READJUSTMENTS TO BE MADE IN ORIGINAL FLEET ALLOTMENT PLAN

Japan To Retain Her New Battleship Mutsu and U. S. and England Are to Be Given Additional Ships.

NEW DIFFICULTIES IN FAR EAST CONFERENCE

American Island of Guam is to Be Abandoned As a Potential Naval Base, According to Plans.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14 (By the Associated Press).—The Far East conference delegates have reached an agreement on all major issues of the naval war but are encountering new difficulties in Far East discussions.

The American 5-5-3 ratio forms the basis of the naval settlement, but there are to be readjustments in the original American plan, to permit Japan to retain her new battleship Mutsu. The United States and Great Britain will be given a compensatory quota of additional ships not determined in detail. In the Far Eastern negotiations the latest element of controversy has been the proposed abrogation of the treaties resulting from Japan's famous "twenty-one demands." When the request was presented to the Far Eastern committee of the whole today, the Japanese objected and the committee adjourned.

PROSPECTS BECOMING DARKER

Coming from the Shantung negotiations are at a critical stage. The Chinese abrogation proposal has somewhat clouded prospects of a Far Eastern agreement, but most delegates remain confident of an ultimate solution.

Another meeting of the "big three" late today advanced the naval question nearer to a final and detailed settlement, but left some minor points still undecided.

The Pacific fortifications. Coupled with the naval agreement in the proposed treaty will be a "status quo" understanding on Pacific fortifications and naval bases exclusive of Hawaii and the islands off Japan, Australia and New Zealand coasts. The plans abandon the American island of Guam as a potential naval base.

China's request for abrogation of the treaties and the demand for a step toward abolition of existing "spheres of influence" in the Far East have been the main subjects of the conference and it was evident tonight that the Japanese would not stand alone in opposing the abrogation proposal.

In the Shantung conversations the point of controversy is the compensation that China is to give for Japanese improvements on the Kiao-Chow railroad. The Japanese have asked for instructions from Tokyo, but subject to a favorable response, offered today to withdraw from the railroad in the event of a satisfactory compensation arrangement.

In the view of some of the Chinese delegates, the financial guarantees desired by Japan amount to virtual perpetuation of Japanese control over the road. The suggestion has been made in some quarters that a new "big four," composed of heads of the American, British, Japanese and Chinese delegations be asked to take the question under advisement.

"BIG THREE" AGREE ON NAVY LIMITATION PLAN

Washington, Dec. 14 (By the Associated Press).—Great Britain, the United States and Japan were in full accord as to principles tonight on a plan of naval limitation. All major questions have been whittled into shape. Technical details as to one phase held back an official announcement.

The plan worked out by Secretary Hughes, A. J. Balfour and Admiral Baron Kato in joint conference, follows the original American proposal except in one respect. That difference is the agreement that Japan may retain the battleship Mutsu instead of the Settsu, that the United States retain the Colorado and Washington in place of the Delaware and the Oregon.

CLAIMS HARDING TARIFF PLAN IS 'IMPRACTICABLE'

Manufacturer Objects to Giving President Authority to Adjust Rates As Conditions Warrant.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14.—President Harding's proposal to congress that he be given authority to adjust tariff rates as changing conditions might warrant, is "altogether impracticable and undesirable," J. P. Wood of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Wo. Manufacturers, declared today before the finance committee at hearings on the wool schedule in the tariff bill.

Such a plan, he said, would keep industries "in a state of unrest" and would result in constant pressure for changes being brought to bear on the president and on the tariff commission.

Two Senators Differ.

Senator Smoot of Utah and Senator Watson of Indiana, republican members of the committee, differed with Mr. Wood, arguing that the plan proposed would result in less uncertainty for business than would otherwise follow the liquidation in Europe and the changing values of currencies abroad. Senator Smoot declared under present conditions congress would have to delegate authority as to tariff rates in some such manner as suggested by the president.

While agreeing that business here would have to suffer some measure of demoralization because of conditions overseas, Mr. Wood said he did not believe present conditions warranted such a plan.

Approves Valuation Plan.

In a statement read to the committee, Mr. Wood suggested in effect that the entire wool schedule in the Fordney bill be re-written on the basis of the clean scored content. He approved of the American tariff plan, but the only feasible method suggested to offset the depreciating foreign currency.

Coupled with the naval agreement in the proposed treaty will be a "status quo" understanding on Pacific fortifications and naval bases exclusive of Hawaii and the islands off Japan, Australia and New Zealand coasts. The plans abandon the American island of Guam as a potential naval base.

RAILROADS ASK SUSPENSION OF RATE REDUCTION

Carriers Want the Order Held Up; Request is Opposed By 15 Western Railroad Commissions.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14.—Request for a six months' suspension in the reductions ordered by the interstate commerce commission on grain, grain products and hay in the railroad rates, was made by the carriers and opposed by fifteen western state railroad commissions, agricultural organizations and shippers in hearings before the federal trade commission.

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, in proposing the suspension, said that the commission allow the carriers in the meantime to make effective a cut of 10 per cent in rates on all products of farm, range and orchard in all movements in the United States outside of New England.

C. M. Reed, chairman of the Kansas utilities commission, asserted that "so far as the western farmer is concerned, the 10 per cent 'voluntary' offer of the carriers is a delusion and a snare," and that the "maneuvers of the carriers since October have principally been for delay."

Clifford Thorne, appearing for western agricultural associations, said that prices of all commodities except railroad transportation had dropped markedly in the last year, while this had increased. J. M. Benton, attorney for the state commissions, asserted that the commission had found the rate reduction would not be legal to maintain higher rates.

Railroad traffic officials declared they were ready to make the 10 per cent reduction effective December 31.

The commission's orders, unless changed by the rehearing today, will require rates on broad grain and other products and hay to be reduced by 12 1/2 per cent, 1 1/2 per cent and 16 1/2 per cent of the charges in effect during government control, according to territory.

WATER COVERS THOUSANDS OF ACRES OF LAND

(By The Associated Press.) Seattle, Wash., Dec. 14.—Related overflow waters from mountain streams which swept down into the Skagit and Stillaguamish river valleys, tonight covered thousands of acres in northwestern Washington and were reported to be materially increasing flood damage in that portion of the state. South of Seattle the Duwamish river had risen and water was running through the streets of villages near Renton and Black River junctions between Seattle and Tacoma.

RELAND VITAL TO SECURITY OF GREAT BRITAIN PREMIER CLAIMS

Lloyd George Contends It is Impossible to Allow An Overtly Dominion Status to Operate in Erin.

CULTIES ARE OF PECULIAR NATURE

He Will Reply Later With Reference to the Question of Allegiance to the English Crown.

(By The Associated Press.) London, Dec. 14.—Addressing the house of commons today, Premier Lloyd George said there were many peculiar Irish difficulties. "Ireland," he declared, "is a geographical strategic position was analogous to that of no other dominion had its war debt and pensions, he added, that that had not been dealt with the Irish alone would have come out of the war untaxed. He said there also was the difficulty arising from deeply rooted religious antipathies, an exaggerated that four had to be dealt with as facts. He said one of the greatest questions was the peculiar position of north Ireland, which had wrecked every previous proposed settlement.

With reference to the question of allegiance to the crown, he said he would reply fully later, contenting himself with the statement that there had been complete agreement of allegiance to the British crown, acceptance of membership in the empire and acceptance of common citizenship.

Referring to dominion status, he declared it full and complete dominion status had been conferred Ireland would have had power to raise any army or navy he liked. He said that Britain have pursued a policy of disarmament if Ireland had been thus able to raise possibly half a million men, he asked.

That was an international objection. Besides if Ireland had been entitled to raise large forces, northern Ireland would have been driven to imitate the south in its own protection. It was under such circumstances, he declared, that the government would be likely to raise a formidable fleet.

Just behind the gun in the wall of the conning tower is a hatchway. Through this the gun crew can lean over their firing posts as the ship rises from the waves, jumping into the sea and back again, as it were, in the conning tower can be thrown open to supply charges for the gun up to the time the vessel is riding free on the surface.

An undersea wireless enables the S-48 to send and receive messages while submerged. She has three periscopes connecting with the conning tower, and two with the control room. Two electric motors drive the S-48 when submerged and on the surface she is propelled by two Diesel-Diesels engines, rated at 550 brake horsepower each.

The S-48 is a development in the direction of the great fleet submarine, with its wide radius of independent action and its heavy armament. The new submarine embodies many of the features developed through the experience of the world war. It is seventy feet of water, little difficulty will be experienced in raising the S-48.

Peter Dunne, a civilian member of the crew, 19 years old, was the hero of the mishap. He suspected his slight frame through a torpedo tube and swam up through the icy water to summon help.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14.—With the Shantung negotiations already at a delicate stage, Chinese delegates brought a new element of controversy into the Far Eastern negotiations today by asking that the treaties resulting from the famous twenty-one demands be abrogated.

