Georgia O'Keeffe, Doctor of Fine Arts; John Dale Russell, Doctor of Laws; and Henry Merritt Wriston, Doctor of Laws. These nominations were approved by the Faculty for recommendation to the Regents. It was requested that the list be kept confidential until approval by the Regents and acceptance by the individuals concerned.

The meeting adjourned at 4:45 p.m.

FACULTY MEETING

November 19, 1963

The November 19, 1963 meeting of the University Faculty was called to order by President Popejoy at 4:00 p.m. with a quorum present.

PRESIDENT POPEJOY I believe the members of the faculty have received the agenda. The first item on the list is a report from Professor Swihart on nominations by the Policy Committee.

Replacements on Standing Committees

PROFESSOR SWIHART The Policy Committee has nominated Professor Florence Ellis to fill the vacancy on the Scholarship and Prizes Committee and Professor Seed for Acting Dean Clark, Retirement and Insurance Committee. I move the faculty confirm these nominations.

MEMBER Second.

POPEJOY Any questions? All in favor indicate by saying "aye."

FACULTY Aye.

POPEJOY Opposed? (No response) Carried. The annual report of the Athletic Council will have to be postponed. Professor Daub is not here; he is ill, I understand, so if you will bear with us until next meeting, he will try to give the report at that time. Also, if it meets with your approval, we would like to move item 4 up to this part of the agenda, which is a discussion of the plans for the 75th anniversary Year by Professor Prouse. Are you ready for that?

MEMBERS Yes, sir.

PROFESSOR PROUSE Seventy-five years ago next February 8th, the Territorial Legislature of New Mexico, pushed and prodded by an energetic, young visionary named Bernard Rodey, passed a bill creating the University of New Mexico, the State Penitentiary, and the State Insane Asylum.

Plans for the 75th Anniversary Year

To many of you the historical facts of the founding of this institution are very well known; however,

John Durrie tells me that a good many of the members of this faculty, like me, have been here less than ten years. To those of us who have been called upon to help plan the events commemorating the first seventy-five years of the history of this University, study of that history has revealed some fascinating facts, facts which I think have become a source of special pride in this institution for all of us.

We haven't time today for me to give in detail the story of the growth and development of the University. A few facts, however, will reveal the slow initial growth that occurred during the first fifty years, then a rapid burgeoning of this institution in the past twenty-five years to a position and reputation of importance which I think may properly be said to extend well beyond the borders of the state. This institution's first graduating class consisted of 6 members. In its fiftieth year, the University graduated 150. At our Commencement last June, the University awarded 1,007 degrees, one-third of them at the master's or doctoral levels. From a campus of 20 acres we have expanded to one of some 500 acres. I suppose the following could be classified under very incidental information, but I am amused by the fact that, in 1900, an action of the Board of Regents reflected a need for only 100 feet of garden hose to water the entire campus. I don't think Mr. Fifield even knows how many feet he has now.

In 1889 when this institution was founded, if you had wanted to come to the prospective site of the campus, you would have walked or gone by horseback along a rocky country lane, along what is now Central, up a long hill, as one writer put it, "...into the country, no houses by the way, and the road little more than a wash of gravel and boulders and dust." And when you got there, and stood where Hodgin Hall now stands, and looked to the East, all you would have seen between you and the Sandia Mountains would have been an uninterrupted vista of sand, range grass, and clumpy weeds -- a mesa, vast and empty. Some of you have seen the picture taken in those years and published during the 50th Anniversary of the University; there is nothing but the faint suggestion of a windmill between Hodgin Hall and the Sandias. No wonder people thought Rodey was a visionary. The Territory was extremely poor. Statehood was still 23 years away. And in the whole Territory of New Mexico there was not one single public high school. But Rodey wasn't as visionary as we thought. Today we look forward to a student body of 15,000 or 16,000 by 1970. Many new buildings, or additions to the present buildings, will have arisen. The programs of the various colleges will have developed, improved, and expanded. New programs will have been established -- the most notable, probably, The School of Medicine. Even without the development and improvement of the present programs and buildings, the problems of planning in the face of normal growth rates are formidable. It was undoubtedly with this in mind that President Popejoy, in appointing the Executive Committee for the 75th Anniversary, asked that our planning encompass a strong emphasis upon the future, that we make the 75th year more of a "working year" than a celebrative one. As a result, many activities are developing which, hopefully, will yield permanent benefits in the years ahead. We have not forgotten the past in doing so, however. President Popejoy stated once that although our emphasis would be upon examining the lines of future development and growth, everything we did should probably "have a little dust on it."

