SETTLEMENT OF EVERY WORLD CONFLICT TOOK PLACE ABOUT COUNCIL TABLE, SAYS HARDING

DISPUTES OVER 4-POWER PACT INTERPRETATIONS UNIMPORTANT

President Declares He Believes Mankind Has Become Wise Enough to Sit Down Before the War and Try to Settle It, Which is the Object of the Pacific Treaty.

Washington, Dec. 23, (By the Associated Press).—The submarine problem and the new four-power treaty, the one constituting the unfinished business of the arms conference and the other attracting increasing interest because of the difference in view between President Harding and the American delegation tonight divided the attention of the plenipotentiaries of the powers assembled in Washington.

New prominence was given the treaty discussions during the day by a public statement by the president, characterizing the differences over interpretation of the pact as "unimportant," and declaring the American delegates had the "full confidence" of the White House.

Mr. Harding added that the treaty contemplated no "alliance or entanglement" and asked that lesser questions of difference be not permitted to obscure the central purpose of the agreement to preserve peace and provide means for friendly consultation as a means of settling international controversies.

Within the arms conference, proper, the day's only session was devoted to a continuance of the debate over Great Britain's proposal to abolish the submarine. The discussion was not finished and the conference, giving up plans for an extended Christmas recess, will meet again tomorrow to consider it.

In the meantime, discussion of the general question of auxiliary tonnage allowances, remain in abeyance, despite the fact that additional instructions on the subject reached the French delegation today from Paris. The French have taken the position that the abolition proposal should be carried to a decision before auxiliary tonnage is taken up, and apparently their viewpoint has been approved by the other powers.

In replying to the British proposal today, however, Admiral Benson, chief British naval expert, gave the conference a glimpse of France's position on auxiliary tonnage by declaring no important naval power could afford to maintain less than the 9,000 tons of submarines proposed in the American reduction plan for the United States and Great Britain. The 9,000 ton figure would be greatly in excess of the French submarine strength and would be three times the amount she would have under an application of the ratio already agreed to as to capital ships.

Along with the submarine discussions, there has developed a proposal that plans be made for some future conference to include other nations and take up details of auxiliary fleet construction which some of the delegates feel cannot be settled here. The Italians have taken the lead in advocating a plan, and the British are understood to have suggested that the United States come forward with some definite proposal in line with President Harding's desire for a continuing series of international conferences.

ABANDONMENT OF SOCIALISM IN RUSSIA IS PREDICTED DUE TO CHANGES IN ECONOMIC POLICY

New Plan Is Being Evolved Calculated to Lighten the Restrictions of Communism and Aiming at the Partial Re-establishment of Private Trade and Industry.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Abandonment of socialism in Russia is predicted by recent changes in the economic policy of the soviet government, according to a review of the situation in that country on the basis of statements in the soviet-controlled press issued tonight by the commerce department.

A new economic policy, the department said, is being evolved by the soviet government, lightening the restrictions of communism and aiming at the partial re-establishment of private trade and industry and at increasing the incentive to production. Communist management of industry in Russia, it added, had resulted in a great decline of production and a general disorganization of economic life.

Lenine, a spokesman for the soviet government, said that the soviet government was not only prepared to recognize the defeat of communism, according to the department and is quoted as saying:

"The substance of our new economic policy is dictated by the recognition of the fact that we have suffered a powerful defeat and commenced a systematic strategic retreat."

The main features of this new policy, the department reported, include the partial restoration of freedom of trade in agricultural products; abandonment of the practice of unrestricted requisitioning of labor and the substitution of a fixed labor tax; abandonment of uniform wages for employees of the same grade in enterprises operated by the state; and the substitution of compensation according to the service rendered; leasing to private individuals of certain industrial establishments hitherto controlled by the state; and enterprises still operated by the state are to adopt commercial principles, paying private producers and other state enterprises market value for materials and selling their products at market value.

PERMITS 1,000 FOREIGNERS TO ENTER U. S. FOR 90 DAY PERIOD

Aliens Who Were Detained at Ellis Island Under the Immigration Quota Law, Are Admitted.

HUNGARIANS, POLES, GREEKS PREDOMINATE

Are Delighted at the Prospect of Being Able to Spend Christmas With Loved Ones in America.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 23.—The gates of Ellis Island swung open late today freeing more than 1,000 aliens, detained under the immigration quota law, so that they might spend Christmas with friends and relatives in the land of promise.

They will be at liberty for ninety days, under an order issued in Washington today by Secretary of Labor Davis, but must return at the end of that time for deportation, unless promised attacks on the constitutionality of the restrictive law have been fruitless, or the government decides to make more exceptions in their cases.

The order arrived shortly after 3 o'clock, and two hours later 200 of the aliens had packed their belongings and left the island. Others departed after nightfall, all the employees at the immigration station working late to help the men and women get away. Immigration Commissioner Tod said all of them would be released by tomorrow evening.

Hungarians, Poles and Greeks predominated, other races in the group being mostly from the Balkans. The men and women were released by the immigration station working late to help the men and women get away.

Many of the foreigners immediately boarded trains that would take them to loved ones in the west. Others landed at the Battery, and scattered to the various foreign colonies in the polyglot metropolitan area.

The cheerful tidings from Washington came so unexpectedly that the delight of the aliens became almost a frenzy. Many had been in downcast spirits at the prospect of a long and dreary Christmas in deportation from the land to which they had come with high hopes.

Each was released on his or her own bond, all agreeing to make arrangements for passage back home at the end of the ninety days' stay on American soil.

Commissioner Tod said he did not know the motive for Secretary Davis' decision, but the plans of the government regarding ultimate disposition of the men and women freed today.

Under the law most of them would be admitted until the fiscal year opening next July. None of them should have been brought to this country, Commissioner Tod said, placing the blame for their condition on the steamship companies.

PROHIBITION AGENT RETURNS FROM WORK ON PACIFIC COAST

"More prohibition agents are needed on the Pacific coast," the agent said, "and I am glad to be back."

While in California Mr. Stroup aided in the arrest of James Sheehan, a New York multi-millionaire, and the seizure of his yacht with a large stock of different kinds of liquor. The case has attracted much attention throughout the country, owing to a number of fine points of law involved. The case, when brought to trial, will necessitate the adjudication of several points of law which have puzzled enforcement authorities.

PRECIOUS STONES ARE SMUGGLED INTO U. S. IMPORTER TESTIFIES

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 23.—The smuggling of diamonds and other precious stones into the United States by passengers on incoming liners and also across the borders is being carried on extensively, R. G. Monroe, a diamond importer of New York city testified today before the senate finance committee.

He urged that congress reduce the duty on diamonds so as to lessen the incentive for evasion of the law.

MISS STILLMAN NOT TO SPEND XMAS WITH FATHER OR MOTHER

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 23.—Miss Anne Stillman, arriving on the steamer Adriatic today for a short vacation from the private school she is attending in Paris, said she would not spend Christmas with either her father, James A. Stillman, or her mother, who are involved in divorce proceedings.

"I shall be with friends," she said.

FORGOTTEN!

EMPTY STOCKINGS.

Christmas day, would fail to produce the joy and thanks? Which, finding unshod feet, would fail to provide shoes, or finding the shivering frame of a blue-lipped child would fail to cover it with warm clothing? Rabbi Bergman may not believe, theologically, in Christmas, but he believes in his spirit. Anyway, he and Captain Guest are to play Santa Claus for you. You supply the money and they do the rest. Out in the highways and the byways they have been hunting out the needy and learning the need, relying upon your thoughtfulness for the money with which to supply that need. The day before Christmas is here and the money is in hand.

KENTUCKY STATE TROOPS ORDERED TO STRIKE ZONE

Conditions at Newport Are Such That Peace Officers Can't Handle the Situation, Says Morrow.

(By The Associated Press.) Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 23.—Four companies of Kentucky national guardsmen totaling 160 and the necessary officers tonight were ordered to Newport, Ky., by Governor Morrow on his own initiative. None of the peace officers of the city or of Campbell county had asked for them.

Reports from private investigators, the governor said, indicated that conditions were such that the peace officers could not handle the situation. "Serious danger exists," the governor said, "that any moment an outbreak may occur, causing the loss of scores of lives and the disgrace of the state."

DISCUSSION TO CUT WAGES IS FRUITLESS

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 23.—Representatives of railway clerks and station employees and officials of the Union Pacific system failed to reach an agreement yesterday on a proposed wage cut for the company and the case will automatically go to the United States railway labor board, according to R. R. Butler of Omaha, representing the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees. The company, Mr. Butler said, proposed a decrease amounting to about $12 to $15 a month for each man, while the employees countered with a proposal for an increase of approximately the same amount.

DISABLED VETS WORRYING, SAYS LEGION LEADER

Minds Are Disturbed Over Difficulties Growing Out of Unadjusted Compensations, Is Claim.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Dec. 23.—Following a visit to the Drexel hospital for disabled ex-service men today, Col. Harford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, sent a message to Col. Charles J. Forbes, director of the war veterans' bureau at Washington, suggesting a plan of lessening the financial worries of disabled soldiers.

"The Christmas spirit of peace and good will finds in virtually every hospital ward a number of disabled men who are not only physically injured but whose mental worries over financial difficulties growing out of unadjusted compensations, prevents or retards their recovery," his message said.

"The cleanup campaign conducted by your bureau has left many of these cases of long standing unadjusted, and the men are in a state of despair. To cheer and reassure these men at this Christmas time the American Legion submits to you the following plan for immediate action. It is a plan of lessening the financial worries of disabled soldiers."

COUPLE KILLED; FATHER HELD IN PORTALES JAIL

(SPECIAL DISPATCH BY MORNING JOURNAL.) Portales, N. M., Dec. 23.—Clinton Hawes and his wife are dead and Hawes' father, Lewis Hawes, is being held in jail here in connection with the crime. It is charged that the father and son became involved in a quarrel at the home of Lewis Hawes, a few miles from Portales, and that the father drew a gun and shot his son, killing him instantly. It is further charged that the son's wife knelt down by the side of her husband's body, and the father turned the gun on her and shot her in the neck, killing her almost immediately. The couple were survived by two girls, aged seven and two years.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that Clinton Hawes was the murderer of his son and his wife. Hawes' preliminary was set for Wednesday, December 28.

BURCH 'ERRATIC' AND 'PECULIAR,' FRIENDS ASSERT

Several Say He Wore a Fur Coat and No Hat in the Summer Time; Court Adjoins Until Tuesday.

(By The Associated Press.) Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 23.—The trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belmont Kennedy, was adjourned until next Tuesday after a session lasting less than two hours today. Depositions relating to the mental condition of Burch formed the only evidence presented today. Defense attorneys said their case was practically completed with the exception of a "few scattering witnesses," and attorneys who will state their opinion concerning Burch's sanity or lack of it. Mrs. Madeline Obenchain, co-defendant of Burch, has been subpoenaed by the defense but has not made a known whether she will consent to testify. The attorneys also stated they had witnesses whose testimony would tend to establish an alibi for Burch.

The depositions read were made by Evanston, Ill., and Harlowton, Mont., acquaintances of Burch. The Evanston depositions told of noticeable changes in the defendant's habits after he had spent three years on a ranch near Harlowton. The Harlowton people testified they had formed the opinion that Burch was erratic and peculiar, one stating he believed him "insane." Several gave as a reason for their opinion that Burch wore a fur coat and no hat in the summer time.

