DEVELOPMENTS AT THE ARMS CUT CONFERENCE TAKE A HOPEFUL TURN

FRANCE'S SHIP BUILDING PLAN NOT APPROVED BY GOVERNMENT

Announcement Seems to Have Been Made in Washington Without the Approval of Paris; Conversations Between China and Japan Bring the Shantung Controversy Nearly to a Settlement.

Washington, Dec. 17. (By The Associated Press.)—Conference developments took a new and hopeful turn tonight when it became known that the French ten-ship building plan was submitted without the approval of the Paris government and that direct conversations between China and Japan had brought the Shantung controversy nearly to a settlement.

Naval subcommittee action toward a five-ship pact on naval limitation was an answer to Premier Briand on both the ten-ship project submitted by French delegates here, and upon the joint counter proposal concurred in by Great Britain, the United States, Japan and Italy, that France accept a capital ship strength of 175,000 tons as compared to her present 154,000 tons in dreadnaughts.

A three-hour session of the subcommittee today was largely taken up by Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation, in presenting the French naval experts now here. Secretary Hughes made a brief reply tending to stimulate good feeling among the committee members. The official communiqué, however, would admit nothing beyond the facts that the committee met, talked, adjourned and would meet again.

Settlement of the Shantung problem apparently depends on satisfactory arrangement of a few details involved in Japanese return of the Tsin-Tao-Tsinfu rail road in the Kiaochow leasehold.

Further information was received today by the Japanese delegates and although their exact nature was not disclosed there was evident tonight among both Japanese and Chinese a feeling that agreement was only a question of hours.

Paris Is Informed. To the French proposals for a new fleet of ten 35,000-ton capital ships, which planned conference delegates when they first became known yesterday, it was learned that they were framed here by direction of Admiral de Bon, chief French naval expert, under his authority from the general staff to present the views of the French naval general staff. Premier Briand and former Premier Viviani both had left before the proposals were framed. The Paris government has been informed by cable of the situation.

It was evident tonight that the 175,000-ton capital ship limitation France was proposed by the American delegation originally. Italy's spokesman in the subcommittee, Senator Schanzer, replied that Italy accepted the American proposal of view as to tonnage, and would be satisfied with 175,000 tons if France accepted that figure.

Position of Italians. The position of the Italian delegation, as it is understood to have been developed, is that Italy had two principles to maintain in the naval ratio discussion, one that the Italian navy should be on an equality with that of any other power in the Mediterranean, and two, that the Italian ratio should be as low as possible for Italy's purely defensive purposes. Italy's acceptance to the American 175,000-ton

FREIGHT RATES NOT EXCESSIVE SAYS CHAMBERS

Current Earnings Are Only 3.04 Per Cent on the Valuation of Western Carriers, He Tells I. C. C.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 17.—On completion by the railroads tonight of preliminary statistical arguments against rate reductions, the interstate commerce commission adjourned its investigation into the rates until January 2. Alfred P. Thayer, of the Association of Railways, gave notice that R. M. Allen, president of the American Association of Shippers, would then be given testimony as to the effect of the economy of the carrier operation. Shipper representatives and state and local experts will also be given an opportunity to cross-examine witnesses.

Edward Chambers, vice president of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe, argued for western carriers that the present rates considered too high since figures developed by L. E. Wetling, manager of their traffic bureau, showed current earnings to be 3.04 per cent on valuation of their property. As to traffic, he expressed the opinion that the business "had reached bottom," but that until European buying begins on a larger scale, business cannot be increased.

UNITED STATES TO GET GERMAN BUILT ZEPPELIN

Council of Ambassadors Grants Permission to Have One Constructed; May Start Work in Jan.

(By The Associated Press.) Paris, Dec. 17.—The council of ambassadors today granted permission to the United States to contract for the construction of a Zepplin of the L-7 type. This decision marks the end of diplomatic negotiations, which have proceeded between the allied powers and the United States since July last.

COUNCIL'S DECISION WAS NOT EXPECTED

Washington, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—The decision of the council of ambassadors at Paris to permit the United States to contract for the construction of a Zepplin to take the place of one allotted to America and later destroyed, was expected by state department officials conversant with the negotiations.

The plans for the German rigid airship to be constructed for the United States at Friedrichshafen, which was the largest of the war-time craft such as the L-70, 71 and 72, built in 1918 and 1920.

All three of the airships were of 2,400,000 cubic feet volume, almost as large as the recently lost ZR-3. The new Zepplin will be 400 feet long, 100 feet high and 100 feet wide, with a total weight of 59 per cent of the total weight of these ships. The ships carried a crew of thirty men each.

(Pat) Arbuckle of murdering Virginia Rappe, was granted today one year probation when she appeared in court for sentence on a charge of perjury. She pleaded guilty last week.

POLICE DRAGNET FAILS TO SHARE GUNMAN WHO FLED CHICAGO JAIL

Chicago, Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Police have practically given up hope of locating "Lucky Tommy" O'Connor, desperate gunman, and his cell mate, Edward Darrow, whose recent escape from the Cook county jail only a few days before the date set for O'Connor's execution has provoked a triple inquiry into conditions at the county jail.

County authorities had known for a week that O'Connor was ready to make a dash for liberty at any moment, according to a statement issued by the Chicago crime commission. The commission scored an official laxity and charged that a convicted criminal, now at liberty on an appeal bond, had been in conference every day for some time before O'Connor's escape with a high jail official.

COURT TO KNOCK OUT ONE CHARGE IN SMALL CASE

Allegation That Governor Operated a Confidence Game Won't Be Upheld, Says Judge Edwards.

(By The Associated Press.) Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—With announcement by the court that he had decided one charge—that of operating a confidence game—would not be upheld, arguments on the motion to quash the indictment against Governor Len Small and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park, Ill., banker, closed today.

Judge C. C. Edwards announced he was in accord with the contention of the defense that the confidence game charge was faulty, the state having failed to allege commission of a felony through omission of the word "feloniously."

With this charge eliminated there remains eighteen counts against Mr. Curtis and twenty-four against Governor Small, charging them with embezzlement of state funds and conspiracy. Judge Edwards probably will hand down his decision on the motion to quash these counts next Friday or Saturday.

In the remaining indictments there are twelve counts of conspiracy against each defendant, twelve of embezzlement against the governor and six of embezzlement against Mr. Curtis. Six counts charge Mr. Small with embezzling $500,000 while state treasurer and six counts charge the governor and Mr. Curtis, together with Lieut. Gov. P. E. Sterling, with embezzling $700,000. The conspiracy indictment names all three in an alleged conspiracy involving $2,000,000 of state funds.

WARSAW ARREST IS EXPECTED TO SOLVE GOTHAM'S BLAST MYSTERY

Wolfe Lindenfeld Has Made Full Confession Regarding Wall Street Bomb Explosion in 1920.

RINGLEADERS' NAMES FURNISHED OFFICIALS

Movements Since He Left U. S. Have Been Traced, Except for a Month, on Which He Remains Silent

(By The Associated Press.) Warsaw, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—Further statements relative to the Wall street bomb explosion have been made by Wolfe Lindenfeld, arrested by the Polish police yesterday on suspicion of having been implicated in the explosion, and who made a full confession, giving the names of the ringleaders and other information. These statements are being translated into English.

According to Silvester Cosgrove, of the American department of justice, at whose request the arrest was made, Lindenfeld has avoided questions concerning his whereabouts on the day of the explosion.

He admits, however, he was in Manhattan and to the direct question: "Where were you at the time of the explosion?" he made the reply: "Up town."

The suspect, the American agent said, did not tell all concerning his New York connections. His movements since he left New York have been fully traced, except for one month, on which he is silent.

Commission made by Lindenfeld, is that in August he went to Moscow, spending six weeks there.

ARREST IS THE KEY TO SOLUTION OF MYSTERY

Washington, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—The arrest in Warsaw of Wolfe Lindenfeld will clear up the entire mystery of the Wall street bomb explosion of September 16, 1920, it was stated positively today by William J. Burns, head of the department of justice's bureau of investigation.

Lindenfeld, whose arrest was reported to the department by the Associated Press, was described by Mr. Burns as the key to the solution of the mystery and "the only man that we know in the world that knows all about it."

Mr. Burns declared that Lindenfeld himself was not implicated in the explosion but was so close to the radical elements who were the perpetrators that he knew all about it. The third international, Mr. Burns said, was the moving spirit behind the plot.

Lindenfeld, according to Mr. Burns, was abroad originally on behalf of the justice department to obtain information which would lead to the arrest of those responsible for the explosion. When no report was received from him, Mr. Burns said, Silvester Cosgrove, one of the department's agents, was sent out to find out why Lindenfeld was not sending the information promised and the arrest followed.

Rudicals in Europe as well as in the United States, Mr. Burns asserted, were under surveillance by the department for suspected connection with the explosion and if the information could be obtained from Lindenfeld proves to be as expected, arrests are in immediate prospect.

Lindenfeld, Mr. Burns explained, was the representative in New York before his departure abroad of radical Polish papers and also was one of the representatives in America of Lenin and the third international. He was recommended to the Bureau detective agency as the man who knew most about the Wall street explosion and, Mr. Burns declared, a careful check had borne this out.

"He is the only man that we know in the world that knows all about it."

For this reason, Mr. Burns continued, Lindenfeld was sent abroad to get the necessary information to enable the arrest of the participants in the bomb plot and was to have received the $30,000 reward for these disclosures. He was described by Mr. Burns as a highly educated and intellectual man of pronounced radical tendencies, although he did not himself advocate violent measures. He is about 36 years old and has a wife and two children now in New York, and is a half brother of Rosa Luxemburg. He went by the name of William Linden in this country. Mr. Burns added, had taken out his first citizenship papers and an effort was made to obtain his second papers for him before he went abroad. He is a Pole by birth. Mr. Burns continued, and was compelled to leave Russia in 1906 because of his radical connections.

BERTRAND IS HEAD OF FEDERATION OF VETS

(By The Associated Press.) Paris, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—Deputy C. W. Bertrand was re-elected president of the Inter-Allied Veterans Federation at the second annual conference held at the Hotel de Ville, Paris, today. Bertrand, who is a Frenchman, was re-elected first vice president.

CAN SEND WIRELESS MESSAGE DIRECT TO A DEFINITE STATION

(By The Associated Press.) Moscow, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—Discovery of a method whereby wireless messages may be sent to a definite receiving station without the danger of being picked up by other stations, is claimed in an announcement by the official press bureau.

A Ukrainian electrical engineer named Chayko is responsible for the discovery. It is stated that, by means of a simple apparatus, he straightens out and groups what are termed the "locked power lines" of the magnetic field into parallel rays.

ALBANIA NOT IN THE MARKET FOR A KING, CLAIMS

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—A. A. Chetkoff, Albanian consul-general in the United States today issued a statement denying his country was "in the market for a king," or that the throne would be offered to Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, of this city.

Referring to reports published yesterday that the offer had been made by the Albanian government, Chetkoff said: "There is no question of the Albanian government's wishing to state most emphatically that neither I nor any one, as far as I know, has ever been commissioned by the government of Albania or any party to open any negotiations or make an offer of the crown of Albania to any one."

"Aside from the fact that the present parliament has never made any such decision, it has, moreover, no authority to deal with the question of changing the present form of government, which is left to the decision of the constituent assembly which will draw the constitution of the country."

Referring to reports published yesterday that the offer had been made by the Albanian government, Chetkoff said: "There is no question of the Albanian government's wishing to state most emphatically that neither I nor any one, as far as I know, has ever been commissioned by the government of Albania or any party to open any negotiations or make an offer of the crown of Albania to any one."

SEA COLLISION WILL BE PROBED BY NAVAL BOARD

Investigation Will Be Made of the Crash Between Passenger Liner Panama and U. S. Destroyer.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 17.—A naval board of inquiry into the collision of the destroyer Graham and the passenger liner Panama off Seagirt, N. J., last night probably will be named next week, it was announced today at the office of Admiral H. P. Jones, commander of the Atlantic fleet.

The seven naval officers injured when the Graham's plates were crushed in by the liner's bow, one, W. P. Kelly, 20 years old, seaman first class, is not expected to live, it was said.

Responsibility for the collision was charged to the commander of the destroyer by Edwin A. Drake, vice president of the Panama railway steamship line, operators of the Panama, who said that the Graham sought to cross the bow of the liner. Capt. William F. Amundson, the Graham's commander, and other naval officers reserved their explanations of the crash pending appearance before the board of inquiry.

It was reported that the Graham's bow was damaged and that the liner's bow was damaged. The Graham's bow was damaged and that the liner's bow was damaged. The Graham's bow was damaged and that the liner's bow was damaged.

INDEPENDENCE FOR THE PHILIPPINES IS FAVORED BY NATIVES

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 17.—Independence for the Philippines was advocated by J. C. DeVera and Isidro Gahaldon, resident Philippine commissioners, who in statements forwarded to President Harding, declared that the natives of the islands "world events make the present time propitious" for the granting of independence.

They contended that the four-power treaty affecting the Pacific "removes any reason of fear for the safety of a Philippine republic."

They also referred to action of Great Britain in offering to make Ireland a free state as "marking the program of new freedom to subject peoples."

REJECTION BY DAIL IS BOLAND'S PREDICTION

Washington, Dec. 17.—Rejection by the dail eireann of the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain, creating the Irish free state and the possibility of a plebiscite of the Irish people on the matter were predicted today as probable developments of the Anglo-Irish situation by Harry Boland, unofficial envoy from the dail to the United States, in addressing the executive committee of the Association for the Recognition of the Irish republic.

Edward L. Doherty, of Los Angeles, president of the organization, headed the committee, which met to determine whether the organization should be dissolved in view of developments, and delegates from thirty-five states attended.

An assurance of support for the Irish cause was given by the dail eireann, coupled with congratulations to the Irish people on the "magnificent struggle they have waged."

STEPMOTHER OF 2 GIRLS WHOSE BODIES WERE FOUND ON FRIDAY IN A CISTERN, UNDER ARREST

Mrs. Frieda Zimmerman of Waukesha, Wis., Claims Children Were Drowned While Attempting to Rescue a Duck; Admits She Took No Steps to Assist Them.

(By The Associated Press.) Waukesha, Wis., Dec. 17.—Mrs. Frieda Zimmerman, stepmother of Ruth Zimmerman, seven, and Elmer, nine, whose bodies were found Friday in a cistern at the Zimmerman home in Oconomowoc, was arrested today on a warrant charging murder.

After questioning Mrs. Zimmerman at the Oconomowoc jail, where she was being held following the finding of the bodies, county authorities took her to the home and told her to re-enact what had happened. Mrs. Zimmerman, they stated, told several conflicting stories, but in the main her version was that she and the children were driving ducks when one of the ducks fell into the cistern. The children, she said, attempted to rescue the duck and fell in.

Coroner F. L. Lee charged that Mrs. Zimmerman admitted she took no steps to help the children and that she told no one of the tragedy until her husband came home.

Mrs. Zimmerman told the officers that he and his wife had quarreled last Sunday and that Mrs. Zimmerman

ENGLAND FEELS CERTAIN IRISH ASSEMBLY WILL ACCEPT TREATY

Unexplained Prolonged Secret Debates in Dublin, However, Beginning to Cause Some Anxiety.

NEW NEGOTIATIONS ARE A POSSIBILITY

London Hears That Important Modifications of the Pact Are to Be Suggested by Sinn Feiners.

(By The Associated Press.) London, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—There was no diminution of confidence here today that the Anglo-Irish treaty ultimately will be accepted by the dail eireann, or by the Irish people if a referendum should become necessary. But the unexplained prolongation of the secret debates in Dublin has begun to cause some anxiety.

Unrest was increased today by rumors of important modifications of the treaty to be suggested from Dublin, entailing possibility of new negotiations.

Should this course be adopted, however, here seems to know how the government would meet it. During debate on the treaty in the house of commons, Premier Lloyd George declared that an attempt by parliament to modify the treaty would destroy it and necessitate a new conference.

Presumably modifications by the dail would have the same effect. There was much political gossip in the lobby of parliament yesterday after the vote was taken concerning the government's reason for not proroguing parliament, many members apparently not believing that the government was explaining that it was not necessary to wait for the dail's decision.

WILL RATIFY TREATY BELIEF IN DUBLIN

Dublin, Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—The dail eireann remained in secret session until late tonight in an endeavor to settle the political difficulties among its members with the prospects that they might come out into public session on Monday, reconciled at least to the extent of presenting a solid front in their attitude toward the Anglo-Irish treaty.

There appeared to be no question but that the treaty would be ratified, but in view of the fact that so many members wish to proclaim their positions, it was considered hardly likely that a final vote could be taken before Wednesday.

If agreement from other parts of Ireland may be accepted as correct, the general public apparently is becoming irritated at the delay. These reports indicate that the general Irish public is probably to be satisfied with the treaty, and let the leaders of the opposing factions settle their political fights afterwards.

Rejection by Dail Is Boland's Prediction. Washington, Dec. 17.—Rejection by the dail eireann of the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain, creating the Irish free state and the possibility of a plebiscite of the Irish people on the matter were predicted today as probable developments of the Anglo-Irish situation by Harry Boland, unofficial envoy from the dail to the United States, in addressing the executive committee of the Association for the Recognition of the Irish republic.

JOURNALS BIG XMAS GIFT CAMPAIGN WILL END NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT AT 10

The Albuquerque Morning Journal's Great Auto and Prize Campaign Ends at 10 O'clock Next Thursday Night, December 22nd—Studebaker Sedan, Studebaker Touring Car, Three Chevrolet Touring Cars, and Hundreds of Dollars in Cash to be Awarded to Active Participants—Greatest Campaign of its Kind Ever Conducted in State of New Mexico—Sealed Ballot Box Is Now in Vaults of The Citizens National Bank, Where Candidates May Deposit Their Final Collections and Reserve Credits at Any Time—All Credit Ballots Must Be in Ballot Box Or in the Mail Before the Closing Hour of Campaign or They Will Not Be Counted—Read The Closing Rules Published in This Issue.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES

The ballot box in the big campaign is now located in the Citizens National Bank, has been locked and sealed and will not be opened until the final count, when it will be turned over to the judges.

The last count of votes to be made by the campaign department will take place tomorrow, Monday, December 19th, at 12 o'clock noon, and will appear in Tuesday's issue of The Journal.

All subscriptions secured by candidates during the last four days of the campaign, together with any reserve votes will be deposited in the sealed ballot box by the candidate in person.

UNDERSTAND THIS—Under no circumstances can votes or subscriptions be transferred from one candidate to another. This is an absolute rule and will be enforced to the letter.

Ninety-six hours remain of the campaign. This period of time may mean the winning or the losing of one of the biggest prizes in the entire list. LOSE NOT A MOMENT—GET BUSY.

REMEMBER—The big subscriptions count the most during the next four days—a six-year subscription turned in now counts 180,000 regular votes and 200,000 Extra Votes, or a total of 380,000 votes in all.

Six of these six-year subscriptions would mean 2,280,000 votes. Ten of them would give you 3,800,000 votes.

YOU HAVE FOUR MORE DAYS IN WHICH TO GET THE VOTES NECESSARY TO WIN—GET BUSY AND KEEP BUSY.

The Day of Days is almost here, Thursday night, December 22, is the last day of the Balloting.

When the clock points to the hour of 10 o'clock Thursday night, then will have ended the shortest, the greatest, the most liberal, and the hardest fought newspaper circulation campaign ever conducted in the state of New Mexico.

THURSDAY IS THE LAST CHANCE.

The stage is set; everything is in readiness for the overwhelming rush of subscriptions that will come. Every hour that remains has immense possibilities and every minute is vitally important.

Your supreme efforts today, tomorrow, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday may land the prize of your choice, for which you have been working and have set your heart on getting. The friends who have responded with supporting force can hardly refuse at this moment when a little help may prove a victory for you.

WILL BE A CLOSE RACE.

It has been predicted that this will be a race of narrow margins; hence every subscription, no matter how small, is valuable. Think what victory means to you in this race—luxury and pleasure—the best things that life holds out in store for some. WHO? Ah, that is a matter that only hustle and energy and organization ability will determine.

BEST WORKERS WILL WIN.

This has been a fairly fought campaign. It has been conducted along absolutely impartial lines. The best workers are going to win. Those who apply themselves during every minute of their spare time are the ones whose chances are the best. The battle of ballots has been waged at a heart-breaking pace these last few days, and many surprises may be sprung by the quiet but energetic workers. Who knows how many may have judged the campaign and placed it to the top since the votes were counted the last time by the campaign manager.

STILL TIME TO WIN.

This uncertainty has stimulated every candidate to increase his or her total vote to the limit of their ability, for each candidate has realized that their competitors are doing the same thing.

THURSDAY NIGHT AT 10 O'CLOCK.