The Japanese immediately objected to consideration of the subject and the Far Eastern committee adjourned. Before another meeting is held all national delegations will prepare to give an opinion on whether the Chinese proposal can properly be taken up under the conference agenda.

Meantime all delegation spokesmen except the Chinese are declining to discuss the subject.

In the view of the Chinese representatives the subject actually is before the conference and must be discussed and decided.

Further complicating the negotiations, China also asked the powers to make a definite declaration abolishing all the claims to "spheres of influence" which have been made in various treaties with China.

Meantime some of the collateral issues of the Shantung negotiations were advanced, but the principal problem in connection with the Japanese withdrawal from the Tsing-Tao-Tsien railroad remained as much a stumbling block as ever. Japanese delegates offered, according to the understanding of the Chinese delegates, to relinquish the Japanese claim over the railway on the basis of financial compensation subject to approval of Tokyo.

Coupled with this, however, a Chinese delegate said the Japanese insisted Japan would prove to retain a financial interest. This latter proposal, the Chinese replied, they were unable to accept.

S-48, WHICH TRAPPED 51 MEN, TO BE RAISED; YOUTH IS HERO

The S-48, with its nose protruding from the water and tug standing by after the rescue of the crew. Inset is of Peter Dunne, hero of the event.

New York, Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Experts anticipate little trouble in raising the S-48, the submarine which sank suddenly at Bridgeport harbor, endangering the lives of fifty-one men.

The S-48 was the last word in submarine construction, the accident resulting from an unsecured manhole when the S-48 was making a crash dive to fulfill government specifications which required her to submerge in ninety seconds.

In addition to a four-inch gun, which is mounted forward of the conning tower, equipped for action even when the submarine is submerged, there are five 21-inch torpedo tubes, four forward and one in the stern.

Just behind the gun in the wall of the conning tower is a hatchway. Through this the gun crew can lean over their firing posts as the ship rises from the waves, jumping into the sea and back again, as it were, in the conning tower can be thrown open to supply charges for the gun up to the time the vessel is riding free on the surface.

A SMALL THORN IS INTRODUCED IN BURCH CASE

Was Extracted From the Knee of Defendant, Accused of Killing Kennedy, Is Claim of State.

Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 14.—A small thorn, extracted according to testimony, from the knee of Arthur C. Burch, was admitted in evidence today in Burch's trial for the alleged murder of J. Edgar Kennedy. The prosecution announced there would be further testimony relating to the thorn.

Mention had been made earlier in the trial of thorn bushes growing about the cottage in Beverly Glen, where Kennedy was shot.

Other testimony during the day indicated that Burch and Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, his co-defendant, were "watching Kennedy's residence" the afternoon before Kennedy was slain; that Burch, after his arrest, declared that if he killed Kennedy the latter "got no more than he deserved"; that Burch said he "would not be surprised" if he married Mrs. Obenchain, and that Kennedy "clairvoyant," who was asked say whether they would wed.

Just before adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning, the court told the jurors he wanted them to turn over to him any anonymous letters they might receive with reference to the case.

LONDON TREATY IS DEBATED BY PARLIAMENT IN SOUTH IRELAND

De Valera Claims the Irish Delegation Exceeded Its Powers in Signing the Pact With England.

SEVERAL DELEGATES DISPUTE HIS CLAIM

Opinion Among Dail Members on Approval or Rejection More Evenly Divided Than Expected.

(By The Associated Press.) Dublin, Dec. 14 (By the Associated Press).—The question of ratification or rejection of the Irish agreement made at London was debated today at a public meeting of the dail and later at two secret sessions. Another secret session is to be held tomorrow.

At the public meeting Eamonn de Valera, the premier, and Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and other dail deputies expressed their views as to whether the Irish delegation to London had exceeded its powers in signing the agreement with the British cabinet.

Divided on the Question.

De Valera and members of the delegation were sharply divided on the question. De Valera contended that the treaty should have been signed without its having first been referred to the Dublin parliament. Delegates Griffith and Collins insisted that they and their colleagues had the power invested in them to sign an agreement, but not the authority to conclude it.

Mr. Griffith asserted that the representatives of the dail eireann and of the British cabinet were in identical positions as each was obligated to refer the treaty to their respective legislatures for ratification.

Both Mr. Collins and Mr. Griffith resented a statement of President De Valera that the delegation had not obeyed the instructions of the Dublin cabinet.

"I have been called a traitor," exclaimed Mr. Collins. "Let the Irish people decide whether I am or not."

Speculation over the possibility of a serious rift in the two factions occurred in the secret sessions. The first lasted from 1 until 2 p. m. Then after a recess the deputies reassembled at 4:30.

Animated Discussions.

The secret meeting was confined to animated discussion of how far the plenipotentiaries were justified by their instructions in signing a treaty with Great Britain, without having resubmitted the treaty to President De Valera and his cabinet.

Mr. Griffith, quietly, and Mr. Collins, with some heat in the public session, resented any suggestions that they had failed to carry out their instructions or that they had exceeded them.

The opinion among members of the dail tonight on the question of acceptance or rejection was more evenly divided than had been expected. All apparently were in agreement that ultimate responsibility would rest with the country.

FACT PRESENTED IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT

London, Dec. 14 (By the Associated Press).—In a scene which is likely to prove a landmark in English history, the Irish treaty today was presented in the imperial parliament for ratification, while the dail eireann at Dublin indulged in heated debate turning on Eamonn de Valera's charge that the Irish plenipotentiaries exceeded their powers in signing the treaty, without further reference to Dublin.

Neither the commons nor the dail eireann, however, has yet come to grips on the actual decision respecting ratification, which has been postponed until tomorrow.

A feature of the debates in parliament here was a bitter attack on the government by Lord Carson, in the house of Lords, and Capt. Charles Craig, Irish unionist, in the house of commons. Lord Carson showed not the slightest diminution in his old time denunciation of any accommodation with nationalist Ireland. He dared the government to do anything to stir Ireland against the empire, and exclaimed:

"Because Ulster is loyal, you think you can kick her as you like."

"I promise you," he continued, "that she will keep out of this agreement. You have tried to make her position impossible. I believe you told the Sinn Fein delegates to do so. Why has the Sinn Fein been given an army, if not to invade Ulster? Was it to invade America, or the channel islands?"

The tone of his speech was one of unrelenting hostility to a settlement.

Premier Lloyd George's speech in the commons was less of an oratorical display in defense of the treaty, than a careful exposition of the agreement and its implications, with a view to putting the house in possession of the complete mind of the government. He forestalled attacks by the argument that the treaty had received unstinted praise from the king and the British dominions and could not be regarded as inimical to the country's interests.

'PASSING THE BUCK'

(The following editorial with reference to the closing of the Santa Fe bank was written by Carl C. Magee, publisher of the Journal. Mr. Magee has been in Santa Fe since Tuesday and, aided by W. V. Gano of the accounting firm of Gano & Company, is making an investigation for the Journal of the deposit of state monies in the bank.)

Everybody about the state house in Santa Fe seems to be passing the "buck." An effort to find out the facts concerning what the books show is not so difficult. Everyone seems willing to show the investigator what he wants to see. In addition they are all ready to give him an ear-full of explanation which does not explain.

Everybody knows by this time that the Santa Fe bank closed owing the state $353,000.

This bank had a capital and surplus of $65,000. Another bank in the state having $600,000 of capital and surplus nearly ten times as large has $84,000 of state deposits. The First National bank of Santa Fe has $21,000 of such deposits. Ability to render service does not account for this deposit of more than a third of a million dollars in a weak bank. No powerful politician was behind this bank. So politics does not explain it. But there is a reason for everything. What is the reason?

No one in Santa Fe will venture a reason for this situation. It is perfectly apparent that a real investigation will disclose that reason. But no one except the Journal seems to be attempting an investigation. We are not getting very far. We lack the power to subpoena witnesses and compel them to testify. Some one with that power would go to the bottom of this rotten mess in two days. Somebody MUST go to the bottom of it.

This situation goes much farther than the mere failure of a bank. State Treasurer Strong is not in Santa Fe, even in this crisis. He rarely is in his office. He leaves the management of the deposits of his office, amounting to about two and one half millions of dollars, to his young daughter, a very estimable young lady. She must exercise the discretion which the older head of her father should exercise. Mr. Strong's neglect of his office is scandalous. Allowing these deposits to accumulate in this bank is reprehensible beyond words. He knew better. Why then did he do it? Someone must find out.

The auditors office is in frightful shape. In tracing a deposit of $66,000 paid to the treasurer by the auditor the Journal found the record of the receipts of the money by the auditor kept on scraps of paper and written with a lead pencil. No permanent record has been kept.

The only auditing system the state has is that of the traveling auditor. Where is the traveling auditor while the state auditor is keeping no records and the treasurer is violating the law limiting deposits?

The truth is that the traveling auditor's department is a farce and its head a failure. The state has no system of keeping records worth the name and what it has are so poorly kept that the whole thing is a grim joke.