ADMITS ROBBING PASSENGERS ON TRAIN OF $450

Earl Timmons, Arrested By Chicago Police, Also Admits Being Implicated in Other Robberies.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Clyde Timmons, whose companion, Earl Timmons, was shot and killed last night after they had kidnaped and robbed Mrs. James J. Callahan, her daughter and brother, confessed to the police today that he and his partner had participated in several holdups, including a Union train robbery last August and the sudden interruption of a card party at the home of Jacob Leeb, in Chicago, last June.

Following the confession, police took into custody Miss Mary Roberts, 23, who is said to be an intimate acquaintance of the dead robber.

The train robbery, Timmons said, was on an Oregon Short Line train on August 31, when the two collected $450 from passengers.

Timmons told the police that he and his partner had robbed a man, J. F. Walsh in Chicago, according to Timmons' confession, robbing him of his automobile and a $50 watch. The automobile was later recovered.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN WERE NOT MOLESTED

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 23.—One thousand dollars reward was offered for the capture and conviction of the two men who held up the Oregon Short Line train, otherwise known as the Los Angeles Limited, No. 7, of the Union Pacific system, at Clearfield, nine miles south of Ogden, August 31. The chief office of the Oregon Short Line was without information here as to the exact amount taken by the robbers, but it was thought at the time that about $1,000 was stolen from the passengers.

The report showed that the robbers joked with the passengers but that they did not molest the women and children. They jumped off when near the Salt Lake station and vanished.

2 PARTICIPATED IN ROBBERY, IS CLAIM

Ogden, Utah, Dec. 23.—There were two men in the robbery of the Oregon Short Line passenger train number seven on the afternoon of August 31. The train was stopped nine miles south of Ogden by tampering with a block signal. Then the two bandits boarded the train and proceeded to rob the passengers in a leisurely manner, leaving the train as it entered the yards at Salt Lake City.

BOOZE IS CONCEALED IN CHRISTMAS TREES

New York, Dec. 23.—Christmas tree dealers were surprised today to find bottles of liquor hidden in the branches of a tree shipped from a point near the Canadian border.

This discovery, the retailers said, may explain why wholesale dealers have been reluctant to distribute the trees when they arrived last night and doted them out only after loud clamor by the dealers.

EUGENE V. DEBS AND 23 OTHERS GIVEN PARDONS AS XMAS GIFTS

Former Socialist Candidate for President, Serving a 10-Year Sentence, Will Go Free on Sunday.

5 FORMER AMERICAN SOLDIERS ON LIST

Men Were Serving Life Sentences Pronounced by a Military Court for Murder of British Officer.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 23.—Eugene V. Debs, former socialist candidate for president, serving a term of ten years at Atlanta for violation of the espionage act, and twenty-three other persons convicted on various charges of hindering the government during the war with Germany, were pardoned today from President Harding's commutations of sentences to become effective Christmas day. At the same time five former American soldiers serving life sentences pronounced by a military court for the murder of a British officer while serving with the American army on the Rhine, received full pardons, effective Christmas day.

The action was taken after the department of justice had studied separately the cases of 137 persons serving sentences for violating war time laws, and after Attorney General Daugherty had discussed the situation at length with President Harding, who was said to be desirous, if possible, of granting some pardons for Christmas.

The commutations of the action taken was made personally by President Harding late today. The list follows:

The five soldiers given full pardons are Carl J. Brown, James A. O'Dell, Roy Youngblood, George Van Gilder and J. B. Richardson, all serving life terms to which they were sentenced while with the American army on the Rhine.

Other prisoners released included Orville Anderson, convicted at Deadwood, S. D., October 5, 1918, under the espionage law and sentenced to four years; Giovanni Baldazzi, sentenced to ten years after espionage act conviction at Chicago; David F. Blodgett, convicted at Des Moines, Ia., and serving twenty years on charges of opposing the selective service act, who is now in St. Elizabeth's hospital for the insane for observation.

Others given commutation were J. T. Gumbie, convicted in Oklahoma City and sentenced to six years for violation of the espionage act; Thomas Carey, convicted at San Francisco for violation of the espionage act, serving a two year sentence; Joseph M. Caldwell, convicted at Providence, R. I., for violating the espionage act, serving three years; Mollie Floron, convicted at Detroit for the espionage act and sentenced for twenty years, but already given a commutation of sentence to five years by President Wilson.

Clause Freeman, who was sentenced at El Paso for the espionage act, was commuted for departing from the United States unlawfully in time of war in an attempt to sell to the German consulate in Mexico plans for a revolution in Mexico.

CLAIM PROBE OF HIGH PRICES OF MEAT LOOKS LIKE A SMOKE SCREEN TO HIDE TRUSTS' SINS

Retailers Find Fault With the Investigation Ordered by Daugherty; Urge Prosecution of 'Big Five' and Their Subsidiaries for Alleged Violation of Sherman Law.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.) New York, Dec. 23.—The Associated Association of Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen made tonight a letter to Attorney General Daugherty, asserting that the investigation he has ordered of the high prices charged by retailers "looks like a smoke screen to cover up the sins of the meat trusts." The letter stated that the attorney general had failed to acknowledge a previous communication urging investigation and prosecution of the "big five" packing firms and their subsidiaries in New York for violation of the Sherman law by limiting the slaughter of livestock through control of all available slaughtering space in New York and Jersey City.

"We stated further," the letter added, "that by this control the 'big five' had been able to maintain prices at a profiteering level, and urged you to institute an immediate investigation and prosecution and we offered to lay before you all the facts in our possession. We have received to date not even an acknowledgment of our letter nor have any action of the department of justice been taken to investigate the charges we have made."

"Instead we read in this morning's newspapers that you have publicly charged the retail merchants of the country with the guilt of high food prices and have ordered William J. Burns to investigate the inquiries of small shopkeepers."

OPPOSE CHILE'S MEMBERSHIP IN NATIONS LEAGUE

(By The Associated Press.)
Santiago, Dec. 23 (By The Associated Press.)—Opposition to the Chile retaining membership in the league of nations has developed in some quarters here as a result of the league consideration of Bolivia's petition for a revision of the treaty of peace and commerce celebrated with Chile in 1904, and the assembly's action in appointing a commission of jurists to study the Bolivian claim, the essential feature of which was a demand for a seaport. The former Bolivian port of Antofagasta was definitely ceded to Chile under the 1904 treaty and Bolivia now has rail access to the Pacific through Antofagasta and Arica, Chile.

While Chile, according to some leaders of opinion, achieved a "moral victory" at Geneva in view of the jurists' findings that the Bolivian petition at least in part was well founded, the action in appointing a commission of jurists to study the Bolivian claim, the essential feature of which was a demand for a seaport. The former Bolivian port of Antofagasta was definitely ceded to Chile under the 1904 treaty and Bolivia now has rail access to the Pacific through Antofagasta and Arica, Chile.

He alludes to the advice given by A. J. Balfour at Geneva in favor of direct negotiations between Chile and Bolivia to "settle the extremely thorny problem," as a judgment which would not have allowed Chile to continue in a league in which it "never should have entered." He also says Argentina withdrew "because she would only take part in a league of nations in the full sense that word implied."

Senator Gonzales Bulnes, chairman of the foreign relations commission of the senate, has been the chief opponent of the league in the Chilean congress. He warmly supported Argentina's action in withdrawing from the league last December and at that time urged Chile to quit also as an act of solidarity with her southern neighbor. Speaking in the senate recently Senator Bulnes asserted that the league was "nothing less than imposition of the victor on the vanquished." He called it a "concert of victorious nations to make the vanquished comply with the rigorous conditions of defeat." The speaker said Chile always had sustained a policy of non-intervention by foreign nations in its issues that were the outgrowth of the war of 1879.

Barros Jarpa, minister of foreign affairs, in a recent statement on international relations, said Chile entered the league because it did not want to be absent "from an undertaking in which were placed such high hopes for universal peace."

MAY DEPORT EDITOR OF ILLINOIS PAPER

of a new gun similar to those designed for use by the United States army; Ed Hamilton, convicted at Chicago, August 30, 1918, and sentenced to ten years under the espionage act; William J. Hand, sentenced at Sioux Falls, S. D., in 1917 for violating the espionage act; Gustave H. Jacobson, convicted at Chicago and sentenced to three years for attempting to set on foot a military enterprise in India against Great Britain during the war; Mrs. Idell Kennedy of Los Angeles, Calif., sentenced to ten years for attempting to cause insubordination and refusal of duty among selective service men; Jack Law, convicted at Chicago for violating the espionage act and sentenced to five years; John L. Murphy, sentenced to five years at Sacramento, Calif., under the espionage act; Walker Phillips, convicted at Oklahoma City for hindering the selective service law and sentenced to ten years, though he was released on parole January 10, 1921, by President Wilson; Jose Prado, sentenced to two years for bringing aliens into the United States unlawfully in time of war; Albert B. Praeger, sentenced to ten years in 1918 after conviction for violating the espionage act; William Schumann, convicted at Fort Dodge, Ia., under the espionage act and sentenced to five years; Joseph Schur and Maurice L. Smitkin, both serving six year terms to which they were sentenced at Indianapolis in 1918 for violations of the espionage act; Joseph J. Stora, sentenced to twenty years after conviction at Detroit on charges of obstructing enlistments, and H. I. Treng, convicted at Fargo in 1918 of espionage law violations and sentenced to two years.

The List in the Main.
"The list in the main," said an executive statement given out at the White House, "is made up of those who opposed the war in one way or another and it is made up of less than a third of I. W. W. prisoners, and these have either expressed full repentance, or are book for deportation. The department of justice has given no recommendations in behalf of the addressees of government property in force, and the president let it be known he would not consider such cases. In addition to the five socialists on the list, many other cases are under consideration."

"No comment was made by the president on the case of Debs. The president and the attorney general had given very extended consideration to the Debs petition and it is known that the fact that he had twice been the presidential nominee of a million of voters, had its influence in reaching a decision favorable to his release."

Ends of Justice Met.
"The president expressed the wish that it be stated that the grant of clemency in the cases acted upon does not question the justice of any action of the courts in enforcing the law in a time of national peril, but he feels the ends of justice have been fairly met in view of the changed conditions."

"The vast majority of so-called political prisoners still imprisoned are the I. W. W. group, are rarely American citizens and have no good claim to executive clemency. A number of convicted citizens have never been imprisoned owing to appeals under bond. There are also many thousands of inmates under war legislation still pending. These do not come under executive consideration."

Supplementary Statement.
A supplementary White House statement on the Debs case further amplified the view taken by the president.

"There is no question of his guilt and that he actively and purposefully obstructed the draft," this statement said.

"In fact, he admitted it at the trial, but sought to justify his action. He was by no means, however, as rabid and outspoken in his expressions as many others, and but for his prominence and the resultant and far-reaching effect of his words, very probably might not have received the sentence."

OBSCURE SINGER DEFEATS RIVALS

From more than 50 baritones who participated in the contest, Paul Parks of Nelsonville, O., has been selected by the judges for a debut at the memorial concert to the late David Sapham at Carnegie hall Dec. 13. The announcement has been made by the memorial committee named to carry out the late baritone's wishes that opportunities be afforded young American singers at these concerts.

tence he did. He is an old man, not strong physically. He is a man of much personal charm and a pleasant personality, which qualification made him a dangerous man, calculated to mislead the unthinking and affording excuse for those with criminal intent."