Candidates in Albuquerque must have their campaign collections in the sealed ballot box by 10 o'clock next Thursday night. Candidates in Districts No. 1 and 2 (Territory outside of Bernalillo County), must have their collections in the mail before 10 o'clock Thursday night, and the letter must show by postmark that it was mailed by that time.

Every report sheet must be properly made out and accompanied by a remittance in cash to cover. No personal checks will be accepted, and if any are deposited in the ballot box, they will be thrown out and no votes issued. Cashiers' checks, money orders and currency will be accepted.

There is still time to make a winning race. Reward hovers near for those who have the stamina to grasp it. Only a little added work may place you among the happy circle who will be honored by one of the five touring cars to be awarded next Thursday night.

NOW IS THE TIME.

With the end of the campaign but a little more than 26 hours away, and the race apparently so close that a very few big subscriptions secured now from unexpected sources might be the very ones to stem the tide and turn it into a sweeping victory, candidates are straining every nerve in their final efforts for supremacy, while all Albuquerque and surrounding territory are pulling hard for their favorites.

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION NOW—For two or three or five years may prove to be the deciding factor in the race. Here's an opportunity to do a real kindness for your favorite candidate without costing you a single penny more than the paper costs at the regular rate. DON'T WAIT TO BE ASKED TO SUBSCRIBE. Send your subscription in NOW and have it credited to your favorite in the Albuquerque Morning Journal's big auto and gift campaign.

DO IT NOW—TODAY.

NEGRO MIGRATION TO NORTH IS INCREASING

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 17.—The total number of negroes reported as born in southern states and living in the north and west had increased from 410,124 in 1910, to 750,794 in 1920, the census bureau announced today in a special report on negro migration. The southern boundaries of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Kansas were taken as the dividing line between the north and south for the purpose of the report.

In the last census 155,399 negroes were enumerated. The total migration, 200,794 to the north and west constituted 8.3 per cent of southern born negroes. Against the migration from the south to the north and west, of the total of 741,791 reported in the last census as born in states of the latter section, 47 per cent, or 349,000, were living in the north. Thus the proportion of southern born negroes who migrated to the north or west, according to the report, was more than one-fourth larger than the proportion of those born in the latter region, who migrated to the south.

KANSAS COAL FIELDS ARE REPORTED QUIET

(By The Associated Press.)

Pittsburg, Kans., Dec. 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—After three days of military guard the Kansas coal fields were quiet tonight and smoke came out today from the stacks at many mines.

Claims as to how much coal was being mined continued to conflict. Adherents of the organization set up by International headquarters declared that production was better than it had been before the marching women brought operations to a halt for three days this week. Strike leaders asserted the work was virtually at a standstill in the mines and would continue so.

G. F. Wark, federal prohibition director, has been in the coal fields for twenty-four hours. He has made several arrests and captured a quantity of home-made wine and liquor.

12 MILLIONS IN VOLGA AREA ARE IN NEED OF AID

Relief of the Famine Is Almost Beyond the Capacity of Charitable Aid, Relief Director Says.

(By The Associated Press.)

London, Dec. 17.—Major Philip H. Carroll, Moscow director of the American relief administration, who has just arrived in London, told the newspaper men here that relief of the famine in the Volga provinces was almost beyond the capacity of charitable aid.

"Ever since June, 1919, I have been engaged upon relief work in Central Europe," he said, "but nowhere have conditions been as shocking as they are on the Volga today. In other countries undernourishment was the principal cause of distress, but here it is starvation pure and simple. Our estimate is that there are 12,000,000 requiring assistance. Our most sanguine hope is to be able to keep 1,000,000 children alive through this winter. For thousands there is absolutely no hope, and the aggregate amount of suffering will be something appalling."

"Though we even have to feed children in the streets of Moscow and Petrograd, the greatest need is in the villages where the failure of the crops is most acutely felt. It is not an exaggerated fiction—would that it were—that peasants are living on roots and bread made from a mixture of reeds and oily clay. I myself have handled this so-called bread and witnessed the terrible intestinal troubles resulting from the consumption of it."

"The soviet government is working very well indeed to relieve the distress. They have carried out 50 per cent of their seed-sowing program but at the most this cannot bring in more than one-sixth of the average summer yield. One of the most tragic things I have ever seen was the spectacle of those peasants, many of whom are facing starvation this winter, sowing their next year's grain. They admitted quite frankly that they would not live to see it harvested."

"The soviet stopped the dangerous movement of sending refugees to the cities by ransoming food from Moscow and the report that we have suffered from soviet pilfering is an utter nonsense. The pilfering has been negligible. Death is the deserved penalty for it."

Major Carroll is returning to Moscow at once. "The Volga is beginning to freeze," he said, "and no time can possibly be lost in getting food into the more remote provinces before the waterways are closed. There is a hard winter before us," he concluded.

QUIET CHRISTMAS FOR PRESIDENT AND WIFE

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 17.—A quiet Christmas in the White House will be observed by the president and Mrs. Harding, unless present plans are changed by unexpected developments. It was announced that the president would hang up his stocking "at home" and with the possible exception of attending church that Sunday, nothing would break the quietude of the holiday.

There is no Christmas in Japan.

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Although he did not ask for a radio, the general conclusion of some who heard him was that he was discussing his remarks toward a substitution of the formula 5-5-3 for that of the 5-5-3. He is understood to have said with emphasis that France would not be content with suggestions made outside the conference and to some extent inside that she should have an allotment of 175,000 tons in capital ships which would place her for the next ten years, he contended, in a position "greatly inferior" to England.

Mr. Hughes, at the conclusion of the session, spoke appreciatively of the spirit and the substance of Mr. Sarraut's remarks, making some allusion also to the part France had taken in the war.

WILL FILE SUIT TO HALT ENFORCEMENT OF INDUSTRY COURT LAW

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 17.—Suits will be filed soon to enjoin the enforcement of the Kansas industrial court law on the ground that it violates the state and federal constitutions by attempting to empower the court to fix wages and working conditions, and by making innocent acts a criminal conspiracy, said the first official announcement which was made here today, of the method adopted by the international organization of the United Mine Workers of America for its test of the Kansas law.

FRENCH, BRITISH PREMIERS WILL HOLD A PARLEY

Brind Leaves for London Today to Confer with Lloyd George on Reparations and Other Matters.

(By The Associated Press.) Paris, Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press).—Premier Brind plans to leave for London tomorrow in response to the invitation from Premier Lloyd George to discuss German reparations and other matters. He will be accompanied only by Philippe Berthelot, general secretary of the foreign office, in an official capacity.

Premier Brind, it is understood, regards the conversations with Mr. Lloyd George as informal.

Minister of Liberated Regions Luchaire, accompanied by two financial experts, also is going to London to confer with Sir Robert Horne, British chancellor of exchequer.

The French foreign office has issued the following announcement of the principles governing the conversations between the two premiers:

France is willing to abandon the London schedule of payments provided Germany pays an equivalent amount on a different form of schedule.

France will consider a reduction of the allied forces in the occupation of the Rhineland, and apply the money saved to reparations, provided Great Britain offers guarantee in the event of future German aggression.

France will assist in the improvement of the general economic situation, in common agreement, recognizing that Great Britain is as gravely concerned over trade prospects as France is on reparations, and will discuss lower tariffs and other similar problems.

France is ready to undertake any practical measures jointly with Great Britain towards the economic and industrial restoration of Germany; she recognizes as necessary British trade and French reparations.

While unwilling to accept a reduction in the reparations claims, France is prepared to grant Germany every possible facility to make deliveries.

IMPARTIAL CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD MONDAY

London, Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press).—Monday's conference between Premier Lloyd George and M. Brind, on reparations, is described by the newspapers as the most careful since the Versailles treaty was concluded.

The meeting was arranged before Germany's official declaration of her inability to pay reparations instalments, and there is a disposition in some sections of the press to regard the German move as a maneuver to bring pressure to bear on this meeting. This view is confined mainly to those newspapers known for their strong advocacy of a firmer alliance between Great Britain and France. The general opinion is that the British government has tried to meet its obligations and that it will be necessary to grant Germany a delay of a few months, if not actual moratorium.

According to the Evening Standard, Germany has offered to pay the allies on account the equivalent of $10,000,000 in January and $11,000,000 or 12,000,000 pounds in February, or about half the sum due.

That there are only two alternatives, is the common opinion here, either to grant a moratorium or insist that Germany is able to pay, the latter probably entailing the fall of the German government.

Sir John Bradbury, British representative in the reparations commission, it is reported in certain quarters, favors annulling the debt for military pensions.

It is thought that Monday's meeting might result in another convening of the supreme council.

DAIL EIREANN, LEADING IRELAND'S FIGHT FOR FREEDOM, MUST O. K. TREATY

The first "Irish Republic" parliament, or Dail Eireann, photographed before a recent session when it discussed the progress of peace negotiations.

The Dail Eireann, or parliament which was the only legislative body recognized by the Sinn Feiners in their fight for freedom, is now considering the treaty signed by the Irish delegates. The photo shows, bottom row, left to right: L. Ginnell, M. Collins, C. Brugha, A. Griffith, President De Valera, Count Plunket, E. MacNeill, W. Cosgrave, E. Bluthé. Second row: P. Maloney, I. McSwiney, D. M. Mulcahy, J. Doherty, J. O'Mahony, J. Dolan,

J. McGuinness, P. O'Keefe, M. Staines, J. McGrath, Dr. Cusack, L. De Roiste, W. Colivet, Father O'Flanagan, vice president of the republic. Third row: P. Ward, A. McCabe, D. Fitzgerald, J. Sweeney, Dr. Hayes, C. Collins, specifically because some decision to present to Germany must be made before the middle of January, when the instalment is due. Views, said to emanate from authoritative quarters, are expressed that the British government would be ready to forego its claim on German payments already in the hands of the reparations commission, the bulk of which is to come to England under the August agreement, which France has not yet ratified, and also withdraw any objections to the Wiesbaden agreement, if France is ready to take a course more in accordance with the ideas of the British government.

2 MEN ARE ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Dec. 17.—Two men giving their names as J. H. Schwartz and Max Goldstein were arrested here tonight by federal agents who charged that they had obtained goods valued at $500,000 from unsuspecting firms throughout the country for the last year. F. W. Hill, manager of the department of investigation of the National Association of Credit Men was instrumental in bringing about their arrest.

According to the federal agents, the men, who had been convicted in New York in 1918 for a similar offense, would establish an office in a city, take the name of a leading manufacturer and place orders for goods with firms in other cities. These firms, believing the merchants had moved their quarters, would ship the goods on credit, the men would dispose of them and leave the city.

FOOTPRINTS MADE BY GIANT DINOSAURS ARE FOUND ON SANDSTONE

South Hadley, Mass., Dec. 17.—The department of geology at Mount Holyoke college, in replacing collections lost by fire, has obtained a slab of Connecticut Valley sand stone on which are found fossilized mud cracks and ripple marks of bone ages and with them seven foot prints made by gigantic dinosaurs. The slab measures twelve feet by six feet.

The footprints show that at least two dinosaurs, one a big one, the other apparently its young, roamed over the mud flats on their hind-legs. The larger tracks are about eight inches long and indicate a stride of four or five feet.

ARREST ORDERED OF A WOMAN IN KANSAS STRIKE

(By The Associated Press.)

Pittsburg, Kans., Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press).—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mrs. William Howe, wife of the secretary of the Kansas Federation of Labor, Milt Gould, sheriff of Crawford county, announced tonight.

The warrant charges her with participation in an unlawful assembly in connection with the marching of women against the Kansas coal mines early this week.

According to a deputy sheriff Howe promised to bring his wife here for arraignment Monday.

The warrant came after a day of activity by state officials in proceeding against alleged leaders of the crowds of women whose demonstrations prevented men employed at a number of mines from going to work. Four women, alleged to have participated in the disorders and who were arrested yesterday, were released on bond today for appearance in district court January 5 to answer charges of rioting and unlawful assembly.

RECALLS DETAILS OF LIFE OF ROOSEVELT

(By The Associated Press.)

Paris, Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press).—Details of the life of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt were brought to the attention of the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences at its annual open sitting today by Charles Lyon-Caen, permanent secretary. Colonel Roosevelt was elected a member of the academy in 1909.

"Few presidencies have been marked with such a number of acts and events fortunate for the United States, and often also for other countries, as that of Colonel Roosevelt," he declared.

Referring to Roosevelt's actions during the war, he said, that with the outbreak of war in 1914 one of the most glorious periods in the life of the former president started.

A REVISION OF BASEBALL DRAFT RULES PROPOSED

Judge Landis Is Instructed to Present the Matter to the Minor Leagues, Who Are Holding Out.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 17.—Following a conference between the advisory council of the major leagues and representatives of the minors today proposals were prepared for a revision of the draft rules. Commissioner Landis was instructed to present the proposals to those minor leagues which at present do not recognize the draft. The conference was attended by Judge Landis, President Heydler of the National League; President Johnson of the American League and President Sexton, and Secretary Parrell, National Association of Baseball leagues. An official statement said:

"The question has arisen what to do about the draft. It is a principle of baseball that the player must advance in his profession according to his skill. To secure to him and to the game this result, the draft rule was devised. "Since the baseball reorganization of one year ago, certain leagues have declined to subscribe to the draft. These leagues are the American association, New International, Pacific Coast, Western and Three L. Recognizing the existence and operation of the draft as a fundamental, and believing a deviation from it anywhere, or to any extent would be a menace to the right of the player and the welfare of the game, the National and American league clubs have authorized the commissioner to present to the leagues the following as a fair basis for the settlement of this grave question:

"One player of each AA or A club shall be eligible to selection or draft after the close of the season, the selecting club to pay in cash upon exercising the right the sum of $5,000 to the AA club or $4,000 to the A club.

"In the event any selected player is released by a major league club within one year of his selection, the clubs of the AA and A leagues shall first have the right to secure his services upon paying to the releasing club one-half of the draft price paid by that club.

ONLY 16,400 PERSONS LISTED AS BEING OUT OF WORK IN FRANCE

(By The Associated Press.) Paris, Dec. 17.—There are only 16,500 persons officially recorded as out of employment in France. The nation is now in a position to receive foreign labor. Wages, however, are low in comparison to scales existing in greater industrial countries.

The situation is regarded as unusually good in view of widespread unemployment in Great Britain and other countries. Latest figures received by the French government show that there are 1,425,000 persons out of work in the United Kingdom.

So fortunate is the situation in France that it is now estimated that the country can employ 1,600,000 foreign workmen, compared with 600,000 before the war. The greater portion of these would be sent to the farms and the remainder used in the building trade, mines and other industries.

A bill to regulate the importation of foreign labor into France will shortly be introduced in the chamber. The measure creates a special bureau under the ministry of foreign affairs to regulate the importation of foreign labor without hardship to the native workers.

LAST OBSTACLE TO THE ERECTION OF NEW PARK FOR YANKEES REMOVED

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 17.—The last obstacle to the erection of a new ball park for the New York Yankees across the Harlem river from the Polo grounds has been removed. The board of aldermen has granted the Yankees permission to close a street that runs through the site.

Col. T. L. Huston, one of the owners of the Yankees, declared that they hoped to lay out a football field on the grounds so that games could be played there next fall.

The diamond will be laid out in 1922. The stadium will be the largest in the major leagues.

BASKETBALL IS FORGING TO THE FRONT AT RATON

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Raton, N. M., Dec. 17.—Basketball is uppermost in the minds of the athletes of the Colfax county high school, now that football has passed into history. The football season was very successful and the prospects for basketball are exceedingly bright.

Four old players have been on the floor each evening at the boys' practices in the gym and there is also some new material showing its class. It looks as though a winning team might be produced at the school. Coach Fremont Dixon has charge of the training of the squad and in his hands the boys feel confident of winning the championship of northern New Mexico.

The girls also are showing up well under Miss Caroline Thomas, girls' physical director. It is expected that the team will come out better than last year. Several old players are practicing and with the excellent new material to work with a winning team ought to be produced.

Eight scheduled games have been signed for all of which are in New Mexico. This is the first time Raton has played teams wholly in New Mexico and it is very likely that the local school will follow such practices in the future. Trinidad is dropped from the schedule this year because only practice games were desired and Raton felt that New Mexico athletics were far more important than practice games with a neighboring state.

Probably the hardest games for Raton will be with the Normal university. February 10 is the only open date on the schedule and it is very likely that this will be filled by the local ex-service men. Springer high school at Springer, February 24.

This schedule also includes the girls' team.

$16 REMAINS OF MILLIONS PAID INTO A SOCIETY

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Sixteen dollars is all that remains of over $25,000,000 invested in the Cooperative Society of America by ninety thousand persons, according to a preliminary report filed today by the Central Trust company of Illinois, appointed receiver.

The report, made after two months investigation, also says that the society is indebted to the Great Western Securities corporation in the sum of $1,758,478.20 on its promissory notes.

After reciting other alleged irregularities, the receiver asked more time to study the affairs of various concerns connected with the society before submitting a solution of the tangled finances. The report accuses H. W. Parker, head of the cooperative society of giving false testimony under oath and cites alleged instances in substantiation.

Parker's wife, Mrs. Edith Stubbs Parker and Charles C. Higgins, a relative, are the chief beneficiaries of Parker's deals by reason of their ownership of the Western Securities corporation, fiscal agent for the society, the report asserts.

BILL HART DIDN'T DO IT ON HORSEBACK IN HIS OWN CASE

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Hart in a scene from one of Hart's recent pictures. It is such a relief to be able to say something about a couple of well-known stars that is not "rumored." And now that Bill Hart has signed the marriage contract and settled Dame Rumor for a time we wish Charlie Chaplin, Geraldine Farrar, Constance Talmadge and a few of the others would take definite steps and give us facts instead of rumors.

Hart is more than twice the age of his pretty young bride, who is twenty-two. Miss Westover is short and slight and blond with deep blue eyes. She started her screen career with the old Triangle company and later was under Griffith direction. She has played in several pictures with Hart, one of the first ones being "John Petticoats."

The couple were married after a brief courtship in a small church in Hollywood and according to all reports Hart did not hold a gun over the minister while he slipped the ring on Westover's finger nor did he leap on his horse after a ceremony and drag her with him across the blustering plains. The marriage was quite conventional with the usual togs and frills and the couple dashed into a high-powered motor and left for parts unknown in the most approved fashion. Two-gun Bill looked just like other 4921 bridegrooms.

MRS. WALTERS URGES MARGARET TO DRESS BECOMINGLY.

CHAPTER 42.

While it amused her, Margaret also felt a bit worried because of Joan's confession. She laughed when she thought of the name she had applied to the stately Mrs. Thompson, then grew more serious when she recalled Joan's manner of deciding whether she liked Ted or Malcolm the best. But she could only watch and wait developments. Joan was always popular. Her freedom of speech and manner, her business, her familiarity with outdoor sports made her a much sought companion of the young people; both boys and girls. Margaret knew she had made no idle boast when she said she was bound to be popular in college.

But the idea of an engagement ring having a "moral effect" the serious way Joan had spoken was really too ridiculous. And yet in a way she had been right. She had meant that owing fealty to some one person might keep her from being too friendly with others.

WHAT'S A PLUM PUDDING THESE DAYS, ANYWAY?

By KORA HENRY-MEACHAM.

When is an English plum pudding not English? When it is made as a la American, sans brandy and with added things that the British never used.

Mrs. M. A. Brennan had charge of the program at the Woman's club on Friday and was assisted by Mesdames Arthur Nye, B. H. Porter, T. G. Winfrey and Emily P. Labelle. It being domestic science day the matter of puddings was discussed and demonstrated. Mrs. Labelle was particularly whimsical in her exposition of the old English plum-pudding, its various ingredients and processes, and the long hours of preparation eight hours of continuous boiling, four when you reheat it for serving. Needless to say, the institution of the pudding began before the days of bridge and movies when the domestic housewife spent her days sewing and disciplining her children and when pudding-making must have been a wildly exciting diversion along about Christmas time. The American plan of substituting orange juice for brandy in Mrs. Labelle's recipe brought forth some smiles but no applause. When Mrs. Winfrey's recipe was read calling for wine and brandy the question was asked, "what does she substitute?" the inference from her silence was that she doesn't substitute, at any rate the two puddings were delicious and perfect examples of culinary art.

Mrs. Brennan presented a very enjoyable program. Mrs. S. B. Miller sang in excellent voice "Morning" and "To You" with Mrs. Louis R. Thompson at the piano. Mariano Garcia again charmed the club with two piano numbers: the "Liszt Rhapsody," which composer seems his favorite, and Chopin's "Impromptu" being, as Mr. Garcia said, one of the first pieces to gain his serious attention as a student of music.