Miss Strong, deputy treasurer, explains a transfer of $25,000 from the First National bank of Santa Fe to the Santa Fe Bank on December 3, one week before the failure, by saying that J. E. Reed, state bank examiner, told her to do so and that Cashier Lynn of the bank would wait for the check which he did. Read denies this, saying that he told her that the bank needed the money and that she had better telephone her father about it. He denies telling her to make the deposit. It seems certain that however cautious he was in what he said, that he was lending countenance to the transaction at a time when he knew and had known for months that the bank was insolvent.

Tied up with this bank deal is the rumor that banks in many cases could get deposits only in case they bought their surety bonds from a certain firm. Other rumors with a good coloring of truth are afloat. These must be investigated.

The simple truth is that a special session of the legislature is absolutely imperative. Accepting the resignation of two, or four, or six state officials will not solve the problem. The facts and the causes of the existence of the facts must be gone into by the legislature so that the remedial legislation necessary may be indicated and adopted.

If the republican party backs away from this situation and attempts to smother an investigation or conceal the facts it is doomed. The test is here. Has that party the vitality and the moral stamina to meet its problem in the open and deal with it with courage and integrity. If it has, it may convince the people of the state that it is worthy of their confidence. If it attempts to dodge it will make iconoclasts out of thousands of independent thinking people who would like to be republicans.

Now is the time to ferret out incompetency and dishonesty, expose them and punish those at fault. Now is the time to adopt a law which will establish a system of accounting and audits which will make such a condition forever impossible.

The people can get relief now if they will clamor for it. If public opinion will not make itself felt at once we are entitled to no better government than we have. Governor Mecham will listen if public opinion will speak.

Jap Delegates Virtually Accept Proposition to Relinquish Control of the Railroad to China.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14 (By the Associated Press).—Japanese delegates today virtually accepted the Chinese proposition to relinquish to China control over the Kiao-Chow-Tsien-Fu railway in Shantung, subject to approval by the Japanese government, and a satisfactory financial settlement, at the same time asking for financial interest in the disputed road, according to the Chinese understanding of the Japanese position.

SANTA FE MADE SITE OF FRANCES WILLARD SCHOOL

The final decision made by the directors of the Frances E. Willard school for girls rules that the institution be established in Santa Fe. The Capital City won the school over invitations of three other towns, Albuquerque, Clovis and Belen having tendered proposals to the board.

Mrs. Edgar Hewett was the representative whom the Santa Fe chamber of commerce sent here to the meeting to try and locate the school in Santa Fe. Because of favorable climatic and economic conditions, together with the ease of transportation, the board of directors unanimously voted Santa Fe the school.

Santa Fe's offer included a ten-acre site with well developed orchard land, a $5,000 cash payment and a $5,000 bonus from the chamber of commerce. Several scholarships have also been offered.

The institution is expected to be open for about fifty pupils around the first of January, provided a suitable building can be made ready to house the school. It is expected to run the institution on a small scale at first, but later it will be national in scope.

Several committees were appointed by the board for the school. On the organization and admission committee Mrs. Anna Wilds Strumquist of Albuquerque will serve as chairman. The rest of the committee is Mrs. Edgar J. Hewett of Santa Fe, Mrs. C. O. Harrison of Santa Fe and the principal of the school who will be chosen later.

The advisory business committee includes Benjamin F. Pankey of Santa Fe, Harry S. Bowman of Santa Fe, Miss Stella Sloan of Santa Fe, Frank Gormely of Santa Fe and Miss Jennie Avery of Santa Fe.

On the finance committee are Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, Paul A. F. Walter and Mrs. Lansing Bloom, all of Santa Fe.

On the finance committee are Mrs. Strumquist, Mrs. Solomon Luna of Santa Fe, and Mrs. Seary of Belen. The budget committee is Mrs. D. A. Porterfield and Mrs. Thomas Harwood. On the agricultural committee are Miss Stella Sloan, Mrs. Minnie Bird, and one other to be appointed later.

The board passed votes of thanks to Clovis for its invitation to Sidney Weil for his offer of help, to Belen for its co-operation during the past year, and to the Elks club for the use of its rooms.

CORDOVA MEETS HERRERA AT THE CRYSTAL FRIDAY

Both Main Events Expected to Be Speed Feasts; Battle Royal to Feature the Program.

Benny Cordova and Frank Herrera have slowed up training for their 15-round bout which will be the main event at the boxing card Dan Padilla has arranged for the Crystal theater tomorrow night. Both boys appear to be in the pink of condition and there seems to be no question but that they will pass the physical examination tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The ring has been constructed on the Crystal stage and there will be room for a few ringside seats on the stage. This is the first bout to be held at the theater for some time, but its seating arrangement is expected to prove even better than at the arena where most of the bouts have been held.

Benny Cordova, the fighting Italian, has been showing up well in training. Although the fans have not had much chance to give Jim Flynn the once-over, as he is training in private the greater part of the time, he has been working hard and is in the best condition of his career. He and Gallardo will box the first headliner for ten rounds. Both boys will weigh about 147.

Benny Cordova signed a contract yesterday for a boxing tour of Texas, starting at San Antonio, and for a bout at Mexico City late in January where he will fight for the lightweight championship of Mexico. The local boy has been offered his choice of $1,500 or a portion of the gate receipts for the big bout.

Immediately following his bout here with Benny Cordova, Herrera will leave for Colorado Springs where he will meet Stoppier, of Denver.

Five boys have signed up for the battle royal, which will precede the two main events.

BANKERS BEST HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL BOYS IN CLOSE GAME

Playing a fast game the Bankers won from the high school last night with a score of 35-31. With one minute to play and the score 31-31 Gilbert and Salazar each made a field goal and changed the game from a tie to a win for their team. At the end of the first half the high school led with the score at 15-15 but the Bankers came back strong in the last half.

The high school started the scoring with a free throw by Wilson and a field goal from Benjamin. The Bankers displayed fast pace work, but at first the Bankers could not connect with the goal from their shots. The guarding of Bryan was a feature of the game and Wilson did equally well for the high school.

Pegue scored first in the second half with a field but Malcolm Long came back with two more for the high school. Benjamin was the chief point getter for the high school and Pegue rolled up fourteen points for the Bankers.

High School—Bankers: Hogrefe, F., Gilbert, Rogers, Benjamin, C., Salazar, Long, G., Bryan, Wilson, G., Harris.

Field goals: A. H. S.—Benjamin 6, Long 3, Rogers 1. Bankers—Pegue 1, Salazar 4, Gilbert 4. Free throws: Wilson 11, Salazar 5. Referee: Wilton.

In the preliminary game the Y. M. C. A. intermediates defeated the high school second team 26-13.

HOTEL DRIVE IS UNDER WAY WITH PLENTY OF PEP

Fifty Additional Workers Are Needed to Completely Canvass the City During the Next Few Days.

Hotel committees started their canvass of the city yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and at 4 o'clock reported 17 new persons had subscribed. The first subscription came at 8 o'clock yesterday when a merchant, who had not heretofore subscribed for stock in the new hotel, telephoned his subscription for $1,000 conditional upon four other similar subscriptions. The committee expects to meet the conditions by evening today.

Twenty-three workers reported yesterday morning for instructions and these were increased to 33 by the time the actual field work started. Fifty new workers are necessary to make the drive a success. All Albuquerque boosters are urged to give a small part of the time to the project and to notify the central committee at the chamber of commerce when they can assist in the drive. The entire city is to be worked by vacation districts.

BIG TIRE STILL UNCLAIMED; POOR IN CITY PROFIT

A new 37 by 5 non-skid tire, mounted, was presented to the bureau of charities yesterday by Chief of Police Galusha. The tire is to be sold and the proceeds placed in the bureau fund.

Some time ago a tourist brought the new tire and rim into the police station and stated that he had found it on the road. He asked that an effort be made to find the owner and if he was not found within a specified time that the tire be turned over to the charity bureau. As the owner had not been located and the time limit set by the tourist has expired, Chief Galusha turned the tire over to Rabbi Bergman, head of the bureau, yesterday. LEGION GOES TO NEBRASKA COURT TO DEFEND NAME

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL) Omaha, Neb. 14.—For the first time in its history the American Legion has gone to court to defend its name.

An alleged statement that the legion was an organization of trained murderers opposed to organized labor, forms the basis of a suit to collect $100,000 damages against F. H. Shoemaker, filed in the courts here by the legion department of Nebraska through William Ritchie, Jr., its commander.

Shoemaker is quoted as having made the statement in a speech before a butchers' union local here. Questioned by the legion commander, Shoemaker denied the statement but, according to Ritchie's charges, declared that the legion "has created labor disturbances in which men were killed"; that the legion "is subsidized by big business and the packers have contributed to it," and that the ex-service men "are opposed to organized labor."

Those statements, Ritchie charges, are "wicked, malicious and false," and his suit is to "stop such contemptible lies and show union labor that we resent charges of being opposed to them."

Shoemaker says he is not a member of any union. His army record shows he was discharged after six days of service.