Woman Is Included.
One woman, Mrs. Idell Kennedy, convicted at Los Angeles of hindering the selective service act, by arranging with an oculist to furnish national army men with eye glasses which distorted their vision and made them unfit for army service, was included in the list, with a notation that President Wilson previously had reduced her sentence from eleven to three years on condition that she be placed in a sanitarium for the insane.

Claus Freese, who was convicted at El Paso, Tex., in 1918, the summary said, attempted to sell to a German consul in Mexico, plans of a gun which the American army was expected to use, although he contended that the plans were impracticable and that he was "trying to play a Yankee trick" on the diplomatic agent.

Joseph Schur, formerly a practicing attorney at Indianapolis and Maurice L. Smitkin were two cases coupled together in President Harding's commutations, both men having been involved in a conspiracy to sell exemptions to young men who had been summoned for army service in New York. Each was sentenced to six years in prison, but were released on parole August 25.

Poet To Be Deported.

Among the I. W. W. prisoners released was Charles Ashleigh, a writer of poetry and prose, who has served two years of a ten-year term and will be deported to his native country, England. Giovanni Baldizzi, of Chicago, who was manager of "Il Proletario," an Italian paper conducted by the I. W. W., was also released for deportation, although a fine of $30,000 had been added by the court to his ten-year prison sentence. These were the only two members of the organization who had attained any prominence to obtain release, it was said.

Wilhelm Schumann, a German Lutheran minister at Pomeroy, Iowa, was convicted of having preached a sermon during the war urging punishment for all enemies of Germany, and his release was ordered today.

Mojick Flegen, formerly an officer in the Austrian army, who was convicted at Detroit of obstructing the selective service act, and sentenced to twenty years, was given his final release by the list, President Wilson having acted previously to reduce the sentence to five years. Among the miscellaneous cases were those of two Oklahoma farmers who joined early in the war in a general rebellion against the selective service act, which was quickly suppressed. Gustave H. Jacobson, of Chicago, also named for release, aided a conspiracy during the war to raise a native rebellion against British rule in India, insofar as he allowed his house to be used for a meeting place by those concerned, but the statement issued today said he was "not shown to have been in reality an enemy of the United States."

Members of the I. W. W.
Jack Law, another member of the I. W. W., convicted at Chicago in 1918, the summary said, represented "one of the cases wherein it is earnestly claimed by many persons that there was no evidence at the trial to show that the applicant was guilty of any disloyal act, during the war."

In making the announcement of the executive action today, President Harding stated at the outset that he had no comment to make on the Debs case and this was interpreted as meaning that no action was forthcoming in regard to the former socialist leader at this time. Within a few minutes, however, the complete list was made available to the newspaper correspondents and disclosed that Mr. Debs' release had been authorized.

YIELDED TO PUBLIC SENTIMENT, ASSERTS

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Otto F. Branstetter, executive secretary of the socialist party, in a statement issued tonight, said the release of Eugene V. Debs from the federal prison at Atlanta, asserted that public sentiment for his release had grown so strong that the administration "could not much longer fail to do this act of simple justice."

Terming the release of Debs a "grudging concession to a demand which was becoming too strong to be longer resisted," the statement deplores the fact that all prisoners convicted for alleged violations of the espionage act were not released.

SETTLEMENT OF EVERY WORLD CONFLICT TOOK PLACE, SAYS HARDING

I live it with all my heart. I do not say that with the thought of arrogating to the United States of America, any greater part of the contribution than which has been made by other nations of like importance and like civilization. But it seems to me that if, as we have come to know more fully the aftermath of the war, as we have come to appraise the unseparable cost of it all, there is a new conviction in the hearts of men that that sort of appeal—the appeal to arms—to settle international questions is a futile thing and that we are unworthy of our position and unworthy of the blessings which have come to a righteous civilization if we do not find some means for a righteous adjustment without appeal to slaughter and waste and all the distress that attend an agreement. I think that conviction has rooted itself through the world and there must come some helpful progressive expression of it. I think that expression is being given in this conference. I have no thought to preach on this subject today but make your own applications, please.

How Wars Are Settled.
"When men sit about the council table and look each other in the face and look upon the problems deliberately, without passion, they find the way to come to an agreement. And after all, there has never been a conflict in the world that has not been settled in the way I say. I say the world war, you destroy thousands or millions of men and measureless treasure, and then you gather about a table and settle it. I have a feeling that mankind has become wise enough to sit down before the war and try to settle it. And that is the object of the run-party treaty. That is why I say the small lack of agreement in constructing it is not significant."

New Spirit Seeking Peace.

"Why, if there was a menace to peace in Japan, what objection could there be for the United States to sit down with her friend in the orient, and with the other great powers, and discuss how the matter could be adjusted? If some one threatened Serbia, there would have been no European war. The whole purpose of this conference is to provide some means whereby just, thoughtful, righteous peoples, who are not seeking to seize something which does not belong to them, can live peacefully together and eliminate causes of conflict. This is in the American heart and it is in the British heart and it is in the French heart and it is everywhere in the world. If this present day civilization cannot take advantage of this new realization of that emphasized conviction, I would not be much for the civilization of the world. If this present day civilization cannot take advantage of this new realization of that emphasized conviction, I would not be much for the civilization of the world. If this present day civilization cannot take advantage of this new realization of that emphasized conviction, I would not be much for the civilization of the world."

ROBBER SLAIN AFTER THEFT IS IDENTIFIED

(By The Associated Press.)
Billings, Mont., Dec. 23.—A man who was killed here last night by Patrolman Frank Floyd, following the robbery of H. G. Kogen, a tailor, was identified today by a former fellow employee of the Midwest Refining company at Casper, Wyo., as Earl P. Pike. A message from the sheriff at Casper stated that Pike was wanted in that city on a charge of robbery.

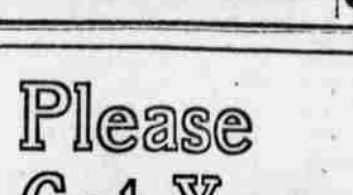

The shooting occurred on one of the main business streets after dark and a companion had held up Kogen. The robber got two diamonds valued at $300, a gold watch which Kogen said is worth $200, and about $40 in cash.

Kogen was knocked out and severely beaten but regained consciousness in time to sound the alarm which sent a patrolman after the bandits. When they refused to stop at the command of the officer, the latter fired a bullet hitting Pike in the neck. He died later in a hospital.

PLAN TO BAR HORSES FROM THE PRINCIPAL PARIS THOROUGHFARES

(By The Associated Press.)

Paris, Dec. 23.—The horse soon will be but a memory, so far as the principal thoroughfares of Paris are concerned if plans of "traffic reformers" are adopted in an effort to disentangle the traffic jams which are daily making the pedestrian's existence more uncertain.

These experts purpose to bar all horse-drawn vehicles from the chief traffic arteries during the daylight hours, leaving the horse only a few hours at night in which to jog along. The traffic authorities would go further and even banish ordinary human beings who are forced to walk. They purpose putting them all underground on a moving sidewalk.

In any event, those who take a gloomy view of the traffic situation, see one optimistic aspect of it. They say it can't get any worse. Accidents are almost hourly occurrences on the boulevards and a tieup is the inevitable result.

The red bands at crossings, constructed to give protection to the walkers, have proved a failure. Only a heavy rain reveals their presence and even the drivers ignore them. "Cruising" taxicabs add to the confusion and it is further suggested that this practice be prohibited, he increase in the buses has deprived taxicabs of much business and they are now forced to solicit business, a thing unnecessary since 1914.

COMMITTEE HAS 3 HOUR DEBATE ON SUBMARINES

French Admiral Claims the Conference Cannot Limit Construction; Britain Favors Total Abolition.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 23.—A three-hour triangular debate on submarines occurred today in the naval committee of the Washington conference. Admiral de Bon, of France; Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British group, and Senator Schanzler, of Italy, being the only participants. The official communiqué issued by the committee showed that no action was taken, although Admiral de Bon declared the conference could not "reasonably" limit submarine construction at all but that if it did "that 90,000 tons is the absolute minimum for all the navies who may want to have a submarine force."

For the British, Mr. Balfour reiterated and extended arguments already advanced by Lord Lee for total abolition of submarines. He admitted, however, that "the British empire has not hope of getting any important support in the course of this conference," adding:

"I do earnestly trust that our debates may go beyond the limits of this room or even of a public session."

Senator Schanzler insisted that the conference was "confronted by a substantially technical difference of opinion," as the defensive value of submarines. The Italian delegation felt that the problem should be "examined subsequently in a wider conference," he said, before any action toward abolition of the underwater craft could be taken.

"For the present," Senator Schanzler added, "one point is clear in our minds and that is that the best course would be to follow even in this case the spirit of the American proposal and consequently to limit submarine construction to the measure strictly necessary for the ends of purely defensive naval policy."

De Bon Takes Exceptions. Admiral de Bon took exception to a portion of Mr. Balfour's remarks which the French officer regarded as implying to him a desire to support the theory that submarines had a right to destroy merchant vessels without saving the crews. Neither he nor the French government held that view, he said.

Mr. Balfour replied that he had not intended to misrepresent Admiral de Bon, but had attempted to show that if the submarine was to play "the great role in future wars which Admiral de Bon had suggested in his speech it was necessary to so by resort to extreme methods, for it was futile to suppose that submarines would make a practice of stopping merchant ships and placing prize crews on board to take them into port."

Opens Debate. Admiral de Bon opened the debate with a lengthy address to the committee calling attention to the opposing views as to submarines expressed yesterday by Lord Lee and the report of the American advisory committee. But for "certain differences of opinion" in the naval committee, he said, these two presentations might be regarded as having almost "exhausted" debate.

As to the usefulness of submarines against war craft, Admiral de Bon recalled that France had three battleships, five cruisers and had several other ships torpedoed during the war, losing 130,000 tons in fighting craft in all from submarine attacks. He said that Italy and Great Britain had also lost battleships in the same way, and that in addition, all three nations were compelled to erect defensive systems against U-boats which "constantly had an influence toward weakening the general forces of the nations engaged."

What Germany Did. The admiral argued that Germany had "maintained her entire coast intact," because her submarine force had made approach to the mine field protections "really dangerous" while in the Adriatic. "Submarines also formed one of the most powerful means of action for the enemy," he added, "the bombardment of Turkish fortifications at the Dardanelles, he added, had been "achieved by enemy submarines and "paid for their efforts with the loss of several ships."

"In a word," Admiral de Bon said, "the submarine has proved its worth as a means of attack against warships and in the protection of coasts."

U-boats had shown themselves "especially efficient," he added, against the merchant marine. "I have only had to think of the attack on the Lusitania," he said, "to recall to all peoples," he added, "that the German attack on neutrals and non-belligerents, not the attack on merchant vessels, was their enemy."

"In fact," he said, "it has always been one of the most effective."

LOVE JOY IS NOW BRAINFUL OF NEW LIFE AND ENERGY

"Tanlac has put me back on the job feeling fine," said Raymond Lovejoy, 316 Flora Street, Los Angeles, well-known shopman employed by Southern Pacific Railway.