The original Executive Committee of 19 members has now developed an administrative organization for carrying out the work of the Anniversary. The plans we had made didn't seem very elaborate until yesterday when we made the administrative chart or diagram, copies of which you have. Now it looks like something from the Pentagon. The Executive Committee, itself, consists of David Benedetti, our Vice Chairman; John Durrie, Secretary of the University; Bill Bierbaum, Director of the New Mexico Union; Joe Blankenship, Chairman of the Department of Music; Wayne Bundy, Program Manager of KNME-TV; M. F. Fifield, Director of the Physical Plant; Tony Hillerman, Administrative Assistant to the President; Robert Lalicker, Director of Development; Mrs. Fred Luthy of the Board of Regents; Frank McGuire, Director of Alumni Relations; Gerald Nash of the History Department; Mrs. Cyrus Perkins, an alumnus; Mike Riley of History; Professor emeritus Mrs. Elizabeth Simpson; Sherman Smith, Dean of Students; and three student representatives, Jack Rushing, Kathy Riley and Norman Morzine.

We now have, in addition to these organizations on this chart, a great many other sub-committees or groups which could not possibly be put on the chart. We estimate there are between 35 and 40 committees, sub-committees, or groups, with approximately 200 people working on the various phases of this activity. As many of you know, we now have a permanent office in Room 248 of the New Mexico Union. As a matter of policy, all committees include representatives of the faculty, of the alumni, and of the student body.

A quick outline of the program seems in order here. The initial event of the Anniversary Year will be the Opening Ceremonies at 1:30 on February 25th. The entire faculty will be, hopefully, in academic regalia. At the end of the Opening Ceremonies, we will have the formal dedication of the College of Education Center; and that night, and on February 26 and 27, there will be dedicatory conference for the new College of Education Center, built around the theme of "A World of Difference." On February 28, Founder's Day, there will be special events focusing on the history of the institution, and the oldest living alumni. Special Anniversary events will occur at Commencement time. Prior to that, in April or May, there will be a special academic conference. I will talk about that in a moment. Some events will occur in the summer and then, in early fall, another academic conference, followed in November, at the time of Homecoming, with the dedication of the new Fine Arts Center.

It has been a policy of the Executive Committee that the dedicatory committees of the College of Education and the College of Fine Arts should proceed, in effect, unilaterally, and make their own plans on dedication, using the sub-committee structure of the 75th Anniversary Executive Committee in a supervisory and supportive capacity. The dedicatory committee of the College of Fine Arts, however, is closely allied to the Cultural Events Committee of the Anniversary, with the Dean of Fine Arts serving as Chairman of the Cultural Events Committee. One of the latter's sub-committees is concerned with art exhibitions. I think you will be interested to know that a show of work by alumni is being planned for March of 1964. This show will consist -- if it is carried out -- of five or six works each from alumni who have distinguished themselves professionally since leaving the University. Under study is the possibility of circulating this exhibition around the state after its showing on campus. A major exhibition, to be held in November at the time of dedication, will also take place. An effort is being made to assemble a loan exhibition of major works documenting the major styles and movements of art from 1889 to 1964, the period of our 75 year history. A concurrent exhibition of the history of photography during the same period of time is also being studied.

I hasten to say that some of these things that are in the planning stage -- some may not take place, some may. Another sub-committee of Cultural Events is working on the dedication itself, and a third is charged with working out other cultural events. Numerous ideas have been discussed: the possibility of bringing in a visiting composer-conductor to present a concert with the UNM Symphony Orchestra; performances by a visiting musical group such as a string quartet; special dramatic performances, and so on.