Mrs. Ernest Garcia gave a musical reading, accompanied by Mrs. R. H. Hoxford. Her selection was an old Christmas legend by Raymond Alden, "Why the Chimney Rang." It was done in Mrs. Garcia's always effective manner, her facial expression being so indicative, registering the emotions indicated, so clearly in advance of the words—that words seemed almost superfluous.

Mrs. A. J. Gould announced a request from the Girls' Welfare home for used victrola records as an evidence of the club members' interest in the Christmas celebration at the institution. She also stated that the foundation of the institution was one of the achievements of the Woman's club. There will be no more meeting of the club until January 2 of the new year. Adjournment followed a short board meeting.

POIRET'S NEWEST EVENING CREATION

Although Paris offers numerous creations it is seldom that the average woman buys or wears a real Parisian gown. American designers, however, do buy them and use them as the basis for their own designs. Sometimes it is the sleeve, the cuff arrangement, the trimming, the belt or the neckline, or all of these which is incorporated in the American fashion. Original models from Poiret, Fern, Henri Verne, Talbot, and a score of others may be the inspiration of your own tailored suit or simple evening frock. Of course, you would never recognize the original in its American adaptation. Here is an original Paul Poiret gown. It is the newest creation from that well-known French designer who specializes in startling effects. This evening gown is fashioned of heavy silk crepe of a warm, soft gray. The unique bodice made after ancient lines is gorgeously embroidered in morrisque designs of gold and black. Black tassels with gold cord trimmings weight down the front of the blouse. A broad band of thick black fur edges the long, full skirt. Another odd touch is the pleated ruffles at the hips, a daring thing which nobody but Paul Poiret would attempt.

A Good Cough Medicine. It speaks well of a cough medicine when druggists use it in their own families, in preference to any other. J. Goldsmith, druggist, Van Buren, N. Y., writes: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers. I have always used it in my own family, both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following the grip, and find it very efficacious."

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna Kent Forbes.

FATTENING WINTER FOODS.

Christmas season is a bad time for the woman who has made up her mind to reduce. All Christmas delicacies seem to be fattening, and the spirit of the entire season, that of eating as much as one can possibly manage.

First of all everyone gives candy. Everyone eats candy. Now one chocolate cream has a caloric value of 100. If may be that in order to reduce you should not eat more than 1,500 or 2,000 calories of food every day. If you ate 16 or 20 chocolate creams (and I have seen many women eat that much or more during a matinee), you will have eaten your entire day's allowance of nourishment. One pound of chocolate has a caloric value of 2,825, more than two days' nourishment you see.

Turkey, itself, is not so fattening, but thick gravy is. Thick soup is very fattening and the delicious turkey stuffing which no one can resist will help tip the scales and add a few pounds. Every Christmas dinner has potatoes (which are forbidden the stout woman), usually along yams or sweet potatoes, which are doubly fattening and twice as fattening as that again when they are cooked with butter and sugar.

The Christmas dinner usually goes on to mince pie, plum pudding or ice cream, sometimes to all three. These are the three most fattening desserts. I fairly tremble to tell you how high their caloric value is. But an average helping of anyone of them is at least 550 calories.

And the dinner usually does not stop at that, for nuts and raisins come upon the table and no woman can possibly know how many of these she is eating, because she is busy talking about cousin Jane's new baby and what happened to poor old aunt Sue.

A Sick Worried Mother: Children often come from school or playing outdoors and develop rits in their hair. It's annoying, but it can be cured easily. Rub the hair and scalp with kerosene and do it up all night. This kills the nits, but not the eggs. If you don't get these out they will hatch and you'll have all your trouble over again.

To get rid of these—first wash off the kerosene with hot water

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM READERS.

Reader Friend: "Thank you for the recipes you recently sent me. Here is one of mine which you may think good enough to print in your column:

Macaroni Milanese: (An old Italian recipe, handed down from my ancestors). Boil half a pound of macaroni for half an hour; rinse it in cold water and drain well. Put 2 tablespoons of olive oil in a small saucepan and add to it when hot, 1 red pepper finely chopped and 1 medium-sized onion also finely minced; shake the pan while these cook till onion is soft. Then add 1 pint of solid stewed tomatoes (the canned will do), 1 teaspoon salt, and 1 tablespoon of sugar. Cover the saucepan and let this sauce simmer gently for 20 minutes, then add the macaroni to it, turn all out onto a serving dish, dust thickly with grated cheese (using about 1-4 pound) and serve at once. It is fine, and nobody will want to eat macaroni plain after once cooking it in this way.

Merried Fun-Lover: "I want to tell other readers of your column about the party my husband and I gave last Christmas—and which we are going to repeat, with changes, this December. We asked all our friends to come prepared to do a conjurer's trick. And it was such fun! One after the other of us stood up in the living room on an improvised 'stage' and tried to baffle the others with sleight-of-hand art! Some of the guests had an accomplice in the 'audience'—generally a wife or husband, who was part of the trick—and this made it all the more fun. We all had to guess how each trick was done, before the next person got up to do his or her trick. Here is the one I did (and there are books in the public libraries giving many others):

Broken Match Trick: Ask one of the audience to give you an ordinary match, first marking this match for identification. Wrap this match in your handkerchief, then ask one of the audience to break it up while it is thus wrapped in the handkerchief. Now take the handkerchief, wave it about you in the air, then open the handkerchief and show the spectators that you have restored the match to its former whole state. The secret of this trick consists in having a duplicate match hidden in the hem of the handkerchief from the very beginning. The marked match is simply ledged in a fold of the handkerchief, and the one in the hem is brought up to the center and put into the hands of the spectator to be broken in bits, the hem serving to retain these pieces. The marked match thus remains whole, ready to fall out when you finish your mysterious invocations."

Mrs. P.: "Here is a very good recipe for an every-day sponge cake: 3 cups sugar, 2 cups flour sifted with 3 teaspoons of baking powder, 3-4 cups hot water and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract. Beat the eggs light, add the sugar, then gradually add the flour and hot water. Bake as any sponge cake."

CHRISTMAS TREE HARVEST A BIG ONE IN THE NATIONAL FORESTS; CUSTOM NOT AN ECONOMIC WASTE

Five Million Christmas Trees Used Annually in the United States; Forest Service Officials Favor the Cutting Under Scientific Methods of Thinning and Pruning.

The great winter harvest is at hand. It is a crop requiring from five to fifty years to ripen. Arriving late by a single day it is worthless, yet its failure would mean sadness and disappointment to all the dwellers in childhoodland. It is the harvest of the Christmas tree.

The history of Christmas tree usage extends far into the mists of antiquity and its origin is difficult to trace. Some say it is connected with the legendary tree of time, Yggdrasil, the great tree of Norse mythology, within whose roots and branches heaven and earth are bound. Some say the custom may be traced to the Egyptians who, at the time of winter solstice, decorated their portals with branches of the date palm—the symbol of life triumphant over death.

An ancient legend of the Scandinavians relates how the Christmas tree owes its origin to the "service tree" which sprang from soil once drenched with the blood of two slain lovers, and how each night during the Christmas season mysterious lights played among its branches. To this legend may perhaps be traced the custom of illuminating the tree when darkness comes. Among the Greeks, Christmas is known as the "feast of lights."

To people of different localities the term Christmas tree may mean the spruce, pine, cedar or even magnolia, for each region makes use of the most suitable species found near its markets. In the vicinity of Chicago a short-needle fir is found in Michigan and Wisconsin may be used. On the Pacific coast the white fir finds favor, while throughout Ohio, Norway spruce is largely used. In Maryland and Virginia the scrub pine finds its way into many homes, and farther south cedar and holly.

The tree of Laxo.

But the Christmas tree of Laxo is the balsam fir, a little tree for lumber, it possesses ideal characteristics for holiday purposes—beautiful and symmetrical with long horizontal branches and dense green foliage, each tiny leaf and bud of which sends out a breath of aromatic fragrance.

Yearly a crusade is started against the Christmas tree. Ideas, usually protesting the waste of time and the destruction caused to our young growth through their removal. The forest service of the United States, department of agriculture, in answer to these protests, points out that 5,000,000 Christmas trees are used annually within the United States. New England and New York take 1,500,000 trees, amounting to some 500 carloads. Each year a "Christmas tree fleet" makes its way down Lake Michigan with an evergreen tree at the mast of each vessel in token of the cargo it carries.

Five million trees of the size used for holiday festival could be grown on 5,000 acres of land. The lumber industry cuts over 1,000 times this acreage in a single year. On December 26, 1921, all the nation's timber cutters should begin work two hours late, the resulting decrease in acreage annually cut would be equal to the area exploited by the Christmas tree industry for the entire year.

The annual cutting of 5,000,000 trees is insignificant as compared with the loss through forest fires which each year sweeps over 12,000,000 acres, causing a yearly wastage of about $20,000,000.

In addition, it is pointed out that the lands from which a large portion of the trees are taken are often more suitable for pasture and are more valuable after the timber crop has been removed than they were before. In the European forests the removal of Christmas trees is made to serve the welfare of the forests when, at the holiday season, the cutting of the small trees is in the nature of an improvement thinning and at the same time a source of revenue. The removal of Christmas trees from our own national forests under the supervision of forest officers not only places a small profit in the nation's pocket each year, but it results in a more healthy and faster growing stand of timber.

It has been demonstrated that by cutting Christmas trees of certain evergreen species above the lower

NEW SOUTH WALES RAILWAY MEN MAKE INSPECTION HERE

The mechanical and structural importance of the new machine shop of the Santa Fe railway at Albuquerque was indicated yesterday when the two official engineers of the New South Wales government railways arrived here for an inspection of the whole shop in the hope of taking home with them a number of ideas to be used later in shop construction in New South Wales.

The visitors were A. D. J. Forester, assistant chief engineer of the New South Wales government railways, and W. H. Armstrong, assistant superintendent of a loco running department of the government here.

Both of the engineers expressed their admiration for the entire shop system here and were enthusiastic in their praise of the new additions which are now being completed. The entire day was spent in talking notes and obtaining other data relative to the construction and system.

They were met by D. B. McKee, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who invited them to remain in the city today as the guests of the chamber. As they were scheduled to arrive at Los Angeles Tuesday, they were unable to accept the invitation to visit many of the interesting places in the city and in its vicinity.

MENAU DRUBS HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL QUINTE 21 TO 10

In a fast basketball game, the high school lost their first serious encounter 21-10. The guardians of Menaul and Drubbs would not permit the high school to score but when they did connect usually resulted in a basket.

Candelaria was the chief point getter for Menaul with five field goals and three free throws. Long and Rodgers each scored with a field goal but were the only double counters. The high school keenly felt the loss of Hammond, who is out of the game temporarily.

Candelaria directed the scoring with a free throw and followed with three goals from field. Wilson negotiated a free throw and Rodgers made the first field goal for the high school. During the first half the ball was seldom in the high school end of the floor and the period ended with the 13-5 in favor of Menaul.

The second half was merely a repetition of the first. Candelaria started the scoring and Malcolm Long made the sole field goal for the high school.

Field goals: Menaul—Candelaria, 5; Martinez, 2; Cruz, 2. A. H. S.—Rodgers, 1; Long, 1. Fouls: Menaul—Candelaria, 3; A. H. S.—Wilson, 6.

Referee: Glenn O. Ream.

In the preliminary game the Headquarters scouts took the Menaul juniors over the mat with a score of 19-16.

In older times the mistletoe was considered a sacred plant because its berries grew in clusters of three—emblematic of the Trinity.

HOUSE APPROVES MEASURE TO AID STARVING SLAVS

Bill Authorizes the President to Spend $20,000,000 for Relief of Distress Among Russians.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 17.—A bill authorizing the president to spend $20,000,000 out of the funds of the United States Grain corporation for the relief of the distressed and starving people of Russia, was passed tonight by the house, 114 to 51.

Opponents of the measure forced a roll call on the ground that the vote as announced did not include a quorum. The roll call resulted 181 to 71 and the bill goes to the senate.

In two hours of debate over the measure the house attempted to chop it to pieces with amendments. The first was on an amendment to reduce the amount from twenty million to ten million which was defeated, 78 to 69.

Protesting against the use of funds for the people of any foreign nation, Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee said it was easy to vote a tax on the backs of the American people and cry at the same time for economy.

"There are conditions of distress in this country which would appall congress if I dared relate them," he shouted.

When the time came to receive amendments more than a score of members demanded recognition. In the midst of them Representative Goodykoontz, republican, West Virginia, stepped forward with a new paragraph which would direct the president to spend twenty million dollars for relieving distress among the "starving, hungry and unemployed citizens of the United States." It was howled down on a point of order, but the representative stood his ground.

After that, amendments were offered in rapid succession only to be knocked down. About all that was tacked on to the bill was a direction that grain for the Russians be purchased in the United States and sent to Russia in American bottoms, and a direction that a report of all expenditures be made to congress by the end of next year.

Amendments Not Included.

The house refused to include Armenia in the relief area. It also refused to designate the area as the "Volga region or Russia as she stood geographically prior to the war."

2 ARE INDICTED ON A CHARGE OF USING THE MAILS TO DEFAUD

(By The Associated Press.) Wichita Falls, Texas, Dec. 17.—Eugene T. Shannon, manager of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce and former postmaster of Nashville, Tenn., and Porter Oakes, promoter of a number of oil companies during the Burdett oil boom, were indicted by a federal grand jury today. It was announced and warrants have been issued.

The indictments charge using the mails to defraud by selling oil stock in alleged worthless oil schemes promoted by them.

Principal among them was the Jeffersonian Oil company, originally called the Postmaster's Oil company, until the postoffice department objected, organized in May, 1919.

D. A. Connell, was also indicted on three charges but has not yet been arrested. Others indicted are James Childs, arrested and out on bond; H. T. McCarthy, of Los Angeles, arrested here today and also out on bond; and H. T. Harris, also arrested and released on bond. Bond was made in the sum of $10,000 in each case.

GET SEATS NOW FOR CONCERT BY SCHUMANN-HEINK

Ernest Landolfi Reports Large Ticket Sale; Urges People to Get Tickets Early This Week.

Ernest Landolfi, treasurer of the Apollo club in charge of the Schumann-Heink ticket sale, announced last night that everybody who was anybody seemed to be going to the concert at the armory Monday, December 26, but that many people who had expressed their intention of going had put off the purchase of their tickets. He urges these people to get their tickets early this week from members of the Apollo club or at the New Mexico Phonograph company, or to at least make arrangements for them by telephone, to avoid possible disappointment.

Bringing an artist the caliber of Schumann-Heink to a city the size of Albuquerque is a real accomplishment, according to people within the business. If the tickets were priced at two or three times the $2 admission here, the concert would still be more than worth while. Officers of the Apollo club maintain that good music should be made available to everyone, and for that reason they purposely kept the price of tickets down. It will cost less to hear the great Schumann-Heink at the armory the 26th than it costs to see the most mediocre road show stopping in Albuquerque.

The armory will be fittingly decorated and heated several days in advance of the concert. Accommodations for 2,500 people will be available, and no more than that number of tickets will be sold.

In addition to Schumann-Heink's singing and two groups piano numbers by the famous Arthur Loesser, the Apollo club, thirty voices strong, will open and close the program.

People who appreciate real music will be there.

EXPENSES OF U. S. IN NOVEMBER INCREASED

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 17.—Ordinary expenses of the government during November increased by about $20,000,000 as compared with October, while disbursements on the public debt fell off by approximately $500,000,000, according to the monthly statement issued today by the treasury.

The decrease in public debt expenses was accounted for mainly by redemption of certificates of indebtedness which amounted to about $30,000,000 in November, as compared with about $450,000,000 in October. Approximately $45,000,000 was expended in interest of the public debt in November, as compared with $120,000,000 in October.

ORDERS JUDGE RYAN TO NAME READ RECEIVER

(By The Associated Press.) Santa Fe, Dec. 17.—On petition of the attorney general's office, the supreme court issued today an alternative writ of mandamus returnable December 22, compelling District Judge R. R. Ryan of Grant county to appoint State Bank Examiner J. B. Read receiver of the Lordsburg State bank, which was closed recently. The court refused to appoint Read on the ground that the law is unconstitutional which requires the bank examiner to be named receiver whenever a bank is closed. Judge Ryan held this to be legislative interference with the judiciary.

Thousands Are Now Taking Nuron Nerve Force With Their Breakfast

Remarkable Scientific Product—How Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks Can Often Obtain Greater Physical and Mental Vigor, Stronger Nerve and Increase Their Magnetic Power Through Greater Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time

An eminent physician says the great majority of chronic invalids are those suffering from nervous ailments or diseases caused by nervous ailments. Your nerve force, through your nerves, controls every organ of your body. You may have a serious case of indigestion, your liver or kidneys may fail to do their work, or your heart palpitate due to weak nerve force.

The nervous business man feels in a perpetual hurry. He eats quickly, talks rapidly, and when he has a chance for rest he frets. Nervous women often become highly emotional and suffer awful tortures from spells of a great devastating weakness.

Unless you have plenty of nerve force you cannot hope to compete with the strong, magnetic, forceful fellows who radiate power and magnetism in their every movement and thought. Many a man has failed in business simply through lack of judgment caused by exhausted nerve force. For centuries science has searched for a nerve force food. A celebrated French physician brought to the attention of the Paris Academy of Medicine a remarkable product which contained the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force, in a form which most closely resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. This wonderful product was later combined with Organic Iron under the name of "Nuron Iron," so that today the Nuron nerve force food is ready to be transformed into active living nerve force, the moment it enters the body.

Now you can be healthy by taking two tablets of Nuron Iron three times a day with or after your meals. Organic iron, contained in Nuron Iron is like the iron in your blood. It quickly enriches the blood and helps create and re-build new and stronger red blood cells and stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. Nuron Iron is therefore a true blood and nerve food. It feeds the body the substance which nerve force must have to give it that vital electro-magnetic power which is stored in the nerve and brain cells of man and which is the source of nerve force through the medium of the blood. If you are weak, nervous, or run down, no matter what other things you have tried without success, you certainly can't try Nuron Iron. It will produce definite and surprising results in two weeks time or the manufacturers will refund your money. Sold by all druggists.

CHARTS SHOW GRAPHICALLY THE RISE IN COST OF GOVERNMENT IN STATE DURING PAST DECADE

The following charts were used by H. J. Hagerman, president of the Taxpayers' association of New Mexico in his recent address before the association meeting in Albuquerque. They illustrate graphically the increasing cost of government in New Mexico.

Chart No. 1 shows the increase in amounts spent during the ten-year period from 1910 to 1920. Our population increased from 327,000 in 1910 to 360,000 in 1920, an increase of 10 per cent. Wealth, as expressed in assessable values, grew from $175,000,000 in 1910 to $405,000,000 in 1920, an increase of 130 per cent. While population and wealth were increasing thus slowly, the total governmental expenditures increased 271 per cent, from $3,400,000 in 1910 to $11,250,000 in the same period.

In chart No. 2, the growing disbursements for state departmental and institutional purposes are set forth for the decade. It will be noted that the total increased as shown in the previous chart. Disbursements for highways reveal the greatest increase and those for education the next greatest. General government requirements shows an increase of over 100 per cent, while the total of other disbursements except for the three purposes mentioned increased at a similar rate. The bonded debt increased from $6,500,000 in 1910 to $15,625,000 in 1920, an increase of about 140 per cent.

State disbursements, included in the total cost of government, increased 473 per cent. Of the state disbursements, those for education increased 538 per cent. The amounts of state educational disbursements, $231,633.72 in 1910 and $1,477,840.62 in 1920, do not include proceeds of county and school district levies nor do they include earnings of state educational institutions.

Chart 3 illustrates the increase in the cost of all government for the years 1915 to 1920 inclusive. The total more than doubled in the period. This includes expenditures for state, county, city and town government including schools and roads. Through county agencies, $3,702,716.45 was expended in 1915, and $6,696,553.37 in 1920, including public elementary and high schools and county roads. State expenditures, less those appearing in the county and in the state institutions' expenditures, amounted to $1,457,261.17 in 1915 and to $3,391,337.85 in 1920. State institutions spent $688,854.65 in 1915, and $1,671,577.80 in 1920. In incorporated cities, towns and villages the expenditures for 1915 are estimated to have been $500,000 and for 1920, $1,250,000. A five-year period has been used for showing the figures in this chart because there are no data for the years previous.

Chart No. 4 will need little explanation. It shows the total taxes levied upon property for all state, county and municipal purposes for each of the years 1910 to 1920 inclusive. In 1910 the amount levied was $3,400,000 and it grew to $11,250,000 in 1920, an increase of more than 200 per cent. The rapid increase during the last four years is especially to be noticed.

WALLER IS ORDERED TO PROBE CONDITIONS ON INDIAN RESERVATION

(By The Associated Press.)

