MAJORITY WAS OVERWHELMING

Arizona Approves of Its Constitution By Four to One Vote

FULL RETURNS NOT AVAILABLE

It is Estimated That of 25,000 Ballots Only 6,000 Were Adverse.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 11.—Owing to the election requirements of the statehood enabling act which provides that the precinct election returns be sent direct to the territorial secretary instead of being canvassed by the county boards, nothing like the complete returns of Thursday's election for the ratification of the constitution will not be available for at least two weeks. It is certain however, that the people of Arizona have approved the constitution by a vote of three or four to one, perhaps a greater majority, only one small county, Apache, having a spare population, voted against it. In the other and more populous counties the vote ranged from about two to one to as high as nine to one in favor, the total vote being about 19,000 to 6,000. The largest proportionate majorities for the constitution were given in Republican precincts.

FAVORABLE TO CANADIAN TREATY

House Committee on Ways and Means Is Favorable to Reciprocity

SAN FRANCISCO LANDS SENATE

Bill For Panama Exposition Goes Through Senate Without a Hitch.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The Canadian reciprocity agreement was favorably reported to the House today by the ways and means committee by a vote of 12 to 7. The committee adopted an amendment proposed by Mr. Mann of Illinois providing that wood products in Canada may be brought to this country free, and that products of wood as specified in the bill, up to the valuation of four cents a pound, may be brought in free.

San Francisco Wins Out.

Washington, Feb. 11.—A joint resolution naming San Francisco as the place for holding the exposition in 1915, in celebration of the opening of the Panama canal, passed the senate today without opposition.

Opposition to Statehood Withdrawn.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—The senate joint resolution adjusting the boundaries between Texas and New Mexico will follow the agricultural appropriation bill now under consideration in the House. It is believed that it will pass, and the opposition has been withdrawn to New Mexico statehood, and constitution and statement of the votes on the constitution were referred to the senate and house committees on territories. Both committees will meet next week for their consideration.

PROTECTION AND RECIPROCITY

President Taft Declares Latter Is Logical Result of Former

TARIFF WALL IS ILLOGICAL

Unless It Is Reasonable and Based on Scientific Rate of Duties.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 11.—President Taft arrived here this morning and started bright and early on his second day of speech making in support of Canadian reciprocity. He made a five minute address to the students at the State University at Urbana, then boarded a train for Decatur, where he made a brief address at Milliken university. He speaks before the Illinois legislature at Springfield this afternoon.

Defines Protection.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11.—Speaking before the Illinois legislature today, President Taft defended the proposed reciprocity with Canada as the "logical conclusion" of the protection plank in the last Republican national platform. He defined the protection theory as one that should impose a tariff not exceeding the difference in cost of production in this country and abroad and allowing a fair margin of profit for the home producer. The President repeated his arguments that reciprocity would not result in a reduction of the price of land in the United States, or of lowering the prices farmers receive for their products. "No step," continued the President, "could be taken more in the interest of a reasonable policy of protection than the approval of this treaty," and that insistence on too much protection would rouse an opposition in this country, "that would know no moderation." He said that this was his reason also for favoring the creation of an "expert tariff commission or board." "Canada is at the parting of the ways," said the President. "Shall she be an isolated country as much separated from us as if she were across the ocean, or shall her people and our people profit by the proximity that our geography furnishes and stimulate trade across the border, that nothing but a useless, illogical and unnecessary tariff wall can prevent?"

GRISCOM KNOWS NOTHING OF MISS ARNOLD.

Mystery of Disappearance of Young New York Heiress Still Seems Far From Solution.

New York, Feb. 11.—George S. Griscom, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose acquaintance and correspondence with Miss Dorothy Arnold brought his name into the mystery of her disappearance and two months' search for her has arrived from Italy on the North German Lloyd steamer, Berlin. Although it had been announced that John W. Arnold and G. Hincley Arnold, brothers of the missing girl, had arranged to go down the bay to meet Griscom, none of the Arnold family did so, nor were they at the pier when the vessel docked.

STRATEGY BOARD IS CREATED

Insurrecto Commands in Future to Be Directed by Central Authority

SKIRMISHING NEAR JUAREZ

Two Graduates of Notre Dame University Have Joined the Rebels.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 11.—The strategy board, which has been talked of, has been created for the Insurrecto army and is now in the field with Orozco. The board is to direct the movements of the troops, but none of the Insurrecto commands are to be removed or reduced, all to be required to operate in harmony and by the direction of the secretary of the board, which is merely to prevent jealousies among various Insurrecto commanders. Two graduates of the Notre Dame, Indiana, university are with the Insurrecto and Abram Gonzales is the Insurrecto provisional governor of Chihuahua. Juarez officers stated this morning that they expected Navarro with his reinforcements to arrive on Sunday. The Insurrectos are still close to Juarez. Alamogordo is east of Juarez where there have been several skirmishes lately.

Rebels Take Mexicala.

Mexicala, Mex., Feb. 11.—General Simon Berthold and a band of Insurrectos were reported at Mexicala early today. The Insurrectos marched into town at dawn, the Mexican officials hurriedly crossing the river to the American side. Berthold later crossed and held a conference with Captain Babcock of the American troops stationed at Calexico, asking to be allowed to purchase provisions on the American side.

Andy Favors Reciprocity.

Washington, Feb. 11.—In a letter to Senator Beveridge, which the latter made public today, Andrew Carnegie urges early and favorable action by Congress on the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

HEZ RASCO IS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER.

Maryville, Mo., Feb. 11.—"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and assess his punishment at death."—John R. Evans, Foreman.

That was the verdict returned by the jury in the case of Hez Rasco, charged with the murder of Oda Hubbell, his wife, and two small children. When the verdict of the jury was read tears started to Rasco's eyes and he grasped the side of his chair, but in a moment he was able to control his feelings and present the same stoical demeanor which he maintained during the trial. There was a murmur of approval of the verdict on the part of the spectators. Rasco's defense was an alibi. The state depended upon circumstantial evidence only.

A family of four was found murdered in the ruins of their burning home, eighteen miles from Maryville, Mo., Sunday night, November 20, by neighbors who were attempting to put out the fire. The body of Oda Hubbell, a farmer, 30 years old, was found in the kitchen near the door. On the floor of the dining room, directly under the telephone, where she had attempted to give the alarm, was the body of Mrs. Hubbell. In the front bedroom lay the charred remains of Jessie and Welton, the 6-year-old daughter and the 4-year-old son. A big pool of blood just outside the kitchen door led to the supposition that the slayer called Hubbell to the door and there shot him. The others were killed to hide the name of the murderer.

The project of an airship will be smaller than the Deutschland, which came to grief in the Teutoburg forest last June but the motors and power will be the same. Four of Zeppelin's airships have met with disaster.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN DIED TODAY

Venerable Archbishop Suddenly Takes a Turn For the Worse

HAS HAD BRILLIANT CAREER

From Humble Missionary He Rose Step to Step to Prelate of the Church.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 11.—His Grace, Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan, died at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon. The news of this great Catholic prelate's death will cause grief throughout the land for the Archbishop was greatly beloved for his learning, his piety and his never failing good humor. Speaking of him a day or two ago, Archbishop Pitaval said:

"I am grieved to hear of the serious illness of the Archbishop of Philadelphia. His death would be a great loss to the Catholic church."

His Career.