"I was in such a run-down condition that I got nothing at all tired out and could not eat a mouthful of breakfast. I felt so tired and worn out that if I had gone according to my feelings I would have stayed home. By the time the day was over I would be so played out that I could scarcely drag myself home."

"When my wife's mother told of the great good of Tanlac, I decided to try it. I have only taken three bottles and I want to tell you I feel like a different man. My appetite has come back with a rush. I eat what I want without any unpleasant after-effects and breakfast is one of my heartiest meals. Before I took Tanlac a half hour's job would tire me out more than a whole day's work does now. I am just brimming with life and energy. Tanlac is exactly what I needed and it is a pleasure to recommend it to those who suffer as I did."

Tanlac is sold in Albuquerque by the Alvarado Pharmacy and all other leading druggists everywhere.

RETURN OF ED WALSH TO BIG LEAGUES MAKES OLD FANS RETELL HIS DEEDS

Ed Walsh as he appeared at the recent meeting of the major leagues and as he looked in his palmy days with the White Sox.

Big Ed Walsh, who almost single-handed won a pennant for the White Sox in 1906 and then made the Cubs eat out of the same hand, is coming back to the American league next year as an umpire, Ben Johnson has announced. Walsh's iron man stunts made him one of the most famous hurlers in the game's history. Every old-time fan has his pet story about the husky hurler—and said fan is busy these days retelling that story.

Two means of seriously crippling one's adversary to attack enemy merchant craft" and the French officer thought "it would always seem legitimate to do so."

Taking an Extreme Case. "If taking an extreme case, one might consider it possible to bring one's adversary to a point of yielding by this process, would it not be less cruel and less wasteful of human life than military operations which would arrive at the same result by direct application of force?" Admiral de Bon inquired. "One might protest against this interpretation, but such would be the result of a blockade which is a legitimate practice and its effects would not be peculiar to submarines."

The French admiral said the German submarine campaign had been "aimed almost exclusively at moral effect" in the beginning and it was only later that they took into consideration the "material results" of their campaign. He insisted that war against enemy commercial ships could have been waged legitimately, although he made no attempt "to formulate a doctrine" as to the process. Results of a submarine campaign confined to "honorable warfare" would have been smaller, he added, "but it was impossible to claim that there would have been none."

Submarine Is Useful. Admiral de Bon insisted that the submarine was useful against both war and commercial fleets and in the opinion of the French delegation, "was especially the weapon of nations not having a large navy."

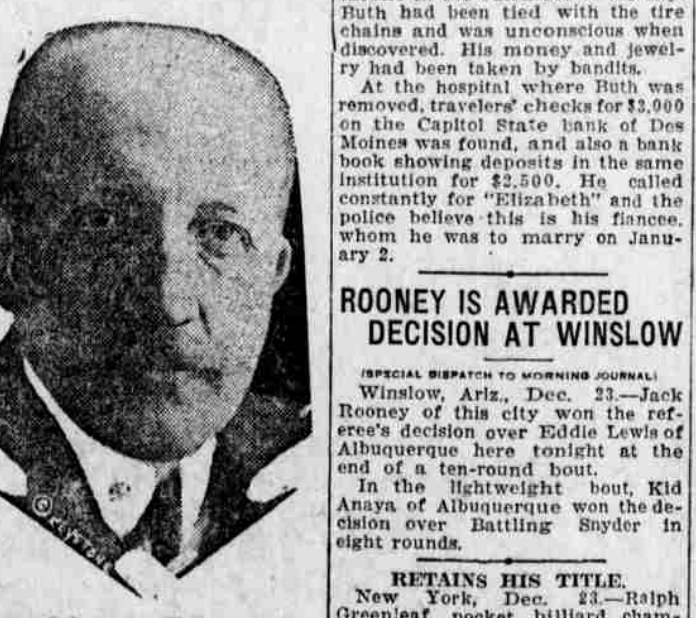

As the conference was "occupied above all with economic questions," he said, "the submarine was willing to give them precedence over the matter of the safety of nations," he said, "this seemed at first an argument worth remembering."

The French officer pointed out in the case of every other kind of weapon, there was no doubt "that further great progress will be made in two directions: The power of attack of the submarine and the efficiency of methods of combatting it. Operations pictured the possible development of huge airships capable of attack on land or far at sea and able to spread gas over a considerable area of sea paralyzing large ships, possibly squadrons. The submarine, he said, might well become a defense against aircraft because of its ability to submerge and temporarily to escape the blows of the adversary in the air."

CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS ARE DISCOMMODDED BY TRANSIT BREAKDOWNS

(By The Associated Press.) Shopping crowds were discommoded today by a series of breakdowns in the rapid transit system. A blowout of a high tension cable in the Cambridge tunnel stalled dozens of crowded trains and resulted in a complete tieup of this line for two hours during which thousands of commuters were trapped in jammed coaches. Traffic in the Cambridge tunnel was stopped again in the afternoon when cars in two trains passing over the West Boston bridge caught fire from the third rail, making it necessary to cut off the power.

TWO KATONKAS ARE TAKEN TO DURANGO JAIL

(By The Associated Press.) Durango, Colo., Dec. 23.—Fearing threats of violence against the lives of Fredrick Katonka and his wife, Alice, charged with the slaying of William Kelly and Samuel Grey, taxi drivers, Sheriff J. C. Wynn of Artee, N. M., tonight removed the prisoners to this city. They are confined in the county jail.

Feeling is running high among the friends of the two men whose bodies were found Wednesday by possees guided by the Katonkas. Kelly and Grey disappeared several months ago after leaving Gallup, N. M., for Farmington, N. M., in an automobile.

The preliminary hearing of the Katonkas was held this morning at Artee, both entering pleas of not guilty. They were held to the grand jury which will meet April 14. Blame for the crime is laid to each other in statements made to the police by Mr. and Mrs. Katonka.

PACKING EMPLOYEES QUIT WORK; DIDN'T STRIKE, THEY CLAIM

(By The Associated Press.) Denver, Colo., Dec. 23.—Union leaders of packing house employees here testifying before the Colorado industrial commission which is investigating the wage controversy between the packers and employees, declared emphatically at the hearing today that no strike exists at the local packing plants. "The men only quit work, they are taking a rest there is no strike," was the declaration of T. A. McCreesh, district president of the union. The statement was repeated by other union officers who took the stand today.

The hearing was begun by the commission yesterday as the result of a protest filed by the employees against a wage reduction which went into effect December 1 at two packing plants here. The men walked out the following day and their ranks were augmented when Whipple Barracks here for three hours this afternoon as the Christmas present to them and scolded them for purchasing a huge bouquet of roses for her. She told them she wanted them to remember her, not to spend money on her.

Madame Schumann-Heink gave a concert here last night and remained over today in order to sing at the hospital today at the request of the local post of the American legion. The 700 bedridden veterans at the hospital were gathered in three wards and a Red Cross hut and there heard the famous singer. The words and the but were decorated with Christmas trees.

Madame Schumann-Heink continually referred to the disabled veterans as "my children" and begged them to smile with her. In one of the wards she found a piano whose musical qualities failed to satisfy her and she declared she was going to send a pianograph to replace the tuneless piano.

Butth had been tied with the tire chains and was unconscious when discovered. His money and jewelry had been taken by bandits. At the hospital where Butth was removed, travelers' checks for $3,000 on the Capitol State bank of Des Moines was found, and also a bank book showing deposits in the same institution for $2,500. RETAILERS NOT KEEPING PRICES HIGH, IS CLAIM

(By The Associated Press.) Omaha, Neb., Dec. 23.—Charles Henry Mackintosh of Chicago, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, told the Omaha Chamber of Commerce today that an understanding among retailers tending to keep prices high, such as referred to yesterday by Attorney General Daugherty in his call for a price investigation, "could not exist to any practical extent."

"One hundred percent organization is not possible," said he "in any trade, industry or branch of commerce in which there are large numbers of individuals and nothing less than 100 per cent organization among retailers could hold prices at an abnormal level. The failure of even two or three retailers in an entire city to co-operate in such an endeavor would automatically nullify the combination of all the rest, since the buying public naturally goes where its money will buy the most, and the trade of any town would gravitate into the hands of the merchants who kept themselves out of entangling alliances."

"As an inevitable result the merchants in the alliance would be compelled to meet competition or close their doors for lack of customers. "It would seem logical to look for combinations in restraint of the law of supply and demand in quarters where effective combinations are possible—such as in highly organized and closely specialized branches of production rather than among the loosely knit factors of distribution."

INQUEST IS BEGUN INTO THE CAUSE OF ENGINEER'S DEATH

(By The Associated Press.) Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 23.—An inquest into the accident yesterday which caused the death of Hiram Phillips, consulting engineer for the city of Phoenix, was begun today by a jury under the direction of Henry J. Sullivan, justice of the peace.

Members of the jury, witnesses and officials today went to the scene of the accident near the new Phoenix Verde water system pipe line intake and were shown by City Engineer L. B. Hitchcock how the car which he was driving skidded and overturned, fatally injuring Mr. Phillips. The car, Mr. Hitchcock said, turned over when part of an embankment gave way. The inquest will be resumed tomorrow morning.

4 POSTS ALLOTTED IN NEW CHINESE CABINET

(By The Associated Press.) Peking, Dec. 22 (by the Associated Press).—The posts besides the premiership have so far been allotted in the new coalition cabinet formed under the direction of Gen. Chang Tso Lin, governor of Manchuria, whose arrival here recently was followed by the fall of the Chin Yun-Peng ministry. The selection of Chang Shih-Yi as premier was announced Tuesday and today it developed that Yeh Kung-Cho had been picked for minister of communications, Chang Hu as minister of finance and Yeh Hui-Ching as minister of foreign affairs.

Yeh Kung-Cho was minister of communications in the Chin Yun-Peng ministry. Chang Hu is being opposed by the native press, which accuses him of being pro-Japanese. Yeh Hui-Ching (better known as Dr. W. W. Yen) is the present foreign minister.

Chang Shih-Yi, the new premier whose appointment it is announced, will be gazetted tomorrow, is probably China's best known financier, credited with virtually controlling the banking policies of the country. He is quoted as expressing confidence he can unite the country.

PROSECUTOR OF DEBS FORMALLY PROTESTED AGAINST FREEING HIM

(By The Associated Press.) Cleveland, O., Dec. 23.—On hearing that President Harding had commuted Eugene V. Debs' sentence, United States District Attorney Edward S. Wertz, who prosecuted Debs, announced tonight that he had formally protested against releasing the socialist leader when consulted by Attorney General Daugherty several months ago.

"I wrote that I was opposed to freeing Debs," Mr. Wertz said, "because he had an eminently fair trial was found guilty of serious charges at a time when the United States had to set a premium on loyalty and had been duly sentenced."

Debs' trial, according to federal court officials, will be remembered as one of the most dramatic that has ever taken place in Ohio, chiefly because Debs was permitted to argue his own case to the jury. "I deny nothing," he retorted nothing," Debs said in finishing his argument.

When Debs heard the sentence read he simply bowed and said: "In God's time it will come right. I have no word of complaint for jury or court."