The step of the legion commander is commended by George L. Berry, Nashville, Tenn., president of the International Printing Pressmen's union and himself a world war veteran, in a telegram to labor leaders here and Dennis Lane, secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Chicago. Berry also requests that the union officials issue a statement and "take necessary additional action to null the unjustifiable action and statements of Shoemaker or such others as may be engaged in similar practices."

A. P. DAVIS WILL INSPECT VALLEY FARMING LANDS

Director of Federal Reclamation Bureau Will Also Address Mass Meeting to Be Called By C. of C.

A. P. Davis, director of reclamation, will probably be in the city December 20 to make an inspection of the valley and to address a mass meeting to be called by the Chamber of Commerce. The chamber hoped to have Secretary Albert Fall stop in the city on his way back to Washington from the California conference, but he was unable to accept the invitation. At Secretary Fall's suggestion and at the invitation of the chamber, Director Davis will probably spend several days here. He will visit all sections of the valley in this vicinity and will consider both questions of drainage and river embankment. Definite plans for the mass meeting will be announced in a few days by the chamber. It is expected that the meeting to be called will be one of the largest reclamation meetings ever held in this part of the valley and that, aside from Director Davis, several other experts will deliver addresses.

MAJ. WEBSTER TELLS KIWANIS CLUB ABOUT EDUCATION IN INDIA

Maj. Charles C. Webster, Y. M. C. A. secretary for India, a former officer of the British army in Africa, was the chief speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon yesterday noon with the subject "The Anzac in the Orient." He told of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in education of the Indians, only 10 per cent of whom are literate, and of the assistance in paying their heavy loans which have accumulated through generations. Upon the presentation of the new hotel campaign matters there was a generous response to the call for volunteers. A number of Kiwanians offered their time for the remainder of the week in raising funds to complete the financing of the hotel project. Capt. Guest and Rabbi Bergman were elected honorary members of the Kiwanis club in appreciation of their services to the poor of the city in particular in connection with the Christmas cheer work. The attendance prize, an order for merchandise at the Gibson Faw Lumber company, donated by D. W. Faw, was won by W. P. McDowell. Sample packages of tapioca were given as silent boosts by E. N. Boule of the Gross Kelly company.

Enrollment in the inter-county consolidated school at Chilili has reached 117, according to a report of County School Superintendent Irene Burke, who returned from an inspection of the school yesterday. There are already fifteen pupils attending the school from Torrance county, and it is expected that a number of others will start after the Christmas holiday. Miss Blanche Hughes is principal of the Chilili school and Miss Dorothy Mann and Mary Shirk complete the staff.

INCOME TAX PAYMENT MUST BE MADE TODAY

Today is the last day for the payment of your income tax. Checks in payment of the third quarterly installment are coming into the internal revenue office here more promptly than at the other three-month periods. Yesterday's receipts were greater by about $5,000 than the receipts of any day previous to the last quarter. Persons subject to the tax who do not present their third installment today will become delinquent, and a penalty will be attached to their payment. A measure has been introduced in the legislative assembly of Mysore, one of the most important of the states of India, which will give women the right to some of their husband's property.

SHEEP MEN WILL HOLD 1922 MEET IN ALBUQUERQUE

Executive Board Names Committee to Confer With State Tax Commission Regarding Tax Valuations

The 1922 annual convention of the New Mexico Wool Growers' association will be held in Albuquerque next spring instead of in Roswell. This decision was made yesterday at the meeting of the executive board of the association at the office of the secretary in the chamber of commerce building. The exact dates for the convention could not be determined, as it is not yet known what dates other states have selected and in order to obtain speakers from the national association, it is necessary that conventions do not coincide. "It was decided to send a committee to attend the state tax commission meeting at Santa Fe December 19. At this time the valuation on state and grazing lands and livestock will be fixed for 1922. The purpose of sending this committee to interview the tax commission is not that the wool growers desire special privileges," one of the executive board members stated yesterday. "But we feel that stock interests should not be taxed beyond their earning power. Present taxes, we believe, will result in a return to the state of leased lands and in their being idle, for if old men in the business can not make money out of them, it is not to be expected that newcomers will have courage to try." The committee which will go to Santa Fe consists of Prager Miller, Roswell; Ed Otero and Fred Hunsinger, Los Lunas; Frank Bond, Espanola; Ed Sargent, Santa Fe; F. Fullerton, Datu; Jose E. Aragon, Magdalena; and Walter Connell, Louis Hefel, Lawrence Lee, Frank Hubbell, C. G. Gonzalez and J. B. Robertson of Albuquerque; J. Miller, Roswell.

AUTOMOBILE FULL OF LIQUOR IS CAPTURED

(By The Associated Press.) El Paso, Tex., Dec. 17.—An unidentified man was wounded, scores of shots were exchanged and an automobile full of liquor was captured early today at Hill, N. M., when a force of prohibition agents accosted three men in a touring car and were met with a volley of shots. The men abandoned the car after the officers had poured a number of shots into it and were pursued by a posse of revenue officers. A quantity of blood in the tonneau of the car indicated that one of the men had been severely wounded, and Judge Cullen, a trail judge, said the machine had been helped or carried by others in the machine. Prohibition officers were on the lookout for bootleggers following the capture of a sedan yesterday afternoon loaded with a quantity of liquor. Arrests of three men were made at that time. A man and woman occupying a truck, said to be the "piet car" of the sedan, were taken into custody temporarily, but were not detained long as contraband liquor was not found in their machine. The battle between the officers and bootleggers occurred in front of a mercantile store.

ARTESIA IRRIGATION DAM WILL BE REBUILT

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.) Artesia, N. M., Dec. 14.—The irrigation dam, which was washed away during the heavy flood period about the first of July, will be rebuilt across the Cottonwood, a small rivulet north of Artesia. This dam, before it was destroyed, stored a sufficient amount of water to irrigate several hundred acres of very fertile alfalfa lands. The shortage of water has hindered the production to the property owners to a great extent. The cost of the reconstruction of this project will be about $5,000 to the water users. A stronger dam will be built than the old one, and it will resist the great pressure of the high waters. A thick wall of reinforced concrete will be constructed with large concrete braces, buried at a great depth in the river bed. A large reinforced spillway will be constructed to take care of the surplus water. Judge Deering, who is in charge of the project, which will be started soon. The project will be ready for use in the early spring.

SIR EDGAR SPEYER MAY BE ANOTHER MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 14 (by the Associated Press).—Sir Edgar Speyer, London banker, whose naturalization papers have been cancelled by Great Britain, may be another man without a country. Denying statements that Sir Edgar, now in the United States, was German born, Samuel Untermyer today issued a statement in which he asserted both Sir Edgar and his wife were born in America of American parents. According to Martin Sturges, chief naturalization examiner in New York, Sir Edgar would probably have to take out American naturalization papers if he wished again to become a citizen. At the present time, indications were that Sir Edgar owed allegiance to no country.

DIPHTHERIA IS UNDER CONTROL AT ARTESIA

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.) Artesia, N. M., Dec. 14.—The much feared epidemic of diphtheria has been checked by the united effort of the city health officer, city physicians and the public school authorities. Several cases were reported last week, but only two cases are now being treated. The school children were inoculated during the past week against this disease. This one step has been a great factor in the checking of the feared epidemic. All school children who have not been vaccinated or those who should be vaccinated again, were vaccinated during the past week as a preventative against smallpox. The public schools have been very fortunate in the small number of absences due to illness. The average attendance has been larger than ever before.

FOUR MAIL WINDOWS OPEN AT POSTOFFICE FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

The Albuquerque postoffice is prepared to handle the greatest rush of Christmas package mail for several years. In addition to the three windows which are open already to the early senders a wire cage was erected yesterday in the north end of the lobby for another clerk. In this cage will be a clerk who will weigh and rate packages. He will collect the money for stamps, mark the packages and pass them to another clerk who will stamp them. This will expedite service so that the line will not have to wait so long. With the four windows open it is expected that a comparatively rapid service can be given during the rush.

Long lines of persons mailing Christmas gift packages stood in front of the windows all day yesterday. The crowds are particularly heavy in the afternoon. Persons who can do so are urged to mail their packages in the morning when the rush is not so heavy. The Red Cross seals are available at a stand in the lobby during the rush hours.

THE SCIENTIFICALLY BUILT WATCH

10 Ligne "Lady Waltham" No. 1083 Hand Carved Case, Green Gold $87.50

For Christmas The Gift of Gifts

SIXTY-SEVEN years ago, America produced a new watch made upon a new plan. A watch that created a sensation all over the world. It quickly became the proud possession of great men and the still prouder possession of thousands of American citizens. It told the time upon battlefields written on the glorious page of our history. It ticked immortal moments in the pockets of those who heard Lincoln's voice at Gettysburg. It has passed through recent warfare in air, and on land and sea. It has followed the starry flag to the outmost ends of the earth. It has been given by father to son, and mother to daughter with joyful pride. It has added many great inventions to the science of horology. It is honored all over the world—and through it civilization pays tribute to American genius for doing things, not the better way, but, the best way. This Christmas, Give "The Gift of Gifts", a Waltham Watch. Ask your Jeweler. He knows Waltham Watches.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it. You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

KEEPING THE PROFILE YOUNG

The other day I was listening to a woman speaker. She had what is known as a commanding platform presence. That is, when she stood before an assemblage of people she was able to make them like her and to be influenced to her opinion because of her attractive personality. She seemed to be a woman of about 35, and she was remarkably pretty. This was my impression as I entered the room late, and saw her in front of me.