The Most Reverend Patrick J. Ryan, Archbishop of Philadelphia, was one of the most prominent Roman Catholic ecclesiastics in the United States. He was born February 20, 1831, near Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland, and attended a private school at Dublin until sixteen years old. He then entered Carlow College, with a view of preparing himself for the American mission. He was ordained deacon in 1853, and set out the same year for St. Louis, Mo., where he finished his ecclesiastical studies in Carondelet seminary, and was raised to the priesthood in 1854. At the age of 21 he was appointed professor of English literature at the seminary from which he had graduated. On September 8, 1853, he was made assistant pastor of the St. Louis Cathedral, which position he filled until 1856, when he became its rector. In 1860 he was transferred to the Annunciation Church, St. Louis, where he remained for twelve years, acting also during the Civil war as Chaplain of a military hospital and prison.

He rose to be Vicar-General of the diocese of St. Louis. On February 15, 1872, he was elected coadjutor of St. Louis, and consecrated under the title of Bishop of Toluca on April 14. Owing to the great age of Archbishop Kendrick, most of the work of governing the diocese fell to his share and his administration was energetic and successful.

He was nominated Archbishop of Philadelphia on June 8, 1884, succeeding the late Archbishop Wood. In the preceding year he was one of the prelates selected to represent the interests of the Roman Catholic church of the United States in Rome. He was present at the third plenary council at Baltimore in 1884, at which the opening discourse, "The Church in Her Councils," was pronounced by him.

After he became Archbishop of Philadelphia his church labors gave him wide renown. He was preacher at the dedication of the Cathedral in New York; also when the pallium was bestowed upon Archbishop Corrigan. He was the orator when Cardinal Gibbons received the red hat. He it was who delivered the address to Leo XIII., when a copy of the Constitution of the United States was given to him by President Cleveland. He visited Rome in 1887 on business connected with the plan of establishing a Catholic university in Washington.

In September, 1903, when the golden jubilee of Archbishop Ryan was celebrated in Philadelphia, the chief dignitaries of the church were present in the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul. The Pope sent Monsignor Falconio as a personal representative. Thirty thousand people were in the church, and thousands were turned away for lack of room. In the great throng were many distinguished clergymen of other faiths. They had come to show their appreciation of the venerable prelate, whose work for the church and for the good of the general public had brought great honor to him from his own people and fame beyond the borders of the United States.

The daily life of the Archbishop was of a most routine character. He rose early, and usually said mass at 7:30 o'clock, after which he partook of a light breakfast. Two hours or more were then devoted to the business of the archdiocese; the next two hours lay to visitors. Dinner was served promptly at 12 o'clock, after which he took a rest. That was followed by a long walk, extending over several miles. He returned about six o'clock, and after supper again gave attention to diocesan business until it was time to retire.

The Archbishop lived quietly, plainly and modestly and never evidenced any desire to keep in the public eye. He could hardly be said to have identified himself with either of the so-called factions of the Catholic church in America. Like Archbishop Ireland and the late Archbishop Corrigan and one or two other members of the hierarchy in America, Archbishop Ryan

DEVELOPMENT ON THE PECOS

Obstacle to Jones, Las Vegas and Lake Urton Projects Removed

COMPROMISE WITH UNCLE SAM

Reclamation Service Relinquishes Prior Claims by Abandoning Undertakings.

The board of water commissioners will adjourn today, and it is said that a large number of appeals have been decided by the board and that the decisions will be announced next week, resulting in great development of irrigation projects in New Mexico.

The Urton Lake Company's application in which much interest has been manifested here, has been consolidated with the project of D. J. McCann of Fort Sumner, and the applications for the consolidated project are to be approved.

Thus it would seem that the difficulties which have held up the Urton Lake project are removed and that the company now will be able to go ahead and develop this very favorably situated project.

The Carey Act Land Board of New Mexico has withdrawn its application and notice with reference to this Urton Lake project, and it is understood that the Urton Lake company and the McCann company, have some agreement with the Carey Act Land Board. This means that they will carry out the project under the terms of the Carey Act.

It is also understood here that the differences that heretofore existed between the Las Vegas Land Grant Board and A. A. Jones and others have been settled, and that the application of Mr. Jones for certain waters of the Pecos and its tributaries is to be approved.

The applications of the Fort Sumner and Pecos Land Company and the application of H. B. Jones of Santa Rosa will also be approved by the board.

Waters of the Pecos.

All of the applications for waters of the Pecos and its tributaries are to be approved, subject to the rights of the United States to the use of waters of the Pecos for the Carlsbad project, but as there are known to be large quantities of flood waters of the Pecos which can be used at several places along the stream without interference of the Carlsbad project it is believed that the decisions and settlements of these cases will result in great development of irrigation enterprises and power plants along the Pecos river.

The settlement of these cases will probably result in the dismissal of the appeals now pending in the district court regarding the water rights for the Las Vegas project, which is being constructed by D. A. Canfield for the Las Vegas Irrigation district.

BARTENDERS ATTEND REVIVAL MEETING AT INDEPENDENCE.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 11.—To allow the bartenders and customers time to attend a revival service, eight saloons in Independence, near here, closed their doors for an hour yesterday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock, in compliance with a request made by the evangelist in charge, pulpit boxes were placed on the doors of the saloons. These were not removed until 4 o'clock.

WAS NOT ABLE TO WORK, THEREFORE KILLED HIMSELF

Denver, Colo., Feb. 11.—Despondency due to ill-health caused Marion McIlvain, aged 60, a retired expressman, to commit suicide by shooting yesterday on the rear porch of his home, 2014 Hale street. A year ago McIlvain was injured and became unable to work. He leaves a wife and daughter.

MAYOR WHO WAS RECALLED

Houses of Ill Repute and Gambling Dens Banished From Seattle

NEW MAYOR TAKES HOLD

Officials Who Had Protected Vice Are Ousted Without Ceremony.

Seattle, Feb. 11.—Mayor Hiram C. Gill, recalled by the electors for alleged misconduct in office retired at noon today without ceremony, and George W. Dilling took the oath of office. Chief of Police Wapenstein also went into retirement, as did Richard M. Armstrong, superintendent of the municipal light plant. Police Captain Calude G. Bannick, formerly of Sac City, Iowa, took charge of the police force. He has been instructed to close all gambling places and disorderly houses and in general to clean up the city.

MR. MILLER IS CITY FORESTER

Those Who Wish Trees Grafted May Call on Him or on Celso Lopez

MRS. JAFFA IS A DELEGATE

San Francisco Asks Mayor to Send Him Samples of Trolley Transfer.

David L. Miller has been appointed city forester. Mr. Miller is the custodian of the Capitol grounds and is recognized as the authority on tree planting in this part of New Mexico. Mayor Seligman stated today that those who desire trees should apply to Mr. Miller or to Celso Lopez, chairman of the Street committee, and the city will furnish trees gratis if the rules about their care are complied with.

Crusher is Coming.

The Street and Bridge committees have ordered a rock crusher and just as soon as it arrives it will be installed and the rock crushed to finish Montezuma avenue at once. It is expected to have the crusher working in a fortnight.

Appoints Mrs. Jaffa.

Mayor Seligman has appointed Mrs. Nathan Jaffa to represent Santa Fe at the Second International Congress on the Welfare of the Child which will meet in Washington April 25 to May 2. It will be under the auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' Association. One of the subjects for consideration at this Congress will be the Duty of the City to Children.

Committee on Lights.