DEBS IS NOT AWARE THAT HIS SENTENCE HAS BEEN COMMUTED

(By The Associated Press.) Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 23.—Eugene V. Debs remained in ignorance tonight of the fact that his sentence had been commuted, unless the information sifted to him through channels known only to members behind the bars, for J. E. Dyche, warden at the Atlanta federal penitentiary, said the only information the socialist leader had was what was contained in the "morning editions" of the Atlanta afternoon papers. Definite announcement of the commutation of Debs' ten-year sentence for violation of the espionage act and that he would be released Christmas day was published here in the "morning extras" and the prisoners who take the newspapers do not get extra editions, according to Mr. Dyche, who added that he had not communicated with the socialist leader regarding the press dispatches and did not expect to employ him until official announcement was received.

Boone, pastor of the First Christian church. There was no music. Mrs. Watterson, because of her physical condition, did not attend.

Peasants of Ludogovka in No Mood for Celebrating Fourth Anniversary of Soviet Regime.

(By The Associated Press.)
Ludogovka, Tatar Republic, Dec. 23.—The fourth anniversary of the establishment of the Soviet republic in Russia found this peasant village of 600 people in no mood for celebrating. Foodless and cheerless, the starving population could have no heart for any sort of jubilation, even if it knew what the political maneuvers at Moscow meant. Like most Russian peasants, the unhappy folks of Ludogovka have neither the learning nor the will to study politics. Bread, wood and warm clothing are their three desires. They haven't enough of any of these.

Winter has laid its first heavy coating of snow on the flat prairie, and the peasants have started, grim-faced, on their endurance test to see how many can survive two six months of cold and privation. Many of the younger children have been deemed so completely underfed by the doctors in the employ of the American relief administration that they will be given one good hot meal a day.

Typical Peasant Village.
Ludogovka is a typical peasant village of the poorer class. It is sixty miles from Kazan and many miles from the Volga, and railway communication. Unpainted log houses are scattered along a main street. The houses generally have two rooms. Some have three. Frequently the animal sheds are built against the houses for warmth. Many of the stables are at the back end of long vegetable gardens which yielded few potatoes and cabbage this year because of the drought. The stables are chiefly deserted. There is no forage, no grain for the animals which have survived up to this time on the dry stubble which will soon be under several feet of snow.

Russia doesn't have blizzards such as are known in America. In late October or early November the snows begin and continue gently nearly every day until the earth is covered to a depth of three or four feet.

There Are No Horses.
This winter will not bring its customary round of winter sports and recreation. There are no horses to draw the troikas and jingle the bells which ordinarily enliven Russian highways through the short days and long nights of frost.

The home of Ivan Ivanovich Petroff is typical of the most poverty-stricken houses visited by the correspondent. Petroff is a farmer, as practically all the villagers are. He has the use of several disjunctive plots of land, more than he was able to cultivate because of lack of animals and seed. He had once been a sturdy giant, over six feet tall. But his ragged trousers show his legs have shrunk to mere bones and his scraggly beard cannot conceal the emaciation and sallowness of his face. His wife is lying, ill above a large masonry stove. A gannelling, hollow-eyed boy of 16 stands listlessly and gazes at the strangers. A little girl of eight, who is getting the American meats and two others, slightly older, who are getting the Russian peasant houses are seldom clean. They are never ventilated. But the smell of cabbage soup and tea make themselves offensive in normal years.

When asked what the family had to eat, Petroff pointed to two loaves of green bread which lay on the stove and said there had been nothing else for his family in ten days. He threw open an adjoining room and pointed to a pile of the improvised "flour" out of nothing but ground up grass, leaves, sunflower seed and other trash of a similar character.

Nothing To Buy.
The visitors offered him money. He took it unwillingly and asked: "But what shall I do with it? There is nothing to buy in this village and I can't go in search of food. Neither can my family." One of the American relief workers thereupon offered to buy some flour in a village many miles away. Throughout the remote villages of the Tatar republic and the Samara government American workers have found the same lack of food.

MAJOR SCHEDULES TO BE DRAFTED JAN. 3

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Schedules of the American and National leagues for the 1922 baseball season will be drafted at a meeting of the schedule committees to be held in French Lick, Ind., January 3. President Ben Johnson of the American league announced tonight.

The National league committee will be President Heydler and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh club. President Johnson will map out the schedule for the American league.

The date for opening the season probably will be agreed upon as April 12, it was said. The schedules call for 154 games as in former years.

FATTY'S SECOND TRIAL MAY NOT BEGIN ON JAN. 9

Hearing of Perjury Charge Against Mrs. Neighbors Against Mrs. Neighbors Attorney States.

(By The Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 23.—District Attorney Matthew A. Brady announced today that the police court hearing of the perjury charge against Mrs. Minnie Neighbors of Los Angeles growing out of the first Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle trial might necessitate postponing the opening of the second trial of Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter from January 9, although he was ready to proceed on that date if necessary.

The first information that a postponement might take place came in a statement by Police Judge Lyle T. Jacks in court that Brady had told him he would not be ready to proceed January 9. Brady explained that he had told Judge Jacks he was ready to proceed if necessary, but that a postponement might be advisable.

The charge against Mrs. Neighbors resulted from contradictions by other witnesses of her testimony that Miss Virginia Rappe, whose death Arbuckle is accused of having caused, visited Wheeler Hot Springs in Ventura county, August, 1921.

Rebuttal testimony by the prosecution in the Neighbors hearing will be resumed after the holidays.

J. W. LOVE OF CLOVIS IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)
Clovis, N. M., Dec. 23.—J. W. Love, who came here five weeks ago from Fort Smith, Ark., died suddenly at the home of his brother, the latter was away from home at the time and the sick man, in attempting to take a bath, apparently over-exerted himself and fell unconscious to the floor. His sister-in-law, who was in an adjoining room, heard him fall and went to his aid, and being unable to move him called for help from near-by neighbors. A physician was also summoned, but Mr. Love died before medical aid arrived. The body was taken to Fort Smith for burial.

DAUGHERTY GETS ADVICE, MOST OF IT BAD, CLAIMS

Has Been Offered Enough to Last Until the End of His Term, Whether it Be Long or Short.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 23.—Enough advice, most of it bad, has been offered Attorney General Daugherty since he assumed office, he said tonight in a Christmas greeting to the public, to last him "until the end of my term, whether it be long or short." The majority of the counsel proffered, he added, "was of such character that the person offering it would not himself do as he advises me to do if he were in my position."

Mr. Daugherty's statement contained injunctions which, he said, were "stated for the consideration of all who may read, regardless of their station in life." Several of them follow:

"If a man does the right thing he will have the help and approval of those who know him, and if he does not do the right things, he does not deserve it."

"The world never turns against a man until after he has turned against himself, and it is never too late to wake up."

"A man owes society, his country, and the world more than it owes him and more than he can ever pay."

"If one has self-respect he will not go far wrong."

"If one respects others he will do them no injury, either in person or property."

"In this country one man has the same freedom and the same rights as another."

"Every man owes the same degree of loyalty to his country and the same obligation to society."

"To all mankind," Mr. Daugherty concluded, "I wish a happy, healthful and hopeful Christmas time. Let us hold up our heads and be of good cheer. Let us love God and be grateful. Let us obey the laws of our country and let us obey the Ten Commandments."

FAMOUS TUG IS PURCHASED BY A SHIPPING FIRM

(By The Associated Press.)
Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 23.—The ocean-going tug Three Friends, which attracted world-wide attention as a filibuster prior to the outbreak of the Spanish-American war as a result of her exploits in transporting arms and ammunition from the United States to Cuba for the Cuban revolutionists, has been purchased by a local shipping concern from the estate of the late Governor United States Senator-elect Napoleon B. Broward, who commanded her during part of her adventurous career, and will be converted into a wrecking tug.

The Three Friends, built in Jacksonville in 1895, is 112 feet in length and although designed solely for towing purposes her lines and power were such that she easily could show her heels to all but the speediest warcraft of the day. When gun running became popular and profitable she joined the tug Dauntless, commanded by the widely known "Dynamite Johnny" O'Brien and successfully eluding numerous Spanish and American warships sent to capture them the two vessels landed cargo after cargo of munitions for the Cuban patriots.

Other vessels also were engaged in filibustering, but their activities soon were overshadowed by the hair-raising exploits of the Three Friends and the Dauntless and the names of the two tugs became familiar throughout the world.

A Good Tough Medicine.
It speaks well of a cough medicine, when druggists use it in their own families. In preference to any other, J. Goldsmith, druggist, Van Etten, N. Y., writes: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers. I have always used it in my own family, both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following the grip, and find it very efficacious."

INDICTMENT CHARGING MURDER IS DISMISSED

(By The Associated Press.)
Nevada City, Calif., Dec. 22.—An indictment charging Gus Branch, pool hall proprietor of Truckee, with the murder of Mrs. Annie Boyle, was dismissed here yesterday on motion of the district attorney. He stated that the report of the autopsy at Ogden, Utah, which led to the indictment, was discredited by Dr. Frank Bartlett, one of the physicians present, who was positive death was due to other causes than the beating alleged in the indictment. Mrs. Boyle died at Truckee early in November, and the autopsy was asked by her mother, who had the body disinterred at Ogden.

Michigan, in the early seventies, was one of the first states to appoint a woman to fill the office of state librarian.

THE NEW GENERATION

By JANE PHELPS

MARGARET IS PLEASED WITH COMPLIMENTS.

CHAPTER 47.

Joan's letter remained uppermost in her mother's thoughts. Also her feeling of freedom increased. After a bit she overcame the idea that she was doing wrong to admit to herself that she really enjoyed being alone—without Joan. Yet to pacify herself she wrote Joan a long chatty letter, sent her several small gifts, urged that she send all her mending and laundry home to be done, and ended by enclosing a small check.

"I expect you to live on your allowance, but I don't need this as I haven't spent as much as usual this month." When she slipped the check into the letter Margaret said aloud:

"A sop to Cerberus."

The feeling of freedom, of lightness increased. She sang gaily about her tasks, skipped up and down stairs like a girl, dressed herself in her best for dinner alone, then laughed with Hannah because she was "so silly."

She invited the boys and girls to run in and see her, pleading loneliness without Joan. When they came she played and romped with them, each day growing younger in both looks and feeling.

"You don't seem lonely, not one bit," Mrs. Hayden said. "You seem so happy and gay, and you dress so prettily all the time now. I just adore the way you do your hair! Don't you, Malcolm?"

"Of course I like the way Mrs. Hayden looks—now," he replied in a hesitating manner.

"Better than you used to, Malcolm?" I noticed you said now," Margaret smiled.

"Yes, Mrs. Hayden. You used to dress older, and somehow you didn't make your hair look so pretty. I like the way you do it now."

"Now, again," Margaret laughed gaily. The sincere compliments of Joan's young friends pleased her—lacking them from those older.

"Yes, I remember you used to do it tight, not all little curls around your face."

"Oh, Malcolm! You are a sad flatterer! Aren't you afraid you will make me vain?"

"No, you aren't that sort." It may seem strange that Margaret should be interested in entertaining the boys and girls now that Joan was away. But youth, simply as youth, fascinated Mrs. Hayden now that she had begun to see what she had missed by denying herself the youth these young things enjoyed to the full.

When Gloria Freeman or Hortense Thompson walked to the gate with her, a slim arm about her waist, chattering of their pleasures, of Joan, their studies, and ambitions, she felt almost as if all suddenly she had become one of them; that the old Margaret was another Margaret, one she respected for her honesty of purpose, but one of whom she was a bit afraid, and with whom she had very little in common.