Santa Fe, Dec. 17.—The public health service at Washington has wired Dr. C. E. Waller, of the service here, to make an immediate investigation to determine whether an epidemic of disease has broken out on the Mesquero Apache Indian reservation in Otero county. Dr. Waller said he had heard of but one case of contagious disease there, but refused to deny or confirm the rumor that it is typhus. An outbreak of typhus was put down on the Navajo reservation during the past year.

At the founding hospital in Lyons, France, a royal welcome awaits the first infant received on Christmas day, which is supposed to be in contrast to the humble story of Christ's birth.

HOW TO GAIN VOTES QUICKLY THIS WEEK.

During this, the last week of The Morning Journal's Automobile Campaign, every six-year subscription will count 380,000 votes. Six such subscriptions secured before 10 o'clock next Thursday night will count 2,280,000 votes. As close as the race now stands, these long term subscriptions secured NOW, will very likely determine the winners of the different prizes. Ten subscriptions of six years each would give any candidate 3,800,000 votes.

YOUR CHRISTMAS WILL BE COMPLETE

$230,000 MARK PASSED IN THE ALBUQUERQUE HOTEL CAMPAIGN; WORK WILL BE RESUMED MONDAY

More Canvassers Are Needed to Complete the Job Within the Next Few Days; Business Men Claim Hotel Must Be Built to Show Confidence in City's Future.

After listening to an appeal made by Sidney M. Well, 21 men representing Albuquerque's business community, signed an article setting forth "The High Cost of Failure" and requested Louis H. Field, president of the Albuquerque Hotel company, to cause it to be printed in the Sunday newspapers in order that the public might better understand the urgency for more workers to complete the campaign for funds to build the hotel during the coming week.

O. N. Marron, Ivan Grunfeld, Frank H. Strong, P. F. McCanna, C. O. Cushman, Albert G. Simms, Lloyd Sturges, Seymour Lewinson, Dr. A. G. Shortle, Dr. L. S. Peters, George B. Mallory, E. L. Edmister, H. Coors, Arthur Frager, Rev. Hugh A. Cooper, W. Mauger, Frank A. Hubbell, Chester French, K. Baldrige, Marcus Sawtelle, and Louis H. Field signed the article, which sets forth that the hotel can be more economically completed than abandoned.

It shows that investment in the project will result in the expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars in payroll and materials, while failure to complete the money raising campaign would announce inability, lack of public confidence and depreciation in values to the extent of at least two millions of dollars.

The board of directors expressed satisfaction with the report furnished by chairman Well at the close of yesterday's business which showed that more than one-fifth of the total funds he has been told to obtain have been forthcoming in the first three days' work and that his few workers had succeeded in raising the subscription total to more than $220,000.

The members of the Real Estate board, who on Friday evening pledged themselves to obtain from their membership not less than $5,000 additional to previous subscriptions, nearly completed their contract yesterday and promised to resume work on Monday to finish the job. Incidental to their canvass they obtained signed agreements from their fellow-members to close their offices Tuesday for a full day to be devoted to financing, when they will solicit others than members of their guild.

Mr. Well made comparisons during the day of results obtained during the February campaign with the response so far obtained and proved by his figures that the public shows greater willingness to now complete the work than it did to begin it.

"Numbers of solicitors convey enthusiasm one to the other," said Well at the noonday meeting, which has become a daily feature of the work, "and here we have less than 20 men on the general soliciting job as compared with 70 men on the initial campaign."

"It took 70 men to produce $150,000 in five days on the first job, or an average of $2,339 each, while 14 men have produced $2,300 each in less than four days. If we get 70 men Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday we will have the fund oversubscribed by the middle of the week. Without meaning offense to anyone, I venture the statement that anyone in Albuquerque who stands aloof of business, unless it means imminent irreparable loss, as an excuse to stay away from this job is a grafter on the time of those loyal workers who are sticking to this task."

The entire public is urged by the management to attend the noonday meetings. No soliciting of subscriptions is conducted at these gatherings. Place of meeting Monday noon will be at the Doris Tea Room.

3 CENT LUNCH IS POPULAR AT FOURTH SCHOOL

Hot lunches at three cents each are proving a great success at the North Fourth street school under the supervision of Mrs. Elliott. An average of forty school children take advantage of the lunch daily. Two rooms are used at noon as lunch rooms and the food is cooked by the children under the supervision of Mrs. Elliott and the other teachers.

Boys take turn acting as waiters and in order that the children may learn good table manners, each teacher spends one day a week instructing the children. The pupils also wash their own dishes and are taught the easiest way of doing this in a sanitary manner.

Aside from the equipment which the school had last fall, County School Superintendent Irene Burke has recently presented the school with four ten kettles, a dish pan and twelve tea towels.

The menu is changed each day and consists of such foods as cocoa, vegetable and meat soups, various kinds of beans and other articles which are rich in nutriment and which the children can easily prepare.

ZEMER TO SPEAK AT "FELLOWSHIP" LUNCH AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

P. C. Zemer, former superintendent of the Mt. Vernon, Ohio schools, will be the main speaker at the Y. M. C. A. fellowship luncheon this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. Professor Zemer's subject will be "The Emancipation of the Boy."

The fellowship luncheon is proving popular this fall and twenty-five fellows attended last Sunday who had only been in the city a few days. The luncheon is especially designed for men and boys who are away from their home towns and cities.

METHODISTS TO HOLD CHRISTMAS SERVICES

The Christmas program of music, songs and recitations which is being prepared by the children of the Central Avenue Methodist Sunday school will be presented at the 11 o'clock service at the church on Christmas day. There will be a special Christmas musical program at the church in the evening, also. A watch night service will be held on the evening of December 31 from 8 o'clock to midnight.

DAVIS TO TALK ON DRAINAGE AT MEET TOMORROW

Committee Will Arrange Program This Morning for Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow at 10 a. m.

A. P. Davis, director of the federal reclamation service, will be in Albuquerque tomorrow to make a short survey of the drainage need in the valley and to deliver a talk on drainage at the meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Plans had been made for the meeting to be held Tuesday, but a wire was received by Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce D. B. McKee last night stating that the director would arrive here tomorrow morning and would leave in the evening.

The director comes to the city at the invitation of the chamber, which has been active in an effort to secure drainage in this section of the valley.

The following committee appointed yesterday will meet at the chamber parlors this morning at 10 o'clock to arrange for tomorrow's program: W. C. Oestreich, chairman, Edmund Ross, W. C. Reid, Clark M. Carr, H. B. Henling, Carl C. Magee, J. P. Jacobson, Frank Hubbell, Lee Reynolds, Albert Simms and Walter M. Connell.

All ranchers, real estate owners and others in this vicinity who are interested in the drainage of the valley, further irrigation and better river embankment work are urged to attend the meeting and hear Mr. Davis' talk at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

BLACKFOOT INDIAN SPEAKS TODAY AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Red Fox Shishshu, a well known northern Blackfoot Indian who has lectured all over the United States, will fill the pulpit of the Broadway Christian church at 7:30 o'clock this evening. The subject of this talk will be "The Philosophy of the American Indian." He will appear in full costume of the Blackfoot tribe with a feathered headdress and a suit decorated with 10,000 beads.

Red Fox rode horseback from Montana to the White House in 1914 to petition the president to grant all American Indians full citizenship. He lectured for the Red Cross raising money during the war, he organized the Indian Boy Scouts and has made addresses before audiences all over the country. He is just returning from a successful lecture tour of the east.

ACCEPTS A CALL. St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 17.—The Very Rev. William Searlett of Phoenix, Ariz., has accepted a call to become dean of Christ Church cathedral here, according to a telegram received today by the Right Rev. F. F. Johnson, coadjutor bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church of Missouri.

Australia can boast the Christmas pantomime with the longest run. In 1907 "Mother Goose" was played all the year round.

AMERICAN AND ENGLISH GOLF CHAMPS COMING

Jim Barnes, American Title Holder, and Jock Hutchison, England's Best, Will Play Exhibit Here.

Jim Barnes, American open golf champion, and Jock Hutchison, holder of the English open title, will be in Albuquerque February 15 as guests of the Albuquerque Country club and will play an exhibition match on the club links.

The two champions have just started a tour of the south and accepted the Albuquerque club's invitation yesterday. They expect to play forty-five exhibitions during the next three months. As planned now the two title holders will play eighteen holes and will then play a nine or eighteen hole foursome with Grover Davis, New Mexico champion, and Jack Lyons of Baton, former state title man.

The Albuquerque course presents an entirely different set of obstacles to those encountered on the usual grass links. The obstacle is so great that many persons who play a passable game on grass, find themselves absolutely at a loss in the sand of the local course, which requires a clean shot to get any kind of results. Local golfers and fans are anxious to see what type of game the American and English champions will be able to put up on the course.

HARVEY'S MINSTRELS REGISTER HIT WHEN OPENING AT CRYSTAL

Harvey's greater minstrels, opened a two-days engagement at the Crystal theater yesterday evening and will give a matinee and night performance today. The company is returning east from a successful tour of the west coast.

The company registered a big hit last night. The first part of the program is straight minstrel, giving both male and female members of the company a chance to display their talents as singers and dancers. In the old, high-grade vaudeville acts were presented.

Frank Kirk had a novel musical offering in which odd instruments of his own making create harmony. The Beechums offer a singing and talking act which met with popular accord. Alonzo, in feats of magic, is a clever adept at the art of deception. The saxophone parts of the Goldman's act went best. Other numbers also went well. The company will continue its tour east after its two performances today.

Quintet of the Country's Greatest Amateur Athletes Are Charged With Professionalism.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Dec. 17.—Five of the country's greatest amateur athletes—Jole Ray, Frank and Jo Loomis, Loren Murchison and Jackson Scholz—today defended themselves against charges of professionalism before the registration committee of the Central A. U. The athletes all of Olympic fame, were charged with filling exorbitant expense accounts for trips to compete in eastern meets last year. Ray, Jo Loomis and Murchison appeared before the committee, while the others were represented. The athletes denied their expense accounts were exorbitant. The committee announced it would make its report to the National A. U. registration committee for final action. The athletes, if found guilty, may be suspended or declared professionals. Jole Ray, holder of seven world's records in the runs, may become a professional boxer if his amateur standing is annulled. Ray has engaged in amateur boxing contests, winning the central A. U. title in the featherweight class. He weighs about 125 pounds. Ray plans to compete in several big eastern meets if he is cleared. Frank Loomis, a noted hurdler and sprinter, already has become a professional. Loomis was taken away from him if the charges of professionalism are sustained. He is a coach at a college at Hastings, Neb. Jo Loomis is a member of the Chicago Athletic association, while Murchison and Ray are competing under the colors of the Illinois Athletic club. Scholz, a former University of Missouri sprinter, is competing for the Detroit Athletic club.

TRAM CAR SERVICE IS SUSPENDED BY FIRING

(By The Associated Press.) Belfast, Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press).—Fierce firing broke out in the Newtownards road section and East Belfast today. The firing was so intense that tram car service was suspended. Lewis guns were used against the rioters by the crown forces. An employ of the tram service was shot dead and at least six persons are known to have been wounded. The afternoon's incidents included an attack on a tram car crew whom the police rescued. Edward Brennan of the Sinn Féin was shot and killed. Another man, William Thompson, was wounded by a sniper. The passengers in the tram car riot zone were compelled to lie on the bottoms of the cars. The 9 o'clock curfew will be enforced in Belfast, on the beginning tonight, it was announced today.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Fourth Street.

The children of the first grade have been moved into the primary room and are being taught how to make a number of attractive Christmas decorations. They are also learning Christmas carols.

Two new pupils, Ernestine Whately and Morris Hunter, have been enrolled in the primary room.

Six pupils of the fifth and sixth grades have made 100 per cent in spelling each day this month. They are Jack Thuhoff, A. Aragon, Esther Falarada, George Davis, Pearl McElroy and Inez Morris.

The pupils of the eighth grade are entertained daily for fifteen minutes by some member of the class.

Le Roy Mathews, Blanch Parks and Floyd Wagner have returned to school after several days illness.

The girls' basketball team defeated the Central school by a score of 15 to 7. They have issued a challenge to any county school in the state. The boys won a game a few days ago from Menaul school by a score of 25 to 20. A game will be played with the Los Padillas school soon.

The school was visited Tuesday morning by County School Superintendent Irene Burke and County Nurse Lupe Leon. County Agent Lee Reynolds visited the school Thursday evening and showed a number of interesting slides, including some showing how other schools have solved the hot lunch problem. There are now 314 pupils enrolled at the school.

Watchmakers declare that a watch keeps much better time if it wound in the morning instead of at night, because the spring is taut throughout the day, when it is subject to the most vibration.

POPE BENEDICT AS HE APPEARED IN HIS BOYHOOD

This rare photo of Pope Benedict XV, which recently arrived in the United States from Rome, shows his holiness at the age of 15. This is believed to be the first time this picture has been published in the United States.

Miss Mary L. Trencott of Wilkes-Barre, recently appointed a referee in bankruptcy, is the first woman in Pennsylvania to be named for such an office.

"Albuquerque's Exclusive Clothiers"

THE HIGH COST OF FAILURE

One of the largest property owners in Albuquerque said at a public meeting last week: "After the announcements we have authorized and the progress we have made, failure to complete the community hotel would depreciate the value of every foot of real estate in this city 10 per cent.; and would cost this city two million dollars; falling proportionately on all owners of property and business."

It will cost us $350,000 to build the hotel. It will cost us $2,000,000 in unmitigated loss, if we fail to do so. We have subscribed $225,000. Only $125,000 more is required.

If we complete this fund it will put 150 or more men to work early in 1922 and keep them at work for six months. About $150,000 of the money we subscribe will be put back into circulation in our community through wages alone. Another $100,000 will be returned to circulation through purchase of materials. A majority of us who subscribe will get a portion of our money back immediately through our participation in its distribution during the construction.

This hotel building, once started, will mean the carrying out of other important building plans totaling in excess of one million dollars, during 1922. The estimate is that of conservative men who propose to engage in these projects if Albuquerque fulfills its pledge of progress by building the hotel.

Thus, aside from the urgent need of the hotel, its construction will insure a building boom and abounding prosperity in this city during 1922.

Should we fail to build the hotel next year, as we have pledged ourselves and our state to do, it will mean the abandonment of a million dollars worth of other building plans, because it will amount to the service of notice that this city has abandoned; for the immediate future, efforts to foster its own growth. It will be notice to New Mexico and the southwest that we have failed to make good our pledge of progress.

It will mean that we serve notice upon the tourist traffic of 1922 and immediately ensuing years that Albuquerque does not want it, because we are unprepared to accommodate it in comfort.

It will be a confession to ourselves that we lack the faith and the courage to build Albuquerque from a town into a city; that we are content to acquiesce in conditions as they are instead of making conditions what they should be.

The men who sign this advertisement do not believe it is the will of Albuquerque to let this project fail, or to accept all of the grave consequences of such a failure. We believe the people are with us and our associates who are giving our time and effort to this project. But we cannot give indefinitely. We must have your co-operation in order to finish the job. We ask, therefore, that every loyal citizen of Albuquerque join us actively in this work; giving time and effort as we have given; subscribing as we have subscribed—until it hurt. We call on you for this co-operation beginning Monday morning at 10 o'clock when the workers start from the Chamber of Commerce; so that this $125,000 that is needed may be subscribed and this big job done so it may be presented to Albuquerque as the community's greatest Christmas gift to its citizens on Christmas, 1921:

HARD WORKOUTS FACING ARIZONA FOOTBALL SQUAD

Wildcats Are in Good Condition for Their Coming Contest With Centre College Team December 26.

(By The Associated Press.)

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 17.—Hard workouts will be the order of the day for the Arizona university eleven, which is scheduled to play Centre college on December 26 at San Diego, Calif., until next Wednesday, according to an announcement today by head coach J. F. McKale. The team will then go into light training for the game and continue short workouts until departure for the Pacific coast. It is understood the squad will leave either Thursday night or Friday morning and a short stopover will be made at Los Angeles, where the Wildcats will workout at Bowditch field and continue the journey to San Diego.

McKale has the entire squad in excellent condition with the exception of Vance Clymer, all conference center, who was taken ill early Friday morning. The illness is reported to be of minor nature and he is expected to return to the squad by Monday. Clymer is a veteran line man, having held down the pivotal position for three years, during which time he has been selected for the all conference team three times and this year he has added to his laurels by being named for the all-western. Clymer's loss would be a hard blow to the Wildcats, although two high-class centers are left in the team in Whitten and Carpenter. However, Clymer's illness is not of a serious nature and it is certain he will be back in the harness by Monday.

Anxious for the fray, every other member of the team is in excellent condition and all are anxious to get a crack at the famous Kentucky Colonels and compare Arizona football with that of the east coast. The team is thoroughly grounded in every phase of football and a better coached team in all departments of the game would be hard to find. Experience is a big factor on any eleven and there is not a single green man on the Wildcats line. The team averages a little over two years in experience and this is a big point in its favor. Line Coach Pierce has been working out a new style of defense for the Wildcats and is confident the Arizona "stone wall" will more than hold its own with the Centre line that stomped the Harvard football backfield. Pierce has a line that has shown its strength by a stand taken on the two-yard line against Whitten when the Quakers' powerful backfield had four downs to make goal and were unable to make the grade. The line held under fierce attacks of Sugget, Thompson and Reece and the ball finally went over to Arizona. The entire left wing of the line is made up of all conference men which right side boasts one first-team selection and two second string all conference men. Southwest football circles consider the Arizona line the strongest that has ever been seen in this section of the country and close followers of the Wildcats do not expect to see the line get much the worst of any argument with the Centre crew. It is understood the Centre line will have several pounds advantage on the Wildcats line but the majority of this weight advantage will be on one or two men.

New Equipment Guaranteed. Complete new equipment for the team was guaranteed at a meeting of alumni and business men held here last night and this will be ordered at once to insure its being on hand in time for the game at San Diego. The entire town has stepped up in support of the Wildcats and a large delegation is certain to attend the game. Support is coming also from all parts of the state, local leaders receiving wires and letters from all sections asking reservations on the special train to the game.

One backfield campaign has already been decided upon by Coach McKale, the shift carrying the team lineup back to the original early season offense. Marshall has been taken from halfback to be held in reserve as quarter in case of injury to Stonaker, while Broderick goes back to his old position in the backfield, from which he was ousted by injuries. No other shifts in lineup will be made by the university mentor.

RIVAL STEAMER LINES COMPETE FOR PASSENGERS

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press).—Rival steamship lines are now competing for passengers, in the post-war travel revival, as sharply as hotels fight for guests.

A British line recently announced a "veranda cafe" for second class passengers, and promptly an American line began supplying menu cards for the third class. Incidentally the old fashioned word "steamer" no longer is heard in shipping offices. In practically all the larger ships, the third class today is as luxurious as the first class of twenty-five years ago.

But competition also is keen in the first class saloon. Innovations recently announced by various lines include:

A captain's hour with the children.

A screened-in and bunkered deck to serve as a golf course.

Cabin-to-cabin telephone service.

A miniature department store.

A bureau for engaging taxis by wireless.

An electric "shimmy" machine, replacing the promenade as a weight reducer.

A woman barber for bobbed heads.

Women now sit in the parlaments of both Norway and Sweden.

Eddie Mulligan of the Chicago White Sox was a star soccer player in St. Louis before joining the big show as a baseball player.

VALUABLE OIL LANDS INVOLVED IN A TEST SUIT FILED BY U. S.

(By The Associated Press.)

New Orleans, La., Dec. 17.—Oil lands valued at many millions of dollars in Louisiana are involved in the test suit brought by the government, said Attorney General A. M. Clegg, today when apprised of the filing of the motion by Secretary Fall asking for dismissal of a bill for injunction filed by Louisiana to prevent the United States government taking over mineral and oil land patents in this state.

The motion would restore ownership to the federal government of mineral rights in property given to the state in congressional grants of 1849 and to other southern states.

DAN TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE WHEN HE QUIT DRINKING

By DAN CAREY.

WHEN we determined to quit drinking it was not our idea that we would be creating a copy, nor during the subsequent struggle were we engaged in to overcome an appetite that had been with us since early childhood was it our aim to provide impressions that could later be written about. Our sole desire was to stop drinking. Of course now that we have succeeded it is only natural to boast about it a little.

There have been a number of articles recently by writers who confess to all kinds of intimate and personal things. We know of no reason why our own testimony should not be added to the sum total of human knowledge. We have had articles about how to reduce one's weight, increase one's blood pressure, maintain the happiness of a home, operate an automobile, stop eating opium and suppress jealousy in a harem.

