HIKING DOWN THE LONG BROWN PATH

Vacationists With Shelter Tents and Tin Cow Learning to Walk All Over Again.

Oh! it's not the pack that you carry at your back
Nor the rifle on your shoulder,
Nor the five inch crust of khaki-colored dust
That makes you feel your limbs are growing apace,
And it's not the hike on the hard turnpike
That drives away your smile,
Nor the socks of slippers that take the blushing life out
It's the long mile
— Pittsburgh Marching Song

Stringing out from the suburban transit terminals of New York every Sunday and holiday goes the army of khaki-clad hikers. There may be an automobile for every twenty of the country's population, but a host of its folk disprove the theory of a future leg-entangled citizenry and are learning to walk all over again.

To the more casual minded, the hike is just exercise, but to those who catch its real significance the hike means a great deal more. It is the cheapest form of recreation and therefore appeals to those living in crowded districts and unable to avail themselves of the more expensive amusements. And these people, as it noted, are just those the country is so anxious to have spread out and settled in the farming sections. The hike, indeed, has possibilities as a real starter for the "back to the farm" movement.

Doughboy and Boy Scout Lead Way

Just a brief survey of the rattling groups which move off from the city terminals on holidays establishes a few general types. There is the ex-service man and his friends who will hear from him the story of more serious excursions on the hazy roads of France. He tightens a strap here and another there on the blanket roll adjustments of the "shelter tent," in which the commissary is packed for the mid-day feast by the roadside. Expert directions come from him on the method of slinging the pack so it will not feel so heavy or interfere with the free body movement. He will pass along the information, gained in his army days, of how that same pack was evolved after numerous experiments to find the easiest way of carrying the heaviest load. With results he now compliments, but which he characterizes when a doughboy as a "blankety-blank total failure."

Then there are the boy scout parties, adept at everything pertaining to "shanks mare" traveling and woodcraft. The ex-service man and the boy scout are pioneers in the hiking game. Listen to one of them right off the train and making ready for a twelve mile jaunt: "Get that canteen over the side, Jimmie, and it won't keep bouncing off your leg every step. Is it filled? Well, then, we drink. How about the cats? Let's check 'em off. You got the spuds, Bill; the bacon Jimmie. Who has the coffee and the Borden tin cow?"

"Right here," announces a freckled comrade of the road, patting his knapsack. "Salted the mecha and the can of milk when it wasn't looking."

"Well, then, let's go!" snaps the commander of the expedition.

This party is traveling light for real distance. Another must expect to make a shorter hike or else be counting greatly on the power of endurance. Perhaps the camp is not far off because the group is equipped for an over-night stay with heavy blanket rolls, hatchets, lanterns, canvas washpails, rubber ponchos, kettles, pots, saw, fangled firestand, etc. etc. The blankets are laid out for a better packing of the bags and cans of food. When the party commences to load up the members bristle all over with camp tools and equipment.

Back to the Farm

The veterans from the crowded city tenements has found a new territory to roam and one almost unknown to his associates. He is introducing them to this newly discovered land and teaching them how to be independent of any transportation but their own good legs and of any subsistence but what they can carry and prepare. "Walk and cook your own," is his motto.

Who will say the leaves thus fermenting in the city crowds will not bear fruit in a homes appreciation of country delights, especially as these are added to by increased comforts on the farm. With his rifle hitched up, the farmer listens in on the best of entertainment the country has to offer. Modern home devices wipe out many hardships formerly imposed upon isolated dwellers. There is, in short, a rapid cutting down of the differential between farm and city

Wife.

In the meantime, knowledge must precede a true appreciation of what the country holds, and this is what the hike supplies. There is more appeal in one apple tree in blossom than in reams of printed matter put out to induce the citizen of the city to change his abode to the country. The hikers constitute a growing army, equipped with bacon, spuds, coffee and tin cow for merely a day's outing but nevertheless seeing sights that make them yearn to be doing them all the time. It is not too much to assume that the army may one day recruit the open places.

CROPS ALL GOOD

Western Canada Farmers Jubilant Over Prospects.

Invest in Southwestern Manitoba Expected to Come Close to Bumper Yield of 1915.

Those who have friends in Western Canada will be anxious to learn of the conditions there, and will be interested in knowing that generally the crop prospect is very favorable. Out-groping and harvesting have become general, and it is anticipated that the results which will appear when thrashing is completed will be highly satisfactory.

With the widely varying weather conditions that have prevailed in the different sections of the prairie provinces, it would be impossible to forecast with any degree of accuracy as to how the crop is made. The Manitoba crop has held its own, and the outlook for the province as a whole is decidedly good.

With the exception of an area south and west of Brandon, grain crops in Manitoba continue to give promise of a good harvest, the best in fact for a number of seasons, reports the Canadian National Railways for the week ended July 22. Recent rains and favorable temperatures have improved conditions wonderfully.