The special committee on lights appointed by the Council and Manager Frank Owen of the Santa Fe Water and Light company spent two evenings inspecting the lighting system of the city and it was decided that 24 additional lights shall be installed. Some of them will be hung over the center of the road and others at the side as the case seems to demand.

Street Car Transfers.

Mayor Seligman received a letter today which made him do some thinking. It was from a man in San Francisco asking for samples of street car transfers in use on the trolleys in Santa Fe. Of course, people at San Francisco have heard of the wonders of Santa Fe and it will be a rather disagreeable task to tell the trolley car expert that there are no trolleys over head in this city. Mr. Seligman has been advised to break the news gently by sending the gentleman a post card with the picture of a burro on it.

Moving Fing.

"The sun do move," and so do some of the fine signs Mayor Seligman has placed up for the guidance of chauffeurs. The sign at Burro Alley announcing to the dear motoring public that that important thoroughfare is for pedestrians only was transferred by some mischievous person to Grant avenue and Federal street, and now Mayor Seligman is trying to find out who did it.

Breaking Street Lights.

Last night, the second of the costly street electric bulbs was broken maliciously. The bulbs cost $7.50, and it is easily seen that if they must be replaced frequently, the city's revenues will suffer. The light on College street was broken maliciously. It was done by a hack driver with his whip. He was seen by a citizen and the city authorities are investigating. All the hack drivers on duty last night and answering calls on College street will be arrested. It is pretty well known who the culprit is, and if it can be proved that he broke the globe, he will be given the limit of the law. In the meanwhile, the city offers a reward of $25 for information that will convict any one of breaking a street light. Mayor Seligman is determined to stop the nefarious practice and in such localities where lights are broken, they will not be replaced unless the adjacent property owners pay for the globe or apprehend the culprit.

THROWN FROM TRAIN BY TRAMPS AND KILLED.

Fred Ludwig, 35 years old, a Union Pacific brakeman, who was found lying unconscious beside the track half a mile north of Nunn, Colo., late Wednesday night, died at the Mercy hospital last night. An autopsy will probably be held today.

It is the opinion of the authorities that Ludwig was attacked by tramps, and during a fight in which he was believed to have been beaten over the head with a coupling pin, was thrown from the train.

REBEL COMMANDERS CAPTURED AND EXECUTED.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Feb. 11.—General Chapusset, commander of the rebels who captured Quanamouth, and General Mical Codie, who led the Insurrectos at Fort Liberty, have been captured by the government forces, and were shot to death.

BARON ALBERT ROTHSCHILD IS DEAD AT VIENNA.

Vienna, Feb. 11.—Baron Albert S. Rothschild, head of the Austrian branch of the Rothschild house, died today. He was born in 1844.

SAW WAR AT CLOSE RANGE

Santa Fean Back From El Paso and Juarez Tells of Thrilling Scenes

INSURRECTOS BRAVE FIGHTERS

Force Federalists to Seek Shelter Behind Women and Children.

There is a real war going on around Juarez and that the Insurrectos are making it extremely uncomfortable for the troops of President Diaz was ascertained today from Santa Feans who have just returned from El Paso, Texas, and Juarez, Old Mexico. About 100 Insurrectos were observed in this week's dispatches were observed that the Insurrectos were not more than a half mile from the city of Juarez. The Insurrectos were seen by the Rev. James Gratian Mythen who has been spending the week at El Paso. Mr. Mythen went over to Juarez and accompanying the correspondent of the Associated Press got within one mile of the Insurrectos, which was clearly observed through powerful field glasses. Mr. Mythen saw a squadron of cavalry and several companies of Infantry make a "sortie" from Juarez to capture a position held by the Insurrectos and he also saw many of the cavalry horses returning riderless. In fact one could see the horsemen shot down from their mounts, he says.

War Correspondent's Run.

At one point the war correspondent was halted by the general of the Diaz forces but a clever ruse saved him from having to discontinue his observations. The newspaper man asked the Diaz general if a real war was on that such interference was necessary and that if so the wires of the Associated Press would so announce. Louth to admit that the situation is grave it appears that the Diaz army has seen fit to be very courteous to correspondents who have to describe the scenes that are now attracting the attention of the country.

Mr. Mythen told of the way the federal army is being harassed and after one sortie the Insurrectos were in such an awkward position and at the mercy of the Insurrecto sharpshooters led by that wonderful crack shot, Orozco, that the women and children were taken from the farm houses and made serve as a body guard, for the enemy would not fire on the women.

Brookes to See War.

Adjutant General Brooke will go early next week to Alamogordo to inspect the National Guard and from Alamogordo it is understood that he will make a "sortie" and visit El Paso and Juarez and observe the military operations of the federalists and Insurrectos.

This will doubtless prove of excellent experience to any army officer especially if the Wright brothers give some practical demonstrations of the adaptability of the flying machine for scouting purposes. The attention of army officers all over the country is attracted by the possibilities of the aeroplane that may be discovered in practical work these days around Juarez.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

Over the Hills.

Over the hills and far away
A little boy steals from his morning's play,
And under the blossoming apple tree
He lies and he dreams of the things to be.
Of battles fought and victories won,
Of wrongs overthrown and of great deeds done—
Of the valor that he shall prove some day,
Over the hills and far away!Over the hills and far away,
It's oh! for he tells the livelong day!
But it mattered not to the soul aflame
With a love for riches and power and fame!
On, oh man, while the sun is high—
On to the certain joys that lie Yonder where blazeth the noon of
day!
Over the hills and far away—
Over the hills and far away!Over the hills and far away
An old man lingers at close of day:
Now that his journey is almost done,
His battle fought and his victories won—
The old-time honesty and truth,
The truthfulness and the friends of youth,
Home and mother—where are they?
Over the hills and far away—
Over the hills and far away!

During Week Beginning
March 4.

(Las Vegas Optic.)

An overland journey to Santa Fe, Española and the ancient cliff dwellings of Santa Fe country is being planned by George Fitzsimmons, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The trip will consume nearly a week and will be begun
Saturday March 4. Mr. Fitzsimmons will take with him eight or nine picked members of the Boy Scouts. The party will be limited to ten.The trip will be taken in a camp wagon, the party sleeping camp at night wherever they may chance to be.
Tents will be erected for sleeping and meals will be cooked over a cheerful camp fire. Mr. Fitzsimmons, while in Y. M. C. A. work in New Jersey, conducted several similar expeditions and is thoroughly familiar with every detail of camp life. He assures parents there will be not the slightest possibility of the boys coming to any harm as he establishes strict rules whichkeep the youngsters under his personal supervision all the time.Mr. Fitzsimmons says there need be no fear of exposure to the weather. He knows tricks about heating tents that will keep them snug and warm when the thermometer is standing at a much lower temperature than it ever attains in New Mexico during the month of March.The trip will be one of much educational value to the boys. All the historic places in Santa Fe will be visited and the boys will be taught the significance of the buildings and ruins they see. They will get a good insight into Indian life near Espanola, where Mr. Fitzsimmons is personally acquainted with several prominent Indians, having visited them last summer. The ruins of the cliff dwellingsSUNNY also will prove of great interest.