I had to walk around the side of the hall to find a seat, so that when I looked at her again it was no longer her full face, but her profile that I saw. Suddenly she appeared to be 45 or even 50—all because there were two baggy pouches of flesh under her chin. A double (or triple) chin will spoil even the prettiest face. The sad part is that it is absolutely unnecessary. No woman need spoil her appearance with a double chin, if she begins treating herself in time. Of course, if the body is too fat, some of this extra flesh is certain to form under the chin as well as over the abdomen and the back of the shoulders. A general reduction will help to reduce this double chin and local treatments with ice and careful massage will draw up the loose skin and bring back the smooth and youthful line.

I would recommend a ten-minute rub with a piece of ice every day, to be preceded by a rather vigorous massage with the hands. The exercise of stretching the chin upwards as far as possible will also be of immense benefit, and if you can not get ice, use any well recommended astringent. Unhappy, you are, indeed, a very difficult problem and unfortunately it is a problem many women face. You naturally want friends and a little social life; your husband refuses to let you have any friends. I suppose it is an unconscious jealousy on his part—but that doesn't make it a bit easier for you.

You write that his insults to your friends and his constant quarrelling when you see anyone makes you so unhappy you are even tempted to leave him. You have,

Never let a double chin get the best of you.

fortunately, the means of supporting yourself. Could you, by quiet, plain talk with your husband, make him see that yours is a partnership as well as a marriage—since you are contributing your share—and that his attitude is spoiling your life? Quarrelling won't help, it will only make things worse. If your problem is solved, it will be the result of a well-talked over, businesslike agreement between you.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

SOME GOOD HOME SUPPERS.

The following home suppers will be found delicious on a cold night:

Baked Herring Dish
Quick Biscuit

Baked Herring Dish: Two herrings, 12 medium-sized white potatoes, 1 bay leaf, 12 onions, butter, bread crumbs. Choose two plump herrings in brine. Soak them overnight in cold water. 15 min. clean and bone them in the morning, pulling them into small bits the size of a child's thumb. While doing this boil the potatoes until tender. Peel the onions. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of the herring, then a layer of the potatoes and next a layer of the raw onions thinly sliced, dotting every other layer with bits of butter and seasoning with salt, pepper and a bit of the bay leaf. Repeat these alternate layers till all the ingredients are used. Finish with cracker or bread crumbs, dot with more butter, and bake for 1 hour in a moderate oven. (It should be brown). Serve hot. This recipe serves six persons. Halve it, if you wish, making a smaller dish.

Jellied Apples: Pare, quarter, core and slice enough apples to make a generous quart; put these in an earthen baking dish with 1 cup of sugar, in alternate layers, and pour in 1-2 cup of water. Cover dish closely and place it in a very slow oven, letting the apples bake for fully three hours. Have ready 1-4 package of gelatin softened in 1-4 cup of cold water and now dissolve this in the hot juice from the baked apples, adding 1-4 cup of boiling water. Turn all into a wet mould and set in a cool place to solidify. When cold and jellied, turn out.

onto a dessert plate and serve with the following:

Marshmallow Sauce: (A fine substitute for whipped cream). Boil 1 cup of sugar and 1-2 cup of water together for 6 minutes, remove pan from fire and beat in 1-2 pound of marshmallow candies. Beat until the candies are dissolved. Serve hot on the cold jellied apples.

Baked Bean Rarebit: Corn Muffins
Cocoa
Lemon Tarts

Baked Bean Rarebit: One cup baked beans, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup milk, 2-3 cup American cheese, 1-4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Melt butter in a saucepan, add the paprika, salt, milk, and beans (after pressing the beans through a colander or wide-meshed sieve, or after putting them through the food chopper). Then add the cheese and let cook until thick and creamy. Last add the Worcestershire sauce, if liked. Pour this hot over slices of toast and serve at once. This may be cooked either on the range or in a chafing dish. It is very nourishing and can be made either from left-over baked beans or from the canned variety of beans which comes without sauce. This recipe serves 6 persons.

CULM CONTAINS AMBER. Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 14.—Hundreds of tons of despoiled culm from the Coalmont collieries in the Nicola valley of British Columbia, has turned out on expert examination to contain amber. This is believed to be the first amber discovered on the North American continent. Samples sent to Ottawa and New York have been pronounced good amber.

THE NEW GENERATION

By JANE PHELPS

MARGARET BECOMES ACQUAINTED WITH MRS. WALTERS.

CHAPTER 39.

A few days after the ball Margaret met Mrs. Walters. The meeting was brought about through Joan and Ted. Afterward Mrs. Walters laughingly remarked:

"A child or a dog is an open sesame to acquaintance."

"You have been a widow some time," she then asked Margaret.

"Fifteen years. Joan was only a tiny baby when Mr. Hayden died."

"You couldn't have been much more yourself," Mrs. Walters laughed. Then: "How courageous you must be to have remained alone so long."

"I was only 20, and does it require especial courage to resist companionship?"

"For an attractive woman like yourself—yes."

"The children are having a gay time," Margaret changed the subject. What would this popular woman think if she knew that until the advent of Craig Forrester now nearly a year before, she had had absolutely no attention from any man. Margaret Hayden was proud. She never would let Mrs. Walters know how entirely aloof from anything of the sort her life had been.

"Aren't they?" Mrs. Walters said in response to Margaret's remark regarding the children. "I am so glad to have Ted know a girl like your Joan. She is so naive, and yet has so much common sense—an unusual combination nowadays."

"Joan is very trustworthy," her mother said.

"I saw that at once. You recall the night the children had the beach fire? I think you had only been here a day or two."

"Only one day."

"I was near the children when it was proposed. Someone said there would be no grown person, that they could do as they liked."

"Then your Joan spoke up and said: 'Unless an older person is with us I shall not come.' One of the other girls asked: 'Won't your mother let you out unless you are chaperoned?' Joan replied: 'My mother hasn't anything to do with it. I do as I please. And I don't please to be common or vulgar, or act in a common manner.' They all subsided. Then I offered to see they were properly chaperoned. But I have wanted to know you ever since. That I do as I please!"

"Your daughter's was delicious. An actress couldn't have spoken her lines with more effect."

"Joan told the truth. I never interfere."

"You mean that you let that young girl, that child, decide things for herself?"

"Everything."

"Tell me how you ever happened to bring me up that way, won't you, please?"

Margaret told her simple story. Told it more in detail than she had told it to Forrester, yet Mrs. Walters perceived nothing of the loneliness which had been Margaret's; nothing of the longing now hers. True to her determination, Margaret would not allow this stranger, this woman so popular with the other sex, to know anything of her life that would call forth pity.

After this time went swiftly, although Craig Forrester had left the day after the ball. But it seemed that Mrs. Walters knew everyone; at least everyone worth knowing, and she introduced Margaret to many charming and interesting people.

It was what Margaret needed. This unaccustomed meeting with people of the world, this rubbing of wits, this urge to dress and look her best, all waked something long dormant in Margaret, and at times she fairly scintillated.

Forrester's departure had so pleased Joan that on the few occasions when her mother wore the rose and gray dress, or did her hair in the manner he had admired, she made no comment. But also she never failed to tell Margaret how well she looked when she wore her simple black or white gowns, and combed her hair severely. Yet Margaret could see that Joan's ideas of her, of her age, of what was right and proper for her to do were fast undergoing a slight change, and that without friction.

Often Margaret looked into the mirror.

Forty years old—if Joan married at 19 as she had done, she would be free to do as she liked—in little over four years. But did she want Joan to marry?

Forty years old—
"I should be almost 40, not as old as Mrs. Walters," she told the reflection in the mirror.

ONE-MAN PICKETING CAMPAIGN IS STAGED AGAINST ARMS MEET.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14.—Urban Ledoux, the "Mr. Zero" of the recent unemployment crisis, today began a one-man picketing campaign against the armament conference. Ledoux, while parading in front of the Pan-American Union building, carried his umbrella, a bible and a lighted lantern.

"I am searching for a Christian in the conference," he told inquirers.

After he had maintained his patrol for two hours, Ledoux was taken to police headquarters on a charge of disorderly conduct.

DAY TIME FROCK HAS HIGH COLLAR

BY ELOISE.

The high collared frock is always in style. It is true that there are few women who can wear it with ease and a pleasing effect, but when a woman can she is fortunate for there are few frocks as distinctive as those which boast of high collars. The high collar in itself is a distinguishing mark. Have you ever noticed that the women who affect high collars always wear them, no matter what the style, the weather or the occasion? Have you also noticed how distinguishing the high collar is on the woman who can wear it?