Of course we could, if we would, write at considerable length on this automobile question. The title for this story would be "The Confessions of an Automobile Owner." To be perfectly frank about it, the only reason we do not write this story is that we are not quite sure about the statutes of limitation, and until we ascertain definitely just when criminal prosecutions are barred by time discretion prompts us to remain silent.

We had one of these automobiles that was absolute perfection, with the exception of the transmission, the differential, the steering equipment and the starting system. It reminded us of a statement once made to us by the manager of a theatrical performance whose show we had been sent to criticize. After the second act he asked us how we liked it. We began to evade.

"Tell me exactly what you think of it," he said.

"Do you really mean that?" we asked.

"Certainly. I want to know."

"Well, I think it is about the rottenest show I ever saw," we answered bluntly.

"My Gawd, man!" he answered, "just look at them costumes!"

That is about what the automobile dealer replied when we directed his attention to the minor defects in the car which we have spoken of.

"That car has the best engine in the world," he said.

He was telling the truth about it too. It was a fine engine and never gave us a particle of trouble. Neither did the car, for that matter, as long as we ran in a straight line. It was only when we attempted to turn corners that the things would break. However, the automobile did not break any more completely than we did before we stopped associating with each other.

We might at this juncture make a parody, using as a basis the man who had both money and friends, but the thing is so obvious that we merely suggest it to you. You can work it out as well as we can.

HOWEVER, we started out to tell how we stopped drinking. Our determination was the result of dining at the home of a friend on the Friday evening before Labor Day. Our friend served on that evening a delightful substitute for our favorite drink, but the substitute had absolutely no effect in it whatever. The taste was the same, the smell was identical, and there was just as much pleasure in the drinking, but without the kick.

It reminded us of what old Uncle Aaron said about a drink we gave him one afternoon as a reward for extra and rather arduous labors in the vegetable garden, where he had given battle to and conquered a perfect horde of potato bugs.

When the old man came whistling up to the back door there was a look of satisfaction about him.

"Dar now," he exclaimed triumphantly, "I'll be bound we ain't gwinter be pestered by dem bugs no mo'. Dey sho met dey death dis day."

"Yes, I believe I will, it bein' sech a hot day," he continued in response to our invitation.

So the old man took a perfectly enormous drink which we poured out for him—told it without water and smacked his lip.

"Do you want a little water, Aaron?" we asked, thinking he might have been burned by the liquor.

"Nossur," he replied, "I won't take no water. What'd be use of buildin' er fire of yo' gwine ter pour water on it and put her out?"

THERE is another set of confessions, by the way, that we are fully qualified to write about. Once we tried to be a moonshiner. Our confessions on this subject would recount our failures in that noble profession. Of course we come from a State where moonshining has progressed from being a mere profession into the realm of real art.

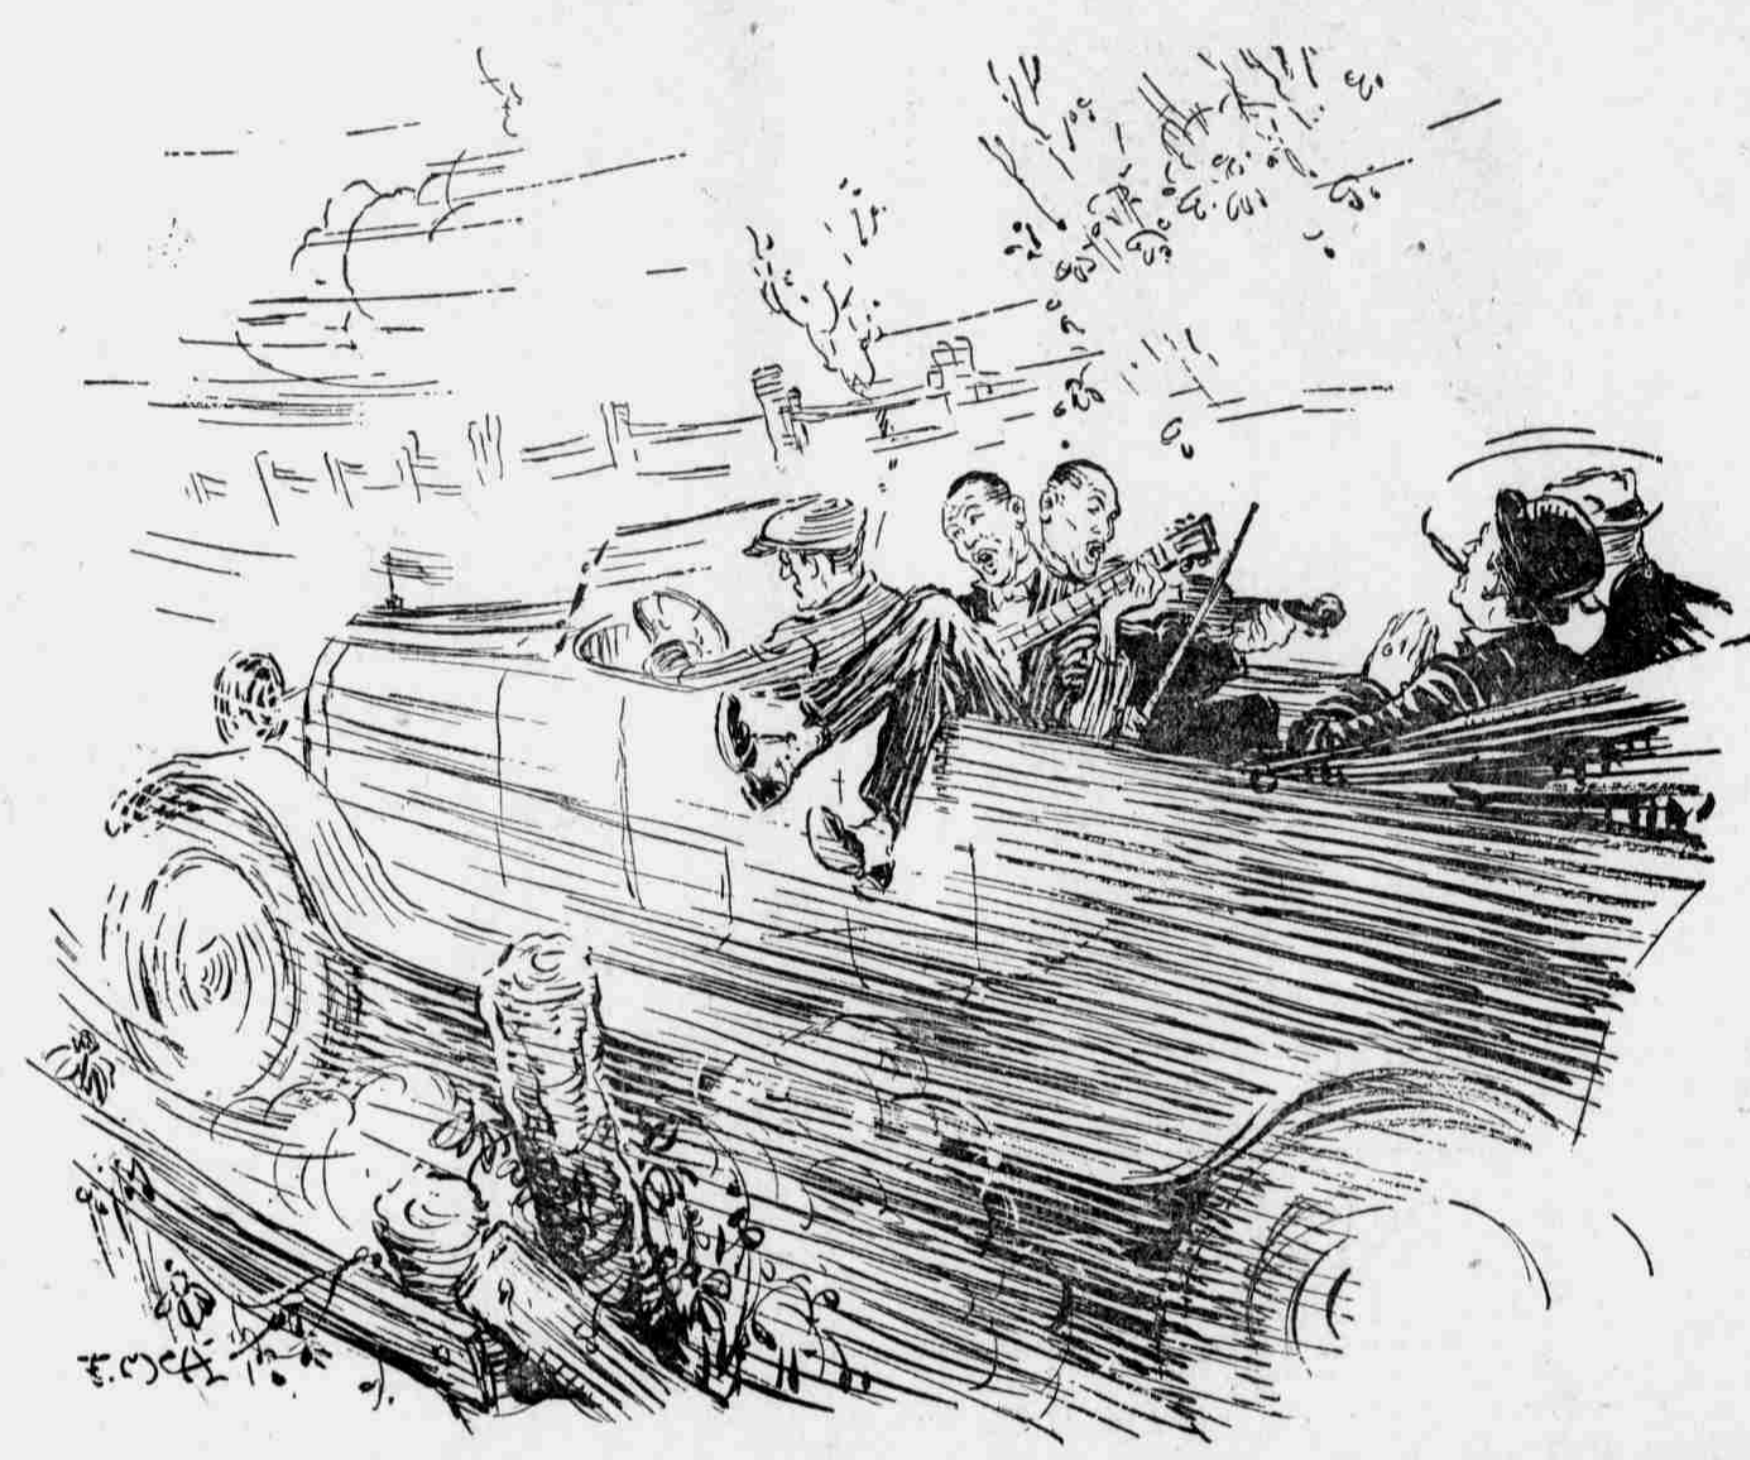

An article of this kind would naturally begin with our experience in covering a layer of peaches with a coating of sugar, fattening a substance we threw out the kitchen window into the back yard, but even the chickens would not eat it, and the dog stayed away three days.

Yes, some day we are going to write about our efforts at moonshining. Candor compels us to admit that the stuff we made was even worse than New Yorkers are now consuming at a dollar a drink.

They tell a story about a man who went into a saloon after the whole business was supposed to have been ended by the Eighteenth Amendment. This saloonist's price was a dollar a drink, and he personally did the pouring.

"Give me one please," said the man. It was produced for him and set on the counter. He gulped it down. He passed a few words with the bartender. He passed a few words with the bartender.

"Another one, please," he said cheerfully.

The second one was produced. Again he gulped it down. He talked some more.

"I believe I will have another one," he remarked.

"Probably you will, but you owe for two now," said the bartender.

"Yes, I know it."

"Well, where is the money. I'll take two dollars please."

"Oh, I haven't any money. You see it is illegal for you to sell whiskey, so I am assisting you in obeying the law by not paying you."

"You may think you will get away with that, but you will not," answered the bartender. He reached into a drawer for a pistol, which he placed on the counter.

"That pistol will not do a particle of good," said the stranger. You see, in the first place I haven't got the money, and in the second place, if you were to create a disturbance, and particularly if you were to shoot me, you would get into an awful amount of trouble."

The pistol was replaced in the drawer, while the bartender glared at the man.

"I tell you what I will do," said the stranger. "If you will give me that third drink I will tell you what to avoid things like this in the future."

"Well, just on account of the nerve of you I'll do it," answered the bartender, and he produced the drink. The man drank it with very evident relief.

"Now, I'll tell you what to do," he said confidentially. "Throw away that pistol, which you can't use any more, and buy a stomach pump, which may come in handy some time."

So, as we were saying, we decided to stop drinking, and having reached this determination we began the reform early the next morning. We did without our customary early morning drink. We refused it definitely when it was offered to us at the breakfast table. So far as we can judge its absence made little difference in our appetite during the first meal of the day.

During the morning, however, we began to miss very distinctly the drink we had been accustomed to. Before the noon hour one of those dull headaches (the kind that make one wish for a more severe ache) had appeared, and by early afternoon we were stretched out on the day bed, indulging in mean thoughts about the neighbors, saving cross things to the children and admitting that we had the nature of a bear and did not care.

Saturday night we slept very little because of the aches and pains that annoyed us. We knew that one drink would straighten us out, but we had started the struggle and determined to go through with it.

Our experience on Sunday was about the same, although on the afternoon of that day we did cheat a little by going to a soda fountain and calling for a soft drink which we knew had a bite in it.

Of course we are very proud of the struggle we made, and it is only natural to boast about the fact that we conquered, but we will admit that perhaps we are personally interested in our own sufferings more than are others, and therefore we will not give a detailed account of what we suffered. We will be content with saying that on Tuesday we felt normal again. We have not had a drink of coffee since, and our mind is fully made up to give up this habit, which was formed in our early childhood and which we continued until our friend set us the example at his dinner party.

We have now qualified for the position of secretary of the new national association which ought to be formed for the purpose of having adopted a twentieth amendment to the Constitution of the United States forbidding persons from drinking coffee.

If any one thinks there is no struggle connected with stopping this habit let him try it.

Mountain People of the South and Their Future

By DOROTHY STEELE.

WHEN the smoke of battle clears away and the excitement over strikes and feuds dies down on the Appalachian Plateau there will still remain the mountaineers. The mountaineer as he is to-day may be lacking in many things, but in his life of freedom and independence he is an American with many of the characteristics of pioneer days and he has given a good account of himself in history.

It has always taken some violent upheaval to jostle him out of his hills and hollows. The civil war brought out stalwart supporters on both sides, but after the chaos of reconstruction the sons of the hills were apparently forgotten and lapsed into more complete isolation than ever.

Now that local conditions have once more directed the spotlight of publicity on him, revealing him in all his pathetic grandeur, it may prove the permanent turning of the tide in his favor.

"They are just plain onery," was about the most complimentary comment that could be had from the lowlanders in West Virginia regarding their mountain neighbors. The lowlanders are not given to sentimentalizing over their mountain neighbor and his hard luck, and are not deeply impressed when it is suggested that maybe the poor things haven't had a chance.

Little Sympathy for Them

From Their Lowland Neighbors

I refused to accept the theory that they are altogether "onery," as they say in the South, meaning good for nothing.

"These poor people have evidently been left behind in the march of civilization," I ventured.

"Yes, they got left behind because they were too 'onery' to keep up," was the reply. So it is evident that not much sympathy or interest is expended on the poor whites by their neighbors, either as they were or as they are.

It would certainly be about as easy to draw up a general characterization of the throngs who hourly pass Herald Square as it is to visit any point in the Southern mountains and attempt to characterize the mountaineers. We might say that all the girls who pass Herald Square have ankles, but very few have pretty ones, and we might say that all the mountaineers live in the mountains but very few are feudists or gunmen.

The Appalachian Plateau, or what is sometimes described as the mountainous backyards of the Southern States, extends from the Ohio River to Birmingham, Ala., a wide area, beautiful and fertile, but much of it entirely isolated. These isolated hills have been the birthplace of men like Lincoln, Boone and Jackson, a sturdy race indeed, but now a sturdy race deteriorated for the lack of opportunity. They are independent, these mountaineers, free and courageous, very courageous, even in their handicapped situation, a trait which is characteristic of mountain people the world over. Not so much is known of the origin of the mountaineer or how he got left behind in the wilderness, but his future, because of the sturdiness, is a matter of optimistic speculation.

There is not just a little scattering of these people, either sufficient to lend picturesque local color, but there are some three millions of them all told, and until the railroads burrowed in to them they were scarcely better off than the animals of the forests and hardly less wild. The little children would scamper into the woods at the approach of "furriners," as they call any one not living in the mountains, and rank foreigners by the way, they call the "outlandish," which is literal after all.

Sturdy Pioneer Stock Is There, But Also Descendants of Criminals

There were two classes of early settlers. Most of them were the fine old pioneer stock, seeking the freedom and independence and the great opportunities the rich, new country offered, but there came also many undesirable, criminals who were dumped on our shores.

Information regarding the origin of the feudist element is meagre indeed, but in all probability they descended from the early undesirable as well as the degenerate fringe of society known as the "poor whites." Backed into an eddy, with no traditions or ideals to guide them, it is small wonder the mountain whites are just what they are to-day.

They are not all objects of sympathy and concern, however, but they are all Americans and they are proud and free even in their isolation and poverty and while they rather resent the Lady Bountiful attitude toward them they are frankly interested in "furriners."

The wonder ever will be that Americans of whatever origin or color should have remained stationary for 200 years in any circumstances, especially in such privation as characterizes their lives in the wilderness.

There must have been some good reason, not mere chance, which originally led any considerable group of human beings to take up their abode in such a wilderness. There must have been some lure in the wild mountains which the lowlands could not offer, and if not sanctuary, what? In the mountains were safety from pursuit; exemption from all duty to country and State, and a living could be eked out, and the question would ever arise—what manner of man would deliberately take himself off from the marts of men and isolate himself in inaccessible mountains infested with savage beasts and rattlesnakes, for the mountains must have teemed with wild creatures in those days, and there are plenty of them there yet.

Then of course there were the unfortunate ever, we discovered a scientific fact. It is that when water is confined in a vessel it remains stationary when the vessel is moved. In other words, a coffee cup may be turned around several times without moving the coffee at all. We discovered this one morning when a coffee grain was on top of the liquid. We found that we could turn the cup completely around without moving the grain or the liquid.

We are sure that this can be applied to the universe in some way. Prof. Einstein could take a simple fact like this and prove that the thing we call the sky is merely the top of our bubble in the coffee cup of some prodigious being, while the earth is a speck of dust inside the bubble.

Presently he will drink his coffee and our bubble with it. Or maybe he has already drunk it, in which event our universe is by now probably lodged in his veriform appendix to his own discomfiture and the delight of his physician.

WE have read over the first part of this article and somehow or other we gain the impression that we did not make it very clear in the beginning that in our struggle against drink it was coffee of which we were speaking. So many persons have come to believe that the only possible drinking habit is whiskey drinking, which, of course, includes everything containing more than the forbidden one-half of 1 per cent; but it isn't true. There are all sorts of drinking habits, and whiskey is (theoretically, was) only one of them.

Now that they have made it impossible to get a drink of liquor there is every reason to broaden the word "drink" to its original meaning, so that when a man is said to be drinking the natural question should be, "Drinking what?"

Of course, in the old days it was different. We are speaking of the days when a man could hire a couple of negro musicians, one with a fiddle and the other with a banjo, and carry them around with him for an entire evening, so that he and his friends could have music whenever they wished.

We had a friend who used to do that. The last time he performed was in Washington. He was from our home town, but we ran across him several years ago in the national capital, where he had gone to secure a Government contract. He was in a seven passenger car which he had rented for the occasion, and had his two musicians with him.

Our business for the day being over we accepted his invitation to ride and enjoy the music.

The wartime patriotism was at its height. The hunt for spies and slackers and draft evaders was under way. It may have been this influence or it may have been just a natural desire to recite poetry. Anyway, our friend suddenly said, "Driver, stop your car." He did so.

"Driver," continued our friend, "Lives there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, 'This is my own, my native land.' If such there be, go mark him well—"

At this point our friend forgot the remainder of the poem. He stopped short.

"No, sir, I don't know any such man," answered the driver of the car.

"Very well, then," said our friend, impressively, "you may drive on."

It evidently appealed to his sense of humor, for in about five minutes he again stopped the automobile and the dialogue was repeated. Again the driver disclaimed any knowledge whatsoever of the man in question.

A third time the thing was repeated to the amusement of our friend. The driver was becoming a little nervous.

"If such there be, go mark him well," quoted our friend in recitation, shaking a solemn finger at the driver of the car.

"Mark him, mark him," answered the automobile driver. "Say, mister, I won't only mark him, I'll beat hell out of him and then turn him over to the police."