The boys are enthusiastic about the trip and many prospective members of the party have secured the permission of their parents to go along. Several of the boys are hustlers and are earning the money to make the trip.
Mr. Fitzsimmons has figured the cost of the trip down to the pennies. It will cost each boy about $12.50. The boys to make the trip are all pupils of the Normal, which is to have its spring vacation at that time. No boy will be allowed from the public schools as Mr. Fitzsimmons does not wish to induce boys to neglect their lessons.
Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts will join the party at Santa Fe and accompany it to Espanola and the cliff dwellings.Instead of taking a hike into the hills today the Las Vegas patrol of the Boy Scouts of America will participate in a number of examinations for ability in scouting. The examinations will be given at the Y. M. C. A.
under the direction of Scoutmaster George Fitzsimmons. Sunday afternoon there will be a meeting for the scouts at the Y. M. C. A. to which all boys interested are invited to attend.

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC OF TWELVE YEARS AGO.

At Wagon Mound So Many Deaths Occurred That Coffin Supply Ran Out.

(Wagon Mound Panograph.)

Twelve years ago this winter there was an awful epidemic of smallpox here. There were several hundred cases in town at once, and no attempt was made to establish a quarantine. People who were all broken out with smallpox went about the streets, entered the stores, and if they were well enough, went about their business as usual. As a result there were many deaths. The supply of coffins ran out. One merchant in a nearby town, ordered coffins shipped in long boxes, so the boxes could be used for coffins after the shoes were placed on the shelves.

Smallpox raged all that winter, and it was not until the warm weather that its power was broken. By that time everyone had it, and the town has been free since then. Now that a new generation of school children has been born, the school board and the doctors will protect them from the terrible times of twelve years ago.

At present there is more or less smallpox throughout the territory at this time, although all the towns deny they have any. Springer admits having three cases, all cured up and over with at this time. Elizabethtown is reported to have some, and French and the grading camps near there, are said to have several cases.

To prevent anything like an epidemic here, the school board has taken vigorous measures. Every child attending public school was vaccinated this week by Dr. Northwood and Dr. Frisbie. Wagon Mound will be kept free from the dread disease if it is possible to do it.

County Superintendent Blas Sanchez, under whose order the vaccination is being done, says that every school child in the county must be vaccinated. He went to Watrous Tuesday, and had Dr. Flint treat the children in the Watrous school. Dr. Northwood sent down 100 points to do the work.

FRANK LOPEZ ATTACKS PUEBLO POLICEMAN.

Pueblo, Feb. 11.—After he had snapped a gun twice in Patrolman Clegorn's face and then attempted to beat the officer to death with his revolver, Frank Lopez, an ex-convict and alleged murderer was arrested. Even after he had been loaded into the patrol wagon Lopez made a vicious attack on the arresting officer and struck him a blow in the face, knocking out several of his teeth. The gun taken from Lopez was identified this morning as one stolen from the home of Carl Fair, and charges of burglary and attempted murder have been filed against the man. Lopez, according to the police, escaped from Mexico after killing a police official for which he was condemned to be shot.

BANKS AMONG FOREIGN NATIONS

Russia, Austro-Hungary, the Netherlands and Japan

THE MONETARY COMMISSION

Valuable Publications on Financial Subjects Are Issued by It.

Washington, Feb. 11.—"Banking in Russia, Austro-Hungary, the Netherlands, and Japan," is the title of the most recent volume which the National Monetary Commission has added to its series of publications on banking and currency. The article treating of the banking systems of Russia by Prof. Idelson and Lexis, the Netherlands by R. van der Borch and Austro-Hungary by Prof. Zuckerkandl are translations from the third edition of Conrad's Handwörterbuch der Staatswissenschaften. The banking system of Japan is fully described by Marquis Katsura, finance minister of Japan; Baron Sakatani, ex-minister of finance; S. Naruse, a private financier; and Prof. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard University.

The publications of the National Monetary Commission serve two purposes; first, they furnish the material necessary for an intelligent revision of the banking and currency laws of the United States and, second, they are invaluable sources of information both for the student and the practical financier.

Organization of Banking in Russia.

The first banks in Russia were established by the government in 1751. In this year two banks were organized to "loan money on the precious metals and on precious stones, and to grant credit on the security of mortgages on estates cultivated by serfs." A third institution "was to be a commercial bank for the merchants of St. Petersburg." All three banks were allowed to receive deposits of private individuals. Their capital was supplied by the state. By 1775 these banks had been closed because of mismanagement. From this time until 1869, when the Imperial Bank was established, various state banks were organized. Their history presents the following characteristic features: "The dominant role played by the state banking system and the consequent close connection between the banks and the National credit; the late beginnings of private banking and the complete absence of private banks of issue; the tendency towards a comprehensive regulation of private banking by the State."

The Imperial Bank is a purely state institution directly under the control of the minister of finance. "The central administration consists of a council of the bank, a governor, and two deputy governors." The capital of 50,000,000 rubles was supplied by the government. There are a number of main and secondary branches.

"The business of the bank comprises the discounting of bills and other paper maturing at a fixed date, the granting of loans and credits, the taking of deposits, and the reception of valuables for safe-keeping, the purchase and sale of bills and other paper, the issue of drafts drawn in one locality upon some other place and buying and selling on commission. * * No other state institution has hitherto attempted to grant credit to agriculturists and manufacturers so readily and with the exercise of such leniency in the event of difficulty of payment."

Since November 26, 1907, the bank has been bound to make specie payments and to redeem its notes on demand. The redemption of the notes is guaranteed by the entire resources of the government. The Imperial Bank is allowed to issue notes as needed by the money market up to 600,000,000 rubles against a gold reserve of 50 per cent. Any issue in excess of 600,000,000 rubles must be fully covered by a gold reserve.

In 1908 the notes in circulation amounted to 1,155.1 million rubles, the deposits to 606.3 million rubles, and the gold reserve to 1,161.5 million rubles, making a gold reserve of 66 per cent against demand liabilities.

Banking accommodation is also provided in Russia by joint-stock banks, municipal banks, and mutual credit associations, of which classes of institutions the first is by far the most important.

The Bank of the Netherlands. The Bank of the Netherlands, a central bank of issue, is a joint-stock company created by the royal decree of March 25, 1814. "The supervision over the bank has been exercised since 1863 by a royal commissary."

The management of the institution is carried on by five directors, elected by the shareholders, and the president and secretary, appointed by the sovereign. The capital of the bank is 20,000,000 florins. Since 1863 there has been no limit to the amount of notes issued. "The ordinance of 1864 prescribed a metallic reserve of 40 per cent against bank notes and all other demand liabilities. The rest of the circulation is covered by bills and collateral on loans. The notes are redeemable on demand at the main office, subsidiary office, and at the 102 (on March 31, 1907) branch offices. Although the Bank of the Netherlands was originally given a monopoly of note issues, this express monopoly was taken away in 1863. However, no other bank has been granted the privilege of note issue.

The bank is obliged to add gratuitously as the fiscal agent of the government and as collector and disbursing agent for the provinces and banks. Out of the net earnings an amount equal to 3 1/2 per cent of the original capital first of all goes to the shareholders. Ten per cent of the remainder is to be assigned to the surplus until it reaches 25 per cent of the capital. Three per cent of what is left is then allotted to the directors and commissaries and beyond that the profits are distributed in the proportion of two-thirds to the state and one-third to the shareholders.

During the year 1906 the bank notes in circulation amounted to 270 million florins, the demand deposits to 5.9 million florins and the metallic reserve to 135 million florins or 49 per cent of demand liabilities.

The Austro-Hungarian Bank.

"The Austro-Hungarian Bank was instituted in 1878 as the successor of the Chartered Austrian National Bank. This had been established in 1816, mainly for the purpose of undertaking the withdrawal from circulation of the paper currency of the Austrian Government." Throughout its history the bank has been intimately connected with the government and with the reform of the currency.