"You grow younger every day," Mr. Thompson told her. She met him in the street and he stopped to inquire after Joan. "I declare that headstrong young daughter of yours will have to look to her laurels now."

"Because she is! Why she didn't disrupt our home I don't know. The way you allowed her to do as she liked, then put the same notions in Hortense's head was a caution. There was a time when Mrs. Thompson had to spend a good deal of her time arguing against your manner of raising your daughter. Not many girls could stand being given free rein."

"I know that, Mr. Thompson, but it never hurt Joan. I'm sorry if her attitude annoyed you."

"Who said anything about being annoyed? It amused me. I miss the girl. We all do. But judging by your appearance it has been a rest for you." And chuckling at his own wit he passed on.

"Even he thinks I look young!" Margaret said to herself, delighted that a man of his age and character had stopped to pay her a compliment. Then she added: "I'm awfully silly, but I can't help being pleased."

BY ELOISE

BY ELOISE

If you want to buy a frock now which will be good for the spring season here are the features to watch for: Straight chemise lines, wide sleeves set in armholes, no waistline, narrow shoestring belts and buttons, braid or embroidery trimming. Facings of the new spring shades are also used on black and dark colored frocks. Fuchsia and cornflower are two of the most used colors in combination with black, brown or navy. Canton crepes. Word from Paris hints that satins will be revived, but the safe thing is crepes and the new eponge or crepe knit fabric.

This frock pictured here will make a popular spring model. It is fashioned of cobweb silk crepe, cobweb being the new name for several shades of gray. It is the popular chemise type of frock with a lighter gray fashioning the upper part of the dress, the sleeves and upper skirt. A darker cobweb shade makes the very deep hem and applique design on the skirt and wide sleeves. There is no waistline, but a narrow shoestring belt of self material ties closely at one side.

Saloon in the Bronx SOLD FOR TEN DOLLARS

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 23.—Peter Sellers' saloon in the Bronx—one of several whose pretensions to fame rests upon having originated the Bronx cocktail—yesterday was sold for ten dollars.

The place is close to the chambers of the Bronx county grand jury and supreme court. It was a rallying place for judges, attorneys and court attaches in pre-Volstead days.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

A GOOD CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER.

Today I am going to chat upon a pretty, good gift for any housekeeper to receive this Christmas—and one she can give herself. To be sure, I don't wish to imply that every housekeeper needs this gift for many women already have it. But there are Oh, so many who don't possess it!

It is the gift of taking things easily. Taking our disappointments easily, taking our neighbors' opinions easily (!) and taking life easily in general.

Now, I don't mean by that that we should leave curls of dust lying beneath the chairs and plan our meals about five minutes before the dinner hour. What I refer to is a state of mind. The most particular housekeeper in the world can have it.

But perhaps I can best define my meaning of the phrase by relating the following true life story:

About ten years ago I visited a friend who lived in a small New England town. While there I met a great many of her friends, among them a very prim neighbor—a Mrs. S. "Mrs. S. is very highly esteemed in the town," my friend informed me. "She is very conservative and nobody could ever criticize her. She never wears extreme styles and bright colors. She never goes to the movies. And I don't suppose she has ever said or done an impulsive or reckless thing in her life!"

I liked Mrs. S. on that visit—but I did not find her human; I was uncomfortable in her serious presence.

Last year I made another visit to the same little town and I received a distinct surprise when I renewed my acquaintance with Mrs. S. She was wearing sports clothes! She attended the movies regularly! And she had developed a very human little twinkle in her eye.

"What changed her?" I demanded of my friend. "She doesn't seem to take life as hard as she used to."

"That's just it," my friend replied. "She has learned to snatch a little harmless fun from life as she goes on her way. The war taught her that. You see, she did hospital work and amused the wounded soldiers—and I really think it showed her for the first time in her life that it is positively selfish for anyone to truss themselves up with a Spartan primness; it chills everybody around one. She had been a danger on her friends for years—and now she's one of the most popular women in town. She's learned to say impulsive things, like the rest of us, and take the consequences. And while she's lost her pedestal and her unblemished reputation for conservatism she's gained a happy-go-lucky viewpoint that is worth lots more to her."

So, Reader Friend—that is those of you who haven't already found this secret of happiness—let us this year give ourselves a Christmas gift of starting to take things easily, from now on. By so doing we not only brighten our own lives but we also make the world a lot happier place for others to live in.

CHURCH FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER OF TWO AND SENTENCED TO DEATH

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Harvey Church, charged with the murder of two automobile salesmen, was found guilty this morning and sentenced to death. Church killed the men, Carl Ausmus and Bernard Daugherty, when they delivered a car which he had arranged to buy.

The jury which received the case last night, reached a verdict on the first ballot, being unanimous for the death penalty. Church, who is 21 years old, was arrested at Adams, Wis., his former home, a few days after the double murder. The body of Ausmus was dug up under the floor of the garage at the Church home here after Daugherty's body, with hands handcuffed and feet bound with ropes, was found in the Des Plaines river.

Church, according to the police, made three detailed confessions showing how he had arranged to buy a five thousand automobile from the salesman and then killed them with a baseball bat in the basement of his home when they delivered the machine.

The defense rested entirely on an insanity plea.

WOMAN MAP EXPERT AIDS DELEGATES AT ARMS PARLEY

Mrs. Howard Phelps.

Another woman has been added to the American delegation at the arms conference. She is Mrs. Howard Phelps, map expert of the state department and America's fifth woman delegate. Mrs. Phelps is attached to the delegation officially as expert on maps and map making. She is consulted by the delegates for information on locations of national boundaries and also on spheres of influence of various countries outside their national limits.

"Making maps is just as fascinating to me," explained Mrs. Phelps when questioned about her unusual work "as making landscape drawings or fashion sketches is to another artist."

Accompanying delegates to the arms conference at Washington are many women who act as expert advisers. Women acted largely in that capacity at the Versailles peace conference. Premier Lloyd George was one delegate at Paris who was ably assisted in his work by women. In the secretariat of the league of nations women hold important positions.

How brilliant, sed ma, well I'm going to telephone to Mrs. Hews awhile, and that door had better of squeaked its last squeak by the time I get throo; that's all I got to say. Have you any idea of the Hews telephone number?

Yes, I believe it has a 9 in it, sed pop.

O keep quiet, sed ma, and she went down stairs and pop stopped reading the paper and stretched himself, saying, Well, I guess I got to oil that confounded door. And he started to read the paper again, me thinking, O, he forgot all about it again, I'll do it and serprize him. And I went and got the oil can and squeaked oil on the hinge and the door stopped squeaking, and pritty soon ma came up, saying, Well William, is that door oiled?

Wat, O, that door, well you see that wont take me a minnit, sed pop, and ma sed, William Potts, you're a terrible man and I wont speak to you for a week and maybe a month. And she tried the door and it didnt squeak, ma saying, William, you did it! O please excuse me for misjudging you.

Well, I'll let it go this time but I'm getting tired of being misjudged, sed pop looking like somebody trying not to look surprised, and I sed, Hoy pop, smell my fingers, do you want to smell something funny. And I stuck my fingers agensit his nose before he had a chance to say he didnt want to smell them, and he smelt the oil, saying, Very funny indeed, go and wash them and take this dime and dont spend it all in one place unless it happens to be the movies.

Which it did.

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna Kent Forbes.

FINGER-NAIL BLEMISHES.

A great many women feel that the little white moon shaped marks at the base of the nails are blemishes that should be removed. Most nails have this, but not all. I wish that those who do possess these marks would get over the idea that they are blemishes. First of all nothing can be done to eliminate them and secondly they are rather attractive.

A great many nails are subject to curious little white spots. These appear, grow as the nail grows, and finally are filed off. There is always a great deal of discussion as to what causes these tiny marks. One beauty specialist said it is the result of a stoppage in flow of nutrient juices. Others say it is poor circulation, and still others that it is too much time in the blood, or else that the marks come from bruises. Personally, I don't think that even a great number of these are in any sense a disfigurement. If the nails are well cared for and well shaped, such marks are too tiny to bother about. If you really feel badly about them, make a little paste out of turpentine and myrrh and spread this over the nails at night. Remove it in the morning by rubbing with a little olive oil.

The worst disfigurement that a nail can have is a series of ridges. These can be filed off by rubbing the nail with wet pumice stone, afterward polishing smooth with a buffer and rubbing with cream so the nail will not be too dry. A bruise will make a nail ugly, sometimes will badly disfigure it. If you have bruised the nail hold your finger in water as hot as you can stand it for half an hour. This will usually prevent the blood from settling under it and turning it black and blue.

Inquisitive: A girl 17, 5 feet 1 inch, should weigh 115 pounds. This is according to the insurance company's table of weights. You can weigh at least five pounds less and be healthy.

Babe: If you have reached the height of 5 feet 8 inches and are 16 years old it is probable that you have reached your full height. I do not know of any way to stop growing.

Anxious M.: If you do not like olive oil, you can increase your weight by drinking milk, to each glass of which two heaping tablespoons of malted milk have been added.

RIPPLING RHYMES

SIPPERS.

Oh, I have sippers, fancy-sewed, and sippers green and gray, and sippers come to my abode on every Christmas day. The postman toils on lagging feet, for he is old and frail; I see him coming down the street with sippers by the bale; as to my door the postman drifts, I shed a weary moan; I often think that Christmas gifts should be for kids alone. I send a gift to my Aunt Jane, and she sends one to me; the gift I send gives her a pain, and she crice "Hully chee!" And she sends me a gaudy pair of sippers she has knit, whereat I sigh and wring my hair—the blamed things do not fit. The little children love the things we send by Santa's mail; they're happy as so many kings—life hasn't made things stale. I hear them shouting in their joy, and love them for the din, in raptures o'er some flashy toy that's made of wood or tin. But when a grown-up gets a gift, in Christmas ribbons tied, all wearily he maketh shift to see what is inside. And then we hear his doleful cry, as he upsets the chairs: "More sippers! And already I have forty-seven pairs!" The Christmas tree its head uplifts, a pleasant thing to see; now let the children have the gifts—I hope there's none for me!

HELPFUL HEALTH HINTS WILL BE SENT BY RADIO

Bi-Weekly Wireless Telephone Bulletin Service Has Been Inaugurated, Effective Thursday Night.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 23.—The United States public health service tonight inaugurated a bi-weekly "wireless telephone health bulletin service" by broadcasting through the naval radio station at Anacostia, D. C., a message of holiday good cheer to the country. It is planned to send through the same facilities at 9 p. m. every Tuesday and Friday a wireless message comprising advice as to how the average man and woman may insure continued good health.

The messages will be of such wave length, it was said, that any radio station, amateur or professional, which has a telephone attachment may be able to read them. Under very favorable weather conditions the service expects its "helpful health hints" to be heard on the Pacific coast, in Europe and northern South America. Promptly at 9 o'clock tonight the Anacostia station, which is a part of the naval aviation depot, began calling "QST" a code signal meaning "all stations."

"United States public health service speaking," the local operator proceeded and, after outlining the purpose and plan of the new service, he read a homily on the value of health.

$280,000 WORTH OF SECURITIES WILL BE RETURNED TO BANK

(Special Correspondence to the Journal.) Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 23.—Under application by attorneys for both sides, an agreement has been reached as to the disposition of the $280,000 in notes and securities which the suspended Santa Fe bank had assigned to State Treasurer Charles U. Strong as partial security for the $350,000 of the state funds that the treasurer was carrying on deposit in the bank.