Southwestern Manitoba will reap a harvest which will nearly equal the bumper harvest of 1915. Farmers in the district are very optimistic. The crop is exceptionally good; many fields will yield upwards of 30 bushels per acre. The fields are remarkably free of weeds, and the grasshopper menace, which has been evident in the southwestern portion of the province for the past three years, has been almost entirely obliterated. No damage has been done to the wheat crop by rust, and the oats crop will average more than 60 bushels to the acre.

In Saskatchewan there are large areas where the crops are excellent. In places where the prospects some few weeks ago were not encouraging, material change for the better is apparent. In these places unusually dry weather during the growing season kept the crops back, but what was most remarkable was the effect that the spring moisture had. While light in some places, this moisture kept sufficient strength in the growing crops to ensure a fair yield of a good quality of grain. This condition arises in the mid-central districts of the province.

The southern portions of the province have been exceptionally favored, reports showing that the yield of all grains will be wonderfully good.

The crops of all Saskatchewan are a week or ten days later than those of Manitoba.

Conditions in Alberta are said to be good, especially in southern Alberta, where copious and plentiful showers came in time to give assurance of good paying yields. This applies to nearly all sections of that district.

Northern Alberta, or at least that portion of it lying within thirty miles of Edmonton, has suffered from lack of moisture, a very unusual thing for that district, where there is generally an abundance. As a result, the heavy yields of wheat, oats and barley for which the district is noted will show considerable falling off over past years. The grain, though, is of excellent quality and the yield will be fair.

Pasture is poor, and the hay crop will fall short of that of any previous year for quite an extended period.

On the whole, the prairie provinces of Western Canada will have a crop that will warrant the statement that it will prove satisfactory and remunerative.

A number of farmers put in corn this year, and from present appearances there is a likelihood of an abundant yield for fodder and ensilage, while a good deal of it will fully mature. A number of silos were erected this season. While grain growing is losing none of its interest, it is highly pleasing to note the number of farmers who are adding dairying to the grain growing industry.—Advertisement.

POST TREATMENT IS MONEY SAVER

Experiments at Iowa College With Water Gas Tar in Conjunction With Creosote.

BY-PRODUCT OF GAS PLANTS

Creosoting Will Lengthen Life of Posts of Any Kind of Wood—Especially Valuable With Cottonwood or Willow.

A new economy in the preservative treatment of fence posts is in sight, if experiments with the use of water gas tar in conjunction with creosote, which are being conducted by foresters of the Iowa agricultural experiment station, justify the belief that the tar can be utilized.

Water gas tar, a by-product of artificial gas plants, is much cheaper than creosote. The purpose of the experiments is to determine whether or not the tar can be successfully used in a conjunction with the creosote and in what proportions to give the best results.

The economic value of the preservative treatment of posts has been demonstrated in many cases, says G. R. MacDonald, head of the forestry department at the college. Creosoting will lengthen the life of posts of any kind of wood, but it is especially valuable with soft woods.

Tests have shown that such soft woods as willow and cottonwood, which last only three or four years if untreated, will serve as posts for from 20 to 25 years when treated. This fact makes possible the utilization by the farmer of woods of this kind on the farm which would otherwise be practically useless.

It is practicable, Mr. MacDonald points out, for a farmer to set out a small plantation of quick-growing trees, such as the cottonwood, and in five or six years have the start of a permanent supply of posts. It is estimated that a post per acre is needed every year. A considerable saving can be made by the farmer who grows and treats his own posts.

Two methods of creosoting posts are recommended by Mr. MacDonald, one in which one tank is used and another which requires two tanks. In the first method posts are put into the creosote tank with the creosote at a high temperature, and are allowed to cool in the same tank. When two tanks are used the posts are transferred, after their bath in the hot creosote, to the other tank, which contains cold creosote.

On medium-sized farms, where 100 or more posts are needed annually, a satisfactory treating tank, made of galvanized iron, about 36 inches in diameter and 48 inches high, can be purchased for about $10.

This tank is mounted about a foot from the ground on a brick foundation, which contains a firebox. Wood is used for fuel. If the posts are to be given a top as well as a butt treatment, they can be inverted in the tank. This should be done in the case of soft woods.

In the single tank treatment the creosote is heated to a temperature of 200 to 220 degrees Fahrenheit. Enough creosote is put into the tank to submerge the lower three or three and one-half feet of the posts. The temperature is maintained at about 220 degrees for from two to six hours, depending upon the kind of wood being treated. The harder the wood the longer it should be immersed. The fire is allowed to die down and the posts are left in the cold creosote for from four to fourteen hours.

If two tanks are used the work can be speeded up, since the cold bath is applied in the second tank. The creosote should penetrate the posts to a depth of from one-quarter to one inch. Tests should be made to see that this penetration is secured.

Nothing but Hard Work, Painstaking Thought and Firm Determination to Make Success.