The governor and the two vice-governors of the bank are appointed by the Emperor on nomination of the ministers of finance. The shareholders are represented by a council of twelve, whose resolutions, however, must be passed upon by the governor of the bank. The bank has a privately owned capital of 210 million crowns and has 254 branch offices. Bank currency is issued subject to the provision "that if the circulation exceeds the metallic reserve (in which foreign bills up to 20 million florins might be included) by more than 200 million florins, the bank is to pay a tax of 5 per cent on the excess." The bank notes have been redeemable in gold since the removal of the legal-tender quality from the Government notes in 1905.

The government participates in the profits of the Austro-Hungarian bank as follows: "Out of the net annual earnings a sum is first of all to be distributed among the shareholders equal to 4 per cent of the paid in capital; after that 10 per cent of the net earnings is to be allotted to the surplus and 2 per cent to the pension fund; of the remainder, in so far as the total dividends do not exceed 6 per cent of the paid in capital, one-half is to be assigned to the shareholders and one-half to the joint governments; of what remains after that one-third is to be distributed in dividends to the shareholders and two-thirds are to go to the governments."

At the end of 1907 the loans and discounts of the bank amounted to 873.3 million crowns, the note circulation was 2,625 million crowns, the deposits were 151.7 million crowns, or 64 per cent of the deposits and circulation.

The " giro " system, which provides for payment by means of additions to or deductions from accounts current, is very highly developed.

The Banking System of Japan.

The banking system of Japan is unusually interesting for several reasons. It has been entirely developed in 40 years; "it affords a unique instance of a central bank working among other banks;" it offers a good illustration of special banking institutions organized for special purposes; it offers an instance of the establishment of a banking system originally modeled on the national banking system of the United States.

In 1872 an Imperial ordinance was promulgated authorizing the establishment of National banks which were allowed to issue notes secured by Government bonds. "The National banks had difficulty in keeping their notes in circulation because of the large amount of inconvertible Government paper. In 1882 the minister of finance strongly urged the establishment of a central bank. In accordance with this recommendation the Bank of Japan was founded in October of that year to facilitate currency reform and to regulate the rate of interest. "Its charter and by-laws were closely modeled upon those of the National Bank of Belgium, with the exception of provisions regarding the issue of notes, as to which the example of the Reichsbank was taken." No renewals of the 20-year charters of the National banks were granted and, consequently, the last charter expired in 1899.

At present the Bank of Japan, consisting of a head office and eight branches, has a privately owned capital of 30,000,000 yen. Its governor and vice-governor are appointed by the government. It is privileged to issue convertible bank notes. Any issue beyond 120,000,000 yen and not fully covered by gold is taxed at least 5 per cent. The minister of finance is authorized to fix the tax at 5 per cent or more.

In 1909 the Bank of Japan held government deposits amounting to 182.2 million yen, other deposits amounting to only 5.6 million yen, and had notes outstanding amounting to 352.8 million yen. Among its assets "its loans and advances," "domestic bills," and "foreign bills" amounted to only 69.9 million yen, or but 11.4 per cent of its total assets, while "deposits with foreign agencies" and "gold coin and bullion" amounted to 228 million and 221.5 million yen respectively. This shows that nearly all the credit operations involve the issue of notes and that the domestic loans are comparatively insignificant. The connection between the Bank of Japan and the deposit banks, numbering 2,155 in 1909, is not intimate. The Bank of Japan is a government and currency institution rather than a bank of banks.

The Hypothec Bank of Japan acts mainly as the financial medium of agriculture, and was founded on the lines of the Credit Foncier de France. "Its principal business consists in making long-period loans at low rates of interest on the security of real estate, for the purpose of the improvement of agricultural resources. It operates through the 46 agricultural and industrial banks which were established for the same purpose. The Industrial Bank of Japan is designed as a credit institution for industry. "Its scope is limited, in the main, to making loans on the security of National loan bonds, local loan bonds, or shares of companies, receiving deposits of money, and taking charge of goods intrusted to it for safe-keeping."

TAN BARK AND TANNING EXTRACTS.

Almost $22,000,000 Worth Were Consumed in the United States During the year 1909.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—Tan bark and tanning extracts were consumed in the United States during the calendar year 1909 to the value of $21,964,927, as against $21,361,719 in 1908, and $21,205,547 in 1907. Of these totals the outlay for extracts formed 49.2 per cent during 1909, 49.4 per cent in 1907.

This information appears in the preliminary comparative report covering 1909, 1908, and 1907, which was transmitted today to Census Director Durand by Chief Statistician W. M. Stearns, under whose supervision it was prepared by J. E. Wheelchel, expert special agent of the Division of Manufactures. In cooperation with the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of the Census annually collects and publishes statistics pertaining to the group of lumber and timber industries.

While the total expenditure for vegetable tanning materials has been fairly evenly divided between the group of barks, etc., on the one hand and that of extracts on the other during the past three years, the average cost per cord of barks has advanced steadily from $9.52 in 1907 to $9.58 in 1908 and $10.31 in 1909. This increase in the average cost per cord has been accompanied or followed by a corresponding decrease in the quantity annually consumed during the same period, the total for 1908 being 7.2 per cent less than that for 1907, and that for 1909, 4.3 per cent less than that for 1908. The most marked decrease in annual consumption is shown for hemlock, which was the bark used in greatest quantity in all three years, the reported total of this species for 1909 being less than that for 1908 by 13.8 per cent, and less than that for 1907 by 14.4 per cent.

Increase in Total Consumption

The showing for extracts is similar to that for barks, etc., with respect to cost, though entirely different when the annual consumption is considered. The average cost per pound of extracts of all kinds consumed during 1907 was $0.0264, while in 1908 it was $0.0269 and in 1909 $0.0278. The total consumption in 1909 was greater than that in 1907 by 21,919,360 pounds, or 6 per cent, though slightly less than that reported for 1908, the total for which year was the largest of which there is record.

The most marked increase among the leading extracts was in chestnut extract, the reported consumption of which in 1909 exceeded that of 1908 by 24.5 per cent and that of 1907 by 35.6 per cent. This movement in the tanning industry toward the supplanting of barks as materials with extracts has been discernible in the showings for several years past and follows logically the growing scarcity and rapidly increasing cost of the barks. Furthermore the fact that the supply of barks is not only diminishing but at the same time becoming more remote from transportation facilities contributes to the decreasing use of tanning materials in this form. The tanning industry, or that portion of it using vegetable tanning materials, is widely distributed. The consumption of extracts was reported from 33 states, and of barks from 25 in 1909, but the four states of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, West Virginia, and Michigan, ranked in point of consumption in the order named, used nearly two-thirds of the total quantity of barks reported, and, with Massachusetts, about three-fifths of that of extracts. Pennsylvania continues, however, to be far in the lead of all other states in the quantity of both barks and extracts annually consumed, this state alone reporting 28.8 per cent of the barks and 32.2 per cent of the extracts used during 1909.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

GROWTH OF FOREST SERVICE.

The national forests cover one-twelfth of the area of New Mexico. In other words, of every square mile about fifty acres are reserve. It is an immense domain; its status has a very vital effect upon every industry of the commonwealth, but especially upon the stock and lumbering industries and upon irrigation and agriculture. In the long run, the forest reserves in New Mexico will prove an inestimable blessing, for the present they cause some hardships and some injustice. The following resume of the history of the service made this week in congress by Representative Scott is of local interest:

"Ten years ago there existed a Division of Forestry, but no Forest Service; a number of forest reserves, but no national forests or actually working national forest policy; the beginnings of knowledge of how to make use of forests without destroying them, but no extensive practical application of such knowledge of any forest holdings in the United States, public or private.