The remainder of our evening was confined to music.

understand the standards of other men, and it will certainly take him a long time to understand why the only place for a still is in a museum. I wanted to take back the pleasant picture of at least one homey cabin, but I did not find it. I caught myself sniffing the air for whiffs of fried chicken, corn pone, fried apples or something, but there was neither the picturesqueness of the negro cabin nor the delectable smells of cooking that usually issue from a hearthstone in the romance or beauty, although in the midst of wondrous beauty. Only sordid poverty, dejection and hopelessness, apparently; no evidence of any effort to create an atmosphere of home. As far as creature comforts are concerned they are where Moses was when the light went out.

Some of the poorer classes in the mountains live in cabins or shacks with not even a window. They have never had windows, and they are not necessary to them. Their "chairs" is tin; boxes or blocks serve for chairs, while their beds are bags of straw. Life is one long struggle to keep soul and body together, and they do not know how to better their condition.

Always Hospitable to Strangers, With No Apology for Poverty

To the stranger they are frank and friendly, and always hospitable. No apology for their poverty but "Welcome, stranger, to what we got" is the almost invariable greeting.

It is characteristic of the mountaineer that he is rawboned.

"They are that hard and wiry they look's though they had been raised on gravel," one old man described them, and certain it is that not much surplus tissue is wasted among them, neither men nor women.

"Hit's climb'n' and toten" what keeps 'em skinnin' the latter jawed individual who keeps a crossroads store told me, as he eyed me in a friendly way.

It is certainly a case of "climb'n' and toten," for even if a wagon road were possible not many of the mountain people would have anything but "Shanks' mare" to travel it, and a wagon is only for the well-to-do.

Whether a few more hundred years would find the mountain people in fur and feathers may be out of the question, but it is certain they have not progressed an inch the last hundred or so years.

There are many schools, colleges and hospitals working ceaselessly for the betterment of the mountain boys and girls, and the effort is ever in the direction of practical training which will not change too much their natural characteristics. They are taught not to despise their poor cabin but to make better ones, and when enough of boys and girls are taught to make better homes, better farms and better forests they will have come into their own, and the mountaineer will no longer be a problem but an asset.

NEARLY TEN MILLION HEAD OF LIVE STOCK WERE FED ON THE NATIONAL FORESTS LAST YEAR

More Than One Billion Board Feet of Lumber Was Sold From Timber Lands; Grazing and Timber Receipts for the Year Amount to $4,468,940; Technical Men Needed.

Livestock consisting of more than 9,500,000 cattle, sheep, horses, swine, and goats grazed on the ranges of the national forests during the past fiscal year, and of the great store of timber in those ranges more than 1,170,000,000 board feet were sold. Receipts paid in or still due from these two items combined to swell the income-producing business of the national forests during the year to $4,468,940, says the forest service, United States department of agriculture, in its annual report made public today.

The number of animals grazing under permit on forest ranges are classified as follows: Cattle, 2,050,715, an increase over the previous year of 16,815; sheep, 7,412,412, an increase of 141,276; horses, 73,871, a decrease of 4,144; goats, 43,190, a decrease of 10,495; swine, 5,177, a decrease of 889.

Because of the financial stringency in the livestock business during the past year, the payment of grazing fees, usually made thirty days before the opening of the grazing season, was deferred by congress until December 1, 1921, affecting to some extent the revenues of the forest service from that source, but the total grazing receipts, assuming that all obligations are paid, will show a falling off of less than one-half of one per cent, 12,570 sales.

The general business depression naturally affected the lumber industry, yet the cut of national forest timber increased 3 1/2 per cent, and was larger than in any previous year. Both the cut and sales of timber for future operations show strikingly the stability of the national forest timber business, the report states. Actual sales of timber during the year totaled 1,170,000,000 board feet valued at $2,211,218, as compared with sales of 1,156,922,000, valued at $2,047,746, during the preceding year. The actual cut of timber during the last fiscal year totaled $32,264,000 board feet, valued at $1,943,390. This compares with a cut of $36,131,000 board feet, valued at $1,770,399 during the preceding year. The total number of sales of timber, large and small, was placed at 12,570 as compared with 13,272 during the preceding year. Of these totals 12,235 and 12,752 respectively, in 1920 and 1921, represent sales of $100 or less.

Sales of timber during the last fiscal year included about 40,000,000 board feet for railroad ties and about 20,000,000 board feet for saw logs in the Washakie forest, Wyoming; about 600,000,000 board feet in the Sierra forest in California for boxes and lumber, and about $4,000,000 board feet, chiefly western yellow pine on the Crater national forest in Oregon.

"In all sales," the report points out, "the future productiveness of the ground is assured by the retention of young thrifty trees or of seed trees, and by precautions against fire, including the disposal of the inflammable slash."

An additional number of technically trained men, especially grazing and forest assistants who can be turned directly into the technical administration of national forests, timber and range lands, is imperatively needed, according to Col. W. B. Greeley, chief forester; so are higher salaries for the valuable men now on the forest service rolls. The annual turnover in the various groups of scientific and technical employees ranges from 14 to 27 per cent.

POLISH BOY CHESS WIZARD HAS RIVAL; CHICAGO BOY WOULD LIKE TO MEET HIM

American chess enthusiasts were interested some months ago in the remarkable exhibitions of Samuel Rzeszewski, eight-year-old lad from Poland, who met and defeated roomfuls of adult experts nightly during a tour. Now the west is talking about Ralph Talitkoff, ten-year-old Chicago boy. Ralph recently won a tournament at the Union League club of Chicago, defeating thirty contestants. Ralph is a member of the boys' club of that organization. The runner-up in the tourney was another boy his age, Frank Pagliano.

WHITTLESEY'S UNIT WAS NOT "LOST" IS CLAIM OF PERSHING

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 17.—The battalion commanded in the Meuse-Argonne battle by Colonel Charles W. Whittlesey, recently drowned at sea, was not lost, according to Gen. Pershing, who said today in a letter to Representative Siegel, of New York. Replying to a letter from Mr. Siegel, General Pershing wrote:

"Colonel Whittlesey's command was not lost. After it had been isolated, frequent attempts were made to furnish food and ammunition by airplanes. Unfortunately, it was very difficult for the aviators as evidence that the position of the battalion, which had been accurately indicated on the map. These relief supplies fell into the hands of the enemy. I mention this as evidence that the battalion was not lost in the sense that we did not know where it was. It was cut off."

SECRET SESSION OF COURT OF INQUIRY

(By The Associated Press.)
Austin, Tex., Dec. 17.—The court of inquiry to be held Monday by Justice of Peace Mendill in the case of the nineteen Austin citizens charged with the murder of Peeler Clayton Thursday night will be secret. It was announced late today. The examining trial, which also is to be held Monday will be public, it was said.

The court of inquiry will be to determine, the justice said, how Clayton met his death.

Clayton was shot Thursday night in an alley paralleling the building known as the "Ku Klux Klan Hall."

It was reported a meeting was being held at the hall at the time. Lions and tigers kept in captivity require one day a week without food to keep them in good health.

GIVE HER A TORRINGTON ELECTRIC "VAC" FOR CHRISTMAS

Give her a Torrington, the peer of all electric vacuum cleaners for Christmas. One of the many reasons so many people are buying Torringtons is a special feature—the non-motor driven brush. The brush revolves in gear as the machine is pushed across the floor. This has two advantages over motor driven brushes. The first is, that the electric motors whole power is used in producing a powerful suction. The second is, it eliminates the possibility of harming carpets with too rapidly revolving brush.

TERMS—A small payment down will put a Torrington in your home for Christmas. The balance can be paid in monthly payments so small as not to effect your regular financing.

LAYTON TAKES THREE CUSHION BILLIARD MATCH

Missourian Wins the World Three Cushion Championship By Defeating Augie Kleckhefer, Chicago

(By The Associated Press.)
Chicago, Dec. 17.—John Layton of Sedalia Mo., tonight won the world three cushion billiard championship, defeating Champion Augie Kleckhefer of Chicago 60 points to 58 in the third block of their 180 point contest.

The final standing for the three blocks was: Layton, 180; Kleckhefer, 171.

Layton tonight had a high run of seven in 71 innings while Kleckhefer's high run was five in 70 innings.

The game, in the opinion of spectators, was one of the most hotly contested matches ever witnessed here.

Layton had taken the first block, 60 to 44, but Kleckhefer came back by taking the second, 60 to 60, the score at the beginning of tonight's contest standing 113 to 150, with Kleckhefer under a seven point handicap.

Almost from the beginning of the contest tonight, first one led and then the other. In the twenty-seventh Layton led, 144 to 153, but in the forty-sixth inning Kleckhefer took the lead, 156 to 153. Kleckhefer overcame his handicap in the thirty-seventh

U. S. AND RAILROADS MUST CLEAN UP SLATE BY LAST DAY OF YEAR

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 17.—All accounts between the government and railroads arising out of the guarantee period of 1920 must be closed by December 31, according to orders issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The decision refers to the six months ending September 1, of that year, during which, under the transportation act, the treasury paid all losses sustained in operations and earnings by the companies whose property was returned from government control.

Under a special act of congress, partial payments have been made on the guarantee in advance of final accounting.

inning when he tied the score at 149.

Kleckhefer seemed to have a slight advantage through the latter half of the contest until the sixty-eighth inning, when the score was 171 to 170 in his favor.

Layton practically won the championship, however, in the sixty-ninth inning when he had his high run of 7, giving him a six point lead. Layton made twelve points in his last five innings.

The three blocks went 121 innings. Kleckhefer won the championship last October at Pittsburgh when Layton was a contender. Layton formerly held the championship title.

N. Y. NEWSPAPER ROW MAY BECOME EXTINCT

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 17 (by the Associated Press.)—Newspaper row, or Printing House Square, as it was known in earlier days, soon may be nothing but a memory.

Announcement that the Tribune would move from its planned building in Park Row to join the procession of other papers to new quarters, brought to the attention of newspapermen today that the World and its glided dome would be the last survivor in Park Row.

U. S. AND RAILROADS MUST CLEAN UP SLATE BY LAST DAY OF YEAR

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 17.—All accounts between the government and railroads arising out of the guarantee period of 1920 must be closed by December 31, according to orders issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The decision refers to the six months ending September 1, of that year, during which, under the transportation act, the treasury paid all losses sustained in operations and earnings by the companies whose property was returned from government control.

Under a special act of congress, partial payments have been made on the guarantee in advance of final accounting.

BETTER LIVING CONDITIONS FOR CHILDREN URGED

Infant Mortality Increase Throughout Germany Impels a Wide-Spread Movement for Improvement.

(By The Associated Press.)
Berlin, Dec. 17.—Infant mortality is increasing throughout Germany, principally in cities, has impelled a widespread movement by civic welfare associations and mothers' leagues to alleviate living conditions by securing municipal or co-operative construction of small dwellings in the suburbs. "Colonies" of cement houses, rapidly built by use of moulds, have appeared by thousands in the last few months, the occupants being assured of abundance of light and air.

While Germany has properly speaking, no such thing as "slums," the growing up of construction during the war produced insanitary and crowded conditions among the poorer classes. Half a million homes are required to relieve the congestion in Berlin, reports from Hamburg say there are 1,000 families, with an average of six children to the family, living in one-room apartments. Sanitary inspectors of a number of cities report as many as ten persons living in a single room, "being born, living, eating, sleeping and dying, in a space which only two persons could healthfully inhabit."

The mortality among children in these crowded centers has been found to be vastly higher than with the children of peasants, who have the advantage of space, fresh air, open air, and sunlight. Meanwhile, a disinclination to increase the size of apartment buildings is evident among the promoters of the "healthier children" movement.

It is pointed out that adjacent to every German city there are large tracts of land which ought to be donated to charity by the owners, many of whom are non-resident or rich and who hold the lands for speculative purposes.

PUPILS SERVED HOT LUNCHES IN CAPITAN SCHOOL

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

Capitan, N. M., Dec. 17.—The domestic science department of the Lincoln county high school at Capitan opened a room for serving hot lunches at the noon hour to all pupils carrying their meals to school. The project is meeting with the approval of the local as well as the rural people. The following items represent in part the menu served each day: Hot soups and crackers, 3 cents; sandwiches, 4 cents; milk, 2 cents; cocoa, 3 cents; bread and butter, 3 cents; salad, 5 cents; pie, 4 cents. These items are posted in each room and the pupils place their orders in the morning with the instructor of the department. These orders are then prepared by the cooking classes and served at noon by certain members of the class alternately.

The lunches are served at cost and the balancing of meals cooking of foods, serving and arranging of menu is all done by the group selected each day from the class.

The department assumes the entire responsibility and according to present indications this will be the preliminary step toward buying a domestic science cottage and taking care of the rural pupils who have not been able to secure rooming and eating quarters at a price within their means thereby depriving many of them from continuing their school work.

One cannot lose sight of the fact that this hot lunch project has stimulated interest among the cooking classes in the preparation of a larger variety of foods, as well as preparing the same food in a greater variety of ways. Many of the pupils are showing signs of greater mental activity apparently due to the balanced nourishment and possibly to the stimulating effect of a real hot meal well served.

INJURIES ARE FATAL SAN MARCIAL RESIDENT

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)

San Marcial, N. M., Dec. 17.—Carpio Chavez, 75, who was engaged in the livestock business here, is dead as the result of injuries received when a horse he was riding ran away, throwing Mr. Chavez from the saddle, causing severe internal injuries, breaking three ribs and his right leg. He is survived by several sons and daughters.

The funeral was held Friday, interment being in the local cemetery.

Two veteran boxers, "Denver Ed" Martin and Carl Morris, recently tried to come back, and were sent back in jig time.

THE MARKETS

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 17.—The week on the stock exchange ended very much as it began. Speculative issues were the center of attraction while investment shares were dull and occasionally under further professional pressure.

Oils continued to provide most of the brief sessions moderately large output, numerous industrial and unclassified specialties making their usual contributions.

Conifers, notably Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Reading and Lehigh Valley, were strong, but most rails followed their listless course of recent days.

Gains in no conspicuous instance ranging beyond one to two points, were shaded in the final dealings, when some of the foreign oils developed reactionary tendencies.

Sales, 425,000 shares.

The bond market reflected the perfunctory movement of stocks, dealings in government issues showing mixed gains and losses at the close. International war issues were devoid of special features.

Total sales, par value, $2,250,000.

An increase of $74,000,000 in actual loans and discounts, almost double the previous week's increase, was the feature of the clearing house statement, demand deposits showing corresponding expansion.

The only weekend news touching on general financial conditions was contained in the reviews of mercantile authorities. These for the most part were highly encouraging in comparison with the same period of last year.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Trade in grain was light here today. Wheat finished 1/4c lower to 1/2c higher, corn was 1/4c to 1/2c lower, oats 1/2c to 1/4c higher and provisions unchanged to 1/2c higher.

Wheat started easy and after an initial flurry turned heavy, sagging slowly until half an hour before the close, when a sharp break was recorded. In the final thirty minutes evening up and some buying influenced by export news caused a reaction in which losses were generally regained.

The trade was indifferent to news that 2,250,000 bushels of wheat had been worked for export in two days and the Northwestern Grain Dealers' association's report at Winnipeg on Canadian production and reserves was also ignored. It was pointed out, however, that the grain dealers had based their figures on the old acreage, whereas government figures showed some 1,500,000 acres excess and it was argued that this made the two reports about equal.

Sharp shooters in the pits have developed a favorite spread of sell wheat. As a consequence the latter option has been strengthening.

Heavy rains helped to hold corn firm. Towards the end, however, the break in wheat coupled with the fact export bids were below a working basis, turned that grain heavy.

Oats were dull and merely followed corn.

Provisions fluctuated within narrow limits.

WATSON'S "GALLOWES" A DEVICE USED FOR HANDLING GAS, SAYS

(By The Associated Press.)

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 17.—William P. Cowles, a local engineer who served as a major of engineers in the American expeditionary force, in a statement to a local newspaper Friday said he had recognized a picture of a "gallows" furnished to Senator Thomas Watson in support of the latter's charges of wholesale executions in the A. E. F. as that of a crane he had constructed while in France.

"We had to have some means of unloading gasoline tanks from cars," said Mr. Cowles. "I constructed this beam by means of which the tanks were lifted from the cars by a rope and deposited on a platform. I recognized the crane at once when I saw it in the paper, which called it a 'gallows'."

The structure was ten by eight feet and stood across the road from the depot at Gleeves, south of our office."

ARTESIA

The Baptist Young People's union was entertained at the home of Miss Gortrud Beyer on last Friday evening at her home on West Main street. About 25 guests were present to enjoy the delightful occasion. Several hours were spent in merry games and contests of many kinds. Many wonderful discoveries were made concerning the talents and ability of the members. Delicious refreshments consisting of jello with whipped cream and cake were served.

A large number of members of the Artesia organization of the Masonic order attended the special meeting at Carlsbad on last Thursday evening. Francis E. Lester, worshipful grand master of New Mexico, was present and made an address. The Artesia men who attended were C. E. Mann, Alfred Cull, S. W. Gilbert, L. P. Evans, F. J. Lukins, Frank Donahue, A. C. Kelmuth and M. F. Ferriman.

A dance was given on Wednesday evening at the home of Chas. Nelson on the Cottonwood. Several Artesia young people motored out to the scene of the festivities.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church held their bazaar on last Saturday in the Ragsdale building. Over two hundred dollars was realized from the sale. Many useful articles were included in the numerous articles offered to the public. Fancy work, beads, dolls, aprons, dresses, baby clothing and other articles were very prominent. A cooked food sale was also held in connection with the bazaar. Home-made cakes, pies, bread, coffee, doughnuts and candy were among the articles of food.

The "Troublemakers" are an organization of high school girls, enjoyed a delightful evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Kelmuth on last Friday. Each girl was dressed as some foreigner and all arrived safe, although none of their masculine friends was allowed to be around. Miss Emily Skeen, as a Turk, would have brought terror to the hearts of any who were not Mohammedans. The refreshments were served in courses, so that each nationality could find one course that would be appealing.

The first course consisted of onions, beans and crackers; the second course was composed of "all-day" suckers and popcorn; the last course of jello and cake proved to be the most appetizing.

Miss Beattie Lloyd of Dallas, Tex., is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. E. Mann. Miss Lloyd is well known in Artesia, having lived here for many years before going to Texas to make her home.

The American Legion dance, given at the I. O. O. F. hall on Saturday evening, was attended by a large number of young people from the neighboring towns. Artesia people attended in unusually large numbers. The music, furnished by Hamilton's Jazz Houn's, made the affair a very pleasing one. Messrs. Bun Muncy and Homer Dunigan were in charge of the floor.

Charlie Shorrett, well known citizen and a prominent member of Artesia fraternities, was taken to the Carlsbad hospital in a very serious condition. His recovery is very doubtful.

The revival meeting conducted by Rev. R. F. Davis, pastor of the local Methodist church, is being continued at the Lower Cottonwood school house. The results of the meetings are very gratifying and the attendance is growing. Many Artesia singers and musicians are furnishing music. An orchestra, consisting of Hazel Sipple, Clint Rice, Harvey Klopferstein, Ralph Terpening and Leo Myers, is a great aid in the music, directed by E. G. Shapland. The revival meeting at the First Christian church closed on Sunday evening with the baptism of several new converts.

The library board gave a delightful farewell party to Mrs. Ruth Skeen, who leaves soon for Santa Fe, where she will make her home. Mrs. Skeen has been a prominent member of the board for several years and has been instrumental in raising funds for the library by means of home talent shows. About 20 ladies were present.

The young son of E. L. Sully suffered a broken leg on Wednesday when he was thrown from a horse. The limb was broken above the knee. The injured member was reset by physicians and the patient is improving.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Mrs. Dan Elmer on Tuesday afternoon for a regular business session. About 15 members were present. The officers elected to serve next year were Mrs. J. M. Story, president; Mrs. S. H. Walker, vice president; Mrs. Ellen Hewitt, secretary, and Mrs. A. F. Rossell, treasurer. A very interesting program was given with Mrs. Stacy as the leader. Short talks were made by Mesdames Walker, Davis and others on the subject, "Building for Tomorrow."

The kiddies of the town welcomed old Santa Claus on Saturday afternoon when he arrived at Artesia for his pre-holiday tour. He distributed many presents and candies and nuts to the little tots. Many children gave him their Christmas letters so that he would not forget them.

For Indigestion and Constipation. There may be people in this vicinity who are afflicted with indigestion and constipation, and if so, they will be interested in the experience of Mrs. H. C. Getty, Indiana, Pa. When visiting in Mt. Jewett, Pa., Mrs. Getty was advised to try Chamberlain's Tablets for indigestion and constipation, and says: "This medicine not only cured me, but toned up my whole system, so that my health has been better than for years, since taking it."