Proceeding from the left of the chart, I would like to go through quickly the duties of the various sub-committees and what they are planning. The Academic Conferences and Lectures Committee is under the Chairmanship of Vice President Trowbridge. In the process of development by this committee are plans for at least two academic conferences which, of course, would be in addition to those planned by the College of Education and the College of Fine Arts. Tentatively, a three-day conference will be held in April or early May, probably in the area of the Humanities. Under discussion are possibilities of devoting one day to an aspect of American culture, perhaps relating specifically to the 19th Century, one day to an older period -- say the Renaissance -- and one day to the contemporary period. Plans at the moment envision nine speakers over the three-day period. Another conference under discussion would take place in the early fall of 1964 and deal with science and the sciences. This committee is also discussing recommendations for a series of individually scheduled lectures to be held throughout the Anniversary Year on various aspects of the cold war. A fourth area being studied concerns the possibility of requesting a special budget to increase somewhat the usual resources for lectures and special academic events, and then inviting departments (particularly those not as directly involved as others in major events already planned) to submit proposals or requests to this committee for consideration. Finally, the Academic Conference Committee is concerning itself with planning, in cooperation with representatives of the Medical School, some one-day event, probably in connection with the opening of the first class of the School of Medicine and the dedication of its first building.

The Historical Research and Presentation Committee, chaired by Professor Nash of History, has four main aims. The first is to lay plans for the preparation of a comprehensive and scholarly one-volume history of the University, emphasizing institutional development. Obviously, with the qualifications of "comprehensive" and "scholarly" the completion of such a book would be impossible within the 75th Anniversary Year itself; but it can be started, looking forward to completion

Obviously, with the qualifications of "comprehensive" and "scholarly" the completion of such a book would be impossible within the 75th Anniversary Year itself; but it can be started, looking forward to completion some two or three years hence. A second job this committee has undertaken is to collect old photographs of the University and of events connected with its historical past, as well as papers, documents, and memorabilia now in the hands of private parties, to be used in various newspaper and magazine stories, in connection with the display of the model of the campus now under construction, and in a contemplated pictorial exhibition of the University's history to be held sometime during the year in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts Center. You have perhaps seen the newspaper stories that have appeared in connection with the gathering of these old photographs, documents and memorabilia. I am happy to say that we are beginning to get quite a flow of them. In anyone on the faculty has such materials they would be gratefully received. If they are precious to you, the committee will be happy to have them reproduced.

These materials are also important in another undertaking, which is to use them for establishing University archives in 1964, which will become a permanent repository of such materials relating to the University. This program does not in any sense suggest interference with the responsibility of the Secretary of the University to maintain official records. What it does suggest is a need for a permanent repository for materials now being lost for lack of any systematic plan for their acquisition and storage. In this connection, the committee is investigating the feasibility of inaugurating an oral history program in which reminiscences and so on of prominent individuals, elicited by interview, could be permanently recorded and maintained for future reference. Finally, the committee has worked on the possibility of preparing, for completion by mid-1964, of a sort of "popular" pictorial history of the University, with commentary, of some thirty to fifty pages, I suppose resembling in format something like the pages of Life magazine, which would be expected to appeal to the average, intelligent, general readers or alumnus.

The next committee is that of Civic Participation. This particular committee is chaired by Lars Halama, Executive Director of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce. This is a committee of 25 members composed of representatives of various civic groups throughout the city, including the Chairman of the Albuquerque Civic Clubs, the President of the AAUW, and others, working in study groups rather than a formalized committee structure, on such items as the following:

This is a committee of 25 members composed of representatives of various civic groups throughout the city, including the Chairman of the Albuquerque Civic Clubs, the President of the AAUW, and others, working in study groups rather than a formalized committee structure, on such items as the following:

(1) Campus tours for tourists and townspeople, to be organized under a plan to be promoted as a permanent one under student direction through the office of the Director of Development; (2) publication through mass media; (3) scheduling of speakers in the City of Albuquerque in coordination with Max Campbell's Speakers Bureau; (4) developing promotional materials such as restaurant place mats, bumper stickers and the like; (5) memorabilia, in coordination with Professor Nash's Historical Research Committee; (6) Joint UNM-Community Research Programs, with Mr. John Daly, Executive Director of AIDS, working closely with this group; and (7) a program being planned by a Scholarship Committee which has been created to develop a program which they want to be known as the "Dollars for Scholars Project." This group is doing a great deal in the area of scholarship fund raising.