There are no short cuts in the poultry business, no secrets and no schemes save those of hard work, painstaking thought and firm determination to make a success. This sounds a little contrary to the general idea of poultry, but it is true just the same.

SILAGE MIXTURE TO FINISH OFF CATTLE

Steers Make More Economical Gains and Shrink Less.

Test Made by Department of Agriculture in Co-Operation With Louisiana Station—Value of Different Crops Worked Out.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To get results economically most cattle feeders should use some kind of silage in the rations, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Steers fed on silage usually not only make more economical gains, shrink less, and make more profits than steers fed on dry roughage, but also make it possible to utilize crops grown primarily in a rotation for restoring the fertility of worn-out lands.

The comparative value of a number of different silage crops for steer feeding was recently worked out by the department in co-operation with the Louisiana experiment station. In one instance similar lots of cattle were fed a ration of cottonseed meal and blackstrap molasses in combination with corn silage, corn and Bilozi soy-bean silage, sorghum silage, sorghum and Bilozi soy-bean silage.

The best gain was made by the steers fed the straight corn silage, but it was shown that the capacity of a farm for fattening or wintering cattle may be greatly increased by the use of heavy-yielding silage crops such as sorghum and Japanese cane. Immature Bilozi soy beans mixed with corn or sorghum were not so satisfactory, but with late-maturing crops like Japanese cane these soy beans gave very good results. Sorghum silage and Japanese cane and Bilozi soy-bean silage are practically equal in feeding value for steers when supplemented by cottonseed meal and molasses.

TIME TO SOW SWEET CLOVER

Best Plan is to Plant it in Winter or Spring With Nurse Crop or During Mid-Summer.

It is not generally recommended that sweet clover be sown in corn in the fall. A better way is to sow it either in the winter or spring with a nurse crop or during mid-summer on a firm seed bed free of other crops. By having a compact seed bed and giving a heavy application of seed, it is possible that a good stand can be secured in standing corn but much depends upon the weather. An added advantage results from cutting the corn off for silage, since this gives the small plants more sunlight. There is great risk, however, in sowing any kind of seed in corn after the last cultivation because of the usual dry weather period that follows. Some farmers make a success of this sort of seeding but ordinarily it is a better policy to seed in another way if that is possible.

RECIPE FOR FLY REPELLENT

Cattle Can Be Greatly Relieved From Pests by Application of Coal-Tar Mixture.

Cattle can be greatly relieved from flies by spraying in the morning before going to pasture with some fly spray. For this the following home-made spray is efficient and cheap: Four and one-half quarts coal-tar dip, four and one-half quarts fish oil, three quarts coal oil, three quarts whale oil, one and one-half quarts oil of tar, three pounds laundry soap.

Dissolve the laundry soap in water and mix the other ingredients thoroughly and bring the whole up to 50 gallons. This spray can be applied with an ordinary spray pump and will give relief from flies the greater part of the day.

Some provision for shade will offer relief to a certain extent from heat.

SPRAY POTATO LEAF HOPPER

Bordeaux Mixture Should Be Applied Thoroughly to Under Side of the Leaves.

You can get the potato leaf hopper by using bordeaux mixture. The formula employed consists of four pounds of copper sulphate, four pounds of unslaked lime to fifty gallons of water. The spray should be applied to the under side of the leaves thoroughly, using at least 150 pounds pressure. This pressure gives a fine mist spray. At least three applications are recommended and a fourth might be given to advantage. Both sides of each row should be thoroughly sprayed to make the job complete.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this: It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

'Twas Ever Thus. As a party of tourists motored through the eastern part of Greencastle recently, a small car, loaded with five youngsters, slipped off behind, the Indianapolis News reports. As the smaller car was forging ahead one of the boys lit a giant cannon cracker and tossed it behind the big car. It went off with a loud report. There was a screeching of brakes as the big car came to a halt, and the tourists piled out to hunt for the blowouts. The youngsters passed merrily on.

Republican Administration's Program of Construction Being Fulfilled

Congress Is Industrious

Record of Accomplishments Not Excelled in Annals of Legislation

(By Rep. Simeon D. Foss (Ohio), Chairman Republican Congressional Committee.)

The World War bequeathed to the United States, in common with every other nation gigantic debts, tremendous expenditures, burdensome taxes, dis-jointed economic conditions and general unrest. No previous administration since the establishment of our Government came into power with greater domestic problems demanding solution at its hands than confronted the Republican administration on March 4, 1921.

Immediately upon the inauguration of the President and his call of the special session of the Congress a program of rehabilitation was outlined and work immediately commenced to consummate it. Undesirable immigration was flooding the country. This increased unemployment, rendered more difficult a solution of our industrial problems, while the character of many of the immigrants was a menace to our social and political institutions. To protect American labor and American institutions against this invasion a law was enacted limiting further immigration to but three per cent. of the nationals already in America.