NEW CHRISTMAS TIES at FIRE SALE PRICES

We ordered these ties before the fire to be delivered two weeks before Christmas—and forgot all about them, until they arrived the other day. Putting them out at their regular prices was quite out of the question—the contrast to the Fire Sale Prices on the rest of the things in the Men's Shop was too great. So here are the Christmas ties—brand new, all kinds and colors—all real silk—at Fire Sale Prices.

Society Is Being Good As Gold Jes 'Fore Christmas

IF there's any virtue in good behavior this time of the year Albuquerque society is certainly going to come out on top this Christmas. People are for the most part giving up their club and other social activities for the week in order that they may "get ready for Christmas," a preparation that is remarkably unselfish, by the way. The poor of the city are being provided for materially by the bureau of charities, and the Salvation Army assisted by the Elks and their ladies, the children of the sick soldiers here are being looked after by the American Legion women, and the sick girls of the city are to be cheered through the hospital department of the Y. W. C. A., which has enlisted the interest of a number of other women's organizations in providing individual baskets of Christmas delicacies which will be distributed.

But a Christmas bride is a Christmas bride, for that. Miss Virginia Carr, who will be married to Theodore Van Soelen on December 28, continues to be the center of social interest. The luncheon given by Mrs. Pearce yesterday was the first of a series of affairs that will be given in honor of the bride-elect, who is soon to leave the city after a long residence here.

MRS. PEARCE ENTERTAINS FOR BRIDE-ELECT.
A beautifully appointed luncheon in honor of Miss Virginia Carr whose marriage to Theodore Van Soelen will take place on December 28, was given yesterday by Mrs. John Fraser Pearce at her attractive home on West Central avenue. Mrs. Pearce as a hostess is always delightful, and her big house is at its best when filled with her fortunate guests.

The luncheon table had as a centerpiece pink rose buds and spray of blue peonies in a blue crystal bowl, a fetching combination. Plates were laid for the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. Carr, Mrs. G. L. Brooks, Mrs. H. B. Carr, Mrs. Edith Childers, who is to be the bride's attendant, Miss Angelica Howden, Miss Esther Howden, Miss Anita Hubbell, Miss Margaret Hubbell, Miss Erna Ferguson and Miss Lorna Lester.

A number of other affairs are planned in Mrs. Carr's honor for next week. Mrs. G. L. Brooks expects to entertain for the guest of honor, Mrs. Carr, when he arrives in the city from Cincinnati, where he has been spending the winter, and Miss Edith Childers, who will be a member of the wedding party, also expects to entertain for the bride-elect.

RAYMOND BRIDGE TEA IS DISTINCTIVE.
The afternoon bridge party given by Mrs. J. M. Raymonds and Mrs. Louis Raymonds at their home in the Highlands on Wednesday afternoon was the event of the week in social circles, no other pre-holiday social affair approaching it in either size or distinction of appointment. The Christmas motif was carried out in the house decorations which were of a charming and festive character.

Eleven tables of bridge were played during the afternoon and a number of friends dropped in later to tea. There were about 65 guests in all. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Charles White, Mrs. Frank Butt, Mrs. H. L. Bradner, Mrs. E. T. Chase, Mrs. Henry G. Coors, Jr., and Miss Maybelle Lovelace.

LITERARY LION IS IN CAPTIVITY HERE.
"America's poet," as our contemporary calls him (which is rather tough on several others we've heard of), is a delightful lion. He never shrinks from meeting people whether they gather round him out of anthropological curiosity or to learn to roar as he does. The past three days he spent in the city have been a treat to all those fortunate enough to come into contact with him.

Mrs. Lindsay is particularly generous of herself with ambitious young persons who have the writing urge. Regardless of consequences he always encourages them, especially in this part of the country, where he hopes to see developed the next great cycle of American poetry. More than one budding genius of the city timorously submitted verses for Mr. Lindsay's criticism during his short stay here.

College people are his favorites. It was an opportunity welcomed by both Mr. Lindsay and the students when Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Hessler entertained the Pipes and Pen club, the journalistic fraternity at the university, and a few literary satellites of the gentler persuasion, on Friday evening. The soiree followed a dinner at the Hessler home on the Heights for the host and Miss Edith Hickey and Miss Erna Ferguson, who were responsible for Mr. Lindsay's appearance here.

PRETTY DINNER GIVEN AT COUNTRY CLUB.
Herbert Horton entertained at dinner at the Country club Thursday evening, the occasion being his birthday. Christmas decorations were used at the table. His guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kleiber, Miss Mary MacArthur, Miss Katherine McMillen, Miss Anneliese Howden, Miss Evangeline Perry, Elaine Schmitt, Russell Edgar and Van Horton, brother of the host.

PANSY HICKS STARS IN "PEG O' MY HEART."
Acting a part that exacted difficult extremes of pothos and humor and high spirits, Miss Pansy Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hicks, distinguished herself on Friday night in the title role of the high school junior class production, "Peg o' My Heart." Miss Hicks as the Irish waltz in the family of her aristocratic relatives was a most appealing "Peg."

The whole performance was one of high standards among school dramas. The stage settings were inventive, the actors all carried their parts well and the high school orchestra played appropriate Irish airs in the intermissions. A previous matinee performance was given on Thursday for the high school students and other school pupils of the city.

Miss Hicks seemed every minute the petite person "Peg" and not a play actress, particularly not an amateur one. From the moment that she sneaked on the stage with her arms full of her beloved possessions until the curtain swung together on the last act she kept her audience at closest attention, and moved by turns to laughter and to actual tears. From the imperative to the pathetically appealing she was genuine in her interpretations. Her stage business was as expressive as her lines, which were exceptionally well spoken. A future in dramatics seems probable for Miss Hicks.

In the other members of the cast were for the most part unusually good, Owen Marron, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Marron, deserving special mention among the boys. The other players were Miss Mildred Ziehl, Miss Helen Schneider, Miss Laura Shaver, Richard Lewis, Nathan Glasman, Carl Allen and Frederick Ward.

DANCES.
The Elks have announced plans for an elaborate New Year's dance on the evening of December 31. Joseph Reisinger has been made chairman of a committee of seven on arrangements. The affair will be exclusively for Elks and their ladies. A buffet supper will be served at midnight. It is probable that this ball will be one of the gayest of the New Year's affairs.

GLISTERING SEQUINS ADDS A TOUCH TO DRESS OF CHIFFON

This charming gown is developed in light green chifferon. Bands of sequins trim the neckline, sleeves and hem. The hips are distended, ever so slightly, and the skirt then gathered at the waist line by a narrow band of silver ribbon.

CHRISTMAS CAROLING BY FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.
Where the candle light shines in the window the Christmas carolers organized by the civic committee of the Fortnightly club will sing the old songs of Noel on Christmas eve. A group of nearly a hundred singers will tour the entire city bringing the message of Christmas to those who are unable to go to their churches for it.

FASHION NOTES.
Slender frocks. In an infinite variety of new and enchanting designs, mark the mode of late winter. The well dressed woman continues to show a preference for the slim silhouette, the low waistline and long shoulder line. Distinctive sleeves are added to winter fashion features that please; odd sleeves grace even the plainest of frocks. In fact, the distinction between the frock that is smart and one that is not quite as modish as its sister is often determined by the cut of the sleeves.

Besides the continued vogue of the Spanish shawl for evening, there are many black lace scarfs and many fascinating ways of arranging them. These scarfs are usually one and a half yards long. Sometimes they are caught about the bare shoulders with a long buckle or pin of jet, or combined with black tulle and a velvet rosette. The lace scarf is arranged to snugly hug the throat. This can be worn with or without a hat.

The most practical frocks for business are made of jersey, serge, tricotine or all-wool checks. The jumper style is excellent for these materials because with it can be worn washable gumpies or blouses of net. The jumper dress is thus always fresh and trim. Other one-piece dresses, simple in design, requiring very little material, are appropriate, and worn with crisp white collar and cuffs of organdy, voile, net or linen are extremely smart.

Veils and gloves often make or mar an effective frock or suit. The season's veils are decorative. A black Spanish lace veil, draped frequently for the evening, is coming on black velvet hats or hats of hatter's plush. Chenille-dotted veils and net scroll meshes adorn the small toques. Gloves for evening wear and with short-sleeved afternoon frocks reach above the elbow. With long-sleeved frocks and suits, however, the mousquetaire glove with fancy top is worn more than any other type.

Bert Phillips, a well known artist from the Taos colony, was at the Alvarado on Monday displaying a group of paintings recently produced by his clever brush. Those who had the pleasure of seeing these pictures were very fortunate.

In looking at the study entitled "New Mexico" one could not fail to be impressed by the loneliness of the Indian as he sits slumped against the soft grey clouds, gazing out toward the vastness and solitude of the land which once was his own. One can feel the immensity of the country, its grip on his soul and the spirit of renunciation as he realizes that it is lost forever.

In the canvas called "The War Bonnet" the figure of the Indian seated upon a folded blanket is well drawn and the color effects are especially fine. One's eye is held with great interest by the large picture portraying "The Hunter" a fine type of the Indian poised in an alert, listening attitude, peering out through the trees watching his quarry while his hand reaches for the arrow with which to lay it low. The pose is wonderfully well drawn and the flesh tints are fine. The autumn shades of the aspen trees through which one catches a glimpse of the mountains in the far distance complete a fascinating scene.

Most appealing of all is the lovely bit of color entitled "The Cottonwoods by the River." The blue haze of the autumn day permeates the scene, softening the yellow glow of the grand old trees which cast their shadows of purest gold in the waters of the little stream. The effect of running water has been wonderfully produced and one can almost hear it rippling over the rocks.

Mr. Phillips loves nature and is especially gifted in his ability to make one see what he sees and feel as he feels as he interprets on canvas New Mexico in her most alluring mood. Mr. Phillips returned to Santa Fe Tuesday and the pictures displayed here now hang in the museum.

PARTIES

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCreight will be host and hostess this evening at an annual entertainment in honor of the members of their apartment home. Wood, who has recently returned to this city after visiting relatives in Tulsa, Okla. Christmas colors and a miniature tree laden with tally cards and favors for the guests predominated in the decoration of the rooms. Little Misses Edith Welch met the guests at the door. Four tables of auction bridge were played during the afternoon and other guests came in for 5 o'clock tea. The guests were Mesdames Everett Wood, Hilary Nelson, Nell Morris, Warren Whiteman, H. R. THIN, FLAT HAIR

GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderline" costs only 25 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass of soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderline" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick heavy and luxuriant.

ROAD CONDITIONS

The New Mexico Auto Club, state headquarters at 210 North Fourth street, this city, has issued the following on the road conditions in the state:

The Santa Fe Trail from Raton Pass to El Paso is in very good travelable shape, a little rough in the vicinity of Wagon Mound and Glorieta. Between Santa Fe and El Paso, the road as a whole is fair to good.

The two roads west from Los Lunas, one via Gallup and the other via Socorro and Springville are about on a par, some features in favor of one and some of the other, but travel need not hesitate going either way until the winter storms break, which is usually about December 1st, after which period, travel can take the southern route and avoid all snow.

The east and west road from Amarillo and Roswell to a connection with the northern and southern highways are all very travelable and now at their best and will be until the winter storms set in.

Quite considerable new road work is being done on these main state roads and which at times require rough detours, but by careful driving should not inconvenience any one. The New Mexico Auto Club will always bulletin any definite road conditions at their headquarters office and are also prepared to answer telegrams or letters from all portions of the state.

GRAHAM TRUCKS ARE PROVING POPULAR AMONG ALL CLASSES

Entering the truck field four years ago with dozens of other trucks already competing for supremacy, Graham Brothers with plants at Detroit and Evansville, Ind., have quickly won their way to the front rank. A distinctive feature of Graham Brothers truck is its Dodge Brothers power plant. The truck is marketed exclusively by Dodge Brothers dealer organization.

Light and powerful and sturdily constructed, Graham Brothers trucks carry one ton and 1½ ton loads at a safe speed of 20 to 30 miles an hour. Real versatility has been shown by the makers in providing body types that cover the whole field of business needs, and each type is shipped from Detroit or Evansville, Ind., complete with cab and body.

Commenting on the approval Graham Brothers truck has won among owners everywhere, J. Korber and company, local Dodge Brothers dealer, says: "It is certain that Dodge Brothers never would have permitted their name to be associated with this truck if they had not first satisfied themselves that it was thoroughly reliable and that it offered the owner advantages which could not be obtained in other equipments already on the market."

"Comparative figures reveal some interesting facts about the field of 1-ton and 1½-ton trucks. Compared with the average of 59 other leading 1½-ton trucks, Graham Brothers 1½-ton truck not only weighs 1,500 pounds less, but is $340 below the average price of the other 59. The horsepower rating of its Dodge Brothers motor is 24.5, which is 2 to 3½ more h. p. than the average of 59 other 1½-ton trucks or 6 to 1-ton trucks."

Graham Brothers 1-ton truck is 650 pounds below the average weight of 50 other 1-ton trucks, and sells for $400 less. And the cost of repair parts for Graham Brothers trucks, both 1-ton and 1½-ton size, runs just about 50 per cent lower than for other trucks of the same capacity.

Graham Brothers truck is cord tire equipped, with rear 34x5 on the 1-ton type, and rear 36x5 on the 1½-ton truck. The types most in demand at present are stake bodies, canopy bodies, express bodies, and school bus bodies.

"The declines in the price of automobiles during the past fifteen months have been so pronounced that the prospective buyers are selling themselves the idea that further declines are imperative," says E. C. Fuhrmeyer, of the Hoover Motor company, local handlers of the Oakland car. "Yet if they would stop to analyze the situation they would now take advantage of the prevailing prices and not try to 'wait out' the market."

"During the era of advancing prices the automobile stepped up less in proportion than any other commodity; coupled with this most manufacturers were leaving no stone unturned to improve their respective car, adding refinements, equipment, etc."

"When the readjustment period arrived the automobile led the way in price reductions until today as a whole the prices on automobiles show in percentage declines greater than on most any other commodity. Now the question arises as to when the bottom will be reached."

"First, let me call attention to the fact that all manufacturers of automobiles had large raw stocks on hand the first of January this year, and anticipating declines in the raw stock market they took tremendous mark-offs on their inventories. They also anticipated a fast decline in the labor market. With both of these points before them and seeing declines several months of depression, they started to stimulate price reduction. Each decline meant a temporary jump in sales and increased production which materially cut into the raw stock on hand."

"Today the automobile manufacturer finds in his liquidation over the past twelve months that his raw stock is exhausted. This forces him to purchase in the open market. The result being he had in inventorying January 1 of this year anticipated a much greater reduction in raw stock and labor than has developed so that today he is either forced to take a big loss per car at today's prices or must materially cut his quality. The latter is not possible as throughout the field the automobile of today is for the dollar asked, a much greater value than ever before."

USING WORDLESS SIGNS. Three wordless signs to guide motorists have been adopted for Massachusetts highways. Danger points are marked by three diagonally parallel lines, an intersecting road by a T laid on its side and a cross-road by a cross.

APPARATUS ON DODGE CAR TAKES MESSAGES FROM KEY WEST

It does not require an ultra-imaginative person to realize the possibilities of police cars, fire engines or emergency cars with a simple wireless apparatus which will transmit instantly messages from headquarters. To Edward Dalling, Harvard graduate and radio experimenter, goes the credit for a novel wireless device mounted on a Dodge Brothers car. While Dalling's equipment is for his own experimental purposes, it would be readily adaptable to purposes like those mentioned.

The set, as invented, is simplicity itself. Two broom handles and length of lamp cord form the antenna. A wooden box, originally intended to contain milk chocolate, is the cabinet for the sending apparatus, and an ordinary spark coil supplies plate voltage for the vacuum tube transmitter. With this set Mr. Dalling can travel about in his Dodge Brothers car and in the vicinity of his home at Quincy Point, Mass., receives messages from points as far distant as Key West, Fla., and Savannah, Ga. His sending range averages 10 miles, and he is working now on a much more effective sending apparatus.

Dalling says it is a queer sensation to be driving comfortably along in his car and suddenly have the buzz-buzz of the box beside him begin to take rhythmic form in dots and dashes—which may be his call number, 1FK, or just the rambling message of some amateur operator.

The whole set, as it appears in Mr. Dalling's Dodge Brothers car, occupies only a few cubic feet of space between the front seat and the dashboard. The inventor says he could construct one that would take considerably less room. "Some day they will be making them so small that we will have a vest-pocket wireless," he adds with a laugh.

Mr. Dalling takes many long trips in his Dodge Brothers car, but he can keep always in close touch with events through his radio device.

CARS HELPED HIM SELL $650,000 WORTH GOODS

Fred P. Mann, president of the North Dakota Retail Merchants' association, gives automobiles the credit when he writes to the "Country Gentleman" that his store in Devils Lake, N. D., sold $650,000 worth of goods last year. "Eighty-five per cent of our trade is with farmers. Many of them drive regularly 20 to 30 miles to trade with us and several hundred of our best customers live over 50 miles away."

11.5 PER CENT OF SMITHS BUY AUTOS THIS YEAR

Farm Journal has sent questionnaires to 12,824 Smiths on their subscription list and finds that 11.5 per cent of them will purchase, or have purchased, automobiles in 1921. This magazine applies the ratio to its other subscribers, totaling 1,100,000, and estimates that its prospect list for motor cars is 127,000 and for trucks 17,600.

INEXPENSIVE ACCESSORY. An empty oil can, in addition to the regular equipment, is a good thing to carry in the car. It may be filled with gasoline for priming the cylinders or cleaning spark plugs. It can be used for kerosene to clean dirt out of cracks or corners, or for oil in case the original can be lost or damaged.

PROPER TEMPERATURE. The right temperature for the motor to run is about 140 degrees Fahrenheit. At this temperature the oil will lubricate most freely and more power is given to the motor.

RIGHTS OF A PEDESTRIAN.

According to the supreme court of the United States, the pedestrian on the highway has greater rights than the motorist. The man afoot has the right to travel in the middle of the road if he chooses, and it is the duty of the operator of an automobile to keep out of his way.

LONDON LIKES SMALL CAR. In England the development of small automobiles in the past year, it is said, has been very successful, and nearly 16,000 cars of this type have been sold in London in the last six months.

SUNDAY December 18, 1921

INCOME AND EXPENDITURE.

There is a meeting this week in Santa Fe of all of the county assessors and the State Tax commission, to consult over the revenue system in the state and the proper application of the assessment changes made by the legislature last winter.

The cattle and sheep men are to be there to make others understand the plight of the livestock industry. Representatives will be there to point out the problems of other industries. This meeting is certain to resolve itself into a roundtable discussion of the dilemma in which New Mexico finds herself.

The Journal is optimistic for the future, yet the fact remains that the cattle and sheep industry has been paralyzed for a year and the copper mines closed down for about that length of time. New Mexico's assessed valuation has dropped about fifty million this year and a considerable part of what goes on the assessment books will not be collected because of the inability of the owner to pay this year.

The state and counties and school districts must act like poor folks. When income decreases, expenses must be reduced, or the sheriff is only one jump behind. All officials should preach and practice as rigid economy as is possible. All frills and furbelows must be cut off and we must get down to essentials.

The State Teachers' association should have members of its executive committee at Santa Fe this week and a report should be made to the teachers and school boards of the state. A closer contact must be established between those who collect public money and those who spend it.

Our readers are familiar with the fight of the Journal to prevent the curtailment of our schools in any way which would cripple them. However, the school authorities should see the frightful problem at its source. It will make them cautious and economical.

Labor should have representatives at this meeting. Those who are unwilling that there be a recession in wages would thus see the problem in the state and that fairness demands that wages which went up with the cost of living shall follow it down.

New Mexico can survive the depression, but she can do it only through understanding and co-operation among its people. Shutting one's eyes will solve nothing. The arbitrary exercise of power will not do. Co-operation and mutual concession must be the watchword.

The Journal will attempt to give its readers as full a report as is possible of what is said and done at Santa Fe this week.

WILL YOU HAVE A PART?

Are you going to have a part in this Christmas celebration in Albuquerque? Whatever your favorite form of charity may be, wherever your particular interest lies, this Christmas affords you ample opportunity for satisfaction.

Perhaps you may wish to build a structure where the poor may be housed. Judge W. W. McClellan has shown you the way by paying for the construction of cabins at the charity colony here.

The Elks have gathered up clothing which the Salvation Army and the Bureau of Charities will distribute. The Elks will hold a Christmas tree for the poor kiddies of Albuquerque. The Herald and Journal are raising money through their Empty Stocking funds for trimmings on the Christmas tree and to give material aid to the poor youngsters.

If you haven't money or old clothes, the Fortnightly Music club offers you a chance to lend your voice in the singing of Christmas carols. There are other opportunities, of course—a score. There is no way to get the "Christmas spirit" like giving something, if it be only service. Be sure that you get your share.