Professor Emeritus Ralph Douglass and Professor Bill Thonson of the Art Department are co-chairmen of a committee which has responsibilities for design and design control, and is known as the Insignia and Special Objects Committee. One of the outstanding projects that this committee has undertaken is the development of a scale model of the campus now being produced by Professor Schlegel, assisted by graduate students in Architecture. It will first be shown at the Roswell Museum in a display on trends in Architecture, in early 1946, subsequently shown on this campus, then displayed at the 1964 State Fair. It will probably travel around the state as well, for showing on special UNM days, and be displayed, we hope, at the State Capitol. The buildings scheduled to be added to the campus, or changed by additions, or removed are being made of plastic, in such form as to be movable, so that this model will not serve simply as a decorative item but can be actually used by those concerned with master planning in the future. This committee, of course, also has a lot of troublesome things to worry about such as designing citations, medals, programs and the like.

Campus

The Physical Arrangements and Decoration Committee is under the chairmanship of M. F. Fifield. This committee's title, I think, explains its essential functions. Among other matters now undergoing study is planning for special improvement and decoration of the area bounded by the Gymnasium, Mesa Vista Dormitory, the Fine Arts Center, the Student Union and the College of Education in the Cornell Avenue area.

The Publications Committee under Chairman Rolandickey is charged with responsibilities related to the pro-in Sunday editions. If this plan is carried out it will bring circulation to an additional 150,000 copies.

The Public Information Committee is also concerned with preparation of special speeches, proclamations, resolutions, and news releases. In the works right now is a plan for accepting the offer of Channel 7-KOAT for a telecast on the growth and future development of the University at or around the time of Founder's Day, with a resultant video tape recording for our use elsewhere. A special University of New Mexico Day at the State Fair is contemplated. This committee is also concerned with coordinating 75th Anniversary information and material with the various University publications such as the Mirage, the Lobo, the general catalogue, and so on. I should also report that they are preparing (I don't know why I keep saying "they" -- I should say, he is preparing) special material for inclusion in their mailings over the entire state by the Tourist Bureau and Department of Development. And finally -- and I am leaving many things out, I know -- there will be a special edition of the Alumni magazine devoted to a history of this institution.

Social Events, with Co-Chairmen Lena Clauve, former Dean of Women, and Mrs. Paul L. Dorris, is undertaking the detailed planning of receptions, luncheons, banquets, teas and similar events as they are scheduled throughout the year.

One interesting development, and I think one that can properly be claimed to be within the area of long range Anniversary benefits, has emerged from the work of the Speakers Bureau, under Chairman Max Campbell. The objective of this committee is to tell the University story around the state, to make people aware of the services rendered by the University to the state and, above all, to disabuse people of the notion that this is the University of Albuquerque. Our plan is to have members of the faculty, administration, student body and alumni speak at various functions around the state, before civic groups and clubs. Faculty members are being asked to speak either on some subject within their own disciplines, or on the history, development, and future growth of the University. Mr. Campbell sent our a questionnaire to the faculty asking who would be willing to serve in this capacity. I was very pleased to find out that over 100 professors have already agreed to serve in this capacity. I know that you have some concern regarding the amount of time that will be required for your making such speeches.

Already completed has been a speech on the history and present status of the University for those who like to work from manuscript. Other speeches are being prepared, and other speech outlines developed, because we want to reduce the amount of time you will have to invest in order to fill this important function. We hope the Speakers Bureau will result in the development of what some people term "Operation Outreach," whereby the services of this University can be extended around the state, or where at least the services we do render will be publicized more heavily around the state.

The Committee on Special Awards is a recently created committee which has not yet selected a chairman. I hasten to say that this committee is not concerned with honorary degrees. Dean Parish will discuss the matter of honorary degrees with you following the completion of this report. Two different special awards are now under study by the Board of Regents. The first of these is a proposal which has been studied and recommended by both the University Policy Committee and the Executive Committee of the 75th Anniversary Year. This proposal is for the establishment of an award to be known as "The New Mexico Medal." To explain the basis of this award, perhaps I should quote the statement of policy derived from the original discussion and prepared by Dean Parish. This statement says:

New Mexico
Medal

On rare occasions, a person associated geographically or otherwise with the State of New Mexico will attain national or international reputation for his accomplishments. Such a person deserves to be honored by his state with some distinct award.

To accomplish this purpose, The University of New Mexico will establish The New Mexico Medal to be used to express for itself and for the people of New Mexico their pride in, and gratitude for, the accomplishments and contributions of this individual.

