Proper Care of Parrots.

Parrots in the wild state live on seed and fruit and should, while in captivity, be fed as nearly as possible the same kind of food. They should he fed sunflower seed, hemp seed, boiled yellow corn, state bread soaked in water, an occasional piece of apple or banana, roasted peanuts and dry crackers. Plenty of water and gravel should be kept in the cage. The purrot's cage should be cleaned every day.

Nitric acid which is used in preparing the tremendous explosive, trinitrotoluol, is a very powerful acid, and if applied to the skin burns terribly. Surgeons occasionally use it for destroying growths. Hydrocyanic or prussic acid is probably the most nilly poisonous of the nelds. Formic acid, found in certain insects, especially in ants, is used as a food-by crushing or eating the insects-among ome aboriginal tribes. Possibly malle acid, or some of the edible fruit acids are among the weakest of the acids.

Iron Clothes With the Feet. In Cairo men cuployed in the native talloring establishments iron clothes with their feet. Except for the long handle, the irons are shaped like an ordinary flat-iron, but are larger. A solid block of wood rests on the top of the iron, and on this the men place one foot, guiding the iron in the desired direction by means of the handle. For the sake of convenience, froning boards are raised only a few luches from the ground, and, however strange the method cary seem, the work is done well and expedicionsly.

Dangerous Alarm Clock. To prevent oversleeping, and thus the mail carriers of Morocco resort to a unique and perilous scheme. They tie a string to one foot, and, as they know how long a yard or two will burn, they regulate the length of the string by the time they have to sleep. Tucy light the string, which burns slowly, and, when the fire comes to their foot, they are painfully reminded that it is time to arise. Extreme Economy. A neighbor had some dental work When the filling was completes the tooth felt too long, emising him nervousness and annoyance, asked him why he didn't have the dentist grind it off a little and he said seriously: "Well, I hate to waste after I've paid for it."-Exchange. Eggstrangdinary Coincidence

The custom has prevailed with a certain Episcopal elegrel in California of presenting each scholar of the Sunday school with an egg at the celebration of Easter. On one occasio , when that noint by the service was reached which had been set apart for this interesting ecremeny, the clergyman rose and made the announcement: "Hymn No. 410, Begin, My Soul, the Exalted .15 tributed."-Besten Transcript.

Feet of Peacocks. The ugliness of the peacock's feet is a matter of remark in classic literature. Reference is even cude to it in fables. Which is illustrative of the ease with which mistaken ideas are circulated and undutained. For the fact is that the pencock's feet are not ugly at all. They are rather handsome than otherwise,