WHILE RUSSIA STARVES.

Lenine and Trotsky deny that they have any intention of admitting that their socialistic experiment has failed and of retiring to private life. In the meantime millions of their unfortunate "subjects" are perishing of cold and starvation. But Lenine and Trotsky have not felt the pinch of poverty. Well fed, well clothed, well housed, it is not surprising to hear that they take an "extremely optimistic" view of the situation. So did the emperor of France before that revolution got started.

SUCCESS IN SIGHT.

President Harding believes the success of the arms conference to be assured. Twice in one day he so expressed himself, and when the president speaks in that vein he has very good reasons for his conclusions. For Mr. Harding is not a hasty man. Though from the very outset it has been apparent that much good would come out of the conference, the executive has maintained silence as to results. Now that he has spoken it is not too much to expect developments of magnitude at Washington within a short time.

THE ROAD WE MUST FOLLOW.

Once we were content with the history of our own county, of our own racial group. Whatever we learned about other nations we learned because at some time or other our crowd had clashed with their crowd. There had been war or trade rivalry perhaps. It had reached a certain crisis. This crisis affected the development of our own land. So we studied the stranger because he had touched our destinies at some point.

Because we had gone to war with Mexico and had taken some land from her we briefly looked at Mexico. At Great Britain, with whom we had our first war, we took a longer look. But the point is that that most history, the kind taught in the public schools and the kind in which the average man was interested, was purely national in its point of view. The rest of the world was largely ignored except by learned specialists.

But now something better than a vague sense of unity and brotherhood is being born. We are conceiving of ourselves, of our nation, as a part of an organic whole. The whole history of mankind belongs to us. We share in the common social heritage. We are linked by invisible threads to all that has gone to the making of mankind as it is. No one group of us is separate and apart, but we are subtly bound together in a certain social wholeness that we can not escape if we would.

It is on some such basis as this that any joint act of all the nations of the world against war must rest. We can not act together unless we first feel together. Fellowship must be recognized in the heart before it can be translated by the hand. The rather extraordinary popular reception of books emphasizing world fellowship would indicate that our hearts are ready for an education in fellowship.

Insurance against handouts is the latest. However, the victim generally is fully covered.

UNDER THE ACID TEST.

The order by Judge Landis suspending Babe Ruth and two other players of less renown until May 20, 1922, and declaring forfeited the world series shares of each will prove a more severe strain upon the club owners than the selection of Judge Landis as the supreme arbiter of the national sport. The decision is an amputation of the pocket-book nerve of American league clubowners and the three players, an operation which has never been attempted before. Discipline for a refractory ball player, even a champion Ruth, is one thing, but penalizing clubowners with the same big stick is something else again. But that is what Judge Landis has done.

When he keeps the three players out of the game for one month after the season opening, he cuts off their salaries, but he also cuts off tens of thousands of dollars from the clubowners. The players may recover their loss in contracts at higher figures to absorb the penalty, but the clubowners can not count the money the "fans" refuse to pay because Ruth, et al., are not on the field until May 20, next. If the three players, Judge Landis and the clubowners all survive this test, baseball may really be said to be a sport in which anything is possible.

A wife is usually inclined to be skeptical when her husband says she looks well in last year's suit.

AN ADVENTURE IN RUSSIA.

On the eve of the departure of the Thirty-first regiment of infantry, United States army, from Vladivostok in March, 1920, a private attended a "vodka party." When he recovered consciousness he found himself at a little town 90 miles inland. Since then he has been wandering in Siberia and European Russia and gradually making his way westward. The other day he turned up in Riga, on the Baltic sea, and was taken in charge by the American relief administration.

If this soldier was observant, and has a retentive memory; if his mind is keen and discriminating, and he is able to appraise at their proper value the things he observed, separating the important and interesting from the trivial and the dull, he possesses in the recollections of his strange journey valuable literary material.

Notwithstanding the many books and articles on Russia which have been published during the last couple years, it is still more or less of an enigma. We remain in ignorance of many important aspects of the situation for those who have written of it have been for the most part journalists and public men who have been taken in tow by the bolshevik officials and permitted to see what the latter were willing that they should see. This soldier, an obscure person, whose journey into Russia was an accident, and who had no mission to perform and no intention of writing anything, no doubt had admirable opportunities for observing the things of which the outside world would most like to know.

Father knows what is meant by dead Santa Claus.

VERSE OF TODAY

ATONEMENT.

When a storm comes up at night and the wind is crying,
When the trees are moaning like masts on a-laboring ship,
I wake in fear and put out my hand to find you
With your name on my lips.

No pain that the heart can hold is like to this one—
To call, forgetting, into aching space,
To reach out confident hands and find beside you
Only an empty place.

This should atone for the hours when I forget you.
Take then my offering, clean and sharp and sweet.
An agony brighter than years of dull remembrance,
I lay it at your feet.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE AMERICAN HAT.

(From Leslie's Weekly.)
In these days of uniformity any change in the direction of individuality is gratifying. Such a change is that under way in the fashion in hats, for the Slouch is driving the Derby from the field. This is well, not only because the Slouch has the advantage in comfort and is less conducive to the falling out of hair. It is also more expressive of personality, for the man must conform to the Derby, but the Slouch hat conforms to the man; a sunny nature shines the brighter for the upward tilt of the forward brim; the pugnacity of the decisive is proclaimed by a fierce downward slant over the eyes. The flexible crown as readily yields to the nature of the individual.

Moreover, the Slouch hat is the American hat. Under its shadow the west was won from the Alleghenies to the Pacific. It has adapted itself to every American condition. Southern suns broadened its brim for the planter and gave it a protective hue. On the plains its brim stiffened to meet the flowing winds and widened to assist the far-looking eye of cattleman and scout. In the civil war it abetted the aim of the confederate rifleman and embellished with a golden cord it adorned the heads of union officers. Under its twin ridges the boys of '98 followed Roosevelt up San Juan and marched under the medieval towers of Manila; and then the war department learned from the cowboy and molding the crown into a single fluted peak set it upon the heads of our Mexican border patrols and those of the men of our national army.

But, whatever its form or color, it was always the Slouch hat; and so it still remains, however the fashions may change, for it is the hat of the man—the hat of independence and individuality, the American hat.

HOW DOES ANYONE EXPECT WE CAN HAVE A GOOD CROP

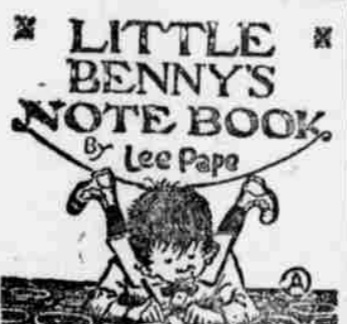

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WAIT MASON.

MY NEIGHBORS.

My neighbors all are splendid Jays, a credit to their race; and evermore I sing their praise upon the market place. And so I've made the discords cease that used to jar my nerves, and any gent who longs for peace must emulate my curves. Time was when I would pass along the evil tales I heard, and say that Johnson's life was wrong. Jones was a wicked bird;
I tried me that I must endure Jed Bunkum and his galls; and sinful motives I was sure, inspired in all neighbors all. It is not strange that men grew sick of hearing talk like that, and now and then a well-aimed brick would speak my Sunday hat. And when I found

I had no friend in all the region high, I reared my person up on end, and asked the reason why.
The reason was not hard to find;
I saw it, through my tears; and I remarked, "I have been blind and huffy all these years. I have refused to see the good in any human skate, and now, throughout the neighborhood men sing the hymn of hate. They throw their in cans in my yard, they sit down on my cow, and I, a fat and futile bird, can see the reason now." Then
I reformed, and on my life
I made a solemn pledge that I'd find something to admire in all men, and not hedge. So I began to roundly boost Tom, Dick, James, John and Jake, and neighbors bless me when I roost, and praise me when I wake.

This afternoon Sam sent me to the egg store for a pound of butter, and 2 ladies was in there, and I waited for them to get through, which they did as slow as possible, and just while I was waiting for the man to ask me what I wanted some other lady that just came in said,
"Will you wait on me, please?"
Certainly, said the man. I went to get her what she wanted. I went back, and I found the man thinking, "Heck, darn it, I was ahead of her."

And the lady asked for a dozen strictly fresh eggs and the man gave her the dozen eggs he could reach, proving she mite as well of just asked for a dozen eggs, and she went out with them, being a thin lady with a fat pocket book, and just then another lady said,
"Kindly wait on me, please."
Certainly, said the man.
Which he did. Being a long lady with a short nose, me thinking,
"Gosh, holey smoke, I ain't going to stay here all my life."
Which just then another lady came in, saying, "Would you mind waiting on me? Being a middle size lady with plenty of fat, and the man said, "Certainly, just a moment, as soon as I give this lady her cheese. Me thinking, "Gosh, holey smoke, I ain't going to stay here all my life."

AS THE PEOPLE VIEW IT

MR. RODREY REPLIES.

Mr. Editor:
Will you let me last get around to it and did reply to my mild criticism of your editorial some time ago, wherein I took you to task for as I thought, belittling the desirability of the direct primary, the initiative, the referendum, and the recall.
While I am glad at, and thankful for, the publicity your editorial this morning gives the subject, still I remain unconvinced. Not only you, but thousands of others in this state, (by your indifference) do in a way belittle the great efficacy such laws (if we had them) would have in New Mexico. Right here let me point out something you are doing and have been doing for some time, unconsciously as I believe: you accept the claim of the enemies of the progressive laws referred to, when they say "this country is a republic, with a representative form of government," and that the adoption of the laws referred to, makes a demerit out of it, which later they q-time as legislation by all the people. Of course this claim here in the United States is pure camouflage, and particularly so in New Mexico. Not a single person in our whole country, has ever advocated legislation by our whole people. It would be not only impossible but foolish. But for some years now, thinking people in our country, have come to see that our early statesmen in these United States made a grave mistake, in that by the constitution they framed and the laws they enacted, they deprived the people of their sovereignty, for and during the usual four-year period, or other fixed period, to which they elected their officials. During that period (save in a few very exceptional cases) the officials and not the people were the sovereigns. That condition obtains today in every state and in the nation, in so far as the progressive laws referred to have not been adopted. Happily, every state except New Mexico, has a direct primary law, but unfortunately only a part of them have the initiative, referendum and recall. Some of the states have these four progressive laws, and some have only two,

and the people are really sovereign, all the time, as they are right ought to be, and in consequence the three latter laws are seldom used. Having the weakness in such such government (with the aid of the direct primary law of course) that it is seldom necessary to either initiate a law or to kill a bad one by referendum, and that the people that the people made a mistake in electing. Those who have, or want special privilege, in exploiting, tax dodging or office holding, have been and always will be, against the progressive laws referred to.
Therefore, Mr. Editor, I do say that the laws or constitutional provisions referred to are primarily of much more importance than "the enlightened public opinion," because those laws cause enlightened public opinion and the lack of them tends to repress it, and so on. Having such laws in our constitution or our statute books for two years, education to our people and a greater stimulus to the people's good will towards and action, than all the editorials that have been written up to date in this state, and in saying this, Mr. Editor, I am not minimizing in the least the good work you and others have done and are doing. No, there is no difference between a real republic and a real democracy; the latter is comprised in the former, when sovereignty is left with the people, where it belongs. The "town meeting" or the "Greek village" idea or definition of democracy has long since become obsolete and the American idea of a republic, representative in character of course with the ultimate power and final say and sovereignty left in the people has been and is being, therefore, no one should help to bring about that condition in our state, which has neither primary, initiative, referendum or recall, but has bodies and all the evils of them.

STATE COLLEGE

(Las Cruces.)

S. E. Shull, general secretary for the local Y. M. C. A., had his arm broken while trying to start his car the other week.

Richard D. Tudor, a student in the sophomore class of this institution who took the railway mail clerk examination September 17, has received his commission as chief clerk of the Santa Fe division of the railway mail service at El Paso, Tex., for holiday service.

The Christmas holidays begin here Saturday and continue until January 2, 1922. A number of two weeks is given to the students here so that those who live at different parts of the state will have a chance to get to their home before Christmas.

The program for the Christmas celebration at the Mesilla Park Presbyterian church has been announced and is as follows. On Friday evening, December 23, a play will be given by the primary disciple. On Christmas morning, December 25, Christmas services will be held, and on that evening a cantata will be given by the young people of the Christian Endeavor.

The final championship game in the inter-class series in basketball will be held Thursday evening in the college gymnasium.
The freshmen will meet the faculty prep and the sophomore girls. These games will be followed by a dance and music will be furnished by the Fountain orchestra.

Ray L. Engley, of Long Beach, Calif., who has been attending this institution, returned to his home at the end of the first term to take a position during the Christmas holidays. Ray expects to return at the beginning of the new year.

Chester Pool of Raton, N. M., was suddenly called home during the past week by the death of his grandfather. He expects to return after the holidays.

Leo Tom Howell returned to his home at Marfa, Tex., at the end of the first term to stay until after the Christmas holidays. H. K.
Keller, of San Antonio, Tex., also returned to his home for the same period.

The United States postoffice department is letting bids at present for carrying the mails between the towns of Mesilla Park and State College, N. M., for the coming year.

ULTONA

THE REPRODUCER

The Reproducer should, first of all, be of sufficient size to adequately magnify the vibrations received from the needle and to transmit them to the Tone Amplifier with power and fidelity, retaining their true tone-quality, character, purity and power.

The Diaphragm (or diaphragms) should be of mica, the best known substance for this purpose—mica being practically unaffected by changes of temperature.

The Reproducer should also be of such character and construction that with the least possible effort—merely a turn of the hand—it can present to each make of record its proper diaphragm and most effective needle, instantly taking the exact position and offering the precise degree of pressure required by that particular record—for different makes of records demand varying degrees of pressure to insure the most artistic results.

Too light a weight upon the needle means failure in reproduction, while too heavy a pressure means early destruction of the record itself.

The most modern type of Reproducer is equipped with a permanent diamond point and separate mountings holding the sapphire ball and steel or fibre needles always in place. A turn of the hand is all that is necessary to adjust the desired needle or point to any record made. This most modern type of Reproducer makes it unnecessary to change reproducers or to use other make-shift arrangements.

BRUNSWICK

TWIN-FOUR MOTOR

The principal function of the motor is to revolve the turntable, thus turning the record. It should wind easily and noiselessly, operate steadily, and revolve the turntable at an unvarying rate of speed. Your guarantee of a dependable motor is the reputation of the house which manufactures it.

Up-To-Dateness

Means every thing. The Brunswick has been on the market the past eight years only, and is the most modern phonograph of today. It has the Ultona, all record reproducer, Tone Amplifier, Tone Modifier and balanced top, which never falls. The twin-four motor plays 14 records with one winding. All these new features are the cause of its tones—which like a violin, as it ages the better the tone.

EASY TERMS

AMPLIFIER

THE TONE AMPLIFIER

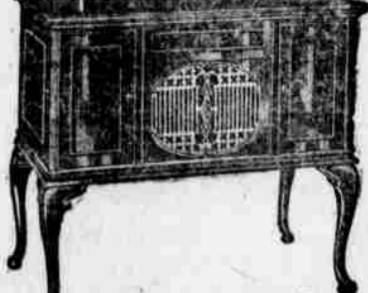

In order that the tonal volume may be full, resonant and clear, the throat and Tone Amplifier should be round or oval in shape, approximating the form of the human throat and mouth, and should by all means be entirely of wood in order to eliminate all harsh, thin or metallic tone qualities.

The full rich tones of a violin result largely from its construction of well-seasoned wood—all metal being done away with.

Then, too, the Tone Amplifier should be built entirely of wood for the same reason that wood is used in the construction of the sounding-board in a piano. Invariably in the finest toned pianos the sounding board, which augments and reflects the desired purity and volume of tone, is built entirely of wood. Even the dowel pins, which hold the wooden ribs and wooden bridges in place, are of wood, thus avoiding the use of metal screws.

So, when selecting a phonograph, the purchaser should insist upon seeing the Tone Amplifier (horn it is sometimes called) to be sure that it is constructed according to these advanced acoustical and musical laws. If it is not made of well-seasoned wood, but is cast iron or tin, a thin metallic tone is sure to result.

DETAILS OF THE FINAL COUNT

Campaign Ends at 10 p. m., Thursday, Dec. 22nd

In order to maintain the strictest secrecy as to the number of subscriptions and the amount of collections turned in by each candidate during this, the last period of the Albuquerque Morning Journal's Big Automobile and Prize Campaign, the race will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box. The last count of votes by the campaign managers will be made at 12 o'clock noon, Monday, December 19th, and will appear in Tuesday's paper. From then on until the close the standings will not be changed.

No subscription collections will be accepted through the Campaign Department this week, but instead, candidates will themselves deposit their final collections in the sealed ballot box—located in the Citizens National Bank of this city. By so doing no one, not even the Campaign Manager, nor the publisher can possibly know the voting strength of the different candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest detail. Locked and sealed, the ballot box will be placed in the vaults of the Citizens National Bank Monday morning, and it will remain there until the campaign ends and the count of votes is made by the committee of judges.

The campaign will end at 10 p. m. Thursday night, Dec. 22nd, but the count of votes to decide the winners of the different prizes will not be made until Saturday, Dec.

24th. This is done so that candidates in Districts No. 2 and 3 will be able to work right up until the closing hour of the campaign, Thursday night, Dec. 22nd, and be able to take the same advantage of the present THIRD PERIOD vote offer as candidates in the city of Albuquerque. Out of town candidates will mail their reports and collections on Thursday night, before the closing hour of the campaign and when the letters reach the campaign office Saturday they will be deposited in the ballot box to be opened by the judges.

When the final hour for the count arrives, the judges will break the seals on the ballot box, and immediately thereafter, or as soon as votes can be issued on the subscriptions contained therein, the last count of votes will be made and the winners decided. The winners will be determined by merely adding the published vote totals, which will appear for the last time in Tuesday's issue, to the reserve vote and those contained in the ballot box. There will be no waiting, no complicated count, but simply a matter of adding the vote totals and announcing the winners. It is calculated that it will require some time, however, to canvass the findings in the box and to determine the winners. The official result will be published in the Journal on Sunday, December 25th.

OUT OF TOWN CANDIDATES ATTENTION

Candidates in Districts Nos. 2 and 3 (Territory outside of Albuquerque) can work and secure subscriptions up until the last minute of the campaign, and as long as their envelopes show by postmark that the letter was mailed before 10 o'clock, the collections will be counted. Letters containing the final remittances should be addressed to CAMPAIGN MANAGER,, THE MORN-ING JOURNAL, ALBUQUERQUE, NEW, MEXICO. And plainly marked "For Sealed Box," "Not to Be Opened."

Particular care should be taken that your letters are mailed in the postoffice before the closing hour of the campaign—10 o'clock p. m., Thursday, December 22, and it is advisable that same should be sent under a SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMP.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

No Personal Checks of any kind will be accepted in the Sealed Ballot Box. If any are deposited in the box, they will be thrown out and no votes issued. Only Currency, Gold and Silver, Money Orders, Express Orders, Cashiers' Checks and Certified Checks will be accepted. Candidate will during this last week have all checks made out to them personally and cash same and deposit the money in the box. This ruling is made in fairness to all candidates in the race and will be strictly adhered to.

THE JUDGES

WALTER M. CONNELL, Bond-Connell Sheep Co.
Mayor of Albuquerque.
CHAS. C. ROEHL, Vice Pres, Citizens National Bank.
M. P. STAMM, Retired Citizen.

The above gentlemen who have kindly consented to act as the committee of judges in counting the votes and awarding the prizes, are all well known Albuquerque business men, and will have no interest in the campaign other than to see that every vote is counted.

Credit Schedule

THIRD CREDIT PERIOD

Final Fateful Hours

With the final hour, 10 o'clock Thursday night, emblazoned on their minds, stirring scenes are being enacted by candidates in the Morning Journal's Great Automobile and Prize Campaign, now swiftly drawing to a close.

Aroused to unprecedented opportunities of winning the beautiful Studebaker Sedan and Studebaker and Chevrolet touring cars and many other big prizes, each passing hour is instilling new energy into ambitious workers. Everywhere they are swarming in eager and anxious quest for subscriptions that will win them the big votes—and in the end an automobile.

These workers pay no attention to frequent rumors that circulate with the hope of damaging effect. Misleading stories have one object—influencing some candidate to retire for fear of being passed by someone else in the race. Such tales have no foundation whatever. It is obvious that no one can determine the ultimate result of the campaign.

Courage and downright hustle are the two main things to observe. Votes are the only things that will win the prize, and every candidate should—and, for that matter, is—taking upon himself and herself to annex just as many votes as possible between now and the close.