"For the fiscal year 1901 the amount available for expenditures of the Division of Forestry was $88,530. The division employed at the beginning of that year 89 persons, including clerks, laborers, and outside employees, of whose time only a small part was given to the work of the Government; but the actual staff of scientific experts regularly employed numbered only 20. A single floor of the Atlantic Building sufficed to house this insignificant division, which reported as actually under forest management in the United States less than 180,000 acres of private forests. The only work upon which the Division of Forestry was then engaged in connection with the forests, reserved or unreserved, belonging to the government was the making of studies designed to show how the interior Department might, if it chose, sell timber from the reserves under the principles of forestry; and the total area of these reserves was less than 50,000,000 acres.

"For the fiscal year 1911 the Forest Service appropriation totaled $5,098,100. Over 3,000 persons are carrying on the work of the service, which includes investigations of forest problems in all parts of the United States, careful laboratory and other studies to promote the best and most complete use of what our forests furnish and to curtail waste, and administration of over 120,000,000 acres of national forests under the principles of forestry. Throughout the length and breadth of the United States conservation of our forest resources, public and private, is recognized as vitality affecting the national welfare, while progressive lumbermen are organizing to follow the lead of the Government in protecting the present stand of timber and are discussing the practicability of so modifying their methods as to secure a reproduction of the forest crop.

"It is difficult to say whether the astounding progress which has been made hitherto in the field of administrative development or in that of scientific conquest. For the technical forester the vast field of American forestry was 10 years ago mainly unexplored. Except to a limited degree in the East, there was lacking any basis of forecasting what the forests of different regions will yearly produce, and what should therefore be yearly cut; of judging what results would follow any particular kind of cutting; or of insuring forest preservation through use. In short, the science which underlies intelligent use of forest resources was in a merely rudimentary stage.

"On the administrative side the system under which a vast national resource is both maintained in its integrity as a permanent public possession and put to the fullest possible use in the service of public needs had not begun to take practical shape. Time falls in which to enlarge in detail upon what has since been accomplished. Wherever timber is in demand the Government is now selling it (or giving it where settlement and development can best be promoted by proper free use) under methods which will not only maintain but improve the timber growth, and with proper safeguarding of the water supplies which the forests furnish. Last year the total cut of national forest timber approached 500,000,000 feet, of which over 100,000,000 feet was cut under free use. The receipts from timber in 1910 were over $1,000,000; five years earlier they were $60,000. At the same time the actual stand of timber increases yearly through protection of the entire forest area. The grazing resource of the forests gives sustenance each season to nearly 1,500,000 cattle and horses and nearly 8,000,000 sheep; supports through the grazing season live stock with a gross annual output in beef, hides, mutton and wool of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000, and withal increases in value through the devising of improved methods of utilizing the for-

IT'S A GOOD THING.

According to Traveling Auditor C. V. Safford, the building and loan associations of New Mexico had on January 1 of this year, $1,182,925 out on loans on real estate. This means that considerably more than a million dollars were raised in that manner for the building of homes and business blocks. The undivided profits on this, for the shareholders, amount to about ten per cent, which proves that building and loan associations are a pretty good investment, aside from the fact that they encourage home building. Santa Fe's Building and Loan Association has something like $50,000 loaned out on real estate. It made possible some such new structures as the Elks' theater, the Firemen's Hall and many of the beautiful homes that have been going up the past few years. It must be remembered that the $50,000 are constantly in process of being repaid by regular monthly installments. As fast as the money is repaid it is put out again for more new homes and more business blocks. Last year, the shareholders were credited with profits exceeding eight per cent, which if averaged up as the installments on each share are monthly, would really mean twice eight per cent. A local building and loan association as carefully managed as that in Santa Fe, is a good thing, therefore, for the community, and for the men who invest in it. For the thrifty and provident it offers a chance of laying aside a small sum regularly each month and earning interest on it right along. The best advice, the New Mexican can give any young man in town, any wage earner, any businessman, is to take out a few shares in the Mutual Building and Loan Association. It will help the town and it will help him. In fact, the New Mexican believes, that the association, should carry a standing advertisement in the newspapers, setting forth its plan, its past profits, its advantages, its terms, and thus hold out a general invitation to every one to invest in a good thing.

ARIZONA'S MISFORTUNE.

That Arizona's growth during the past ten years was almost altogether in a few large cities, especially in such mining camps as Bisbee, Douglas, Morenci, Globe, Prescott, which ten years from now may have passed out of existence, in accordance with the fate of the average mining camp, is apparent from the latest census statistics that have been published. Tucson, Phoenix, Bisbee, Globe, Douglas, Prescott and Morenci, which range from 13,000 to 5,000 population in the order named, have with their suburbs, one third of the population of the entire territory. When it is remembered, that Arizona's population is less than two thirds that of New Mexico, and that its gain, the past ten years was only 30,000 against New Mexico's 130,000, then it will be seen, that the neighboring territory is still in its swaddling clothes and that its future is not very promising, while the present depends altogether on the very uncertain mining industry. In New Mexico, the seven largest cities, Albuquerque, Roswell, Santa Fe, Raton, Las Cruces, East Las Vegas, and Las Vegas have only one eighth of the total population. Growth and development in New Mexico have been on the more solid foundation of agricultural development. Much more serious to Arizona, therefore, than it would have been to New Mexico, is the outbreak of socialism, and radicalism, as manifested by the approval of a constitution, that will discourage capital from investing, and enterprise from developing, the latent resources of the neighboring commonwealth.

Delegate W. H. Andrews should use all his influence in the U. S. Senate to block the iniquitous scheme of the Democrats who with the insurgent Republicans, knocked New Mexico out of one Congressman in the House apportionment bill which they forced through over the vote of the regular Republican members. When it is remembered, that Idaho with only 325,000 inhabitants, according to the census, is given two Congressmen, then the enormity of the injustice about to be perpetrated upon New Mexico with 327,000 inhabitants, must be apparent. In Idaho, it takes only 162,500 inhabitants for one Congressman; in New Mexico it takes more than 327,000. Such an apportionment is in defiance of the constitution, and New Mexico will long remember this gross injustice against the Democratic party.

President Taft is embarking on uncharted seas when he declares that tariff walls must come down. The New Mexican is willing to follow him in advocating reciprocity with Canada, free trade with the Philippines and scientific tariff making by an expert commission, but it is not ready to agree with him in advocating free hides, free wool, free lumber and free trade in other things that the Democratic manufacturing kings of New England are clamoring for. Placing hides on the free list has proved a grave mistake, for it has not reduced the cost of leather or of shoes, but it has decreased the prices paid New Mexico cattlemen for their hides. No free trade, either in raw material or in manufactured goods, for the American workman or for the American consumer at present!

In Idaho 162,500 inhabitants are given one congressman, in Arizona, 204,000 entitled to one congressman, and New Mexico, with 327,000 inhabitants, is declared entitled to only one. That seems to be the Democratic idea, for the Democrats in the House yesterday forced the passage of an apportionment measure that cuts down New Mexico's apportionment from two congressmen in the Enabling Act, to one representative, or one less than Idaho which has 2,000 inhabitants less than New Mexico. Is New Mexico being punished for being loyally Republican?