The New Mexico Medal will be reserved for award to persons who are either residents of this state or graduates of The University of New Mexico and whose contributions to society have been sufficient to gain for them honor, prestige and recognition at a national or international level. This medal will be further reserved for persons with long tenure of service marked by continuing national respect.

Since the desirability of honoring such persons should be both obvious and compelling, it will not be the policy of the University to survey the citizenry of this state for potential recipients. The medal will be awarded only in the event that the attainments of a qualified individual are such that the faculty, administration and regents would be spontaneously persuaded that this rare and special recognition is clearly deserved.

A second type of award under study is one which would be known as the "Medal of Merit." This award is designed to recognize exemplary citizenship among New Mexicans in all walks of life. It has no connection with honorary degrees or the New Mexico Medal; it is not a scholarly or academic kind of award. If this proposal is approved, all the colleges, departments and divisions of the University will be asked to make nominations for recipients.

Medal of Merit

Finally, Special Research is an all-student committee chaired by Norman Corzine. This all-student committee has accepted the responsibility for searching out special information needed by the individuals and groups working on the Anniversary Year plans. They have already, for example, made a survey of the multitudinous materials collected by Mr. Durrie about the anniversary celebrations of other institutions of higher learning, in a search for common events or functions, new ideas on events, or events which proved not to be worth the effort to organize them.

PROFESSOR BLUM Second.

This is the structure of the Anniversary Year. Even though I noted that we have rather a large number of persons involved in this activity, we have an enormous number of details to take care of, and I am sure that anyone who wishes to help in this enterprise can find plenty to do, and interesting work to do. We sincerely hope the 75th Anniversary Year, when all is finished, will have served its function of at least informing the people of New Mexico of the importance of this institution to the entire State.

POPEJOY Opposed? (No response) Carried.

POPEJOY Thank you very much, Professor Prouse. I am sure that all of us realize, after this presentation, that you and the committee have already accomplished a great deal of work, and we appreciate it very much. The next item will be presented by Dean Parish, for the Graduate Committee.

Since the desirability of honoring such persons should be both obvious and compelling, it will not be the policy of the University to survey the citizenry of this state for potential recipients. The medal will be awarded only in the event that the statements of a qualified individual are such that the faculty, administration and regents would be spontaneously persuaded that this rare and special recognition is clearly deserved.

A second type of award under study is one which would be known as the "Medal of Merit." This award is designed to recognize exemplary citizenship among New Mexicans in all walks of life. It has no connection with honorary degrees of the New Mexico Medal; it is not a scholarly or academic award. If this proposal is approved, all the colleges, departments and divisions of the University will be asked to submit nominations for recipients.

Finally, Special Research is an all-student committee directed by Norman Corrine. This all-student committee has accepted the responsibility for searching out special information needed by the individuals and groups working on the University Year plans. They have already, for example, done a survey of the multitudinous materials collected by Durrie about the anniversary celebrations of other institutions of higher learning, in a search for common events or actions, new ideas on events, or events which proved not to be worth the effort to organize them.

This is the structure of the Anniversary Year. Although I noted that we have rather a large number of persons involved in this activity, we have an enormous number of details to take care of, and I am sure that anyone who wishes to help in this enterprise can find plenty to do, and interesting work to do. We sincerely hope the 75th Anniversary, when all is finished, will have served its function of least informing the people of New Mexico of the importance of this institution to the entire state.

Thank you very much, Professor Prouse. I am glad that all of us realize, after this presentation, that the committee have already accomplished a great deal of work, and we appreciate it very much. The next item will be presented by Dean Parish, for the Graduate Committee.

Each of you received, perhaps a month ago, statement of the official policy on the granting of honorary degrees.

Normally, strong emphasis has been given to those people who have made special contributions to the state and the region. The policy also includes, however, the granting of honorary degrees to people of national or international stature. This year more emphasis has been placed on this latter role than has been true in the past. The honorary degree committee was enlarged this year because of the activities of the 75th Anniversary. That committee has recommended to the Graduate Committee and the Graduate Committee now recommends to you, the Faculty, that we award 7 honorary degrees. We voted last spring to award a degree to Dr. Workman in June. This involves 7 more, and perhaps there will be more later -- and I presume the way to proceed is to nominate each one individually.

I move that Felix Candela of Mexico be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts.