Under the agreement, the securities are to be returned to the bank so that payment on the notes may be made by those who had borrowed money from the bank. The amounts collected are to be deposited in the First National bank, in a special account, and not touched until there is a final order of the court.

James B. Read, as state bank examiner in charge of the closed bank, made formal demand upon the treasurer for return of these securities. Acting upon advice of the attorney general's office, Treasurer Strong held the securities on behalf of the state. Examiner Read then secured temporary injunction from the district court to restrain the treasurer from disposing of any part of the securities in any way.

The stipulation was made by J. O. Seth, as counsel for Examiner Read and O. O. Aiken, representing Treasurer Strong.

CAIRO BRISTLES WITH POLICE AND TROOPS

Cairo, Egypt, Dec. 23 (by the Associated Press.)—Cairo bristled with police and troops tonight following disturbances in connection with the forcible removal to Europe early today of Said Kariouk Pasha, a nationalist leader. His removal followed his refusal to obey an order that he and his chief followers come all political activity and leave Cairo.

Although much wanton destruction occurred, the authorities claim that the incident is relatively unimportant and the disturbances appear to have been confined to Cairo. Reports tonight that everything was quiet in the neighboring provinces.

Baptist Workers to Close Three Day Campaign Tonight; Expect to Better Last Year's Offering.

The appeal made by the New Mexico Baptist Orphans' Home has been favorably received by Albuquerque citizens. The large posters displaying the features and accomplishments of the home have been distributed not only in the public places but in private residences. Extensive information has been given out in pamphlet form. Workers have been organized into teams and many volunteers are devoting time to efforts in bringing Albuquerque up in this important matter. The facts concerning the home are convincing. There are eighty needy little children begging for entrance. Poverty and starvation have been driven from many doors during the past year. The workers met with encouragement in their canvass yesterday. There will be young people on each street corner today with tags and mite boxes to receive whatever the people are willing to give. Each one who makes a contribution will be given a tag with the words "I am" on one side and "The friend of needy children" on the other side. Albuquerque gave nearly $700 to this institution a year ago. Workers hope to make the amount equal to last year's if not more. The need is much greater. If collections and taggers should miss anyone who wishes to contribute to this fund the amount should be mailed to J. W. Bruner, Box 485, or a phone call to 2017-W will bring messenger. City clerks of the state are making encouraging reports. Even small towns like Fort Sumner are reporting $150 and $200. The interest is statewide, as there is no other Protestant orphanage in the state.

19 MEMBERS OF HIGH SCHOOL GRID ELEVEN ARE GIVEN LETTERS

Nineteen men of the Albuquerque high school football squad of 1921 received letters yesterday morning at an athletic assembly. The letters were written by the nine quarters or over. Nine of these men belong to the class of '22 and ten do not graduate. Seven games were played by the Duke City high team. Next year's squad is practically insured a veteran backfield and with other men who played this year but did not receive letters there is a complete line-up. The schedule played this fall, although not so successful from the standpoint of scores, was one of the most important the local high has ever played. It is very seldom that such a seasoned eleven is left in high school as there are in Albuquerque high.

It is hoped that next year the high team will be further strengthened by having Hugo Glioni of the 1920 eleven back and Carl With also.

For the first time in three years the team has been completely fully by a sophomore. Probably the best end is also in his second year of high school. One of the best backfield men produced this season is a freshman and several are juniors.

Ronwell, Clayton and the Albuquerque Indian school are the only teams in the state who came through the season with a better record than that of A. H. S. Albuquerque high played a heavier schedule than any other team in New Mexico. A majority of the hardest games were played away from home and to win a state title in this manner is a difficult task for any high school.

The football schedule for 1922 will be still stiffer than the one just completed. El Paso and Roswell will play in Albuquerque and there will very probably be no very hard games away from home. Menaul, the Indian school and Albuquerque college will only be scheduled for one game each.

All games played in Albuquerque were financially successful and this will enable the Albuquerque high mentor to bring home more money next year. The basketball schedule is just beginning and it is hoped that the attendance at games will be as good as was shown at football.

PRESS COMMENT ON ADJOURNMENT OF PARLIAMENT

(By The Associated Press.)
Dublin, Dec. 23 (By the Associated Press).—Commenting on the adjournment of the Irish parliament the Irish Times says:

"The situation has one redeeming feature. It is a good sign, perhaps, that while Michael Collins moved an adjournment and Arthur Griffith supported it, Eamon de Valera and the other extremists opposed it and were outvoted. It is a sign that the friends of ratification in the Irish parliament are ready to meet their constituents with easy minds, but that the advocates of rejection feel to feel that it is one thing to defy parliament from the platform in Dublin and another thing to confront it on its own ground."

"Concluding the Irish Times says: 'Ireland has listened to the call for a week, and now it is the turn to listen to Ireland. If she fails to make her voice effective the fault will be entirely her own.'"

The Freeman's Journal says: "Dominion has gone beyond the phase of dominionism and achieved sovereignty and equality of status within the commonwealth of Great Britain. The old British empire is dead and any attempt to revive it as against Ireland would range the rest of the empire against Great Britain because the rights and interest of the empire would be involved in any invasion of the rights of Ireland."

The Irish Independent refers to the fact that the Clare council put before the representatives of the county and also Mr. de Valera the wishes of the people they represent. It thinks that Mr. de Valera has subordinated his judgment in excessive scruples.

The newspaper expresses the belief that Mr. de Valera's personality and attitude have influenced many of the deal deputies, and it appeals to him to act on the request addressed to him by the Clare council and use his immense influence and political capacity for the maintenance of national unity."

IRRIGATION FARMERS TO GET LOANS THROUGH THE FARM LOAN BOARD

(Special Correspondence to The Journal.)
Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 23.—United States Senator H. O. Burton says in a telegram to H. H. Brook, president of the Elephant Butte irrigation district, that the farm loan board, Washington, D. C., has decided to begin extending loans to irrigation farmers in Dona Ana county as fast as conditions will permit. The basis is 50 percent of the current selling price of the federal land and the land is to be the principal test.

The loans will be on a 33-year basis, which means that the farmer borrowing money will pay 7 percent interest, 6 percent of which is interest, and 1 percent toward the principal. In other words the farmer pays $35 on each $1,000 twice a year and the mortgage "never comes due."

The decision to extend the activities of the farm loan board to Dona Ana county followed a conference of its members with the heads of the federal land banks at Wichita, Kans., and Houston, Tex.

"This action of the federal farm loan board," Mr. Brook said, "represents a promise made to the farmers more than four years ago, during the campaign and election for the formation of an irrigation district. It is exceedingly gratifying to all of us as it will come as a Christmas greeting of good cheer to many homes in the Mesilla valley."

2 MORA MEN ARE HURT IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal.)
East Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 23.—Monte Butler, proprietor of a hotel at Mora, is seriously ill with pneumonia and suffering from the effects of an accident in which his automobile overturned on the Mora-Tres Ritos road yesterday. Paul Nestloff, who was with Butler, was pinned under the car and suffered a fractured thigh. While under the car a box of matches in the man's pocket was ignited and for a time he feared he would be burned to death.

Exposure is thought to have been the cause of Butler contracting pneumonia.

8 ARE DEAD AND SCORE HURT IN ARKANSAS STORM

(By The Associated Press.)
Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 23.—Seven negroes and one white man are reported to have been killed and approximately a score injured in a storm which struck the town of Clarkdale, Ark., seventeen miles northwest of Memphis late today and swept through several nearby farming settlements.

Payne Harrison, clerk in the general merchandise store of Banks and Dana, at Clarkdale, which was demolished, was the only white person known to have been killed. Mrs. B. B. Booker, whose home six miles north of Clarkdale was blown from its foundation, was among the injured.

Twelve of the injured, all negroes, were brought to Memphis hospitals tonight. In addition to the eight persons reported killed in the immediate vicinity of Clarkdale, unknown reports were that several persons were missing and believed to be dead on the Kennedy Willard and Booker plantations, west of Clarkdale.

$36,447 PLACED TO ACCOUNT OF LOCAL SCHOOLS

County Treasurer E. B. Swope Distributes State Per Capita Fund Between County and City Schools.

County Treasurer Edward Swope has made the distribution of the $36,447 which was received Wednesday from the state treasurer as Bernalillo county's portion of the $3 per capita school fund. The money was divided between the county and city schools, the former obtaining a small amount more than the city.

Each county's portion of the state fund is figured on a basis of $3 for each student enrolled in the public schools of the county.

The county treasurer is urging that $10,000 of the county school system's share of the money be taken to pay off the $10,000 note of the county schools at the First National bank. This sum was borrowed by the county system during November for forty days and becomes due the latter part of this month. It was borrowed at 6 percent interest.

"I think that in all fairness to the tax payers, the entire debt should be paid," County Treasurer Swope stated yesterday. "The funds are available and payment will save the interest."

WOMAN INDICTED FOR MURDER ORDERED UNDER STRICT SURVEILLANCE

(By The Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 23.—Upon receipt of a report from Dr. Charles Stoezer, visiting jail physician, that Mrs. Lillian Raizen, under indictment for the murder of Abraham Gluckstein, Brooklyn dentist, has manifested "suicidal tendencies," Assistant District Attorney Edward W. Cooper tonight ordered the woman kept under strict surveillance.

The action followed the application by Mrs. Raizen's counsel earlier in the day for appointment of a commission to inquire into her sanity. Four alienists employed by the defense reported that she was mentally unbalanced now and when the crime was committed. If the commission should find her insane, she will be committed to a state institution without facing trial on the charges against her.

Dr. Stoezer suggested that the woman be immediately transferred to the psychopathic ward for her own safety.

IS THE REPUBLICAN PARTY MORALLY INSOLVENT?

The Journal has been silent for a week with regard to developments at Santa Fe. Having stated with all possible emphasis that a special session of the legislature should be called, we have awaited the reaction of the republican leaders to the suggestion. We are still waiting.

The argument regarding the expense may be discarded as not genuine. With $353,000 of the people's money tied up in an insolvent bank with but $110,000 of legalised surety behind it; with a laxness in our accounting system in the state which costs the taxpayers hundreds of thousands a year, it is totally disingenuous to talk about the expense of a legislative session. To mete out the proper criticism or punishment and to inaugurate a new system of accounting and auditing, at an expense of $50,000, would be the cheapest thing the state ever did. Yet a legislative session should not require over three weeks' time and a total expense of $15,000. No one should be misled by the cry of expense.

Either Governor Mecham does want the evils of administration corrected or he does not want them corrected. They cannot be corrected without a special session of the legislature.

The governor is reported to have expressed a fear that the legislature might not act if called. They cannot act if they are not called together. The burden is now on the shoulders of the governor. It is his responsibility if the legislature is not assembled. It will be the fault of the legislature if it fails to act after being called in special session. Timidity will not save the republican party, nor redeem the state. Courage is necessary. Governor Mecham must show the first courage. No one else has the authority to call a special session. The Journal has done and said about all that it can on this subject at present. We thought it fair to point out the situation as we see it. Our later criticism for failure to act will then be proper. Has the republican party lost its capacity for leadership? Is it morally insolvent?