Although Roswell collects three times the amount of taxes that Santa Fe does, its city fathers, have further lightened the drain upon the city treasury by devising a new method to pay for street sprinkling. They passed an ordinance taxing abutting property owners according to their frontage, on streets that are sprinkled. The property owners fought the ordinance as illegal and unconstitutional, but Judge Frank W. Parker, in a recent decision has upheld the ordinance and it will now be enforced. Here is a hint to those property owners in Santa Fe who kick about their frontage, on streets not being sprinkled. They can do as the property owners in Roswell now must do, pay for their sprinkling by the front foot.

The monthly reports of the federal land office in Santa Fe, and it is only one of six in New Mexico, is irrefutable proof, that the land hungry homeseekers are still pouring into New Mexico. During the month just past, more than 20,000 acres were filed upon in some manner or form. In twelve months, this means more than a quarter of a million acres, and in six land districts, this aggregates more than a million and a half acres. When it is considered that the public domain in New Mexico is today only one-half of what it was ten years ago, then it is apparent that the man who wants a quarter section of the public lands must hurry.

An Iowa legislator has introduced a bill in the legislature providing for the erection of a great state manual training school, free to the boys and girls of the state, and in which they are to be paid for the products of their hands and skill. In passing, it might be remarked, that such a school in New Mexico would do fully as much good, if not more, than any other institution of "higher" learning. It is an easy and inexpensive matter nowadays to imbibe "higher" learning but when a father and mother want their boy to learn a trade they do not know which way to send him.

It is some satisfaction to learn that election methods in Great Britain are more rotten than they are in Ohio or Illinois and that election frauds at Parliamentary elections are the rule rather than the exception. The British have looked with some superciliousness upon America and Americans on account of the exposures of civic crookedness in many spots, but the revelations made by Tim Healy have opened their eyes to worse conditions right at home.

Dr. Lyman F. Kebler blames newspapers for publishing patent medicine advertisements. The cure for the evil is for reputable physicians to advertise also. Under the present code of ethics, the patent medicine vendor has a distinct advantage over the regular physician. The former lets the public know what he is doing but the latter does not.

What is a compact among Democrats? The Oklahoma supreme court declares that despite the provisions of the Enabling Act accepted by Oklahoma, the capital must be removed from Guthrie to Oklahoma City. Repudiation is a Democratic virtue.

Governor Wilson of New Jersey, has threatened to pound legislative sense into the Democratic leaders at Trenton with his fists. There is a hint to Governor Shafroth of Colorado.

The losses of the Mexican rebels in their campaign in Chihuahua are up to the present reported to be 27 generals and 7 privates.

BROOM CORN GROWING IN NEW MEXICO.

Tucumcari, N. M., Feb. 11.—It is an old saying that the woman who knows how can handle almost any kind of a broom effectively, and some have proven that the stick has utility whether equipped with brush or not. But those housekeepers who delight in the best brooms are finding that a large per cent of the material of which it is composed, grows in New Mexico. The culture of broom corn is rapidly increasing and in 1910 New Mexico broom on the New York market sold at $30 per ton above the average market price. Some notion of the profits which come to farmers who cultivate broom corn is emphasized in the experience of one man who cultivated 53 acres. This was the first crop on the land and yielded net $4,000. Another advantage in growing broom corn in some parts of New Mexico is the fact that it is possible in many instances to raise two crops a year, this having been done in several localities. It is the opinion of those who have given the matter careful attention that broom corn grown by irrigation will prove far more valuable than any other crop the farmer can raise.

LARGEST MAN IN TEXAS DEAD NEAR HOUSTON.

Houston, Feb. 11.—Lamb Graves, the largest man in the state of Texas, is dead at his home near this city. Graves was a giant in stature, standing seven feet and three inches tall, and weighed when in health 250 pounds. He was a farmer by occupation and resided in Bexar county five years, having come here from Centerville, Texas. It is said of him that he possessed the strength of three ordinary men and could tame horses and other animals into submission by sheer force. But while he was a giant both in size and strength, he was known as a most kindly man, and avoided notoriety. Many amusement enterprises made him flatteringly offers to go on exhibition but these were always rejected. On account of his size, the undertaker who was called at the time of his death found it impossible to get a coffin large enough and the body lies in a morgue in this city awaiting the arrival of a specially ordered casket. It is believed that Graves was the tallest man, not only in Texas but in the United States. He was 83 years old and unmarried.

RYAN WAS FIRST CHAMPION

Syracuse Fighter Gives Interesting Statement as to How He Won Title From Needham.

Tommy Ryan was asked for a statement regarding the first welterweight champion. Boston papers put forth the claim, recently, of Paddy Duffy for this honor and others said Ryan was entitled to it. Ryan claims to be the first welterweight champion of the world, but gives to Duffy the honor of being the first welter champion of America.

Here is Ryan's statements as made to a newspaper correspondent of Syracuse, N. Y.

"Paddy Duffy of Boston was recognized as the first welterweight champion. He dropped out of the game—just how I do not recollect, and then Tommy Ryan.

Patsy Carrigan of Boston and Denny Needham of Minneapolis fought 106 rounds to a draw in California for the title.

"Needham claimed the title, for Patsy did not stay in the game much longer. Needham was generally recognized as the champion and I was matched with him for a finish match for the honors.

"Let me say right here that in those days champions had to make weight at the ringside, with their fighting togs and gloves on. There was no such thing as weighing in at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and fighting six hours later.

"For five hours and five minutes Needham and I fought. The bout, which took place in 1891, went 76 rounds and I won on a knockout. I was then recognized as the champion of America.

"Tom Williams came over from Australia about that time. He was recognized as the welter champion of the land of the kangaroo, having beaten George Dawson for the Australian title.

"Williams' first fight in this country was with Mysterious Billy Smith and Smith knocked him out in three rounds at Coney Island. Smith then challenged me to fight for the world's championship. He had the Australian title while I held that of America.

"We fought in Minneapolis and I won in twenty rounds, making me the undisputed welterweight champion of the world.

"My next fight for the title took place in The Alhambra here in 1897. Tommy Tracy had come over from Australia and claimed the championship of that country. He challenged me, and when we met I knocked him out in nine rounds.

"After this bout I drifted into the

ELIGIBLE FOR BIG FUTURITY

List of Foals of 1910 Named for Kentucky Classic Shows 874—Many From Blue Grass State.

Secretary Horace Wilson of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association has announced that 874 weanlings have been kept eligible to the twenty-first annual renewal of the Kentucky Futurity, $21,000, for foals of 1910.

The list comes from 37 states, and from Canada and England. The list aggregates 311, and 32 have five weanlings to their credit, or a total of 478, this number representing 55 per cent of the entire list. The largest list comes from W. E. D. Stokes' farm, the Patchen Wilkes nursery, at Lexington, which names 88 entries, 48 of which are by Peter the Great.

Walnut Hall farm, owned by L. V. Harkness, also contributes 42 and for the first time in many years is second in the list of entries. The majority of these are by Moko, Walnut Hall and Ozona. Other farms represented are J. K. Newton's place, Calhorne farm, William Allen Russell's place, Simpson's Empire City farms, Cuba, N. Y.; the International Stock Food farm of Minneapolis, Minn.

Peter the Great heads the stallions with 80 weanlings, probably the record number by one sire in any renewal of the Futurity. These 26 sires represent the fashionable and popular blood lines of the present day, and all but four have records in standard time. Ten have records from 1:55 to 2:09 3/4.