This frock illustrated shows to advantage the high collared street frock. It is as simple as a cashmere in line. Marine blue serge fashions it and black satin makes the wide, flowing sleeves. A thin cord of dull gold encircles the waist, giving a Russian blouse effect to the one piece gown and a band of embroidery done in dull gold braid trims the right side of the bodice. It is the high collar, however, which sets the frock apart from other frocks of the season.

FRANCE DECIDES ON NAVY RATIO, SPOKESMEN SAY

Will Ask for an Allotment of 315,000 Tons of Capital Ships and Per Centage of Smaller Classes.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 14 (By The Associated Press.)—France will ask for an allotment of 315,000 tons of capital ships and a proportionate percentage in smaller classes when the question of the French and Italian navies is taken up, possibly tomorrow or Friday, by the conference naval committee of fifteen.

The French thesis takes the program adopted by the French parliament in 1912 which, had it been completed, would have given a fleet of 450,000 tons. The war caused the program to be abandoned. Present requirements of France, it will be represented, are both in the remote Pacific and continental, the defense in Europe covering two naval fronts, the Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

Communications with Algeria, it also is held by the French, would be of vital importance in war because of the European requirements of troops and supplies freely.

The French delegates have assumed, their spokesmen said, that they will not encounter a spirit of dictation respecting what are considered to be European requirements in a conference called to deal with Pacific naval proportions. There have been no preliminary studies by this conference, it was pointed out, of European problems, discussions having been confined to the far east.

Some suggestion has been made in French quarters that France's naval ratio was a subject for negotiations between France and Great Britain and it is considered as not unlikely that Premier Briand and Lloyd George may discuss the question at their meeting in London.

Senator Schanzer, in talking of Italy's naval needs to newspaper men today, said the Italians will go into the committee with two principles.

"The first is," he said, "that we shall have the same ratio as France; the second that the ratio be a low one because we do not desire to build up a large navy."

He alluded to the length of Italy's coast, her dependence on sea communication for a large part of her food and her enclosed position in the Mediterranean, adding that France quite agreed to Italy's having the same ratio as the French.

The local committee is seeking to sell $1,000 worth of seals in Albuquerque this Christmas. Of the money raised, 75 per cent will be used in the employment of a special tuberculosis nurse who will work under the supervision of the county city and county department of health.

STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE NOW FOR OLD AND YOUNG

"Old Age" Only a Misnomer As Far As Human System Is Concerned.

It doesn't matter if you are young or old in years you have the same body, stomach, intestines, brain, etc. The only difference is, they are not as healthy and active as they were when you was young.

But that's your fault, and it's the only reason you are suffering from the "infirmities of old age." Scientists and doctors have proved that by keeping the human organs clean of poisonous matter, they can be kept alive indefinitely.

It is not uncommon to see folks under forty suffering and dying from "old age diseases," or as they should be called, diseases due to neglect.

If your stomach is not digesting the food you eat, and the intestines do not properly assimilate the iron and vitamins from it into your blood and eliminate the waste, you not only have thin blood resulting in weakness, nervousness and exhaustion, but your system becomes clogged with poisonous matter. TO USE TROOPS FOR PROTECTION OF UNION LABOR

National Guardsmen Have Been Ordered Into the Kansas Coal Fields; Mines Stormed By Women.

(By The Associated Press.) Pittsburg, Kans., Dec. 14.—National guard troops have been ordered into the coal fields of Kansas as a result of demonstrations conducted by women strike sympathizers. State officials took this action today when authorities of this county reported that they were unable to cope with the situation.

The women for three days have been storming mines in the county and mistreating non-striking miners.

The situation in the mining camps was reported quiet tonight after a day of hubbub created by the women who paraded from mine to mine threatening workers and carrying on demonstrations designed to prevent the men from entering the shafts.

Although the requesting of troops had been discussed by officials for several days, it was not until early today that the action finally was taken. It followed dramatic appeals to Sheriff Milt Gould of Crawford county and Judge J. P. Crawford of the industrial court by delegations of non-striking miners that they be given protection and be permitted to work.

The non-striking miners, several thousand in number, originally went out on the volunteer strike called in the Kansas district when Alexander Howat and August Dorsey were sent to jail for violating the state industrial court law.

Later the Howat administration was deposed by the international union officials, who allowed the striking miners back to work. The women demonstrators are wives and relatives of those miners who, so far, have refused to obey the international union's edict and who are supporting the Howat organization.

Officials of the international union here have contended that the activities of the women demonstrators were a hindrance to supporting the Howat administration. That contention, however, was challenged today in a statement reported to have been made by Howat, deploring the demonstration and asserting that they should never have been permitted to begin.

Veteran labor leaders here tonight declared that the field faced the most unusual situation—the coming of national guardsmen at night and hearings will soon be held including the following streets:

Highlands.
Arno street from Coal avenue to Central avenue; Edith street from Central avenue to Grand avenue; High street from Coal avenue to Grand avenue; Grand avenue from High street to Edith street; Coal avenue from Broadway to High street.

Lowlands.
Third street from Silver avenue to Coal avenue; Fourth street from Silver avenue to Coal avenue; Gold avenue from Sixth street to Ninth street; Coal avenue from Fourth street to Second street.

While this is the program decided upon, it is possible that several streets will be added to the list for improvement and that a number of sections of streets where property owners are anxious for paving will also be considered.

Acting upon the report of Chief of Police Galusha, the commission refused the request of several tax companies which sought to get permits to build telephone booths in the alleys. Chief Galusha pointed out that this could not be done under the present city ordinance regulating taxi stands and alleys.

Upon application of Dan Padilla, boxing promoter in the city, the commission reduced the boxing entertainment license from $50 an entertainment to $25. E. T. Chase, member of the new city boxing commission, reported that it was the opinion of the commission that some reduction should be made in order to allow promoters a chance to make the exhibitions pay. Mr. Padilla showed that he had only made $1.45 on the last bout here.

An ordinance was passed on the commission regulating the construction of irrigation ditches in the city.

P. T. A. ORGANIZED AT MOUNTAIN VIEW SCHOOL DISTRICT

Mrs. R. W. Laudon was elected president of the Mountain View Parent-teachers association, which was formed last night at a community meeting held at Mountain View. Other officers are Miss Emma Gercke, vice president; Mrs. E. H. Bryant, secretary, and Mrs. Sam Andrews, treasurer.

More than thirty members joined the association, which has been under consideration for some time. A committee was appointed to attend to the social programs at the meetings. The committee is composed of Tom Phelan, Dick Myers and Sam Andrews.

GALLERIES ARE FILLED TO HEAR PREMIER SPEAK

Renders an Account of His Stewardship and the Government's Part in Settling Irish Dispute.

(By The Associated Press.) London, Dec. 14 (By The Associated Press.)—Contrasted strikingly with Britain's royal pomp and splendor displayed in the house of lords today was the scene in the house of commons, a few hours later, when, without ceremony but with evident consciousness of power and influence, members heard the premier render an account of his stewardship and the government's part in the Irish settlement.

For an hour and three quarters, Mr. Lloyd George spoke to crowded benches and jammed galleries. The only touch of color was the brilliant red-coated uniform of Colonel Sir Samuel Hoare, who moved the reply to the speech from the throne.

It was not an oration like that of October 31, when the premier, having been challenged, presented the alternatives of war or negotiation with Ireland, and won by a division overwhelmingly favoring the government's policy, his role today was of one simply narrating the problems faced by the delegations, with a description of the way they were handled.

Early in his address, he alluded to those inclined to interrupt him. When an Ulster member interrupted him on "alliance," he having said that the status of Ireland was that of a free state, with allegiance to the king, he turned and faced the Ulsterite, and declared emphatically:

"Yes, allegiance to the king, and swearing allegiance to the king." He then asked members to refrain from interruptions.

He was deeply impressive as he came near the end, when in a solemn manner, he drew a picture of the British imperial war cabinet, at which a vacant chair was waiting for Ireland, and looked to the future when England's fears would be Ireland's victory Ireland's joy.

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.) Santa Fe, Dec. 14.—Superintendent of Public Instruction John V. Conway today distributed $367,788 from the state school fund among the counties.

This apportionment was the first made on the basis of the 1921 school census which shows 122,596 "children" of the statutory school age in New Mexico and an increase of 1,000 over the 1920 school census, which Conway believes, however, probably will shrink when the department of education checks up the census reports.

JEMEZ STREAMS NEED RE-STOCKING AT ONCE

According to communications received recently from Jemez, the residents of that district are very much dissatisfied with the fish conditions in their rivers, particularly in the Jemez and Cebolla streams.

Petitions have been drawn up and sent to the game warden at Santa Fe from Jemez, Albuquerque and Belen requesting that these streams be restocked.

With the improved facilities in the way of hotel accommodations and camping improvements, the number of campers and travelers will increase, and for the sportsmen of the state who annually visit the Jemez to find the streams stocked will prove a heavy blow for the region.