Marshal Foch survived his trip around the United States, again demonstrating the kind of stuff he is made of.

AN EXPLANATION, NOT A DEFENSE.

The Journal has been criticized for carrying certain medical advertisements. The physicians pronounce these remedies unreliable. Some go so far as to call them fakes.

We wish to be frank with the public. There are certain kinds of medical advertising which formerly were carried in the Journal columns which the present management refuses to accept. There are others still being accepted concerning which we are doubtful.

Running a newspaper of the magnitude of the Journal, in a small city and a sparsely settled state, has its difficulties. All the advertising which such a paper can get, which is not pernicious, is needed to swell the income. Were we to reject advertising by too fastidious a criterion we could not carry on. It is true that many great city dailies reject certain medical advertising which the Journal still accepts. Such papers have behind them a great advertising field from which to make a selection of patrons. They cannot carry all of the advertising offered them. They deserve less credit than their sanctimonious professions would seem to justify.

These same dailies either maintain silence on public wrongs or openly espouse the cause of the predatory, because it is good business for them to do so. They encourage the taking of mental poison, but loathly scorn an advertisement suggesting drugs. We say this more by way of palliation than justification of our course.

Some months ago we submitted the advertising complained of to the United States district attorney. He replied that it was not "fake" advertising. If carefully read these advertisements, which pertain chiefly to treatment for tuberculosis, say little. Their evil lies in the conclusions to which the desperate jump, in their eagerness for relief. These advertisements are not desirable and have had our careful thought for months. We hope to see our way clear to eliminate them in the near future.

In order to accomplish any good we are compelled, in many lines, to tolerate evil. We cannot fight the whole world. Annihilation would be the result. We have taken extraordinary chances of that fate on several occasions, as the matter now stands.

We do not hesitate to counsel the ill to follow the advice of their physician. That is the safest course. We are not in a position to know that relief in some cases might not follow from taking some advertised remedies. If the medical society will point out advertising which it knows to be fake, or positively injurious, we will eliminate it at all hazards.

We speak thus plainly because we want your confidence. We are doing our best to serve you in the circumstances. We are gaining strength. As we do we will try to serve you better. Meantime, carping over shortcomings which we are not able to overcome as yet would seem hardly helpful.

GIVE THE POLICEMAN A CHANCE.

The accident of Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Central avenue and Second street raises the question of the primary purpose of a traffic policeman. The Journal has no objection to the work of Officer Renfro, either as a patrolman or as a traffic policeman. He has been living up to his lights to the best of his knowledge.

When the accident was imminent the chief function of the traffic policeman was to shout to the motorist to slow down and then shout to the people near the street car to get out of the way. That was all he was expected to do. He could hardly wrestle with the unruly Ford.

But it would seem that a set of traffic rules might be established which would make it necessary for a motorist to sound his horn when approaching the intersection of these two streets. A wave of the patrolman's hand, signaling to the driver to proceed, should be required before the automobile could start across the street.

When a street car is discharging passengers, or taking them on, the traffic officer should not allow vehicles to get close to the car; should not even permit them to start across the street. The time to find whether or not the brakes are working is when the car is 50 feet away, not when it is crashing into pedestrians.

If a southbound Second street car is beside the "B" theater, no car should be permitted to swing south on Second street from Central avenue, or start straight across Central avenue from North Second street. Holding traffic back might inconvenience a few motorists, but it would safeguard human life.

It does not require a special ordinance to establish rules for the handling of traffic at this corner. A pair of watchful eyes and a set of arms trained to signal "stop" and "go" are necessary, but the traffic officer should be instructed in a general system of handling motorists and then be told to enforce the rules. We have faith that the work will be well done, even allowing for reckless drivers.

Even the dullest boy knows how many hours until Christmas.

Even if it doesn't resemble a Christmas tree, many a purse is being beautifully trimmed these days.

TODAY.

Pressure of other matters has led the Journal to make a secondary matter of a thing of primary importance. We refer to the Empty Stocking Fund. This fund is not more than one-third the size it should be. Today is the last day to contribute. Fix the matter in your mind now so that you may not forget to leave your contribution with one of the newspapers today. To give to the poor today is a sure recipe for a Merry Christmas for you tomorrow.

VERSE OF TODAY

A SONG IN EXILE.

The rustling palms bend readily
Between the sun and me;
The trades blow warm and steadily
Across the turquoise sea.
But I'd rather feel the March wind bite
In the country of the free.
Hibiscus and camellia
Bloom here abundantly,
And roses and gardenias—
The sweetest flowers there be—
But I'd rather see through the bare north
One bridal dogwood tree.

The tropic night is mellow
As a lamp in a lighted room;
The sun shines high and yellow
In the quivering, cloudless dome;
But, oh, for the snow and the cruel cold
And the rigors of my home!

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE LEGION AND NATIONAL DEFENSE.

(From the Boston Transcript.)
Addressing the members of a Philadelphia post of the Legion, Stanford MacNider, national commander of that organization, declared that the legion would every effort in the future, as it already has in the three years of its existence, toward providing the United States with an adequate system of national defense. Such a field of public service is a logical one for the legion and its 1,000,000 members to appropriate as peculiarly their own, and Commander MacNider's affirmation of the legion's purpose to champion the cause of national defense will be received with wide satisfaction. Because we stand on the threshold of what appears to be a long era of peace, undisturbed by the clouds of war, we can not afford wholly to lay aside our defensive armor, nor fail to provide the youth of the country with an opportunity to train itself in the use of arms, a fundamental obligation of citizenship in a democracy.
But there is a spiritual and moral, as well as a material side to the question of national preparedness, and here, too, the legion will find open to it a steadily wider sphere of public endeavor. Only at rare intervals is it necessary for the citizen to put on the uniform of the soldier, and prove on the field of battle his devotion to his country's cause. Peace has his obligations as well, oftentimes more in number than those of war. And here the legion can again lead the way, as its members did in time of war. It can inculcate the principles of patriotism in the minds and hearts of the generations that are to come; it can teach devotion to the flag among emigrants from the Old World who have made the United States their adopted land, and it can labor ceaselessly for better standards in city, state and national politics. All these things the legion is now trying to do; and its efforts in behalf of a better citizenship should compel the support of all Americans who were not privileged to wear their country's uniform in the world war.
The legion, barely three years old, has already made a record great in accomplishment. That it will continue to grow in strength and in influence is the prayer of every American who looks forward with pride to the destiny which seems marked out for the American people.

UNCLE WIGGLY'S CHRISTMAS TREE.

Once upon a time the bad old Bob Cat started out from his den in the woods to catch Uncle Wiggly and nibble the bunny rabbit's ears.
"For I haven't had any ears to nibble in a long time," grumbled the Bob Cat to himself. "And I must certainly have some for Christmas. Yes, I shall get Uncle Wiggly!"
Out of his dark, dismal den came the bad chap, and he sniffed and smelled around until he came to a path along which the bunny rabbit often hopped to go to the store for Nurse Jane's fuzzy wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Ah, ha!" chuckled the Bob Cat to himself. "That fat rabbit will soon pass along here. I'll hide up in a tree overhead, and when he passes below I'll drop down on him and nibble his ears. I shall have a fine Christmas dinner after all!"
So the Bob Cat climbed up in the tree.

Uncle Wiggly Longears started out from his hollow stump bungalow just about that same time. "Where are you going?" asked Nurse Jane.
"I am going to gnaw down a Christmas tree," answered the bunny.

"Oh, that's so!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "Tomorrow is Christmas. I have been so busy baking cake and pies that I nearly forgot. Well, let me help you trim it. No Santa Claus can leave the presents under it. Hurry along, Wiggly, my dear!"

So Uncle Wiggly hopped and skipped through the forest, looking for the right sort of Christmas tree. There was a little snow on the ground, which soon was marked by the bunny's paws. And as Mr. Longears hopped along he saw other marks in the white flakes.

"Ah, ha!" said Uncle Wiggly to himself. "A Bob Cat has been along here. I can tell by the marks of his paws in the snow. I must be on the lookout. I don't want a Bob Cat to nibble my ears when Christmas is coming. I want to hear the Christmas bells and the Christmas music. And I want to hear the glad shouts of 'Merry Christmas!'"

A few more bites of the bunny's strong teeth out through the tree, and down it fell.

"Bang!" it hit the ground with a thud.
"Ugh!" grunted the Bob Cat, who was suddenly awakened by falling out of his bed.
"What?" wanted the Bob Cat, who was on the hard ground, making him feel very queer. He was only half awake and when he heard the crash of the tree, and felt himself bumped by his fall, he scrambled to his feet, and, never seeing Uncle Wiggly at all, away he ran, crying:

"Oh, I must have been struck by lightning! While I was asleep, a thunder storm came up, hit the tree I was in and banged me out! Oh, I'll have to get Uncle Wiggly some other time! Dear me!"
Then, with his tail between his legs, away ran the Bob Cat. Uncle Wiggly saw him running along and the bunny said:

"Oh, my! What danger I was in. I never knew the Cat was up the tree! But I think he was more frightened than I!" And so the Bob Cat was home he ran, and hid under the bed.

Uncle Wiggly dragged home the tree, Nurse Jane trimmed it, and on Christmas morning, oh, what fine presents Santa Claus left there!

"Merry Christmas, Nurse Jane!" called Uncle Wiggly.
"Merry Christmas!" answered the muskrat lady. And from all over Woodland, near the Orange and blue mountains, the animal boys and girls echoed the cry: "Merry Christmas!" which Uncle Wiggly wishes to all the boys and girls over the whole world.

"And if the rubber boot doesn't step on the leg of the chair and make it walk upstairs backward when the candy is playing tag with the ice cream, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's Christmas pudding."

Uncle Wiggly dragged home the tree says—the Bob Cat had gone to sleep up in the tree. He was so tired of waiting for Uncle Wiggly to come along, the Bob Cat was, that he fell asleep in the tree.

So when Uncle Wiggly began to gnaw down the Christmas tree in which the bad chap was asleep, the Bob Cat never awakened, and he didn't know what was going to happen.

"Oh, this will be a fine tree for myself," said Uncle Wiggly to himself, as he gnawed and gnawed, and gnawed. "It will look lovely when it has on the blue, red, green, yellow, purple and golden balls, the popcorn and the lights that will make it sparkle like the sky with its million stars. Oh, a fine Christmas tree! I have it almost gnawed down!"

oil, equipment, motor, copper and miscellaneous divisions.

Recent selling to establish iron-cast tax returns was not resumed to any marked extent, but a few stocks in the railroad group, especially Chicago & Northwestern, were depressed to levels approximating lowest prices of the year.

Cumulative rumors of mergers helped to sustain interest in equipments and coppers, especially American Locomotive. The financial standing of various steel and motor companies, however, added to the reactionary tone of those issues. Sales amounted to $35,000 shares.

Business in foreign exchanges was at low ebb and irregular. Reversing the usual rule, sterling was comparatively heavy while French, Italian and Belgian rates were firm to strong. Quotations to most of the north European countries were lower, but Swiss francs again rose well above parity.

Mixed conditions attended the smaller trading in bonds. Liberty issues made further recovery and French municipals also rallied moderately. Ralls eased, however, Southern Pacific, Seaboard Air Line, Baltimore & Ohio and Erie underlying bonds, totaling $15,000,000, par value, aggregated $15,750,000.