In the list by states, Kentucky leads, furnishing about 40 per cent. In this connection it is of interest to note that Kentucky breeders named about 40 per cent of the mares entered last March. New York holds second place, with 123 weanlings kept in. Both of these states show a liberal increase over last year, and over one-half the total list of weanlings have been entered by the breeders of these two states. Massachusetts, as usual, comes third, being represented by 69, and this year Pennsylvania advances to fourth place with 43.

ASCOT PARK UNDER THE BAN

Track Where Barney Oldfield and Others Promoted Meet, Is Disqualified for One Year.

Ascot park automobile track, Los Angeles, Cal., is disqualified for one year as a place for sanctioned motor racing meets in a circular issued by the contest board of the American Automobile association.

This action follows the holding of a meet at the track on December 11, which was promoted by Barney Oldfield and others. Oldfield was under suspension by the board at the time, and the disqualification is extended to all licensed drivers who took part in the Ascot meet. They include George H. Clark, who is alleged, drove under an assumed name; E. Rogers Stearns, Ben Korschner and nine local drivers at Los Angeles. The cars driven by the Los Angeles men also are disqualified for two years.

The suspension of Oldfield, it was reported, shall be brought to the attention of the International Association of Recognized Automobile Clubs and by that body "promulgated to the respective automobile governing bodies in every part of the world."

Tigers to Meet Harvard?

A definite movement has been started by recognized authorities for a Harvard-Princeton football game in 1911, probably at Princeton. Gossip regarding such an event has been very persistent for more than a year, and it was announced recently that tentative plans have been drawn up by William F. Garcelon and J. W. Larley of Harvard, the former the athletic manager and the latter one of the athletic advisers, and William J. Roper, head coach of the Princeton team.

It is admitted that no definite understanding has been reached, principally because of absence in Europe of Head Coach P. W. Houghton of the Harvard team.

If a game is arranged it is expected that it will be played at Princeton either on November 4 or 11.

Harvard's Lacrosse Schedule.

The Harvard lacrosse team schedule has been announced as follows: April 8, Springfield Training school at Cambridge; 15, Johns Hopkins at Baltimore; 19, Navy at Annapolis; 21, Army at West Point; 29, Carlisle at Cambridge; May 5, Columbia at Cambridge; 13, Hobart at Geneva, N. Y.; 15, Cornell at Cambridge.

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried the new remedy, and I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you I am free from all that this morning. "PLANT MORE HOGS" IS TEXAS SLOGAN.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 11.—"Plant more hogs" has been the advice given farmers by the press of Texas for the past three years. That those residing in the country have heeded this is emphasized by the figures on hogs marketed in Texas the past year. More than twice the number of hogs were shipped to Texas packing houses in 1910 than during any year since the Texas farmer learned that the hog is a profitable crop. It is estimated that if the average continues in 1911, as it did in 1910, practically all the hogs converted into pork at the Texas packing houses will come from Texas farms. For some time it was maintained by those who had spent a great deal of their time farming in the saddle, that the hog could not be grown profitably in this state. The experience of those who have taken to the culture proves conclusively that the hog is one of the most valuable assets of the Texas farmer. At first he grew the native, slightly crossed with better blood, but today much attention is given to the best strain and the Texas hog ranks as one of the best on the market.

SAN ANTONIO HAS MORE TAXABLES THAN NEW MEXICO.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 11.—That growth in population which has made this city the metropolis of Texas is paralleled by the rapid growth in taxable valuation. In 1904 this city had an assessed valuation of $23,386,705. In 1910 this had leaped upward to $72,715,000. This year it is estimated by the board of equalization that the total assessed valuation will reach $90,000,000, having increased in the past twelve months in round numbers $8,000,000. This rapid increase is due largely to the building era which has gone at a $3,000,000 pace annually for the past three or four years. The property represented in this increase is of the most substantial kind in character that indicating twentieth century progress. The improvements in building is not all. Extension of traction lines and traction service, improved telephone and telegraph service, the wide extension of the water system to accommodate the rapidly growing additions to the city and all those advances in substantial property values which characterizes all cities that are rapidly increasing in population and wealth.

DUMB CHILLS AND FEVER.

Douglasville, Tex.—"Five years ago, I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Miss Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time, was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four different doctors, but got no relief, so I began to take Cardui. Now I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That's the secret of 50 years of success. As a tonic there is nothing in the drugstore like it. As a remedy for women's ills, it has no equal. Try it. YOUR ADVERTISEMENT in the NEW MEXICAN speaks to thousands every day. IT IS BOUND TO BRING YOU BUSINESS.

THE SUBSCRIBERS to the local paper are the prosperous people of your town. THEY ARE THE PEOPLE WHO BUY.

YOUR ADVERTISEMENT in the local paper helps to build the town. The outside judges Santa Fe by the advertisements in its local papers.

It is a BUSINESS MAXIM universally accepted that advertising pays. That is, if it is done right.

PEOPLE READ ADVERTISEMENTS. Let the "New Mexican" place in its most obscure column that you are selling sugar at one cent a pound and your store tomorrow will not hold its customers. Advertise calico at one cent a yard and you will have to telegraph to your wholesale house for car-load lots.

YOU CAN STIMULATE BUSINESS BY ADVERTISING. Today no business will increase permanently unless by some method of advertising. The fool in his heart will say that there is no virtue in advertising but the wise man knows that the fool is deceiving himself.

AN ADVERTISEMENT in the "New Mexican" DRAWS LIKE A POROUS PLASTER. It cannot fail if it advertises the right goods at the right price.

THE NON-PROGRESSIVE MERCHANT is noted by the fact that his advertisement does not appear in the local papers. The sheriff has an eye on his business and his credit must be poor.

LAST YEAR, the "New Mexican" took in $12,000 in subscriptions. The readers who had that much for the local paper have as much for your store but you must let them know that you are doing business, where, and how you are doing it.

THE ADVERTISING RATES in the "New Mexican" are but a fraction of the rates in other cities. It is untrue that you cannot afford to advertise; the fact is when you feel that you cannot afford to advertise, you cannot afford NOT to advertise.

The "New Mexican" goes into the homes of Santa Fe and it reaches every post office in New Mexico

It pays to advertise in the "NEW MEXICAN" at intervals was reported as destined to receive the red hat. Though the Archbishop did not speak in public very frequently his magnificent oratorical powers were known to the whole country. Several of his lectures have been published and widely circulated. He was a very impressive speaker. As an illustration of this fact, it is related that on the occasion of the departure from Philadelphia of a big steamer laden with provisions contributed by the American people for the relief of the starving Russians the simple words of the Archbishop, calling down the blessings of heaven on the vessel, its crew and its cargo, brought tears to the eyes of every man and woman in the great crowd that thronged the dock.

Beavers Had Big Meeting—The Santa Fe Dam No. 86, Independent Order of Beavers had a largely attended meeting in Elks' hall last night and initiated five candidates: Thomas Vickroy, George Mignard, Michael Stanton, A. T. Koch, and Lester J. Brewster. C. J. Nies, an attorney in the land office, was elected secretary. Vice Manuel B. Otero, resigned. Owing to pressure of postoffice work Mr. Otero asked to be excused from the onerous duties of secretary of an order which has so many members as the Beavers and his request was granted. Mr. Nies is a young man of ability and is an enthusiastic worker for the Beavers.