The Jemez region is the recreation center of those who cannot afford trips to expensive resorts, or those who desire to rest amid beautiful scenery and pleasant surroundings.

Immediate action toward restocking these rivers is hoped for.

GIRLS AND FLASKS.

It is difficult to believe the warning of Chicago authorities that they mean to arrest girls carrying flasks was issued seriously. It is not likely that any considerable number of Chicago society maids are so far gone that they must substitute the liquor bottle for the vanity bag. The whole should not be judged by the few.

Americans in Europe get a bad name generally because of the many "high rollers" of both sexes who spend their money and make a show of themselves in ways that do anything but reflect upon the folks back home. Anybody in the United States knows that the American who frequents European gambling halls, the race tracks, the watering places and worse is not representative of America. But you couldn't make many a resident of Europe believe that.

So with our girls as a whole. The minority who wear abbreviated costumes, dance natty dances and drink to an extent that makes them noticeable should not be permitted to besmirch the good name of the millions of American young women who are just as good as the mothers or straight-laced grandmothers who are held up as examples of all that womanhood should be. It is safe to say that a comparatively small group of Chicago young women "tote a bottle," and if they do they will carry it where a policeman will not be likely to detect the fact.

FINANCIAL PARLEY NEEDED.

The request of the German government for a moratorium in the payment of reparations threatens—or promises, as the view may be—to open up the whole question of financial readjustment in Europe and throughout the world. The British cabinet has the proposition under consideration, and indications are that the Lloyd George government will be open-minded if Germany is able to institute economic reforms that justify confidence that she will later be able to resume payments upon a sound basis. If Britain approves, Italy may be expected to concur, but France is almost certain to be hostile.

Almost every allied nation has a different point of view on the reparations question. France, so sorely stricken, is frankly dependent in a large degree upon collections from Germany for her own rehabilitation. Britain looks rather to an early return of economic and industrial stability for her own restoration. The United States, not interested directly in reparations, nevertheless can not be blind to the fact that if some of our debtors do not collect from Germany they are unlikely soon to pay us.

It is becoming clearer daily that an international financial and economic congress is nearly imperative. In such a congress Germany would almost of necessity have to sit, but the reparations question would be only one of the many with which it would be called upon to deal.

HOG-KILLING TIME.

Notice that smoke rising over behind the farm house? Hear that porker squeal? Hog-killing time is here. Like laws of the Medes and Persians that change not, the proper time for butchering varies not at all. Each day now at some farm kitchen are taken down from the garret, cleaned and inspected, ladies gathered together, knives sharpened and everything made ready. Then the next day butchering is on with an early start. Early, because there is more to be done than can be accomplished in one day, and also because one of the time-honored customs of butchering day is to get hogs on the skewers early.

But the meals at butchering time—whole juicy tenderloins, pork chops, all the pies and cakes, dried corn, beans, pickles, mashed potatoes, preserves made from strawberries gathered over on the hill last spring, jellies from the currants and raspberries up in the patch, canned fruits from those trees out in the orchard, home-made bread, fresh and crackly—all you can eat of whatever you can think of for dinner; and then at supper the same menu again, with plenty of fresh sausage, seasoned with coriander and spices, in addition to the dinner's offerings.

And, when all is finished, the larder is filled for cold days with food that the city dwellers covet and can not buy. And it's a fine thing to know that, come what may, come woe, there is meat enough in the brine or larder or smokehouse to keep the wolf from the door another year.

The farmer may lack for cash these days, but he has food and shelter past wishing.

COPPER MARKET IMPROVES.

Sections of New Mexico are so dependent upon the operation of copper mines for their prosperity that they are certain to receive with joy the news of a steady improvement in the copper industry.

Particularly in the matter of exports is the situation encouraging. In September, 1920, the United States exported 12,312 net tons, as against 21,859 net tons in the same month this year. In October, 1920, the exports reached 11,651 net tons. This year the total was 26,243 for that month.

The export gain is gratifying. It means renewed activity at the copper producing points. It is unfortunate, however, that the demand in this country is slow in developing as it should. If the industries in America which use copper were increasing their demand to keep pace with foreign countries, we should shortly see a return to normal production at all our mines—a condition which would greatly benefit New Mexico.

CHEAPER COAL.

Coal prices in Albuquerque seem about to tumble. Announcements are being made of reductions of from $1.00 to $1.25 a ton. These follow, if they do not quite meet, the reduction of $1.85 announced a week ago in Raton.

The action will be duly appreciated by the people. Everyone has felt the burden of coal prices. Labor generally has been opposed to reductions in pay when the cost of living has been cut so little.

The cut in the coal price will help some. Rents are likely to follow. The cost of wearing apparel has been reduced. It begins to look as though we may have a "Merry Christmas" combined with a day of thanksgiving.

NO TIME TO PICK A JOB.

A friend of Albuquerque has suggested an editorial based on the following quotation from Emerson: "Do not refuse the employment which the hour brings you for the one more ambitious." He thinks the advice applicable to the present moment in which, he says, some young chaps are trying to pick their jobs and in so doing are reduced to idleness.

If that is a fact, though some may dispute it, certainly Emerson's advice is not to be thrust aside. After all, doing something worth while, even if it is not ideal, is infinitely better than to do nothing. It would be a mistake to twist this thought into a doctrine that it is foolish to have ambitions. But there are times when the latitude of choice is limited and it would be a contemptible sort of father who rather than accept an unpleasant task would permit his family to starve. Or it would be a poor sportsman who now being assigned to play right end on the eleven would refuse to play left end.

There are probably not a great many men out of employment today because they are fastidious about the work they are willing to do, but even if there should be one he would be a reprehensible idler and unworthy of sympathy.

LUCK TO ARIZONA.

The football eleven from the University of Arizona will meet the famous "Praying Colonels" from Centre College in Kentucky. The Journal wishes the "Wildcats" luck—not that we have anything against Centre, but merely from our desire that eastern critics may have more regard for the brand of football played in the west.

Arizona played here this fall. She displayed a splendid team. New Mexico was beaten, but the margin between the two teams was hardly as great as the score indicated.

Centre has taken the measure of Harvard and many other eastern teams. Should Arizona play the "Colonels" to a close score it would reflect creditably upon the brand of football played in New Mexico and in the Rocky Mountain district.

Strength to your arms, "Wildcats."

VERSE OF TODAY

HIS REAL NAME.

Young January being poor wears nothing but his skin.
While February in a robe of ermine rare comes in,
March shivers in a worn brown cloak, and April,
In folded in a rainbow scarf with snowdrops in her hair.

May dons the apple blossom's pink and June the rose's red,
July in faded overalls picks cherries for his bread,
And August treads the sunny fields a stately Indian queen.

Apparelled like the standing corn in silken gold and green,
September, purple centured, bears a basket piled with grapes,
Dark amethystine globes from which a juicy dew escapes.

October is a cavalier, so flaunts a crimson plume,
November, telling beads of rain, is cowed in fog and gloom.
But when December comes, behold! he's whiskered,
hooped, furred.

His ringing laughter like the sound of merry bells is heard.
His arms are filled with many gifts and holly wreaths because
The little children knew him first and named him
Santa Claus.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

"AMBASSADORS OF STATES."

(From the New York Tribune.)
The conference of the governors in its thirteenth session can point to a not inconsiderable record of achievement, but it has before it an immensely larger opportunity for further usefulness. In purely political fashion, and with only moral influence, it may serve the purpose which statesmen of Calhoun's school imputed to the senate of the United States—namely, that of being a congress of ambassadors of the states.

There are many useful things which such an ambassadorial body may accomplish. Almost every state has done or has tried to do things that other states have not undertaken. It is profitable for the inexperienced to hear about them and about their success or failure. Then there is the standardization of law and practice in matters of interstate interest, the number of which, by the way, is constantly increasing.

For example, uniformity of laws and practice is needed in the control of traffic on the highways. Years ago the matter was negligible. Highway laws were of the most primitive description, and interstate traffic was the merest fraction of what it is today. Now there are elaborate codes concerning the speed, the lighting, and what not of motor vehicles, and these too often vary materially between adjoining states.

To drive from New Haven, Conn., to Richmond, Va., is to traverse seven states, besides the District of Columbia, and thus be successively subjected to seven different highway codes. A traveler might break the law in one state for doing what it was quite legal for him to do an hour before. Relief from the vexation of such a diversity of law and practice is to be found in co-operation and uniformity among the states. And the same question of uniformity presents itself in many cases.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND FLOPPY'S BALLOON.

"How are you feeling this morning, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Floppy. "I'm feeling fine," answered Uncle Wiggily. "But you look a little tired."

"Why, I feel quite happy," answered Mr. Longears. "My rheumatism doesn't pain me at all, I'm glad to say, and I—"

"How is your health?" went on Floppy. "Asking you pardon for interrupting you," he added, politely. "But have you lots of wind this morning, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Do you want me to run a race?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "If you do, Floppy, I think I can win. For a rabbit is a faster jumper than a pig is a runner, though I have seen you and Curly run very well in playing ball."

"Oh, I don't want to have a running race," grunted Floppy, who had been given that name because one ear flopped over on the side, while the other stood up straighter. "I just asked if you had good wind for blowing."

"Why, I think I have pretty good wind for blowing," laughed the bunny. "Do you want me to blow a bubble for you?"

"But just now I'd like to have you come to the store with me and blow up my toy balloon. I'm going to buy one. Mother gave me the money and I'll have just time enough to stop at the store and get a rubber balloon before school."

"Oh, Floppy! You wouldn't think of taking a toy balloon to school with you, would you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "The lady mouse teacher wouldn't like it."

"Oh, but she asked me to bring a balloon!" said the piglet boy. "Bless my pink, twinkling nose! I'm going to give lessons in blowing up toy balloons!"

"Uncle Wiggily, they do queer things in school now—cooking and making dresses and the like of that—but I never heard of classes in ballooning."

"No, this is just one balloon the lady mouse teacher wants," explained Floppy. "She wants me to bring a big, round blown-up one so she can show the geography class how the earth we live on looks—round like a ball, you know."

"Some of the children think the earth is flat, but teacher says it's round, like a ball, and she wants me to bring one so she can show it. But I'm not strong enough to blow the balloon up big enough, so I asked you to do it."

"And most gladly I'll do so," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I may have some fun and an adventure out of it. But why doesn't the monkey teacher bring the monkey balloon to school?"

"He says he would never have time to breathe if he blew up all the balloons we fellows buy," explained Floppy. "So he sells them to us all flat and flabby, and we blow them up ourselves. Only this time teacher wants an extra big balloon, and I know I couldn't blow it."

"Oh, I'll blow the balloon all right, Floppy," said the bunny. "I'll be glad to do it!"

Eager to get the toy and anxious to please the lady mouse teacher, Floppy hurried along with the bunny gentleman. Soon they reached the monkey teacher's store.

"A big balloon, is it?" chattered the monkey teacher. "Well, I have 'em, but blow 'em up yourself! I have no time. Now, what color do you want?"

"First Floppy thought he would take a green one, then he picked out red, then blue and then yellow, until finally Uncle Wiggily said: 'You'll be late for school if you don't pick out one quickly, Floppy. Here, I'll take a green one for you and blow it up for the color of the earth is green in spring when it is most beautiful.'"

So the bunny gentleman picked out the largest green balloon he could find and began to blow it up. And as he was blowing Uncle Wiggily happened to glance at the clock.

"My goodness Floppy!" he cried. "It's nearly 11! You'll be late! Oh, how can I get you to school on time?"

"Never mind that! Teacher will excuse me for being late if I bring the monkey balloon!"

"Away the wind blew them the monkey gentleman. 'Well, I have 'em, but blow 'em up yourself! I have no time. Now, what color do you want?'"

"First Floppy thought he would take a green one, then he picked out red, then blue and then yellow, until finally Uncle Wiggily said: 'You'll be late for school if you don't pick out one quickly, Floppy. "First Floppy thought he would take a green one, then he picked out red, then blue and then yellow, until finally Uncle Wiggily said: 'You'll be late for school if you don't pick out one quickly, Floppy. Here, I'll take a green one for you and blow it up for the color of the earth is green in spring when it is most beautiful.'"

So the bunny gentleman picked out the largest green balloon he could find and began to blow it up. And as he was blowing Uncle Wiggily happened to glance at the clock.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

HAINES' WARNING.

It's Dry Law Haines who now explains that bootleg drinks are deadly; so let's eschew the poisoned brew, and cease to paint things redly. This Dry Law Haines is taking pains to warn us of our danger; he hates to see the graveyard tea kill off the pilgrim stranger. The bootleg drinks are made by ginks who are not moral dandies, and he is wise to all their ryes, their hounsons, gins and brandies. Of poisons dire and kind fire they are a sinful medley, and Brother Haines, he still maintains that bootleg drinks are deadly. And Comrade Haines, a man of brains, should know of what he's speaking, he tells among the jug and bung and spigot sadly leaking. He samples rye and finds it lye, all kinds of booze he handles; he finds one brew has liquid glue, put in by Goths and Vandals. "Oh, lakes and janes," cries Helpful Haines, "let's all apply the swatter to those who sell this broth of hell that makes the reason totter. It strikes men blind and wrecks the mind that once was grand and gaudy; so let us flay the heartless yolk who sells this bone-yard toddy." Thus speaketh Haines; applause he gains from sane and sober thinkers who've marked the fate that seems to wait for bootleg whiskey drinkers.

"The big balloon!" squealed the piglet boy. "Blow it up, Uncle Wiggily! Blow it up good and big!"

Uncle Wiggily took a look at the balloon. It was the size of two washbubs and then, suddenly, it began to rise in the air, taking Uncle Wiggily with it.

"Quick, Floppy! Catch hold of my coat tails and come along!" cried the bunny. "The balloon is lifting me up and the wind will blow us right to the hollow stump school. When I get over it, I'll let out some air and we'll come gently down. Up in the air rose the bunny, hanging to the balloon. Up rose Floppy, clinging to the bunny's coat tails. Away the wind blew them to the school and when over it Uncle Wiggily let out some air, he and Floppy came gently down. Floppy, hanging to the bunny's coat tails, and Floppy wasn't a bit late.

"Just in time," said the lady mouse teacher, as Uncle Wiggily took the balloon inside for the geography class, who soon saw that the earth was round like a balloon or ball. And if the dish towel and run away with the basket, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jackie's band.

"Oh, but she asked me to bring a balloon!" said the piglet boy. "Bless my pink, twinkling nose! I'm going to give lessons in blowing up toy balloons!"

"Uncle Wiggily, they do queer things in school now—cooking and making dresses and the like of that—but I never heard of classes in ballooning."

"No, this is just one balloon the lady mouse teacher wants," explained Floppy. "She wants me to bring a big, round blown-up one so she can show the geography class how the earth we live on looks—round like a ball, you know."

"Some of the children think the earth is flat, but teacher says it's round, like a ball, and she wants me to bring one so she can show it. But I'm not strong enough to blow the balloon up big enough, so I asked you to do it."

"And most gladly I'll do so," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I may have some fun and an adventure out of it. But why doesn't the monkey teacher bring the monkey balloon to school?"

"He says he would never have time to breathe if he blew up all the balloons we fellows buy," explained Floppy. "So he sells them to us all flat and flabby, and we blow them up ourselves. Only this time teacher wants an extra big balloon, and I know I couldn't blow it."

"Oh, I'll blow the balloon all right, Floppy," said the bunny. "I'll be glad to do it!"

Eager to get the toy and anxious to please the lady mouse teacher, Floppy hurried along with the bunny gentleman. Soon they reached the monkey teacher's store.

"A big balloon, is it?" chattered the monkey teacher. "Well, I have 'em, but blow 'em up yourself! I have no time. Now, what color do you want?"

"First Floppy thought he would take a green one, then he picked out red, then blue and then yellow, until finally Uncle Wiggily said: 'You'll be late for school if you don't pick out one quickly, Floppy. Here, I'll take a green one for you and blow it up for the color of the earth is green in spring when it is most beautiful.'"

So the bunny gentleman picked out the largest green balloon he could find and began to blow it up. And as he was blowing Uncle Wiggily happened to glance at the clock.

"My goodness Floppy!" he cried. "It's nearly 11! You'll be late! Oh, how can I get you to school on time?"

"Never mind that! Teacher will excuse me for being late if I bring the monkey balloon!"

"Away the wind blew them the monkey gentleman. 'Well, I have 'em, but blow 'em up yourself! I have no time. Now, what color do you want?'"

"First Floppy thought he would take a green one, then he picked out red, then blue and then yellow, until finally Uncle Wiggily said: 'You'll be late for school if you don't pick out one quickly, Floppy. THE MARKETS

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 14.—Stocks were mainly higher at the outset of today's diversified session, becoming hesitant profit taking at midday and steadying on short covering at the close.

Standard or representative issues continued to be overshadowed by the prominence of various specialities and miscellaneous issues, some of which registered high prices of the year.

Oils, coppers, motors and numerous related specialties supplied a preponderant proportion of the day's operations. Moton was helped by the declaration of the regular dividend on Chandler and signs of active revival in the tire industry.

Trading in rails was negligible and several favorite steels and equipments reacted moderately in anticipation of poor returns for the final quarter of the year. Sales, $35,000 shares.

United States war bonds were active features of the bond market. Liberty third 4 1/2 at $95.30 and Victory 4 1/2 at $100.04, making new high records for the year. Elsewhere trading in bonds was less active and slightly reactionary.

Total sales par value, $17,250,000. Closing prices:

The result of the canvass for Christmas packages on the Heights Sunday was about one-half ton of clothing, toys and food stuffs, which was promptly delivered to the Elks.
